

FARMERS PUTTING IN OWN LIGHTING PLANTS

Terry County Farmers Becoming As Up-to-date As Big City Dwellers. With All Modern Conveniences and in Minute Touch With the Whole World.

A good many of the farmers of Terry county, who have been here a number of years, and who now have their places paid out, or nearly so, are making extensive improvements of one nature or another. Terry county has now been settled long enough that not a few are in condition to begin making their homes as modern as any in town, and they are preparing to make the home as attractive to the children as any in the town. In this way, the children will become more reconciled with farm life, and want to remain on the farm.

The Chisholm-Gross company have recently unloaded a solid car load of Delco Light plants here that will go into the rural homes of the county. In fact, they have already been sold, and they are being delivered and erected as fast as workmen can get to them. Many of the farmers are putting in sewerage and indoor plumbing fixtures in their home, including the best of wash basins, commodes, bath tubs etc., and with electric light plants at the homes, hen house, garages, barns, etc., can be lit up, and feeding and milking during the long winter nights are more pleasant for the farm folks.

There is another side to this, also, as expressed to the Herald some time back by one of our most progressive farmers, and that is that with plenty of electrical current, the batteries of the cars and radios can be kept up. This was Mr. W. P. Forbes, who had a Delco put in just before the holidays on his farm in the Pleasant Valley neighborhood. He informed us that they lost the use of their radio a great deal because their batteries would run down, and they would neglect to bring them to town for recharging. Later, he said, we expect to get an electrical set as we will have the juice, and can get the same service with all electrical sets that you do in town.

This makes farm life all that could be desired. The farmer is put in minute, yea to the second in touch with the very pulse of the world, and he knows as much about what is going on in the big world and large cities thousands of miles from him as do the people who live there. No news is hid from him, for he knows the happenings of great events by the time the great metropolitan papers know it by using his radio. He gets any kind of music he wants to hear, including some artists whose front seat audiences pay several dollars to occupy. During the forums each week, the farmer sits in his home, snug and along with his family hear the greatest orators of the nation speak on events and on questions of national importance.

The farmer of the future is going to be as well posted on anything as any city dweller, and will be able to discuss, art, music, politics or anything with anyone. The hayseed has all been shaken from his hair and he stands abreast of the times with his fellow citizens of the nation. With this condition established well in our nation, we are bound to progress; we will become more solidified, more democratic, and any talk of America becoming communistic will vanish in thin air, for any well informed people are family people; national people.

Churches Learning the Value of Advertising

Rev. E. V. May, pastor of the Baptist church, has made a contract with the Herald for a weekly bulletin throughout the new year, which instead of being dated on week days, will be dated for each Sunday, and will be distributed at the church instead of through the mails, if we understand aright. Bro. May knows he can use the columns of the Herald when he wants to, free of charge, and he often does, and is not putting this bulletin out because of a selfish nature, but there are many things he wishes to say to his own flock and they alone that he would not like to use in the columns of the Herald, especially the business side of the church. Last Sunday was the first time he used the bulletin, and we hope he had good results.

Rev. Geo. Turrentine, pastor of the Methodist church, used besides his regular weekly announcement in these columns, a neat little display ad in these columns last week in which he especially stressed the importance of attending church the first Sunday of the New Year. At this time we have not asked Rev. Turrentine as to results, but from appearances around the Methodist church Sunday, he must have had quite a nice increase in his crowds. The church is a business institution, and the sooner we learn this and put it on a sound business foundation, the better it will be for the church and its membership.

Alvin A. Mitchell, since he has been with the local church of Christ as minister, has made plentiful use of the columns of the Herald with his announcements and intentions, and being a member of this congregation, the writer can say that he knows there has been a wonderful and steady increase in attendance on all meetings. Advertising pays, whether it appears as a paid ad or as so much reading matter, and the church is waking up to this fact just the same as the business firms are.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 3

To my friends and voters of Precinct 3, I take this method of announcing myself for reelection to the office of Commissioner of Precinct 3. I will let my past work be a recommendation for the future and any improvement I can make I will gladly do so.

Will appreciate any help you see fit to give me for the betterment of our highways.

Respectfully,
J. W. LASITER.

The Postmistress of Plains, Texas is sending in a nice list of new and renewal readers from there. Mrs. Bettie Criswell and Geo. Cleveland are two of the newest.

Cunningham Opening Ranch in Yoakum Co.

Jim Cunningham has lived so long in Terry county that he is a part and parcel of it. He has watched its growth from since before its birth or organization. He has seen it come up from a babe in swaddling clothes to one of the most productive and progressive counties in the state, and Jim was as proud of this progress as any of us. But Jim was born and reared in the west and used to the wide open spaces, and he became just a bit crowded down in the Scud-day neighborhood and began to pine for more room. But he did not get far—just went over in old Yoakum, our good neighbor to the west, whose ideals have always been kinder like those of neighbor Terry, and as stated somewhere else in these columns, we have never left the little imaginary line between us from full fellowship and social intercourse.

Jim went over there where he could get more grass, and found all he wanted, and moved his sheep over there and will get a few more. He is not going heavy on any one thing as he aims to keep some cows, both milk and beef, chickens, porkers, and will raise plenty of feed but no cotton. He was over one day last week getting material to build some feed troughs for his sheep. The sheep business is nothing new to Jim, as he and his father and brother once had a rather large herd of them, and we imagine Jim knows plenty about sheep. The sheep is something that will pay dividends "gwine and comin'" as the negro says, providing they are protected from diseases and wolves. There is the meat and there is the wool, and both are fine and have their uses to humanity. There was also at one time in the young life of our republic when one of the sheep products was used as medicine for hives in the kids, we believe. Of course the grown ups would not use it and the poor kids knew no better, but modern medical science has long since discouraged the use of this remedy.

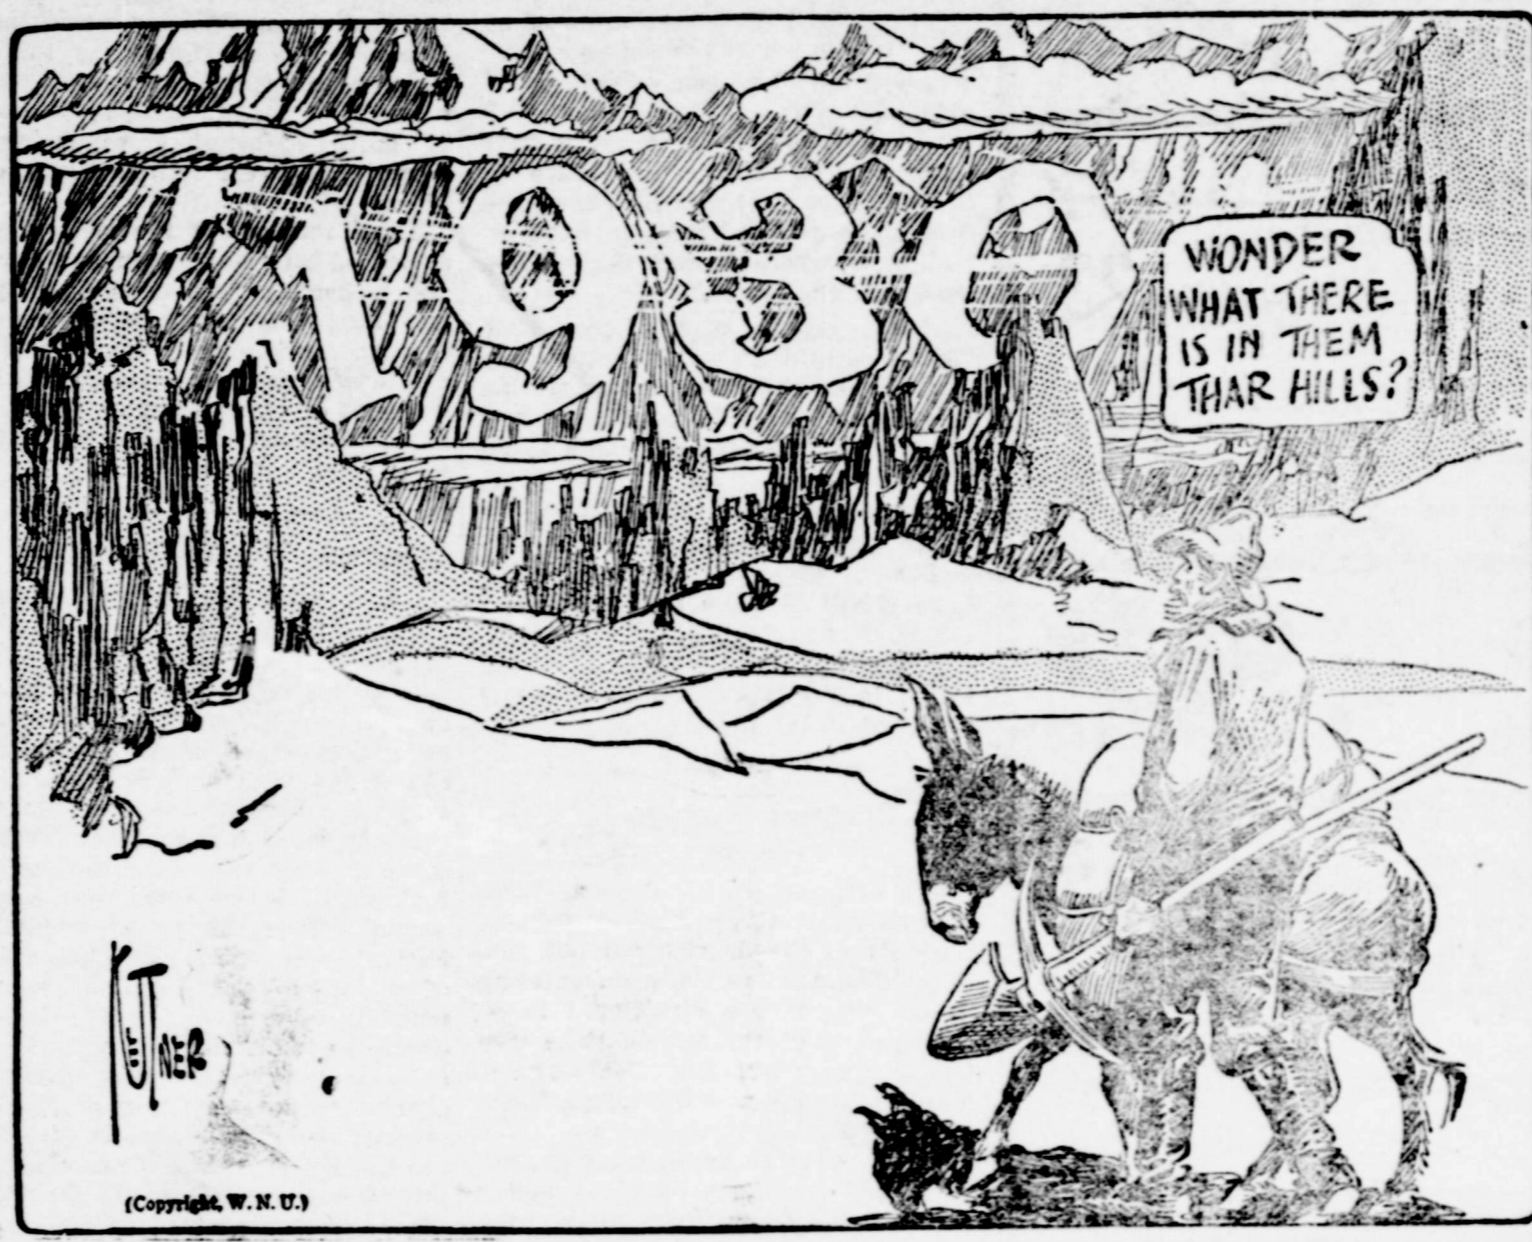

We have given Jim a rather good advertisement in this article, but he deserves it. We are asking no money remuneration, but if he happens to kill a fat lamb next summer and does not think of us—well, we won't say we hope he has to take some sheep tea—he's our friend.

