

WHO WAS BROWNFIELD'S MOST USEFUL CITIZEN?

Every Family Will Have at Least Three Votes, Who Take The Herald. Put on Your Old Thinking Cap and Express Your Preference. Many to Choose From.

We note in a number of towns over this section that the most useful man or woman is being chosen by vote after the old year is past. Sometimes the theatres conduct these contests, but most frequently the newspapers do this. Brownfield has never had a contest of this kind, and the Herald has decided to put it on. Who do you think did more for Brownfield and Terry county last year?

There are just lots of people here who have done much for the community. They are ready to do more. You know them, and you know what they have done. Many of them, men and women have studied the needs and planned to feed the hungry and clothe the naked when some of us were asleep. Others have worked long hours for the schools, the city or the community. Put on your thinking cap. There will be no candidates nominated or even suggested in the Herald columns. You must think them out yourself. Make your own nomination and vote for your choice.

BALLOT

I hereby cast my vote for:

(Mr. Mrs. or Miss) _____

as Brownfield's Most Useful Citizen During 1931.

T. P. Northern Case to Come Up on Feb. 17

Washington, Jan. 19.—The interstate commerce commission today announced that on February 17 it will hear oral arguments here on the application of the Texas and Pacific Northern Railway Co., for permission to construct a 330-mile line from Big Spring, Texas, to Vega, Texas.

The commission has before it a proposed report by one of its examiners giving approval to construction of part of the line but recommending that certain sections not be built.

An interstate commerce commission examiner last June recommended that the Texas & Pacific Northern railroad be permitted to build 126 miles of its proposed 333 miles of arilway. That when the examiner advised the commission should be built would consist of 80 miles from Big Spring to Brownfield and 46 miles from Lubbock junction to Lubbock.

Later possibly it would be desirable to continue the construction from Brownfield to Vega and from Dimmitt to Amarillo, the examiner said.

In reaching his decision, the examiner used evidence received at a two-week hearing on the application before Examiner H. C. Davis here in December, 1929.

It is understood that a great many scouts and those interested in scouting will attend from here.

Sheriff's Department Gets Big Still Monday

Soon after the grand jury went in session Monday, they were hot on the trail of a distillery some ten miles northwest of this city, and by two in the afternoon the man was under arrest, and his plant was the property of the county. He had quite a large distillery, just what capacity we failed to learn. Several barrels of mash were taken, but no liquor.

Sheriff Telford says he had been on the man's trail for several years, but found it hard to locate where he kept his still. We understand that it was under his house, and that there was no trap doors outside or in the floor, but that entrance was had by removing the door steps. A pressure gas burner was used that made no smoke.

Nothing but the grand jury is in session this week. The first week of petit jurors will assemble Monday. We understand that 6 bills of indictment were returned Tuesday, 5 bootlegging and one forgery. Grand jury was still in session Wednesday.

Brownfield the Banner Branch Co-op Office

K. B. McWilliams, classifier for the local Co-op office informed us this week that he passed the 7000 bale mark early this week, his exact figures at closing time Tuesday night being 7,318. This against about 6,800 last year. Several remarked when he came back here this year that he would not do the business he did last year, but Mack has shook down their dope good and heavy. He believes that he will get at least a thousand more bales this season.

It is believed that he is leading every branch office in this district. Of course the head offices at Lubbock and Wellington are leading him, but he stands ahead of Littlefield, Levelland, Lamesa, O'Donnell, Post, Tahoka, Ralls, Slaton and such places. He received nearly 400 bales Tuesday. While he is an employee of the association we believe Mack has given the farmers of Terry county everything their cotton would possibly go in classification.

Ford Delays Output Of His New Model

Detroit, Jan. 14.—The Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record says the Ford Motor company will not bring out its new models until March and adds that, although lacking official confirmation, indications are they will include an improved four-cylinder car and a V-eight.

The four is about ready to go into quantity production while the eight "awaits approval of final design," the publication says.

The Hitch-Hiking Season Begins!

Tax Receipt this Month Better Get Your Poll

It is not the business of the Herald to tell Terry county people about their taxes. They know what they can or cannot do. But if you are able to pay your poll taxes, and most people are able to pay them, you had better be certain that you get them before the first day of February, and to make certain, you'd better get it the very next time you are in town. This is campaign year, and there are going to be two primaries as well as the general election in the fall when a president of the United States will be elected. Besides these, there will be the city election for the people who live in town, and the school elections all over the whole state.

No matter how badly you may want to vote on some issue that comes up this year, if you have not complied with the election laws of the state of Texas and procured one of those little poll tax receipts you had as well be a Chinaman and living in China insofar as you will be able to put your vote and influence into the contest. Issues may come to hand in which you would not regret several times the cost of a poll tax receipt if you but had one. And absolutely there is no chance to get one after January 31st.

In conversation one day last week with Mrs. Mon Telford, she informed us that taxes were coming in slowly. At that time, less than 400 poll taxes had been secured. There is only one more week after this to secure one. Something like 2000 should be issued in this county. This means that if any great proportion pay them this year the collector's office will be rushed the last few days of tax-paying time.

Remember that a goodly portion of the money derived from the sale of poll taxes goes into the local school fund, and the schools are needing every dollar that can be raked and seraped. Our understanding is that those who will be 21 years of age any time between now and the first primary, or any election this year, can vote by securing a receipt from the collector, which we understand costs nothing.

Not a few split their taxes, paying half by the last day of November. The other half will have to be paid by July 1. Many of the larger tax payers and corporations did this. Others intended to do so, but thought they had until this month to pay the first half.

