

THE SOUTH PLAINS GINS 564,299 BALES OF COTTON

Sand Land Counties Show the Best Average Production. Lamb County Leads the Field Again. Lubbock Second in Production. Raise Ninth of Texas Cotton.

The following is what is known as the preliminary ginner's report of cotton ginned in Texas, and we are giving only the total ginned in the 17 South Plains counties, which includes all ginnings up to some time in March. The Statement is dated March 21, so the ginnings must have closed prior to that date.

Once again it is demonstrated that the sandier land counties do not make bumper crops one year to go way down the ladder next year or for maybe two or three years. Their crops are nearer normal each year by far than the harder land counties. For instance, Gaines only made 159 more bales than a year ago. Dawson exceeded its 1930 crop by nearly 19,000 bales, and Terry was ahead of the 1930 crop by less than 10,000 bales.

The Herald will still maintain that it is better to raise an average crop each year than a bumper one year to fall down next year. The harder land counties will beat the sand when it is seasonable, but there are a great many years out here when the rainfall is shy. There is always a greater feed and corn acreage in the sand land counties than there is in cotton. While the 1931 acreage showed Terry to have around 100,000 acres in cotton, perhaps if the truth was known we really had less than two-thirds of that by the time sandier lands stopped blowing out and replaced with corn or maize.

We are sure our cotton acreage was nearer 70,000 than it was 100,000. We give production for two years. The (1) used in two of the counties indicate no ginning for 1930:

County	1931	1930
Bailey	21,803	5,301
Cochran	4,915	(1)
Crosby	34,429	9,778
Dawson	54,368	35,424
Dickens	29,302	11,302
Floyd	13,269	8,312
Gaines	4,248	4,089
Garza	16,253	6,391
Hale	31,612	17,774
Hockley	63,045	28,308
Howard	29,471	18,520
Lamb	80,349	36,873
Lubbock	72,172	33,781
Lynn	52,351	28,602
Martin	14,761	7,332
Midland	8,102	(1)
Terry	33,848	24,537

Total 564,299 276,414

Lamb county was the champion in 1930! Lubbock, 2nd, and they hold the same positions for 1931. South Plains produced more than twice the amount of cotton they did in 1930, and one-ninth of the cotton produced in Texas. Ten years ago they were producing less than 100,000 bales and 20 years ago there was not over a half dozen gins in all this vast region of 17 counties usually referred to as the South Plains counties, of which all are wholly or partially on the Plains.

NEXT MONDAY IS OUR TRADES DAY AGAIN

All Preparations as Usual Have Gone Forward to Make the Day Both Profitable and Pleasant to the Visitors Here That Day. Come and Bring the Family.

Folks, the Lions Club are fixing to entertain you in a big way again Monday, and they are making no bones about the matter but are going right on with their plans of making Monday a much bigger and better day than the last one was, and it was great and you know it. In view of the fact that the so-called lottery laws of Uncle Sam are rather rigid, we can say very little in this paper about what is going to be did, but we wish you to understand that the same things that were pulled last First Monday is going over again this time. You can have all the prizes you want to have and give them away, so you comply with state laws, but they cannot be mentioned in any way if the conditions, amount of prize, who got them etc., are to go through the mills. As the Herald does not want to violate any laws that would get us tangled up with our Uncle Samuel, you'll have to guess at the rest.

But you are promised a great time here that day. Bring in all your trading stuff. We understand that a number of our farmers are going to bring in all their nags and broncs to trade a little that day. Also, there may be a number of good mules in town for sale that day, and if you want a good team, or to match one of your mules or horses that are not matched now, here will be a good place to catch it Monday. Bring in the pigs you do not need, also some good chickens that you have a surplus of. Perhaps your fellow citizen for the very thing you don't need and will be as anxious to buy as you are to sell. There is going to be a bigger crowd than there was a month ago, and it will be a good time to get what you need and dispose of what you do not need.

The ad solicitor for the Herald is making his rounds among the merchants this week, and most of them are willing and ready to do their share toward making the First Monday Trades Day a real success. And boy! and this includes nearly everything you can think of in the way of something to eat, wear or use. They are throwing profits to the wind this time and cutting to the hollow in order to make things hum just right next Monday.

The people way outside of Brownfield's trade territory are getting a wind of these events, and we understand there will be a lot of strangers here Monday to look over the situation, buy what they need and have a good time with the rest of us. Brownfield has prepared to put the little pot in the big one and throw a real First Monday. Come one, come all.

IMPORTANT ELECTIONS HERE SATURDAY-TUESDAY

Saturday We Have the School Election. Many Good Men On The Ticket. Full City Election Ticket for Next Tuesday. Vote for Best Interest of Community.

Two elections to be held here in the next few days have created quite a lot of interest. The first of these will be held here Saturday in which four trustees for the Brownfield schools will be elected. A list of six-teen nominees have been handed in to the secretary, J. L. Cruce, and the commercial department of the school is printing the ballots. These sixteen names include the old trustees whose terms expire, being Fred Smith, K. W. Howell, A. W. Andersen and W. M. Adams.

In addition to these, the following have been nominated also: G. W. Chisholm, W. A. Bynum, R. A. Simms, A. A. Sawyer, Frank Proctor, O. L. Jones, A. C. Green, Bob Bowers, R. M. Kendrick, W. R. McDuffie, and C. B. Quante. You have a long list to choose from, all good men; men we believe that will put the interests of the school above any petty politics, either religious or political; men who will choose out teachers with great care and hold the finances of the school down to the very lowest expense possible not to injure it, until at least times are better.

In the city election called for next Tuesday, we also have some mighty good men up for election, and it promises to be one of the most interesting elections in many years. These offices are, like the school, very important to the growth of the city. So let us forget friendship if need be in this election, and put in men who will have the interests of the tax payers at heart.