WILL C. BROWN OUT FOR COMMISSIONER PRE. 3

We have been authorized to announce W. C. Brown for the office of Commissioner of Pre. No. 3. Mr. Brown will have a statement for the voters of that precinct later.

Mrs. W. J. Hastings was in one day recently and informed us that she had just received a visit from her sister, Mrs. M. J. McDermot, of Ralls.

Brownfield to Entertain Swine Breeders Assn

—C. of C. Notes by Secretary—
The officers and directors of the Panhandle Swine Breeders Association were here yesterday (Monday) for the purpose of setting dates for their annual meeting and auction sale of registered hogs, which is to occur in Brownfield this year. After considerable discussion it was decided that the meeting would be held on February 11th and 12th and that the sale of stock would be had on the afternoon of the 12th. It was also decided that nothing but the very best stuff would be allowed to enter the pens or be offered for sale. This is a mighty good time for our hog raisers to acquire some good stuff at a reasonable price and in fact will possibly sell for much less than if bought direct from owners. The chamber of commerce and breeders association is going to give away a registered boar during the last day of the meeting and the plan will be explained in a later issue of the "Herald." The following were in attendance upon the meeting and were entertained at luncheon by the chamber of commerce: C. L. Franz, Turkey, Texas; B. W. Wilks, Plainview, Texas; J. W. McCreery, Canyon, Texas; C. G. Jackson, Hart, Texas; H. G. Tolbert, Lamesa, Texas; D. F. Eaton, County Agent, Lubbock, Texas; Al Hill, Avalanche-Journal, Lubbock; Mr. Moore, Lubbock; Prof. Bowers, Texas Tech; E. M. Regenbecht, Swine Specialist, A. & M. College; W. A. Bell, Brownfield.

List of Jurors Drawn For District Court

Following is the list of persons who have been called to serve as Grand Jurors for the January Term, 1930 of the District Court of Terry County:

Crawford Looks For Best Crop in Years

The following is the opinion of Mr. M. C. Crawford, local long distance forecaster for the year 1930. Mr. Crawford has heretofore done mighty well in predicting the weather in this section, and we believe the people will appreciate his opinion written for the Herald:

"The month of January sets in good for 1930. The new moon was December 30, 1929, which puts three changes in the same month for 1930. Not much moisture expected for January. There will be plenty of rain or snow the first of February, and regular seasons for the rest of the year. No floods are expected in Texas this year. Neither do we expect cyclones or bad hails. Much rain two first weeks of October may interfere with gathering. Two first weeks of November show chance of rain. According to my judgment this will be the best crop year we have had in some time. However, I do not advise people to plant too early as the seven stars are too far east for the time of year."

Biography of Moran of The Two Black Crows

George Moran, the short, serious and boisterous member of the team of Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, was born in Elwood, Kansas, twenty miles from the birthplace of Charles Mack. Moran grew up around St. Joseph, Missouri, and his first appearance on the stage was in blackface, when he played in a touring company of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." He has been on the stage ever since. Moran has appeared in vaudeville, on the dramatic stage and in musical comedy, his greatest success having come when he teamed up with Mack and the "big idea" for the Two Black Crows act struck the pair.

As a team, Moran and Mack, the Two Black Crows, appeared in Europe and throughout America and more recently in the Ziegfeld Follies, Winter Garden Shows, the "Scandals," the "Vanities," and the Greenwich Village Follies.

Together, they have made seven phonograph records, which have had more than 7,000,000 circulation. Now they have completed their first motion picture for Paramount, "Why Bring That Up?" which comes to the Riado Theatre, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Moran is married. He is five feet, eight inches tall, weighs 150 pounds and has light brown hair and blue eyes.

Rambo and Price Put Out Beautiful Calendars

One of the prettiest works of art in the way of a calendar we have ever seen was given us this week by C. R. Rambo, local abstractor and insurance man. It is a scene of Grand Canyon and is an exact copy of the original that perhaps sold for a small fortune. We are glad to adorn the walls of the Herald office with this work of the artist.

And just as beautiful and extensive was another given us by Judge W. W. Price, abstractor and our County Attorney. It is an old time flower garden with the old farm home seen in the distance among the sturdy oaks. Judge Price also presented us with a nice calendar with the Texas Map thereon showing both the railways and highways.

YOUNG HEATH TO HELP FATHER WITH BIG FARM

Rev. Heath, Who Runs One of the Biggest Farms in This Section Joined by His Son Who Will Take Much of the Burden off His Father Shoulders.

D. D. Heath, of Austin, came in recently and will co-operate with his father in running one of the biggest farms in this section, which is situated just over in Yoakum county, a few miles northwest of Tokio. In a few weeks Mr. Heath's family will move up from Austin, and then he will really be settled for business indeed. Young Heath has had lots of experience in handling labor, having had as many as forty or fifty men under him on public works, and as he was reared on the farm, he will be a big help to his father who is becoming too aged to have the cares of this big Heath farm all on his shoulders.

Rev. H. D. Heath opened this farm four years ago, at which time the whole body of land was in the raw state, and although well up in years, he has increased the cultivated acreage each year until the past crop covered some 1900 acres of ground, and we understand he is putting in a large body of new land this year. From this acreage this year came around 300 bales of cotton, thousands of bushels of corn, maize, etc., as well as all the bundle stuff that will be required to run an even larger farm next year. The results from the 1930 crop will be watched with interest.

Cotton and corn is not the only product of this huge farm, for they are regular contributors to the cream and egg market here. In fact Rev. Heath does most if not all his business in Brownfield, together with keeping his banking account here. Not only that, but his jerseys, his durac hogs and chickens are thoroughbred, and came from some of the best herds and flocks of the southwest. Even his wolf hounds are thoroughbreds from Minnesota, and the chase is one of the means of recreation on the big farm. Rev. Heath informs us that these wolf hounds run only by sight, but when he shows them a wolf, he is their meat. That while apparently the wolf is traveling at a terrific speed, the hounds soon overtake him, then goodbye Katy.

We have been asked on numerous times to visit this great farm and see how it is conducted, and what they raise, and we are going to avail ourselves of such an opportunity some of these days. The Heath farm has lots of visitors who are always welcomed in that good old fashion Texas way that makes one want to return again.

Chevrolet Showing 1930 Model Products

The Chevrolet Motor Company this week announced a new car for 1930 known as "The Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History." Announcement of the new car came right at the close of Chevrolet's greatest year, for the sensational success of the six-cylinder Chevrolet, introduced just a year ago, resulted in an output of 1,350,000 cars this year, breaking by a wide margin all former Chevrolet annual production records.

In making public Chevrolet's plans for 1930, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, declared that with the improvements incorporated in the new car, Chevrolet was anticipating a volume of business that will equal, if not surpass, the phenomenal record of 1929. And, in order to accommodate an early demand, production is being speeded with all the haste consistent with the precision methods for which Chevrolet manufacturing operations are famous.

New car shipments have been going out to dealers for the past ten days, with deliveries to owners scheduled to start immediately. Scores of distinct improvements have been made in the 1930 Chevrolet line, the factory announces. Greater beauty, added safety factors, improved riding comfort and better all-round performance with added power, and faster acceleration are announced as features of the new line.

Larger tires, small wheels, Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers at all four wheels, Fisher slanting non-glare VV windshield and vastly improved four wheel braking system are some of the highlights.

J. D. Webb and Wife Hurt in Car Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Webb of this city left here last week for the valley section of south Texas to spend a few weeks, but happened to be on an auto accident at Big Spring that not only hurt them badly, but wrecked their car, and they were obliged to return home for some time at least. It seems they had just turned into a highway leading south, when two cars topped a hill just in front of them, one trying to pass the other, and ran into them. That other car was also badly wrecked. Fred and Bill Younce left here as soon as they heard their mother, Mrs. Webb, was hurt. They were carried to a Big Spring hospital to see if any bones were broken, and to receive treatment for bruises. No bones were found broken.

MR. PIPPIN ASKS FOR TREASURERS OFFICE BY ELECTION

To the Voters of Terry County: I now announce as candidate for the Treasurers office of Terry County. I have been in the county 10 years and I was appointed by the Commissioners Court last September to fill out the unexpired term of my son (Wilburn Pippin). If I am elected I will serve you the very best of my ability. Thanking you in advance for any consideration you may give me. Your servant, J. T. PIPPIN.

NOW YOU ASK ONE

Uncle—"Well, Jimmy, if you can ask me a question I can't answer, I'll give you a quarter."

Jimmy—"You're on. Can you tell me where music goes after it's been played?"

W. R. Carruth, who has been getting his Herald at Stephenville, Texas paid us a visit recently and had us change his address to Lubbock.

the balance remaining, if any, will be paid into the registry of the Court, there to await the further orders of the Court, in accordance with the terms of said order of sale. Witness my hand at Brownfield in Terry County, Texas, this 31st day of December, A. D. 1929. J. M. TELFORD, Sheriff of Terry County, Texas.

Hugh Snodgrass was over the past week and ordered some candidate cards. Hugh is out for Assessor of Yoakum county and if he gets the office, he will make a good one. Hugh lived so long in Terry that he almost seems like one. But Terry and Yoakum are such good neighbors that the little imaginary line simply does not exist. We're all good neighbors.

The editor lost a niece in death Christmas Day, in the old state of Tennessee. It had been 26 years the past summer since we have seen her, at which time she was some 7 or 8 years old.

Roger Bacon First to Talk of Metal Airship

In the all-metal airship we see realized an eight-century-old Babylonian dream. In the thirteenth century, says Domestic Air News, United States Department of Commerce, Roger Bacon, English philosopher and Franciscan friar, seems to have been the first to realize the principles of aeration, if we discard Kircher and his legends.

Bacon wrote in glowing language on the possibility of constructing engines of immense size and power that could traverse the land and the water with great speed and carry with them persons and merchandise.

He proposed the construction of an aerial machine which "must be a large hollow globe of copper or other suitable material . . . filled with 'etherial air or liquid fire' (some have claimed Bacon referred to rarefied air and hydrogen gas) and then launched from some elevated point into the atmosphere, where it will float like a vessel on the water."

There may be made, Bacon said, "flying machines so that a man sits in the midst of the machine revolving some engine by which artificial wings are made to beat the air like a flying bird."

The idea of the rigid airship may be traced from Bacon through Albertus de Saxonia (1350), Mendoza (1543-75), Lana (1679), Gourdin (1789), Delcourt (1824), Monge (1839), Giffard (1853), Silesco (1879), Baynes (1888), Schwartz (1887) to Zeppelin (1900), all of whom proposed metal for the hull.

Old Customs Dear to Hearts of Britishers

The archbishop who lives at Lambeth palace is a very kind archbishop, the poor of the district will tell you. Every Thursday at the main gateway 20 half-crowns are distributed to 20 poor people of the parish. The custom is a very old one. Years ago it took another form. On Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays 15 quarter loaves of bread, 9 stone of beef (made into broth and served in pitchers) and 5 shillings' worth of halfpennies were the gifts. One is reminded of this and other quaint customs, surviving or revived, by the fact that the lord mayor of London revived the Boy Players a few weeks ago. They gave a performance at Salters' hall, the first since 1908, when they were the favorite players of Queen Elizabeth. The Salters' company is named after John Salter, who died in 1905. Formerly a service to his memory, held each year, took the form of a procession to his tomb, upon which each person knocked with a stick, and called three times in a loud voice: "How do you do, Brother Salter? I hope you are well."—London Mail.

