

GOOD RAINS IN MOST OF TRADE TERRITORY--COOL NIGHTS HELP

Chamber of Commerce By the Secretary

A meeting of those interested in continuing the work of the Charity Association, is requested for Monday night, August 10th, at 8:30 P. M. at the Commissioners Court room. We still have a few calls for assistance and for the last several weeks, have been going on the credit route and undertaking to collect the money when the time came to pay. This is not satisfactory for either side and if the work is to continue, some arrangement must be made for funds with which to carry on. So all persons interested are EARNESTLY requested to be on hand at the DAY and TIME mentioned above.

Sunday morning, one of the tenant farmers of our county had his house burned down and lost everything that he had. Some money has been collected for them and their immediate needs have been applied, but they are badly in need of clothing, bed sheets and covers. So we have been requested to make an appeal to the people for such stuff as they can afford to donate. The family consists of the man and his wife, one boy 16, years, one 13; one girl 13, one 8. Bring the stuff to this office and it will be delivered to the family, or to some authorized person.

Our East and West Highway, known as State 84, and which was recently federal designation, has now been officially designated as Federal 280, from Albany, Texas to Socorro, New Mexico. It hooks on to Federal 80, at Albany and to Federal 70 at Socorro, thus making a transcontinental route. Numbers for Federal 62, are already placed and numbers for 280 will come later in the year. Letters from Roswell, advise that tourist travel has already increased and that they believe that this is largely caused by the designations just received.

We have it upon reliable authority, that Yoakum county, is arranging to undertake to vote a bond issue to pave east and west, through the county. The highway department is having an estimate made and sponsors of the issue have been advised by Judge Ely, that the state will allow 2 for 1 aid, which is the same as allowed Terry county on the same highway. Not very many counties are offered 2 for 1, but it seems that the present highway department has a friendly attitude toward West Texas counties whose valuations are low and are willing to stand an extra portion of the cost.

We of Terry county, have two federal designations, which gives us a high rating in awards, but we can't hope to remain in favor unless we do something ourselves.

Due to the fact that our finances are limited and the further fact that we have been and are to be called upon to subscribe funds to be used for various development purposes, it has been decided that the monthly bulletin that has been circulated among members for the last few months, will be discontinued for the present. We will endeavor to keep interested persons informed as to activities through our weekly news articles.

The annual meeting of the Fort Worth-Roswell Air Line Highway Association, will be staged at Stamford, on August 17th, and we are expecting to have three or four delegates in attendance. W. W. Price, is President of the Association, and the writer has been Secretary for the last five years but is going to undertake to shake loose from it at the coming meeting. We have worked pretty constantly in order to achieve our present state and the big thing from this on is an advertising program that should result in greatly increased use of the route, as it is very much shorter than the Bankhead, between Texas and California. But it will take advertising to develop it, just as it takes advertising to develop any other activity or institution.

Lee Lyon was in the past week and informed us that he had visitors from Oklahoma, and was aiming to return home with them for a short visit, as he could not stand many hot nights down there at one time.

Mrs. Sam Jones is preparing to take a vacation trip to the old home country near Nashville, Ark.

SUPT. SANDERS AND FAMILY NOW LOCATED

Located Near School Building Ready to Take Charge of School Matters Here For Next Term. Sees a Great School Spirit Here. Anticipates Whole-hearted Support.

Supt. A. B. Sanders and family of Ralls, moved over last week, and are now truly and surely citizens of Brownfield, and full partakers of whatever of good or bad may come our way, for they are ready to put their shoulders to the wheel and move along with us, not only in building up the schools, but in the building of a better society and a better citizenship in general in this community.

They have moved into Clyde Bond residence on Tate street, which is very convenient to the school grounds, and Mr. Sanders is now ready to take hold and help push the schools of Brownfield on up to the top notch, and we believe he will have the whole hearted support of the citizenship in general of the community.

In fact, Mr. Sanders has already declared to us that he has found already in his short sojourn here a real school spirit, and that he can see nothing whatever in the way of a continual and continuous advance in prestige for the Brownfield public schools. We believe that if they will lend their cooperation and assistance as we have reason to believe they will, that we will get everything in a school way that is coming to us.

We find Mr. Sanders unusually easy to approach. Indeed he seems to be ready to go more than half way to make your acquaintance. There is not the semblance of the grouch about him apparently, and the second and third time you meet him your estimation of the real man in him will have mounted at each meeting.

Yes, Brownfield is in for a good school year.

The Baptist Revival Growing in Interest

The Baptist revival now going on at the City Tabernacle is growing in interest as it gets older. Good crowds especially at night are there to greet the speaker, Rev. J. M. Hale, the local pastor, who is conducting the meeting for the local church. Rev. Hale has only been here a few months and his newness has not worn off. You know that nearly all churches have a notion that local preachers cannot hold a good meeting in the town where they are located, but this has been disproven many times.

The speaker spoke to the audience on the sure punishment for sin Tuesday night, and made a very interesting talk on the subject. He made no announcements for future subjects, but it is presumed that he will have some good subjects for each service. While the night audiences have been everything to be expected and possibly better, the day audiences have not been all that might be expected, according to Rev. Hale, but he expects them to pep up during the rest of the meeting.

Mr. J. D. Riddle, of Fort Worth, is a good singer, both as a leader and a soloist. He has a bunch of perhaps 100 children or more that he has well trained. They are divided about equally between the Reds and Blues, and have singing contests each night. This is aside from the regular choir, which is a select class of singers representing all denominations of the city.

The Rotarians Enjoy Annual Outdoor Picnic

The Rotarians, the Rotary Anns and the children all met out at the sand hills last Friday evening, where an hour or two of much fun amusement, eating and drinking was enjoyed. Sandwiches had been prepared previously by the club members for the occasion so that the ladies were put to no trouble whatever preparing anything for the purpose.

There was some singing and other music prepared for the occasion, but the crowd seemed to get the greatest kick out of the plays and tricks. The children and some of the older ones are still talking about the fun they had. Such things as these outdoor get-together meetings are good for those who participate, and more of them should be had.

Another thing that interested all and especially those who are old enough to comprehend geography and history, was the short talk by Supt. A. B. Sanders of the city schools, who attended the International Rotary convention at Vienna, Austria this summer. Comparatively few people this far ever get to make such a trip, and it is always very interesting to hear one talk on foreign travels.

Grandma Bragg, of Levelland is here visiting old friends and neighbors.

The Herald is tickled to have Aesculapias back with us again after a long absence.

18 Months Old Baby Drowned Sun. P. M.

The community was shocked Sunday afternoon when it was learned that the little 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald, who reside on the old McDonald place south of town was drowned that afternoon in a surface tank. It seems that the little Melvin got off from them while they were at the barn and wandered out to the tank and seemed to have walked out on some planks which were used to get to the pipe to raise or lower in order to irrigate the garden. When the little one was found, he was floating on top of the water. They rushed to town with him, but were never able to revive him.

The little body was prepared for burial and carried to Meadow Monday afternoon, where it was laid to rest. The Methodist pastor of Meadow conducted the funeral services. A number of friends from here attended the funeral, as well as a large concourse of people from Meadow, where the parents formerly resided.

Besides the grief stricken parents and both grandparents, the deceased leaves a brother and sister older than he to mourn his passing. The sympathy of the entire community goes to these stricken hearts in their bereavement.

Hancock Cafe Moved To the North Side

For many years various people have tried to get a cafe location on the north side of the square, and it remained for Bruce Hancock to be the first to succeed. It is a block in each direction to where there is another cafe, and as the north side is always a busy section winter and summer, there is no reason why a good clean cafe will not succeed there. Mr. Hancock now has in his new cafe not only an ideal location, but the building is large and airy, giving a draft through the building that will eliminate the smell of cooking food and at the same time be more comfortable to the cooks and dish washers.

Mr. Hancock has some very nice fixtures, which will add greatly to the looks of the place, and he is regarded as one of the best cooks in this section, and will have charge of this department at all times, which will assure the public of the very best service in this line.

We understand that both the Rotary and Lions clubs will move their meeting place with him at the new location. It is rumored that one of the large chain department stores will put in new store in the vacated place in the Hotel Brownfield building, but at this time this rumor cannot be confirmed.

Perry & Son, who are running the Camp Western and filling station, say they have installed one of the new inventions that gives a customer a chance for his gas free. If a little marble runs to a red line and stops, they get a fill free. If a person don't care to bother with anything of the kind, they have another pump that does not have one.

A Sick Man's Crop is Worked by Neighbors

A bunch of farmers in the Brownfield section met at the farm of Rev. J. A. Gibson one day last week and worked out his crop. Deeds like this does not cost anyone very much, and the good they do the neighbor is lasting. It makes us still remember that we are neighbors and friends, and that we are our brother's keeper.

We understand that the grocermen of Brownfield furnished the groceries, the markets, the meats, the bakery the bread, and the local iceman the ice, and that Mrs. Welch and Mrs. Peters cooked the dinner for the hands. Besides the great feast which was spread in the truck of one of the workmen, ice tea and ice water was served as needed. Mr. Gibson has been sick for some time and was not able to be among the workmen much.

He not only wishes to thank the good neighbors and friends who came to his rescue in the time of need with plows and hoes, but also to those who furnished the means of cooking dinner for the workmen, and the good women whose hands prepared the meal for them. Rev. Gibson says it is great to live among the people of Terry county.

Local Sluggers Take Game From Wolffarth

The Brownfield baseball team took a game Tuesday afternoon from the Wolffarth aggregation. While Wolffarth is a small place, it is reported that they have a fine baseball team.

The Brownfield boys have a game scheduled Thursday with Tahoka, one of the strongest teams on the Plains, but that was too late to get the score in this paper.

Hayhurst Attending Tech Coaching School

Coach Marlin Hayhurst of the Brownfield schools, got in last week from his visit to his father in Oklahoma, where he has been since vacation started in May when school was out here. Mr. Hayhurst probably has been pitching hay on the old home place as he did last year, and is in fine trim to the beginning of the school year.

