

NEW SET OF COUNTY OFFICERS ALL AT WORK

All Seem to Fit Offices Snugly and Ready to Wait On All Comers. Old Ones Get No Visit. Rumor of a New Office of District Clerk to be Given H. R. Winston.

The writer went over to the Court House one day last week just to see how the new officers look at their place of duty in their offices, and they seemed to be just as natural as they were at their former employment. Indeed, all who were in asked us what "they could do for us" as if they had been there for years. We were invited to sit down and pass the time of day with them when they found there was nothing in particular we wanted except to just get an angle at them in their new places.

Of course we did not go in to see Mon Telford in the Sheriff and Collectors office, as he has been there two years already, and we already have a tolerably clear conception of how business is transacted in there. This also applies to Rex Headstream and his force in the clerk's office, and Judge W. W. Price, who holds down the office of County Attorney. Our visit was intended for the new ones.

By the way, we have never found Judge Jay Barret in the County Judge's office since he has been installed, therefore the place looks as usual as Mrs. Jim Moore, assistant to Judge Winston has been retained in the same capacity by Mr. Barret, as there is no one more familiar with the school part of that office than she. We know that Jay stays around most of the time but it just so happens that we have never caught that individual at his post of duty—yet—but we will, some of these days. Former Judge H. R. Winston is now putting gas in cars, giving free air and water, advise etc., at the Texas Service Station on the corner of Main and Seventh. What we mean by advice is not the legal kind, but how to get some place, intended for the traveler—tourists—now we believe. We also found him last Monday patching tires. He sure looks chunky doing that.

We found T. C. Hogue in the Assessor's office, and one of the busiest men you ever saw. He was typing on a typewriter with a wing spread of some three feet, and Cleve would look up every now and then to see if the carriage had moved any since he hit three more letters in the last five minutes. We tried to be funny and advised him to get some water cooled bearings, or else put an electric fan handy to the machine. Just wait and come back over here in a few weeks—maybe months—says Cleve, as he intimated that it would at that time be entirely possible for him to take dictation from two or three at the same time, and that it would take two white men and a negro to watch that carriage move. He sure has got a broad gauged typewriter. Sam Pyatt whom he succeeds, we understand will try farming on his place just northeast of the city. Good luck Sam.

The biggest surprise of all was received in the Treasurer's office, where we now have another lady, Mrs. J. L. Randal. Instead of finding two or three men, there were two lady callers in that office chatting with Mrs. Randal. Mrs. Randal informed us that she fitted the office pretty well; could get out of all the doors without turning edgeways, but that the foot rest under the desk was some six inches below where her feet came to, and was quite worthless to her. She will ask the commissioners to move up the foot rest as long as she is in office, and if the next Treasurer is a long person, they may have it moved back to the old place. She reports that she is having no trouble with the books so far. Her predecessor, Mr. Pippin talks as if he may return to his fine farm near Tokio.

We have one new commissioner, Mr. W. A. Hinson, but as that court was not in session, we did not see how he is going to look with his chair pulled up to the big table. Neither did we go down to see Ed Shelton in his capacity as combination J. P. and Chamber of Commerce Secretary, as we have seen him down in the basement many times.

We note in the Wednesday dailies that the office of County and District Clerk had been separated here. The District Judge holding that because Terry had 8,000 or more people, the office had to be separated. An inquiry at the court house yesterday morning, however, revealed the fact that no such order had been entered on the minutes, of the Commissioners Court. Former County Judge H. R. Winston is the name of the new clerk given in the dispatches in the dailies.

The Commissioners Court did approve Mr. Winston's bond, figuring that Judge McGuire had the authority to create the office and appoint the clerk.

Rotarian Club Agrees To Carry On in 1931

According to the by-laws, it takes 12 regular members to hold a Rotarian Lodge together. This of course does not mean that all must be there every time, but it is better that they should. It was found right after the first of the year that with resignations and others who quit, the Rotarians had just a mere twelve left, which looked very blue to the members left to hold the fort, as many as there were who quit all at once, and the meeting last Friday was in a way to be a test to see whether we should carry on or surrender the charter.

Each member that responded to the quiz of Pres. Dick McDuffie were agreed that the lodge must not die. For to express the sentiment of the many, if there ever was a time in the history of the city when the club was really needed it is now—right now, and before the meeting had adjourned these twelve, or all who were there had pledged each other to make a supreme effort to try to put the club back on a sound footing. Those who have quit lately for various reasons, were asked to reconsider their resignation. Also, new material will be asked to come into the club, and there is plenty of it here.

In order to make the club more attractive to those who gave financial causes as the reason for not staying, the dues were lowered to $15 per annum. And to appeal to those who might consider a membership in the club, the initiation fee was cut to $10 instead of $20.

It is said by those who have had experience that all clubs and lodges have to go through a period of this sort, especially in small towns, about the third year of their existence, and we are also informed that all clubs in all small towns are right now experiencing a hard time keeping their membership above the quota.

A. J. Garner was a visitor in the city Friday.

Blanton Says Stop All Farm Foreclosures

Washington, Jan.—Declaring that foreclosures on farms in drought areas must stop, Representative Thomas L. Blanton of the Abilene district announced Sunday he would introduce a bill to suspend all Federal land bank foreclosures until Jan. 1, 1932, and vacate all foreclosures, sales and dispositions of farms made in drought areas during 1930. Similar bills were offered in the Senate and House before the holiday recess.