In this election, we have the old Mayor, Joe J. McGowan up for reelection. Friends of Judge Geo. W. Neill had his name put on the ballot this week. For City Marshal, we have the present incumbent, E. Brown, as well as D. P. Lewis, Cliff Fitzgerald and Geo. E. Tiernan. For the office of City Councilmen, we have G. S. Webber and A. M. Brownfield, whose terms expire, and Chester Gore and Sam Murphy. Two are to be elected.

Personally, the Herald is inclined to think that no one can go wrong no matter which of these set of men are elected. This is the first time in our history when we really have had a ballot to go by in our school elections. We have had suggestive lists, but they were little help, as no one knew whether they would stand for election if it was handed them on a platter or not. This way, they have been nominated by petition of at least ten voters, and it makes the election really legal, as we understand it.

City Well is Given A Thorough Cleaning

City Utility Manager, Eunice Jones was in the Herald office Monday and informed us that a crew of hands had given the city well its annual spring cleaning in the past few days, and that it was now in fine shape to give good service through the summer months when there will be a heavy demand for water for irrigating purposes. He remarked that considerable sand was removed and that seemingly every time it was cleaned out the well was strengthened, but that it never has gotten to where it will run both pumps to capacity, which is some 500 gallons per minute.

Mr. Jones informed us that there had been some talk by the city council of putting down another well while everything that enters into its finishing is so cheap. If, said he, the other well should happen to cave in, it would throw the city in a very bad shape, as the engines that run our power and light plants are dependent on circulating water from this well all the time. Jones believes that another well could be put down now a third cheaper than the other one, if it were the same type of well. However, he said that most of the talk had been of a large 36 inch drilled well, with a 12 inch casing inside and graveled between them to keep the sand forced out. This type of well could be drilled cheaper, and the water from it pumped directly into the mains.

Eunice informed us that the City Council in a recent session had paid the fire boys a glowing compliment for the splendid fire record in Brownfield, and the part they have played in keeping the 15 percent reduction on for good fire record in this city.

Garner to Eat South Plains Champion Ham

Speaker John N. Garner will eat the champion South Plains ham as gift of the Lubbock Garner-for-President club, James H. Goodman, of the club, said last night.

Yesterday afternoon the club paid one dollar a pound for the 13-pound champion ham that Mrs. R. L. May, of Amberst, entered in the second annual Lubbock Fat Calf, Pig and Cured Meat show.

Other prize winners bought: Ham; second, H. L. May, 80 cents by Kuykendall Chevrolet Co.; third, Leo Well, Hale Center, 80 cents by W. L. Ellwood.

Bacon, first, I. V. Fent, Olton, to Plainview Herald, 80 cents; second, I. V. Fent, to W. L. Ellwood.—Lubbock-Avalanche.

Talmadge Hardy has moved to Lubbock where he expects to get work on the highway. He writes that he will remove to Brownfield as soon as conditions are better.

Plains Odd Fellows Here Next Tuesday

By invitation of the local lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the South Plains association of this order will send delegates here next Tuesday for their annual convention and several hundred are expected to be here on that date to attend their business session, and to mix a little fun and pleasure with the meeting. The local boys have made great preparations to entertain the visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

The business sessions, we understand will start as early in the morning as the arrival of delegates will permit. This will include anything that might come up or value to the organization in this section of the state, as well as the election of officers for the ensuing year. Lunch will be spread at the noon hour in the hall, we presume. This will be furnished by local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs.

At night, there will likely be some competitive floor and degree work put on for the benefit of the visitors as well as the home team.

CARD OF THANKS

We have not words to express our thankfulness of our many friends, neighbors, doctors and nurse for their kind words and deeds. May God bless each of you is our prayer.

Santa Fe-A. & M. Exhibits Seen by 1600

The Santa Fe-A. & M. Special arrived on the dot here Wednesday afternoon, immediately behind the regular train. Those in charge lost no time in getting to work, explaining through loud speakers what was to be seen on the train, and who would have charge of the various departments. The doors were then opened and the visitors admitted.

Talks by specialists of A. & M. College and the varied exhibits aboard dealt with the benefits of improved farming methods, a live-at-home program and how life on the farm may be made more comfortable, happier and of greater profit. The program as a whole featured such general topics as agronomy, beef cattle, dairy cattle, poultry, hogs, sheep and goats, farm electrification, feeding and clothing the family, 4-H club work, yard beautification, rug making and home industries. In the exhibits displayed, visitors to the train found illustrations of the points brought out by the speakers.

In announcing the purpose and nature of the special, J. D. Tinsley, general agricultural agent, Panhandle & Santa Fe Amarillo said: "This is not the first agricultural train in the operation of which the Santa Fe has joined with the Texas A. & M. College. But the exhibits aboard are the best ever carried from the college in such work. They tell in a fine way what the college is doing in helping the advancement of agricultural independence and the Santa Fe, in joining with the college in such an enterprise, feels it is taking the best way to aid in bringing about greater prosperity and better living conditions on the farm."

The Santa Fe operated agricultural trains in Texas in 1923, 1924 and 1928. The 1932 farm and home special is the forty-seventh such train run by the Santa Fe System in cooperation with the agricultural colleges in the twelve states in which it operates. This year's Texas train is a nine-car special, including four cars of exhibits, flat car for speakers' platform equipped with electrically operated voice amplifier for open air meetings, passenger coach for meetings in inclement weather, livestock feed car and cars for accommodation of the personnel abroad. Operation of the special is being handled by the railway, exhibits and speakers being supplied by the college and other cooperating agencies.

The train arrived here on the seventh week of an itinerary of nearly eight weeks, including 152 stops on Santa Fe lines in Texas. The tour began February 15 at Navasota, Grimes County, and will end April 6 at Snyder, Scurry county.

