

VISITORS OFTEN WONDER WHY WE HAVE CROWDS

Our Saturday Crowds Here Look Like Fair or Picnic Crowds to Our Neighbors. Wondering How We Put it Over. Prosperity Abounds in Old Terry.

You can't tell us that you have this kind of a crowd every Saturday? What kind of inducement do you offer the people of this section to get such crowds as this in your city? Why it looks like a regular picnic crowd! Such are the expressions one can hear from visitors from other towns of this section most any Saturday if you will but keep your ears open. Probably no two of the visitors will be given the same answer by local citizens, as they look at the matter from several different angles, and there is perhaps no one thing that brings huge crowds here to trade, but we are going to give you some of them later on in this article.

A young banker from a neighboring town was over last Saturday afternoon, as it was Washington's birthday, and being an old friend of the Herald folks, called on us. About the first thing he asked was, "you must be pulling of a big celebration here today." Assured that it was merely an ordinary Saturday crowd, he could hardly believe it. He remarked that it looked like there was as many again people here as came to their town on Saturday, and the towns are about the same size, if the other town is not a little the largest.

There was another citizen here from another town in this section that claims to be the metropolis, the hub, and just about everything else worth while on the South Plains. He struck an old friend of his who lives here but who formerly resided in the visitor's town, and about the same kind of a quizz as we got above was propounded by this visitor. The native explained that it was just an ordinary Saturday crowd—but he was not quite as diplomatic as we were with our visitor. Here is about the answer Jim (we won't give the rest of his name) gave the visitor from the big town. "Well, this is just an ordinary Saturday crowd, but we also have good week day crowds; we are not all fuss and feathers like they are in—. If they had such a crowd as we have, in proportion to population, you'd run a line clean across the top of your papers about the matter. But we are used to big trade crowds here."

But, why do they come to Brownfield to trade? In the first place the merchants here have the goods; they have prices on the goods to move them, and with a quick turn, they can afford to sell them at slim margins of profit. If the goods begin to be shop worn or out of season, they are sacrificed for just any old price. They must make room for new goods. Therefore the merchants of Brownfield are not ashamed of their stock, and they tell the whole trade territory about them in their weekly paper each week. Every mother's son of them believe in using PRINTER'S INK, not in theory but practice. They make their appropriations for space in the Herald just the same as they do for their rents, clerk hire or taxes. They regard advertising as one of the assets to their business, and not just to keep the paper going. And they devote some of their time to making their ads attractive as well as a paying proposition.

Not only that, but when the customers come in, each clerk is instructed to do their very best to please each customer they wait upon. They are given to understand that the customer is always right and must be shown every courtesy. The customer does not make many visits to Brownfield until he is called by his first name, and the merchant and customer at once become friends. They often visit in each other's homes and their children become friends and playmates—many of them marry. They feel that anything that affects Terry county is a mutual interest to them, and of course they like to come and trade and chat with each other.

Merchants Minute Men Have Organized Here

Two of the leading independent merchants of this city got out with a petition one day last week and in a few hours had a list of 30 business men of this city who signed up as Minute Men to help W. K. Henderson of Radio Station KWKH at Shreveport in their battle against the foreign owned chain stores. Each of the 30 gave their checks for $12.00 to help in the cause. We understand that a speaker representing the minute men will be here this week, possibly tonight to address the citizens of this city on the menace of foreign owned chain stores.

Before this was done last week, a man from another town came in and wanted to run a page ad in the Herald, but as there was a big commission to pay the fellow who blew in to get it up, we discouraged the move, as it would possibly have started a local fight here that should be discouraged as long as conditions are such as they are at present. Both locally owned stores as well as the so-called chain stores in this city have told the Herald that they believed we did the right thing, and if such an ad is gotten up, we have sense enough to get them up here in Brownfield and get them at cost without a penny commission to anyone.

But this is not saying there is not a real fight on, and where it will end no one knows. It appears however, that all business men will have to cast their tents in one camp or the other as there appears to be no middle ground. But there are chain stores actually locally owned or owned by regional capital that as we understand, Mr. Henderson is not fighting.

Deputy Income Tax Collector to Be Here

For the convenience of those who are required by law to file Federal Income Tax Returns, a Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue will be here, at the Brownfield State Bank, on March 8th, 1930, to assist taxpayers in preparing their returns. No charge will be made for this service. The matter of filing Income Tax Returns should be given immediate attention, in order to avoid penalty and interest.

Lion or Lamb

Star Sweethearts

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor in the all star, all talking Fox Movietone musical romance, "Happy Days."

Will Rodgers Heads Big Stars in "Happy Days"

"Lavish settings, costumes, colorful ensembles, girls, dresses, new music and jokes are included in "Happy Days," Fox Movietone musical romance which will be presented at the Rialto Theatre three days next week beginning Sunday, March 2.

Featured in the picture are 100 headliners of stage and screen. They include Will Rodgers, Janet Gaynor, Walter Catlett, Charles Farrell, William Collier Sr., James J. Corbett, Victor McLaglen, Edmund Lowe, El Brendel, Warner Baxter, Ann Pennington, Sharon Lynn, Tom Patricola, J. Harold Murray, David Kolins, Paul Page, "Whispering" Jack Smith, George MacFarlane, Frank Richardson, Marjorie White, Dixie Lee, Frank Albertson, George Jessel, and George Olsen and His Music.

A romance leads up to the minstrel sequence with its costumes and settings in which twenty or more musical numbers are a part.

One of the numbers presents Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe in a mirth-provoking sketch called "Vic and Eddie" in which they both sing and fight. Another, and for which a special set was created, is presented by Sharon Lynn and Ann Pennington, in which she is supported by a dancing chorus of fifty beautiful girls.

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor have an effective number "We'll Build a Little World of Our Own." El Brendel has a laughable turn and George Olsen and His Music are prominent all through the minstrel episodes.

Solos are sung by J. Harold Murray, Frank Richardson, "Whispering" Jack Smith and George MacFarlane and there are a number of chorus and dancing numbers all in a colorful setting of a minstrel first part.

The finale, "A Dream on a Piece of Wedding Cake," is said to be one of the most spectacular and surprising features ever brought to the all talking screen.

The picture was directed by Benjamin Stoloff and Walter Catlett had charge of stage direction. Sidney Lanfield and Edwin Burke wrote the story and dialogue, while Earl Lindsay directed the numerous dance ensembles.

LITTLE GRADY JONES PASSES

Little Grady, the three and one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jones, of this city, passed on to the better world Sunday night about 9:30, after a lingering illness of scarlet fever followed by pneumonia. The little body was prepared for burial by the Brownfield Undertaking Co., and carried to Lubbock Monday afternoon following funeral services conducted by their pastor, Rev. E. V. May, and laid to rest in the Lubbock Cemetery. The sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved parents.

Earl McNeil, who recently became a reader, called in this week to have the Herald and Dallas News sent to his father at Haskell, Texas. Earl is a new comer to Terry.

E. W. Harlan out on route 2 sent in his renewal to the Herald and Farm News by mail this week.

A number of friends and relatives from here attended the burial of Capt. F. M. Burnett at Camp Springs Sunday.

Brownfield Fire Rate Reduced Greatly

Brownfield has been given the maximum credit of 15 percent reduction again by the fire rating board of the state of Texas. To the best of our remembrance Brownfield has enjoyed a reduction every year except one since the inauguration of the fire department here, and that year we were not penalized. The rate remained the same that year. This of course applies only to the basic rate of the city and not on hazards of any kind. It will mean a saving of $1.50 on every thousand dollars worth of insurance written here.

Right here we wish to hand a bouquet to our fire marshal and our fire department for their untiring effort to put us in the class of cities in Texas that enjoyed the maximum reduction for the year 1930. Did you know that each time they get out and make a practice run that it effects the price you pay for insurance? Did you know that every piece of property they save from total destruction counts on the rate of insurance you pay? Can you for any reason see any fun or amusement in making these practice runs, leaving their business in the hands of just anyone who happens to be there; make a fast drive that perhaps endangers their necks; connect up a hose that is dragging in sand bars; perhaps it comes uncoupled when water is turned on and a half dozen of them have to fall on it in the dirt and mud, and perhaps are wringing wet when it is conquered and recoupled? If you can, you are a glutton for amusement.

