

4-H CLUBS TO PUT ON SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

Starting Saturday, May 10, and Ending June 7. An Effort Will Be Made to Get Almost 100 Percent Rural Circulation Coverage in Terry County. Help Mutual.

Beginning Saturday, May 10, the Herald will begin its first and only subscription campaign in conjunction with the 4-H Clubs of the county, and the County Agent. The campaign will end Saturday night June 7th, and the results will be declared the following Monday by a committee of the business men of the city to be appointed to audit the accounts. At the end of the campaign, the Herald hopes to have one of the nearest 100 per cent rural subscription lists in this section.

County Agent Roy Davis explained Monday that this was the only contest and for the only thing in the county that he would permit the Clubs to work at, but he was quite willing to let them do this in order both that the clubs might get some money in their treasuries, and at the same time give him as near 100 percent circulation among the farmers of the county as possible, in order that he might be able to reach them with his messages each week, or when need be and save the great expense of mailing messages to them. In the campaign, the Herald itself has no other incentive than to get a good coverage in rural circulation. There will be no money in it for the Herald except from an advertising standpoint, making it an even better medium for the Brownfield merchants or others who wish to use these columns. Mr. Davis informs us that in his spring reorganization of the clubs, all have expressed a willingness to go into the campaign with a determination to win one of the prizes to be offered not to say anything about a good commission on the paper. All will win something, because of the commission on all subscriptions, and the prizes will come extra, and there will be no limit on the number of years anyone can pay in advance. But the main idea is to get every family in your community to take the Herald at least for one year.

We have not determined all the rules of the campaign, but the following will be very near what will be finally determined on. Each club will be furnished with subscription blanks, and one person in each club, boy or girl to be elected or appointed by the club will do business with the Herald, and have a check up each Saturday afternoon, at which time the money will be divided between the Herald and the club, and a careful check kept on all names and the amounts paid in by that club. On new subscriptions in Terry and Yoakum counties of $1.00 per year, the club gets 40c and the Herald 60c. On renewals the club gets 25c and the Herald 75c, so you see, it will be best to try to get new subscribers. Outside the two above counties the price will be $1.50 per year, and the club will get 60c and the Herald 90c. County lines will be no barrier, but the Herald sells cheaper in Terry and Yoakum, the latter, because they have no paper of their own. And as stated above, the number of years one may pay for is determined only by the amount the clubs are able to get one to pay for.

There will be four capital prizes offered besides the commissions. The first will be $20; the second $15; third 10; and the fourth $5. If a club happens to get a nice lot of subscribers and one of these larger prizes on top of that, they will have a pretty nice treasury fund. All that will depend entirely how much pep the club puts into the campaign, and we know that they have been full of that good commodity heretofore.

Next week, we will give any other and further information that may have been developed in the meantime.

Terry Farmers Planting Feed—Some Cotton

Quite a few farmers are planting some at this time. Some are planting milo and corn, others are trying a little cotton, while most every farmer has planted that patch of Sudan, for grazing. It is generally recommended that one acre of Sudan should be planted for each cow and horse on the place.

Native pasture ordinarily does not last very long through the summer and unless there is a Sudan patch why the milk drops off and the cost of producing cream is too high for profit.

The records of the Experiment Station at Lubbock over a period of years show that the highest production in milo have been made where the seed were dropped from 18-36 inches. Spacing less than 18 inches showed a decrease in acre yield.

The club boys last year planted half their seed given to them by the Rotary Club by skipping every third row, and the other half was planted every row. Some of the boys made more on the patch that was planted to every row while others made more by skipping the third row. This variance in results was due principally to the different spacing of seed by the planters. Where the planters dropped the seed about every two feet or better why the milo planted to every row was the best, but where the planter dropped the seed so as to be thick the feed made the most where the third row was left out.

Seasons will vary slightly and it is impossible to say just how and when to plant but there is an expression that we hear from a lot of farmers every year which reads "I would have made a lot more grain but I planted my feed too thick."

Gopher or mole tail rats have the habit of eating planted corn and grain sorghum seed. This habit can be broken very easily by scattering a little poison grain as you plant. The poison grain can be procured from the County Clerk.

Poultry Association to Meet Saturday P. M.

An interesting and beneficial program is being arranged for the meeting of the Terry County Poultry Association Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Everybody who is interested in poultry are urged to come out.

An Arkansawyer Mak- ing Good in Terry Co.

T. J. Bowers, erstwhile editor and publisher of a good country weekly in the good old state of Arkansas, and a brother of Mrs. Headstream of this city, got tired of editing and the cussings connected therewith, and sold out his plant and obeying the advice of Horace Greeley, of good west young man, go west, he came out to Terry county some more than a year ago, although not a spring chicken in years. However, this is not saying that Mr. Bowers is an old man, for he is not, and he probably never will get crabbed and morose. Too, his health was not the very best and he needed the out of doors and sunshine. He settled on the farm in the Needmore community.

When he announced to his Arkansas friends when he left there that he aimed to farm in this section, he said they fetched out a great horse laugh on him, but he has shown them. Although rather weak, he started his crop last year, but gathered strength and weight as the year advanced, and finally tipped the beam at 135 pounds, some 20 pounds more than he had weighed for years. He made 13 bales of cotton, 11 of which he gathered himself, as well as a world of feed and corn, not to mention other things that are generally raised on Terry county farms.

But since he got his crop gathered and came to town, he says his sister has kept him in pretty close, and he dropped off several pounds, but of late has been out a great deal and now weighs 136 pounds and is ready to go back to Arkansas to look after his business interests, after which he will return here.

Now this may read like a patent medicine advertisement, but he used nothing but the sunshine and ozone, both of which circulate in abundance and entirely free on the great south plains of Texas, which needs thousands of other good citizens like Mr. Bowers to make it bloom like the rose.

BEAUTIES OF 1930 MUST HAVE CURVES, ZIEGFELD

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—Florenz Ziegfeld, whose eye for beauty made him famous, recently was in the capital of puckeritude with a new set of specifications for America's girlhood. "The girl of 1930 should be a brunette. She should be no taller than five feet, six inches and should weigh 125 pounds. And most important, she should have more curves than the beauties of the last few years," according to the eastern stage producer.

C. of C. Secretary Busy With Highways

A few days ago the writer visited Roswell, for the purpose of talking with the highway department of their chamber of commerce in the matter of our east and west highway between Fort Worth and Roswell. It was discovered that a considerable amount of tourist traffic was being diverted over the highway south of us, that should by all rights be sent by way of Brownfield and in this connection a trip was made to Stamford last week in order to plan for the immediate advertisement of the Fort Worth & Roswell Highway, in such a manner as would cause increased use of it by the general public and if necessary to arrange for changes in the route between us and Stamford.

The going trip was made by way of Jayton and I might remark by the way, that there are more right angle turns and S turns in this stretch of 70 miles than that I have ever driven over in several thousand miles of travel. Leaving Stamford in the afternoon to return by way of Hamlin and Rotan, we found a fine gravel road between Stamford and Hamlin and numerous road construction gangs between Hamlin and Rotan, where they are at work building concrete bridges and culverts and after these are completed, the highway will be topped with six inches of gravel followed by a coat of asphaltum. The highway through Kent County, has recently been topped with six inches of gravel and it is a pleasure to drive over it. Within the next few months, persons going to Fort Worth and Dallas, will contact with hard-surfaced highway at the east Garza county line and will either be on it or concrete pavement for the entire distance. The mileage is about the same as going by Snyder and Roby and much shorter than the Bankhead by way of Sweetwater. Every person going east from this section, should use the route by way of Stamford and recommend it to tourists who pass through here.

Nothing has been heard from the highway department concerning the type of highway that would be approved by them for this county, so there is not anything to write concerning it at this time.

Editor Loses Eldest Brother in Tennessee

The editor received the sad message Thursday morning to the effect that his eldest brother W. R. (Joe) Stricklin had passed away on Wednesday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Heart leakage was given as the direct cause in a letter which came later. He was 64 years of age, having been born in 1866, the year after the war between the states came to a close.

His body was laid to rest in the old New Hope cemetery, where most all the generation have been planted, and where he has worshiped all his life, and was an elder and leader for many years. This old brother and his good wife acted father and mother to us until we grew into manhood, having lost our mother at the age of 8 and our father two years later. Peace to his body and immortality to his soul.