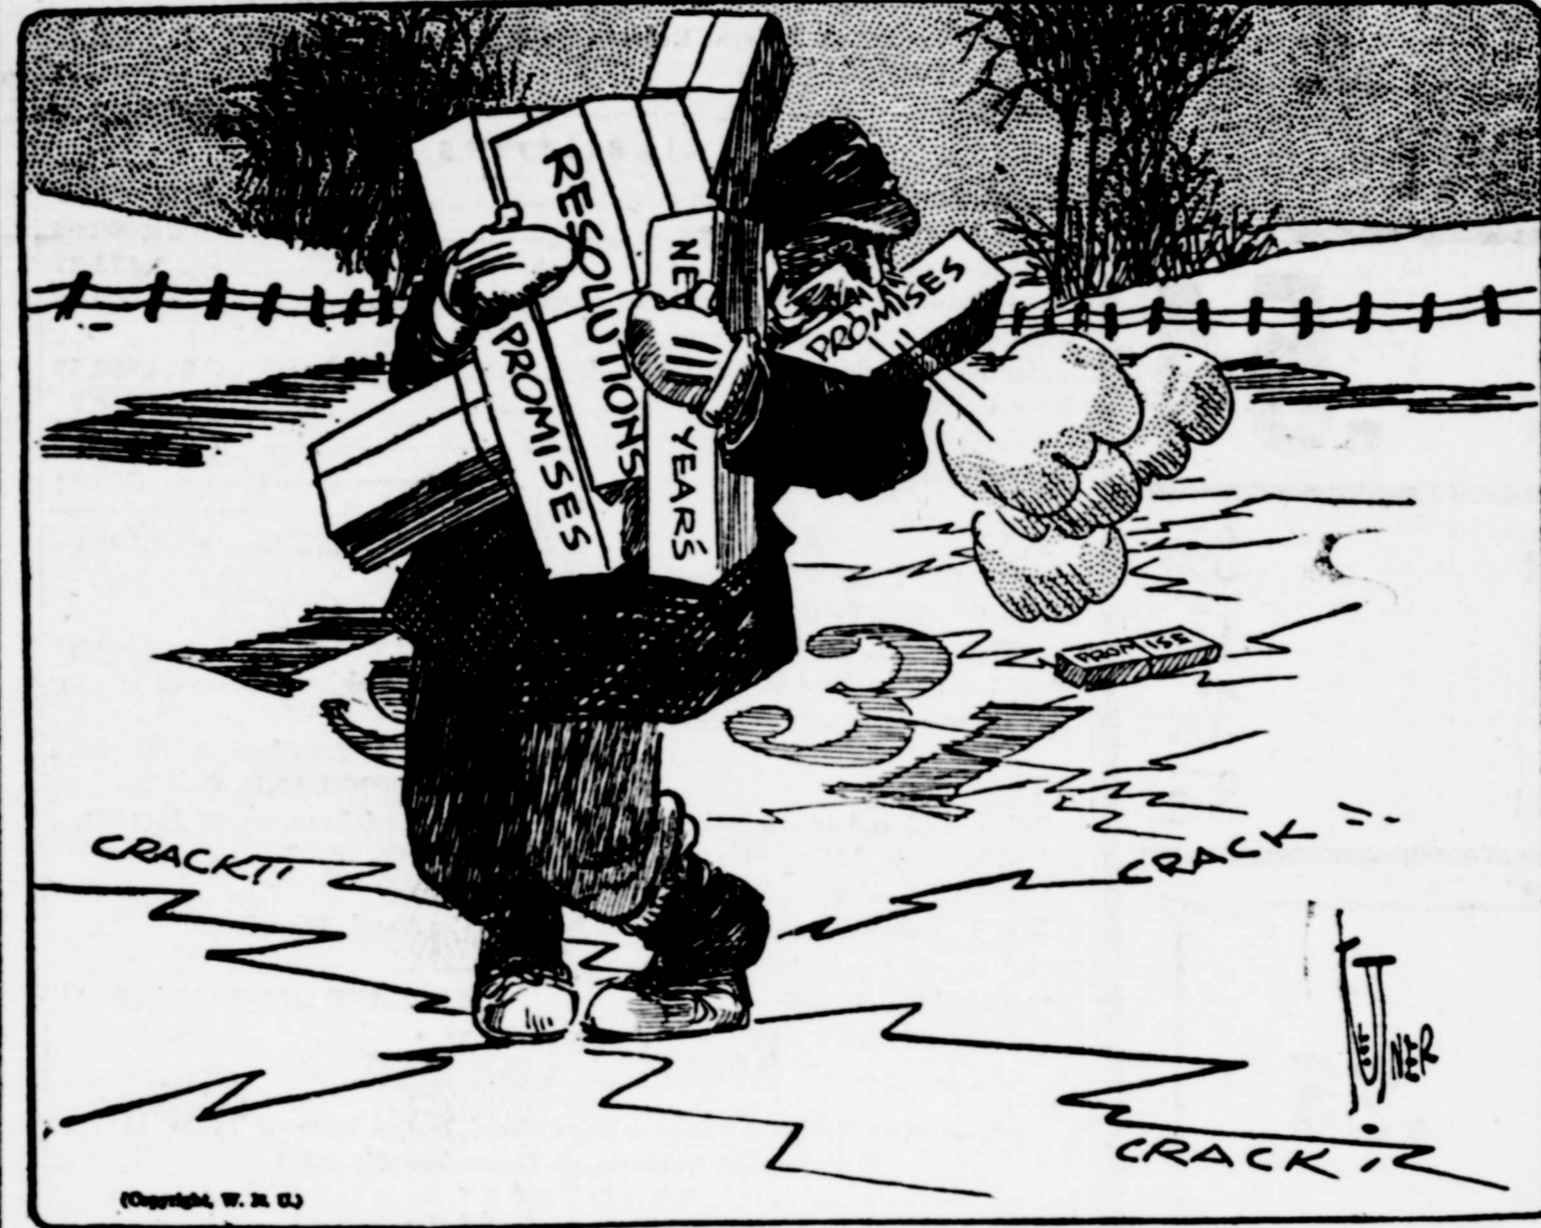

The Texas Representatives quoted Mr. Gossett, president of the Houston Federal Land Bank, as stating his intention to foreclose against 11,666 farms in the drought area of Texas if payment is not made. Mr. Blanton quoted a booklet of the Houston bank in which it was stated it has already foreclosed 124 farms, and that its association have already foreclosed 320 farms in Texas.

"Suspension of foreclosures on farms is just as important as granting $45,000,000 loans for making a crop," declared Mr. Blanton. "A farmer can't farm if his farm is taken away from him. While with one hand granting $45,000,000 loans to farmers for planting 1931 crops, it would be foolishly futile for the Government with its other hand to take away the farm itself.

In its booklet distributed to its 56,767 farmers who have borrowed $151,600,000, entitled "Why the Federal Land Bank Can Grant No Extensions," President Gossett and his executive committee of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, announced: "All borrowers should understand that it is a waste of time to ask for extensions. If one can not pay, then he should sell his farm to one who can and will."

Mr. Blanton cited the demand for bread by farmers in England, Ark., as an example in miniature compared to what may happen when Federal land banks, through harsh foreclosures attempt to confiscate valuable farms worth double their mortgage value.

Several Mistakes Appear in Sub. List

On account of the fact that some three hundred readers of the Herald renewed just before the first of this month, together with several dozen new readers added to the list, several unavoidable mistakes have crept in despite all the precautions that could be taken, and we are eliminating these as fast as we can, and hope in a few weeks to be back to normal. Then, too, on top of that, we are breaking in a new mailing machine and had to revise the list from start to finish.

We have sent some papers out on the wrong routes, and a few have been sent to postoffice when they should have gone on some of the routes. But the readers who have missed their papers in this way have been unusually patient with us, and we hope that any inconvenience we have occasioned them is at an end. Happily, we have always had extra copies when they called to see what was the matter. In one or two instances, we have also failed to order a paper for some one who ordered another paper through us, as the slips got misplaced, but we have tried to get them off as soon as notified of our mistake.

There never was a paper that had a better or more accommodating set of readers than the Herald. One fellow had to call twice to see about his, as misfortune willed that the first effort to correct was no better than the other. But he kindly explained that he did not want us to think he was hard boiled about the matter, but just wanted his paper. Sure he did, and it just so happened that we had to pull two boneheads in getting his paper to him correctly.

Feeding Beef Cattle Increasing

Alice—Jim Wells county farmers are turning more and more to livestock as a market for surplus home-grown feed, according to L. A. Pierce, farm demonstration agent, who recently led a tour of beef cattle feeding demonstrations in his county. Five demonstrators had 631 head of cows, calves and steers on rations consisting for the most part of various forms of legumi and corn balanced with cottonseed meal.

Seagraves Editor a Visitor Here Saturday

Editor W. D. Rhea, of Seagraves was a visitor in our city last Saturday afternoon, and while here dropped in for a chat at the Herald office. Mr. Rhea reports that business is holding up very well in his city, and that most of the leading business will gradually get better as the year lengthens out. Mr. Rhea himself is very optimistic of the future.

Asked concerning the suit filed by his city against the West Texas Gas Co., for breach of contract, he informed us that at a meeting Friday of representatives of the gas company and the city council, all differences were ironed out, and that the company promised to be in their city as soon as possible, very likely this coming week, ready to turn on gas. This is much better for both, rather than go into an expensive suit, and then be at loggerheads after they do get in.

A PLEDGE

The Herald has printed a nice card board sign which is for FREE distribution to all who will call for them, who runs any kind of mercantile business in Brownfield. It is a pledge that neither the firm nor employees will talk hard times at least during business hours.

In the first place, "hard times" talk gets you nor no one else anywhere. In fact it actually hurts your own business. Also such idle talk has been known to start a run on a perfectly sound bank. Quit it. Terry is all right.

PLANT GOOD SEEDS— WILL PAY DIVIDENDS

Farmers Have Suddenly Awoken to the Fact that the World Does Not Want Short Staple Cotton. Our Flocks and Herds Have Been Improved by Better Blood.

The Herald hates to be forever advising farmers, many of whom are old enough to be our father, and some of which were raising, clothing, feeding and educating a family while we were working on a farm as a hired hand. But we have talked with some of the most successful farmers in Terry county, lately, as well as some of our best cotton classifiers and buyers, and all are agreed that the redemption of the cotton farmer lies in less cotton, and a better grade. If we were giving out our own information, it would not be worth the paper it is printed on. In fact it could be classed as nothing better than theory. But when we give out information that is backed up by men who have made a success as dirt farmers as well as buyers and classifiers, then the information becomes news and is worth dispensing.