But his main object in coming back so early was that he might be able to attend the coaching school at Tech college this week, which is attracting nation wide attention. Marlin has led the Cubs for the past four seasons, getting each year a little nearer the head goal. They were the champions of this section of the district last year, but finally lost to Slaton and Slaton in turn to Spur.

Mountain Lion is Found in Dawson Co.

Lamesa.—A new duty of Sheriff Gus White of this city is to keep Dawson county free of wild beasts, according to his actions Tuesday evening. He went 12 miles southeast of Lamesa, near the Gaines county line, and brought in a 9-foot Mexican Lion, which he says was slain with one shot.

Gus has sent the skin and head of the animal to Alpine where they will be mounted and returned to Lamesa. It is a very rare occasion to find a Mexican Lion in this part of the state.

It is supposed that the big cat strayed in here from the New Mexico mountains.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL STARTS 16TH

Prominent Young Evangelist From Denison to Do the Preaching. Known From Boyhood by Some Here. Always Goes Back for From Two to Five Revivals.

The main annual summer revival of the church of Christ will begin at the city Tabernacle on the morning of the 3rd Sunday in this month, which is the 16. The Baptist meeting will close before that time, and the seating arrangement is to be turned over to the succeeding revival. These two churches have cooperatively born the expense of seating and returning the material of the seating arrangement, as well as saved up lumber for the past three years, and they find that it saves each church considerable money and time. The lumber is kept fully insured while under the Tabernacle, and until returned to the lumber company.

Evangelist Lyle Price, of Denison, Texas, will have charge of the preaching service. The singing will be under the direction of Paul Robertson, local man, and he is getting a mighty good class whipped into shape. When the revival starts Mr. Robertson says he will have some 200 song books ready, and that all who wish to sing will have a book. The new Ideal Hymn Book will be used. He also wants it strictly understood that he does not wish the singing to be confined to members of the church of Christ or even those who may prefer that church, but cordially invited to come up near the front and take a part in the singing just like they belonged there, and he wants them to feel like they are just that.

While he has held up as minister some of the best churches in the state, and is doing so now, Lyle Price is said to be at his best as a revivalist. While only 26 years of age, he has been preaching for nine years, and has held some of the best revivals of any preacher in this church, and is always called back from one to five times. While he preaches what he believes the Book teaches with all the vim and vigor at his command, he does so in a spirit of love, and has never been known to insult anyone who may disagree with him. He is now in his 4th annual revival at Hamlin, Texas, and will come directly from there to Brownfield for his first here.

THE RAINS ARE A BIT DISAPPOINTING HERE

Most of the County Got Good Rains Over the Week End, But Some Dry Streaks Remain. Fall and Winter Rains Still Effecting the Crop. Some Proofs Offered.

While there are some sections of Terry that have not had any rain to amount to anything since April, there are other sections that have recently had all the rain they need. There is still a strip between Gomez and Tokio that is still dry as they did not get enough to make the moisture meet Saturday and Sunday. There is another dry section between Wellman and Seagraves, and the Union section is still dry, we understand. But the cooler weather has had a fine effect on the crops in these dry streaks, and they are holding up remarkably well. It so happens that they are in the sandier sections of the county, and that is good for them.

On the other hand, we understand that Hockley and Lamb county north of us are receiving too much rain, and the farmers fear bugs and worms as a result. Indeed, we understand that they are nearer praying for it to quit raining than to keep on. Some sections of Terry county will not need another drop of moisture to complete the present crop, as the cool nights of August are now on us. This will apply we believe to most of the county.

But we have had some talks with farmers this week from these dry streaks, and all reports are that where the crops are clean, and most of them are clean, as they have had no rains since April to amount to anything, and there was nothing to hinder them from keeping them clean. Not only are they clean, but they are still growing some, and the crops are fruiting nicely.

Take for instance B. L. Thompson, who has some 600 acres in cotton in the Tokio section. He was out there Monday and reports that it only wet down about three inches, but that he has the prettiest, most uniform crop he has ever had, and that is saying lots. Not only has he a fine cotton crop that is full of grown bolls,

A. B. Sanders Home From Vienna Meet

A. B. Sanders returned to Ralls the latter part of last week from a trip abroad in Europe. He was a delegate to the Rotary International Convention at Vienna, Austria, representing the local club.

Mr. Sanders reports a good time, and that he learned much in respect to Rotary.

Mr. Sanders and family moved to Brownfield this week, where he will be Superintendent of schools. He has filled this place in the Ralls system for the past few years, and has become very popular with the people of this place. The Banner hates to see Mr. Sanders and family leave Ralls.

His brother and sister have been visiting him, and helped him move.—Ralls Banner.

Levelland Man Buys Gin Plant at Bledsoe

It has been announced that John T. Allen secretary of the Farmer's Co-operative Gin at this place, has purchased the King Gin at Bledsoe, forty-five miles west of this place in Cochran county near the New Mexico line.

The plant is a modern fourstand, seventy-saw, gin and the new proprietor is planning to overhaul the machinery and put it in the best possible operating shape for the coming season. The plant was formerly owned by K. M. King of that place.

It is understood that Mr. Allen will still be connected with the Co-operative Ginning Company here.—Levelland Herald.

Wheat was selling last week at Miami, Texas at 22c per bushel, the lowest price on record. It is said that some of the farmers were telling the implement men to come and get their wheat patches if they were to cut it.

blooms and squares, but he had a fine corn, maize and feterita prospects. Indeed he informed us, that he brought back some very fine roasting ears, but that most of his corn was too hard now for that purpose.

W. D. Moon, of Wellman, was up Tuesday and said they had not had any rain to amount to anything since April, but that the crops were still growing nicely, and that he had never in his life saw stuff fruiting any better. He said he had some maize that had not had even a shower since it came up that had as fine heads on it as he ever raised under any circumstances. Of course the fact that we had plenty winter rains which were stored in the old red clay down deep under the sandy loam of Old Terry, is what is now pushing crops in the dry section on to maturity. All of which goes on to prove our oft time contention "that it is a man's job to cheat old Terry out of a crop. We just don't fail, or never is."

Now for the other dry section in the Union community. You don't have to take our word or anyone's word for that. If you don't care to drive out there, go to the Hancock Cafe and Mrs. Hancock will show you some cotton stalks from their field of 90 acres that are as full as the "famous boy was of sour apples." This cotton has had little rain since it came up, but it is better than knee high now and growing, although left in the furrow like it came up as all planters do in this section.

Personally we believe that cotton is much further advanced than usual here at the time of year, and we believe that we will begin getting some cotton on the market in September. Further, we believe that although the acreage has been reduced we will get an average cotton crop and perhaps a large corn and feed crop. Come rushing on to Terry.

Yoakumite Endorses Heath Farm Article

P. G. Stanford, of Plains, for whom Stanford Valley was named, in which are situated the Heath farms spoken of in this paper last week, was a pleasant visitor here this week, and called in to say that he endorsed the article in last issue of the Herald. It was his intention, he remarked, to comment on our article a bit this week, but it slipped his mind until it was too late.

At one time he and a younger brother owned three fine sections in the valley, but his brother took a notion that he had to return east and practice law, and the lands had to be sold, together with their herd of fine bulls they were breeding. P. G. says that no doubt this is the best land in Yoakum county. He reports fine rains all over old Yoakum, and the prospects bright for a bumper crop.

Last week we neglected to tell about the schools in the Stanford valley. Well, they haven't any schools—out there—as they are consolidated now with the Plains district, and every day some 35 children from the Heath farms are picked up and transported to Plains to attend school, giving them a much better school with more teachers. The school building, however, is still there, and Sunday school and other community gatherings are enjoyed in the building which is still good.

Yoakum Co. Singing Convention at Plains

J. W. Raley, vice-chairman of the Yoakum county singing convention writes us that their convention will assemble this time, Sunday, August 23, and that they are expecting some of the best singers from both Texas and New Mexico in this section.

Yoakum county people he states are all boosters of the convention and will as heretofore do all they can to entertain the many good people who attend. Terry county singers have a cordial invitation to be on hand.

A Big Farm Display

Dallas, August.—Every foot of space available in the Agricultural Building at the State Fair of Texas will again be utilized for the 1931 State Fair of Texas, in Dallas, October 10th to 25th, it has been announced here by J. L. Lancaster and W. I. Yopp, directors in charge of this department, and J. A. Moore, superintendent of agriculture.

It is expected that 80 per cent of the 253 counties of Texas will be represented in the 1931 Agricultural Show—the largest number of counties ever exhibiting at an exposition in Texas.

Plan Roosevelt Boost

Dallas, July.—Texas Democrats assembled here today to lay the foundation for the organization of a Texas Roosevelt-for-president club.

T. Whit Davidson former lieutenant governor, was named president of the temporary organization.

One of the most pitiful stories that we have read in a long while is that given in the Dallas News Monday, regarding the imprisonment of a man who is now 84 years old. This old man served a term of sentence for the murder of a man for forty-one years, two months and twenty days. The crime was committed at Syracuse, N. Y., and circumstantial evidence convicted this man and he served in the Auburn prison a term of years as stated. Some months ago a man confessed to the murder and the old man who had been serving for his crime was released. The story says that during his prison term his wife and two children died, and he is now without a home, without relatives or friends and will have to be taken care of by some home for the aged or indigent. The only companion he has is a faithful old dog that he saved from starvation while in prison. It further proves that the court should be careful in the conviction and sending people to prison on merely circumstantial evidence.—Rochester Reporter.

Sixth Annual Ranch-man's Round-Up

On the 11th and 12th of this month, the sixth annual ranchmen's roundup will be held at the Ranchmen's State Experiment Station at Sonora, Texas, and a great crowd is expected. The Herald is of the opinion that a number of ranchmen from here will, with their families attend this year, as this roundup at their only experiment station in Texas means the same thing to the ranchman that the annual Farmers Short Course at College Station means to the farmer.

There is a fine program advertised for the two days, and is capped off each day with a free barbecue. Not only have the ranchmen a program well diversified, but the ranch ladies also will have a program of their own one afternoon.