Not only the Herald, but everyone else who carries any insurance should be for the fireboys 100 percent. We have a suggestion to make, and we hope it meets your approval. We have heard several of the volunteer firemen say recently, and that is the only kind we have, that they wish they had some kind of waterproof suit that would be easily slipped on, so they could put it near their beds at night and slipped on in a jiffy in case of a fire. Why can't we start a subscription to buy one of these suits for each man on the force. If the city has any funds for this purpose, they could be applied, and if not, we believe they can be purchased anyway. We buy and pay for suits for our ball boys and band boys who make amusement for us. Why can't we buy them for the boys who risk their lives for our lives and our property. If they are not over $25 each, the Herald will buy one outfit and we believe other business men here will do the same. They have saved us more than that on insurance.

Well, the Hester's finally did succeed in getting one family of their relations to this good country, good old Terry! The family is Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gober and two children of Corsicana, Navarro Co. They are living at Needmore on Mr. Parkers place. They came in last week. They were delayed three weeks in getting here on account of the awful roads in that country, it was impossible to get out. 26 schools had to close. Mrs. Gober is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Hester. Mr. J. R. Hester of Milford, Ellis county, a nephew of Mr. Hester's has bought a place at Smyer, in Hockley county and means to move out here the last of the year.

HUGE CROWD PROMISED FOR RODEO SATURDAY

Fifty Wild Coyotes Ready For Chase. Many Dogs Are Coming From Far Remote Places. News Reel Company of Dallas Sending Man to Film Scenes.

Something extra is promised you Saturday afternoon by Roy Moreman, manager of the Coyote-Hound Rodeo here which alone will be worth the price of admission. This extra hair raising stunt will be pulled off at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and if you miss this stunt you will be disappointed. There will be many others that will be worth the price of admission, but this one will cap the climax off the entire affair.

Mr. Moreman now has in captivity a huge red wolf which he calls "Lone Red, the Outlaw" and right here we will give a bit of his history. For two or three years he has killed calves, sheep and goats in Andrews county to his heart's content, but no one was ever able to get him, nor no dogs have ever been able to kill him. He avoided traps as a man would a poison well, but last winter Mrs. Moreman out-smarted him, and succeeded in getting him in one of her traps. As he was there only a few minutes, the wound was not severe, and he has fully recovered. This wolf will be on exhibition.

At three in the afternoon, this huge coyote with fangs as sharp as knives will be released, and ten hounds will be given their heads, as Mr. Moreman does not want him to escape. Now, talking about thrills, this is going to be the greatest you have ever seen, when ten long, lank, wolf hounds, known as killers are released from the chutes and measure off from fifteen to twenty feet across the sod after their hated enemy, each with fire in their eyes and every muscle rigidly set to overtake and devour this wild specie of their own kind. You just can't afford to miss this treat. What will the result be? How long will it take to catch and kill him? Or will he escape?

Mr. Moreman keeps getting letters from all over this section advising him that the writers will be here with their hounds. Sometimes he fears that he will not have enough wolves, but he and wife keep catching them almost every day, and now have some 50 in readiness that are in good shape and not crippled in any way. The event will be worth a lot to our merchants, as it will draw people here from many points that will naturally trade some while here, and it may be the means of turning a lot of trade here that has been going elsewhere after they see what bargains our merchants give their customers.

It is our understanding that if you are minded to carry your lunch, you may stay on the grounds all day at the price of one admission, but of course if you leave the grounds and go back, that will count another admission as the gate keepers are not supposed to know everybody. There will be 2 hours of races in the forenoon, and three or four hours in the afternoon.

Since writing the above article, the latest information is that a motion picture company from Dallas will be here to make pictures of the races for a news reel. Also that one gentleman from Lubbock is bringing ten dogs.

Man Badly Burned As He Filled Gas Lamp

L. A. Gallahan, about 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. C. Gallahan, new people who have been living a few miles east of the city, was badly burned one night last week while filling a gasoline lamp. The home and contents were lost in the blaze that followed. The young man was rushed to Lubbock for treatment at a sanitarium, and for the past few days we have not learned how he is getting along.

It seems that he was filling the lamp after dark and his mother was holding a match what they considered a safe distance, but in some way the lamp was knocked over with the results noted above. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to this unfortunate family.

Mrs. Harrel Hansen has located at Stamford and writes in for the Herald.

Mr. Proctor of Tokio, called this week to renew for the Herald going to his daughter, Miss Flora Mae.

The "Cocoanut Cow" Competitor to Bossy

My dam is the cocoanut tree of the south sea islands and my sire is Wall street. I was conceived in iniquity and born in sin. My whole existence has been one of fraud and deceit. My product was sold as butter until the law prohibited. I regard not the law of God nor man but seek only the enrichment of my master regardless of whom I may destroy. Great financial interests are behind my product and it is advertised from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from the Gulf to the Great Lakes. The cost of my product has nothing to do with the price for which it sells. Our only guide is to sell as near to butter as the people will pay. The cocoanut oil from which my butter is made has recently sold in New York City as low as 5 1-2 cents per pound. It does not cost much to churn it in water and salt. No wonder you find it advertised in every town and hamlet as Crux brand cocoanut with the flavor of fresh churned butter at the price three pounds for what it cost to produce one pound of dairy butter. I never consumed a pound of your grain nor a mouthful of your grass but I have played you for suckers and you have taken the bait to the extent that statistics show the farmers have used half or more of my product while their own production has been piling up a huge surplus in storage.

You cry farm relief and spread my grease on your bread and still keep howling until our politicians see an opportunity to get the farmers vote so they hike themselves to the halls of our Capitols and there I am to furnish the energy to produce the hot air for several hours in a stretch but when meal time comes the butter of the cocoanut cow covers his bread good and thick, and fills him with energy enough to fill the congressional record half full of his pleadings for farm relief while he will vote millions of dollars to pay for my butter for all their penal institutions and the United States army. Our state government is spending thousands of dollars for the betterment of its farming class that they can make more money from their labors but they buy butter from the cocoanut cow by the car load to feed the inmates of the state institutions, the state schools and every department that is supported by the state. Capital unlimited is behind my special and my paid lobbyists are always on hand to protect my false representation. My only ambition is to sell for that which I am not that I may bring great wealth to my masters regardless of the pound of flesh we may take from your undernourished children which unfits them for the battle of life. The good old dairy cow will pay for the little marble slab that marks their last resting place.—Pawnee, (Okla.) Eastern Dispatch.

NEW CHEVROLET HAS NEW TYPE BREAK BAND

Evidence of the manner in which the automobile manufacturer is furthering the cause of safety by eliminating the hazard of mechanical mishaps is shown by the many safety features incorporated in the new 1930 Chevrolet.

Notable among the safety devices in the car are the Chevrolet-designed internal brakes which are new in their field. Many a motorist has had the unnerving experience of descending a long mountain grade to find his brakes becoming less effective the farther he descends—a failure known technically as "fadeout" and due to heat generated between the brake shoe and drum which warps the shoe and lessens the contact of the brake lining with the drum. The hotter the brakes get, the less efficient they become.

Tests on the General Motors Proving Ground show that fadeout has been eliminated in the new Chevrolet brake by a method of construction known as the "articulated shoe type" which compensates for heat distortion, and assures uniform braking facilities under all conditions of temperature. The wear on the brake lining also is uniform, and assures far greater service out of a set of linings than the old type brakes.

FEDERAL LAND BANK HAS SOME MILLION DOLLARS

LUBBOCK, Texas, Feb. 17.—One billion dollars has been loaned to 62,000 Texas farmers at an average interest rate of five and one-half percent by the Federal Farm Loan Bank of Houston, according to H. M. Gossett, president of that institution, in an address at the Tech Short Course. He said further:

"I think there has been a net saving in interest alone to our farmers of more than $5,000,000 per annum. That $5,000,000 has enabled farmers to buy extra heifers, fine pigs, and invest in things that contribute to the happiness of their families. "It has been my privilege at rather infrequent intervals to come to Lubbock, a railroad center, and through Lubbock. It is an agricultural, educational and cultural center. Houston loaned Dr. Horn to Lubbock. He left there with a reputation second to none as an educator and his prestige here has not been diminished by his coming here, because Texas Technological College is an institution whose name has already extended beyond the borders of the State. I want to congratulate the people who have pitched their tents here.