Fight at First Sight

The "chilids" of the fresh water carp family are said to be among the most ferocious of fish. They are quite difficult to mate and have to be kept separate, for they fight and kill each other with little delay. When they are once mated, however, they take great care of their progeny. A flower pot or hollow stone is found, which they clean spotlessly and in which they raise their family. They guard their eggs in alternate shifts, fanning them with their fins. Just before hatching, the female digs a pit in the sand or shingle and transfers the young fish to it. They are then a wriggling mass of black jelly. After two or three hours she digs another pit, and this process goes on till the youngsters can swim about.

Trace Origin of Gypsies to Northwestern India

The race of gypsies is now a very much fixed one, with elements of the blood of all of the countries in which they have resided; and gypsies from one part of the world may present characteristics and appearances quite different from those of another part.

The English word gypsy reflects the old belief of many countries that the gypsies were Egyptians. In other countries they were called Tartars. The old agreement of the traditions concerning them was that they had come to Europe out of the East.

Modern inquiry has revealed a good deal of their true history, however, and has established that the race is originally from northwestern India. Bands of the inhabitants of this region were driven away from their homes and set wandering by hordes of northern invaders which swept down upon them in the Ninth century.

These forebears of the modern gypsy moved into Kabulistan and Persia, and ultimately filtered through Syria into Egypt and northern Africa and through Turkey into Europe. There are now fourteen or more distinct dialects of their language in European countries—indicating their widespread distribution.

Dunmow Flitch Traced to Ancient Ceremony

Father Ronald Knox wrote an amusing preface to the program for the Dunmow Flitch celebration, which is held annually at Ilford, England. "I have never been married," he wrote, "so I cannot tell what are the probabilities of your having deserved the flitch. I can only say that if you have deserved it, yours must be a tame sort of life, for which a whole sausage factory would not sufficiently compensate."

Father Knox traces back the origin of the flitch to the ancient days of marriage by capture. "On the occasion of the wedding," he writes, "we must suppose a marriage treaty would be struck by the sacrifice of a pig. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom, hence the custom that the bridegroom should cut the first slice of the wedding cake. Originally, no doubt, the wedding cake was an offering of meal shaped to represent a pig. The carcass of the pig became the property of the bride's father. If the wife did not prove satisfactory to her husband he would go to her father and demand to have his pig back. Originally, then, the Dunmow Flitch must have been awarded in view of unhappy, not of happy marriages."

Community Scheme Fizzle

The Brook farm was a community organized in 1841 near Roxbury, Mass., by George Ripley and his wife. An association was formed with a few stockholders, and a farm of 200 acres purchased. The object was to promote the benefits of society according to the principle of co-operation. The life led was very simple, and every one had a share of the work, receiving a certain rate of pay. The products of the farm were sold. A school was maintained for the children. A number of prominent people were in the scheme, among them Nathaniel Hawthorne, Charles A. Dana, John S. Dwight, George P. Bradford, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Amos B. Alcott, Theodore Parker, George W. Curtis and Margaret Fuller. After a time, however, enthusiasm waned, and as a result of financial loss the scheme was dissolved in 1847.

Ostentation

Peter Gaskell, millionaire socialist, said in a lecture in Boston: "Wealth, after all, is chiefly prized for the ostentation and display it lends itself to. Wealthy people in their hearts are very much like Newrich. "Newrich attended a wedding breakfast with an enormous new diamond in his necktie. Nobody complimented him on the beauty of the stone; though he kept adjusting his necktie nobody appeared even to notice it; so finally he rose from his chair and addressed the bride and groom in loud tones. "May your wedded life, he said, 'be as bright and pure as this.' "And he tapped the diamond with his forefinger."

Comparative Riches

There is a story of a man whom others called poor and who had just enough fortune to support himself in going about the country in the simplest way and enjoying the life and beauty of it. He was once in the company of a great millionaire, who was engaged in business, working at it daily and getting richer every year, and the poor man said to the millionaire: "I am a richer man than you are." "How do you make that out?" said the millionaire. "Why," he replied, "I have got as much money as I want and you have not."

Not "Among Those Present"

In an effort to encourage the reading of good literature by young members of the Victorian police force, the chief commissioner, General Blamey, established a well-stocked library at their barracks.

Recently a new librarian, in the person of a stockily built youth from the country, who had just joined up, was approached by an enthusiastic reader. "Have you got 'The Pickwick Papers?'" he was asked. "No, sir," he replied, "We only get the three morning papers."—"The Sun, Sydney, Australia."

Odd Topic of Discussion

There is a story of the late Earl Rosebery which gains peculiar significance through his death. One night at dinner he was observed in deep conversation with his partner, paying no attention to any other member of the company. In the smoking room his host called him upon his undivided attention to the lady in question, suggesting that they must have found a topic of absorbing interest. "We did indeed," replied Lord Rosebery, "we were considering what it must feel like to be dead."

Mankind's Qualities

Man has evil as well as good qualities peculiar to himself. Drunkenness places him as much below the level of the brutes as reason elevates him above them.—Sir G. Sinclair.

Differences in Steel

The bureau of standards says that the difference between stainless iron and stainless steel is mainly a difference in carbon content. Stainless iron has practically no carbon.

Ocean's Color

As a rule salt water is bluer than fresh water. Pure ocean water has a clear blue color because salt water does not absorb the blue rays of sunlight as it does the red rays.

TO STAGE WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP CALF ROPING CONTEST

ABILENE, Texas, January 6.—The Calf Roping Contest here January 18, under auspices of the West Texas Fair, with Bob Crosby, world champion cowboy, and Allen Holder, a roping expert of the first magnitude, as the principals, promises to be one of championship calibre in every respect. It will decide an unofficial title in the event.

Crosby holds the record in roping one calf, setting a mark of 11 1-2 seconds at San Angelo in May 1928. Two months later, however, Holder defeated Crosby eight seconds in a ten calf roping event at Fort Stockton, placing himself in the position of a serious threat to Crosby's laurels.

Crosby has won the calf roping event in rodeo performances all over the United States, his latest victory being over Jake McClure of Lovington, N. Mexico, at Del Rio in December. Holder, an official at that meet challenged the winner to a match and the contest at Abilene is the result.

Crosby recognizes in Holder one of the toughest opponents he has ever met. He expressed that opinion in the declaration that "Holder has participated in more roping matches than any other two rodeo performers in the United States."

Holder's home is at Rankin. He won the calf roping event at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show in 1926 and copped again at El Paso in 1929. For a number of years he was holder of the national goat roping title.

The contest will start at 2 o'clock at the West Texas Fair Park here on January 18.

Dr. H. A. Castleberry, of Lubbock, was a visitor here Monday, looking after his property in this county.

Clovis and Kermitt Whisenant are opening up a service station at Tatum, N. M., and will run a repair shop in connection, we understand.

Famous Zimbabwe Ruins

Not of Solomon's Time

The Zimbabwe ruins in Rhodesia have been assumed to date back to before the days of Solomon. The builders of these vast "stone houses" (that is what "Zimbabwe" means) were until lately supposed to be Arabs from Saba or Sheba, who were said to have occupied this part of Africa from about 2000 to 1000 B. C. Now an opposing theory, put forward not long ago, which attributes the ruins to a much more recent date, has been verified by the latest explorers of the ruins. These investigators, three women, say that no object found by them is more than 1,500 years old, and they do not believe the buildings are as ancient as that. The notion that Solomon's gold and ivory, apes and peacocks, came from here is thus exploded. And we still don't know where the fascinating queen of Sheba ruled.

Sailors in Small Boat

Menaced by Albatross

Haunted by an albatross, a bird of ill omen, and in danger of having their boats smashed by a huge whale, were among the experiences of the crew of the Siltenthal, a British steamer that caught fire recently hundreds of miles from land in the South Indian ocean.

Soon after the cargo of coal caught fire the decks became red hot and the hatches were in flames. The crew took to two small boats and for 41 hours were adrift in a gale. It was during this time that the albatross constantly swooped down menacingly.

This story bears a remarkable similarity to the incident in Coleridge's poem, "The Ancient Mariner," in which the albatross, an ominous bird, haunts a stricken ship.

Middlemen

Peter L. McTeague, the millionaire commission agent, said at a dinner in Chicago:

"Maybe the farmer and the fruit grower are going a little too far in their elimination of the middleman. The middleman has his uses after all."

"A farmer who was treasurer of an anti-middleman organization fell ill with pneumonia the other day and sent at once for the undertaker."

"The undertaker hurried to the farm, but when he saw the farmer he said:

"Holy smoke, John, ye don't need me. Ye need a doctor."

"No, I don't," said the farmer. "No middlemen."

Tourists Destroy Edelweiss

Edelweiss, the famous Swiss mountain flower, is threatened with extinction, due chiefly to the ravages of tourists.

Several Alpine regions where the plant formerly flourished have reported that it is now very rare. Edelweiss does not spread rapidly even under normal conditions.

A Bavarian botanist estimated recently that in a certain mountain area there were 20,000 roots of edelweiss in 1920. At the end of 1923, he said, only 600 remained.

"The man who enjoys seeing a woman in tears is a brute."

"I don't know about that," replied Miss Cayenne. "One of the kindest husbands I know takes his wife to see all the emotional plays."

Small Port Pre-Eminent

Southampton is a comparatively small seaport, with only four miles of quay, compared with thirty miles in London and thirty-seven miles in Liverpool; yet it is the premier passenger port of Britain.

E. D. Moore of south route and W. M. Goldston of the Gomez section, were in Wednesday.

"The Virginian" at the Rialto Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday had one of the best if not the very best runs of any picture ever brought here. The management of the Theatre are well pleased as well as the patrons.

LATIN PHRASE LOST BURTON HIGH POST?

Theodore Burton, who died in his senate harness the other day, belonged to that galaxy of ministers' sons who have played such an important part in American public life from the earliest days of the republic. A classical scholar, he was wont to quote Latin and Greek phrases in his public addresses. When he returned to Cleveland from Washington, to make the fight against Tom Johnson for mayor, he accepted the Republican nomination, exclaiming: "Facta est acta!" (The die is cast.) It proved to be an unfortunate phrase for him. The opposition took it up and rung the changes on it to the delight of the man in overalls and jumper. It lent itself readily to slapstick jests of the politicians, and many believed it cost him the majority. A majority of Cleveland voters regarded him as too highbrow for mayor and voted for the single taxer, Tom Johnson, with his three-cent carfare platform.—Boston Herald.

DUCK EGG BREAKFAST FOR HOMELESS MAN

Any morning before the rush traffic has begun you may see the homeless ones who sleep on the London embankment walking slowly along, peering over the parapet at the steps and landings. They are looking for ducks' eggs.

I was walking past the air force war memorial (writes a correspondent) when I saw two ducks perched on one of the steps just above high-water mark. Between them lay a beautiful new-laid egg.

I climbed over the low railing and retrieved the egg. As I was clambering back a seedy looking embankment habitue accosted me. "You've pinched my breakfast, guv'nor," he complained.

I gave him the egg, and he explained that he had found a half dozen eggs on the same steps during a fortnight. —New York World.