There was a day in Texas when the interests of the cowmen and sheepmen lay in such obverse directions that a meeting of the two was always illtimed and often meant bloodshed. But with the building of wire fences this has been eliminated, and in southwest Texas, they live as neighbors and friends. At this meeting, the program is so carried that both the cowman and the sheepman will get some mighty good information and help.

RUSSIA

Soviet Russia, with its strenuous attempt to change hand-minded millions into machine-minded men under the so-called five-year plan, presents a supreme economic challenge to the rest of the world.

Such are the conclusion of Walter Locke, editor of the Dayton, Ohio, Daily News, following a tour of the Soviet Republic. Writing under the caption "An American Looks at Russia," in the current Rotarian Magazine, he notes these facts about Russia.

Its wheat or its virgin timber lands are equal in area to the entire United States.

Its products range from the cotton of Turkestan to the furs of the Arctic.

Its present population is 162,000,000—many more people as are in the whole United States and France.

At the present rate of increase, Russia will have nearly 200,000,000 people in twenty years.

"Russia," Mr. Locke concludes, "is what it is. We could not change it if we would. We can only keep cool, and calmly adjust ourselves to whatsoever we see and foresee there.

"If Russia is to flood the world with wheat, the United States along with other nations must make plans accordingly. If Russia with its tremendous resources is to flood the world with wood and minerals and industrial goods, we must be ready to adjust ourselves to this fact.

"Russia and the United States and other nations are coinheritors of the earth. No one can escape the other. This shrunken planet must house them all.

"Can powerful peoples, with their seemingly incompatible social and economic systems, find a way to share the world in peace? Surely, no other present situation has bound up in it so much of the future fate of the world, so tough a test of common-sense."

Terry County Sixth In S. P. Production

In 1930 Terry county had 4,106 milch cows. This compared with 458 in 1920, according to statistics released last week by the government census department.

This is an average of between 3 and 4 cows on every farm in the county, as the census places the number of farms in the county at 1500. Terry county ranks sixth among the counties in this section in dairy cattle.

The report of the counties of this area is as follows:

POSSIBILITY OF POTASH DEVELOPMENT IN WEST TEX.

Austin, Texas, Aug.—Development of the potash resources that are known to underlay lands owned by The University of Texas is not improbable in the near future, it is thought. Dr. Hal P. Bybee, who has charge of the geologic matters relating to these lands, is preparing to make a thorough investigation of the commercial possibilities of the potash deposits. In drilling oil wells on lands owned by the University in Ector, Upton and Crane counties and probably in other counties of West Texas, strata of potassium sulphate were encountered at what was said to be workable depths. While some analyses have been made of the cores from these wells, no authoritative information as to the commercial properties of the potash beds is said to be available. From time to time, however, during the last few years, highly favorable reports have been made of the vast potash wealth that the University possesses in this undeveloped mineral. At one time, negotiations were pending for the leasing of some of this land for development purposes to a private enterprise, but no final action was taken. In Midland county, steps toward developing a large potash deposit on privately owned lands are reported to be under way.

Interest in this undeveloped resource of West Texas has been recently stimulated by the opening of what is said to be a vast potash deposit near Loving, N. M., by the United States Potash Corporation. This company has expended up to this time nearly $1,000,000 in preparation for work. The mineral is now being mined at the rate of 200 tons a day. It is believed by persons who have a knowledge of the underlying potash wealth of West Texas that what is now being done in New Mexico in the matter of commercializing this mineral may be carried on with equal success in this State, especially in the development of the beds that exist beneath the surface of lands owned by the University.

Acreege Cut Bill Gets New Support

Austin, Texas, August.—Declaring he had been against acreage regulation by law but "the time has come for whatever is necessary to meet the situation," C. O. Moser, vice-president of the American Cotton Cooperatives Association, pledged his support to pending legislation to reduce cotton acreage.

A surplus of cotton has been accumulated and pyramided, Moser said, until it will equal an entire year's production by the end of the coming season, and at the same time, the world has the lowest buying power that any living man has ever known.

"It is not a time for normal measures," he said, "but a time for whatever it takes to meet the situation." He added that it was up to the Texas legislature, representing the greatest cotton state, to "meet the issue squarely." He pledged the cooperative would do everything to get other states to follow Texas leadership.

GRANDFATHER STUFF

Now it's "Grandpa," thank you.

Having been a humble member of the Fourth Estate for a quarter century, and not having felt age creeping along, it is now borne in on the editor of this newspaper. When Sam Harben Braswell was born on July 16th, this editor became a member of a Fifth Estate, the Ancient and Honorable Order of Grandfathers, and it seemed that age had taken one great long stride in separating him from his youth.

Being Grandfather for the first time is a real sensation. There is a drawback, however, and that is that one is supposed to have arrived at the age of discretion and sound judgment when mistakes are few and far between. This puts an added burden on the "Old Man," which is enough to make old age come on even faster.

Anyway, being Grandfather is a great privilege and this editor is pardonably proud of the new Estate. That name of the little fellow is a partnership affair between the News editor and Sam Harben, Secretary of the Texas Press Association and former partner of the youngster's grandfather. If the young man turns out extra well, Sam Harben will be claiming the honor of an undivided namesake, we suppose, but he won't be able to get away with it—as long as Grandfather can hobble around on his cane.

Grandpa is proud of Sam Jr., and Cecelia, but his is even prouder of his grandson.—Clarendon News.

A Chicagoan an a citizen of Los Angeles met.

"Do you mean to say," asked the Chicagoan incredulously, "that in California you have three hundred and sixty-five days of sunshine a year?"

"Exactly so, sir, proudly replied the man from Los Angeles, "and that's a mighty conservative estimate."

CALVIN COOLIDGE IN CHARACTER

Although Calvin Coolidge is no longer in the White House, the effort to "humanize" him continues, and the effects sometimes are almost as ludicrous as were the attempts to have Mr. Coolidge play character parts when he was on his vacation in the Black Hills in 1927, public interest in which reached its climax when he gave out the memorable "I do not choose to run in 1928." In view of what has happened since 1928, one can not but believe that he is a man endowed with extraordinary powers of foresight.

But lately the "humanizing" process has taken on new activity, a fact which leads to the suspicion that someone either with or without the former president's knowledge, is getting him prepared for the shock if the lightning should strike in his vicinity next year.

Who does not remember "Silent Cal" garbed as cowboy, and as an Indian chief out in South Dakota? But the makeup artists this year are indifferent to detail, a fact which exposes the plot. For instance; the other day the news pictures presented the former president presumably fishing for trout. But, from all one could make out from the scene pictured, he was standing in a patch of weeds holding a fishing line which had been cast into a mudhole. Clad in hip boots, white shirt and tie with a sailor hat, somehow there was a lack of harmony in the scene.

Funnier than that, however, and even less faithful to life is that latest view of Mr. Coolidge back on his farm at Plymouth, Vt., riding a hay rake. For that arduous duty he was costumed in high rubber boots, business suit, the same sailor hat, and the "white collar" get-up generally above the waist. For all the world, it looked as though Cal had just quit the fishing hole to rake the hay.

If anyone has any designs on Mr. Coolidge for 1932, they ought to send to Hollywood for some experts in harmonizing character costumes.—Houston Post-Dispatch.

GRASSHOPPERS DOING GREAT DAMAGE

Grasshoppers are sweeping many sections in Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota. Devouring everything that contained vegetable fibre as they marched the invading army laid barren many fields and pastures. Stories were told of the hoppers eating wagon tongues, fence posts and clothing.

One of the serious aspects of the situation was that livestock in many counties was being robbed of food. In South Dakota a long drought had almost ruined the crops when the grasshoppers swarmed in to complete the destruction.

Mrs. Darrell Jackson was in this week and informed us that her father now resided at Crowell, Texas. Most of the old timers will remember Ben Lee and his tuneful fiddle.

Ed Thompson brought the Herald family a fine mess of roasting ears last Saturday that made Sunday dinner a good one. He invited us out to get all the peas and roasting ears we wanted when hungry. Now if the gas men will just furnish the gas?

An old Scottish woman, who had never been known to say an ill word about anybody, was one day taken to task by her husband.

"Janet," he said impatiently, "I do believe ye'd say a guid word for the de'il himself."

"Ah, weel," was the reply, "he may no be sae guir as he might be, but he's a very indutrious body."

Another Editor Writes On Price Cutting

Following very closely our argument on price cutting war, The Plainsman of the Lubbock Journal gives his opinion in such things. It seems that Lubbock is just getting over a milk war in which milk went as low as 4c per quart. The Plainsman says:

Although they may appear to save the average citizen a few pennies here and there, price wars, if they force prices below the level of a fair margin of profit, are not good for any community.

While it is none of the business of a newspaperman, a lawyer or a bricklayer how much the grocer, milkman or the cleaner asks for his product, The Plainsman makes bold to speak as a private citizen and sound the opinion that, in the long run, nobody profits by the price war.

This column believes that every business man is entitled to a fair return upon his investment and his labor. To deny the right of a fair return is to strike a blow at the vitals of good business, and upon good business rest the fate of our schools, our churches, our public buildings and our civilization.

A price war never helped gain any man a fair return upon his investment. It is nothing more, nothing less than synthetic weapon of competition which in the end, must give way to more conservative administration. Bear in mind the difference between a price war, where discretion and figures on profit and loss are tossed to the wind and the price adjustment which is with us always.

It is quite true that retail and wholesale prices fluctuate in ratio to the supply and the demand—that is a law of economics.

But there is a difference between fluctuation and drastic price cutting without consideration to cost of investment, materials, service plus legitimate profit.

BADGES OF CITIZENSHIP ARE PRESENTED TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Claude, July.—This community is believed to have inaugurated a new custom today when it presented badges of citizenship to 17 young people who had arrived at the age of 21, recognized by the statutes as the age of citizenship.

The presentation was made at the annual old settlers reunion. Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers College, spoke on the advantages and responsibilities of citizenship.

Buffalo Hunt May Be Staged at Goodnight

Goodnight, July.—While protests are being heard from many section of Texas against the proposed slaughter of the famous herd of buffaloes which for half a century have found sanctuary on the Goodnight ranch here, operators of the ranch are going ahead with plans to advertise a three day hunt in November.