These men readily agree that in the future nothing less than a 7-8 staple is going to be marketable, because the world is not now going on looks so much as on staple. It is rather hard for two farmers to walk up to a buyer, one with a rather dirty sample but a good staple, while the other has a snow white bale but a staple like bulfuzz, and a good demand is offered for the dirty, rather than the long staple, and the man with the pure white cotton finds no market for his. Therefore, it will pay the farmer dividends to spend more money for his planting seed and obtain them from certified seed men who has a reputation for long staple varieties. It will pay even if you have to cut your proposed acreage to 75 whereas you aimed to use 100 for this years crop, for you want to produce something that the world really wants. Every bale of unmarketable cotton is counted just the same, and makes even the better grades a drug on the market. Whether we have an overproduction of cotton, or underconsumption, it means the same thing so far as the producer is concerned, and we as well face the facts.

It is not very clear to the Herald just why the cotton world is demanding a better staple, or whether it really is doing so. We have read up on the matter quite a bit, and asked advise, and find a wide divergence of opinion. Some maintain that in the manufacture of tires and makers found that they could get better results with the long staple varieties, and this in turn lead other manufacturers, including those who manufacture cloth and clothing to demand longer staple cotton for their products, so that finally, with the exception of Japan and China, there was no demand for short staple. Others say farmers themselves have shortened the staple in order to get more cotton and less seed in a given amount of seed cotton. Both theories may be correct in a way.

Just the same, the day has come when only long staple seed are to be planted if the planter wishes to find a ready market for his cotton, and the longer the staple, the more salable it becomes. Not only is it better to plant better cotton, but the seed for other crops should be selected with the best of care to get best results. We have all long since learned that he who would succeed with animals or flocks must build them up, and the same thing seems to apply with equal force to the vegetable kingdom.

The Herald has nothing but the best interests of our farmers at heart. It wants to see them succeed. It wants to see them feed, cloth and educate their families as well as least as the town and city children. But the way it looks to us, they must cut the acreage; plant better seed, and farm their land better.

Co. Singing Convention To Convene the 18th

C. Sears dropped in this week to inform us that it was time again for the County Singing Convention to meet, and that they had decided to make it Brownfield as it is more centrally located, and the big school auditorium is calculated to hold the visitors better, and is well lighted and heated. Perhaps in the spring, summer and fall when the weather is better it will be better to meet some other places. But all that remains to be decided for the convenience of the people.

Mr. Sears says they will have some good singers present from all over this county and adjoining counties, and perhaps from New Mexico, at least, and that it will likely be one of the best conventions on record. As on the last occasion, the convention people of the county will endeavor to feed all visitors from other counties, but will not try to feed people who drift in from this county just to get their dinner. Therefore, it will be best for you to either bring your own lunch or be prepared to dine at a cafe.

Remember the date, Sunday, Jan. 18th at the high school auditorium.

Must Have New License Plate Midnight Jan. 31

According to information received here by county authorities, those owning automobiles, trucks, etc., that use the county and state highways, they must have a new 1931 license plate on them by midnight of Jan. 31st. If you are caught on the road after that date you will be subject to arrest and your vehicle tied up anywhere on the road until you can secure the new plate.

Therefore it will be better for you to get yours before the time arrives, and be ready for any emergency. Suppose for instance, you neglect to get the new plate until the last minute, and you have a call that relatives are sick and you must make a trip to their bedside on the morning of Feb. 1st. No matter how urgent the call, you cannot not safely travel without your new license plate.

Perhaps nothing like this will happen, we hope not, but it could. So the best thing you can do is apply to Sheriff Telford's office at once for the new privilege to run your car over public highways.

Terry County Banks in Healthy Condition

While the assets, cash and deposits in the three Terry county banks, the Brownfield State, the First National, of this city, and the First National at Meadow, do not show up equal to last year, at this time, when one takes into consideration the much lower price of cotton and feed stuff, the statement shows up unusually well. You will also find on examination of their statements in this issue that their loans are unusually low. Their cash and exchange is nearly twice the amount of their loans: Following is their combined statements:

Assets	$901,172.91
Cash and Ex.	527,040.87
Deposits	755,199.18
Loans	293,425.08

Lions Stage Annual Banquet, Ladies Night

Last Thursday night, the Lions club met in their annual Banquet, at which were their ladies and a few invited guests. The writer was invited to attend by our fine friend, W. E. Henson, but on account of being physically indisposed, had to remain at home. However, we wish to state right here that we certainly hated to miss the good program and feed much more perhaps than our willing host missed us.

The Herald failed to get a real good report from the meeting, but we understand that they had a real repast at the Hancock Cafe, and that there were some fine talks made, songs and recitations galore. May the Lion continue in their way of doing good for themselves and the city, and once again we repeat that the columns of the Herald is always open to them any time they may choose to use them. In fact, we wish they would appoint a reporter, and when anything of interest comes up, it could be produced in the Herald.

Good humor is good sense.

BIG REVOLT EVIDENT IN G. O. P. RANKS

"Over in the House the Democrats, heartened by election results, have suddenly come to life with an apparent determination to assume the functions of an authentic and active opposition—so cravenly abdicating by their conservative party colleagues in the Senate. On the drought-relief bill the Longworth-Til-on-Snell dictatorship was outmaneuvered for the first time in its tyrannical career, and its high-handed attempt to jam through the $30,000,000 House authorization without giving members an opportunity to vote on the $60,000,000 Senate fund ended in an ignominious licking for Mr. Hoover's henchmen. Only by putting lame ducks to the torture and assuring Western members that the figures would be substantially increased in conference were the two-penny czars of the lowest House able to avert a stampede. Garner of Texas, McDuffie of Alabama, and Jones of Texas have demonstrated that they can match wits and fighting tactics with Longworth, Tilson and Snell any time. But one marvels why they do not become more active in the matter of Muscle Shoals. Meantime, Republican ranks in the House are seething with mutiny. More than fifty lost their seats in the last election, and another fifty scraped through with majorities of less than a thousand. They are testing the fruits of having blindly supported policies that were unpopular, and they are bursting with resentment against the leaders who dragged them into that suicidal course. The right leader could rally them. Ramseyer of Iowa is the man, if he would overcome his natural caution sufficiently to act. Revolt they will; if not at this session, then at the next."

Literally thousands of friends and acquaintances throughout West Texas were shocked and grieved to learn last week of the self-inflicted death of Rev. C. E. Ball, formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church at Brownfield for a number of years. It was a terrible tragedy that so good a man should come to such an end—but who can chide him? For many weeks his good wife had been confined to a hospital. Operations failed to restore her health. On the other hand, long-continued disease finally wrecked her mind. Specialists were unable to successfully combat the malady and to restore her mental faculties. Laboring week after week and month after month under the terrible strain, hearing no answer to his prayer to a merciful God for relief, "broken financially, physically, and mentally," facing black despair and seeing no ray of hope, the good man himself lost his mental balance presumably and decided to end it all. It was a terrible deed, but thousands of friends throughout this section will bear witness that he was one of the best and truest men that God ever made. We knew him well—in his happiest days and in his sore affliction—and we drop a tear to his memory.—Tahoka News.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lasiter returned Thursday from an extended visit in Wichita Falls, Texas, where they attended the bedside of their daughter, Mrs. G. A. Snow, who underwent an operation at the Wichita Clinic Hospital. They report Mrs. Snow slowly improving.

Why Winter Cooking Requires More Gas . . .

Consumers who use gas for both cooking and heating realize why their bills are higher in winter than summer. They know that it takes much more gas to keep them warm during severe months than in periods of mild weather.

In cases, however, where gas is used only for cooking, consumers sometime wonder why their bills are higher than in summer.

There are several reasons, one of which is that more hot food is eaten in winter than in summer.

Water coming from the faucet in summer frequently averages around 70 degrees in temperature, while in winter it may average as low as 45 degrees, or a temperature lower than that of the ice water you drink in summer.

Thus, in winter, the temperature of the water may have to be raised 167 degrees to reach the boiling point, while in summer it may be necessary to raise it only 142 degrees—or even less.

This same situation applies in more or less degree to all branches of cookery. The articles of food go into the oven or on the stove at a lower temperature than in summer, the utensils are colder and the air in and around the stove is colder—so more gas is required for cooking in winter than in summer even if the same menus are used.

The West Texas Gas Company organization works diligently throughout the year to the end that you may enjoy A REALLY GOOD GAS SERVICE, whether it be on the Fourth of July or during the bitterest wave of winter cold.