Members of the A. & M. College groupe aboard included: S. C. Evans, district agent, Extension Service; Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, Extension Service; Mrs. Meade F. Griffin, agricultural writer, Plainview; D. A. Adam, county agent, Lamb county; G. W. Barnes, Texas Livestock Marketing Association, Fort Worth; D. S. Buchanan, animal husbandry department, A. & M.; R. E. Dickson, superintendent Spur Sub-Experiment Station; Frank Phillips, West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon; P. T. Montford, agricultural engineering department, A. & M.; S. D. Snyder, farm electrification specialist, College Station; and W. H. Darrow, editor, Extension Santa Fe representatives aboard included: J. F. Jarrell, manager of agricultural development, Santa Fe System, Topeka, Kan.; J. D. Tinsley, general agricultural agent, Panhandle & Santa Fe, Amarillo; L. F. Dinan, agricultural agent, Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, Galveston; A. M. Hove, special representative, THE EARTH, Amarillo; and F. A. Baker, trainmaster, Slaton.

The Texas Utilities Company which furnished the power for electrical appliances exhibited was represented by W. L. Pearson, Lubbock.

A more extended account of exhibits will appear in next week's Herald.

1601 visitors went through the A. & M.-Santa Fe special here Wednesday, said by officials to be the largest crowd that has gone through so far on the trip.

All Phones Undergoing A Rigid Inspection

L. D. Sheffield, local line and repair man for the Associated Telephone Company, which owns the local exchange as well as many other exchanges and toll lines in this section, is working over and inspecting the boxes and connections all over the city. While at the Herald office, he informed us that he would have about 100 to inspect in Brownfield in the next 30 days. There is not much else doing, according to Mr. Sheffield, and in order to keep him employed, the company started him on this business week.

He first inspects all lines entering residences and business houses to see if all connections are good. Those in poor condition are resoldered and put in good shape. He next inspects the phone and all connections on the inside of the house. All screws and connections are tightened inside the transmitter receiver and the box, and the batteries examined. Questions are asked the subscriber about any deficiency in the service the phone is giving them, if any, and the condition remedied. Last of all, the box, transmitter and receiver are thoroughly cleaned and polished.

H. A. Sheffield and family of Littlefield, were visitors in the home of his brother, L. D. and family over the week-end.

INDIGNATION OF TEXAS

(From the Albany (N. Y.) Knickerbocker Press) Loyal Texans of late have been kept busy explaining just how and where their State arrived as a member of the Union. Somehow the notion has been spread by careless writers that Texas was acquired from Mexico by conquest and wherever this statement finds its way into print some patriotic resident of the State rises to deny its truth. It is indeed important that the record in this matter be kept straight, for an erroneous notion, once planted, is uprooted only with utmost difficulty. As the information of most people, especially in the East, regarding Texas is somewhat hazy, it is perhaps a good thing that the point as to the early history of Texas has been raised high enough so that it can be seen and remembered. A frequent habit of some writers is to denounce the United States for its part in the Mexican War. The present difficulty in Manchuria has furnished a good excuse for these to say that what Japan is doing in Manchuria is just what the United States did toward Mexico, and that by "taking Texas from Mexico by force" this country muddled its own skirts so that it now protests with ill grace against Japanese invasions elsewhere. It is this phrase, "taking Texas from Mexico by force," that inspires The Texas Weekly, at Dallas, to rise fiercely to the defense of the State and to explain that Texas was an independent State recognized as such by Washington and at least three other powers as early as 1836, or 10 years before the outbreak of the Mexican War. It had sought and been granted admission to the Union the year before that war. It was in no sense a prize won by American arms. These are facts, and it is surprising that the error should persist that Texas was taken by force from Mexico. What ever shady spots there may be in the history of American conquest, the acquisition of Texas certainly is not one.

A Ridiculing Message Pays 5c Exchange On Cashing Checks

You are depressed. You think you are crippled. You are afraid of the future. You are full of fears. You have half the gold of the world and half of the machinery and most of the automobiles and all the skyscrapers. You have the greatest home market in the world and the largest corporations that the world has ever seen. You are ruled more by ideas and less by tradition than any other people in the world. You have usually done what you thought you could do. How can it be possible that a progressive nation of 120,000,000 people can be wrecked by the speculations of little handful of fools in Wall Street? The prices that were forced too high had to come down. Today all the prices are too low. There is now a golden opportunity for every man who has eyes to see it. Dollars are now being sold for 30 cents. Practically every security in the United States is now being sold at less than its value. The way to create a fortune is to buy from pessimists. Pay your money and take the risk. Frick started his career by buying coke in the slump of 1873. Carnegie made $300,000,000 by buying steel plants in slumps. Hundreds of fortunes have been made by buying from pessimists. Ye Gods! What a chance there is at this moment. In five years, most American business men will belong to the "I-Wish-I-Had-Club." Then it will be too late to buy a dollar for thirty cents. The opportunities will be gone. When a horse balks, the balk is in his head and not in his legs. He moves on when he thinks he will. And when an American business man is depressed the slump is in his head. There is nothing serious to prevent him from making money if he thinks he will. When fear rules the will nothing can be done, but when a man casts Fear out of his mind, the world becomes his oyster. To lose a bit of money is nothing, but to lose hope—or lose nerve and ambition—that is what makes men cripples. The silly depression has gone on long enough. Get rid of it. It is inside of you. Rise and walk!—Southwestern Drug Trade News for the month of March, 1932.