O. W. Fagala to Start Farming Next Spring

O. W. Fagala, superintendent of schools at Amherst, but formerly superintendent of the Lorenzo schools, announced recently his intention to quit teaching and start working a farm he has purchased at Glen Rose, Texas. His resignation was reluctantly accepted by the school board, to take effect at the close of this year's work.—Lorenzo Tribune.

Uncle Johnny King was in the city last week the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dee Elliott. He and Mrs. King have moved from Okla. to Farwell, Texas.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

Dallas, Texas, Jan. 21.—Probability of Chairman Stone of the Federal Farm Board addressing the Twelfth Annual Convention of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation and its affiliated commodity cooperative associations in Dallas, January 27, 28 and 29, is expected to increase attendance of visitors. Greatly Auto Caravans are being organized in many districts. Resolutions will be presented calling for prohibiting short selling of cotton and grain, lessening farmers tax burdens obtaining cheaper rural credits. Revising the tariff to assist agriculture, including the equalization fee or debenture in the agricultural marketing act or any other methods of insuring profitable farm commodity prices.

WHY NOT A MEAT SHOW WITH POULTRY SHOW?

No County in Texas Produces More Home Cured Meats, Canned or Fresh Meats Than Terry. Winners in Local Show Could Compete in Lubbock Show.

The Chamber of Commerce Secretary in his articles has been telling you considerably lately about the Poultry Show here on February 12-13. This is a good thing, and we are sure the farmers and other poultry growing lovers of Terry and Yoakum counties will be here in great numbers and bring some mighty fine birds. In fact, the people of this section are taking more interest than ever before in good poultry, and many of our farmers are now making most of the necessary farm expenses with the cow, sow and hen.

The Herald has a suggestion to offer in this connection, that we believe can be carried along with the poultry show without but little more expense, and that is a Meat Show. Several of the counties to the north of us are putting on meat shows, which are becoming very popular all over this section. The Herald is of the opinion that Terry county farmers are killing and curing as fine lot of meat as any farmers. They, while not assisted by a county agent as in some counties, are reading books and pamphlets from the federal and state agricultural departments as well as the A. & M. college. Therefore, they are following the latest methods of curing meats as well as canning them, and we believe meet in contest with any farmers of any county on the plains. Some time later on in the year, Lubbock is to hold another regional meat show, and the winners at our show could then compete in the regional show if they wished.

Brownfield Boy Enrolls At San Marcos School

Mitchell Flache, son of Mrs. A. Flache of Brownfield, Texas entered San Marcos Baptist Academy, San Marcos, as a boarding student. Mitchell and his youngest brother, Truett, have been attending the Academy since September, 1931, as day students while their mother was a resident of San Marcos. Mrs. Flache and Truett has recently returned to Brownfield, leaving Mitchell to board at the Academy.

In addition to his enrolling, an especially encouraging feature is the large number of students who are planning to enroll at mid-term, January 25, who have never attended the Academy before. Indications are that a half dozen former students will also enter at that time, making the outlook quite encouraging for the remainder of the year.

Born to Mr. and Ms. Eli Perkins, a girl on the 14th.

HERALD HAS SPENT TIME AND MONEY IN BOOSTING

We Believe that Most People Will Agree that It Has Been Very Instrumental in Helping to Build up the Trade Territory. It then Follows it Deserves Patronage.

He that tooteth not his own horn, the same is not tooted, is an old saying, but still applies as well to modern as well as in past business dealings. The Herald has never tried to boost itself but has rather let the other fellow do that if they wanted to. Also, we have just as contentedly let the other fellow knock us if they wanted to do that. An institution that is not knocked has never accomplished anything. But sometimes we believe that some people have to be reminded of some things, otherwise familiarity breeds contempt. It has come to us indirectly several times of late that the Herald was one of the few institutions in Brownfield that were making money. We want to forever banish this belief, is part of the reason for this bit of information.

But hailing back to the distant past, will say that the publisher and editor of this sheet came here just about 23 years ago this week. Big Spring being the nearest railroad point, we came that far from Anson in Jones county by rail, and Jack Head hauled us on out here in his old two cylinder Maxwell. It took us from 9 a. m. till dark to make it. It can be done in three hours now.

For six months we worked on the little four page 5 column paper, but the 1st day of June 1909, we summoned enough courage to buy it by borrowing a little money and making a new note. The equipment consisted of a G. Washington newspaper press, a small, well worn job press, and 18 inch paper cutter, two cases of news type, nearly worn out, and a few fonts of job type. Our first month's receipts were exactly $42.50 gross—we'll never forget it. A struggle was in store for us. The next year with the help of Will Alf Bell, we got some new type and a large job press to print the paper on. I also married, and the wife and the writer worked many nights till eleven or twelve. We were inviting people to come here for homes as this was the last frontier in Texas. They came, some by our invitation some otherwise.

Later on, the railroads came to Lubbock and Tahoka, and we got considerable business from them, and added new equipment from time to time. But let us pass on. In the year 1917, we got our railroad. We also got the worst drouth we ever had, and to add insult to injury, we became involved in war. The older established towns had invaded our trade territory, and we had none to speak of. At the close of the war, the Herald bought its first linotype machine and got a real newspaper press. Then and there the Herald began the fight of our existence for the trade territory that rightfully belonged to Brownfield. Editorial after editorial was written, argument upon argument was made, line upon line was written. We had the full cooperation of the merchants of that time, and they helped us by printing their prices. And the victory was won. Without question, we believe that Brownfield has one of the best trade territories of any town on the South Plains. The question is, will we hold it. The Herald is ready to do its part and let the people be the judges.