ACHIEVEMENT!

Since You Read This CHALLENGE on November 14th, 1929 An Army of American Motorists has Changed to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil

The Seven Claims in Conoco's Challenge that Brought this Amazing Public Acceptance of Conoco's Germ-Processed Motor Oil

- 1 Combines with metal surfaces and never leaves bearings and other working parts.
- 2 Refined from carefully selected paraffin base crudes by patented processes. That means stability.
- 3 Positively increases gasoline mileage by reducing friction. That means economy.
- 4 Will not break down under cylinder wall heat. That means less oil consumption.
- 5 Substantially reduces motor wear in starting because this oil penetrates metal surfaces and stays there. Other oils require 15 to 20 minutes to lubricate all moving parts.
- 6 Crankcase dilution does not seriously impair its "oiliness" value. That means greater motor protection.
- 7 Will lubricate efficiently at sub-zero temperatures. That means thorough de-waxed oil.

Have you noticed that Conoco stations have been busier in the past few months? The reason is, of course, that amazing new oil, Conoco Germ-Processed.

Introduced only last November, this revolutionary motor lubricant has started even its makers by its instant public acceptance.

There's a moral for you in this wholesale change of oil-buying habits by the motoring public. Everyone realizes now that something happened in the motor oil business when this new oil was announced. When you start using this oil you'll realize it too.

By providing more economical car operation, by guaranteeing a radical reduction in motor wear, and particularly, by penetrating metal surfaces and providing constant lubrication under every conceivable operating condition . . . Conoco Germ-Processed oil sets up a new gauge of motor oil merit.

We firmly believe that you will buy no other oil except Conoco Germ-Processed oil after using it for a fair period of time. Won't you make that trial today, at any station bearing the Red Triangle?

The P. T. A. program Friday night was well rendered, and was enjoyed by a large crowd. The pie supper given in connection with it brought something over nineteen dollars.

Sister Wade filled her regular appointment here Sunday. Wilton Thomason is at Plainview, Texas attending a three day tractor school.

The Womens Missionary Society met at Mrs. Clyde Polks last Wednesday afternoon. Had an interesting lesson. Those present were Mesdames Baldwin, Duncan, Grandmas Baldwin, Scales, Forrester, Stephens, Thomason, Fulton, Miss Elma Baldwin and Mrs. Polk.

Mrs. G. M. Thomason visited her sister, Mrs. W. I. Lovelace of Brownfield, last Monday.

Miss Elma Baldwin visited Miss Neta Polk last Sunday.

Mr. Hulise of Oklahoma is here visiting his friend, Mr. Virgil Travis.

Brother and Sister Wade were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Forrester Sunday.

Everybody is invited to the Singing at the school house Sunday night. We are expecting several visiting singers to be with us.

Mr. Montgomerys of Hunter visited Forrester Sunday night.

Miller & Gore, popular service station men informed the Herald editor that they had a pipe for him at their station if he would call around for it. Thinking perhaps they had a 25c pipe, we did not get in any hurry. But to our surprise when we did call, a pipe that retails for $2.50 was awaiting us. It was of genuine French briar and bacalite mouth piece, and cost the U. S. Rubber Co. nearly $1.50 each by the thousands. The cost is equally shared by the local U. S. Tire dealers. Next time we won't be a piker when anything is offered us thinking it is cheap because some one is giving it to us.

We are glad to report that local tailors have agreed on a price of $1.25 a suit for cleaning and pressing and other things in proportion for the next 30 days. By that time we believe that they can establish permanent prices and be real friends and get along as they should.

CAPTAIN F. M. BURNETT

Captain F. M. Burnett was born August 27, 1846, at Marshall, Texas in a log cabin constructed by his father and older brothers. He was next to the youngest member of the family and out lived all of the others, by a period of twelve years, dying at the age of 83 years and 6 months.

He was a Confederate soldier during the Civil War, entering the army at an early age, and continued in the struggle until the end. Then following the war, he helped open the way for the early settlers of this state, and had many thrilling experiences fighting the Indians during that time. Likewise, he helped in many conflicts with the negroes during the reconstruction days.

He was married in 1870 in Erath County, to Miss Martha Francis Blair. To this union were born four girls and three boys, two of the girls dying in infancy. Mrs. Burnett died in December 1914. The two younger sons died, Bill, Feb. 23, 1925, and Reg. May 2, 1928. John, the oldest son, and two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Rogers and Mrs. Sura Ward, survive, besides 26 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren.

He professed faith in Christ in 1897 and united with the Missionary Baptist Church some years later. He had an unflinching faith in God. He stated sometime before his death, that he had been in conflicts with Indians, and in battles during the Civil War where the arrows and bullets filled the air almost as thick as hail; and that many all about him fell in death, but he had been kept by the power of God.

The funeral was conducted at the home of John Burnett Sunday, February 23, 1930. E. V. May, the pastor, officiating. The body was taken to Camp Springs, where it was buried beside that of his two sons. The following relatives along with a host of friends, accompanied the body to its last resting place: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rodgers, Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Rodgers, and Mrs. Louise Rodgers, Pampa; Mrs. L. C. Duncan, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Glenn, Bronte; Mrs. R. E. Burnett and daughter, Camp Springs; Mrs. W. M. Burnett and son, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Jay, Memphis, Texas; Mrs. Frank Eddings, and Mrs. Eura Ward, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Marshbanks, Hobbs, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Bartlett, Memphis, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones, Vernon; Mrs. Florida Burnett and two sons, Allie

LETTER CARRIERS WORK FOR BIG ATTENDANCE

"I sincerely hope that our convention at Lubbock might be attended by 100 per cent of our membership," Paul Attaway, president of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers Association writes, regarding the convention that will be held here in July.

"We are doing everything possible to make this convention a big success in every manner, including attendance."

Geo. Snodgrass and family were up over the week-end visiting with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walters. He indicated that he would bid on the high school job here which is to be let the first of next month.

Poultry Association Met Sat. to View By-Laws

Twenty-five poultry breeders met here in their first monthly meeting last Saturday. The purposes of the organization together with the rules and by-laws were discussed. The object of the association as passed upon by the members was the holding of an annual winter poultry show and by encouraging the production of pure bred flocks of high production. Members of the association are going to encourage in every way the raising of more birds from high producing flocks of this County. As pointed out by the County Agent, Terry County has as good birds as can be grown anywhere and there are too many mixed flocks of chickens that are just merely fowls.

The next meeting will be the first Saturday evening in April. At this meeting premiums for the last show will be ready for distribution according to Mr. J. E. Shelton, Sec. C. of C. The president, Jno. S. Powell, will demonstrate the method of individual dosing of birds and there will be other parts of the program that will be interesting and helpful to the grower. Every poultry grower is invited to attend these meetings each month.

THEY LEAVE MA OFF

There is to be a tablet erected in Washington on which the names of women who did not mind publicity will be inscribed. That sounds like a cruel way to put it, but these particular women proved that they did not mind publicity by submitting to it at a time when it was anything but pleasant. They were leading suffragettes in the days when advocacy of votes for women was considered a joke.

United Press proclaims it as a news item that the name of Ma Ferguson will not be included. We can well believe it. Cynthia Ann Parker's name is to be left off, too. So is Belle Starr's. And the reason, of course, is simple. They couldn't stand the test of achievement for votes for women. Mrs. Ferguson never did anything for woman suffrage except receive votes. And there are those who hold that her administration—if you call it hers—didn't help the cause of feminism much, anyhow. She is called the first woman Governor of Texas. But, in fact, she was the first proxy Governor of the State, and, it is to be hoped, the last.—Dallas News.

The Odd Fellows of this city had a great time Tuesday night. There were about 50 present with three big turkeys to eat, with all the good things that go with a turkey dinner. There is a lot of degree work ahead, and a great time for all. All Odd Fellows invited to be there proxy each Tuesday night, or you will miss a lot of good things. Come.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce the following candidates for city offices of the city of Brownfield, subject to the election to be held on Tuesday, April 1, 1930.