Some Showers, But a Good Rain is Awaited

A good shower fell some time during the night last Friday morning, but as this writer was in the land of Nod, we did not know anything about it until next morning. This shower amounted to about four-tenths inch, and will help matters. Sunday afternoon brought a light shower, as did Monday about dark, but good rains are still awaited as most of the county has hardly enough to plant on yet. However some sections of the county received an inch or more and having a bottom season are planting this week.

Circulars Printed For 6 Jones Stores Here

The Herald received the contract last week to put out 11,500 circulars of a double spread 7 column for six of the Jones Stores on the Plains, and these six big dry goods stores will start their sales on the same day and at the same hours, tomorrow at 8:30 o'clock. There is no set limit of the time the sale will run, but of course the first come gets the choice of the stores. This will be a storewide sale, and includes every department. They are expecting you to get your needs here.

The six stores included in this gigantic sale, besides the local store, are Lorenzo, Crosbyton, Slaton, Levelland and Tahoka. Each manager who came after their circulars seemed to be more than pleased with the job done by the Herald but this does not mean that we will get the next one, for while these stores through their managers aim to have their circulars printed at the same place in order to cut expenses, they do not aim to go out of their territory to get them printed. Some other paper in the territory will get the order next time, as they aim to pass the job around.

ATTENDS FUNERAL OF HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Bell, daughter, Miss Marie, and son, Lee, attended the funeral of Mrs. Fred Bell wife of Dr. Bell's brother, of Floydada, Sunday. Mrs. Bell was killed in an auto accident Saturday afternoon. The body was carried to Bellville, down near Houston for burial. Dr. and Mrs. Bell returned home but Miss Marie and Lee accompanied the body to Bellville, the old home of the victim. Two other ladies were seriously hurt in the accident, according to the dailies.

H. S. Smith, who lives 21 miles south of the city, with part of his land in Dawson county, but the improvements in Gaines, was up this week trading. He called in for a sample copy of the Herald, and said he would likely become a regular reader as he does all his trading here.

Bozeman Bros. Selling High Grade Cottonseed

Bozeman Bros., Frank and Joe, are making endeavor to sell their high grade Summerout Half and Half cottonseed and came in last week to have quite a lot of printing done in an effort to sell them to farmers in Terry and adjoining counties. They received their seed direct from the propagators of these seed, and have used every precaution in having them ginned so as to guarantee the purity of the seed. To attest same, their local ginmer certifies that they have used every precaution to gin them so as to get nothing but the pure Summerout seed. These seed can be obtained on their farms in the Pool community, or from Bowers Bros. of this city.

But cotton is not the only product of the Bozeman farms by any means, as they are enthusiasts for diversified farming. In fact, that is the motto on that farm. They believe that while planting what cotton that can easily be gathered without inconvenience to themselves, that there must also be a well balanced program in order that they do not have a great lot of one thing that is caught by a weak market, or no market. They believe that they should have plenty to eat on the farm of everything that can be grown in this section, and that most of their surpluses of feed be fed to livestock and poultry on the farm to be returned to them in the shape of meats, butter fats and eggs.

Therefore 400 acres of their farm is devoted each year to feeds of one kind and another. They have just shipped out a carload of fine porkers, and are now fattening 64 head of steers which will be put on the market later in the shape of finished beef to tickle the palates of the elite of the big cities. Then, there is the herd of Jersey cows from which they draw from in the shape of rich creams which are brought in at regular intervals to be put on the market here. Also, we must not forget that high grade Leghorns, whose cackle is heard almost constantly throughout the day, and not only furnish a lot of nourishing food for the farm, but a great surplus to put on the market and help pay the dry goods and grocery bills of the family.

If for any reason you think the Bozeman Bros. have a downcast look, or a pessimistic view on the outlook of this life, then you are given another guess, for they certainly live at home and board at the same place.

$350 A MINUTE

Will Rogers, gum-chewing, rope-throwing, diplomat-at-large, is now working under a contract by which he receives $72,000 for 14 radio talks of 15 minutes each, advertising a tooth paste. A young fellow who is good at figures says it amounts to about $350 for every minute that Rogers is on the air. Will Rogers would draw a good round sum lecturing to limited audiences. It is the power of radio that makes this big salary possible. Will Rogers supplies a daily feature for a hundred or more daily newspapers over the country and he probably has a larger following than any other syndicate writer. His witty wisdom is good, his contribution short and contains at least one point each day.—Ex.

Horsehair hats are vague in Paris.

SATURDAY TO BE OFFICIAL STRAW HAT DAY HERE

About Two Dozen Straw Hats to Be Sailed From Top of Court House Into the Crowd. Some Best Straw Hats Made, But All Will Be Good Everyday Hats.

The dry goods merchants of Brownfield have a nice line of straw hats in stock, the best money can buy, but they have not been moving just as they would like, and the time has come when they are going to move them if good quality combined with very attractive prices will do the work. And to make things real interesting they are going to put out a few of these hats Saturday to the big crowd that will likely assemble, absolutely free. This includes the seven big companies here who handle straws, as follows:

Clyde Lewis D. G. Co.; Jones D. G. Co., Inc.; Baldwin's Store; Hargrave D. G. Co.; Cobb Dept. Store; W. E. Legg D. G. Store; and Collins D. G. Co. All of these will likely give away one real good hat and some indicate that they will also give two or three good every day field hats, or sun hats that can be used by ladies as well as gentlemen. Now listen to the rules of this contest for a free hat and be ready to grab off one:

W. E. Legg, local dry goods man and auctioneer speiler has agreed to get on top of the courthouse at near 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and make a few remarks about each firm after he has called the crowd together with a megaphone, will at exactly

4 P. M. sail these hats from the top of the courthouse into the crowd below, and the best reachers will wear a new free hat Sunday. The name of the firm giving the hat away will have their names printed on the inside, and if the hat does not fit you, carry it to that firm and exchange it for one that will fit you. Or if you prefer a better hat, you may trade it in for another at full value on a better one, paying cash for the difference.

If you do not happen to be one of the lucky fellows, don't be downcast, for the merchants mentioned above have a lot just like them in their stores, and they are putting some Saturday prices on them that will suit you. Be sure that you are ready to go to Sunday School or church Sunday morning under a brand new straw lid. Or if you do not attend any church, have a new one to drive out in, and how the world that you recognize that spring has arrived. Don't be a piker, but doff the old fur for a nice, clean, cool straw.

Meet your friends Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock near the courthouse. If you have never played basketball, this is a good place to learn the trick. Are you coming?

Powell-Bond-Markham Organizing New Club

Dock Powell, Cal Bond and C. B. Markham are busy organizing another club here, but it seems that they are making slow headway, and like the Mystic Knights of the Sea to which Amos and Andy belong, there is no chance of getting any great amount of cash in the treasury unless members can be found who have some dough to put in for initiation. The best we can remember, the club will bear the rather long title, "Club and Accept Order of Sons of Rest" and it seems to us that they are infringing somewhat on Mr. Casey's lodge out at Tokio, and Dock may have to reckon with that individual, unless he gets a permit from P. M. Casey.

In our interview with Dock, he seemed to be a rather bit discouraged, as the farmers in general cannot comply with the bi-laws if they get good rains and have to go to work. Therefore he will have to depend exclusively on town folks for recruits, and according to him, a sight of people seem to have gone to work lately, including Bart Stinson. Joe McGowan was considered, but as some of the brethren would have to stand him on his head to shake down his dues—as he's too lazy to run his hands in his pocket—they would have to put forth too much effort themselves and get canned. Then there was Will Alf Bell, but Dock avers that Will Alf is too lazy to even talk. Says that individual makes a motion with his index finger against a wall when he wants a match to light his cigarette.

The name of T. I. Brown was then mentioned, but Dock says he would break the rules of the club the first time a farmer drove up on the streets with a load of corn, as he would tear in after it. In fact, Dock seems to be rather discouraged, and R. M. Kendrick seems to be the only fellow that suits him at all, but R. M. wants to play dominoes all the time.

Oral Adams and Brit Clare were then mentioned, but Dock is afraid Oral will be forgotten by his family, and he will sit down somewhere until he starves. The club will then have the expense of having his body dragged out to the dumping grounds. As for Brit, Dock says you could never get Brit to take his elbows off the window ledges at the State bank long enough to attend a meeting.