A TOOL THE DEVIL WANTS TO KEEP

It was once announced that the Devil was going out of business, and would offer all of his tools for sale to anyone who would pay the price. On the night of the sale they were all attractively displayed, and a bad looking lot they were. Malice, hatred, envy, jealousy, sensuality, deceit and all other implements of evil were attractively spread out, each one marked with its price. Apart from the rest lay a harmless looking wedge-shaped tool—much worn—and priced much higher than any of the others. Someone asked the Devil what it was. "That's Discouragement," was the reply. "Why have you priced it so high?" "Because," replied the Devil, "it is more useful inside a man's consciousness with that when I could not get near him with any of the others—and when once inside I can use him in whatever way suits me best. It is much worn because I've used it on nearly everyone and very few know it belongs to me." It hardly need be added that the Devil's price for discouragement was so high it was never sold. He still owns it—and is still using it. Is he using it in your business now that winter is over and most all of us have our day? Let's forget this tool and get to work. The business is here if we work for it. Will you get yours or will you let the people of some other city get all the trade. If you are wise you will trade at home and you will prosper. Trade away from home and you will go down. When a businessman shops out of town it makes people afraid of his merchandise. The first thing your customer will think of is that your merchandise is not what it should be or you would trade at home. When you show people you have confidence in your line, you can make other people interested. Trade at home if you want prosperity for your own town.—Journal, Hominy, Okla.

OBLIGING

"Look Mother," said little Willie, proudly exhibiting a handful of marbles, "I won all these from Bobby Smith." "Why, Willie!" exclaimed his mother, "don't you know it's wicked to play marbles for keeps? Go right over to Bobbie's house and give him back every one of his marbles!" "Yes, mother," said the boy obediently, "and shall I take that vase you won at Mrs. Smith's bridge party and give it back to her?"

IMPUDENT AL CAPONE

The impudence of Al Capone in offering to rescue the Lindbergh baby if the government will only release him, under $200,000 bond, is sublime. He says, in effect, to the peace officers, to the president, to congress and to the American people: "You are helpless. The kidnapers are more powerful than you all. But they aren't more powerful than Al Capone. Turn me loose a few days and you will see."

And the worst of it is, the thing that galls us most, is that Capone probably is right about it. He has underworld connections which would, probably put him in touch with the kidnapers in 24 hours. His name strikes terror to the hearts of gangsters. He never was able to "muscle in" on New York rackets, but it isn't certain that New York racketeers are at the bottom of the Lindbergh affair. One police official said Chicago gangsters were responsible. If so, the impudent Capone might be of help.

But it would be a sickening spectacle to see a great nation compromising with a convicted criminal, on such a basis as Capone proposes. It would be an open confession that the gang leader is more powerful than all the law-enforcement agencies of the greatest nation on earth. The baby's safety is the first consideration of course, there will be plenty of time to do something about punishing the guilty. Just now any method, however involved, that would result in the restoring the child unharmed to its mother's arms would be justifiable. Our humiliation over the necessity of employing gang methods in dealing with gangsters should convince us that gangdom must be stamped out.—Abilene News.

A JUST DEFENSE

Now perhaps winter's cold chilling blast, O'er the poet's did a gloom cast, But the soul of a poet is never killed Although it may sometimes be chilled.

But as the sun shines, and it feels the warm glow, It will come forth with spring-time rhymes, you know; Striving to make the hearts of all glad, Whom through disappointment has been made sad.

Trying to show to all, natures most beauty spot, With the tint of the rose and forget-me-not; For the poet's soul must see and feel, Before it can these beauties reveal.

JUSTICE HOLMES

The retirement, at the age of 90, of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme Court of the United States, brings to an end a magnificent public career. He has become recognized as one of the great jurists of history—and, more than that, as a great man as well. His has been a life devoted purely to the public service. He has the qualities of mind and heart that are given to few men in any time. Justice Holmes' life encompasses a period that, to most of us, is history. He tempered justice with mercy, and fought always for the rights of humanity, for the oppressed and the misunderstood and the unfortunate. Age seemed to add to, rather than detract from, the keenness and penetration of his mind, and it was only ill health that forced his retirement. Although he has left the bench, the work that he has done for his fellow citizens will be ever-present for generations to come. Wink—Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stevens purchased Milk Depot and are now open for business.

West Texas C. of C. Vs. Payments to Veterans

Opposition to the soldiers bonus was announced by officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

This was to be expected since the W. T. C. C. is ramrodded by men who are heard of, or affiliated with corporations, banks, etc.

They talk of stopping the bonus when that is impossible. It is only bonus in name; otherwise it is a binding obligation the government has agreed to pay at a future date.

The men are asking payment now because many of them have been unemployed for a long period, thru no fault of their own, and many need food and clothing for their families.

The well-to-do-class of citizens who can't see the needy ex-soldiers now, thought nothing was too good for them when our citizens feared Germany might win the world war.

This fight on the bonus is a nationwide movement planned by capitalist groups and is a political movement.

"The reason is plain. The combined utility and banking interests, headed by the power trust, have the most powerful and widely organized political machine ever known in our history.