Fortune for Man Who Can Eliminate Static

American inventors turn out inventions at the rate of about 120 a day, according to Dr. W. A. Kinnam, acting commissioner of patents. "Americans," he says, "are more inventive than any other race. They have been granted 1,750,000 patents since 1791, while only 2,000,000 patents have been granted by all the other nations of the world."

Notwithstanding this great number of new patents, there are plenty of fortunes still waiting the inventors of the right devices. For instance, adds Kinnam, an invention to eliminate static in radio is very much needed and a fortune awaits the man who is lucky enough to be the first to solve the problem.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Premature Burials Fought

Fear of being buried alive has grown to such an extent in Europe that the Society for the Prevention of Premature Death has been organized. It is arousing public interest in Britain in the building of a large mortuary, where bodies may be kept until there can be no doubt that death has taken place.

It will be conducted along the lines of that in Munich, Germany, where, attached to each body is a cord connected with a system of bells, which ring at the slightest movement of the body. Attendants are on duty day and night, and if a bell rings, they dash for a doctor. The new society has 11 tests of death.

France Has Air Police

Air police patrol has been established over France to control the movement of the large number of planes that pass over the country daily. Pilots violating international air regulations are subject to heavy fines. Police airplanes warn erring pilots by firing smoke bombs, and all aircraft being signaled in this manner are required to follow the police ship to the ground and land alongside it.

Education in Chile

Education is gratuitous in Chile, and since August, 1920, was made compulsory. Professional and secondary education is provided by the National university, the University of Concepcion and the Catholic universities of Santiago and Valparaiso. Last year's educational expenses amounted to $30,000,000.

Hot Dogs Via Slot Machine

If you wish a "hot dog" in Germany just drop a coin in a machine and out jumps the sausage and roll. The hot frankfurter vending machine has just been introduced. For the equivalent of two cents the device automatically delivers the sandwich and mustard.

Needed a Mental Stroke

"Is Bill absent-minded?"

"He certainly is. It nearly cost him his life one time."

"How was that?"

"He fell overboard and forgot he knew how to swim."

And we might say that it peeves a publisher to get a propaganda letter seeking free publicity with a notice of "2c postage due on it." But that is just one of the few things that go to make up a well balanced life of the average publisher.

If you think you can find a house for rent in Brownfield, get out and see, for several families want them. Just try finding a room or an apartment and see how far you get. There is no boom in Brownfield, but just a steady, healthy growth.

Most all restrictions have been removed from the pink boll worm section to our south where several dead worms were said to have been found two years ago. Many people doubt the justice of the restrictions at any time as no live worms were found.

Now comes another new organization seeking publicity at the hands of the poor overworked, underpaid and superworried publisher. It bears the name of "Loaf a Day League." We arise to ask if anybody has quit eating bread. We don't get any more nor less than common.

A mentally unbalanced youth over near O'Donnell took the life of his father with a shot gun last week. It is a pity that such unfortunates are not provided a place of safe keeping before they do something like this. The family usually hates to send them away, but it would be better perhaps for all concerned.

We note that our old friend, H. C. Crie, former editor of the Tahoka News has come to life and makes a challenge to "old men" 40 years or more, for regular attendance at the Methodist Sunday School at Tahoka. This challenge is alright and Sunday School is a good place to go, but when in heck did Crie discover that to be 40 or even 50 was "old." We challenge him to sustain his position on that matter.

Dick Hyatt, of the Ralls Banner usually doesn't apologize for the appearance of his paper, not being necessary, but last week he did a little explaining on the small size of the issue of Christmas week, which he says came out a half day behind time. But it reached us just a day ahead of last week's Banner, which leads us to suspect Dick had a rather "merry" Christmas and got short on paper and long on dates.

Old Terry and Yoakum counties feel quite big this year because they are in the millionaire class. That is, let us explain, not money, perhaps, but our car license plates bear the million and above numbers. You see Terry starts with a "T" and Yoakum is down in the "Ys", therefore when old Man Texas got down to these letters in supplying his kids with car numbers, all the hundred thousands had run out, and he had to put us in the million class. But Terry and Yoakum are not high hating any of the neighbor counties for that reason.

We are already supposed to make the seller of a pistol equally guilty with the buyer. Now we are talking about making the buyer of bootleg whiskey equally guilty with the seller. Coming on down are we going to make the seller of gasoline; the seller of coke; the seller of a railroad ticket; or the seller of a pound of steak equally guilty with the buyer, when the transaction happens on Sunday, for instance? The first thing we know we are going to have so doggone many laws that they will keep us worse stewed up than the bootleg whiskey. We have some 19 amendments to the constitution now, but to hear some people talk, there isn't but one—the 18th. But all of them are more or less violated. Most all southerners do not recognize that the 14th and 15th even exist, but we do not regard the whole south as out-laws because they don't—no sir.

And now Amarillo has one paper again, the opposition paper per ceasing publication after a few months of life, claiming from 1,600 to 2,000 subscribers, who will receive their money back. The opposition paper at Lockney suffered the same fate after about three month's publication, claiming 1,800 circulation, but could not make the grade. It costs too much to put in a paper that will appeal to the advertiser and subscriber to pay any opposition sheet, unless unusual conditions obtain, and mighty few towns are able to support two good papers.—McLean News.

Challis Chats

There were only a few who attended church Sunday but we are hoping we can do better next Sunday.

There was quite a bit of visiting in the community this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Messingill and son, Truett, visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Joe Eudey, Sunday.

Mrs. Rancville visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. C. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford visited with Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Franks visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howell, who returned with them to their home, where they enjoyed an interesting radio program.

Miss Rogers, the primary teacher, spent the week end in Lubbock visiting with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Levelland visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Broughton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howell had as their guests Saturday Miss Opal

SHE sold a LAW SUIT

After an old lady in Frankfort, Indiana, died leaving a number of valuable business properties, a niece appeared from Allentown, Pennsylvania, and produced papers indicating that she was the only heir. She sold the property and returned home telling her five brothers and sister that the old lady left practically nothing.

When the fraud was disclosed, the "purchasers" of the real estate found that they had bought a lively lawsuit. Title insurance would have absorbed the loss.

Whenever you buy or lend on real estate a New York Title policy is always your best policy.

Challis Chats

There were only a few who attended church Sunday but we are hoping we can do better next Sunday.

There was quite a bit of visiting in the community this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Messingill and son, Truett, visited in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Joe Eudey, Sunday.

Mrs. Rancville visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. C. Lewis.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford visited with Mr. and Mrs. McDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Franks visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howell, who returned with them to their home, where they enjoyed an interesting radio program.

Miss Rogers, the primary teacher, spent the week end in Lubbock visiting with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Levelland visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Broughton Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Howell had as their guests Saturday Miss Opal

HUGE ROAD REVENUES

The state highway department had revenues this year of approximately $34,000,000.

The number of automobiles is constantly increasing in the state, which means larger revenues from the registration fees. The revenue from the gasoline tax will also increase with the increase in the number of cars and the increase in good road mileage. We should have around $40,000,000 in revenue this year, which means something over $3,300,000 a month, or about $800,000 a week, or a little more than $110,000 a day, including Sundays.

That in a few years should mean lots of good roads for Texas.—Houston Mirror.

Adopt, Adapt, Improve

Lindbergh Has a Statue

Wall Street Parchesi

Five Minutes From a Doctor

Adopt, adapt, improve.

Those three words, recommended by the prince of Wales to his fellow countrymen, might well be adopted, adapted and improved in this country.

The young prince, one of the most useful, hard-working citizens of Great Britain, said to British industrialists: "We British think we are very efficient, and we are at the head of the world in lots of things, but to keep in the van we must be conscious of that very valuable thing—the knowledge that we learn something new every day. To put it in three words: We must learn to adopt, to adapt and to improve."

We Americans think we are very efficient. In fact, we are absolutely sure of it. But we do not always "adopt, adapt, improve."

For instance, railroad managers of the United States stood looking, doing nothing, while automobile omnibuses and trucks took away some of their most profitable business.

They woke up late to that situation, and they are not thoroughly awake yet.

St. Louis wants to erect a statue to Lindbergh. It is unnecessary; it is too soon; and who in the country could make it good enough except MacMonnies, and he, for the time, has given up sculpture.

Lindbergh possesses now a monument sufficient—a picture in every American mind of a youth sitting in a small box with wings, leaving New York alone, crossing the ocean from New York to Paris.

When you have that kind of monument you don't need anything of marble or bronze.

A philosophical loser in the stock market smash compares building up a fortune to the game of parchesi: "You go along nicely for a while, shaking your dice, moving your little round men towards victory. Then suddenly you have to go all the way back and start over."

Many will have to make a new start and some, too old or too discouraged, will never make it.

It seemed to be a real earthquake. In a few days of October, stock values dropped fifteen thousand million dollars, more than fifty times the sum spent to build the Panama canal.

However, no real values were destroyed. Everything that was in the country on October 1, is there now. It is not as though fire, tornado or black death had swept the country.

Real values will return and go higher.

Some of the carloads of worthless stock, printed to sell to fools, will remain worthless.

New York's medical officer warns the world's richest, wettest city, "If you must drink, in this bootleg era, do your drinking not more than five minutes away from a doctor."

Helen Wills, good California girl, is now Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr. He is a Californian also.

That wedding interests Americans, all fond of Helen Wills and proud of her. It also interests egotists, who believe that a super-race could be built up by proper marriage selection.

Fortunately, they are wrong about that.

A super-race is being produced, not as basis of breeding horses or dogs, but produced by intense affection and concentration, which more than any thing else decides the qualities of the child.

For other details read the first chapter of "Tristram Shandy."

"Fly, Red Eagle of the Tyrol," is the name of a German play. Italy wants a scene changed in which a youth of German blood tells how Italian gendarmes shot his mother.

Germany will oblige: the play will be toned down.

The incident is interesting because applause that greets the play and its patriotic utterances shows how easily a new war could start, once the nations get their breath.

A British judge suggests copying for English prisons an experiment made in Germany. Prisoners that work well, behave themselves, show "some desire to become good citizens," will have special privileges.

Their cells will remain lighted until 9:30 p. m. They will share in prison management and have two weeks once a year to visit friends and keep in touch with the world outside.

Rebellion in American prisons proves that mere discipline is not enough. Perhaps showing a real interest in criminals, realizing how narrow a line separates respectability from crime, would help.

Criticizing installment payments for automobiles and other expensive units has gone by. Without such payment industries would dwindle.

Vice-President A. A. Copeland of the State Bank also got uneasy about his paper recently and called to see about it and put it a year in advance. When a newspaper man gets to where he can scare a banker, we consider he has some pull. But "Drew" is always "onny on the spot" with his dues.

Nothing Shocking in Jap's Change of Attire

In the West we have a gentleman's agreement that disrobing should be confined to the bedroom and bathroom, or at any rate to some place behind closed doors. Not so in Japan! One hot day in a train traveling from Kobe to Kyoto I witnessed an incident that showed the Japanese can adopt a really common-sense attitude to clothes, writes Harold Butcher in Cassel's Magazine.

It was in a third-class carriage. A few seats ahead of me was a Japanese passenger who was beginning to feel the heat. His silk shirt was wet and clammy. Something must be done about it! One could read his mind.

He had his remedy. He stood up and removed his shirt. Then he found that his undershirt was also soaked. He removed that and dried his naked torso. From his suitcase he produced a clean undershirt and a clean, cool shirt, which he proceeded to don with perfect unconcern and irreproachable modesty. As far as I could judge he changed every stitch of clothing with never a quiver, and finished triumphantly—a re clothed, revived, rejuvenated human being. In this hot train in Japan the whole affair seemed the most natural and sensible thing to do in the circumstances.