The dues will strictly be held to $3.50 per year, according to Dock, but that is not saying he will not make a slight reduction for a real good member. Another proposition that seems to be annoying Doc, Cal and Markham, is the trade-in proposition. They seem to be offhand nearly everything in trade for membership. For instance Mr. Crawford offered to trade weather forecasting for a membership. Nothing doing, says Dock, we ain't supposed to care whether there is any weather or not. If you are a candidate see Dock and tell him we recommended you so you get a rake off in commissions on all new members we send him. This is not an ad.

Citizen Takes Own Life With Pistol, Friday

W. J. Ramsey, a prosperous farmer of the Harmony community, took his own life last Friday with a six-shooter, the bullet going in at the back of his right ear, clipping a portion of the lobe of his ear, and tearing through the top of the skull hit the ceiling. He was found lying on his back with the weapon laying some five feet to one side. A physician was called at once, but as his brains were oozing from both wounds, no attempt was made to move the body to town. He is reported to have shot himself at about 11 A. M., and died two hours later.

No cause for the rash action was given other than that he had threatened to do so a number of times. His wife reports that she left the house when he threatened to kill himself, and did not see him, as she was standing outside, but re-entered when she heard the gun and her husband fall. Neighbors say that Mr. Ramsey has not seemed just right for some time.

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon, by Rev. E. V. May, local Baptist pastor, and his body laid to rest in the local cemetery by the side of his first wife who preceded him in death about five years ago.

Construction Work on Milk Plant Completed

Construction work on the $200,000 powdered milk plant at Lamesa has been completed, it was announced this week by the contractor, Harvey C. Allen. All brick work has been finished and only a few feet remain to be added to the 110 foot smoke stack, which is being erected now.

Installation of machinery will begin soon, according to V. H. Ross, advance engineer for the Douthitt Engineering company, which firm is equipping the new industrial plant at Lamesa.

The building is as large as any of Lamesa's big landmarks, being in height equal to a three story structure. It is made of red face-brick and has five large rooms. The boilers, 650 horsepower, are said to be the largest on the South Plains. All modern machinery will be used in the plant, which is to manufacture sweet cream butter, buttermilk powders and skim milk powders.

The opening date for the plant has not been set, but it will probably begin operation during the first part of June, according to Ross.—Lamesa reporter.

SMALL DECLARES HE WILL SEEK GOVERNORSHIP

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 24.—State Senator C. C. Small of Wellington announced in Fort Worth Tuesday that he will be a candidate for the governorship of Texas in the July Democratic primary. His headquarters will be in Fort Worth.

DEAD BABY BRINGS HELP TO HUNGRY

Body Left on Street Is Clew for Searchers.

New York.—A poverty ridden mother who, when her baby died, dressed it in its best clothes and left the body on the street for the police to find and bury, was found in a poorly furnished house in Brooklyn. With her, all half starved, were her mother and three little children, from three months to five years old. The woman's husband deserted her six months ago.

Early one morning Patrolman George Hackett found the rigid body of an eighteen-months-old boy on the sidewalk in the Bushwick section. An autopsy showed that the child had died from natural causes. Detectives were instructed to find its parents.

On the covering which wrapped the dead child the detectives found the tag of a Broadway store. Through a saleswoman they learned that the purchaser of the wrapping lived in the Bushwick section. They made a house to house canvass, checking up on families and their circumstances, asking questions.

The two detectives finally located the right house. They found three little children lying on the floor. Detective John Quina was munching a piece of candy as he entered. The children ran up to him, begging for something to eat.

In the rear of the wretched house the detectives found Mrs. Willetta Knight, twenty-four years old, and her mother, Mrs. Katherine Johnson, forty-eight. They, too, were suffering from hunger.

The women admitted having taken the child, after it had died, probably from malnutrition, out into the street at night and leaving it there. Mrs. Knight, the child's mother, said they had only 52 cents in the house when the child died and there was no money for funeral expenses.

The police took the family to the station. The hat was passed, and from the contributions the two women and the children were fed.

Unpopular Kitty Shows He's Perfect Gentleman

Burbank, Calif.—Think of police officers releasing a reported "gentleman" after they had actually found plenty of evidence that he was guilty of unlawful entry and what's more, think of the fact that the aforesaid officers were actually glad to release him!

That's what occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bartlett when Captain Hampton and Motor Sergeant Lombard found the asserted "gentleman" in complete and unauthorized possession of a back screen porch and particularly of a refrigerator.

After a survey of the situation Captain Hampton ordered Lombard "To make a noise like a saucer of milk."

Evidently the ruse was successful, because the skunk slunk out of the refrigerator that he had made his own. A wide avenue so as to leave no hindrance to his escape was opened to him and he was permitted to return to his native hills without molestation.

Hampton insisted, on his return to police headquarters, that the skunk was a "gentleman," inasmuch as he did not attempt a skunk's usual resort to parties interfering with him.

Motive Power Supplants Horse on Modern Farm

New York.—Old Dobbin, the mainstay of power to the American tiller of the soil since the signing of the Declaration of Independence, has finally yielded the place of honor in his last stronghold, the farm, to motive power equipment.

A survey of 1929 conditions on farms announced by the American research foundation shows that of the total horse power hours of work on farms, horses and mules now yield 44 per cent as compared with more than 57 per cent in 1924, while the work done by motive power equipment has increased from slightly more than 42 per cent in 1924 to 56 per cent in 1929.

Airplanes Win in Races With Birds

Tacoma, Wash. — Airplanes can beat birds of all kinds at speed. Several government aviators arriving at the Fort Lewis airfield report races with migratory species of birds, with wild ducks keeping up the highest velocity, flying an average of 50 miles per hour.

Heron and ravens overtaken by the army planes were traveling less than 30 miles per hour. A flock of crows with the higher altitude to aid were making 40 miles. A number of unidentified birds in northern California were flying thousands of feet above the plains.

Birds in trees on hearing the approach of airplanes generally take flight in the same direction and are easily overtaken by the aviators.

Oris Carter, of the O'Donnell Index, accompanied by his wife and mother, were visitors in the home of his brother, Ralph Carter and wife, last Thursday night. Their mother who has been visiting her son at O'Donnell, will spend some time here with Ralph and family. Of course, this had to drop around and fraternize for a few minutes, but like all editors was in a hurry to get back home.

We are glad to learn that Editor Baldwin of the Levelland Herald is on the road to recovery now.

Sage of Bunco Hill Heard From Again

Brownfield, Texas April 29, 1930

To The Terry County Herald: I will drop in a few lines.

Everything is OK on this side. Have had two nice showers and think we can plant soon. I was glad to see the rain for I have 32 acres of wheat.

We have had 3 successful rabbit drives in the last 3 weeks. About 2000 rabbits killed in the 3 drives.

Our County Singing Convention met the 20th. Sure had a god one. My friend Pom Thompson was there from Johnson and he ate so much dinner his wife had to stand him in the tank for several hours. She said he would have lost every toe nail he had if she hadn't put him in the water. She said she kept him in there until the swelling went out of his stomach and feet. Anyhow Pom is a good singer and a booster for the convention. We did have lots of dinner and good singing, and everybody seemed to have a good time.

I met our Meadow writer a few days ago in Brownfield. He was in a good humor. I don't believe we can get him to run against Jim for Governor though, because the Meadow people won't be willing to give him up for he is the only doctor they have and sure is a good one. He is the only one that will keep count of the children. So I guess we will have to run our friend Walter Hogue for Governor. He says the first plank in his platform will be to raise more Jersey heifers, Poland hogs and chickens, more beans and peas, and meat to go with them.

We will run J. O. Wheatley or our editor for Lt. Governor. It would be hard to give up our editor if he is elected. I intend to invite the editor out when lambing time comes again. I will have to fit him up with woolen clothes before he goes to Washington. He will have to have some kind of scent on him so the Republicans will leave him alone. I don't believe we can elect J. O. because his wife says he hasn't finished school yet. She says she is undecided in what to make out of him. Thought once she would make a Christian preacher out of him and she was afraid he would get drowned. Then she thought about a Methodist preacher, but though he would want to stay in the chicken house all the time and then the Baptist, but she was afraid he would be bossy all the time and I think she has decided to make a horse doctor out of him. I believe she has hit his calling. Anyhow he is a good citizen. If our citizenship was all like him we would have to do away with our big sheriff.