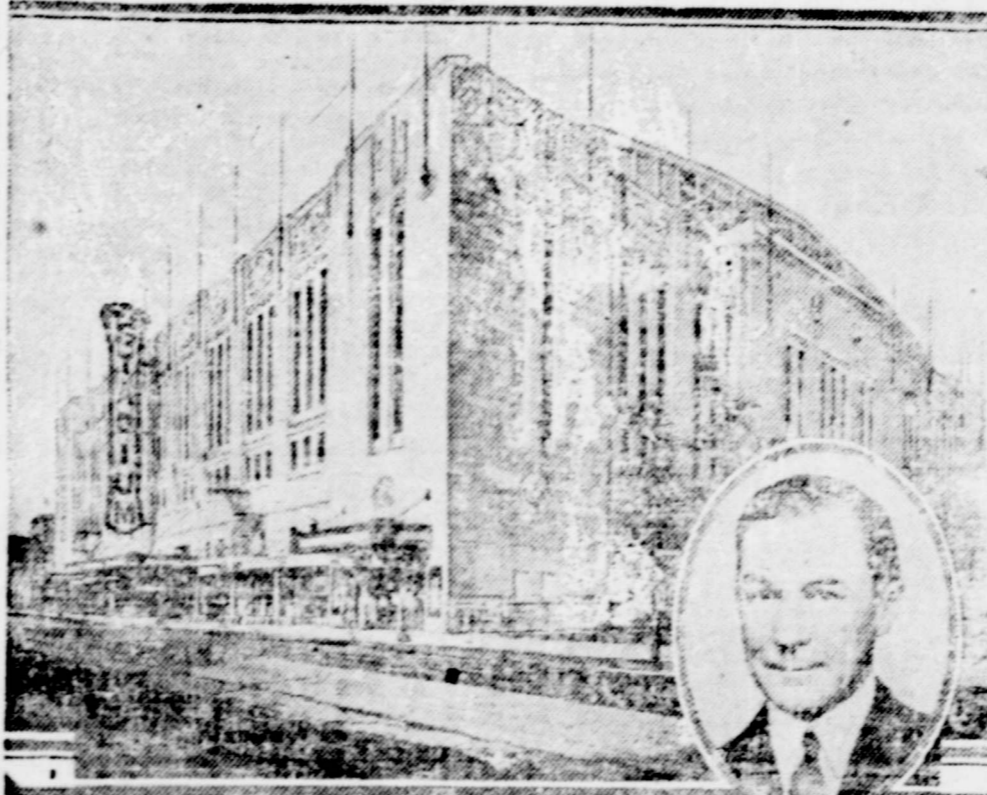

"This machine cooperates with other reactionary economic, industrial and financial groups. It is strenuously working to control the nomination of candidates for the presidency and the congress of both political parties."

President Hoover one of the main objectors to the Bonus is a "power trust president"; the "clique" will attempt to have the Democrats nominate one friendly to the selfish interests.

We have in the past freely appropriated millions to feed the hungry in China, Belgium, Porto Rico and elsewhere; but now the rich claim we cannot afford to pay the nation's defenders a just debt.

CHICAGO has jumped into a long lead over other cities in the race for winning convention assignments, and particularly the two great assemblages of Democrats and Republicans in June puts Chicago well in the lead and gives the "Windy City" an opportunity to stage these colorful affairs as a curtain raiser to the "Century of Progress" which will be a head-line attraction in 1933.

Mend Your Speech

Shakespeare has given us the advice "mend your speech lest it mar your fortune," which is, in my opinion, as good advice as could be given anyone.

Slovenly speech is as clearly an indication of slovenly thought as profanity is of a degraded mind.

We also often misconstrue the true meanings of words. There is often uncertainty about the distinctions between the meanings of such words as bring and carry; by and bye; lay and lie; calculate and intend; claim, assert and maintain; should and would; shall and will; raise and bring up; scarcely and hardly; set and sit; same and similar and so forth.

correctly, how to form plurals or possessives, how to properly divide words into syllables, how to spell correctly or to correctly interpret the meaning of words in common use?

High School All Keyed for the Big Event

A feeling of high tension and expectancy prevails among the pupils and teachers in high school this week. Everybody is "all set" or trying at the minute to get set for the big day which takes place Friday and Saturday of this week—the county meet of the Interscholastic League.

Tryout Held

The declamation tryout was held Wednesday night, March 23. Judges were secured from Lamesa. The students who won in the tryout were: high school boy, Bill Savage; high school girl, Marven Hill; Junior high boy, John Jr. McLeod; Junior high girl, Doris Lee Gore; grammar school boy, Charles Boyce Rambo; grammar school girl, Bonna Carning; Story Telling, Mary Nell Adams and Kathryn Byrum.

Spanish Club

The Spanish club met on Tuesday and each member did his part to make the program worth while. Answers to the roll call were five grains and five parts of the body in Spanish. Dorothy McGlothlin asked the club twelve interesting questions which were hard to answer in Spanish. Mabel Perry told about the country and natives of Bolivia. The club concluded the period by singing. It was of decided importance that if the members do not prepare their parts on the program, they are fined five cents.

Home Economics

The study of the living room has been taken up in the Home Economics club. The following talks were given at the last club meeting: Plans for the living room, Louise White; Background of the living room, Queenelle Sawyer; Furniture of the living room, Ruth Henyon; Reading, Annie Letha Hamilton.

The study of miscellaneous rooms is to be taken up at the next club meeting.

Tennis Meet Held

The tennis meet was held here Saturday under the direction of Mr. Hayhurst. The preliminaries were run off on three different courts. The Brownfield court, west of Mrs. M. V. Brownfield's home, the Enderesen court east of the Enderesen residence and the gym court in the gymnasium. The boys doubles were played on the Brownfield court, boy's singles on the Enderesen court and girls singles and doubles on the gym court. In boy's single those competing in the tri-finals were Gomen, Johnson, Brownfield and Meadow. The first game was supposed to be between Brownfield and Johnson, but as the Johnson man failed to show up, Brownfield won by default. The next game was between Meadow and Brownfield. Gilliam Graham of Brownfield won the required two sets with score of, first set, 6 and 2; second set, 6 and 2. Gomen next played Brownfield and again Gilliam won; this time the score was first set 4-6, second set 3-6. This made Graham county champion in boys. The teams competing in the final doubles were Gomen, Forrester, Wellman, Meadow and Brownfield. Forrester beat Gomen; Meadow beat Wellman; and Brownfield beat Meadow, with a score of 3 and 6; and 4 and 6. Brownfield and Forrester entered the finals and managed to get one set played before they were forced to quit because of darkness. The result of this set was 6 and 3 in favor of Brownfield. The other set or two sets, as the case may be will be played off Friday, April 1.

The winner in girls doubles and singles was Meadow. Those representing this school in tennis were boys doubles, Otis Spears and Gilliam Graham; girls doubles, Martha McClish and Evelyn Pippin; boys single, Gilliam Graham; girls single, Letaine Eicke.