They plan to invite big-game hunters from all parts of the United States. The invitation which will be issued through the east this summer is phrased:

"Come To Texas" "Come to the prairies and canyons of Texas! Hire a cowboy guide! Track down and shoot behind the ear a rampaging buffalo bull! Take his hide home as a trophy of your prowess and a rug for the library floor!"

There are 195 grown buffaloes and the calf crop of about 59 head in the herd.

The ranch and the animals are at present owned by J. I. Staley of Wichita Falls.

"FIDDLERS' GREEN"

Of all the yarns about the sea, it has remained for Albert Richard Wetjen of Portland, Oregon, to collect the lot and weave them into an unusual story of adventures in a strange world, in a book called "Fiddlers' Green." The title, in sea lore, means sailors' heaven.

Heaven for sailors had to be a ship so large as to be immune to wind and tide, bearing on board everything a sailor could wish for—taverns and girls and music; good food, warm bunks, and old shipmates who had gone before.

In contrast with the savage inhumanity of the old sailing days, the men who follow the sea seem to remember only the good things about the watery world which they were so near. The more cruel the experiences, the greater the glamour that attached to the tales that drifted down through the centuries.

"Fiddlers' Green" is a narrative of gripping interest to young and old. The very smell and mystery of the sea to be caught in its pages.

In reading it, one becomes really acquainted for the first time with Davy Jones and his brother Casey, Lief the Lucky, Ulyses, Columbus, Drake, Hudson, the Old Man of the Sea and Mother Carey. Cool skinned maidens with sea weed in their hair become living characters.

The Man Who Flogged the Dolphin and who was "leadin' arponner fer Cap'n Jonah," invented a pump to milk a herd of fine fat whales which he caught, fenced in a little bay and trained to come to shore when he called them. He figured he could get about a ton and a half of butter and cheese from each whale each day, not to mention milk, but, as he said, "When I got aroun' to givin' the firs' milkin,' I discovered I'd got me a 'erd of bulls."

The world marveled at the exploits of Baron Munchausen but his adventures seem to be equalled in "Fiddlers' Green."

What 'Red' Lewis Saw In Glasgow, Scotland

By Wm. E. ("Jussyfoot") Johnson In American Issue

Frazer Hunt writes in April Cosmopolitan a "close up" of Sinclair Lewis, whom he affectionately calls "Red." Hunt is one of the editors of Cosmopolitan and so his version carries with it some authority.

There is a story behind this and here is the story:

Some years ago, Hunt came to me in London saying that he was commissioned to write a story on the drink in Scotland. He asked me for some suggestions as to source material.

I suggested that if he would spend an hour on any Saturday evening on Argyle street in Glasgow, he could get a whole basketful of "material." He did so. Here is what he writes about it in Cosmopolitan:

"A thousand other precious memories crowd and jostle one another in my mind, all begging to be told.

"In a study of the world temperance movement, I had to see the Glasgow slums. 'Reds' and I started north from London. I don't dare try to write what we saw, even now. There were a dozen drunken brawls between wives and husbands; drunks in the gutters; thin, undernourished, frightened children at the doors of pubs, misery, terror, poverty, hopelessness, crime, disease—all mixed up and stirred by the devil's ladle.

"Finally Lewis stopped in the middle of a street and raised his fist towards the Heavens. 'I can't stand it any more,' he sobbed. 'Poor wretches: poor souls!'"

That is the story of what Sinclair Lewis and Frazer Hunt saw in Glasgow, written by Hunt's own hand. It tells why Sinclair Lewis "raised his fist toward the heavens."

I can never forget my own first visit to Glasgow some year ago. It was near Christmas. Snow was on the ground. I landed from the State of Nebraska toward evening. I got my lodgings and supper at the Waverly hotel on Sauchiehall street and started out for an evening's walk. Just around the corner, I saw a middle aged woman with one leg, hobbling about with the aid of a crutch. She was bareheaded, her hair flying every which way. She hobbled into a regulated official drink shop. She had only the price of a half drink of gin. She got the gin and staggered away into the darkness.

A couple blocks down the street, I saw a woman, beastly drunk, sprawling about in the slop of the gutter. Two little children, apparently five or six years old, were crying and trying to get their mother onto her feet. "Oh, Mamma, please get up," the kiddies were sobbing. I helped the little ones get their mother onto her feet and started towards home or somewhere. Then I hurried back to my hotel and crawled into bed. I, too, "raised my fist toward the heavens."

In that half-hour's walk, I saw more drunken people than I have seen in ten years in America.

For centuries, Scotland has been trying to "regulate" the drink traffic; trying to get rid of the evils of the drink without getting rid of the drink itself, which causes these evils.

If some of these ladies of the Association for Prohibition Reform would visit Argyle street some Saturday night, they might see something that would lead them, also, to raise their bejeweled fists toward the heavens and "sob," as "Red" Lewis did. But more likely, they would pull their petticoats about their ankles and call another great tarra-pin rally in the mirrored halls of the Astor hotel to protest against the "ravages of the prohibition inquiry."

FORD MOTOR COMPANY IS TO SUSPEND AUGUST OPERATIONS

Detroit, July.—Officials of the Ford Motor company announced today that the company will suspend manufacturing operations August 1 and will not re-open during the month.

The announcement said that operations would be continued on the assembly line in Detroit and 11 of the 35 assembly branches through the country.

"A large bank of parts has been built up at all plants and outside parts producers have been notified not to make shipments after July 29 and during August," the announcement said.

FANS HIS TEA

"Got a sweetheart yet, Tillie?" "Yes, and he's a regular gentleman." "You don't say so!" "Yes, and he took me to a restaurant last night and poured tea into a saucer to cool it, but he didn't blow it like common people do—he fanned it with his hat."

"Give me a sentence containing words 'detail, defeat, deduct and defense.'" "Defeat of deduct went over defense ahead of detail."

Falshoods are sometimes fleet, but never sure-footed.

FREE ADVERTISING

Again we are compelled to state our side of a question. The question is brought up at least once each week by some advertiser, regular or otherwise, all pepped up by a national company and out for our scalp. And the matter is all to be done over again each time a man walks into the office carrying a two-inch ad in one hand and a two-column publicity article in the other, stressing in each sentence the merits of such and such a brand of this or telling in a sentence of gushing adjectives just why so and so grew wise, healthy and wealthy from the use of a certain product.

All that seems news is not valuable at all in a news way, and just because an article gives a few facts or the history of a product, does not make it an interesting story to readers. This paper is published first of all for the people of Shamrock and other communities who want to know the happenings in their town and about their neighbors. A newspaper must judge all material submitted solely on its merits as news and without relation to paid advertising submitted; otherwise it would be cluttered full of propaganda and publicity for everything from flea powder to airplanes. Reader interest must be safe-guarded and a newspaper must be newsy to be read.

Getting down to brass tacks, what would be the reason for a merchant running paid advertising if a newspaper gave it to him free?—Shamrock, Texas.

Johnny Fitzgerald, of Yoakum county, was over this week and reports grass and crops fine.

All Texas Should Take Lesson of Abernathy

Abernathy, a small town about 20 miles north of Lubbock, is a good little town, and has people who believe in doing things at home, rather than argue what should be done in some far distant point.

Their flour mill is running full time grinding wheat into flour for farmers on the basis of a 48-pound sack of flour for 86 pounds of wheat and 15 cents.

The Struve cheese factory, a local enterprise started some two years ago, is another achievement for the upbuilding of the country, and makes better prices for the farmer's milk. The Plainview News writes as follows regarding the factory:

"The Struve Cheese factory at Abernathy has more than doubled its output and increased its sales in proportion since April, county agent R. B. Davis said Saturday afternoon. "In April the factory was running only half time, receiving between 12-00 and 1600 pounds of milk daily. At the present time it is running full time and is receiving from 3,400 to 4,000 pounds of milk daily."

"The factory is producing a high quality full cream cheese, Mr. Davis said, and is finding ready sale for the product. The reason for this improvement is given by the county agent as a change in production methods. H. L. Wilson, with the U. S. Department of Agriculture spent some time in the factory with its owners, going over production methods and assisting in finding markets for the cheese. The product today is of excellent quality, Mr. Davis said, and compares with any made."

The world does not return upon its path, nor reproduce its past.

Longbeam—"What is the crowd on the beach cheering for? Has someone been rescued?" Hausenlueck—"No; a saxophone player has just drowned."

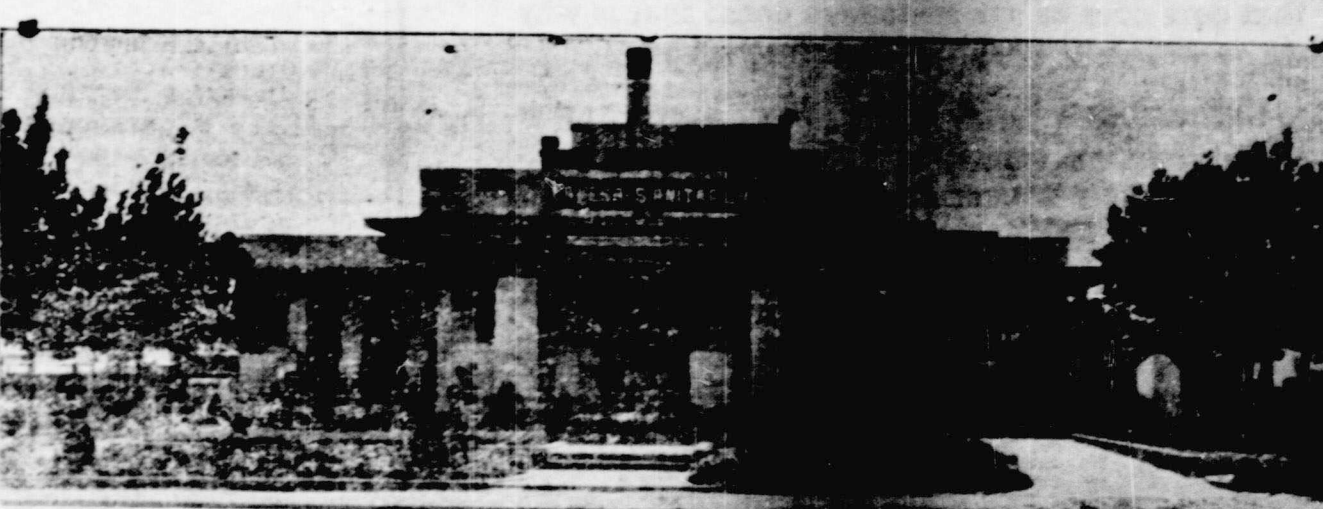

Tourist—"How's business around here?" Native—"It's so quiet you can hear the bank notes a block away drawing interest."