I made a trip to Kansas City with my friend Mr. Harrison from Stamford, Texas, recently. We took 1800 head of sheep fed by Harrison & McSpadden. We left Friday P. M. Got to Kansas City Sunday night and it was the largest city I ever was in. We ate supper in the Western Hotel. I put in a call for some of my friends that live there. I got them the second call. I lived neighbors to them long time ago. They came after us and we stayed there until we left for home.

I spent Monday looking at the city. I spent two days looking at the cattle and sheep. Mr. Harrison found a hard market for his sheep. When he was offered 7 1-2 cents, he dropped his head. I told him not to worry.

We were gone a week. My wife got uneasy about me and went to town to see about getting a divorce. She ask about me and she was told they hadn't heard from me either. They ask her if she hadn't been clothing me for 30 years and she said Yes. So they told her not to worry that I would come back. When I came home she sure was glad to see me and I was glad to see her for I was broke, had walked 217 miles and rode on a hand car.

While at Kansas City I saw lots of people from different states and complaining about hard times. I told them to sell out and come to Terry and take the Herald. I sure did have a good time there.

It looks like the farming class of people are in a serious condition. Everything we have to buy is as high as when cotton was 25 and 30 cents and especially our implements we farm with. I haven't made a dollar in 2 years farming, haven't averaged 75c a day for my labor for 3 years. If it hadn't been for my cows, hogs and chickens I don't know what I would have done. We have got more idle people than history has ever known. The cities in the north and east are feeding more people. I believe we have got the best bunch of gin men in the west, but they have been hard on us cotton farmers in the last three years. The ginning is too high for the price we get for our cotton. The price is the same as when we got 20 and 25c for our cotton. The farmers have bought a gin and talk about buying another but if they don't cut the price of ginning I don't know as it will do any good. But I guess everything will be OK some day.

C. SEARS.

We learn that the camp houses erected for Joe Whitley, at Gomez, are completed, and are real nice. Have to go over and use one of them some of these days, as that is about as far as we ever get away from home.

The manager of the Jones store at Tahoka, was a visitor here Friday.

A Memphis, Tennessee man has a billion dollars all figured out for us. He takes us back some 2000 years before Christ and lets us spend a thousand dollars a day up to last year, and finds we still have $112,000,000 left, and the fund never drew interest. Now we know how much a billion dollars is without doing a lot of figuring ourselves. Most applications for jobs are from people who want the easy places. A fellow applied last week for a place on the Herald as advertising manager. Pretty soft, but there are no soft places on the average country paper. If a fellow is not capable of doing anything that comes up in the country shop, he is not worth much to that paper. They don't specialize.

No party seemingly can exist half wet and half dry. The Republican party has held the issue down remarkably well, but their time is coming to split over this issue. We believe if the wet and dry issue is agitated a few more years that the two old parties will split and the dries will control one and the wets the other. However, they may not bear the present names.

One of the great issues all candidates for state offices is to make a great plea for tax reduction, as this seems to be the happiest idea they can latch up to keep the people's mind off some real issues. The tax question will always interest people, and all candidates for state offices are willing to interest them, but if elected, that is the last they hear of anything. But as a matter of fact, about 85 percent of all taxes people pay are voted on themselves by the district or counties.

The charred body of a convict from the Ohio penitentiary fire was received by a broken hearted mother at Tahoka last week to be laid tenderly to rest as only a forgiving mother can her wandering boy. He had been gone from his home four years and his whereabouts not known until the arrival of the casket bearing all that remained of her eldest boy. Can you picture that scene, and is it not better to suffer some hunger and cold rather than come back in such condition to break-down and carry the woman that gave you life to an early grave?

A woman called at the Herald office this week soliciting funds, claiming that some of the folks were in bad health and needed assistance. She was informed that Brownfield had its own cares to look after, but if the Chamber of Commerce here would OK her permit to solicit funds, we would donate. Here is where the rub came. She did not want to see the Chamber of Commerce and begin running such organizations down for bringing in Mexican labor. Informed that there was not a Mexican in this town, she started another argument—but we told her we had no funds for her unless she did what we said. She left grumbling, but we understand she ran up against the same proposition everywhere she went and finally had to go to Secretary Shelton, who filled up her car and headed her toward the next town. Such people always put the women and children forward to do the soliciting, and once or twice when investigation was made of their camp on the outskirts of the town, it was found that the men folks were fat and healthy—just pure darn lazines.

OUR AIM...

A real desire to understand the customer's needs; a realization of public responsibility, an earnest effort to cooperate usefully in every proper way.

These points make up the spirit of service extended to every patron of this bank. We proffer our services to those who wish to make the most of the possibilities that are to be found through a connection with a progressive bank that stands for the highest ideals in our community.

Furthermore, us Dallasites are fearful lest the census man is counting the guinea pigs, too, down at Houston.—Dallas News.

So that's how it stands now. We thought that Dallas always dreaded old San Antonio when Uncle Sam began counting noses in Texas, and they really have always had a few more than either Dallas or Houston, but now it seems that both Dallas and San Antonio dread the report from the village at the head of navigation on Buffalo bayou.

J. Sam Lewis, the new filed correspondent of the Avalanche-Journal at Lubbock, was a pleasant caller at the Herald office this week to get acquainted with the Herald folks, as he is a new man in this section. We found him a big man two ways, in avioridopsis and at heart, and we believe that he in his position is not only going to mean a great deal to the prestige of his papers in this section, but to the whole territory his papers cover. He wants to be of real help to this section, and if you see him straying around your place, grab his hand and welcome him to Brownfield. We told him about all we knew about ourselves, and he penned it as follows:

A. J. Stricklin, genial editor and owner of the Brownfield Herald, is surely the dean of newspaper men in the South Plains. Also A. J. has worked out a scheme for securing advertising that several of his editorial brothers are anxious to find out how he does it. Brownfield was hardly more than a wide space in the road when A. J. got hold of the Herald. He was the second man in this section to own a linotype, Lubbock having the first. A. J. prints ten pages of home print every week, full of advertising besides handling a lot of job work for towns even over in New Mexico. He has a well equipped shop that can turn out a lot of extra work.

No One Knew
there was a Woman in England

ABOUT fifty years ago an Englishman came to one of our large American cities. He built up a fortune in real estate. He sold large pieces of property and built hotels. He married. Both the Englishman and his wife died. All deeds and titles to the man's properties, conveyed and mortgaged, were, seemingly, in good order. His will was probated. Everything appeared right. The purchasers of the properties slept in peace.
One morning a young Englishman appeared in a lawyer's office in the American city. He had come to "secure his grandmother's dower in the estate." No one had known of an English wife—still alive.
Innocent property owners were forced to pay thousands of dollars to an unknown woman across the sea—losses which could have been protected by title insurance.

CHAIN BANKING GROWTH

Some interesting figures have just been issued by the Federal Reserve Board at Washington, D. C., showing that the number of banks in chain systems increased from 1,821 to 2,103, or 15 percent, during the last six months of last year. In the meantime, the total number of banks in the United States continued to decline. While the number of banks in chain systems represented only 8.1 per cent of the total number of banks in the country, they had 19 percent of all loans and investments of banks at the close of the year as against 14 per cent at the mid-year. There were thirty-four chains with more than $50,000,000 in loans and investments each. At the end of the year there were 287 chain systems, ten of which were operating interstate.

The growth of chain banking is taking place largely in those States where branch banking is forbidden or rigidly regulated. Obviously chain banking is being resorted to as a substitute. Yet John W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, and many other banking authorities believe that of the two types of centralized banking, outright branch operation is to be preferred. Probably branch banking has been subject to extensive regulation and chain operation has been largely overlooked, for the reason that the one is rather easily amenable to regulation, whereas the other is not. It is now reported that the Senate will launch an investigation of both branch and chain banking in the near future. While that body has been functioning overtime as investigator, under the circumstances probably one more inquiry would not be amiss.

INVALID DEVOTES LIFE TO OTHERS

Seattle Doctor Is Practical Idealist.