EDUCATION BOARD ATTACKS ATHLETICS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Austin, Texas, Jan.—Report of a special committee which found "the public schools of Texas in some instances are over-emphasizing the importance of special forms of athletics to the neglect of proper physical training for all the children" was adopted Monday by the State Board of Education.

The committee based its report on a question to all schools.

"With many high schools" the report said, "entirely too many inter-school contests are indulged in, and these contests cover too large a scope of territory and entail too great a loss of time from school and money of the participating towns."

The committee termed it "unjust" to appropriate the taxpayers money in order to benefit a few students and to disturb the program of a large majority of students. Such action, it said, is not in keeping with the general welfare of the community or the state, which foots much of the bill.

The committee urged that the legislature be asked to define public school holidays and outline the scope of activity of all specialized forms of inter-school activities "with the thought of making the subjects taught in the schools of primary importance."

The questionnaire was answered by 321 schools, showing 4,648 games of basketball and 2,821 games of football had been played. One school had played 60 games of basketball during a season. Three-fourths of the schools said games were played on regular school days and the time lost ranged from a fourth of a day to five days. The football team of one school had played in 35 counties. Thirty-five schools said practice was held during regular school time, with the time lost from a half-hour to three hours a day. "Many schools," the committee said, "evaded the question concerning the time lost."

At most schools, athletics were financed by school funds. Some, however, drew upon school plays, carnivals, etc., for support and eight received donations from parent-teacher groups, while others reported funds were received from local school boards, private subscription and civic clubs.

Coaches' salaries were from $1,800 to $3,600 with those paid the larger salaries teaching part time. The highest paid teacher was $3,800.

Only 31 schools reported that games were restricted to Saturdays, 12 failing to answer the question and 288 saying games were not restricted to that day. Failure of the fans to turn out on Saturday, inconvenience of arranging schedules and the fact that the "best players" worked on Saturday were given by the 288 as the reason for playing on school days.

The report covered the 1929-30 school year. Members of the committee were J. W. O'Banion, B. F. Tinsinger Jr., and Mrs. M. D. Smith. —Weatherford Herald.

SOUTH OF COURT HOUSE BROWNFIELD, TEXAS

J. L. Williams of the south part of the county was in last Friday and became a regular reader of the Herald. He is a new comer to Terry, but has purchased a place. He informed us that he had rented out his place in the Post section as he could not successfully work both.

Don't forget to watch for your name in the Clyde Lewis Dry Goods ad, you might be the lucky one.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

We were greatly encouraged at all our services last Sunday. We had 163 in Sunday school, and 122 in the B. Y. P. U., and a splendid attendance at both the morning and evening preaching service.

We have set as a goal for the present quarter, an A1 Sunday school. In order for us to reach this worthy goal, it will be necessary for us to have the active co-operation of all Baptist people, and those who should be in Sunday School. Please don't fail us, but help us reach our goal. I am sure that our dear Lord is entitled to more faithful service than some of you have been giving Him. Want you for His sake begin now to give Him that service that is so justly due?

Remember, S. S. at 9:45. E. H. Awbrey, Supt. At 10:45, song service, Judge W. W. Price, leader. 11:20, preaching by the pastor, subject: "Cashing the Promises of God". At 6:30, B. Y. P. U. meet. Let's have 150 young people present. What do you say? At 7:30 P. M., the old songs of the church will be the chief feature. At 8:00, preaching by th pastor, subject: "Bargain Counter Religion."

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Three steps to Heaven—out of self into Christ, into Glory.

Too many people think of Christianity hereby as a last resort.

Those who stay away from church services, because the weather is bad, soon learn to stay away when the weather is fair.

To stay away from church is a vote to make the church fail.

Religion is intended to be an armour, not a cloak.

Our New Years work starts off with fine interest, especially the mid-week and Young Peoples services.

Subjects for next Lord's day, "God's Yard Stick" A. M. "How the Spirit Saves" P. M.

Come to a friendly church.

R. P. Drennon.

Prof. Alvin Mitchell dropped in Saturday to get the Herald headed his way. He is superintendent of the Harmony school.

TRIVOLI EXPECTED TO RE-OPEN SOON AT JUAREZ

El Paso, Jan.—Reports have been received here that Trivoli across the International boundary from El Paso and to the southwest what Monte Carlo is to Europe, soon will re-open.

The mammoth gambling hall where at one time huge sums were won and lost on the spin of a wheel, the flip of a card or the roll of a pair of dice, was closed in 1929, when the revolutionary soldiers of General Jose G. Escobar took possession of Juarez. Whether the rebel leaders feared for the morale of their troops, or the concessionaire for the safety of his bank, the Trivoli management folded up its tables and the glittering palace of chance shut its doors.

The report from Chihuahua City, capital of the state of Chihuahua, in which Juarez is situated, said that a concession had been granted to Manuel Lantada, reputedly a wealthy Sonora cattleman, to re-open the hall and that he would arrive momentarily from the west coast of the United States.

R. C. Forrester and family were here from Wilson, Saturday to visit little Homer Knoll Hughes, who is very ill.

Mrs. C. H. Hester and son, Claud, have returned home after visiting two of her sons, H. B. and J. L. Hester and families of Corsicana, for two weeks. They were glad to get back to good old Terry.

THE CHALLIS P. T. A.

The Challis P. T. A. met Thursday evening at 7:00, January 8th, at the school house. Two inspiring talks made by Miss Fay Brown and Mrs. W. G. Hardin were the root of the study at this time.

A very interesting study is being carried out this year on "Child Welfare," in which every parent and every teacher should be intensely interested and should feel it his duty, to the student child, to attend.

WELLMAN P. T. A.

The Wellman P. T. A. met Friday afternoon, January 9, 1931 in a business meeting. Now that the harvesting season and the holidays are over, we hope to do some real P. T. A. work. We hope to become a standard P. T. A. this year as we only lacked a few points last year. However, to do this it will require the cooperation and support of the parents and others interested in child welfare.

Among other matters of interest discussed Friday afternoon was the observation of Thrift for the month of Jan. This will be observed Friday night, Jan. 23rd by a program given at the school auditorium. Interesting numbers on the program will be as follows:

Thrift Pageant—by eight children. Children's Allowances, a talk. Ten Points Financial Creed, a talk; Three Great Lessons a Child Gains from Freely using a fixed amount of money—Mrs. A. H. Swearingen. Everyone is invited to attend. Don't forget the date, Jan. 23, 1931.

DEATH OF GRANDMA HIGHT

Mrs. H. H. Hight, better known as Grandma Hight, passed away last Saturday afternoon, at the home of her son, Otis, in north Brownfield, at the age of 68 years. Her husband preceded her in death about two years. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30, by the pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Turrentine. Burial in the Brownfield cemetery followed immediately.

She leaves six children, all of whom attended the funeral. We failed to learn any of their names or where they reside, except Otis of this city and W. H. of Wellman.

Allan White and family of Lubbock and Sam Perkins and family of Hall county, were visitors at the Eli Perkins home over the week end. Mr. White is a brother-in-law, and Mr. Perkins a brother of Eli.

Three crop failures and frozen assets caused the closing of the First National Bank of Ralls, Jan. 2. The other bank at Ralls is in fine shape, and arrangements are already under way to reopen the closed bank.

The Gomez school will present their play in the Brownfield High school auditorium, Wednesday evening, Jan. 21. This play, the "Arizona Cowboys" has been successfully put on at both Gomez and Tokio. Proceeds to purchase playground equipment.

Joseph George Washington, Jr., two months old of Washington, D. C. has six great-grandparents and four grandparents.

A newspaper article says that the human head contains 121,630 hairs. They have not counted them on our dome lately.

The Lubbock Independent Advertiser has been changed to the Independent News, and a copy placed on our desk. Seems to be an anti-chain store paper.

An east Texas man says the merchant he owed got the three bales of cotton he raised, the bank got his cow and two horses, and the loan company his land. But he does not complain, as he says he voted for Hoover and deserves the punishment.

They have an octogenarian down in Dawson which they claim is quite a marvel. He neither drinks, chews, smokes, swears, nor has he ever had any trouble of any nature with anyone. Well, what pleasure has he ever got out of life?