J. C. Grimes and daughters were in Monday afternoon shopping. J. C. spent most of his time at the Herald office chatting with the editor. Said he would not get in for the Demonstration train, but that Mrs. Grimes, and neighbor, Mrs. Harris, would represent their section of old Yuzum.

Proving mastery of more than the barber's trade at which he earns his living, Frank Laurino of Boston has built this miniature Napoleonic coach model entirely of scrap materials—principally cigar box wood. ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES

The whole community was shocked last Friday when it was learned that Mrs. R. W. Rambo, one of the pioneer women of this county had passed on. It was generally known that she had been in failing health for some time, but probably did not know that the end was so near. She died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Claude Henderson near the Pool community.

The body was prepared for burial by the Brownfield Undertaking Co., and was brought to the home of her grandson, J. H. Rambo. Funeral services were conducted at the Baptist church Saturday morning at ten o'clock by an old friend, Rev. J. B. Vinson, following burial was had in the Brownfield cemetery.

Mrs. Rambo was born in Johnson county, Texas, on the 23rd day of August, 1869. At the age of three, the family moved to Comanche county, where she grew to young womanhood and married her late husband who preceded her in death about 12 years. Her eldest son, Clint, died about a year ago. In 1907, the Rambo family moved to Terry county and settled in what is known now as the Johnson community. Like all the ladies of those old days, she was thoroughly endowed with the pioneering spirit, and her home was always open to the young and old alike, and she was ever ready to help out in any way when sickness or death came into the community.

Two children, Mrs. Claude Henderson and Ervin, survive her, both of which live in this county. Besides these, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Clint Rambo and sons, J. H. and R. W., and a host of old and new friends remain to mourn her passing.

Scouting Objectives That Build Character

Getting the individual ready to take his place in the world as a regular upright citizen filled with the right type of character is a great problem and one that confronts every parent. The problem of something for the modern boy to do is constantly being trained by the things he does. Coming to the rescue of this parent and the boy is the Scout movement with its adventure, romance, activity, pioneer stuff, handicraft, camping and other outdoor items. This movement has long realized that its supreme purpose was to make men out of boys and the right kind of men. The right kind of men are considered men of character and worthy and able to fit in as citizens of the community. With these two worthy aims as an objective the leaders of the Scout organization set to work a program that trains the boy in the things that are calculated to develop character and citizenship.

One great educator once said that to teach a person anything we must outline a set of activities, the doing of which would teach him the things we want him to know. If we would develop a spirit of honor let us place the boy in a responsible position among his fellows, let us trust him until he proves himself unworthy to be trusted. If we would have him reverent let us teach him loyalty to God, duty to neighbors and respect for others through a "good turn daily" and through a study of nature in God's great out-of-doors. Should we like him to be self-disciplined. Why not try teaching him obedience, thrift, self-denial, sobriety, good temper and purity through the scout law, camp etiquette, ceremonial drill, saving bank etc. In case we should like him to be self-reliant what about teaching him handiness, ability, pluck and doggedness through such activities as swimming, first aid, marksmanship and the various handicraft? Should we like for him to be intelligent why not teach him observation, deduction, memory and use of wit through such activities as tracking, mapping, reporting, signaling, pioneering etc. Then when we decide he needs to be energetic what about ejecting some into his surroundings by filling same with food, fun and fighting. Fighting to win the game he may play. Fighting to show his skill in a well chosen hobby, and playing the game of life in a boy's way.

Would you like for your boy to be introduced to a program as rich in activity and as filled with thrills and ideals and good attitudes at this?

Needmore News

The Friday afternoon school Easter egg hunt seemed to be highly enjoyed by both the pupils and the visitors of the school. On Friday night, 18th, the school and community had a spelling match. Much interest was manifested and many of the people asked that they be given another spelling opportunity soon which request will be granted. The program of the same night in addition, consisted of a debate and a political speech. We hope to create a deep interest in debating, spelling, ciphering, etc., among both the patrons and pupils of the community in "match" form. Why not have entertainment that is educational as well as merely entertaining? And now too, since interscholastic league work is nearly over we must look forward to some more school programs and plays.

Asks Prison Probe After Husband's Death

A. D. Swor

Mrs. A. D. Swor

A. D. Swor, prisoner at Eastham prison farm, in the Trinity river bottoms near Weldon, Texas, complained he could not work because he was sick. He was lashed by guards on official orders. Two days later he died. His wife, mother of three little children, left her small home near Port Arthur to go to prison officials and demand an investigation. Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system, said that Swor's death did not result from whipping. Four prisoners from Eastham are in the prison hospital now as a result of mutilated feet, inflicted by themselves or by fellow prisoners, Simmons says, so that they might escape work at Eastham, where Captain B. B. Monzingo is in charge.

Bridges Selling Fine Peanuts and Artichokes

W. R. Bridges brought us in a sack of peanuts Saturday for and in payment of an artichoke ad we ran for him some time ago. Wiley says he got many inquiries about the artichokes from the ad as well as many sales. He still has a number of them for sale yet which will be fine for seed purposes. They do mighty well here, according to Mr. Bridges, who has given them a thorough trial in the past few years.

We have been seeing artichokes ever since we could remember, having had a small patch of them near the old garden in the state of Tennessee, which would volunteer from year to year. The older boys use to go out there in the late fall with the spade or grubhoe and dig out a number of them, which would be eaten raw, and we must admit that they tasted good to us although all of us boys would be frequently warned about the tummyache by the older people, who generally considered them fit for nothing except hog feed, and sorry for that.

However, in the past several years, people have begun to cook them to some extent, after they have been celled for some time. We had a mess of them a few years ago, and we found them to be fully as good as new potatoes, whiter and more mealy. They have an excellent flavor all their own, and will no doubt produce much more per acre than Irish potatoes. Yet their value as a food for hogs has not lessened any since they have been found good for people too. They have considerable sugar as well as starch, and are fattening to porkers, and are thoroughly relished by them.