Seattle, Wash.—A practical idealist, whose credo is "service" and who gives a philosophy of cheerfulness to those who are down, such a man is Dr. Frank R. Loope of Seattle.

For eighteen years he has been bed-ridden. A reporter walked into the "office," a big sun porch, as one of two telephones at his bed rang and the doctor proceeded to aid a World war veteran in getting out of jail.

Doctor Loope lay flat on his back, the two telephones within easy reach, letter files at the side of his bed, a checkbook on the covers, magazines, papers, cigarettes and a radio at hand. And there he directs almost innumerable enterprises—aiding individuals to overcome physical handicaps.

The physician picked up a specially framed mirror and focussed it on his guests. He is unable to turn his head, but he can move his eyes and arms. Thus he is able to follow the movements and expressions of any one in his room.

Under the general title of "Sunshine Industries," Doctor Loope is the directing genius behind a wheel chair store, a repair store, is building up a fund for an industrial home for shut-ins and arranges hundreds of programs for invalids.

The industrial home—where those adding themselves would be able to live close to their work—is his big dream.

In addition to that work, Doctor Loope finds positions for those who have been handicapped. He distributes radios, gives advice, acts as father confessor to hundreds of persons, advises as a physician and arranges for medical attention.

His telephone rang constantly during the interview.

The soldier was paroled to his custody, then a hysterical woman telephoned. "Calm tones replied to shrill voice, and then, ironically, an ex-convict that had obtained his telephone number called to ask him to buy two tickets to a dance.

Conducts Column.

The doctor is not a wealthy man, in fact he frequently encounters difficulty in obtaining funds for his many enterprises, in addition to those needed for himself.

For years after he was stricken, the doctor related, "I felt I was terribly abused." Then he adopted the philosophy of "Sunshine and Smiles," the title of a column he conducts for shut-ins in the Seattle Star.

"I don't preach, I serve," he said. "Help the shut-in to help himself—to keep himself away from his troubles."

Although bedridden eighteen years, Doctor Loope is no invalid. He is more healthy mentally by far than millions who have complete use of their bodies.

Disease Kills Canadian Goose Wintering in U. S.

Ocratoke, N. C.—A malady that resulted in extermination of thousands of wild Canadian geese has made its appearance among migratory fowl wintering along the Carolina coast. The disease results from undernourishment and from feeding in localities where the bottoms are covered with mud.

During windy weather game taking trips along the coast have found by accident that mud could be very sticky. They got them in geese ponds where they soon died.

In some sections the shores are strewn with dead game that has been washed in by the tides. A gunner going out during the close of the season could expect four to six of his bag of eight to be underweight and unsuitable for food.

Street Car Conductor Now a Soviet Chieftain

Moscow.—Yesterday a street car conductor—today an important member of the cabinet of the Russian Federated Socialist Republics.

That, literally, is the story of A. S. Bandurin, whose designation as secretary of the council of people's commissars of the R. S. F. S. R. (the largest of the groups constituting the Soviet union) has been announced.

Bandurin has for years been an active Communist and prominent in party circles. However, he held no official post. Until this appointment he earned his living as a conductor on a Moscow tram. His elevation, as may be supposed, has stimulated conversation in trams and this writer has heard several weary conductors asked when they would become commissars.

French Military Medals for 45,000 War Veterans

Paris.—Twelve years after the war 45,000 French soldiers are to be awarded the military medal, formerly one of France's highest war honors. The medals will go to men cited for bravery and wounded during the war, but who have since received no further recognition.

Lepor Grateful

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—Forty years ago V. King loaned a sobbing boy 20 cents so he could see a show. King received news of a leper's death recently and with it a check for $2.57 it was the entire estate of the boy he had befriended.

E. Brown, city marshal, had Green & Winston paint ten speed limit signs this week, which will be placed along the main streets in the city. The speed limit is given at 20 miles, and Gene says he's going to see that the law is enforced.

If you don't clean too much in the garage, you will give your car a better chance to last longer.

CHALLIS CHATS

Faces are brighter and smiles broader since the showers for we know there will be a real rain after while as Terry has never been forgotten yet.

The P. T. A. was well pleased with the proceeds from the play and wishes to thank each and everyone who patronized it. Do not forget the meeting at the school house next Thursday night week.

Mrs. Jesse Howell, Mrs. Castleberry, Mrs. Bayne Price and Mrs. Money Price went to Plains and Seagraves last Wednesday on business. Miss Odum of Meadow spent the week end in the C. R. Warren home. Miss Lillah Gaye Rodgers spent the week end with her aunt Mrs. D. J. Broughton.

Gracie Moon spent the week end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Moon of Wellman.

Miss Hallie Howze was the guest of Misses Doris and Jimmie Marchbanks Sunday.

We were glad to have Mrs. Ollie a former student visit in the school last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayne Price had as their guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Joe Price, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Price, and Mrs. Robert Whitney of Lubbock.

Mrs. Francher visited with Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Broughton Sunday afternoon.

Too bad that the cloud kept so many away from Sunday School Sunday but maybe we can meet back next Sunday as though we had not missed a Sunday. Be sure and be there to fill your place. For remember no one can take your place for there is a work for you to do in the Lord's service if it is only to listen.

The sick people are better. Judge Broughton is not feeling perfectly well yet. Buddy Henson is suffering from a sore hand caused by a splinter or stick.

Harmony Happenings

Harmony is very glad to report 2 good showers in the last week. Some of the farmers are already planting. Rev. Allen filled his regular appointment here last week end.

J. W. Ramsey, a farmer of this county, shot himself last Friday about 11:30 and died about 2:30.

The family and other relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Head accompanied by Irene Pippin visited Mr. Head's family at Snyder last Sunday. Stop! Look and come to Harmony Saturday night, to see the play, "Civil Service."

Honor Roll for Sixth month of school: First grade, Irene Young, Ray Howard, R. H. Clements, Shelton Hassell. Second grade, Ralph Murry, Fred Young. Third grade, Ethel Young, Rudolph Gracey.

Wellman Notes

The Parent-Teacher Association met Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The pupils of Mrs. Spud's room rendered a fine program for the patrons and public. The delegates gave the reports of the conference. There was as many present as was room in the building. The next meeting will be a business meeting with new officers in charge.

Quite a few of the P. T. A. members of this place attended the lecture given at the high school by Dr. Malone. The lecture was on preventing disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schroeder went to Lubbock Sunday. Mrs. J. W. Baker and Gwendolyn visited in Wellman Saturday. Billie Joe Schroeder went home with Gwendolyn Baker and spent the night Saturday.

Mr. A. A. Lawrence had his eyes operated on last week and we understand he is getting along nicely.

Mr. Durward Kerby spent the night with Sam and Elmo Adair Monday night.

Miss Voris Spear has been very sick we understand with an attack of appendicitis. Her mother was away attending the funeral of her mother at the time.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stark were shopping in Brownfield Monday.

Some of the good men of the community worked the trees at the school house. Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Cates attended the church dedication Sunday at Seagraves.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Garrison also attended. Mrs. S. Z. Paul was shopping in Brownfield one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Woodard have returned from Glen Rose.

J. W. R. Bachman and daughter, also son, Joe and wife, were in the city this week from southwest Terry on business.

Miss Louise Chisholm has finished her work at the A. C. C. at Abilene, and has returned home.

OFF THEY GO!

Official Straw Hat Day—Saturday, May 3rd

SHORTEST RAILROAD IS RUN AT PROFIT

Engineer Is President and General Manager.

Cassville, Mo.—The Cassville and Exeter, America's shortest railroad, runs at a profit and a good one. The total trackage of the midget line is four and nine-tenths miles, which, according to the Interstate Commerce commission, makes it the shortest independently owned and operated steam railway in the United States. And to this designation may be added, very probably the shortest in the world.

The president of the line, the general manager and the locomotive engineer is Dave Dingler, railroader for 43 years.

Dave Dingler and his partner, James C. Ault, recorder, secretary and owner of the other half of the stock, do not favor the suppression of women. Mrs. Dingler is first and only vice president and Mrs. Ault is treasurer. On Sundays they generally hold a director's conference along with chicken dinner, prepared and consumed from first to last by officials of the road.