We'll have to remind Al Hill of the Lubbock Progress that this T. P. Northern railroad building all came up after the summer political campaign was over and forgotten. Al talks as if Alfred was elected and his opponent defeated over that issue. Al is still mad at the T. P. Northern.

The Ropes Hustler has been reduced to a four column paper. We hope to see it grow back to its old size when its ship comes in. Many of our erstwhile 8 and 10 page exchanges are coming to us as four pagers now. The newspaper along with the ministers generally get the ax first.

We have before us this week a copy of the census of Texas fresh from Washington, which gives Brownfield eleven more people than the preliminary report which was 1896. The new and final report shows 1907 people resided in the incorporate limits of this city on April 1, 1930.

A solicitor for the Herald started out this week and returned shortly and stated that in every place he went almost, the burden of conversation was "Hard Times." Business men make times harder by talking hard times, and the sooner they learn this the better it will be for all concerned. We have much to be thankful for here, and people from the dry belt say we are darn sillies to even open our mouths about hard times.

Scientists say that we poor and plodding newspaper men need have no immediate fear of a paper shortage or unusually high prices. They have learned that what is known as the old field or slash pine makes a good grade of sulphate news print, as it contains no resin when young. There are thousands of acres in the south that is fit for nothing else, and it is said that this land will grow sizable slash pines in just a few years.

The editor and lady acknowledges receipt of one of the nicely engraved invitations to attend the inauguration of Gov. Sterling and Lieu. Gov. Witt. The invitation came through the courtesy of the later, who, the Herald hopes, some day, to see elevated to the governorship of this state. There is no better or more conscientious man in the state than Edgar Witt, and we'll bet he presides over the state senate with credit to himself and to the people of Texas.

Two bank robbery suspects who robbed the Canyon bank last Friday morning were held at Amarillo that night, having been found in Berger that day. This is another class of criminals that the Herald has little respect for, and if a few more of them were sent to that juicy little chair down at Huntsville, it would stop some of it. Texas juries will have to steel their hearts against most eyed criminal lawyers and do their duty. That is the reason crime is kept down over in old England.

The mayor of San Angelo jumped from a tall building in that city one day last week in order to end it all, as he was heavily involved, according to a note he left. Well, the fact that he took his own life will not lift a mortgage, nor pay a sou of debts. It leaves the family still in debt and possibly some grief if the old man is much respected in the family circle. A man in his right mind will not act the baby and leave a bunch of debts for the family to clear up, or for the creditors to lose, but will stay in and pitch. The world is looking for stayers.

According to radio announcers and newspapers, old Mannassa Mauler Jack Dempsey has not lost the use of his famous right. Friday night at Dallas he referred to wrestling match, one of which wrestlers had the rep of making life miserable for referees. He forthwith began making it bad on Jack by tearing off his shirt, and finally when Jack patted him on the arm to get him off his antagonist, he arose and let Jack have a glancing swat to the cheek. Jack sidestepped just in time; led with a left, and fetched his famous short right hook to that baby's chin, whose heels went into the air and his head bounced on the mat, and the crowd howled its approval. Probably Wrestler Edwards will want another referee next time he tries the mat.

The usually peaceful and refined Lubbock seemed to have been instantly transferred to Marion in bloody Williamson county, Illinois, and when the smoke of battle cleared fine people were wounded, one of which has since died and no hopes held out for another. One of the wounded was a mere child and another a lady and a mother of the child, we understand. It all came up over who danced with whom, so far as the officers have been able to fathom. Anyway, it must have been a very wild party. Some petit jury with a stiff backbone and few tears should get this case, and show those who are always ready to get handy with a gun where he belongs. But in lots of such cases, it is much easier to railroad them to the pen for selling a pint of booze. Life is cheap in Texas.

Well, the big state bond issue men are getting things in shape at Austin to start the ball to rolling the first thing when the new legislature meets this month. And watch for the fireworks. Just what will happen is a mooted question, but it only lacked a bare majority of getting the OK of both houses last time, and it is a foregone conclusion that Sterling will sign the bill if it gets to him. And then the battle before the people, and whether you are for or against it, you will have to admit that the chances of it getting a majority of the voters is good—very good. We know all about several candidates for governor who ran on an anti-bond ticket last July getting some 85 percent of all votes cast. We also remember to be elected, it seemed to be feasible for Mr. Sterling to pignohole that issue at least temporarily. That is not ancient history. Neither does the Herald forget the apathy of Texas people when it comes to voting in special or general elections. Note what a light vote was cast last fall on the amendments, all of which carried. Let a few populous counties like Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant and other that are heavily bonded carry on a big vote getting campaign for the issue, and let the people of the small counties like Terry which have no road bonds hanging over them, stay at home like they usually do, and the issue will be carried with a majority that will make one dizzy to contemplate. The only way to keep a state road bond issue from carrying is to head it in the legislature. Therefore if you are opposed to it better get busy now.

"We can no longer gloss over the unpleasant reality which should be made vital in the consciousness of every citizen, that he who condones or traffics with crime, who is indifferent to it and the punishment of the criminal, or to the lax performance of official duty, is himself the most effective agency for the breakdown of society."—President Hoover.

The Teapot Dome Republicans who led so many southern Democrats into the Republican camp under the delightful name of "Hoover-crut" should be charitable toward occasional honest men like Sen. Norris, of Nebraska, who opposed the Teapot Dome doings to vote just once for a Democrat, hoping to aid agriculture. If they can produce no such charity the country should continue to honor such men as Norris anyhow. —Greenville Messenger.

A white man and a negro had a collision near Meadow, Tuesday afternoon. Officers from here in company with highway patrolmen went up to investigate. No one was hurt, but the negro car and white man's truck were somewhat damaged.

The Cobb Dept. Store is putting on a big sale this week.

THIS DEED
mentioned 2 sisters
— not 3 brothers

A Mr. J. purchased a lot. The deed stated the grantor was the sole heir at law of two decedents, his sisters. Later a Bank's attorney discovered the grantor had three brothers: one missing, one incompetent, one deceased but with heirs. A partition action, costing hundreds of dollars, had to be borne by the grantee. Title Insurance would have saved all expense.

Be Well Prepared For Baby Chicks

Now is the time to prepare for the 1931 crop of baby chicks, poultry specialists are advising the American farmer who raises them. The starting and raising of chicks is simple if a few fundamental rules are followed, they point out.

The farmer who has placed his order with the hatchery should be prepared in advance to receive his chicks so that when they come, there will be no delay in putting them in their quarters. Comfort is one thing chicks should have, if they are to grow and thrive.

First, a house should be made ready for them. The good brooder house has a dry floor, plenty of fresh air and provision for the letting in of an abundance of sunlight. Direct sunlight can be admitted through one of the modern substitutes for glass or through an open window, provided the weather is not too cold. In very few localities is it safe to risk chicks without windows of some kind.

Cleanliness in the brooder house is a prime requisite. The interior should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before the new tenants take possession.

Warmth also is necessary. It is supplied by the brooder or the brooder stove. However, neither suffices if the house is full of cracks and draughts and the floor is damp. Dampness is more fatal to baby chicks than cool air, although they must be kept moderately warm.

It is well to put the brooder stove slightly to one side of the house so the chicks will have a chance to get away from the extreme heat when they eat and exercise. Crowding of chicks in the house or under the brooder is one certain way of cutting down profits.

The floor should be covered with a litter that is free from dust and will not harm the chicks if they eat it. Fine cut alfalfa or clover or even clean straw and wood shavings are suitable. Peat-moss in widely used for this purpose.

Leading hatcheries of the country, operating together under the slogan "Hatchery Chicks for Greater Profits," are advising that these preparations be carried out immediately, as advance orders indicate that large sale deliveries of baby chicks will be begun next month. The farmer who has placed his order for baby chicks should not be caught napping, they warn.

Murphy Brothers Buy Partner's Interest

One deal that has taken place since the first was closed last week when Sam and Dewey Murphy purchased the interest of Jay White in the White & Murphy grocery. These boys are both well known here and will conduct the store on the same high plane as heretofore.

We understand that Mr. White contemplates a move, possibly to Hale county, where he will establish a business. Mr. White came here several years ago, and has established himself well with the people of this section, who will regret to see he and his excellent family leave. We hope he may reconsider and remain in this city.