Few People Make Best Use of Their Muscles

Practically every one has from 10 to 20 per cent more muscular strength than he is trained to use, Donald A. Laird says in an article in Hygeia, the health magazine published by the American Medical association.

Take the simple matter of lifting a heavy weight above the head with one hand for example. If a person understands how to use his muscles the amount that can be raised can be almost doubled. Suppose that when the arm is hanging at the side 20 pounds is the maximum that can be raised by bending the arm at the elbow. As soon as the forearm is raised so that it is at right angles with the upper arm the weight is handled much more easily.

When the hand carrying the weight is further raised so that it is almost on a level with the shoulder the same muscles have an added advantage and can handle more than 40 pounds. There is an increase from a 20-pound pull to more than a 40-pound pull simply by a utilization of the knowledge of how the arm muscles and bones work as mechanical levers and forces.

Education in America

Compulsory education in the United States occurred first in Massachusetts. As far back as 1642 the selectmen were enjoined to compel parents to teach their children themselves or to procure teaching for them. The following list shows the dates at which the several states enacted compulsory education legislation: Massachusetts, 1852; District of Columbia, 1864; Vermont, 1867; New Hampshire, Michigan, Washington, 1871; Connecticut, New Mexico, 1872; Nevada, 1873; New York, Kansas, California, 1874; Maine, New Jersey, 1875; Wyoming, 1870; Ohio, 1877; Wisconsin, 1879; Rhode Island, Illinois, the Dakotas, Montana, 1882; Minnesota, Nebraska, Idaho, Colorado, Oregon, Utah, 1883-1890; by 1908 almost all states.

Salvation Army Titles

It is to Elijah Cadman, a humble chimney-sweep of Coventry, to whom the credit for the military ranks and titles of the Salvation army must really go, writes a contributor in London Tit-Bits. Once known as "King of the Roughs," Cadman was converted and became an ardent Salvationist. He was given charge of a mission and began to call himself a "captain in God's army to fight the devil." To mark William Booth as his superior officer, Cadman called him "general." And because William Booth knew well the value of a dramatic appeal to the popular mind, the titles, after some hesitation due to modesty on William Booth's own part, were accepted.

Cave Men

The trouble with some of us husbands is that we are too good. This causes our wives to find a lot of fault with us, and some of them almost wish they were rid of us. What we need to do is to be mean and trifling; then our wives will cling to us as if we were something valuable.—Versailles Leader.

LOW CREAM PRICE
SITUATION CITED BY EDITOR
Snyder and Scurry County Producers
Suffering From Low Price.

Editor Charles A. Guy of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal recently published an article that could just as easily have been used here, since farmers here have inquired many times about the low prices paid here for cream.

The Lubbock editor said: Discussion among the number of dairy farmers for the past several weeks has principally been about the low price offered in this area for cream.

While most dairy farmers are bringing their cream to buyers of the South Plains and accepting the price offered, quite a few of them have been looking elsewhere for better markets. Some have discovered and are now patronizing the better markets.

Price Too Low Here

When the price offered here was 29 cents per pound butterfat, with a two-cents per pound charge for handling, one Lubbock County dairy farmer was shipping his cream to Trinidad, Colo., where the price received netted him 10 cents per pound above the South Plains market.

"The Trinidad creamery," explains L. A. Howard, "offers a guaranteed price of 40 cents per pound butterfat, delivered there. My last shipment to them was 10 gallons, which graded A, weighed 76 pounds and tested 37. Express amounted to 80 cents, giving me a net return of 37 1/2 cents per pound butterfat.

My cream has always tested from three to eight per cent more at this creamery than at any place sold on the South Plains."

Many Are Wondering

Many are wondering if the local cream buyers, particularly the big plants, are taking advantage of producers on prices, while others view the fact that outside creameries offer better prices as being done because of conditions varying in different sections.

"The matter of selling cream is exactly the same as any manufacturer or producer of any article, watching and knowing the markets open to him. If he can get more for his product at some place a thousand miles away, it is to his advantage to do so.

"Farmers, I believe, are getting away from the habit of bringing their products to town and taking any and all prices offered locally. They are learning to market where the best prices are. And that is all he can ever do. Competition will raise prices, if the demand for the product continues brisk. Should a greater percentage of dairy farmers, for instance, begin sending the bulk of their cream to Colorado or any other far-away point, when the local buyers need what we have, they will meet, perhaps exceed, the price we are getting."—Snyder Signal.

Bayne Price, prominent young farmer of the Challis community, was a visitor at the Herald office recently.

Also J. R. Lindley miller at the Bowers Bros. mill decided he was getting about his last paper the last week, and hurried to the Herald office with his dollar. We had Jim marked out to cut him off right behind the fore shoulder.

H. L. Lee was in from the farm this week, and handed in his renewal. H. L. says the Herald is the best country weekly he ever took. Thanks, friend.

DAIRY COW SHOULD PRODUCE 7,500 LBS. OF MILK

A good dairy cow is an efficient machine for producing food, but unless she produces at least 7,500 pounds of milk per year she will not be profitable under present conditions, according to Professor J. H. Fuller, head of the Dairy Department, University of New Hampshire. Like other authorities, he recommends the use of litter carriers and drinking cups, milking machines and other equipment to keep labor costs on the dairy farm to a minimum.

If the five million cows producing at a loss were sent to the block, not only would dairying be more profitable, says the Research Department of the National Association of Farm Equipment Manufacturers, but many farmers could utilize the proceeds from their now unprofitable holdings to secure these labor-saving aids to cut short their chore hours and spend more time in the field.

Jim Jones, who has been helping out at the West Texas Gin during the fall month, called Saturday to renew for his mother's paper.

CONFEDERATE GUNBOAT RAISED FROM BAYOU

The stem of a Confederate gunboat, grizzly relic of the 60's, was recently raised from the waters of Buffalo Bayou at Houston by the derrick boat, Lane. The huge block of live oak, studded with hand-wrought spikes, will be placed in the museum of Natural History in Houston.

Old-timers say that the ship, which for 67 years lay across the bayou, was never named. Where the Confederate ship came from is not definitely known, but it is believed by old-timers that it was built at a shipyard on Buffalo Bayou. It is known that the ship was anchored on the bayou near a foundry and machine shops to be fitted out as a Confederate gunboat. But before the work was completed the federals captured Galveston and General Magruder was assigned the work of re-taking the city by President Davis.

It appears that this boat was left behind when other vessels steamed down the channel to capture Galveston island from the federals. No one remembers just when the ship was sunk, or why, but it is believed that it was sunk when the federals first came up from Galveston after General Granger had landed, recaptured Galveston and put an end to Confederate hopes.

C. J. Bonham, of the Seagraves section, was up on business this week, and handed in two dollars on subscription. C. J. says he lacks about load of corn having his crop all in.

Most all our readers we have talked with agree that they had rather try to remember when their papers expire than to have to pay 50c more for it and have duns sent them.

New Theory of the Universe
The Sorrows of Wall Street
The Wonderful Automobile
200 Miles an Hour, Low Fares

The learned Prof. James Mackaye of Dartmouth brings forth a new theory of the universe, pushing Einstein and relativity into the background.

The universe possesses a radiation of super-frequency and superpenetration, pervading all space. The other, which Einstein eliminated, returns, but it is a dynamic, not a static, ether.

That deep news interests a few. Secretary Mellon says 1930 will be a super-year, money abundant, interest rates low, business good.

That interests everybody, violently. Infinite time, space and ether will take care of themselves; 1930 and business must be attended to at once.

Now that the "big wind" that swept through Wall Street, blowing away paper profits, has died down, there are sad hearts, but no real losses.

Apparent values, born of imagination and outrageous issues of watered stock, have shrunk by more than twenty-three billions of dollars in three months.

But our national property is all here, including the nicely printed watered stock.

When one concern assembles a few "public utility concerns" and prints 80,000,000 shares of wind and water, with 2,000,000 shares of preferred and heaven knows how many obligations of the assembled companies ahead of the 80,000,000 shares, something must happen. It did happen.

Among all the sorrows of Wall Street, however, bright spots stand out. Actual dividends declared in 1929 up to December 28 totaled more than $4,462,000,000, an increase of more than a thousand million dollars over 1928.

We are really not poor, only a little discouraged, some of us, at the idea of beginning over again.

New York explodes gasoline in a big way. In the last six months of 1929, the state taxed 774,701,746 gallons of gasoline, not including gasoline used by farmers.

It would have taken 968 freight trains of eighty cars each to carry that gasoline. Who would have believed that when Senator Connors was investing less than $2,000 in the little Ford car, taking out within a short time $300,000,000 as his share?

A telegram from the "Stout Air Line" of Detroit tells of air rates from Detroit to Chicago reduced to only a little more than railroad fare, plus pullman charge.

Another telegram from the Universal Air Lines System of Chicago says: "Pilot Ray Fortner, in a trimotored Fokker, carried 12 passengers and an assistant pilot from Chicago to Cleveland, 326 miles, in 97 minutes, 203 miles an hour. That trip is one leg on the proposed New York-Los Angeles route. The fare will be the same as by rail.

Against an airplane going 200 miles an hour, what chance will a railroad have, going 40 miles an hour, with fare the same? Americans are in a hurry.

Intelligent railroad men will take charge of passenger flying and control it. Others will fade away like the old stage coach drivers.

How the years drag for the young! How they fly for the old!

A man past sixty knows that it is only a step to 1931.

A child cannot believe that another Christmas will ever come.

The earth, according to scientists, will last millions of millions of years. But "a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night."

But that is no excuse for not getting the best possible results from each of 1930's 365 days.

A great system of street car and interurban lines driven into a receivership in New York state is another reminder that the motor bus came to stay.

Railroads that ignored and despised the motor bus at first are now running busses of their own in many states.

Some roads, looking farther ahead, have started their own flying lines.

You have, gentle reader, about 119,000,000 American brothers and sisters. The bureau of economic research puts our population at 119,300,000, including you.

We have increased 14,000,000 in ten years, while keeping out, largely, the unfit European population that breeds crime," according to advocates of restricted immigration.

But we have not kept out crime self. We have plenty of that.

In Lancaster, Ohio, Mrs. Vincent emp had two sets of twins in 1929. The first pair came on January 4 last, the second on the last day of the year. That is the crop that counts and neither bootleg liquor nor drugs will ruin it. (S. 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Odd Nesting Place

A young lady at East Grinstead, gland, went to remove letters from a letter box, and feeling a slight twinge, investigated and discovered a tit had utilized the box for a nest, and had laid eight dainty little eggs. In the stomach of a bullock in the same town were found screws, iron bolts, and nails. At Hartfield a snake, driven on the road by the fires in Ashdown st., was run over and killed by a car. It was more than a yard

Today

-Chevrolet announces

THE GREATEST CHEVROLET IN CHEVROLET HISTORY

Today, Chevrolet presents the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History—a smoother, faster, better Six—with beautiful new bodies by Fisher.

Basically, it is the same sturdy, substantial Six which won such tremendous popularity in 1929. But it is a greater car in every way—for there are scores of vital improvements which contribute to comfort, performance, endurance and safety!

An improved six-cylinder valve-in-head motor, with its capacity increased to 50 horsepower; four Delco-Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers; fully-enclosed internal-expanding weather-proof brakes; a new dash gasoline gauge; heavier and stronger rear axle; Fisher non-glare windshield; larger tires—

—these are typical of the many improvements which make this car the Greatest Chevrolet in Chevrolet History.