Attitude Helps. The line connects the picturesque old village of Cassville, the county seat of Barry county, Missouri, with Exeter, a station on the main-line Frisco. The Tom Thumb line takes advantage of altitude. Its terminal at Exeter is 196 feet higher than the station at Cassville. Accordingly, trains have to be pulled up to Exeter and lead down to Cassville. Pulling them up is considerable of a strain, but escorting them home is a pleasure so long as the brakes hold.

Once each day the midget line runs separately an all-passenger and an all-freight train. At Exeter they uncouple the petite passenger bearer from Old 20, more familiarly known as "Mary Ann" the superannuated locomotive, and let the little passenger coach roll on back down to Cassville. Then Mary Ann escorts the freight cars.

The Cassville and Exeter owns no rolling stock other than the little locomotive and the 32-passenger coach which hitched on behind. Freight cars are willingly loaned by neighboring roads.

Freight Business Pays. But Dave Dingler and his railroaders would have it understood that nobody need snigger about their Mary Ann. For the little puller is neither a freak nor a curio. She is a ten-wheeler with a 32,000-pound tractive effort, 62-inch drivers, Southern valve gear, automatic bell and sanders and a deep-seat throttle. She takes them there and brings them back and she has been doing it for near onto thirty years.

Dave Dingler keeps books on overhead and he figures that so far as repairs are concerned, Mary Ann costs him about $5 a year.

The officials say with appropriate frankness that so far as the Cassville and Exeter is concerned, passenger hauling has never paid; that it is merely a turn in courtesy, an appendage to make more complete the line's offering of service. But the freight business does pay and rather substantially. The short line has a rather startling volume of traffic considering its length. It is said to carry more fruit to the rail mile than any other line in the country, and its freight business is gradually increasing.

Taxidermy Disappearing, Veteran of Art Says

St. Louis, Mo.—Virtually every variety of wild and domestic fish, fowl and animal has been taxidermed by St. Louis, who for 4 years has been following his trade of taxidermy.

Glancing around his shop, which is in itself a museum of natural history, Keller recalls the days when bison roamed the prairies and when wild animals were shot in what are now staid St. Louis residential sections. Keller says that stringent game laws and the disappearance of the "den" in the modern home, is causing his profession to vanish. "Where my assistants and I prepared six or seven thousand specimens a year five years ago, the number has now dwindled to a few hundred," he said.

Customers from England, France, Germany, Belgium and Canada are listed on his books.

Einstein Plays Violin at Charity Concert

Berlin.—A surprise greeted the audience at a recent benefit concert in a Berlin synagogue. The program announced that the famous singer, Hermann Jell-wasser and "the well-known violinist, Albert Einstein," would appear.

The audience was somewhat surprised to see that the "well known violinist" was none other than the founder of the theory of relativity, Prof. Albert Einstein. Einstein plays the violin very well, and he also appears from time to time on concert platforms for benevolent purposes.

St. Louis Soon to Have Many New Hospitals

St. Louis, Mo.—With hospital construction totaling $10,000,000 scheduled for completion during 1930, and five hospitals erected during the last five years at a cost of $7,500,000, St. Louis is experiencing a phenomenal development of hospital facilities comparable to any city in the United States.

Rotarians Report Fine Meeting at Temple

Dick McDuffie presided for the first time at a regular meeting of the club at the Hancock Cafe last Friday, as the new president, and in his opening remarks he indicated that he would do his very best to be there each time himself, and would also try to enforce the attendance by laws. He was elected to attend the sessions of the Rotary International at Chicago in June.

Albert Schofield and Homer Nelson were on hand and gave a glowing account of the district convention at Temple, and the way that city handled the affair. They indicated that everything was discussed from garters to gardens. They will have a more lengthy report to make next week.

We understand that the Rotary Club will meet this week at the Texas Cafe, conducted by John Markham.

Mr. Guy Hargrave was in Seymour this week on business.

Daddy Crawford has made application to the city council to keep the streets clean, and informs us that he will either take all the streets, or the paved section, and make bond to keep them clean. We believe that if he does get the job Monday week, he will do just what he says he will do, for there is not a lazy bone in his frame.

Konjola's Work Miraculous, Says Lady

Waco Lady, Lifetime Resident, Enthusiastic About New Medicine That Relieves

MRS. LILLIE COLLINS

"Konjola made a new person of me," said Mrs. Lillie Collins, 3617 Homan avenue, Waco. "For the past few years I have had a severe case of stomach trouble. The food I ate failed to digest, gas formed and I was subject to chest pains and heart palpitations. I was always tired in the morning. Pains in the small of my back from affected kidneys often kept me from doing my housework. I often suffered with numbness in my hands and feet and was extremely nervous."

"I began to get relief immediately after I began the Konjola treatment. The gas on my stomach after meals has now been eliminated and I no longer find night rising necessary. I sleep well and I am no longer nervous. I am free from back pains and my kidneys have been regulated until they function perfectly. I have not an ache or a pain in my body. The results I got from Konjola were miraculous and I heartily recommend this medicine to all who suffer as I did."

Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial. Six to eight bottles are recommended for usual cases.

Konjola is sold in Brownfield at the Alexander Drug Co., and by all the best druggists in all towns through out this entire section.

COMING HOME

James Finckey Henderson, first governor of Texas, is coming home. His body, which has lain in the congressional cemetery of Washington, D. C., for 72 years, has been exhumed and prepared for return to the state he served so well. It has been decided, very fittingly, to have the re-burial rites in Austin, April 21, anniversary of San Jacinto.

Henderson was a North Carolinian who raised a company of volunteers for service in Texas in 1836. He was elected first governor in 1846 and later went to congress. He belonged to a galant company of Anglo-Saxon hot-bloods who risked their all to save the continent from Latin domination. It was that same lofty impulse which brought Sam Houston from his tent in the Cherokee nation to re-establish himself in the white man's annals.

The legislature of Texas never did a finer act than to vote funds for disinterment and re-burial of our old heroes. Their earthly reward was small enough, and it is fitting that we honor them now.—Abilene Reporter.

A TENNESSEE FARM PROBLEM

Already it becomes evident that scope must be added to the activities of the Federal Farm Board if the impasse of making ducks out of some folks and drakes out of others is to be avoided. Some unusual situations are coming up. They place in sharp relief the whole question of where government relief should begin and end.

The Louisville Courier-Journal points out such a case. It is of a Tennessee tenant farmer, who has become the father of a third set of twins within five years. He has addressed this appeal to the Governor of Tennessee:

"I haven't a farm and have just one cow. I have heard that anyone could get help from the Government where they had three sets of twins. If there is any justice in anyone getting help, I sure need it."

Here again, we have the problem of the surplus. It is the root and branch of the Tennessee man's trouble. Should not the Farm Board assume jurisdiction? The question is one of the utmost delicacy. It calls into point the whole theory of federal aid and its so-related problems. And it does not appear that even the export debenture plan, which is counted on by its proponents to aid in handling the surplus in other farm lines, would do any good here.

Yet, there pathetic truth, as everybody will agree, in the Tennessean's declaration that if there is any justice in anyone's getting help, he sure needs it. It might not be recognized, however, by the anti-sucide people, who would point out that he seems to be doing very well without help.—Dallas News.

SCIENTIFIC, POLITICAL PREACHING, SCORED

(From The Dallas News) Expressing his disgust with preachers "who preach on the sunrise and the sunset and 'scientific phenomena' and on civic, economic and political questions of the day," Dr. J. W. Hunt, president of McMurray College at Abilene, Sunday called on them to return to preaching "the fundamental and basic tenets that make for the foundation of our religion." He spoke at Oak Cliff Methodist Church, where a revival meeting will continue through the week.

Dr. Hunt recalled the picture of Paul, who vowed to give up all for Jesus. Rather than the declaration of a fanatic, Dr. Hunt said it was the statement of a scholar, one of the greatest of his day, and one who would be among the greatest today. Paul, he said, gave up everything—social prestige, wealth, leadership, "and subjected himself to the ridicule and persecution of that branch of society in which he had been the supreme champion."

Dr. Hunt pointed out the need for "personal fellowship" with Jesus, such as Paul had. He recalled Paul's accusations to the Pharisees.

"A man may believe in the Trinity. He may believe in the miraculous conception and the virgin birth of Christ. He may believe that His cross is the symbol of His vicarious sufferings and the emblem of redemption and everlasting life, and yet not know Christ. It is personal fellowship that counts."