WILL ROGERS TO AID DROUTH STRICKEN SOUTHWEST

Big Spring, Jan.—Will Rogers, the humorist, announced here today he would make a series of addresses to benefit families in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas stricken financially by the drouth and low markets. The first to be in San Angelo, Jan. 27.

Rogers, a native of Oklahoma, was enroute from Hollywood, Cal., to Fort Worth by plane.

Dismissing further discussion of the tour with the statement that everything was being handled by a committee, which would include Jesse Jones of Houston, capitalist, and Houston Harte of San Angelo and Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth, newspaper publishers, Rogers said plans would be completed at a conference in Fort Worth tomorrow.

He will go directly to New York and Washington from Fort Worth, he said, stopping only to tell Hoover how to run the country."

Will Move To Brownfield

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Sullivan are leaving today for Brownfield where they will make their future home. Mr. Sullivan will engage in the business of buying, feeding and selling hogs and other livestock, so we understand. It is with regret that we see Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan leave our city, but wish them well in their new location. Dewey has been manager of the Dean Dry Goods in Lorenzo for the past three years.—Lorenzo Enterprise.

ALLRED IS ALREADY

Jimmie Allred, second only in age to Dan Moody, became Texas' Attorney General the past week. He is Hon. James V. Allred to the boys down at the Capitol, but to the thousands of friends of this aspiring young man, he is and always will be just plain Jimmie Allred.

Jimmie has a lot of work ahead. Perplexing problems shifted from the preceding administration. Being a sensible fellow, he will be slow to move until he has his bearings. Texas has every reason to expect much of him. Texas will not be disappointed.

From newbaby at Bowie to Attorney General of the greatest state in the Union is a long step. Jimmie could not make the grade by himself, but his training and personality acted as a magnet in attracting hundreds of thousands who were glad to see him have the chance to step up higher.—Clarendon Leader.

FAMILY ROW ENDS AS MAN IS JAILED

A family row in which a few shots are said to have been fired and some violently abusive language was staged on a farm out eight or ten miles southeast of town Tuesday.

The trouble arose when a man whose wife had secured a divorce went to the residence of his former father-in-law to induce or compel his erstwhile spouse to resume her conjugal relations with him. The fellow is alleged to have emitted some rather lurid expletives when his intentions were foiled and the father-in-law is said to have brought the artillery into use.

The younger man was lodged in jail with an abusive language charge filed against him in the justice court.—Tahoka News.

IDEAL CLUB ENTERTAINED

The Ideal Club had their first meeting of the New Year, Wednesday, Jan. 7th, in the home of Mrs. E. D. DuBois. After four games of contract bridge were played, the guests were served with salad, cheese crackers, boiled custard, cocoanut macaroons and tea. Attractive aprons were awarded Mrs. I. M. Bailey, Mrs. Michie and Mrs. A. A. Sawyers as table cuts and Mrs. Andersen received a set of Madeira napkins for high score. Others present were Mesdames McGowan, McDuffie, Jacobson, Flem McSpadden, Carter, Allen and Collins.

Friends of Miss Annie Bell Scudday are missing her from the First National Bank. She has gone to stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Scudday Jr., at Foresam.

A. D. Brownfield of El Paso, Texas, stopped over to visit relatives here Wednesday and Thursday of last week. He was on his way home after returning his two younger children to school in Lubbock.

FRIDAY FORTY-TWO CLUB

Mrs. Ellington was hostess to the Friday Forty-Two Club on the 9th. Before the play started table cuts were given to Mesdames Gracy, Holgate and Baldwin for high and Mesdames Webber, Gore and H. W. McSpadden for low. The later prizes for high cut and low cut went to Mrs. Brothers and Mrs. Holgate. All prizes were useful and ornamental articles of china. Refreshments consisted of coffee, sandwiches, pickles and caramel pie. Besides those mentioned Mesdames Harry Longbrake, C. F. Hamilton, Kendrick and Downing enjoyed this delightful party.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wingerd left Thursday for Sterling City, where they will visit her aunts and then go on to Nolan to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Quiett formerly Miss Emily Miller.

Dr. Graves and family have returned from Oklahoma where they spent the holiday season visiting kindred and friends.

Joe Shelton left Wednesday for Yuma, Arizona. He will play in an orchestra there.

O. E. S.

The order of the Eastern Star met in regular session on the first Monday night of the month. After due order of business the members present were treated to chocolate and cake by Mrs. L. B. Schroeder and Mrs. H. W. McSpadden.

Mrs. Orb Stice has returned to her home in Lovington, N. M., after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick.

Mrs. Pete Tiernan, accompanied by Miss Lou Ellen Brown, went to Midland Friday to get her sister, Mrs. J. A. King Jr. Miss Annie Belle Scudday met them in Big Spring and returned with them. Miss Scudday and Mrs. King will visit here a while.

MAIDS AND MATRONS

Mrs. Toone and Mrs. Telford entertained the Maids and Matrons club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Toone. The program led by Mrs. Holgate was on some phase of child welfare and psychology. Hot tea, sandwiches and olives were served to Mesdames Bell, Holgate, Gracy, Rentfro, Ellington, Weir and Sawyer.

1930 BRIDGE CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hudgens were hosts to the 1930 Bridge club Tuesday evening at 8:00.

Creamed chicken, salad, parfalt, coffee and hot rolls were served to the guests. And then in the games, Mrs. Bailey scored high for the ladies and Dr. Jacobson high for the men. The prizes were red and white carnations and a pocket knife. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. Jacobson, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawlis, Mr. and Mrs. Pyeatt, Mrs. Colline, Mrs. Telford and Misses Patterson, Martin, and Webb.

MRS TIERNAN HONORED

Misses Brown, Bailey, Webb, Graves, Lindley together with Mrs. Bailey, Randal and Stricklin entertained with a shower for Mrs. Pete Tiernan at the home of Mrs. Stricklin. On arrival the guests were registered and then escorted to the punch bowl and back into the living room where a cook book was passed around for all to write their favorite recipes. Miss Kathleen Alexander, accompanied by Miss Lois Adams, sang "Yours and Mine" and Mrs. Boone Hunter gave a humorous reading. A basket loaded with present was then carried in and presented to Madeline by Christine McDuffie and Patsy Ruth Carter. There were so many present and good wishes for Madeline and Pete, that lack of space prohibits naming them or the ones who extended them.

MISS NORMA HULME HOSTESS

The Thea Beta Club met Thursday evening with Miss Norma Hulme. Miss Polly Taylor received a pretty vase as high prize and Miss Velma O'Brien received a door stop for second. Refreshments of meat sandwiches, olives, puffles, cake and hot punch were served to the following members and guests: Misses Patterson, Taylor, O'Brien, Martin and Mesdames Hill, Jacobson and Pyeatt.

Brownfield was well represented at the Associational Workers Council at Wilson, Tuesday 6th. Mrs. I. M. Bailey, Mrs. Frank Ballard, Mrs. C. L. Green, Rev. and Mrs. May, Rev. and Mrs. Hale, Mrs. W. W. Price, Mrs. L. R. Pounds, Mrs. J. T. Auburg, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Bandy, Mrs. Geo. Neill, Mrs. A. Flache and Mr. Hugh Hulme were noticed among the crowd who were privileged to hear Rev. Scarborough, of the South Western Seminary at Fort Worth, in two sermons. Also, addresses by president and Mrs. McDonald of Wayland College and a quartet from that school. The Wilson W. M. S. had prepared a bounteous dinner for all the visitors.

REPORT OF S. S. CLASS

The Young Married People's Class of the Church of Christ meets each Lord's day to study the Bible and from time to time they have derived inspiration for their daily living. They are endeavoring to find the way the Lord wants them to bring their children up in the nurture and admonition. Mr. Jack Stricklin is our teacher at this time and he has served in this place for quite a time and the class appreciates the interest and loyalty that he has manifested from time to time. For he will be classed as a charter member of the Church of Christ.

The Class would be delighted to have any person to come and be with us, so that we might be a help to one another by having a clear understanding of God's Word. We have derived so much pleasure in helping to cheer the sick.

Flowers sent to sick people during the year 1930 numbered 26, not all of which were members of this class or even members of the Church of Christ.