As to the sack of peanuts, they were fine. Have not found a faulty one in the whole bunch, and if you are looking for planting peanuts, see Wiley. However, will say that our small bag is not for planting purposes. We are keeping them at the printing office, and a quantity of them are kept on the stove almost all day, and all hands help themselves at leisure. They are the large jumbo or Virginia variety.

Patton Home Burns In Meadow Section

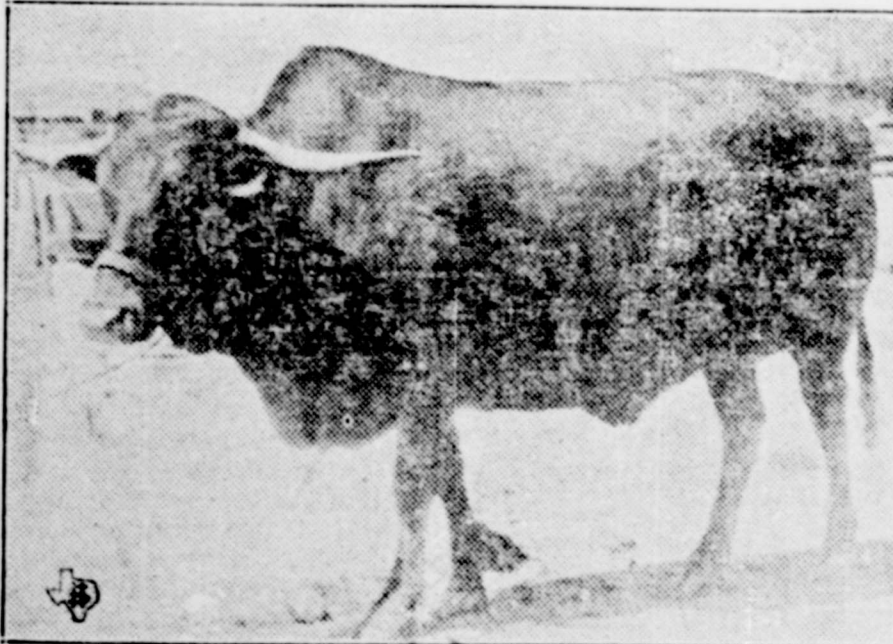

Mrs. Ruth E. Baker, of Meadow, was in the Herald office this week and informed us that the Patton farm home in the Challis community burned last Thursday afternoon with entire contents. She was not aware just how it took fire. The building and farm was the property of Uncle Dick Carruth, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Baker informed us that the people of Meadow made up a purse and helped the Patton family purchase household supplies, as they carried no insurance on their property. Uncle Dick probably has some insurance on the building.

New Cattle Breed Comes to Texas

Twenty-nine head of Africander cattle, the first ever brought into the United States, have arrived at the famous King ranch, near Kingsville, Texas, for cross breeding with American cattle now on the ranch. The largest of sixteen bulls, pictured above, weighs 2,200 pounds. The heaviest of the cows tips the scales at 1,500 pounds. This species is used as draft animals in South Africa.

"Racket," Origin
The word "racket," with the meaning of confused, clattering noise, has an imitative origin etymologically. By extension this came to mean a social bustle of some kind, with a meaning similar to the word "spree." Finally by the uncertain processes which such words often take it came to have a slang meaning of a scheme, dodge or trick. This meaning developed into the idea of a gigantic illegal enterprise.

Maze Has Attractions

Herodotus tells of an Egyptian maze renowned 2,500 years before Christ. Early English Proverb

"You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear," is an early English proverb, and the first use of it appears to be in "The Pilgrim of Cotgrave" (1738). It appears also in Swift's "Polite Conversation" (1748) and again in Richardson's "Clarissa" (1750) and repeatedly thereafter.

Buses Exempt Under Texas Jim Crow Law

Austin, March 23.—Texas Jim Crow law, segregating negro passengers on trains, interurbans, and street cars in special compartments, does not apply to motor buses, the court of criminal appeals held today.

In ordering reversal of a conviction against Sadie Patillo, convicted in Beaumont and fined $10 for violating the Jim Crow law, the appellate had failed to make provision in the separate compartment statute to include buses. The negro was charged with riding in a compartment of a bus reserved for whites. The court ordered prosecution dismissed.

The court's opinion stated that while it was plain the legislature intended whites and negroes should ride in separate compartments in public conveyances, and that it might be desirable to separate them on buses, "it may be unfortunate that the legislature did not provide for such a contingency by inserting buses or other public conveyances in the statute."

Gov. Advises Counties Not to Issue Bonds

Austin, Texas, Feb. 27.—Gov. Ross S. Sterling Saturday advised counties not to issue any more road bonds, saying people already are overburdened with taxes and funds are not available to match them in every instance. The Governor's statement follows:

"My attention has been called by the Highway Department to the fact that various counties in Texas still are voting or contemplating voting bonds for the construction of State highways. It is my opinion that no county should burden its taxpayers by voting bonds for such a purpose. This position I have taken for the last four years. I have always maintained that the homes, farms, ranches and other real estate should not be called on to build State and Federal highways. I am still of the opinion that the counties should be refunded the money they have placed in State highways and that their outstanding bonds should be assumed by the State or other bonds in lieu thereof.

"The revenue derived from the gasoline tax, license fee and Federal aid is sufficient during such times as these to provide a sufficient construction fund and adequately maintain the highways without resorting to further county bond issues, which result in increasing the tax rate in such counties and also in increasing the burden which eventually will be borne by the State in assuming or refunding to the counties the money spent on highways.