The personal knowledge of Jesus was spoken of by Dr. Hunt as the foundation for the revival meeting. He repeated what Paul had uttered when giving up his life for the belief of his principles. "I have fought a good fight. I have finished my course. I have kept the faith."

"And for him," said Dr. Hunt, "was laid up a crown of righteousness forever."

WHICH FIRST?

"Above all," said the mistress to the new maid, "I want obedience and truthfulness."

"Yes, madam," replied the girl, "and if anybody calls when you are in, and you say you are out, which shall come first—obedience or truthfulness?"—The Churchman.

"I gave my wife a $500 fur coat for Christmas."

"To keep her warm?"
"Hell, no. To keep her quiet."

Women Always Pioneers
Last Man but One
48 Years' Work. Thanks
A New Planet

Oklahoma unveils a fine statue to the pioneer woman. Women have always been earth's real pioneers, in ideas and in action.

Far back in the Stone age they had produced all the grains we know by developing the seeds of wild plants.

They tamed female buffaloes to provide milk for their children, planted gardens, changed human beings from a nomadic to a settled life.

They are the pioneers of the frontiers and pioneers in ideas and in religion.

The influence of mothers on their sons in the last million years has changed men from prehistoric cannibals to semi-civilized money-grubbers. It is a great improvement.

The "Last Man's Club" of Stillwater, Minn., has buried its last but one member. Eighty-seven years old, Charles Lockwood accompanied to the grave the body of his friend, Peter Hall, who died at ninety-one.

Now Lockwood is the last. When he goes the club will end.

Some day the last member of the human race club will die with no one left to bury him. Or perhaps some friendly cataclysm will wipe out the earth and the last few thousands left on it.

That is a long way off, millions of millions of years away, according to scientists.

What will men achieve meanwhile?

William Manck, forty-eight years a letter carrier, absent only one week in forty-eight years, retires. His superiors shake hands with him and are photographed doing it. That's kind, but Uncle Sam might do more.

He might give William Manck and other faithful servants of the post office a generous pension on which they could live comfortably when their hard work is done.

And without waiting for them to be worn out, he might give them generous pay, which he does not do.

The richest employer in the world should be at least just.

Professor Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, hears from Canada that another planet, sailing around our sun, hitherto unknown to us, has been discovered.

How many are there in our celestial family? How far out to space does the family reach?

Our ignorance proves the extreme youth of our "thinking race." Only a very young and ignorant baby is unable to tell how many brothers and sisters it has.

Our newly discovered planet neighbor, circling around the sun, far out beyond Neptune, is the most interesting thing in the news.

We are only a little more than 90,000,000 miles from the sun. This new planet, about the size of our earth, is 1,335,000,000 miles from the sun. Multiply that by six and you will know approximately the length of the far-off planet's journey round the sun.

On that planet you must live 3,200 earth years in order to be one year old.

To see the new neighbor, look now. It will be visible with earth's telescopes only about a hundred years longer, and then be hidden for 3,000 years, while it finishes one of its own years.

Japanese customs compels each person to speak with great humbleness of his own achievements.

The clever Japanese statesman, Wakatsuki, who got everything for Japan that he wanted, gave nothing that he didn't want to give, writes his government lamenting his "inadequate ability," calling his work "regrettably insufficient," and winding up, "I am ashamed."

Interesting news from Russia. Stalin, boss of Bolshevism, celebrates the new commercial treaty with Britain by ordering nine British automobiles, costing from thirteen to fifteen thousand dollars each.

When Stalin and other Russians feel that a $15,000 car is necessary that's a sign bigger than a man's hand. It means that somebody is beginning to enjoy wealth, and means nothing good for Communism.

Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, dead at the age of eighty-five, wrote:

"I live on hope, and that, I think, do all

Who come into this world."
Hope is to the mind what bread is to the body. All that come into this world, work their way wearily through the years and go out when the work is done, "live on hope," and die in hope, however faint.

All the powers, you are told, agree that it is desirable "to humanize submarines."

Very desirable, but how?
The young lady in the comic opera sang: "Shoot Him Gently, Oh, So Gently," but you can't do that in warfare.

Submarine commanders send torpedoes to blow up ships, or don't. If they do, it can't be "humane."

HOCKLEY COUNTY BELIEVES IN LAW ENFORCEMENT

It would go a long way toward law enforcement in Texas if other counties could draw their trial juries from Hockley county.

That county recently closed a term of district court with quite some record. There were on the docket 13 felony cases. Out of these, seven defendants were given penitentiary sentences, two drew hung juries, and four were continued to another term.

Evidently, respect for law is a lively sentiment in Hockley, and her people are to be congratulated.—Sudan News.

GOVERNMENT NOT GREED, ROADS NOT RASKOB, TAXES NOT TAMMANY

By Leroy Davidson

Houston, April 28.—Texas Democratic candidates were urged in a statement issued here today by Leroy Davidson, former lieutenant governor and chairman of the party's harmony organization in 1928, to "throw no bombs which might wreck party solidarity and make way for Republican victories in the state."

"We are accustomed to laugh at Republican talk of capturing state offices and we do not intend to laugh so long as we do not become divided in our state campaign as we did in the last national campaign," said Mr. Davidson.

"But we must remember that the Texas Republican patronage ring, fattened by its six machine distribution of state offices, is keeping greedy eyes afix to a rift in our party ranks. They have openly exhibited at the chance to bring forth some disgruntled democratic candidate under the robe of 'independent' or 'fusionist' but wearing the solid banner of the G. O. P. beneath. The chance is real, unless our leading candidates leave mud slinging and rock throwing to the petty political tacticians."

"Happily, ninety per cent of Texas Democrats can now agree upon one thing that caused strife in the national election—the chairmanship of John J. Raskob. His removal, as I recently suggested, should be urged by the party convention, after the democratic nominees have been selected."

"But this is a matter for the party, in its family gathering, to attend to. Let no candidate, before the nominations, try to steal the privilege for self-serving political purposes."

"When the time does come, the party as a whole should make its demand as a plank in the state platform. There will be little division. The wets can come into the camp of the drys on this. It will not be difficult to unhorse Raskob. He is so extreme, so politically clumsy, so vulnerable. And, he is very dangerous to the Democratic Party. For he has kindled and rekindled fires that should have smoldered out."

"Mr. Raskob, in fact, is just about the ablest Democratic Chairman the Republicans could have."

"Our high party councils should have no place for fanaticism, wet or dry. We should keep out the Bellins as leaders as well as throw out the Raskobs. They harm no one except the Party they profess to serve."

"But let the candidates leave these fall cleaning matters to the Party as a whole. GOVERNMENT NOT GREED, ROADS NOT RASKOB, and TAXES NOT TAMMANY, should be their campaign texts. Let them throw no bombs which might wreck party solidarity and make way for Republican victories in the state."

MAINTAINING HIS REP

The house of the late O'Halloran was in deep mourning. O'H. having passed to his just deserts, whatever they might be.

"Well," said the caller, attempting to console the widow, "you know that your man lived to a good old age, anyway."

"Sure now, and did he that?" retorted the bereaved one with a touch of asperity. "Ye never knew him as I did. He was an ouid devil up to the very last."—The American Legion Monthly.

Tremendous Power from the Wind

THE Aermotor Co. is now making a self-oiling windmill 20 feet in diameter. If you have a well 1000 feet deep, or if you want to raise a large quantity of water from a shallower well, this is the windmill you need. This new Auto-Oiled Aermotor weighs nearly 2 1/2 tons without the tower. It is a giant for power.

Whatever your water requirements may be there is an Auto-Oiled Aermotor of the right size for the work. They are made from 6 feet to 20 feet in diameter. Use the smaller sizes for the shallow wells and the larger ones for the deep wells or large quantities of water. Our tables, sent upon request, tell you just what each size will do.

The Improved Auto-Oiled Aermotor, the genuine self-oiling windmill, is the most economical and the most reliable device for pumping water. It works every day and will last a lifetime. Every size of Auto-Oiled Aermotor has double gears running in oil. All moving parts are fully and constantly oiled. One oiling a year is all that is required.

The Auto-Oiled Aermotor is made by the company which originated the steel windmill business. For full information write AERMOTOR CO., 2000 Roosevelt Rd., CHICAGO.