A man on a vacation spends more accidentally than he does on purpose at home.

 PATRIOTIC ASSOCIATION

A news item tells us that Tennessee is now in the "red". Well, she hasn't a darn thing on old man Texas. We've been in the red so long we've forgot there are any more colors down Austin way.

Gen. Alalfa Bill Murray seems to be like the Irishman's flea, always some where else when you want to put your finger on him. Last week we thought he and his army were camped for the summer on the banks of the Red to repel any attempted invasion of Texas Rangers, but apparently camp has been broken, and he is over in the interior again throwing chunks in oil wells. Too busy for hot weather like we are having. He's likely to get "overhelt."

Several non-resident people have recently inquired of us if The Chief was a "chain" owned newspaper. No, Roberts county only newspaper is a "home-owned" institution, and like a South Plains editor did last week when he paid off his last linotype note at the bank, we also recently let out a Comanche Indian yell when dame fortune made it possible to take up the last note against the Chief plant. No, we don't have to take any "bills" from the bosses "higher up" pertaining to the policies of this sheet. The publishers are property owners and reside in the city in which we make our livelihood. — Miami Chief.

Man prepares the soil, plants the seed and tills the plants. That is his duty. God furnishes the soil, the sunshine and the rain. That is His part of the cooperation. He always does his part, but man does not always reach his extremity. If he did, and then carefully harvested and garnered all they make, there would be less grouching. We usually get into trouble by reaching out beyond our means. In good times we buy what we can easily pay for, we think — provided we and our family have good health, and conditions remain normal, we have piled up debts in flash times that are hard to meet in stringent times. Will people ever learn their lesson?

Cheerup, cigarette smokers. We heard some good news for you the day. We understand that there is already on the market a cigarette that is designed to beat the State of Texas out of the three-cent tax which is scheduled to become effective on August 22. Our informant says the new product is to be somewhat smaller than the present "pill" and will be wrapped in tobacco leaves. Venerly likely it will be sold under a different name than that of cigarettes, and will retail for 15 cents per package of 20 smokes. All this information may be incorrect, but it sounds very plausible and, if true, will be received by addicts to the weed as encouraging. State Line Tribune.

The treasury department of the great state of Texas writes in to ask the Herald to tell the people of this section just where they may find the new cigarette tax stamps. They tell us there was no money appropriated to advertise the matter, and that the papers would be expected to help out in the matter. Well, a country newspaper never needs any money anyway, so why go to the trouble of appropriating a lot of money down at Austin to spend with them. They have been ridden and ridden for the past few hundred years, so what is another small canter to a good horse? Well, you guys that wish to spend three extra pennies for a pack of cigarettes after August 23, can find them at the First National Bank, this city, says the Austin communication. But we give them fair warning down at Austin right now that the president of their depository here and the editor of this paper are not going to buy any of their darned old stamps. We are both determined to stay with Bull Durham and the makings.

Statistics recently released by the Federal Census department would lead one living in another state far removed from Texas to believe that the Lone Star State was certainly on the down grade morally, as marriages fell off a great percent in 1930 from 1929. In fact sixteen counties, and those include such heavily populated counties as Dallas, Tarrant Grayson and Wichita actually showed more divorces than marriages in 1930 according to The Texas Weekly, and we can therefore very easily be denominated the Export Marriage state. The Weekly goes on to say that a negligible number of these marriages can be classified as "gin marriages" whatever they are. Indeed if there are any gin marriages, we guess they are confined to the large cities. But to Texans as well as neighboring states too, we don't have to guess the cause. It is the new marriage law we now have on our statute books which makes it mandatory to give three days notice of intention to marry to the county clerk, and the male has to undergo a physical examination. Both are repulsive to young people, and they ride over in the next state to be married. New Mexico's marriages increased 28 percent in one year, most of the gain being in the border counties to Texas. No one but an idiot has to have it explained why this is so.

J. Frank Dobie, noted Southwest historian and author of Coronado's Children, is pleading with Texas to preserve the herd of American bison now on the Goodnight ranch near Amarillo. It is planned to have a big "buffalo hunt" on the ranch, and massacre the herd for what sport some feeble-minded persons might get from the slaughter. Dobie has stated that a hunt of this kind would afford as much entertainment for sportsmen as hunting milk cows in a corral. And he is right.

Dobie went before the legislature at Austin this week and asked that the herd be preserved for Texas. He also urged that the state collect a herd of the Texas Longhorn Steers and preserve them, "since the history of the famous steer is so deeply rooted in the tradition of the Lone Star State."

This famous writer of the Southwest, whose articles have stirred the blood and gladdened the hearts of those who appreciate historical Texas, says that a museum should be provided, wherein Texas could preserve the relics of the days when Texas was traversed by cattle trails and Judge Roy Bean was the "law wet of the Pecos." He states that Texas takes more pride in and talks more about its history than any other state, and does less to preserve it.

Ward County News.

Yes, but Frank Dobie and editor Jack Medlin should remember that a "longhorn steer herd" wouldn't last long in preservation without a few "longhorn cows," not to mention a "longhorn bull" or two.

INNOCENTS ABROAD!

Now comes Jack Stricklin in his Terry County Herald all 'het' up because a certain letter appeared in a Dallas paper of limited circulation in which the writer made an attempt to cast reflection on Jack's home town of Brownfield.

The letter in question was occasioned by a tourist who was fined for an infraction of traffic laws of Brownfield, and while he did several 'infractions,' he was permitted to select his choice of one of several for which to pay a fine.

This tourist "made fun" of the busy little metropolis of Terry, slandered a well known hostelry of unquestioned reputation, flimflamed the city marshal and would have spat in the faces of her citizens had the said marshal not called a halt.

Indeed Brownfield was treated to rough stuff a-la-Capone suddenly and without any previous announcement for preparation. The tourist, riled because of a punctured tube, soured on the climate and went so far as to intimate in plain words that said nail was driven into his tire with malice aforethought if not a hammer.

Jack does some intimatin' himself by referring to possible grand jury action. It might be that tourists would have greater respect in general for the smaller towns, if more of them were given to understand that they are entitled to no special consideration, and more especially where lives of citizens are involved. Brownfield commands respect because of high-class citizenship, and is right in demanding respect of the casual visitor. — Donley County Leader.

Hunter News

Well we were all glad to get the showers we got but wish it would come a big rain while it was in tune. Several of this community attended the good revival at Scudday last week.

Well they say there has been lots of mad dogs through the community here of late. While we have not seen any ourselves and are not trying to find any.

Mr. C. G. Smith is at home from Seymour Texas. Mrs. Cecil Smith and little daughter are there visiting now.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvis Breeland visited Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Machen of Lahey Monday. Also was a business visitor at Brownfield.

Miss Laraine Thompson of Well-man is visiting her cousins, Thelma and Delma Williams the past week.

Mr. H. H. Butler says he has had a square meal of roasting ears.

Mr. L. L. Milstead of Big Spring visited his sister, Mrs. E. L. Williams and family.

Every one come to prayer meeting each Wednesday night at Johnson Chapel, also B. Y. P. U. Sunday night and Sunday school, Sunday morning. We have got our new song books now and are trying them out.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many friends for the kindness, sympathy and help shown us upon the death of our little son and grandson, Melvin Ray. Especially do we wish to thank each for the many beautiful flowers. May God bless each of you.

 Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McDonald,
 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Oliver.

W. P. Forbes and family, we judge, are out at Hot Springs, N. M., bathing the rheumatism out and good health within. He sent the Herald a string of poetry about the good State of New Mexico, which after reading, we would gather that the author of same was not fascinated with New Mexico. But then, this "Hell in New Mexico" may have been written by a native for all we know.

The farmers of this section who are members of the Texas Cotton Co-ops, will be pleased to learn that K. B. McWilliams, of Hillsboro is being sent back here again this year at least temporarily. He will be in the last of this week or the first part of next week.

J. A. Rushing was in Tuesday from the good farm near Tokio.

Windham if she be dead, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terry County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in town of Brownfield, in August, A. D. 1931, the same being the 24th day of August, A. D. 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of July, A. D. 1930, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1539, wherein Brownfield Independent School District, a public corporation, duly incorporated and created under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Texas, is Plaintiff, and J. G. Loudon is Defendant, and said petition alleging:

That the defendant is the owner of that part of Section No. 127 in Block "T" in Terry County, Texas, lying east of the S. P. & S. F. Ry. Co. right of way, containing about 200 acres of land, more or less, and was the owner thereof during the year 1928 and 1929; that said land premises is situated wholly within the limits of said plaintiff School District, and as such was subject to taxation for the years 1928 and 1929; and that in due course of law said property was levied and assessed for taxes for the years mentioned by plaintiff and that by virtue of said levy and assessment for the years mentioned defendant became liable and bound to plaintiff for such taxes for the years mentioned, which are as follows:

For the year 1928 principal taxes in the sum of $57.00;
 For the year 1929 principal taxes in the sum of $61.56; and that the defendant has failed and refused and still refuses to pay the same or any part thereof, in violation of such failure and refusal a penalty of 10 percent has accrued on said taxes, together with 6 percent per annum interest on said amounts as is provided by law.

That by virtue of said assessment and levy of taxes as aforesaid said debt is secured to plaintiff by tax lien on said property hereinbefore mentioned, and that the same is still a valid and subsisting lien on said property to secure plaintiff's debt for taxes as aforesaid.

Wherefore plaintiff prays that defendant be cited as required by law, and that it have judgment for its debt, principal, penalty, interest, and attorney's fees as provided by law, and costs of suit, for foreclosure of its tax lien, order of sale, and such other and further relief as it may be entitled to receive.