But most impressive of all from the standpoint of the motor car buyer—this smoother, faster, better Six is available—

-at greatly reduced prices!

During 1929, more than a million three hundred thousand persons bought six-cylinder Chevrolets. This enormous volume has made possible many savings in the Chevrolet factories—and, in keeping with its long-established policy, Chevrolet is sharing these savings with the public. No written description can do justice to the extra value and quality provided in this new car. Visit your Chevrolet dealer—see this car—check its new features—ride in it—and judge for yourself the sensational value it represents.

Well even if our correspondent did get married and moved to Oklahoma we are still on the map just the same. School is progressing nicely. All the children seem to like our teachers. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson just fine. Mr. and Mrs. Shank Lyles spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Sims. Mr. Snow and Mr. Joe Smith and families have moved to our community from Seymour, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Williams returned Thursday night from Cleburne and Hillsboro, Texas. They report a nice trip. Jim Offill went to Seagraves Saturday on business. Mr. Deward Williams and a boy from Brownfield went to Big Spring

Friday night on business. They returned Sunday by way of Odessa and Andrews. They said that between Andrews and Seminole it took them 2½ hours to go 10 miles. They said there was no sand in Terry county equal to Andrews county. At time of writing Mrs. J. L. Lyon is on the sick list. Hayden Kemp visited Willard Cheak Sunday. Mrs. Jenkins visited Mrs. J. L. Lyon Monday eve. Mr. McDonald from Oklahoma was up visiting his son Dennis and seeing after his farm last week.

See you again folks next week!

Produce Beef
Pork Milk
Mutton Poultry
for LESS

LOWER your feeding costs and you will produce your beef, pork, milk, mutton and poultry at a bigger profit. It is easy to do with a W-W Feed Grinder. Thousands of farmers, livestock feeders and dairymen are grinding and mixing their home grown feeds with the W-W and realizing bigger profits as a result.

W-W FEED GRINDER
HAMMER-TYPE

Actual tests with W-W FEED GRINDERS have proved that grinding gives farmers a third more feeding value from everything they raise for feed. The W-W eliminates waste. Turns snapped or ear corn, alfalfa, bundle feeds, barley, maize, oats, fodder and other roughage into nutritious, balanced feeds that go a third further.

The W-W grinds and mixes everything from the ground up, with lightning speed—separately or together, fine or coarse. No burrs, knives or gears. Powerful RIGID hammers do the work!

Lifetime Service—The W-W has proved itself the world's greatest feed grinder. Built for years of dependable service. Nails, bolts, etc., do not injure the heavy W-W grinder cylinder. Has Timken Tapered Bearings, Alemite Lubrication and Rockwood Pulleys. Self-feeder can be furnished—Blower or Elevator equipment. Nine different sizes.

Free Demonstration on Your Farm!

Come in and see the W-W. Or we will demonstrate this wonderful grinder on your own farm with your own feed and power. Ask us about it.

Exploration of Cave At Carlsbad Planned

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Plans for an expedition into Carlsbad Cave in New Mexico, the largest cavern ever discovered and perhaps the oldest geologically, were announced here Friday by Frank Ernest Nicholson, author and world wanderer.

Mr. Nicholson expects to enter the cave within two weeks and other assistants equipped to reach parts of the cavern which so far have been unexplored and with provisions for a three weeks' continuous journey. He will carry both a short wave radio set and telephone equipment and send out daily reports of his progress and discoveries. They will be published exclusively in New York by the New York Times and also will be published by newspapers associated with the Times in other cities.

"This cave," said Mr. Nicholson, "is practically unknown to Americans, yet it is the greatest wonder of its kind in the world. It was formed more than 60,000,000 years ago, according to the estimates of scientists, and the twenty-two miles of it which have thus far been explored, only a very small part in all probability, constitute an area of twenty-five times the size of Mammoth Cave in Kentucky.

COL CHAS. GOODNIGHT, THE PIONEER

Col. Chas. Goodnight, of Goodnight, Texas, died at his winter home in Tucson, Arizona, December 12 at the age of 93. Even if the newspapers had not carried columns of matter concerning his life, the mere announcement of his death would have brought to the minds of thousands of people in the Southwest, stories of his bravery, his charity and goodness of heart, for Col. Goodnight was known by reputation to many who had not the opportunity of knowing him personally.

We often read in the press of the passing of a pioneer, but pioneers of the character and kind of Col. Goodnight are seldom met these days. In truth he did open the trails for civilization into the almost unknown lands of West Texas and the Panhandle. He relished adventure and he bravely overcame obstacles which would have seemed almost unsurmountable to a less courageous man.

He was born in the State of Illinois, three days after Texas had issued its Declaration of Independence in 1836, and at 11 years of age he moved with his family to Milam county, Texas, the advanced post of civilization. From that day until all the West had come more or less under the influence of modern life, he kept just ahead of the advanced guard of settlers and blazed the way for those, who like himself, found pleasure in life on the plains far removed from close association of neighbors.

Such a life naturally led to an interest in cattle and ranches and during his active interest in this business he succeeded in crossing the native buffalo with domestic cattle, creating, as it were, a new beef animal which he called "cattalo."

During the Civil War, Col. Goodnight served as a scout on the western frontier and after the war he again became interested in ranching, and until his death he continued to keep himself well informed on this industry. Col. Goodnight lived a long and useful life. He will long live in the memory of the people of Texas.—Farm and Ranch.

SOMETHING MORE

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

THE preacher had not always proved That there's a heaven beyond the stars, And then across my screen she moved, And healed my wounds, and hid my scars.

I knew her mothering awhile; She mothered all the men she met; And all men her Madonna smile Remember yet.

Because her company was peace, And dignity her locks of gray, The littleness of life would cease, And thoughts of hate would pass away.

And even now, when passions stir, When men grow angry, as men will, They only need to think of her, And all is still.

And now they tell us she is gone, "Gone where?" our hungry hearts reply;

And every man's heart answers "On"— For so much goodness could not die. Yes, if I doubted heaven before, That there was heaven for men like me

I know there must be something more For such as she. (Copyright, Douglas Malloch.)

Through a Woman's Eyes

by Jean Newton

ARE YOU ASHAMED TO SAY "I DO NOT KNOW?"

DO YOU know the meaning of "psychoterminality?" Nobody else does, either. There's no such word.

But ask that question of ten of your friends and see how many start to "blush" and "blush" and fish about for some kind of a definition that is a good guess, or rather a good bluff.

A large percentage will. They are the ones who haven't yet acquired the poise to admit that there is something they do not know. And I am sorry to say it, the proportion of those who fall into your little trap will probably be greater among women than among men. For while many women think as straight as any man, women in general cannot match men in general when it comes to the faculty of thinking straight, of calling a spade a spade, and of not trying to fool themselves. The average man when asked about something that he does not know will more readily admit that he does not know than the average woman. She will be more inclined to bluff it out, not so much from motives of dishonesty as from a penchant for fooling herself.

With reference to this art of bluffing, certain tests were made recently at the University of Cincinnati in which the students were asked to define words that did not exist, to place quotations from Shakespeare which were made up for the occasion, to designate the authors of certain books which had never been written. And the tests revealed that the freshmen bluffed the most and seniors the least, that the least bluffing was done by students who ranked highest academically, the highest record for expositions on non-existent subjects coming from those whose general record at college was lowest.

That, of course, brings us back to the old story that the person who knows most knows when he does not know. Only the fool "knows it all."

A girl complained to me that the old women in her family were oppressive in their insistence in "knowing it all," even in matters that were entirely foreign to them. She asked me if this were a quality common with old people. If it is, in my opinion, they are old people who have gone sterile mentally, whose minds have atrophied. Otherwise they would not have this quality in common with those who never had anything to give mentally. Old people whose minds are strong and active are the last ones in the world to be guilty of "knowing it all." For one of the compensations of old age, a healthy old age, is its tolerance, its understanding, its real wisdom.

Dear Editor:

I'M the guy who always reads the life insurance ads and worries about tomorrow. Now I'm captivated by the care-free spirit of the South.

Maybe the "don't worry" spirit starts with the colored people. They live in one-thickness homes, and wear, maybe, one-layer clothes. They ride in cars miraculously held together, and when something goes wrong they climb under, and somehow get the machinery to functioning again. And without worry.

Five-passenger cars here carry ten. Folks down here have made up their minds to enjoy life. You get hot breads at every meal—a little added luxury that warms your heart. Of course, it may work havoc with your digestion, but I can't worry about that today.—Fred Barton. (Copyright.)

MIXUP PROGRAM OVER RADIO

Here's an anonymous titbit going the rounds that may remind you of your own experiences.

A man had just installed a radio. He tuned in, getting three stations on the same wave length. One was a minister, one man was telling the condition of the roads, and the third was lecturing on poultry. Here is what he got:

"The Old Testament tells us that your baby chicks should detour one mile south of Salina and listen to the words of the prophets Sassyssy."

Be careful in the selection of your eggs, and you will find hard surfaced roads on to the Garden City. We find in Genesis that the roads are muddy just west of the henhouse and clean straw is essential if you would save your soul. After passing thru Leavenworth, turn north to Jerico. The wise men bought a large sized incubator on account made detour. The baby chicks were troubled with the pip and a bond issue is being talked in the Holy City. Keep the feet clean and dry, live a life of righteousness and turn south one mile east of the schoolhouse. Much care should be used in commanding the sun to stand still as there is a washout on the bridge just south of Paola, and the road to salvation is under repair, making necessary for 70 degrees in the broodhouse at all times. After you leave Winfield, unless you do these things, the wrath of the Lord will cause the pin feathers to fall out and detour one mile south. Many are culled, but few have any luck unless the graveled road between Upeka and Lawrence are mixed with the feed. Out of 500 eggs one should get good roads from Koffeyville to Tulsa and He commanded Noah to build the Ark just one mile west of Wichita. It rained forty days and forty nights and caused an eight mile detour. Just west of the brood house many tourists from the House of David are trying Plymouth Rocks mixed with concrete and the desire to do right.—Joplin Globe.

New Civic Club Organized This Week

Closing the gayest holiday season of many years with the glad New Year parties, the social calendar is now enjoying a rest. Only a few affairs are being planned for the coming weeks, both old and young being glad of an opportunity for a few days rest. The happy college students who were entertaining morning, noon and night, have now returned to their studies and others are now engaged in planning other affairs. Many of the visitors who were in our little city for the holidays have returned to their homes after having been entertained by friends or relatives.

TECH STUDENTS RETURN

Misses Madalene Elliott, Elizabeth Hargrave, Faye Brown and Messrs. Bill Collins, James Harley Dallas, Adolphus Smith, Jim Cousineau, Glen N. Webber and Will Alf Bull have returned to Lubbock to resume their studies at the Tech.

Mrs. M. C. Butler and babies of Lubbock have been visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. S. A. Shepherd. Mrs. Butler was formerly Miss Tempia Shepherd.

P. T. A. MEETS

The P. T. A. meets in its regular monthly meeting on the third Tuesday in the study hall of the High School building. The program for the afternoon will be in the capable hands of Miss Patterson. This meeting is also the time for election of officers. The nomination committee has not turned in a report but the president Mrs. S. H. Holgate insists that every member be present. A social hour will follow the business meeting.

Messrs. Sylvan Tankersley, Virgil Burnett and Kersey Scudday left Wednesday for Stephenville, Texas to re-enter John Tarleton.

Misses Bessie, Jessie and Louise Chisholm, Vivian Winston and Robbie Marian Hardin have returned to A. C. C. College at Abilene, Texas.