METHODIST CHURCH

The pastor returned last week from Post where the Lubbock District Conference was held. The reports made there showed a healthy growth in this District. Large additions had been made to the membership of the churches. A number of new churches had been constructed and others were under construction. The Post church where we met is a beauty, erected at a cost of $32,000 all of which was paid for last year. This District in its several charges agreed to pay the expenses of two students in S. M. U. School of Theology for next year. There were five licenses to preach granted. The youngest were 16 and 17 years old respectively and the oldest was a hundred. The centurion preached to the Conference and the whole congregation moved forward at the close to express their emotion. A committee was appointed to find a man for District Missionary to work in the new fields of Lubbock District where there is little preaching at present.

Your pastor was proud of the report of the local church though chagrined at our small representation. We have made advances in every department of the church work with large growth in Sunday School, Leagues, W. M. S., and church attendance. Let us keep it up through the summer and continue to add to the church weekly those who are being saved as in the church after Pentecost.

"The Holy Spirit," will be our theme Sunday for both services. God's church advances "Not by might, nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord."

STRAW HAT DAY—SATURDAY, MAY 3

INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE OF FARM BUREAU SITUATION REPORTS TO CONVENTION

Some of the definite facts in regard to the much-discussed loan from the Federal Farm Board to the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association for the purpose of financing the 37 gins of that organization in Texas were laid before the convention by C. J. Felmet of Lubbock, chairman of the committee to investigate the Farm Bureau gin situation. The committee report follows:

The Committee Report

In making a requested report on the investigation of the Farm Bureau gin situation it is deemed best to divide same into three sections, as follows:

First, "Past operations." This is a matter of record as shown by a recent audit now on file at the attorney general's office in Austin, Texas, and may be inspected by any one interested.

Second, "The present situation." Recently a deed of trust was filed in many counties of Texas showing the Farm Bureau Gin Co. of Texas to be indebted to the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association in the sum of $947,819.31 evidenced by a ten year note bearing 4 per cent interest, with 37 cotton gins as collateral security. In other words these 37 cotton gins carry an average indebtedness of more than $25,000 each. At the same time of filing of the above described deed of trust there was also filed a declaration of trust by the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, with the Republic National Bank of Dallas, Texas, as trustee, a note payable to the Federal Farm Board for $500,000 bearing 3 1/2 per cent interest, and payable in ten years in semi-annual installments of $25,000 each. To secure this loan the above described note for $947,819.31 is given as collateral to the Federal Farm Board. In other words our government has loaned this organization which is in the cotton gin business, competing with private interests, over $13,000 per cotton gin at 3 1/2 per cent interest, and upon which there must be paid back approximately $1,350 per annum on each cotton gin. How many of you gin owners and government tax payers would like to finance your cotton gin accordingly?

And this thought should be placed with you at this time. If the Texas cotton ginners had supported the efforts and aims of our organization as they should the co-operative movement could and would have been handled by the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association. The local gin community is the starting point for a successful co-operative cotton marketing association. It therefore appears to this committee that our Federal Government in place of giving relief to the producer, as intended by law, has become our competitor in the cotton ginning industry.

May we call your especial attention to a telegram dated February 17, and sent by William Harper, Dean of the agricultural service of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington:

"I have today received from Carl Williams, a member of the Federal Farm Board, the following statement: 'The Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association borrowed certain sums from the Federal Farm Board on the security of its physical facilities. Money received therefrom was used to liquify reserves which had been frozen in physical facilities.'

You may draw your own conclusions from the above guarded statement of Mr. Williams. Is he proud of the transaction?

We are favorable to "farm relief," our organization stands ready to cooperate and assist our government in its work. But the basis of a successful co-operative movement must start where the producer lives and operates. He must be encouraged, and directed by those from whom he receives his credit. This includes all the local industries: the banker, the merchant, the cotton ginner and other concerns with whom the farmer or producer does business. Their cooperation, advice, help and moral support are necessary. The Federal Farm Board and its organizers of co-operatives will sooner or later learn this in adopting a policy of financial support to the co-operative organizations in lines of industry outside of the interests for which the law was created. When they financially support cotton gins, filling stations, insurance organizations and other lines competitive to private industry, they are bound for the rocks of failure, and our third and last conclusion is that in time the best use of the remaining governmental co-operative funds be used for the erection of a monument upon which the last words may be written: "Our efforts were in vain, for we could not overcome public opinion."

(Signed) C. J. Felmet, Chairman, Abernathy; W. M. Seelgson, San Antonio; R. D. Holmes, Lubbock; A. R. Shipp, Dallas.—The Cotton Ginners' Journal.

Boyd Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Moore broke an arm Sunday afternoon while playing with a swing at home. He is reported to be doing nicely.

We are very sorry to report that Mrs. L. A. Greenfield is very low and not expected to recover. She is in a hospital at Lubbock.

FRIGIDAIRE LAUNCHES MILLION DOLLAR ADVERTISING

DAYTON, Ohio, April 28.—Congratulatory letters and telegrams are pouring in upon E. G. Biechler, president and general manager of Frigidaire Corporation subsequent to announcement that this General Motors subsidiary is following up its record breaking first quarter with a million dollar newspaper advertising campaign, lasting ten weeks, to herald the most aggressive selling campaign in its history.

With supreme confidence in the outlook this concern, the largest in the industry, is forging ahead with plans to set new high marks for 1936. Telegrams and letters indicate that industrial leaders throughout the United States are observing its operations with great interest. On April 15 it was employing more men than ever before at that date. Twice as many people visited the organization's display rooms during March as in the same month in 1929 and a recent survey made by 100 newspapers indicated a steadily increasing public preference for its products.

Other underlying reasons for optimism which prompted the augmented advertising and sales program include strengthening of the stock market, easier money, termination of many deferred-payment contracts, spring buying, increased building, larger bank clearings and depleted inventories, it was stated.

Display windows, outdoor advertising, direct mail and sales demonstration newspaper advertising, which features advantages of the product and calls attention to the fact that there are now three times as many Frigidaires in use as any other make of electric refrigerator.

"We are of the opinion that now is the time to drive ahead," Mr. Biechler said. "We feel that general business conditions will continue to improve. We know that our products have created a tremendous demand for modern refrigeration. The need is as great today as it ever was."

MRS. MARY McCOMBS AGED 102 1-2 YEARS DEAD

Mrs. Mary Francis McCombs died at the home of her son, G. L. McCombs in the Grady community last Saturday morning, following declining health for some ten days. Services were conducted at the residence Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock by Rev. Marvin B. Norwood, pastor of the Rotan Methodist church, with interment in the Grady cemetery.

The funeral was attended by a very great number of people from this county and other places, coming to pay their last respect to a dear friend of olden days. An embroidered spread, for which Mrs. McCombs worked 91 years ago, covered the casket, and at her request was buried with her body. The date 1839 was worked in with the embroidery pattern of the spread.

Mrs. McCombs was born in Tennessee October 23, 1827, making her age at time of death 102 years, five months and 19 days. She is survived by six sons who are: W. L. Wash and G. L. McCombs of Grady, C. W. McCombs of Rotan, Sam McCombs of Luzon, and John McCombs of Las Cruces, N. M., all of whom were here for the funeral. Her husband died in 1897, and a daughter died several years ago.—Rotan Advance.

Clyde Gross returned last week from the Frigidaire convention at Chicago, and reported that Texans did not like the Windy City much, as they are a bit different from Texas people, but they like St. Louis, as the Missourians are very much like Texas folks. However, he reports enjoying the trip.

City Marshall E. Brown has been having quite a time getting the sewer disposal plant in shape as he says it is badly clogged. He has been carrying the prisoners in the jail down for some work on opening up the disposal plant, and also helping to open the drainage of the streets from the paving. Gene says the prisoners seem to rather like to get out and get a little exercise.

J. A. Tankersley and J. C. Hunter local truckmen, were the first to arrive at the wreck of the family truck near Wolfthorpe last Wednesday, and helped pull two of the victims out from under the truck. With the children crying and groaning of the seriously wounded covered with blood and dirt, these boys say they don't want to see any more wrecks. The family were traveling from New Mexico through here to Oklahoma, when one front wheel collapsed which caused the wreck. Luckily, no one was fatally injured, but three of them received medical aid at the Lubbock Sanitarium.