Herein Fail Not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, this 8th day of July, A. D. 1931.

Brownfield is Plaintiff, and Robert Holgate, individually and as guardian of the estate and person of Phillip Holgate, May Holgate, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate, and Zella Holgate, minors, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate and Louise Holgate, are Defendants, and said petition alleging:

That on the 20th day of May, A. D. 1917, B. Tidwell made, executed and delivered to plaintiff his certain promissory note for the principal sum of $1,000.00, payable to the order of Plaintiff at Brownfield, Texas, on or before ten years after

Mrs. E. N. Windham conveyed said property to Ray Johnson by deed of that date, and retained therein a Vendor's Lien securing payment of not for $100.00, which note has been fully paid, but that the defendant has never issued or given any release to said note and the lien securing same, and that there is, by virtue of said transaction, a cloud cast on plaintiff's title in and to said land, which he seeks to remove.

Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment of the court that he have judgment against defendants for the title and possession of said land and premises; for removal of the cloud cast on his title, for his damages and rents and costs of suit, writ of possession, and such other and further relief, special, general, in law and in equity to which he may be entitled justly, etc.

Herein Fail Not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

its date, bearing 8 percent per annum interest from date, interest payable annually, and providing for 10 percent attorney's fees if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, which note was given in payment for a part of Sec. 102 in Block "T", Terry County, Texas, described as follows:

10 acres lying just North of Small Street and just East of "D" Street in the East addition to the town of Brownfield, Terry County, Texas, being 360 yards in length East and West by approximately 162 yards wide North and South, and bounded on the North by a 10 acre tract that was theretofore deeded to Chas. C. Triplett by A. M. Brownfield and wife, and the Vendor's Lien was retained in said Deed to secure the payment of said note, and acknowledged in said note.

That by conveyance from B. Tidwell and wife to O. T. Holley, and from O. T. Holley and wife to R. O. Wilson, and from R. O. Wilson and wife to W. H. Dallas and by W. H. Dallas and wife to the defendant, Robert Holgate, the defendant Robert Holgate became the owner of said property and assumed the payment of said note; and that said Vendor's is now and has been since its inception a valid and subsisting lien to secure said note, on all of said land, except that a tract 150 feet in length running north and south, and 65 feet in width running east and west out of the extreme northeast corner of said 10 acre tract was by plaintiff released from the operation of his lien at the request of defendant, Robert Holgate.

That said note is now long since past due and unpaid, and that there is now due and owing on same the sum of $1822.02, and account of having had to place same in the hands of an attorney for collection 10 percent has been added to said amount, to all of plaintiff's damage $2,000.00

That the defendants, Louise Holgate, Phillip Holgate, May Holgate, Richard Holgate, Shelby Holgate and Zella Holgate are claiming some interest in and to said property, but what ever interest they may have in and to same is subject to the Vendor's Lien of plaintiff securing said note.

Wherefore plaintiff prays for judgment to issue to defendant, for judgment for his debt, principal, interest, attorney's fees and costs of suit, for foreclosure of his lien on said land securing said note, for order of sale, and such other and further relief, special, general, in law and in equity, to which he may be entitled, etc.

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

What a World of GRIEF It Saves You

WE KNOW a seed house that proves each season's crop of seeds in their own trial gardens before they offer them to the public. Flowers and vegetables grown from these seeds must measure up to definite standards, or else the entire crops from which the samples were taken are burned.

We know a manufacturer of dry batteries who tested a new product two years before he sold a single battery to a single dealer.

We know a manufacturer of an anti-freeze solution for automobile radiators who spent two years testing his product under all conditions before he said a word in advertising about the merits of his goods.

We know a manufacturer of household pharmaceutical products whose self-imposed standard of purity and efficacy is even higher than that laid down by the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

If we mentioned their names you would recognize them immediately. You probably would say, "I plant those seeds," "I use that battery," "I use that anti-freeze," "My medicine cabinet contains those products."

The four instances cited are typical of every reliable manufacturer in America. Millions of dollars are spent annually to develop, to improve, to standardize, and to take the guesswork out of merchandise. Other millions of dollars are spent in advertising to tell you about them.

All of which is to say that in putting your trust in advertised merchandise you save yourself the bother, the expense, the disappointment—yes the danger—of experimenting and discovering for yourself which make of soap, breakfast food, radio tubes, lingerie, gasoline, tea, electrical device, stationery—or what-not—gives you the most service for your money.

The news columns of this paper keeps you informed of the happenings in which you are most keenly interested. The advertisements keep you informed of the newest, most advantageous, most reliable merchandise that America's most progressive makers are producing.

Meadow Bricks

Last week I received a small blue circular telling me that down in the sand and post oaks, some two hundred and fifty miles east, there would be a home coming and old settlers reunion. It happened to be the former home of ye correspondent, for some twenty five years and he very naturally wanted to be there. So next morning the old bus was headed in that direction and as the shadows grew long from the hills we began to see familiar objects along the way and finally landed at our destination in the dilapidated old town of Desdamonia.

Next morning the old boys and girls began to arrive and we began shaking hands with those we had not seen for ten and twelve years.

It was a great day and I enjoyed every minute of the time. There was plenty of every thing good to eat and drink. Even the forbidden fruit could be had—so I was told—but being a teetotaler, I, of course was not tempted beyond what I could bear. There was only two of us from this section. Prof. Dan Powers of Lubbock and myself—yes wife was along also. This was doubtless due to the fact that the holding of the reunion was not thought of until the three or four days before the annual Baseball Tournament held each year.

I had two objects in view in making this hurried trip eastward. Gov. Bill Murray had called out the National Guard of Oklahoma to open the bridges across Red River and I was anxious to see just how the three or four Rangers guarding the Texas side would perform when this winsome son of the Sooner state swooped down on this small bunch of Texans.

Bill came down with his minions all right including his old "Hoss Pistole" and encamped close by but didn't molest the Rangers. Bill it seems however decided to take Will Rogers advise and call in Kansas before making any attack. Bill however seems to have had the better part of the argument as the bridges have been opened.

Bill now has turned his attention to oil and has proclaimed that oil must go to one dollar a barrel or the wells will be closed down. At the present moment he has given a little more time and dollars to doughnuts. He will find some way to hedge in this as he has in the matter of attacking the Rangers.

Wonder why Bill didn't demand that wheat, oats and cotton should not advance, it would be quite as sensible and of infinitely more importance to the country. Bill is doubtless a well meaning old cuss but he will persist until the powers that be get tired of his animadversions and he will be relegated to the limbo where reside Jim and Jack of happy memory.

I have been going back to the old home every year and this is first trip that I have found good prospects for a crop all the way. On my return I drifted South some fifty or sixty miles and found good prospects every where. In fact, most of the crops are somewhat further advanced than the Plains, and maize and hegari are almost ready for the harvest. Through most of the country, wheat and oats had been harvested and although prices are low it will add materially to the well being of the country.

I heard very much less talk of hard times and pessimistic twaddle among the farmers there than here. It must be said however that lands generally through that section are paid for which is not the case here and accounts for much the pessimism among our people.

One farmer in that section said to me that he considered the farmers better off than previous years as very few could go in debt and that previous debts would be all. But that will be quite enough in this country.

The Baptist Brethren of Meadow have been running a protracted meeting here for the past eight or nine days. The preaching has been good and the attendance large and it is hoped that much permanent headway has been accomplished along religious lines.

There are some more meetings to follow and it is hoped that his Satanic Majesty will be kept on the run and that the churches will again be filled with the old time religious flame. Aesculapias.

Challis Chats

Well we had another fine rain Sunday, which insures everybody plenty of beans and peas to eat and most everybody has roasting ears.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Langford who has been visiting in New Mexico has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Turner who has been visiting her brother, Mr. Toke Howze have returned to their home in Dallas, and was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowder and baby.

Mr. Willie Jones who has been working at Santa Fe, New Mexico, has returned home.

Mrs. Burson of Brownfield spent the week-end with her daughter Mrs. Money Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McDonald of California, came in last Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Tongate.

Mrs. Bayne Price entertained the quilting and sewing club last Friday evening, and they were served with delicious refreshments. Everyone reported a nice time.

The sewing club meets with Mrs. Bess Fry next Friday at 1:30 o'clock.

ROMANTIC MEN

Male stars of a large motion picture company must smoke no more cigars because, their employers say, cigars are not romantic. Without questioning the authority of Hollywood (where kisses are measured by the front foot of celluloid) on romance, it may be mildly objected that this is a rather sad judgment on the love affairs of our recent ancestors. Men have been smoking for nearly 300 years, and for nearly a third of that time the cigar has been the gentleman's smoke. Were all of our mothers, grandmothers and great-grandmothers dragged protesting to the altar by unromantic, cigar smoking brutes?

Middle-aged and even young men who have been drafted to front parlors to smoke the moths out of lace curtains and carpets, know that the rich fragrance of a good cigar cannot be completely disagreeable to women. Richard Dix and Rod La Rocque, both of whom have been photographed smoking cigars, have attained a certain romantic luster for the eyes of women movie-goers in spite of, or perhaps partly because of their smoking preference.

The cigarette is no longer the peculiar property of the male. In high-class tobacco shops in New York pipes which will hold about enough tobacco to kill a moth, with gold and platinum decorations and studdings of semi-precious stones, are sold to women—the pipe is no longer a purely masculine appurtenance.

Yet even in these days of depression, six billion cigars are sold in the United States every year—to men only. The cigar is still a distinctive badge of masculinity.

From a blackberry demonstration acre started three years ago of his Milan county farm, W. F. Luckey of Rockdale sold 500 gallons the second year at 25 cents per gallon, with the customers coming from near and far to do their own picking. This year he expects to sell about 1000 gallons.

Five hundred bushels of 1930 wheat ground coarse and fed with milk to hogs brought a dollar a bushel to W. J. Carruth, Gray county farmer conducting a demonstration with the county agent.

The local ginners are now busy working their plants over getting them ready for the season's run.