Here of late some of our merchants have gotten into the habit of ordering all their advertising matter. This is their privilege and we have no hard things to say about the matter. It is their business and their money they are spending. Perhaps they are getting this cheaper than it can be produced here. We can also buy goods cheaper perhaps than we can here but we don't intend doing it. But perhaps if they would come to the Herald and tell us that they believed we were a little high, we could figure a way to keep this business in Brownfield. There are two good printers in Brownfield without work when perhaps they would be on a payroll and trading with all the merchants here if all business of this kind was kept in this city instead of being done in Dallas to help Dallas and keep up the payroll of Dallas. The Herald is ready to make most any kind of a reasonable concession to keep this work at home where it belongs. We are not begging for work; just asking to be allowed a show at doing this work.

But whether or not we get this work, we are going to stay right in and pitch, and you bet your sox on that. We are going to boost Brownfield as a trading point, and continue to say that it is the best in the west and tell the truth. We have been here a long time. The Herald is the oldest business firm in the county. We intend to stay on awhile yet. Maybe perhaps as long as any firm here. We may have to cut down the size of our paper and do all the work ourselves, but we believe there will always be enough business here to keep some kind of a paper going. And if we do have to cut down the size, this is no more than dozens of other better newspaper men than we, have already had to do. Indeed some of them cut down the size more than a year ago.

Having thus had our say, we leave it with the people of this section and this trade territory whether or not we deserve and have merited the business of the merchants of this city. Last of all, the Herald is not making any money. Get that part straight.

Announcements

H. R. WINSTON OUT FOR STATE REPRESENTATIVE

To The Citizens of Terry County: I take this method of withdrawing from the District Clerk's race and announcing for the office of State Representative of the 119th District.

I want my friends to do some personal work with their friends who live in the following counties: Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, Lynn, Dawson and Gaines counties, for the reason that the support I get in those counties, will in a large measure depend the success of my race. I recognize the necessity of practicing the most rigid economy in government expenditures as the people are faced with economical situations and depressed financial conditions heretofore unknown in the history of our country.

I am against the creation of new and additional departments, bureaus and commissions that will add expense to our State.

I am for the elimination and consolidation of Departments, bureaus and commissions so far as it can be obtained without injuring the efficiency of good government. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Yours very truly,
HOMER R. WINSTON.

J. C. JOHNSON ASK FOR OFFICE OF COM. PRE. NO. 1

After due consideration and fully realizing the responsibility of a Commissioner, I take this means of announcing my candidacy for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Terry

If chosen, I shall do everything possible to be honest, fair, and economical, in the duties of the office. Your vote and influence highly appreciated.

Yours sincerely,
J. C. JOHNSON.

DAVIS SEEKS OFFICE OF COM. PRE. NO. 1

I take this means of announcing to the voters of Commissioner's Precinct No. 1 that I am a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of that precinct subject to the action of the Democratic primary, July 23. Will state for the benefit of those who may not know me personally that I have been a citizen of Terry county for the past 12 years and have tried to make a good citizen. If elected to the office I seek, will say that I believe that I am in every way qualified to fill it efficiently and to the satisfaction of the people. Will also say that I am running on my own merits, and ask your vote and influence solely on them.

Very truly yours,
Jno. R. DAVIS.

Begin The New Year Right

This is just the beginning of a new term, and everyone has a chance to start over. Every student should make a resolution to work hard and pass in all his subjects.

There are many seniors in this school and there are several of them that cannot graduate if they do not pass in every thing they are taking. You seniors that are in this condition might not realize what it would mean to you to flunk this term. So work hard and pass your courses so that whether you go to college somewhere or not you will make a success in life.

The same thing, in a way, applies to Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors. Some of you may not try very hard to pass your subjects, thinking that you can easily make it up next year, but you are very much mistaken, because it is not nearly so easy to make up subjects in your junior and senior years as you might think. You had better work hard and pass your exams or you are liable to graduate a year or two later than you should.

What Mental Characteristics Do We Admire In a High School Girl

A girl who has mental ability and whom everyone admires must have pride in school work well accomplished. Every girl should start out at the first of each term to be exempt. If this is accomplished, she should feel proud.

A girl whom every one admires must not have to have complete silence to concentrate upon any subject. She should be able to concentrate any time and be able to know something about the subject studied in a minimum amount of time. It should not cause a girl to become nervous if she studies constantly for an hour if so she is not mentally developed.

Any girl should keep up with the thing which are of interest to everyone today. She should read papers and books of interesting people who have done something for the progress of humanity.

An ideal girl should be able to read over any subject matter and know what is necessary for her to know. If you can choose what is essential for you to learn you will have no difficulty in making good grades.

One must keep up with current events to be able to choose good literature. There is a difference between literature and printed material. One must at least know the qualities which literature possesses before she can choose good books.—Home Economics Theme.

Boys Team Lose in Tournament

The past week-end the boys basketball team played in a tournament at Meadow. The first match was with Southland who forfeited the game. Our boys next drew a "by". Then they played Ropesville Saturday afternoon. Ropesville won the game with a score of 22 to 8. Ropesville was the winner of the tournament defeating Meadow two points.

Courtesy Always In Order

Courtesy is a thing that it always behoves a person, or group of persons, to remember no matter what the occasion is or how much the excitement and enthusiasm to rampant. Schools are judged by the way the students behave both at home and when visiting other schools.

Not a hundred years ago a basketball team was playing in another town. One of the visiting players got a free shot. When he went to shoot most of the people on the opposing side began to yell just as loud as possible. The referee asked them to please be quiet but they seemed not to even notice him. He had to give the boy three shots because everyone would yell when he started to shoot. Then one of the teachers got up and gave a lecture on how to act at a ball game. Are we always courteous to visiting ball teams? Should it be necessary for a teacher to get up and tell the people how to act and how to be courteous? Don't we know? If not we ought to learn before going to another ball game.