SOME DELICIOUS RECIPES FOR PORK

Pork is always popular and especially so when the weather is crisp and cold. The department of home economics, National Live Stock and Meat Board, suggests the following unusual pork recipes.

Pork Tenderloin, Mushroom Stuffing

Have two large tenderloins of pork split lengthwise so that they may be flattened out. Dredge in flour which has been mixed with salt and pepper. Cut fresh mushrooms in rather thin slices. Fry for a few minutes in butter, then spread over one tenderloin, lay the other one on top and sew all around the edges. Brown well, then cook slowly for at least one hour. Serve with a thin cream gravy.

Pork Chops with Grated Cheese

Prepare as many chops as there are persons to serve. Salt the chops and squeeze a little lemon juice over each one. Sprinkle grated cheese evenly over each chop. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange in a baking dish and bake in a hot oven (480 degree F.) until nicely browned then reduce the heat, cover, and cook slowly until tender.

Fresh Ham, Stuffed and Roasted

Parboil and chop three large onions. Add one-half an apple, chopped, and enough dry bread crumbs to make the required amount of stuffing. Season with salt, pepper, and powdered sage. Add the yolk of an egg. Have the bone removed from a fresh ham. Fill with the dressing. Sew in place and bake until brown in a 480 degree F. oven, then reduce the heat to 350 degree F., and cook, allowing thirty minutes to the pound.

LEARN TO JUDGE QUALITY IN MEATS

With a little practice the housewife soon can become able to judge the quality of meat to a helpful extent. Meat animals vary as to breed, age, sex, size and condition. This naturally results in different grades of meat. The feed on which the animal has been raised also has a strong bearing on the quality of the meat which it yields. For example, meat from a steer which has been fed practically nothing but grass and forage will not be so choice as that from a corn and silage fed steer.

Beef

The thickness of the lean meat and the depth of the fat are general indications of quality in all kinds of meat. Choice beef has a smooth, uniform outside covering of clear white fat. The lean should be firm with a fine texture of a light red color. It is finely marbled; that is, there is a mixture of fat through the lean flesh. The medium grades are slightly darker in color and the marbling in the lean flesh is not quite so pronounced. The percentage of bone to meat is higher in the plain grades than in the better ones.

Veal

Veal should be less firm than good beef, and pink in color, rather than red. The fat should be almost clear white and the lean less marbled than that of choice beef.

Pork

Pork should be a dark pink and the fat less firm than that of either beef or lamb. It should cut easily and the fat should be smooth and pure white, and not so hard as beef.

Lamb

The lean part of lamb should be a pale or light dull red and quite firm. The fat should be creamy white and firm.

All meats should be firm to the touch and elastic.

W. H. Black, farmer of the Gomez community, was in Monday afternoon, and paid the Herald a short call. Mr. Black says he likes the Herald as well as any county paper he ever read, and better than most of them for the reason that the Herald never overdoes anything or any statement about the county. He can see no reason for overstating anything concerning Terry county. That is the reason that for years the Herald has run the motto on the front page; "The Truth about Terry is good enough."

Registration in Texas Technological College for the 1930-31 session totaled 2,211 last yesterday, it was announced by Dr. Paul W. Horn, college president. The present enrollment breaks all records for the college for this time of the year, the president announced. New students totaled 223 and a few more are expected to enroll this week.

At the same time it was announced that the enrollment for the Tech agricultural school was the largest in the history of the college, 198 being enrolled in that school. During the first year of the college only a very few were enrolled in the agricultural school, but since then the school has enjoyed a consistent growth, gaining more in percentage than any other school in Texas.

He is farming just south of the city, and is not only a relative of the old Yates families of the west side and Yoakum county, but a nephew of the late Uncle Billie Howard. So Mr. Yates already has a good standing with the people here on the reputation on his kindred. Welcome to Terry.

Hunter News

This community was saddened Sunday evening to hear of Grandpa Swensens death. He was born July 4, 1852 died Jan. 11th at 4:10 o'clock at an age of 78 years, 6 months and 7 days.

Those who survive him are his widow, Mrs. S. G. Swensen, five sons and three daughters. Mr. A. J. Swensen, Austin, Texas; G. W. Swensen, Fort Benning, Georgia; Pete Swensen, San Francisco, Calif.; Frank Swensen, Brownfield, Texas; Edward Swensen, El Paso, Texas; Mrs. Sophie Hansen, Brownfield, Texas; Mrs. John Bock, Avoca, Texas; Mrs. Polly Peterson, Louise, Texas.

He came to Texas from Denmark, in 1892, and has lived the past five years in this community, during which time he has made many friends who joins the bereaved in their hour of sorrow. All the children were present, except Pete, G. W. and Mrs. Peterson. The remains were laid to rest in the Forrester cemetery, Tuesday at 2:00 o'clock P. M.

There was a large crowd present at B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. We were glad to have Bro. Little and wife of Wellman with us. Bro. Little preached an interesting sermon.

Bro. Allen will hold his regular appointment here Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. E. J. Goza and daughters of Brownfield, spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lyon.

Mr. Deward Williams and G. W. Snow were visitors in the A. H. Herring home at Scudday, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Machen of Lahey spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oris Breeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith visited Mr. and Mrs. John Williams Sunday.

Mr. Orvis Bockmon and R. L. Jenkins visited Clyde Owens Sunday evening.

Mrs. E. L. Williams and little son, Edmond, visited Mrs. Williams cousin, Mrs. J. M. Hollmon of Brownfield, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lyon left Monday for Durant, Okla., to carry Mrs. Edd Goza, whose mother is ill and not expected to live.

There are some real good milk cows and other high grade stock in this community. Among which is a cow named Spot, belonging to Mr. John Jenkins. Here is her record: She is 8 years old and has had eleven calves, had her second calf at 28 months of age. She has brought 3 sets of twins of these eleven calves, 6 of them were heifers. She has raised the entire 11 calves and her daily average is 4 gallons of milk per day. This is a good record and will not be easily beaten.

Hugh Hansen is on the sick list this week.

Mr. H. H. Eutler was a business visitor in Odessa Saturday.

Tremendous Power from the Wind

THE Aermotor Co. is now making a self-oiling windmill 20 feet in diameter. If you have a well 1000 feet deep, or if you want to raise a large quantity of water from a shallower well, this is the windmill you need. This new Auto-Oiled Aermotor weighs nearly 2 1/2 tons without the tower. It is a giant for power.

Whatever your water requirements may be there is an Auto-Oiled Aermotor of the right size for the work. They are made from 6 feet to 20 feet in diameter. Use the smaller sizes for the shallow wells and the larger ones for the deep wells or large quantities of water. Our tables, sent upon request, tell you just what each size will do.

The Improved Auto-Oiled Aermotor, the genuine self-oiling windmill, is the most economical and the most reliable device for pumping water. It works every day and will last a lifetime.

Every size of Auto-Oiled Aermotor has double gears running in oil. All moving parts are fully and constantly oiled. One oiling a year is all that is required.

The Auto-Oiled Aermotor is made by the company which originated the steel windmill business. For full information write

THE TEXAS AND PACIFIC N.

The New Year will probably see an early authorization by the Interstate Commerce commission for the construction of the Texas and Pacific Northern railroad, proposed to run from Big Spring to Vega, Lubbock and Amarillo. James V. Allred, Texas' new attorney general, Tuesday gave his endorsement to the project and just a short while before, R. L. Bobbitt, his predecessor, made a similar endorsement.

"The line, to cost $13,000,000, unquestionably will fill a need, provide work and help out in the development of Texas," Allred said, "and I wish we could have more such projects. I have not gone over the official records of the case, but I have read a considerable portion of the published accounts, and besides I know West Texas."

Of particular interest to Merkelites in reading of the activity of the attorney general's department in behalf of the T. & P. extension is the fact that one of his aids, T. S. Christopher, is a Merkel man, whose home is now in Lamesa. The citizens of the latter town are especially active in cooperating to obtain the rail extension, Lamesa being one of the towns on the route.

The permission for the Texas and Pacific Northern to construct this extension will mean one of the greatest forward steps West Texas can ever hope to experience, not only, as Attorney General Allred suggests, in providing work by the expenditures of millions of dollars but in furthering the general development of Texas.