Hats off to the fire boys. They are continually saving money to each person who has any fire insurance on their property.

As the editor has no heavy material in mind this week for any sensational editorials, we are calling them "short."

Yes, the big crowd come to Brownfield, and they know what they come for. It isn't because Brownfield is so much nicer or nearer than other places, but it is because the people know they can save money on their purchases.

Another high official of the State, our comptroller has quit his job under fire with a big fund unaccounted for and impeachment staring him in the face. No wonder the common people have just about gotten to the point that they think all politics are dirty.

The Herald has recently been flooded with propaganda from those for and those against a tax of one dollar per ton on sulphur. We are not in a position to know much about the matter, but if the big sulphur companies are not paying their just share of our state taxes, they should be made to do so.

A young lady was, according to newspaper report, arrested in an eastern city this week for carrying concealed weapons. The report gave it that a pistol was strapped to her leg. It all depends on how high the strap was whether or not she will be stuck on the "concealed" part of the indictment.

The big rodeo tomorrow with its huge crowds from all over this section, together with a news reel that will be shown practically all over the United States, will give us a lot of good advertising. But would it not be better to get the camera man to take a few farm scenes to just let the world know that coyotes and dogs is not all we raise here.

The Herald has always had an idea that if it had competition that run the price of printing below the cost of production, we would just let them have it, and we'd take our old shot

Reports of His Death were Exaggerated

Spring, 1860—Four brothers living in quiet and harmony on the plantation they had jointly inherited.

Spring, 1861—In the streets the rolling drum and shrilling fife, and the measured tramp of a thousand feet. The two younger of the brothers marching abreast to the war, never to return.

Spring, 1865—The two elder brothers in the office of a lawyer, signing the deed that would make over their ancestral acres to a stranger. Where were the others? Under the earth—one at Chancellorsville, one at Cold Harbor. Or, so it was reported.

But, as a matter of fact, at least one of the younger brothers was alive. And so recently as three years ago his widow began a legal action to recover his share of the estate. Her action was successful and cost the present owners many thousand dollars, which title insurance would have saved them.

gun and fish hooks and hike for the game country and take a real vacation. We could come just as near paying our debts that way, and have some pleasure besides, until our competitor went out of business.

When the visitor to this city sees the huge mountains of corn that is being shelled in the draw, as well as the many maize wagons on the streets, they at once exclaim: "No wonder business is good here, and you feel no crimp from the recent Wall Street disaster." No, the farmers of Terry county have never got into the one money crop idea. In fact, we believe if anything they are getting further away from it. They have always raised both corn and cotton here, and now they are including the cow, sow and hen in the program. Yes, this is the most prosperous farm section of Texas, and we don't mean maybe.

This newspaper does not presume to advise the farmers about their affairs, but it must be obvious to everybody that if a big cotton crop should be raised this year the price will be disastrously low this fall; and we don't think that this government or any government can hold the price up in the face of a big surplus. Disaster to the farmers means disaster to all of us, and therefore we are strongly hoping that there will be a very substantial reduction in the acreage.—Tahoka News.

POLITE PROTEST

Wise County Messenger: Farmersville Times in a recent issue told about a Collin County cow falling in a fifteen-foot well; how she was saved by machinery being installed above the well, and the animal lifted out, uninjured. When he read the article, Gus Hughes, president of the Decatur Chamber of Commerce, recalled an accident, something of a like nature, happening in Wise County. Said Mr. Hughes, in recalling the accident: "When this Wise County Jersey fell in a well no rope or tackle was available, and hopes of saving the cow were vanishing, when a neighbor suggested that someone go down and milk the animal. A man was lowered in the well, and he immediately began milking the imprisoned cow, and, believe it or not, in half an hour the cow and man floated out of the well, both safe and sound."

State Press: State Press has the pleasure of an acquaintance with Mr. Hughes. Treasuring that acquaintanceship, S. P. would have his teeth cleave to the gums of his mouth before he would utter one word possible to be taken as a reflection upon Mr. Hughes' veracity. Our complaint is against the editor of the Wise County Messenger, known to his neighbors as Dick Collins. It is not that any misgivings are entertained as to Mr. Collins' attitude toward truth. Our exception is taken only to the bad judgment exercised by Editor Collins in giving space to the story related by Mr. Hughes. Despite the habitual conservatism, the latter does sometimes indulge oral latitude, to say it gently. But only to one or two friends. He by no means broadcasts the impish figures fashioned by his own fancy. He no doubt feels chagrined over the appearance in print of his jocular fiction. Surely Gus Hughes knows as well as State Press knows, and other responsible citizens know, that in a cow-milking county like Wise there will be envy, perhaps heartburnings or strife, over a cow which gave enough milk to float her out of a well. If there were anybody in Wise county capable of doubting Mr. Hughes, his prodigious cow would be accepted with a grain of salt, as it were. But with everybody who knows him believing all he says, there must be a scramble for the calves of the amazing cow.

Quite a Lot of Farmers Putting Out Pecans

It has not been so many years ago when some people here believed that pecans would not do well in this section. In fact many believed that the trees would not live, and if they did they never would bear. This was mere opinion, for up to that time no one had really tried them. However, one or two men that we know tried a few anyway, one of them being E. L. Duke, who owned a place about a mile south of this city. Along about the time of the World War, someone, possibly Mr. Duke had a few pecans from their small tree on display at the Terry County Fair. About that time a gentleman by the name of Winn, who resided in Lubbock county began to agitate planting a few pecans about the farm homes where they could be watered, and even the late H. A. Halbert agreed that he believed that certain varieties could be produced on the Plains. No one ever really advanced any reason why they could not, and some advocated the theory that the pecan would grow anywhere cotton would grow and we were even then raising a lot of that staple.

As the few trees became to bearing age and it was seen that we had a crop of pecans about as often as they do anywhere, more and more of people began to plant out a few of them, and they found to their surprise that if planted according to directions of the nursery from which they were obtained that they would grow off well and produce nuts as soon as they came to bearing age just like they do further east. A prominent Yoakum county farmer informed us only recently that he had planted out six recently that cost him nearly $2.00 each that he was sure would live. He planted them according to directions and said he almost dug six wells to put them in, but he would not take $5 each for them now.

And why not plant them instead of so many shade trees about the place. They take no more care or attention than black locust or elm after they are once started. They make fully as good shade as either, and the nut crop in one season after full bearing age is reached is worth all the efforts expended with them. While it is rather late to plant out any more this season, why not make an effort to do so this fall and winter and in just a few years you will be reaping enough of these luscious nuts for the family use at least. And you will have shade trees surpassed by none.

Also, the Herald would like to hear from farmers who have planted them out, and especially those who now have bearing trees.

Sheriff Telford Nabs Petty Thief Here

A young fellow with no particular business landed here some time Sunday, and it seemed he had no particular distinction in view, but he soon became an object of much quest by people of the southern part of the county, through which he had just passed, as he seemed to have pilfered a number of houses where people were away. At the Henry French home, it seems that he had taken an especially valuable gold watch, and Henry was not content to let the matter pass so easily, and came to town and reported the affair to the Sheriff's department.

Very little description was available, but a round was made of the hotels and wagon yards as well as the camp grounds. A citizen reported that he had been approached by a stranger who wanted to sell him a watch and gave a fair description of the fellow. He was located at a camp ground where he had been sleeping, and was searched, but in the meantime had become suspicious and hid the French watch. Those shown the citizen were declared not to be the watch offered him, as these were both cheap watches, and the one offered him seemed to have been a high grade one. Once more the prisoner was given a fair chance to tell where it was, and indicated a stove in the camp house. This was done after Sheriff Telford had succeeded in making him believe that he was about to carry him down to the draw where he aimed to wipe up a lot of earth with him.

The prisoner had besides the two watches a lot of other stuff like razors, knives, etc., that he had picked up in farm houses along the way, and no doubt some of them will be claimed by people who live in this and Dawson counties.

This will make a serious charge against the prisoner, and he may have quite a nice stretch awaiting for him down at Huntsville.