FRIDAY FORTY-TWO PARTY IS HELD FOR CLUB

Three tables of "42" were in progress Friday evening when club members of the "Friday 42" entertained their husbands in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gracey on Corner 323 South 1st for a social hour. Miss Violet McBurnett, Mesdames Earl Williams, W. B. Duke and Mr. Will Fitzgerald were guests while club members were Messrs and Mesdames Scudday, Hamilton, Baldwin, Downing, Kendrick, McBurnett, W. H. McSpadden, Holgate, Brothers, Mrs. H. R. Winston, host and hostess. For high cut for the ladies Mrs. Duke received a lovely jar of toilet water and Mr. Kendrick was given a leather bill fold for low. A refreshment plate consisting of chicken salad on lettuce leaves, sandwiches, pickles, mince meat pie topped with whip cream was passed after the game hour.

Misses Rebecca May and Mary Stanley Enderse, Messrs Roy Ballard and Murphy May went to Plainview Sunday after Virginia May who has been visiting there. They returned Sunday night.

METHODIST LADIES MEET

The adult and young societies of the M. E. church met together Monday for the service of "installation of officers" for the coming year. Bro. G. E. Turrentine led the service for the afternoon and officers installed as follows:

For the Young Society: President, Mrs. Leo Holmes; Vice Pres., Mrs. C. R. Baldwin; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Frank Rickles; Recording Sec., Mrs. J. B. Knight; Connectional Treas., Mrs. J. C. Hunter; Local Treas., Mrs. Roy Herod; Supt. of Depts., Mesdames Arnett Bynum, Boone Hunter, H. B. Thompson, and P. F. Lawlis.

Officers for the Adult Society are: President, Mrs. G. S. Webber; Vice Pres., Mrs. B. L. Thompson; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. J. E. Michie; Recording Sec., Mrs. W. B. Downing; Connectional Treas., Mrs. E. V. Wheeler; Local Treas., Mrs. W. D. Linville; Supt. of Depts., Mesdames H. O. Longbrake, C. L. Williams, Jno. S. Powell, W. B. Downing and Allie McDaniel.

CELEBRATES FIFTH BIRTHDAY

Little Carol Collier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier, entertained a few friends Tuesday afternoon from three thirty to five o'clock in honor of his fifth birthday. Games were played throughout the afternoon. A lovely cake holding 5 candles was served with hot chocolate. The little guests were Harold Jones, Mary Lena Winston, Larry Miller, E. J. Shaffield, Florence Williamson, Buster and Geo. Burnett, Arvis Jane Blackwell, Jimmie Green, Jackie Holt, Carl Anburg, and Emogene Green.

METHODIST LADIES VISIT FORRESTER CHURCH

The Missionary Societies of the M. E. Church met with the ladies of the Forrester church at Forrester Wednesday afternoon. The program arranged by the Brownfield ladies was as follows:

Song—Congregation.
Prayer.
Devotional—Mrs. W. E. Thompson
Welcome Address—From Forrester
Response—Mrs. G. S. Webber
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Roy Herod
Talk—Mrs. G. E. Turrentine
Piano Solo—Velma McClish.
Story of Dorcas—Mrs. Boone Hunter.
Stunt—Mesdames J. C. Hunter, C. R. Baldwin, Boone Hunter and Roy Herod.

After the program a social hour was enjoyed by all.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS

The Bible Class of the Church of Christ met in regular study hour Monday afternoon at the church. A very interesting lesson on the The Postmillian Period led by Mrs. L. F. Hodgens was enjoyed very much. Members present were Mesdames L. P. and Claude Hodgens, Burnett, N. L. Jones, W. W. Ditto, Roy Collier, E. Brown, R. J. Hastings, Jack Jackson, Marvin Mitchell, J. M. Moore, Williamson, C. R. Rambo, Nelson, W. G. Harris, Homer Winston, E. D. Jones, Travis Brumley, W. J. Lovelace and Graves. The subject for the next lesson is "The Patriphal Period by Mrs. R. A. Smith.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS WITH DINNER

Mrs. W. C. Smith delightfully entertained with a turkey dinner Sunday for her son, Dell. The table was very artistically arranged and place cards were laid for R. L. Lewis, Murphy May, Sawyer Graham, Spencer Kendrick, Vernon Bell, Lee Brownfield, Don King and Ray Brownfield Jr. These boys enjoyed this affair and expressed the desire for "more turkey dinners like this one."

Miss Jewel Graves had as her week end guests Misses Ruth and Naomi Siler of Seagraves. They returned to their home Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. and Mesdames Clyde and Clarence Lewis have gone to Dallas to market to purchase stock for their new dry goods store.

LIONS ORGANIZED IN CITY OFFICERS NAMED.

Alva E. Willigs, of Fort Worth, Commissioner Lions International, has been here for several days for the purpose of organizing a local unit of his work, which was completed a few days ago with the following officers and members:

President: W. E. Henson; 1st Vice Pres., W. W. Price; 2nd Vice Pres., K. W. Howell; 3rd Vice Pres., J. M. Telford; Secretary, Rex L. Headstream; Lion Tamer, Henry Chaholm; Tail Twister, Clyde Gross; Directors: J. H. Carpenter, Andrew Copeland and programs, Dr. R. D. DuBois.

This is the second civic club to be organized here, the Rotary being completed about two years ago. Weekly meeting will be on Wednesday and the first one will be January 24th.

CELEBRATES 69TH BIRTHDAY

A very pretty surprise dinner was tendered Mr. W. D. Eakin in honor of his 69th birthday by his daughters, Mrs. W. H. Collins of Brownfield and Mrs. B. W. Nobles of Hamlin at her home, Monday, Jan. 6th. There were forty guests present to wish him a Happy Birthday. The turkey dinner was greatly enjoyed by all. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Winters and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd of Lamesa, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Alexander of Anson and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Collins of Brownfield.

Miss Lucille Ballew is visiting friends in Brownfield. Her home is now in Baird, Texas.

Mr. Rex L. Headstream, county clerk, made a business trip to Dallas the first of last week.

IDLE WIVES ENTERTAINED

Mrs. J. E. Shelton very charmingly entertained the Idle Wives Club with a bridge party at her home on 704 E. Brooks, Tuesday afternoon. The house was made unusually attractive with club colors and the tables were also marked with club colors. Five tables were arranged for bridge and first high score, a lovely incense burner, went to Mrs. Tom May. Second high prize was awarded to Mrs. Albert Enderse, a novelty bar pin.

A delicious salad course, boiled custard cake and hot tea was served to twenty-one guests. Ladies enjoying this delightful affair were Mesdames Fred Smith, Joe McGowan, Iva Bailey, J. E. King, J. D. Miller, Ray Brownfield, Tom May, Roy Davis, A. W. Enderse, B. D. DuBois, J. E. Michie, A. J. Stricklin, W. R. McDuffie, W. A. Bell, W. B. Toome, Morgan Copeland, Homer Nelson and E. L. Bowers.

Mrs. W. B. Downing will entertain the "Friday 42" with a luncheon at her home on 423 East Main, January 10th.

BAPTIST SOCIETIES MEET

Circle three met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. V. May in a business meeting. Those present were Mesdames McBurnett, Scudday, Simmons, Markham, Smith, Pauline and E. W. Wirtz and the hostess. The society will meet next Monday with Mrs. A. M. McBurnett for a social hour.

The Young Matrons Society met for a business session at the home of Mrs. Wayne Brown Monday afternoon. Hot chocolate and cake were served to Mesdames A. S. Mangum, R. W. Carter, Clyde Briley, Ike Bailey, S. L. Green, B. D. DuBois, N. G. Stewart, Homer Nelson and E. V. May. The society will be entertained with a social next Monday at 4:00 at the home of Mrs. Clyde Briley.

The Sunbeams met at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Stewart were in charge for the afternoon. There were 13 present. Intermediate G. A.'s met in the home of Mrs. May Wednesday at 3:30. A new division of Junior G. A.s will be organized next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. DuBois. Each Junior is requested to be present.

To Open New Store

The Herald is in receipt of the following letter from Clyde Lewis, Baker Hotel, Dallas:

January 7, 1934

A. J. Stricklin,
Brownfield, Texas.

Dear Sir:—

I am going to open a dry goods store in the Hogan stand across from the First National Bank, January 17. Everything will be brand new. I am here buying my opening bill and will carry a good line of high class merchandise with a complete line of Ladies and Misses Ready-to-wear.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend our opening. Will appreciate a part of your business in the future.

Yours truly,

CLYDE LEWIS.

Ford Cars Have New Attractive Radiator

"A car is known by its Radiator," said W. B. Tudor local Ford dealer...

"If your memory goes back to the cars of twenty years ago," he continued, "just think for a moment how the different makes of that day are identified in your mind..."

"That is what has happened in the case of the new bodies for the Model A, probably the first thing that your eye will take in will be the graceful new radiator design..."

"An oval medallion bearing the name 'Ford' in script, done in nickel on a blue enameled background, appears at the top center of the shell..."

"The Ford Model A has including features it already possesses: new body lines and colors, rustles steel trimmings, sturdy steel construction, a fully enclosed silent six brake system..."

Uncle Billy Howard who recently passed from earthly relations to his heavenly reward was a tower of strength in our midst. He was a man of noble christian character. His four score and ten years was crowded with noble service. He was in the truest sense a kind and faithful husband and father. He taught high principles, and lived them at home and abroad...

"Uncle Billy" as he was familiarly known, served four years in the Confederate Army. He was a member of the twenty-sixth legislature and for fifty-five years a faithful, and loyal member of the Baptist church...

Recognizing the enrichment of our personal lives and of the history of our church, and of the community through the long years he has sojournd with us therefore be it resolved by the Meadow Baptist Church in conference, Dec. 29, 1929 that we render to Almighty God our humble thanks for his rich grace, as manifested in the life of our brother and friend...

METHODIST CHURCH

We wish to thank the large concourse of people who came to church Sunday. To many this was a day of introduction to the new pastor. Let us hope it was not also a day of farewell until another year begins, for we greatly desire that a regular church going habit be formed by all. Conversions and reclamations have crowned the services for the past two Sundays. Why not have such a spiritual atmosphere that this may become the usual thing in every service, and thus make glad the heart of our Master and our own hearts...

Tokio Talkings

Miss Ida Mae Stuart returned from Oklahoma Tuesday night where she has been with her grandmother for the past four months.

Mr. J. W. Moore of Brownfield and Misses Brown, Moore and Hunter, teachers in the Gomez school attended singing here Sunday night.

Mr. C. A. Stuart and son, Charles, returned Sunday from Claremore, Okla., where they had been called to the bedside of Mr. Stuart's mother.

Miss Bessie Day got her car torn up Sunday morning while enroute to Sunday School. Mrs. Walter Moreman of Plains was the driver of the other car. Considerable damage was done to both cars but each can be repaired. Most of the motor vehicles on the highway pass through Tokio entirely too fast even though it is a small place.

Miss Lena Roper and some friends visited at Canyon the past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Patterson are entertaining friends from Plainview. They were also visitors to Plainview Friday afternoon and returned Sunday.

Miss Magdalene Purtell visited with her mother, Mrs. A. C. Holcombe at Lahey.

The president of Johnson Chapel B. Y. P. U. visited the local B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

The Tokio school had ten new pupils Monday.

(The following Tokio Talkers were written to the Herald by someone other than the regular reporter):

Mr. Charles Stewart has returned from Oklahoma also other states where he has been visiting for some time.

Last week and this is examination week and all of the teachers and pupils are very busy.