TALK OF DENVER BUILDING THROUGH BAILEY COUNTY

Muleshoe—Reports of testimony at the recent I. C. C. hearing in Lubbock by T. W. Williamson, president of the Fort Worth and Denver, that his road contemplated extension southwest from Dimmitt, present end of its branch from Plainview, has brought the matter before the residents of Bailey county.

It is generally believed here that Muleshoe would be on the proposed line of the Denver, as this is the only incorporated town in the county. Mr. Williamson mentioned Bailey and Cochran counties as possible routes. At the time the Denver built to Dimmitt, it was understood that within three to five years after completion, it would seek to extend its line. It is known that the Denver is seeking an outlet into Lovington, Artesia or Roswell. There are said to be three railway surveys into New Mexico, one across Bailey county.

Starting that's swift . . . starting that's safe, because this free-flowing oil never leaves working parts

Tomorrow morning, as you step hopefully on the starter, will there be a s-l-o-w disappointing groan, as it tugs at your unwilling motor? . . . Or, will there come a swift responsive roar?

If you're having trouble starting, you're probably using an old-type oil that congeals at temperatures well above freezing. You should change to Conoco Germ-Processed.

But that's not all! To ward off the wear that these prolonged starting periods bring, you want an oil which provides instant lubrication at the first reluctant revolution of a cold motor. . . . And there's just one oil which can do that! Because there is just one lubricant which penetrates metal surfaces and never drains away in idle periods.

Conoco Germ-Processed Motor Oil is that one lubricant. Change to this motor oil with twin advantages for winter use . . . 35 cents per quart for all grades at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

"I'm in Partnership with 58,000 Employees and 45,000 Shareholders"

"There are 58,000 employees receiving just wages keeping the wheels of Swift & Company going. Many of these employees are my neighbors. They live in this town, work here, build their homes. They patronize local merchants, pay taxes like you and me. Their interests are those of this community."

"I'm one of the 200,000 producers who deliver butterfat, eggs and poultry to a Swift & Company produce plant and receive cash for my products. There are more than 80 of these plants. And I'm also one of the 45,000 shareholders of this concern, who receive a return on their investment."

"It makes a big family, doesn't it? But we are all proud to belong to it and to do our part. It's a mighty fine thing to have contact with an organization which can thrive on an average margin of less than 2 cents on every dollar of its total sales, and yet—everyone receives a fair return for what he does."

"The 58,000 employees receive just wages, the 45,000 shareholders receive a return on their investments. The 200,000 producers get spot cash for their supplies and don't have to fear local glut or shortages, for Swift's nation-wide distribution, through 500 car routes and 400 branch houses, assures them of an ever ready market."

"Next time you ask for Brookfield Butter, Brookfield Eggs or Golden West Fatted Fowl, remember that many of your own home folks take part in producing and marketing the supplies under those labels."

Remember The Alamo

By Grace Gaddis in Sovereign Visitor
When Calvin Coolidge asked in San Antonio recently, "What is the Alamo?" he started as much discussion, though of a different nature, as he did in 1927 with his laconic "I do not choose to run."

"What is the Alamo, indeed!" the Texans echoed in amazed hurt. "What is Bunker Hill? What is Gettysburg?"

And it was no less surprising to the Texans when good Americans from other states began to repeat the innocent query, "Well, what IS the Alamo?"

This was too much, Pen in hand, the Texan started to tell the world. In almost no time at all the newspapers in the south and west, especially the west, were full of the disappointing fact that ex-President Coolidge did not know what the Alamo was, and columns were given up to condemning and defending his lamentable lack of information. School children, taking up the cause, discovered that many of their elders were likewise vague on the subject of America's Thermopylae.

The smaller school histories and text books describe the Alamo—in Coolidge fashion—tersely, briefly, somewhat as follows:

"The Alamo, an old Catholic mission located at San Antonio, Tex., is celebrated for the battle that occurred during Texas' war for independence in 1836. Within this mission, a stone structure with walls two and one-half feet thick and eight feet high, 180 Texans, under Colonel Travis, were besieged by the Mexicans under Gen. Santa Anna. Among the company were James Bowie, David Crockett and other prominent pioneers."

In a school text book or a general reference book, there is no room for the Alamo's vivid, breathless story. Only in the more leisurely writings of a few latter-day authors is the story complete. And even then more space is given to argument as to whether certain phases of the story are true than is given to the story itself.

We part reluctantly with the legend that Travis drew a line on the dirt floor of the mission and asked those who wished to stay with him to the finish to step across; those who wished to try the hazards of escape were to make their decisions known then and there. It may not be that this was a good military tactic, but it is intensely human and deeply interesting. We like to think that Bowie, who lay dying, asked that his cot be lifted across the line. We cherish the memory of the little band of Texans stepping, to the last man, across a line in the dirt to what they knew to be certain doom—and cheering while they did it. Nothing in all the vast stage of this theatre—the empire of Texas—was there anything more spectacular, more dramatic, than that glowing moment in the Alamo.

Many modern writers likewise question Travis' wisdom in electing to stay in the Alamo to await his doom. Men sitting in easy chairs within safe walls have found numerous ways, since then, for Travis to have cut his way out of the mission and escape.

But in the letters that Travis left, the fact was evident that he hoped, by superhuman effort, to stem the advancing tide of Mexicans until reinforcements could arrive to keep back the threatened sweeping menace from all the Texas soil. The women and children, evacuating the invaded territory, had reached safety, except the few who stayed at the Alamo. But this small band of Texans in the old mission, had they attempted escape would have had the hazards of a wilderness to brave and the near certainty of being tracked down and shot by the enemy.

The fact that Travis did stay awakened a world. Sympathy and aid were won for the Texans' cause. The fall of the Alamo was the torch that set a fire blazing across a world. It was the thing that made the grim, purposeful men at San Jacinto win the battle that was to make Texas independence an established thing—where a brave and glowing dream became a reality. Then the historic old building overlooking modern San Antonio's plaza is more than the scene of a famous battle. It is more than the shrine of Texas independence. Within its walls was written one of the most heroic documents in all the history of mankind—the letter of Colonel Travis to "The People of Texas and All Americans in the World." It was the stage for one of the most stirring dramas of all time, a drama that ended only when Death had rung the curtain down and doused the camps with blood.

Men died in the Alamo who had changed the face of history in their eventful lifetimes.

There was David Crockett, who had come up from the south to establish a new home for his family on the frontier of this western empire, and stayed to take up the torch of the Texans' fight for liberty. Old Davy Crockett, whose hand has left its imprint on so many pages of America's pioneer history, fought the last of the many desperate fights of his life inside the walls of the Alamo. Old David Crockett selling his life for a score of Mexican lives, and falling at last with one of their bayonets through his middle! And far away in Tennessee the woman who loved him was to stand long, long hours, hand shading her eyes, looking ever to the west, watching for his return down the trail, which he was never to walk again.

They built a monument for Davy Crockett's wife down in Hood county, Texas, and the monument is the carved figure of a pioneer woman standing looking to the westward, hand shading eyes, forever watching, forever waiting.

They built a monument at Austin—the Texans did—to the defenders of the Alamo, which bears this inscription:

"Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none."

Leonidas and his 300 Spartans at the Pass of Thermopylae! Travis and 180 Texans at the Alamo!

There were the brand of men who died at the Alamo: Bowie, Travis, Bonham—soldiers, empire builders, gentlemen of indomitable spirit and unflinching courage, willing to buy with their blood what they believed to be just and right, proving that the flower of knighthood still flourished upon the earth.

Travis' famous letter is the best explanation of all of what the Alamo means to Texas:

"To the People of Texas and all Americans in the World:

"I am besieged by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna. I have sustained a continual bombardment for 24 hours and have not lost a man. The enemy have demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise the garrison is to be put to the sword if the place is taken. I have answered the summons with a cannon shot—I shall never surrender or retreat.

"Then I call upon you in the name of liberty, of patriotism and of everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid with all despatch. The enemy are receiving reinforcements daily, and will, no doubt, increase to three or four thousand within four or five days. Through this call may be neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible and die like a soldier who never forgets what is due his own honor and that of his country.

"Victory or death!