DAWSON WILL VOTE ON ROADS IN APRIL

LAMESA, Feb. 17.—Dawson county's next road bond election will be held April 8, it was decided during a recent meeting of the county commissioners court here. The court acted on petitions signed by 275 taxpayers calling for a $600,000 program to pave the two state highways in the county. An educational program has been started by the Dawson County Good Roads association to inform voters of this county of a need for a paved road system in Dawson. Very little opposition has been evident towards this county's second effort to pave her roads.

According to his records of last week, he helped Kenneth Purcell and Jim Hamm contour their acreage for cotton club this year, also helped Mr. J. D. Roberts of Wellman lay off lines for terracing a hill in his farm.

MONTEREY CELEBRATES ADVENT OF TEXAS GAS

Monterey, Mexico, celebrated in due form the advent of Texas gas when the United Gas Company's line from the Zapata County field was completed. The 12 3-4 inch line extends 143 miles and will carry a maximum of 30,000,000 cubic feet a day when compressor facilities are added. It will have an initial capacity of from 18 to 21 million feet a day.

Census Reports Provided For Absent Families

The Fifteenth Decennial Census of the United States will be taken during the month of April. The enumeration will be made by a force of about 100,000 enumerators who will go from house to house and secure the information required for the census. Every person is to be enumerated, so far as possible, at his "usual place of abode" or the place where he usually lives. Where individual members of a family are away from home at the time the census is taken they will be reported to the enumerator by other members of the family.

For cases where it is known in advance that the whole family will be away from home at that time, special provision has been made by the Director of the Census in the form of an absent family schedule which is to be filled out by some responsible member of the family in advance of the census date and transmitted to the local Supervisor of the Census. A copy of this schedule can be secured by application to Mr. Irwin E. Barr, of Lubbock, Texas, who is the Census Supervisor for this district.

Families planning to be away during the month of April, leaving the home closed or with no one in charge who is qualified to give the census information to the enumerator, are urged to obtain one of these schedules at once and to fill it out and send it to Mr. Irwin E. Barr at the earliest possible date. Or if the house is left in charge of a servant who will be sure to be at home when the enumerator calls, the schedule may be left with such servant for delivery to the enumerator. The information furnished on this schedule will be treated as confidential and will be used only for the tabulation of statistics which will not reveal any information with regard to individuals or families.

GAS PLANT PROVIDES FUEL FOR FARM HOMES

Users of farm light plants can now have artificial gas, the last "city" home convenience to be supplied them. Announcement of a compressor which operates from a small electric motor, and vaporizes liquid gas from a storage tank installed in the ground just outside the house, also announced the ability of electricity to provide gas, along with light, water and power.

The new outfit will provide artificial gas, at the turn of a tap, for cooking or heating. No fuel is stored in the house. The compressor in the basement vaporizes the gas as it is used, and distributes it throughout the house in the same way as a water system supplies water. Cost after installation is about the same as for fuel from city mains.

Organize American Legion at Seagraves

On Friday evening of last week a large number of ex-service men over Gaines County met at the Electric Theatre in Seagraves and after a program given by the Brownfield delegation, who had been invited down to help in the program of organization, proceeded to perfect a like organization for Seagraves.

Several appropriate and instructive talks along Legion aims and purposes were well received and when the question of whether or not a local Post should be undertaken it was unanimously voted to have an American Legion Post at Seagraves.

At the business session held the following officers were elected:
Dallas F. Whaley, Commander; E. C. Roberts, 1st Vice Commander; A. J. Roach, 2nd Vice Commander; W. T. Morris, 3rd Vice Commander; Allen Maltzberger, Adjutant; Finance Officer, to appointed later; T. F. Lindley, Chaplain; Lee Tedford, Sgt. at Arms; O. M. Freer, Mess Sgt.

Following the business session a banquet was enjoyed at the City Cafe. The menu, part of which was donated for the occasion by Seagraves ex-service men, the coffee by Wooten Grocery Co., and the fruit salad and service by W. R. Dale proprietor of the Cafe, and was one of the enjoyable features of the evening.

We believe it is to the interest of all ex-service men to join this organization. Your presence and influence is solicited. Regular meetings will be held on the 1st and 3rd Thursday nights of each month.—Seminole Sentinel.

The Brady Trial Has Ended with a Hung Jury

The vote stood 11 for conviction with a heavy penalty and one for acquittal. The jury had stood ten for conviction with a heavy penalty and two for acquittal, days. One juror went over to the majority the last 24 hours. Then the court must have become uneasy and would not risk the jury out another day, fearing that the other juror might change and make the verdict unanimous for conviction. The court dismissed the jury without an explanation, stating that it was no longer desired that the jury linger on the case. Then the District Attorney asked that the next trial be moved to Georgetown. The defense never denied the murder of the girl. The only defense made was that of Judge Brady got drunk, we presume voluntarily, and killed Miss Lehlia Highsmith while not in his right mind. It is a concluded fact that no one is in their right mind while intoxicated, but Judge Brady was responsible for getting drunk, and it appears that his becoming intoxicated to the extent of not knowing what he was doing was a rather poor defense compared with the murder of a helpless girl.—Spur Times.

Diversification and Longer Staple Cotton

LUBBOCK, Texas, Feb. 25.—Bankers of the South Plains declared they would grant no credit to farmers, the ultimate payment for which is dependent upon the production of a cotton crop alone and ginners of the South Plains declared they will abandon the "hog-round" method and would buy cotton on grade and staple only, at a meeting held here Monday afternoon.

One hundred and twenty-five bankers, ginners, cotton buyers and business men were present at the gathering, which was called for the specific purpose of discussing and deciding what could be done relative to the planting of a longer staple of cotton and to the reduction of acreage.

Resolutions passed unanimously recommending the cutting of acreage by at least 15 per cent, throughout the South Plains. Assistance of all Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and other service clubs, chambers of commerce, county and home demonstration agents and farm organizations was asked in the resolution to help put over the program.

The meeting was held at the Hotel Lubbock, the chamber of commerce entertaining those present at a luncheon prior to the business session. Those responsible for calling the group together included C. J. Felton of Abertown, president of the South Plains Ginners association; Ray Grisham, secretary; Harry Blocher, cotton worker; A. B. Davis, secretary-manager of the chamber of commerce; Hub Mason, Lockney; J. S. Edwards, Slaton; Lon Davis, Floydada; W. S. Posey, W. O. Stevens, C. E. Maedgen, Lubbock bankers; Don Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station, Lubbock.

A number of talks were made, the gist of which is included in the resolutions passed.

Home Study and the Hell It Raises There

By Lee Wolfsohn, in The Wisconsin Journal of Education

It is probably presumptuous of me—a rank outsider—to dare submit an article on matters pedagogical. But I have a peeve and I want to give it air. And I am not so far removed from things pedagogical anyway. I have a daughter who goes to school, and who has been going for some years. Also I have a son who soon will be going to school. So you see, my interest is more than that of an intruder.

And besides, I think I am also doing a service to pedagogues—as well as parents. They all should welcome my information on how some parents feel about certain things they are doing. Boards of education, and superintendents of schools might also read with profit. They are far too occupied with such things as appropriations, annuities, buildings and grounds, and ways and means to discover the problem about which I am writing. So they ought to be glad to see it here. Anyway—

I am against home work. I hate it. I hate it with all the decent, dignified contempt that a decent, dignified citizen dare have and not be branded a bigot. I hated it when I was a boy and had to do it, and I hate it more now that I am a parent and have to see my daughter struggling with it.

There are probably half a dozen good reasons why I am so 'set' against home work. But three of them will do amply here.

It is unfair encroachment on a child's free time; it is detrimental to the health of the growing child; it is a pious fraud.

Let me talk a paragraph or two about each one.

My daughter "takes" the four required subjects in the high school she attends, and also one cultural, though unrequired subject—music appreciation, perhaps unrequired because cultural. Now I am aware that immediately some teacher will rise up and say, "Well drop the music." But I answer "No." I have a feeling that music appreciation is far better for her than even algebra—heaven protect me. I believe that in later years she will get greater joy from her ability to understand a symphony than from her ability to extract a square root.