LIVE BY LIQUOR, DIE BY LIQUOR

Come four years ago a district judge in East Texas killed a man in Walker county because their automobiles had wrecked, and the judge, being drunk, picked a row and finally killed the driver of the other car. He was tried at Braham and went free, but at the next election the great court of the American people retired him from office. A drunk man has more luck than a sober man any time.

Monday of this week, this same ex-judge was killed in his own home by his wife. Her version of the occurrence is that the man had been drinking heavily and had become unbearable when drunk. He had threatened her life. She took his pistol and hid it under a sofa pillow. He came downstairs in a rage, finally spied the handle of the pistol and made a dash for it. She also rushed for the pistol and beat him to it. He then drew another pistol from his clothes and she snapped the one pistol. He then rushed her and she pulled the trigger the second time, and shot him in the eye. As he fell to the floor he grabbed at her and in the excitement, another shot was fired which tore through his right side, and he rolled over dead. It was not stated which pistol fired the second shot.

The newspaper account states that he had threatened the life of three sons and also some of his neighbors in Madisonville. Surely a drunk man has luck. Had he been a sober man and made such threats he would have been reached by the law. Anyway, he lived by drink and died by drink. Interment took place at Bedias Monday. The widow did not attend the funeral.—Giddings News.

Burford Reaves of Hamby community, Taylor county, harvested 24.5 bushel of wheat per acre on terraced land according to county agent records, while wheat from unterraced land in the same community made from 16 to 18 bushels. The demonstration field wheat tested 63 to an average test of 58 to 60 for the other. The extra yield paid the expense of combining.

Green feed and a plentiful supply of mineral will cure rickets in hogs, A. Jantzen, Bexar county demonstrator has found. The hogs got down in the back from a ration of white corn and kitchen slop but recovered on being fed in addition green cane and a tablespoonful per day of a concentrated mineral mixture.

J. D. Williamson is working on a nice residence in Lovington, N. M., being contracted by Lee Thompson of this city.

J. C. Hunter and family are moving to Lubbock this week in order that he may take a job trucking for a large firm that will be able to give him regular work. While we regret to see this excellent family move away, it is not for long, because J. C. says they are still fond of Brownfield and Terry county, and as soon as conditions justify, they aim to return to Brownfield to make this their home. The Herald hopes them all kind of success in their new home.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County, Greeting:

You Are Hereby Commanded to summon John Alen Taylor by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest County where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Terry County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Brownfield, Texas, on the 4th Monday in August, A. D. 1931, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1931, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court as No. 1604, wherein Elzie Taylor is Plaintiff, and John Alen Taylor is Defendant, and said petition alleging:

That prior to exhibiting the petition therein for a period of 12 months plaintiff has been an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in Terry County for at least six months next preceding the filing of this suit; that on September 23rd, 1927 plaintiff was lawfully married to defendant, and continued to live with him until on or about the 30th day of January, 1930, when by reason of the improper conduct and harsh treatment of defendant toward plaintiff she was forced and compelled to permanently abandon him; that of said marriage there was born to plaintiff two children, Alen Martin Taylor, a boy 2 years old, and Faye Ellen, a girl, less than 1 year old; that plaintiff is the proper person to have the care, custody and education of said two children. That on account of defendant's actions and conduct toward plaintiff their further living together has been rendered insupportable, premises considered.

Wherefore she prays for judgment and decree of divorce, care, custody and education of their said children, and for costs of suit, etc.

Herein Fail Not, and have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed same.

Given Under My Hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, this 11th day of July, A. D. 1931.

BAPTIST CHURCH NEWS

Our services are from 10 A. M. to 11 A. M. 8:15 P. M. We are anxious to have all Christian people to be with us in the meeting and help us win the lost to Christ.

Remember that our Sunday school will meet at the church Sunday. We want 500 in Sunday school Sunday. The contest is getting interesting. Tahoka and Brownfield are tied to date. Let us untie it Sunday by having 500 present.

Preaching will be at the Tabernacle Sunday as usual. Come. J. M. HALE, Pastor.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Services last Lord's day were well attended despite the damp weather. Our Sunday morning audience just about fills the house.

We are certainly proud of our young people. Their meeting is certainly fine and shows much talent and preparation. We will have Bible study this and next Wednesday night, Jan. 3 and 4 Chapters, lesson for this week.

I will preach at Johnson school house next Sunday at 3 P. M. We are praying and planning, working and hoping for a great revival, which will begin the 3rd Sunday of this month at 11 A. M.

Every member is urged to pray for the success of the meeting. R. P. Drennon.

Mrs. Smith—"This 'ere fellow thinks 'e can sing like Caruso." Mrs. Brown—"Well, they do say as 'ow Caruso 'ad a beautiful voice, but 'ow could they know, with 'im stranded on that island with nobody but Friday to 'ear 'im?"

"You's a liah," said Cal. "Say dat again," said Wash, "and I'll bust yore jaw." "Considah it said again." "Consider yore jaw busted."

WAS LONGEST LUMBER TRAIN

The longest lumber train ever assembled, consisting of 118 cars of select redwood, recently left Northern California for distribution in the East. With a few exceptions all of the lumber was sold to dealers in territory east of Kansas City, a few cars going as far as Maine and other New England states.

The train carried 3,000,000 feet of lumber, weighing 3,000 tons and was worth approximately $125,000. The shipment originated from mills in Del Norte, Humboldt and Mendocino counties, along the Pacific slope, where the world's supply of commercial redwood timber is found.

Reduced to a size of one by twelve inches, the cargo would have made a board 570 miles long, and if used exclusively, would have built 500 average size homes. In reality, however, the lumber will go into thousands of homes all over the country and even in Canada, because of the other material involved.

Two cars contained redwood bark fibre, a product of the Pacific Lumber Company. This is a new insulating material and is also used extensively in the manufacture of roofing felt.—The Earth.

Escaped girl Bares Harem Horrors

That monster, the Turk, Ali Bey—Those beasts, the eunuchs—Those hideous days, nights—Can she—could any woman—ever forget?

Hirpama, or, in American, Rose, was sixteen—in the first blush of womanhood—when wild Kurdish tribesmen swooped down upon her home—murdered her father—drove her mother to death—tore her screaming sister away—and flung her—a slave—into the harem of that merciless wolf, the dread Turkish General, Ali Bey.

What terrible fate awaited this gently nurtured young girl behind the silken draperies of the harem door? You must read for yourself HAREM SLAVES—the tremendous true-life story of a victim of the Armenian massacres. It is written with a quill dipped in the life blood of a beautiful woman, who, 'rself, knew the unspeakable cruelties of harem captivity and who tells about them now, frankly, for the first time. You will sit breathless over this gripping tale in September TRUE STORY MAGAZINE. Get your copy—read it today.

Here's the Way Daniel Wilford Sees Situation

The railroads have lost some business to the buses and trucks, but that is not the trouble with roads. With every other line of business depressed it is only natural that the railroads should also suffer. People are not traveling as much as they formerly did and shippers are curtailing their volume. With business off between 20 to 40 percent, it is not to be expected that the railroads, too, will not sink to a lower level than they maintain in normal times. If business were back to normal, there would be plenty of hauling for the railroads, the buses, trucks and all other forms of transportation. As soon as we get out of the present situation you will see the railroads pick up just as all other lines will pick up.

FISH-EYED BANKER

A poorly clad man went into a bank and asked the president for a loan of one hundred dollars. Whereupon the president asked if he could give a note or any kind of security.
 "No," the poor man replied.
 "Do you expect me to loan you one hundred dollars without any security?"

"Yes," he humbly answered. "I am a poor, honest working man and I can return the loan within sixty days."
 "I believe you," assented the president, "and I'll tell you what I will do. I have a glass eye, and if you can tell me which of my eyes is glass I will loan you the money."

"The right eye," instantly responded the man.
 "Correct," the amazed banker remarked, "but how did you know?"
 "Because it was the one that showed the most sympathy."

CAN YOU AFFORD?

When you find a fellow whose sense of humor saves you from getting blue, who can help relieve your cares by his conversation, your doubts by his good counsel, and can give you that comfort only found in a friend, I ask you in all sincerity: Can you afford to let such a valuable influence slip away just for the lack of a little care and consideration or co-operation on your part?—Silent Partner.

Santa Fe Reports Texas Crops Normal

Condition of the Texas cotton crop is mostly fair to good; much of it in excellent condition, particularly in the northwest. Scattered rains over practically all of the state have been beneficial, except in insect infested sections. Temperatures have been favorable for cotton growth, but the crop generally remains late. Picking has started in the earlier sections of south Texas and will move progressively northward. Flea hoppers have stripped many fields in south Texas, and weevils are doing much damage in Gulf Coast areas. Leaf-worms are being poisoned in east Texas territory. Additional rains are needed, but they would favor these pests.

Feed crops over the entire state have produced record yields, most of the production being stored on the farms. The reduction in cotton acreage went into feed and food crops. Sweet potato plantings are the largest on record, and prospects are for heavy yields. Several curing houses are being erected to care for the surplus crop.

Melons continue to move from coastal sections, and have started from western and northern points. Quality of melons this year is above the average.

In turkey producing sections the poulters are growing rapidly and fattening well. Feed and water are abundant and indications are for a good fall production.

Harvesting of the largest wheat crop in the history of Texas is nearly completed, and about half of the production has moved. A great deal will be stored. Much stubble is being plowed for fall planting, although no estimate has been made of probable acreage.

Although ranges showed a decline during the past month, they are still furnishing ample grazing. Cattle, sheep and goats continue in good condition.

A PHILOSOPHY THAT LEADS TO SUICIDE

"I'm going to live my own life," she said. "And then two years later, she learned that men may mix many but want their women straight," wrote the editor of the Waxahachie Light, State Press, of the Dallas News, accused the Waxahachie editor of cribbing the lines from a recent motion picture, but concurred unreservedly in that broad interpretation of a universal social philosophy.

No greater falsehood can issue from a woman's lips than "my life is mine, I'll live it as I please." Not for a single solitary instant is a woman's life her own. For to her custody has been entrusted the hope, the integrity, the moral strength and the courage of the human race. Man may slip without doing society a permanent injury, but when woman slips the world slips with her.