Why Honesty Is The Best Policy

One can plan to be more honest along many lines. Many times people ask us questions and we hate to hurt their feelings by telling them what we think. Although we do not say something which is not true, we are not exactly honest with ourselves and others.

If we are honest with ourselves we are not likely to think other people dishonest. We are also able to be one who is honest and count him as a true friend.

If one is honest in his opinion he is more able to defend his opinions and be frank. If at some time you are not honest in your judgment of something you will probably regret it later.

The expression which one has on the face usually tells whether he is honest or not.

If one lives higher than his means, he is not honest with himself or others, as he will not be able to pay his debts.

Brownfield Wins Over Seagraves

Friday night, January 15, Mr. Lawlis took the Brownfield basketball girls to Seagraves. They met Seagraves girls on their own court about eight-thirty. Both teams went in to fight for the victory. At half it looked even for both teams as the score was 13-14 in Seagraves favor. After the half, the Brownfield girls went in determined to fight and win; and did. At the end of the game the score was 21 to 29 in Brownfields' favor. The Brownfield girls are out to win a few games now. As this is the beginning of a new term both in school and in ball. The Brownfield team wants every school to come and take part in the tournament which is to be held here January 29 and 30.

History of Freshman Class

In September, 1931 there came into Brownfield High School the wonderful class of Freshmen, who will be Seniors in 1935 if they are successful in their studies. Some came trembly and some almost arrogantly but the timid ones soon found that their teachers and studies were not so terrifying as they thought they would be, and the proud ones that they were not so important. They have made a pretty good record and hope to do better. They propped into the regular routine of work and several were exempt in mid-term exams. They have among them a number of ball players and they seem to be interested in all sports.

At the first of school there were thirty-three in the list of Freshmen, but on account of sickness and the moving away of some we lost seven Freshmen. At the present there are thirty. They have enjoyed one class social this year which was given by Geneva Bryan at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. McDaniel. The sponsors are Miss Long and Mr. Hayhurst.

The Freshman have not made many plans for the future because the time has been short, but they will make plans in the spring for next year.

A Headon Car Crash Kills a Lamesa Girl

Lamesa, Jan. 17.—Headon crash of two automobiles this afternoon cost the life of Cynthia Ann Reed, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Reed of Lamesa. Roy Shipp, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Shipp of the Higginbotham Community, 15 miles southwest of here, was reported in a critical condition.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Highways 83 and 9 with R. Dyer Kirk, county attorney, driving east with his wife, their two children, Mr. and Mrs. Reed and the victim. Don M. Burkett, who lives six and a half miles south of here, was driving the car in which Shipp was coming into town.

Kirk suffered a broken rib and from shock, as did Mrs. Kirk, but their children were unhurt. Reed received severe bruises, but their condition was not considered serious. Shipp sustained a broken jaw and fractured skull.

Funeral services of Cynthia Ann tentatively were set for tomorrow.

Col. J. W. Casey was in from Tokio Friday. He says he is ready for the road bond issue petition when it is presented to him.

Buffalo Herd Bought By a Dallas Syndicate

It was announced Tuesday that a syndicate of Dallas men had purchased the famous herd of Buffaloes from the Goodnight Ranch in Armstrong county, thus saving them from slaughter. A. C. Nicholson, spokesman for the syndicate states that the Buffaloes will remain on the ranch.

"The purpose of the syndicate," Nicholson stated, "is to keep the herd intact, so the work of Colonel Goodnight may be carried on and this relic may remain as a link with early Texas history."

The fight to save the herd of Buffaloes, the last of its kind in the southwest, was started last August when a proposed last hunt and slaughter was announced by the owners of the herd.

Such a strong fight was made in the Panhandle that the Texas Legislature passed a law prohibiting the killing of Buffaloes under certain ages. Plans were made for the State Game Commission to purchase the Buffaloes provided land was purchased and donated for the Buffalo range. Plans were also laid for the purchase of a portion of the Goodnight ranch but these never materialized.

"I've been CHASING YOU 12 miles....

to tell You You've Lost Your Oil"

Two cars raced along the highway east of Abilene, Texas. The second driver finally overtook the leader and signaled to stop.

"I've been chasing you twelve miles to tell you you've lost your oil," he called to J. W. Bell. Mr. Bell found that a rock in the road had knocked a hole in the crankcase, allowing the Conoco Germ Processed Oil to drain out.

But examination of the motor showed no damage done. The "Hidden Quart" had protected the motor!

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil offers the extra protection of the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Only Germ Processed Oil actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces.

You need that extra protection during the starting period, when almost half your motor wear occurs. Oils not Germ Processed drain away, leaving parts unprotected. Germ Processed Oil stays on the job to cut down starting wear, giving your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills. It is the safest, surest lubrication you can buy.

Change to Germ Processed Oil now at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

Any cheap shirt can be starched and ironed to be hard and glossy. That does not make it a good shirt! Any inferior hide can be quickly "doped" and rolled into a hard and glossy leather. That does not make it good leather! A jobber can make a long profit on "cheap" material—but a rebuilder can fool each customer only once.

Franklin One of America's Greatest Sons

On January 17th occurs the 226th anniversary of a great American who should not be forgotten amid the nation's tribute to George Washington this year; for this noted American was not only a glory to our history but without him Washington might not have been able to achieve our independence.

This great American was Benjamin Franklin, who became, next to George Washington, the best known American of the 18th Century. Wherever enlightened men gathered during Franklin's lifetime, they accounted him foremost in philosophy, politics, and diplomacy, and to this day his name is secure in history as that of a pioneer in science.

Franklin was one of the most versatile men of our history. His clear thinking and good common sense won him fame everywhere. As for his winning personality, it proved a tremendous asset to the American cause. The final victories of Washington on the battlefield would never have been possible but for Franklin's skill in the field of diplomacy and his ultimate winning of the French nation to America's side.

Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston, on January 17, 1706, the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission reminds us. His father wanted him to learn the trade of candle-making, an occupation that he disliked so much that he threatened to revolt. To forestall his running away to sea, the boy Franklin was apprenticed to his half-brother, James, a printer; and here Franklin's rapid self-education got its start. In his brother's shop he met intelligent people, he eagerly read the best books, and he soon tried his hand at writing for his brother's newspaper, called the "first sensational sheet in America."

Quarreling with his brother, Franklin set out for Philadelphia at the age of 17, to make his own way. There he soon caught the attention of Governor Keith at whose suggestion he went to London. There, in spite of many hardships, he soon obtained employment and his agreeable personality brought him many influential friends. One of them, a Quaker merchant Denham, offered Franklin a job in a store that he planned to open in Philadelphia. Within a short time Denham died and Franklin again was without a job, but his next step was important.

With Hugh Meredith he established a printing shop in Philadelphia and in ten years he had made it the most important business of its kind in the country. Next he bought the Pennsylvania Gazette, which soon gained a circulation of 10,000 and became one of the outstanding papers of the time. In this paper he began those pithy maxims to be gathered under the title of "Poor Richard's Almanac," which lives today in lasting fame.

Meanwhile Franklin's interest and activities had broadened in every direction. He founded the American Philosophical Society, organized the first company in Philadelphia, and became the city's postmaster and clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly. His interest in science also developed, and he invented a stove and began those experiments in electricity which have made his name a household word in the scientific world.

Every schoolboy knows the story of Franklin's suspicion that the lightning bolt was simply a larger specimen of the spark he drew from a Leyden jar. He proved the likeness with his historic experiment of the kite and the key during a thunder-storm. The invention of the lightning-rod soon followed.

Franklin's diplomatic feats make too long a list for a newspaper column, but it was he who first sought to bind the Colonies together in union. He performed many saving services for the Colonies before the Revolution, and during that struggle his influence in France provided the factor that turned the Revolution to victory for America.

Even at 81, Franklin's deeds for his country were not yet ended, for in 1787 he performed the culminating service of his long great career with the fitting act of becoming a member of the Convention that wrote the Constitution.

Throughout his life he was a devoted admirer of George Washington, and the friendship of these two men is one of the fairest pages in early American history. On his death, on April 17, 1790, Franklin willed his cane to Washington, with the famous words: "My fine crab-tree walking stick, with a gold head curiously wrought in the form of a cap of liberty, I give to my friend and the friend of mankind, General Washington. If it were a sceptre, he has merited it and would become it."

G. N. Couchman called our hand on the Almanac deal last Saturday. We made a statement that we had all Ldies Birthdy's back to 1909. Well, we didn't have 1920, the very one he wanted. He wanted to see what day of the week Feb. 14th came on that year, as he has a daughter born that day. It was Saturday, as we looked it up by the 1920 files of the Herald.

L. F. Hudgens is on the sick list this week.

RADIO WORTH MILLIONS TO PUBLIC EDUCATION YEARLY

The December issue of the Journal of the National Education Association states editorially that the "radio is worth at least $100,000,000 per year to the schools of America." This estimate is regarded as conservative and is based on the assumption that the use of the radio by master teachers will increase the effectiveness of the common schools at least 5 per cent. It is thought that it can contribute much more than 5 percent on the entire public educational budget of the United States and would amount to more than $100,000,000 a year.

This widespread use of the radio, it is declared, would not only enrich the work of the classroom but—as has been abundantly proved in connection with the Ohio School of the Air—it would make a large contribution to the education of the adults who listen to material which is broadcast to the schoolrooms.

No one can estimate the value of this incidental learning to adults for the reason that thousands of them, when given an opportunity, review subject matter with which they were made only partially familiar during their school days. Moreover our education has developed so rapidly that more than one-half of our grown-up population had less educational opportunities during their childhood than is now given to a child in most elementary schools. Hence, the adults have the opportunity to learn entirely new subject matter from the new curriculums which are being taught.

But "contrary to the best experience of all the other great civilized countries," the editorial points out, "our radio broadcasting frequencies have fallen 93 percent into commercial hands. Educational institutions have been robbed of their channels. The rights of states to control their own channels have been ignored. The air has been filled with objectional advertising."

Working with the National Education Association in efforts to secure a fair amount of radio facilities for educational purposes are the Department of Elementary School Principals; the National Congress of Parents and Teachers; the World Federation of Education Associations, and other organizations and individuals who see that the air is being commercialized and degradedly jazzed to the disadvantage of education and the other finer cultural activities.

ANOTHER OF THE OLD TIMERS PASSES ON

J. T. Hamilton, 75, one of the oldest settlers of this county passed to the great beyond Tuesday afternoon about one o'clock. While his death was momentarily expected, it nevertheless was a shock to the community. He fell out near his barn last Friday morning while there was no one to see after him, and when he was finally found, a physician was called, but no hopes were ever entertained for his recovery, although everything possible was done for him. Uncle Joe, as he was always called by his friends, had been feeling unusually well and hearty of late, but his time came to go.

The writer has been told by Uncle Joe that he was born in Georgia, or one of the older states, but came to Texas with his parents when small, settling in about Cass county. After he and Mrs. Hamilton married they moved to Red River county, later to Jack county and on to Floyd, ever looking westward. He came to Terry county about 1903 or some 29 years ago, before the county was organized. His home has always been open to his friends or to strangers, and he was always ready to help the poor. We don't suppose he ever had an enemy since he has been in Terry county.