Now one day last semester, and it is only a specimen of all too frequent days, my daughter came home with the following assigned tasks: outline in detail six pages of history; fifteen problems in algebra; read, dissect, bisect and vivisect twenty cryptic sentences in English; and memorize some declensions and conjugations in German as well as some translations. Now, if any teacher doubts that this is a full-sized night's work, let him or her go over that work and do it—or better, try to do it. I tried the history assignment only. My wife helped me, I dictated and she wrote: General Topic: Roman numeral I; sub topic, capital A; auxiliary subjects, small numerals; then arabic numerals, and so on, and it took us—the combined forces of my wife and myself—one hour and five minutes to complete the history task alone.

And when we got through we had little ambition left for algebra, English and German—in other words the entire school day all over again. I estimated most conservatively, with all good luck at guessing the algebra with a minimum amount of straying around, and with splendid success at solving puzzles it will take a child of high school age from three to four hours to do that assigned work. Say three hours. Now add that three hours to more than six hours of actual school day, and you have more than nine hours of intellectual labor, recognized all around as far more nerve exhausting than physical labor, and all for children of tender age.

Yes, I can hear some teacher come back, "What about her study periods?"

Well, what about them? The high school my daughter attends divides the school day into eight periods. One goes for lunch, a short one, leaving seven. Four for class work, leaving three. One for the cultural subject, leaving two. One goes, every other day, for gymnasium, leaving on the average one and one-half study periods a day, and that is often needed for completing loose ends of the work done at home.

Those three additional home work hours are on a par with overtime against which workmen have fought for years and have penalized with the demand for a higher rate of pay. But that is not the worst of it. The thing is a positive menace to the health of a growing child.

Which brings me to my second reason.

My wife and I may not be the most modern of parents, but we try hard. So we somewhere acquired the notion that the out-of-doors is a good place for a growing girl, at least for an hour or so otherwise, various equipment calculated to induce her to remain out of door, such as golf clubs for the summer, a tennis racket for spring and fall, ice skates, roller skates, bicycle and so on. We regarded these expenditures as investments in good health, and as a means of keeping the practitioner of medicine away quite on a par with the daily apple.

But has my daughter any time for it? Not since she entered high school. Time and again I have seen my daughter on a winter night forcing herself to stay awake when she should have been in bed, shaking her head to keep off her drowsiness, and practically prying her eyelids apart to keep them open so that she might go on another hour, and yet another hour, to complete some lesson.

But there still is more. We like occasionally to take our daughter to a cultural recreation, say a symphony concert, some soloist, perhaps even a lecture that we think she ought to hear. But how can it be done? If she goes she will pay dearly and with anguish for her previous night's recreation.

And yet this would be a little more endurable if the entire performance weren't such an unholy and pious fraud. Which brings me to my third objection.

I recall innumerable times when my daughter came home with the announcement that certain special assignments had been given and that she would have to hand them in on paper next day. My wife and I immediately joined in to assist with the collection of the material that was to go into that paper, and at last after hours of the combined labor of the three of us—hours that the child badly needed for recreation—the paper was completed and ready to be handed in on time.

But did my daughter ever hear anything more of the paper? Not another word! Weeks later she found whole stacks of such assignments in the waste paper basket. There wasn't a mark on any of them to prove they had ever been looked at. But do I blame the teacher if she did not go over them? Not one bit! Why should she put all that time on them? They are not germane to good teaching, nor do they determine who the good pupils are beyond the information the teacher already has from the daily class work.

The entire thing is a fraudulent imposition on the child, the parents and the public. Little by little we have dropped off every activity that we once thought a daughter at home should do, all to make more time in the twenty-four-hour for more and more home work. We have excused our daughter from table setting; we have also relieved her from table clearing. We ask her to do no dish washing, and we no longer ask her to help with the baby. We have cut her piano practice hour in half, have almost ceased to contribute to the enrichment of the neighborhood moving picture theatre owner, and have lost hope for any outdoor recreation—except perhaps for week-ends. But those week-ends!

Do the teachers say that the week-ends might be a good time for a child to catch up on her sleep? Or on her recreation? Or engage in a little of the home arts? They do not! Knowing that the child will have two days free from school, they figure that she now has more time in which to do more home work. So they pile it on with an extra shovel.

I tell you I know what I am talking about.

I am against home work!

W. E. Henson, one of our candidates for county judge, has had some large placards printed with an almost life size photo of Ed thereon. This looks like the way they go after offices in the big towns. Well, it helps the printers, anyway.

BANKERS REPORT DROP IN SAVINGS

Lure of Stock Market Partly to Blame, but Slackened Speculation Expected to Bring Return to Thrift.

The first recession in the nation's savings account in banks in the twenty years during which records in this field have been kept by the American Bankers Association was disclosed for last year in the recent annual compilation prepared by its Savings Bank Division. The shrinkage amounted to over $125,000,000, on the basis of figures for the year ending June 29, 1929, whereas a year earlier the reported increase was over $2,300,000,000, the largest ever recorded. The number of savings depositors also decreased during the year covered by more than 600,000 accounts. The lure of the stock market and affiliated activities are cited as part of the explanation for these changes.

The association's statement says that savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States on June 29, 1929, stood at $23,217,656,000. The recession in savings, it declares, indicates a fundamental change in the savings situation, irrespective of whether it is temporary or not.

How Savings Used to Grow
"In 1925 savings deposits increased $1,562,000,000, in 1927 almost $1,400,000,000 and in 1928 over $2,300,000,000," it says. "It appears now that some influences in one year have taken the gain that might reasonably have been expected in savings deposits for 1929 and lowered them from the high mark of the preceding year. This recession is not one coming as a result of drought, famine, unemployment or conditions outside of the United States."

"A year ago it was stated: 'The year closing June 30, 1928, registered the largest gain in savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States ever recorded in the history of this country.' What a difference one year makes! From a gain of more than 2 1/2 billions of dollars in savings deposits to a loss of almost 200 millions!"

"The loss in savings deposits is reflected also in the loss of savings depositors. The year 1929 showed a total of 52,664,127 depositors, against 53,158,348 for 1928, a loss of 524,221."

"Industrial production was much higher last year than the preceding year. Factory payrolls were considerably greater. In production, employment and trade, advances were made over the preceding year. In the farm areas the improvement noted for 1928 did not recede in 1929 and the livestock industry in all its branches was prosperous."

The causes of the recession are possibly multiple. There is scarcely any reason to doubt that one of the important factors draining away savings and decreasing depositors has been the lure of profits to be made in stocks. For a number of years the people have been regaled with stories of profits made in stocks in all types of companies. During the last few years there has been a specious philosophy preached that panics such as formerly occurred were no longer possible.

"If it was the lure of profits in stocks which caused the recession in savings, then a factor in future savings will be the success attendant upon this venture of savings deposits in stocks. If the experiment did not prove generally successful, then another year will doubtless witness an increase in savings deposits as well as in savings depositors."

HELPING YOUNG FOLK TO BECOME BANKERS

Through the American Institute of Banking, which is the American Bankers Association's educational section, the banking profession is educating 85,000 bank men and women in the technical and scientific departments of their work. These students are enabled by this institute, which is entirely non-commercial in its operations, to obtain a grasp of the finer points of banking without interrupting their employment or interfering with their earnings, in their bank jobs.

The courses given, including banking economics and law and bank administration in all the departments, have been worked out under the direction of senior college educators and the lectures are always given by practical men, such as lawyers in the legal courses, experts in banking operations and college professors in the economics courses. There are chapters with meeting rooms in over 200 cities and also a number of smaller study groups are fostered with correspondence aid.

It has been said that the A. I. B., as it is familiarly known throughout the banking field, is the greatest adult educational organization in the world and is supplying the banking business with the largest supply of trained workers each year that any comparable line of business is receiving. The organization holds an annual convention attended by hundreds of young bank workers as well as senior bank officers actively interested in furthering the institute's educational work, at which numerous technical subjects of practical banking application are presented and discussed. This year's convention will be held at Denver, Colorado, June 16 to 20.

THREE IMPORTANT FACTORS ENTER INTO THE COST OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE

1. How much it costs to make the car
2. How much extra you pay the dealer
3. How much it costs for operation and up-keep

THE PURCHASE of an automobile involves a considerable amount of money and it should be carefully considered from all angles before a final decision is made.