Mr. Hugh Snodgrass and family are intending to visit Mr. Snodgrass' sister, Mrs. I. C. Surginer of Floyd this week end. We wish them a nice time.

There were several who went to the party Saturday night at Jeffcoats. Mr. T. A. Proctor is moving this week also Mr. W. F. Young.

Johnson came over to Tokio last Friday afternoon to play basketball. The scores were 15-7 in favor of TOKIO. All yelled some nice yells.

The Tokio girls are organizing a Pep-Squad now. They have elected Doris Snodgrass as yell leader. They haven't decided on the suits yet but will soon.

Miss Pansy Romans gave a "Ring out the old year and ring in the new" party Tuesday night, Dec. 31. All seemed to have a "scrumpious" time.

Say, you won't recognize Tokio when they finish the new school building. It is surely going to be a beautiful building.

MISSING BANKER GIVES HIMSELF UP TO POLICE

LUBBOCK, TEXAS, Jan. 4 (AP). J. M. Pope, missing Southland Garza County, banker, late Friday surrendered to authorities at Post on charges of theft by bailee which grew out of his disappearance from Southland on Dec. 3 and the closing of the Bank of Southland, according to word received from County Attorney Leon O. Moses of Garza County.

The bank, privately owned institution of which Pope was head, had not reopened since Pope's disappearance. With deposits totaling approximately $55,000, little more than $200 was found in the bank's vault seventy-two hours later when its time lock permitted opening.

Through his attorney, T. C. Bills, Littlefield, Pope presented $75,000 bond Friday. The bond was signed by thirty-four citizens of Lamb County, his home until five months ago.

THE WHY OF SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

BIRDS IN THE WINDOW

"YES, we failed," said a man to the writer the other day. "I knew we would. The first day we opened the shop a bird flew in at the window. I told my partner then we would never make a go of it."

Let anyone investigate and he will be surprised how many people of his acquaintance believe that a bird flying in at a window brings bad luck.

Here we have a survival from the dim shadowy days of old. Your respected ancestor, Stonehatchet, probably felt as perturbed when a bird flew into his cave as you do when one flies into your drawing room. Primitive man considered everything with relation to himself and what he could not understand he was suspicious of. Birds could fly—he could not. Therefore there was something supernatural about birds—he himself representing the natural. When a bird, for no apparent reason, violated the rules and came flying into his cave something was wrong. It was unusual and the unusual puzzled and scared the primitive man.

Here we get the origin of a bird superstition which survives in its original form unto this day; modified in some cases, though, by other superstitions which gradually gathered about birds. Thus in some sections a bird flying into a room is considered to be, or to symbolize, a soul come for another soul and thus to portend death. This comes from the idea which grew up among some tribes of the transmigration of souls into birds. Also primitive man became obsessed with the idea that birds somehow indicated the future. The early name for the chief of the Roman augurs was Auspex, "The Observer of Birds." The word augur itself—which means not only one who predicts but also the act of predicting—though of uncertain origin has been thought by many philologists to come from a combination of two words meaning "Bird-talk."

Old System of Timing

Still in Use in Egypt Before the advent of the modern clock, many towns and cities told the time to their people by firing a gun at noon. Rome was such a place, and kept to the daily firing of her veteran noon-gun on the Janiculum hill, which had been done so far back as human memory could go until a year or so ago.

Then she decided to replace this ancient form of time signaling by the most ultramodern system available. A master electric clock was installed in the city observatory, which controlled 300 other electric clocks placed in different quarters of the Eternal City on the Tiber. The 323,000 Romans are therefore exceptionally well catered for as regards the time.

What an amazing contrast is such a method as this to the manner in which parts of Egypt to this very day tell the time. There some of the natives still employ ancient shadow clocks. These consist of wooden boards with little "goal posts" in the middle of them, which measure by the shadows they throw the length of jobs which have to be performed by oxen or laborers.

These "clocks" have been in use for telling time for 4,000 years.

Old Insurance Company

The Presbyterian Ministers' fund, Philadelphia, is probably the oldest insurance company in this country. It was established 170 years ago.

Term's Meaning Changed Originally the term "Salle law" was only to a codification of the laws of certain Germanic tribes, including the Salian or Merovingian Franks. These laws were codified in Latin in the early Middle Ages. They related chiefly to property and penalties for various injuries.

The term is often applied exclusively to a section which relates to inheritances, and provides that only males inherit property. Since the Fourteenth century a further restriction in application has attached chiefly to those laws, in whatever country found, which forbid female inheritance of the throne.

The Rose in History

Roses and romance have been kin through the centuries. They have been flung to knights in armor, have been worn beneath the coat of mail as heroes entered battle, have been strewn at the feet of returning conquerors, have lain in quiet peace on the biers of the dead, have softened the contours of tombs and burial mounds, have marked the confident pathways of brides, have been thrown at the feet of idols. Wherever man has sought to express what words cannot say, the rose has played its part.

BIRTH IN LOG CABIN NOT NECESSARY.

Not all great men were born under the same environment or conditions. Greatness is not the result of the application of any set formula.

There is much more in principle than in program.

Every man to a degree is unlike every other man. Not two things in nature are exactly alike. The Creator has infinite initiative, genius and inspiration, are not the same in any two men.

Abraham Lincoln, great Civil War President; James J. Hill, great railroad man, called empire builder; Melville E. Stone, many years president of the Associated Press, and others recognized by the world at large as contributors to the welfare and happiness of humanity, were born in log cabins, but that doesn't mean that if you are not so born you will come to nothing. There have been many men born in log cabins who did not attain greatness, and many have attained greatness who were not born in log cabins.

Of course, being born in a mansion starts you out with a handicap that the log cabin doesn't impose, but that can be overcome just as can the handicap of wealth, or high social position, or stammering, or being left-handed, or almost anything else.

NOT ETHICAL

Soliciting job work in a neighboring town where there is another newspaper and job plant is not an ethical practice.—Colorado Editor.

Manitoba Boundary

The lower half of the boundary between Manitoba and Saskatchewan is stepped because, crossing a well-settled farming district, it follows the survey lines. Survey lines in northern Canada are, of course, always stepped, this being necessary in view of the fact that the meridians of longitude, which form the basis of the surveyors' calculations, converge as they go north, and the distance between them, instead of remaining uniform, is thus gradually narrowing, whereas survey lines have to be kept straight.

STATE CAPITOL HAS COST A VAST SUM

The Dallas News of Saturday in speaking of the various lands that had been given away by the State of Texas, says of the lands traded for the State Capitol Building:

"Lastly there were given 3,025,000 acres for the massive granite Capitol. This land was commonly believed to be worth about $1 an acre when the Capitol was completed in 1884. It could not now be bought for an average of $50 per acre, or a total of $151,250,000. While the estimated cost of the Capitol at the time of its completion was less than $4,000,000, it could hardly be duplicated now for $8,000,000. The State apparently paid a large price, as the building would today cost far less than the value of the land. However the land has been put to use and is paying taxes to the State Treasury. It has been settled up and was administered by the so-called Capitol Syndicate of Chicago, a firm of bankers which financed the construction of the building and took the land in payment therefor."

PUBLICITY SEEKERS

Now a woman drives a car for 80 hours without stopping for sleep in order to establish an endurance record for women. A boy set up a pole in his back-yard and remains perched on the top of it for days just to make a record. One woman even claims to have set the record for continuous rocking in a porch rocking chair. This rage for doing useless things just to "set a record" is getting as ridiculous as it is silly. The one purpose behind it all, of course, is to secure publicity—the ones trying for "endurance records" being far more interested in seeing their names in the papers than anything else. Just why a same person should want such publicity is more than most of us can understand. But they do, and they continue to disgust the public, and probably will until the newspapers of the land cut out mentioning the "stunts." That will stop them in a hurry, for there'll be no more of them when there's no more publicity.—Pyote Signal.

JAS. E. FERGUSON IS TO BE HONORED

DALLAS, Jan. 1.—James E. Ferguson, former governor, will be guest of honor at a banquet here about January 12, according to plans of his friends. Details of the dinner will be announced later.

The tentative date coincides with the time when Ferguson has promised to formal announcement of his candidacy for the governorship, in the event he decides to run.

Is Non-Political Sponsors of the dinner declared it was non-political, and merely to give his friends and opportunity to show their appreciation of him.

Ferguson has said that if there should be sufficient demand either he or Mrs. Ferguson would be a candidate for governor. Mrs. Ferguson's candidacy was announced on January 12th six year ago.

RED FLANNEL DAYS

We feel sure older residents around Pyote will be interested in having their attention called to "red flannel" days. And we are able to bring them vividly to their minds by reprinting this little item from an exchange printed in a nearby town: "Red flannel to the amount of ten yards was bought April 5, 1854, by one of our early citizens, according to an old account book which came to light here a few days ago. In the same year, according to entries in the old account books, eggs were 8c a dozen; shoes averaged $1.50 a pair, and brooms sold at 25c each. But coffee sold for 50c a pound and tea at $1.00 a pound. Candles, gunpowder, fur-caps and whalebone for dress stays were listed as necessities, while not in the entire book is there any indication that silk stockings were being worn or that lipsticks and lotions met with a ready sale. How times have changed—and how a lot of us are still left wondering if the change finds the human race any happier."—Pyote Signal.

IN DE PRIEST INCIDENT

Myles C. Allgood, representative from Alabama, resigned from the committee on enrolled bills after he learned that Oscar De Priest, negro Chicago congressman, was to become a member of the committee.

W. J. Ramsey called on us recently to renew for his Herald for another year.

W. A. Pycatt, of this city, is now on the right side of the subscription ledger for another year.

So very many of our delinquent readers have been coming in the past few days to renew for the Herald that we have decided to extend the time another week before begin cutting them off.

CENSUS TAKING TO BEGIN ON APRIL 1

The decennial census of the United States is to be taken in April, 1930, when tens of thousands of workers all over the country will combine to finish the job inside of three weeks, is the announcement being broadcast from Washington this week.

The new proposal and plan to finish the registering of all the people within the boundary of this country in such a short time is something new in the experience of our Uncle Sam. Former census have been spread over a period of several weeks if not months, with one or two workers to each county.

Dr. I. E. Barr, of Lubbock, supervisor of this district, in a recent statement in the Lubbock Avalanche, stressed the need of hard working, accurate enumerators in each county. "The accuracy and efficiency of the work done will depend almost solely on the proficiency and energy of local enumerators," he said. "It is highly important that capable, conscientious and hard working enumerators be selected for this work."

From Washington comes a proclamation from President Hoover on December 10, stressing the need of co-operation from all the people if the most accurate census is to be made.

He calls upon the country to give prompt and accurate responses to all inquiries in order to make "this great and necessary public undertaking a success."

The president said there need be no fear on the part of any citizen that there will be any disclosure of information divulged to census takers, pointing out that employees are under heavy penalty for permitting any information given them to become known.

Anton Hansen, our good Danish friend and farmer of the Hunter community, was in this week to get back on the right side of the Herald subscription ledger. But Anton claims to be nothing but a fully blooded and tolerably free American now, of Danish extraction. All the Swedes and Danes in Terry county are extraordinarily good citizens and neighbors.

C. Sears is making an effort to sell some 35 tons of his maize direct to farmers in the Post city section where they failed on crops. He is carrying an ad in the Post paper.

R. H. Banowsky and Lemmie McDaniel, of Abilene, were visitors in the city last week. Both are old timers in this section, Banowsky being in business here in the early days with Dock Powell in the old Mercantile. Lemmie was practically reared in this county. We are always glad to have visits from these old timers and talk old times over with them.