He leaves his wife and three children, two boys and three girls, Jessie of Plainview, Charley, Miss Annie, Miss Addie and Mrs. Weldon Ridgeway, all of this city, to mourn his passing. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church by Uncle Joe's old time friend, Rev. J. B. Vinson. Burial was immediately had in the Brownfield cemetery.

COTTON CO-OP TO SHOW INCREASES IN 1932 BALES SOLD

New Orleans, Jan. 9.—An increase in the number of bales of cotton marketed cooperatively from 2,100,000 last year to 2,500,000 this season is expected by the American Cotton Cooperative association, which has headquarters here.

The association already has taken over about 1,500,000 bales of new cotton advancing about $30,000,000 on it to growers.

Bob Owens closed with a big auction sale last Saturday, and he had very little left when it was over. Bob made many friends while here who will wish him well in his race for County Judge of Fisher county.

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford Day were up from Lamesa Sunday visiting Mrs. Day's brother, Sheriff Mon Telford and family. The Days will read the Herald another year.

Mr. Pinson, local cotton buyer, was called to Forney this week on account of the death of his mother.

The old reporter from Hunter has found it consistent while his future plans and happiness to remove himself from our midst. His new place is Olton, Texas. We have not exactly learned his intentions there. We wish him luck. We will appreciate any news from the community that you may be able to glean for us.

The Needmore basketball teams came to Hunter Wednesday. They defeated our teams, both boys and girls. The return games will be played next Friday, 22nd, and planned to do better.

Rodeo Queen

MEADOW BRIEFS

If the old adage "the early bird catches the worm" be true the early gardeners will not have to be sprayed.

Two weeks only have gone by since the year began and what a crop of candidates are in prospect. Should the e who wish to sacrifice themselves on the altar of our country continue to announce, Jack will be compelled to provide an extra page for these patriots.

There is considerable thrill about running for office. I know for I have tried it—successfully too. However, when the thinning process has been completed, there will be for those who have been unsuccessful a kind of bitter taste, slight head ache and some little resentment.

The fellow who gives you a hearty hand shake and wishes you well will not always vote for you. So when the shouting is over and the count shows that you wasn't in it don't feel too harsh toward your fellow citizens. They might have concluded that you were needed at home to milk old Pride and run the separator.

When election comes around, I feel much like the old cavalry horse when Dixie is played, I itch to be in it. I know better now.

I would like to go to the Legislature. It would tickle me to get on the Hustings with Homer. But I won't. So I presume that a vote cast for him will suit him better.

Then go to it young man and maiden or any of the old of either sex, for its a lottery and you may draw the capital prize. If you should not, then you are not as popular as you imagined.

Our Berg along with most of the others have gone wild about athletics. It is almost a nightly diversion. Can't keep my wife at home; can you? She is away now shouting herself hoarse for Meadow, while I keep the lonely night vigil and the home fires burning. The game started here early in the evening and its clocking along toward 10 P. M., as I pen these lines. There is another day and night of the sport still ahead. Lawsey, lawsey! She is worse than Ma Smithers. To add to the difficulties of the situation, there has been a show here the past two weeks. Fortunately I haven't a baby to rock or otherwise attend. My heart and sympathies go out to the outraged husbands of the country.

Our old Patriot, Tom Love, has broken out at the mouth again and vows he won't support any wet candidate for any office. Well who the devil cares. I can't imagine any sure enough Democrat wants his vote or influence. Hoover is in the field again and he looks just as good to a sure enough Democrat as he ever did. I suggest that he jine his old associates in trying to defeat the nominee who ever he may be. There is some talk of Al again.

The Avalanche-Journal has opened its columns to a Straw Vote over the South Plains on the Candidates for President.

Personally I prefer Franklin Roosevelt, believing him the most available for the success of the party. He is able and would come nearer carrying states East and North than Richie or others mentioned. As for Prohibition it will make no difference to me be he wet or dry. For like most prohibitionists, I am personally wet and politically dry; that is it doesn't make any difference to me as to how a man votes or feels in the matter. Most people drink when they can get it even though they have to consult a doctor to get it. It is one kind of medicine the doctor can count on their taking.—Aesculapius.

No Guns Makes Real Hunting

Max O'Brien, Amarillo business man, believes that hunting should be a fair game, so he uses only a pack of dogs and a few clubs. In the last two months he has taken more than $500 worth of furs. His catch includes 43 coons, 11 coyotes, 10 skunks, eight opossums, two badgers, two mink, two bobcats, two foxes, and two ring-tailed cats. O'Brien is pictured second from left. With him are his hounds and some of his buddies.

The Price of Turkey Goes Up!

Sing a song of prosperity! Here are four turkeys that sold for $3.00 a pound, because they average 12 1/2 pounds each and sold for $180—to the hunters who broke the state game laws by shooting them in Kerr County. You see, you can shoot turkey gobblers but not hens, according to the laws and these are hens.

The pitiful thing about it was that the hunters didn't get the turkeys after paying such fancy prices for them, because Texas State Game Warden Bill Garrett, who holds the turkeys in the picture, has given them to the poor of Kerr county, and several families will know what it feels like to eat turkey at city hotel prices.

RAIL CONSTRUCTION IN THE PANHANDLE

The building of one hundred and eight miles of rail lines in the Eastern Panhandle of Texas starts 1932 off with a fair outlook and will probably bring notable construction along in its wake. If the T. & P. Railway gets under way its three hundred miles of lines in Western Panhandle territory, there ought to be much better times in this section than there is in other parts of the nation where there is no such outlay of millions.

All in all, there is every reason for Panhandle people to look for this territory to remain in the white spot of better business, even if the level is much lower than we have enjoyed in years past.

No section is down and out when millions of new rail lines are being spent in its confines.—Clarendon News.