The value of the car to you depends on the value built into it at the factory, how much extra you pay the dealer for distribution, selling, financing and accessories and what it will cost to operate and maintain the car after purchase. Each of these factors, as it relates to the Ford car, is frankly explained below.

Economy in production

THE FORD CAR is made economically because of the efficiency of Ford production methods. The money saved through this efficiency is put back into the car in improved quality of material and in greater care and accuracy in manufacturing. The constant effort is to eliminate waste and find ways to make each part better and better without increasing cost—frequently at lowered cost.

Because of Ford economies in large production and because the Ford organization operates on a low-profit margin, the price you pay for the car is much less than it would be under any other conditions. Yet it brings you many unusual features of construction and performance.

At least $75 extra value is represented alone by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, the Rustless Steel, the four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, and the five steel-spoke wheels. The unusually large number of ball and roller bearings and the extensive use of fine steel forgings instead of castings or stampings are additional features that reflect the high quality built into every part of the car. Throughout, it is a value far above the price you pay.

Low dealer charges

THE SAME PRINCIPLES of efficiency and economy that characterize the manufacture of the Ford car are applied also to distribution. Obviously it would do the public little good to save in production if these savings were sacrificed later in excessive costs of selling, financing and accessories.

The Ford dealer, therefore, operates on the same low-profit margin as the Ford Motor Company, his discount or commission being the lowest of any automobile dealer. He does a good business because he makes a small profit on many sales instead of a large profit on fewer sales.

Low charges for time payments through the Universal Credit Company

The lower cost of selling, combined with the low charges for financing and accessories, means a direct saving of at least $50 to $75 to every purchaser of a Ford, in addition to the savings made possible by economies in manufacturing. The money you pay for a Ford goes into value in the car. It is not wasted in high dealer charges.

Low up-keep costs

IT IS IMPORTANT to remember that the cost of your automobile is not the first cost only, but the total cost after months and years of service. Here again there is a decided saving when you buy a Ford.

The cost of operation and up-keep is lower because of simplicity of design, the high quality of material, and the reduction of friction and wear through unusual accuracy in manufacturing and assembling. The reliability and longer life of the car contribute to its low depreciation per year of use.

The intelligent, painstaking service rendered by Ford dealers is under close factory supervision and is a factor in the low up-keep cost of the Ford. All labor is billed at a flat rate and replacement parts are always available at low prices through Ford dealers in every section of the United States.

In two, three or five years, depending on how much you drive, the saving in operating and maintaining a new Ford will amount to even more than the saving on the first cost of the car.

Meadow Briefs

By Aesculapias

Friday morning, at the earnest solicitation of my wife, I directed my car in the direction of Lubbock to witness the finals in the Basketball Tournament or rather the elimination contest of the teams composing this district.

The Meadow team had shown considerable strength in defeating all the neighboring teams and we all felt rather confident in the outcome of the battle at Lubbock.

We sat quietly and watched Plainview murder Seagraves and Wilson put Lockney to sleep. Then Slaton and Meadow were announced. The Meadow Pep Squad burst forth with all kinds of noises when our team showed up in the arena. Meadow was first to score a goal and after that Slaton had easy sailing. She just simply mopped up on our team—Meadow simply wasn't in it. Meadow did good team work in getting down to the goal but couldn't get a ball that was small enough to go in the basket, while Slaton poured them through in twos and threes. At the close Slaton was so far ahead that I don't care to remember it. What was the matter with Meadow? Darn if I know. I have a feeling however that Slaton is much the best team and out played and out classed our boys. Meadow boys are good sports however and concede that they were fairly beaten.

We remained long enough to watch Ralls give Littlefield a blow over the Solar Plexus and then feeling sad we returned home some wiser. We don't know the name of the winning team but whoever they be we are sure they deserve it.

In Sunday's paper we read where five boys found in a garage a can containing a liquid which from its odor they believed to be Dandelion Wine and proceeded to drink it. It turned out however to be an anti-freeze mixture. Results five funerals. The ultra dry can feel duly thankful for this interposition of Providence as these fellows will not have to be shot nor sent to the penitentiary.

A few days since, His Holiness, Pope Pius set March 16, which will be on Sunday, to pray for the sad plight of Russian Churches at the hands of the Soviets, who it seems are determined that modern religious organizations shall cease to exist in Russia. This of course looks bad to all who believe that religion is a personal matter. It seems however that those who are in power in that country are able to put it over, and might makes right in Russia as well as in this so-called 'Land of the free and home of the brave.'

Atheism and Modernism are persecuted just as relentlessly in this country as Catholicism and other isms are in Russia. Some two years ago, one Smith came over to the good state of Arkansas to speak and work against legislative enactment of the Anti Evolution Law and he was promptly jailed and kept for some time behind the bars. If the authorities had the power that the Soviets exercise, Smith would have been hanged, "And I don't mean maybe" with apologies to Henderson.

Now every one knows—even those that are going to do the praying—that as long as the present regime governs Russia that persecution will continue. If I may be excused or pardoned for the statement, this Universe is not fortunately, run by prayer. We would be in one devil of a fix if it could be. Why don't Tom Love and his brother and sister prohibs tackle the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment with supplications at a Throne of Grace instead of with an armed force and the courts of the country?

Pius, the Holy One wouldn't care a tinkers dam for the persecutions if Russians were protestants instead of Catholics—while not Roman Catholics the Greek wing of the catholics are close kin folks. All this clamor from outside agencies will only intensify the hatred of Bolshevich Russia for the classes it is intended to benefit. The Russians know full well that these tactics on the part of Rome, England and the U. S. is just a gesture and executions will continue until religious exercises are stopped or a revolution on the part of the people overthrow the present Soviet Government. Christ did not save Jerusalem by prayer.

If they really wish to make an impression on the Russians, let Pius, like Peter the Hermit of old, organize a crusade, call all these prayers to the colors and armed with airplanes, poison gas and machine guns make a descent on these d— Bolshevicks. This would make them sit up and take notice, until they disposed of the crusaders, which wouldn't be long.

Lets pray now: Lord make us merciful to each other. May we understand each other better. May we put our own house in order before we attempt to point the way to others. Until then lets go fishing on the sixteenth, or pay the preacher the amount due him and attend church that day and forget Russia. They will take care of themselves.

Well Jeems is running for Governor against Tom. It is rather a laughable situation. It is mixed with doubt as to whether either of them can get on the ticket. It is also highly probable that both Love and Ferguson will be in the Run Off, if they get on the ticket. I don't want Jim very bad but he is preferable to a

Horse Racing Popular With Ancient Peoples

The earliest recorded organized trials of speed with horses were the chariot races at the Greek national festivals, of which the most notable were the Olympic games held every fourth year. Greek sculpture frequently represents the horse as used for riding, apparently without a saddle in most cases; but not as so employed for sport, except as an incident to the chariot racing. On the other hand, the horses in the Roman contests were to a very great extent ridden. All the formalities of entering and of differentiation of classes and of starting were minutely laid down and followed, even to the color of the riders' uniform. In the earlier times these Roman races were held on the open plain. There has always been a tradition in England that on Salisbury plain, just outside Stonehenge, the remains of a Roman race course exist; and the oldest race which still takes place in England is run over a flat meadow just outside the walls of the Roman city of Chester.—Washington Star.

Racing Information
In a weight-for-age race a horse is handicapped according to his age. Edgar Wallace, writing on the subject, says, "A three-year-old may carry 8 stone 2 pounds, a four or five will carry 9 stone—less the weight of the jockey, of course—but this weighing is further complicated by the distance over which the race is run and the month in which it is run."

East Indian Idol Held in Supreme Veneration

The name Juggernaut itself is an Anglicized corruption of the Hindu Jagannath, the name of Vishnu or Krishna in one of his manifestations. It means literally "lord of the world." It is the name of an idol in the temple at Puri, India. The temple itself is a magnificent one, built in 1198, at a cost of $2,500,000, while the idol consists of an irregular block of stone, pyramidal in shape, having two large diamonds for eyes. On its festal days the idol is conveyed to another shrine on a magnificent car, 45 feet high and 35 feet square, having 16 wheels, each 7 feet in diameter. The number of pilgrims who visit the temple was formerly estimated at 1,200,000 a year. At the present day 100,000 or more may assemble there on the great festivals.