With a trust so sacred, woman must walk circumspectly. She who makes herself too accessible, whose telephone number is in the possession of too many men of too many shades of respectability, invites suspicion; and she who flaunts the conventions society has laid down for her, commits a sort of social suicide.

It is a hard rule, but a first one, from which have sprung a thousand corollaries. One of them is that traditional law of the sea: "Women and children first." Another is: "The woman pays." There seems to be no middle ground. Woman is either to good, or not good enough, for man. It is a dictum sounded with the accumulated authority of generation upon generation of men.—Editorials of Today.

CAUSE OF FINANCIAL DEPRESSION FOUND AT LAST

The cause of the present financial depression has at last been found. Some of the wisest of financiers and some of the greatest statesmen of the nation have been studying the question for months, but have failed to determine just what is responsible for the wide-spread unemployment and financial distress throughout the land. That it has been solved at last will be good news to all our people. But strange to say the discovery was not made by financiers and statesmen. It was made in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, by politicians. The republican national committee has made the startling discovery that all our financial troubles were brought about by the enemies of President Hoover in an effort to discredit him and prevent his re-nomination and re-election.

Since they have discovered the cause, it should be an easy matter to find and apply a remedy. Therefore, we may confidently hope for good times in this country within the next few weeks at the least. All that is necessary is for all of us to get in the Hoover band wagon and do or say nothing that would discredit him or prevent his re-election. Simple, isn't it, after you once think of the matter? The only wonder is that some one did not think of it long ago before the hard times had wrought such havoc in the country.—Lovington, (N. M.) Leader.

Officials Uncover a Huge Gas Theft Ring

Detectives employed by the Phillips Petroleum Company, acting with Sheriff B. L. Parker and county attorney G. H. Nelson are this week employed in investigation of a gigantic theft ring which according to reports, has been the source of a number of depredations.

Charges have been filed against five men as a result of the investigation of a recent looting of the Phillips Company's warehouse here when more than two thousand gallons of gasoline and other commodities were taken. The property was located Thursday of last week on the farm of one of the men, and it is his statement which formed the basis for charges against the others, among whom are two local men and another man from Tahoka.

THE CANNON CASE AGAIN

Bishop James Cannon is back in the limelight, demanding, through his attorneys, that the United States Senate be ordered by the courts to cease investigation of the churchman's political diodes.

Bishop Cannon, as we see it, is asking the government to make an exception of his case, evidently taking the stand that a bishop, like a king, "can do no wrong."

The Avalanche-Journal has never been sympathetic with Bishop Cannon and his political troubles; grows less sympathetic as time goes on. If he has violated the Federal Corrupt Practices act, he should be punished, even if he is a bishop. And if the United States Senate wants to give the Cannon record a "look-see," we see no reason to make an exception just because Bishop Cannon happens to be a powerful churchman.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Drivers of sixes never want less because it takes six cylinders to give the smooth, silent power that makes driving really enjoyable

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are "sold" on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than any other real advancement of motoring.

Drive a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice its silence. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that smoothness. Change into "second," hit a faster clip, slip into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Annoying vibration is gone!

Over two million owners have proved this six-cylinder Chevrolet engine. They have found that it costs less for gas and oil than any other. They have found that it actually reduces upkeep costs, by holding vibration to a minimum. They know a six is better in every way—and they would never be satisfied with less!

Body of Negro Baby Found, Not Dead Long

Snyder, July.—Help arrived only a few hours too late to save the life of a negro baby who wandered from the 9-R ranch near here to become lost in the rough pastures.

The lifeless body of Gollis Wells, two years old, was found by several hundred searchers shortly before noon today, and physicians said he had been dead only a short time. He died of exhaustion and hunger, there being no marks on the body except one small bruise received when the child fell.

The child had been missing since Tuesday, and his body was found 16 miles from the ranch house. Searchers combing the country yesterday found his footprints, and tracks were found by nearly every water tank.

The baby's father, Doc Wells, worker at the ranch owned by Nathan Reynolds, and his mother, cook, exhausted themselves in the frantic 48-hour search, in which hundreds of men assisted. An airplane was brought from Big Spring yesterday to aid in the search.

Collis was the only child at the ranch, 20 miles west of Snyder. His father formerly shined shoes in Snyder and is a well known and trusted negro in this vicinity.

The child's body will be sent to Waskom, Texas, former home of his parents, for burial.

"PILL VICTIMS"

Yesterday I performed a minor operation for a patient who had been taking his favorite brand of pills for some twenty years and who had believed that he could not live without them; and these same little demons had slowly but surely led him into a condition which placed him on the operation table, and brought the order for him to abandon their use for all future time.

At first—twenty years ago—a simple case of constipation, by reason of a neglected bowel. He was a young farmer, the vocation of all that should stand for opportunity in perfect health. But, he kept on neglecting the bowel, and calling to his aid the popular brand of pills that he has kept up using to the present time, and growing worse slowly, all the time, heaping unto himself a lot of grief. He just hadn't had time to attend to that very important function, the emptying of the bowel by natural methods.

The pills contained very positive intestinal irritants, aloe, being a prominent ingredient; a high-powered condiment lent heat and stimulation to the almost exhausted bowel. Other atrocities helped make trouble, through apparently innocent during the first years of his experience.

He accumulated a very chronic inflammation of the rectum, a so-called "catarrh" of the lower bowel; in time this induced an intolerable itching of the parts adjacent, from which the patient was kept awake nights—scratching. His nerves were, as he said, "completely shot to pieces."

I removed as much of the hopelessly infiltrated skin as possible—it being past all hopes of return to normal; new skin will take its place. I began my treatment to undo what he had been doing for twenty years. I stopped the pills.

I hate to meet somebody that has a favorite pill; a "family pill" is a devil in disguise. Get your doctor to tell you how to use food an water—Exchange.

ARAB PROPHECY FULLFILLED

An old Arab proverb says that "not until the Nile flows into Palestine shall the prophet from the West drive the Turk from Jerusalem."

But that is exactly what took place when Allenby's British army of 96,000 fighting men with 46,000 horses, 40,000 camels and 13,000 mules fought its way north from the Suez Canal. It defeated and drove out the Turkish army, which opposed every step to the advance.

The British forces were closely followed not only by a swiftly laid railway, providing commissariat facilities, but also by a huge pipe line to water that host. That Nile water drawn from a canal in Egypt was filtered at the Kantara water works and then pumped underneath the Suez Canal to reservoirs on the east bank. Here it was chlorinated and then, thanks to seventeen auxiliary pumping stations, carried through the pipe over 200 miles over arid desert.

In order to realize how completely the terms of the proverb were satisfied you must know that the word prophet in Arabic is Al Nebi, which you will admit is pretty close to Allenby, the name of the brilliant strategist who came from the West and who did drive the Turk from Jerusalem!

Tires by the World's Largest Producer of Rubber

We know all about tires—about all kinds. Our repairing experience makes it necessary to cut into and to examine

Mr. Mullins of the firm of Mullins & Gracey, says:

"I feel a definite responsibility to my customers.

"They expect me to sell them the finest tires available at the lowest possible prices.

"When I saw that there was a Big Swing to U. S. Tires, I set out to find out the reason.

"It was not difficult to discover that the U. S. Rubber Company had succeeded in building astounding mileage into their tires. They had made them safer, easier to steer and very beautiful in design. For this reason U. S. Tires were selected as factory equipment on America's leading cars.

"In the face of such evidence, I decided to give my customers the advantages of U. S. Tires.

"That is why we joined the Big Swing to U. S. Tires."

practically every make of tire on the market. We know what is inside—under the tread. And we know that it takes quality rubber to produce quality tires. Yes, and quality cotton, too, if the tire is to stand up and provide real safe dependable performance right through to the final mile of economical service.

The United States Rubber Company grows the finest rubber in the world—grows it on its own plantations. Only this better rubber is used in building U. S. Tires. No wonder they wear so slowly and so evenly!

The cotton cords for U. S. Tires are spun in the Company's own great mills at Winstboro, S. C. Maximum strength and flexibility are constantly assured. Maximum quality is not permitted to vary. No wonder the safety and dependability of U. S. Tires are accepted as standard everywhere!

U. S. Tires are definitely superior—longer wearing, safer and more commanding in appearance than any other tires we know of—yet they cost no more. We have the full U. S. line—Royal Master, U. S. Royal, U. S. Peerless and U. S. Heavy Service. A tire in every need and price class, for every car, truck or bus. Drive in today and learn how little it will cost to enjoy the extra value of U. S. Tires.

AN ISLAND THAT CIVILIZATION FORGOT

Bali, a south seas islet not far from Jarva, is one of the few places on the globe where natives are still natives. Here for centuries the half-clad brown-skinned maidens have trod in stately mile-long processions along country roads, carrying on their heads bulking temple offerings, and the men have regaled themselves with cock-fighting or playing in their village orchestras.

"The Dutch have possessed the island since 1908," notes a recent visitor, Lillian Dow Davidson, in the August Kotarian Magazine, "but so kindly is the guiding hand of this great colonizing nation that you get the impression the Balinese are governing themselves. And to prevent interference in the religion of the people, which envelops them like a cloak, the Dutch have discouraged the establishment of foreign missions here."

Marriage on the isle, like most everything else, is the exact opposite of western customs, the author notes. It consists of a three-day elopement—a sort of trial marriage. After the temple ceremonies have been completed the wife, who is the "business man" of the house, may find that her husband costs her too much.

"Then frequently," Mrs. Davidson reports "she talks a girl friend into the job of second wife to help in his support. The girl friend, knowing full well that she must share a man with some one else, consents and another elopement takes place."

Carrying burdens on their heads gives to Balinese maidens a rare beauty of form. The Balinese pay little attention to the few tourists who have found their island, and happily go on their way not conscious that their western cousins are gauging them by western habits and standards.

But the tourists in increasing numbers is discovering Bali, "Jewel of the South Seas." And, advises Mrs. Davidson, if you would see it with its naturalness yet unspoiled, visit it soon, for "perhaps in a short five years much of the real charm will be gone."