Supreme Court Man is Conquered By Time

Washington, Jan. 14 (AP).—Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, one of the greatest figures in the history of the judiciary, surrendered to time Tuesday by abandoning his place on the Supreme Court bench.

President Hoover, with regret and expressions of great esteem for the services he had rendered, accepted his resignation.

The distinguished jurist, bent with age, had fought valiantly but unsuccessfully to remain in active service until he celebrated his ninety-first birthday March 8.

Feebleness which approached gently in the last term of court made havoc during the summer recess. The military bearing, alert step and amazing vigor had disappeared since he returned to Washington last fall.

Punctual at Sessions

Early in the present term he missed three days from the bench due to a slight cold and the precaution of his physician. But with that exception he has been punctual in his attendance at the sessions.

Finally the strain became too much. So Tuesday he wrote the President his health made it "a duty to break off connections that I can not leave without deep regret—the time has come and I bow to the inevitable."

TONS OF SNUFF

To those who do not happen to come in contact with the many persons addicted to the habit, the information that 41,000,000 pounds of snuff are used in the United States yearly may come as a surprise. This represents a tenfold increase in the last fifty years.

According to government report, snuff was first used by the American Indians, and tobacco was first used in this form in Europe about the middle of the 16th century. By 1924, snuff taking became so prevalent that Pope Urban VIII issued an edict of excommunication against persons using it in church because their sneezing disturbed the services. Snuff was fashionable among the lords and ladies of England in the 18th century and far into the 19th century public snuff boxes were installed in the halls of the American Congress for the benefit of the members.

Snuff is still used by persons in all walks of life but principally among immigrants, colored people and those engaged in industries where smoking is not permitted.

The manufacture and distribution of more than 20 tons of snuff a year constitutes quite an important branch of the tobacco industry. It is a commercial proposition "not to be sneezed at."

Religious Fanatics Cause Furor at Taboka

Two religious fanatics blew into town Friday morning and undertook to convert the populace by the use of a couple of deadly iron rods with which they were armed.

Entering first the Hub Barber Shop, they demanded to know the place of residence of a woman said to have a goiter on her neck, whom, they stated, they were going to cure. When no one could give them the information asked, the visitors began waving their rods and making threats on their would-be informants. Then they demanded that the proprietor quit shaving people and close up the shop. They declared that God had caused hair to grow on men's heads and that it was not intended that it should be cut off. The barbers and several inmates of the shop stood amazed at the conduct of the intruders, and suddenly without provocation an assault upon Dr. L. E. Turrentine with his rod of iron, rapping the Doctor across the back. In the confusion and consternation that followed the men walked out and a little later showed up in the old Turner building now occupied by Mr. Smith as an apple storage room, the older man breathing out threats against any who might sneer at his religious and brandishing his iron rod menacingly.

In the meantime, Deputy Sheriff John Bulman had been called, and followed by a large crowd entered the Turner building to arrest the men. The older man, evidently suspecting that the law had arrived, immediately attacked Bulman; and the crowd undertook to get hold of the men who were swinging their rods at anyone nearby. A "free-for-all" fight ensued. In the melee, John Bulman's pistol was knocked from his hand and was accidentally discharged as it fell to the floor. Luckily no one was struck by the ball. John Bulman, however, received a terrible blow on the face with one of the iron rods and the hand of Dr. Turrentine was broken. The older of the two fanatics received some ugly wounds on the head.

Upon being finally corralled, the two men were taken to jail. They gave their names as Peter Hartman and Paul Hartman, being father and son, and their residence is in the southern outskirts of Lubbock.

On Saturday morning the elder Hartman was tried on a lunacy charge and was found by the jury to be of unsound mind. He will be taken to the state hospital in Wichita Falls as soon as room for him can be provided. The son was tried on a similar complaint in the afternoon but was found to be sane, whereupon a fine was assessed against him and he was released to a friend living near the north line of the county.—Thoka News.

THE GAS TAX RACKET

It is interesting—and saddening—to observe the obuses and rackets that have grown out of excessive taxation of gasoline.

On the Atlantic seaboard, gasoline bootlegging is said to be really "big business." Governor Pinchot has estimated that tax evasion robs the state of Pennsylvania of $18,000,000 a year. Frauds have been exposed in Illinois and Indiana—in the latter state they are said to reach a minimum total of $2,000,000 a year. Louisiana reports immense quantities of gasoline being brought in tax-free from Texas. An Idaho farmer bought 20 gallons of gas, added two ciphers on his ticket, claimed exemption from the state for 2,000 gallons—and collected the claim of $100! Not the least interesting part of this case is that he was convicted of this case and fined $5, leaving him $95 clear profit!

There is hardly a state in which fraud and tax evasion are not practiced. It is a testimonial to the futility of forcing a tax on a necessary commodity so high that the public rebels. Those who advocate higher gas taxes had best look facts in

Biographical Sketch of Stanley A. Harris

National Director, Inter-Racial Activities

Stanley A. Harris, National Director of Inter-Racial Activities of the Boy Scouts of America, was born in Johnston County, Tennessee. He graduated from Aron Seminary in 1899. Three years later he completed the course at the University of Chattanooga, graduating with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. From 1903 to 1907 he engaged in commercial activities at Lexington, Ky., and in the latter year became general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Frankfort, Ky.

Mr. Harris during 1907 organized a Boy Scout Troop and became its Scoutmaster under the Aegis of British Scout authority, Scouting having then not yet been organized in America. Soon after Scouting was organized in the United States in 1910, he applied to the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America for recognition and commission and was commissioned as a Scoutmaster in August of that year.