George Washington Theme Is Used In Forty-Two Party; Mrs. Hamilton Hostess To Group

The red, white and blue of waving flags, miniature hatchets, cherries of crimson touched with purple tints, and patriotic colors carried out in fragrant blossoms, added an effective note to decorations for parties, dinner and socials during the past week in celebration of Washington's birthday. Flags were seen waving at half mast and they indeed portrayed a spirit of patriotism on the behalf of each merchant.

Emphasizing the George Washington motif in all details of decorations, Mrs. C. F. Hamilton entertained the Friday 42 Club. The function was held on Friday P. M. from 3 to 5 o'clock in the home of Mrs. C. R. Baldwin 320 E. Buckley St.

Patriotic Social Is Held For Jubilee Members Thursday Afternoon

George Washington's birthday furnished the theme for an impressive social given for the members of the Jubilee Auxiliary by Mesdames Alton Webb and Roy Herod in the home of the latter on Thursday afternoon.

As each guest entered they were given a miniature flag to wear during the afternoon. Two contests were held, one prize going to Mrs. L. E. McClish, a nut cup made of cherry bark filled with candy; the other, a small flag, was received by Mrs. Travis Bynum. Mrs. Leo Holmes, the president, was honor guest for the afternoon and received many lovely and appropriate gifts.

Lovely refreshments of chicken salad on lettuce leaves, potato chips, pickles, bread and butter sandwiches in the shape of a hatchet and hot coffee were served. Plate favors were miniature flags. Guests for the afternoon included Mesdames Dave Finney, Lee O. Allen, J. C. Hunter, R. L. Harris, Roy B. Davis, Alton Webb, V. A. Bynum, Frank Rickles, Geo. E. Turrentine, O. W. Stice, Clyde Coleman, P. F. Lawlis, L. E. McClish, Leo Holmes, C. R. Baldwin, G. S. Weber, Lloyd Bennett, Clyde Gross, W. A. Bynum, J. B. Knight, Boone Hunter, Travis Bynum, C. E. Fitzgerald, A. W. Mrs. Lee Scudder was on the sick list the past week. We wish for her a speedy recovery.

The Jubilee Auxiliary will sponsor a "Poverty Party" for members, husbands and invited guests on Thursday evening at the show room of Tudor Sales Co.

Master Charley Wayne Bandy entertained a number of his little friends Saturday afternoon at his home in honor of his third birthday. On arrival the tiny guests were given a miniature flag as a favor. Walters, Walter Gracey, E. D. Ballard and hostess.

Entertains Sunday School Class With George Washington Party

Mrs. S. H. Holgate entertained her S. S. Class on Saturday afternoon at her home. They had a very interesting discussion of their S. S. lesson, after which a reading was given by Alma Faye Ballard on "A Poem To Washington." A song, "Flag of Washington" was given by all. Lovely strawberry ice cream, red and white candies were served. There were five present.

I-Deal Klub Has Enjoyable Afternoon With Mrs. Michie Hostess

Mrs. J. E. Michie was indeed a very charming hostess on Friday afternoon when she entertained "The I Deal Klub" in her home. Three tables were placed and several hours of friendly competition in bridge were enjoyed. High score was made by Mrs. A. A. Sawyer and she received a lovely box of stationery. Table cuts, of correspondence cards, went to Mesdames Joe McGowan, Leo Holmes and E. W. Carter. The program arranged by Professor Byron Lindsey consisted of four numbers by the Troubadour Girls; readings by Joe Shelton, Lenore Brownfield and Virginia Toole; a short play given by pupils of Mrs. W. B. Toome and a trombone solo by Joe Shelton. This program was so well attended that Mr. Lindsey said we might look forward to several more in the future.

Will Explore More Of Carlsbad Caverns

LUBBOCK, Texas, Feb. 24.—Dr. Frank Ernest Nicholson, former Texan and noted explorer and writer, together with ten other adventurers of note passed through Lubbock February 19th on one of the most unique expeditions that has ever passed over the Staked Plains.

In past years adventurers and explorers have passed over the Staked Plains in search for new countries and new territories. Airplanes have soared above these Staked Plains exploring the clouds.

The Nicholson expedition passed through on its way to explore the Carlsbad Caverns, national monument in New Mexico, far beneath the ground.

Search for a river which presumably helps in purifying the air, and other objects were announced by the party that is being sponsored by the New York Times and associated newspapers.

Regardless of findings, the expedition will give the Carlsbad Caverns more national and international publicity than it has heretofore had and will be a big factor in bringing through Texas thousands and thousands of tourists to see the caves.

The party rested in Lubbock all day February 19th, being guests of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at a noon luncheon, of the Texas Technological College during the afternoon, and of the Lubbock Rotary Club during the evening.

An unusual experiment will be attempted with a racing balloon which will make an ascension in the huge chamber 750 feet above the surface. The chamber was characterized here by Nicholson as a space where three of New York's skyscrapers would almost be lost. Captain Mount Robb, war ace, who will be in charge of the balloon ascension, will make close range observations of the stalactites, 500 to 750 feet above the floor or base of the cavern from an observation post on top of the balloon.

A portable short wave radio set will be set up within the inside of the cave by Eric Palmer, Jr., young radio expert, who will keep the party in constant touch with the business manager of the party in New York, who will in turn keep the New York Times informed as to the progress of the party.

Food and other supplies necessary to sustain the expedition for three weeks or more will be taken into the cave, and numerous devices, including special telephone equipment, will be employed to give the caves a thorough exploration.

A book and numbers of articles will be written about the expedition. Photographs will give visual reproductions of the caverns, to be used in the New York Times and other papers.

Governor R. C. Dillon of New Mexico will welcome the party at the caves when they arrive and also March 15th, when a special celebration, to be participated in by all the school children of the Pecos Valley will be held in honor of the explorers.

"My kidneys were first to respond to the action of Konjola. My bladder now functions properly and I suffer no back pains and headaches. I have not enjoyed my meals in years as I do today. BLAST KILLS O'DONNELL MAN

Ben Cox, a prominent farmer living seven miles southwest of O'Donnell, died at a sanitarium in Lamesa Monday afternoon from injuries received while doing some blasting in a well being dug on his farm, according to Judge G. C. Grider.

The fuse had been lighted but thinking that it had been extinguished, Mr. Cox returned to the well and was just in the act of looking into it when the explosion occurred. Rocks and dirt struck him in the face with such force as to result in his death an hour or two later.

The funeral was conducted at O'Donnell Tuesday afternoon.—Tahoka News.

We Are Getting Our Clothes Cleaned Cheap

The first tailor shop fight in the history of the city is now taking place, and the price of tailoring has plunged from $1.50 per suit, cleaned and pressed, to nothing—and they gather up your clothes to boot. While this may be nice for the customers, no one can work for nothing and furnish the materials as well as labor to do the work.

Of course the Herald is placing no blame for this tailor fight, for all concerned are our friends as far as we know, and we have tried to give all some of our work. There are now four tailor shops in the city, which is possibly too many for the size of the town and the population surrounding. Therefore it appears to us that it would be the best for all concerned to have a meeting and try to get back to prices which will at least pay expenses and a dividend if possible. Rather than work for nothing we had much rather lay off altogether.

From what we know and can learn of the matter the newest shop to put in here cut the price of cleaning and pressing a suit from $1.50 to $1.00 and other cuts, in proportion. This was met by the other shops Friday with a 25c cut under the new shop. Saturday morning the new shop cut to 50c on a cash and carry proposition. Monday morning the three other shops were gathering up clothes to be cleaned and pressed free of charge, we understand. However, a meeting was agreed on for Monday night, and we certainly hope the boys managed to get together on the tailoring proposition.

From what folks tell us that come here from other cities, tailor work is or has been higher than other places, but we have become so accustomed to paying the old price here that if the boys go back to the old prices, we will not kick. In fact, we want to see every enterprise in this city get a reasonable profit for what they do. We believe in living and let live proposition. So boys, put away your fight and get together on some price.