In 1912 he became State Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for Kentucky, resigning his Scoutmastership and was commissioned a Special Field Scout Commission by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. In this capacity he served until 1917 when he became National Field Commissioner with headquarters at Richmond, Va. The following year he was Scout Executive at Washington, D. C., for a time and in September, 1916, was transferred to Memphis, Tenn., as a National Field Executive in charge of work in fourteen states of the south and southwest. In 1922 he was made Assistant Field Director and in 1926 National Director of Inter-Racial Activities, an important branch of the work of the Boy Scouts of America.

T. & P. Hearing Some Time in Feb.

Major Oliver, of Washington and attorney for the various towns in this section situated on the proposed route of the Texas & Pacific Northern Railway, in a letter to Judge J. H. Doyle of this place, stated that the oral hearing and argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the permit to build would probably be held about February 15.

The recommendation of the examiner was that the road be allowed to build from Big Spring to Brownfield, and a branch to Lubbock. This recommendation was protested, and an effort made to obtain a permit to build the entire length to Vega and to Amarillo, passing through Levelland, Littlefield, Dimmitt and Hereford.

The hearing will be held before the commission as a whole and the result will determine whether the road will be allowed to build according to the original plan. Considerable encouragement has been given the towns through which the road is to build by the enthusiasm of Texas & Pacific officials who affirm that should the permit be granted, the road would be built at the earliest possible time, notwithstanding present financial conditions.—Levelland Herald.

Exhaustive Tests Have Proven the Safety Tire

Highway and Laboratory Show New Silvertown is Sturdy Product

Realizing the safety demands of modern motoring conditions, The B. F. Goodrich Company designed a new Silvertown tire, according to David Perry, of Camp Western.

"The Safety Silvertown, as the new tire is called, is entirely different in appearance, compounding, engineering principle and quality," David Perry says.

"Dozens of entirely different designs were submitted to Goodrich engineers and many types of actual experimental tires were built, necessitating the manufacture, first, of expensive steel molds.

"These tires were subjected to hours of testing in the Goodrich torture chamber, where demands for greater than any tire ever meets in actual road contact are created.

"Results of more than a million miles of actual road testing on the Silver Fleet were studied before the new Safety Silvertown design and construction were accepted.

"Conclusive proof of this new Safety Silvertown was demonstrated long before it was offered to the public with such an outstanding claim as the world's safest tire.

"Anti-skid properties of this new tire, in addition to being proved under all road and weather conditions, were definitely ascertained by a standardized draw-bar or dynamometer test.

"Micro-photography showing the stamina of cotton cord used in Goodrich weltless fabric and clearly proving that rubber thoroughly penetrates the cords under the Goodrich impregnation system are other decisive tests to which the Safety Silvertown was submitted.

"In addition to the many tests devised by Goodrich to determine the stamina of this new product, several motor car manufacturers on whose automobile Goodrich tires are original equipment also tested the Safety Silvertown."

Terry county motorists are accepting this new, outstanding tire with the same enthusiasm with which Goodrich developed it, according to David Perry where the Safety Silvertown has drawn considerable attention since its appearance.

Woman 101, Proposes No Longevity Formula

Lamesa, Jan. 16.—Mrs. M. E. Blair celebrated her 101st birthday, with no explanation of her longevity "I just kept on living."

Perhaps the four cups of black coffee she drinks daily might have given her such a long span of life. Or the fact that she has not done much traveling—for she has never been out of the state of Texas.

"This modern gadding about and always being on the go wears down people nowadays," she declared.

For years Mrs. Blair enjoyed puffing a pipe, but in recent years she has abstained from the use of tobacco.

Any theory too much eating will shorten a persons life is disproved by Mrs. Blair for she eats four meals a day—the three regular meals and then once again in mid-afternoon.

Many Anecdotes

With a span of life that has extended over a period of the Mexican, Civil, Spanish-American and World wars, she has many interesting anecdotes of the long ago. Her visitors enjoy listening to her stories, which she tells in an animated and picturesque way.

Many of relatives came to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sally Hester, to visit with Mrs. Blair to day. She is the mother of four children, grandmother of 31; great grandmother of 42 and great great grandmother of more than 75.

Although she has never been ill, weakness caused by old age keeps her in bed most of the time.

SHOWING THEIR GRATITUDE

The Belgian government has given a British aviation company an order for one and one-half million dollars worth of airplanes. This is the biggest single order ever placed by a foreign government with the British aircraft industry. Incidentally it is a fine example of gratitude.

During the World War the United States lent Belgium 225 million dollars. After the war, 258 million dollars more were advanced to Belgium in loans by the United States. All these loans, totaling 483 million dollars have been canceled on Belgium's agreement to pay us 2 1-2 per cent interest a year for sixty-two years. All the money advanced to Belgium by the United States government was borrowed from the American people. Thus far, Belgium has paid us 32 million dollars interest and we have paid 140 million dollars in interest on the money borrowed to lend to Belgium. But when Belgium has a big airplane order she gives the business to England, not to America.

G. O. P. to View World's Fair Hall Dedicated Next June

When delegates to the Republican national convention meet in Chicago next June they will witness the dedication of the Hall of Science of A Century of Progress, Chicago's 1933 World's Fair. The ceremony will take place in the huge court shown above. The figure pointing with the cane is President Rufus C. Dawes of the exposition. Notice the rostrum in the center, from which speakers will be able to address assemblages of as many as 80,000 persons. To the left appears the rear wall of the court with its striking cactus-tree design. In the background one discerns the backs of the twelve angular pylons, flanked by twin towers, which is to surround an electrical fountain. The Hall of Science is approximately 700 by 400 feet, two stories and a mezzanine. It is modern in design, gray, white, gold and red in color and a combination of the mysterious and gay in effect. The Hall of Science was designed by Paul Philippe Cret of Philadelphia.