"I am convinced that it will be necessary to amend the Constitution to make it possible to divert any portion of the gasoline tax toward the payment of outstanding bonds or refunding the money that heretofore has been spent in the construction of highways. The Brooks bill, as passed by the last called session of the Legislature, was unconstitutional and would not have given the relief I think the taxpayers are entitled to receive. This tremendous expense is the great burden under which the taxpayers are laboring. The tax rate in many counties, because of bond issues for road purposes, is $1.50 on the $100 valuation. It is obvious that the citizens of this State and Nation must have relief from the ever-increasing tax burdens."—Dallas News.

General Motors Moves To Increase Business

Special displays of General Motors products will open today over the entire country as part of the Corporation's nation-wide project to improve business. All local places of business handling General Motors automobiles and allied lines have been decorated for the occasion as part of the National Exhibit Week preparations by the Corporation.

Local dealers have replenished their stocks, and have representative lines of models on display. Special arrangements have been made to care for visitors during the week end, when desired, provide demonstrations.

Insofar as possible the local General Motors dealers are approximating this week the 55 national exhibits of General Motors products being held in that number of cities. These exhibits and the co-operative efforts being extended in all other cities form what it is believed to be the greatest merchandising project to improve business ever attempted by an industrial corporation.

Local General Motors dealers point out that once before the automobile industry took a leading part in pulling business out of the doldrums. They assert that this nation-wide activity of General Motors in exhibiting its new products simultaneously in so attractive a manner is certain to stimulate a desire for a new automobile in the minds of thousands.

It is also pointed out that whatever success is attained will be reflected in many other lines than the actual sale of cars. The automobile industry is the largest purchaser of gasoline, rubber, steel, lubricating oil, plate glass, nickel and lead, and uses from 26 to 85 per cent of the total amount of their products produced.

The General Motors products being displayed in these national exhibits are Cadillac V-16, Cadillac V-12, Cadillac V-8, Buick Straight Eight, the new Oldsmobile Straight Eight and larger, improved six, the Pontiac V-8 and six, Chevrolet six and in the larger centers General Motors and Chevrolet trucks; Frigidaire electrical refrigeration units, both household and commercial; AC spark plugs, spark plug testers, Remo chemical injectors for the automatic removal of carbon, reflex lamps; Delco generators, vacuum cleaners, electrical fans and farm water and lighting systems.

Contract Let For Littlefield Memorial

Austin, Texas, March.—It was in keeping with his love for the South and the men who preformed heroic deeds for their homeland that the late Major George W. Littlefield, cattleman and banker of Austin, donated to The University of Texas, more than ten years ago, the sum of $250,000 for the erection at the south entrance to the original 40-acre campus of that institution a memorial designed to keep alive in the youth of today the spirit and sentiment of these leaders of a past generation.

The fund given by Major Littlefield is finally to be used for the purpose for which it was designated, after being held in trust for a decade. The contract for the erection of the Littlefield Memorial, as it is called, has just been awarded by the Board of Regents to J. F. Johnson of Austin for $118,600, and the construction will be started immediately. This sum will be largely used to pay the cost of the masonry which is a part of the design. The heroic bronze statues for the memorial were moulded and cast by the famous sculptor Pompeo Coppini who will receive $125,000 for this work. The remainder of the $250,000 has been more than taken up in payment of freight on the statues and other necessary incidental expenses. The six portrait statues which will ornament the stone structure are of James Stephen Hogg, John H. Reagan, Robert E. Lee, Albert Sidney Johnson, Jefferson Davis and Woodrow Wilson. During the last few years these great bronze figures have stood in the main rotunda of the State Capitol where they have attracted much attention to visitors.

Other sculptor figures to ornament the memorial have been designed and cast by Mr. Coppini and are ready for immediate shipment from New York it was stated. The original plans for the unusual monument were made some years ago. To meet the present architectural lay-out of the 40-acre campus these plans have been revised by Robert Leon White, University architect, and Paul Cret of Philadelphia, consulting architect.

Hunter Opens His Campaign at Mineola

Mineola, March 26.—The largest crowd that ever attended a political meeting in Mineola heard Tom F. Hunter, of Wichita Falls speak today in behalf of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor. The crowd braved a light rain which started falling shortly before the address.

Henry C. Fuller, editor of the Nacogoches Daily Sentinel, said if other districts of the state follow the lead of the third senatorial district, Hunter will be the next governor of Texas.

Fuller then introduced Hunter, who opened his speech by paying tribute to Jim Hogg, one of the Wood county's pioneer citizens. He followed this with a discussion of the meaning of political platforms.

"This is fight of man power against money power," he said. "I intend to carry it to every part of Texas. We have allowed ourselves to be divided on 'isms' and prejudices until the enemies of good government for the plain people have installed themselves in the state capital and have taken charge."

Newspapers by Plane May Be New Service

Ft. Worth.—The airplane has made possible "front door" newspaper service to inhabitants of the desert regions of West Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

An experiment started in fun may be made a permanent practice.

Parts of these regions are several days journey by burro—chief mode of transportation—from the nearest post offices. Two pilots of an air-mail transport company in their frequent trips across the desert areas, became sympathetic with the people, isolated several days from the current news events.

As an experiment, they filled the extra space in their plane with newspapers raised from a waiting room and elsewhere. Along the route they dropped the papers at tiny hamlets. They repeated this several times, until the people when they heard the roar of the plane, would rush from their dwellings, waving their hats and arms, welcoming the latest news. Many letters of gratitude to the American Airways Company here, from the desert folk have led company officials to consider making a regular practice of the act that was "just for the fun of it."

The United States Should Not Go to War

"Whatever further insanity the Japanese militarists may be guilty of, the United States should not go to war against them. We have no mandate to police the world. We cannot protect vast China by force of American arms. Nor can we preserve American interests by killing Japanese. Even if we were victors in a war, we would lose more than we would gain.

Patience is required for us now more than anything else. As the world's most powerful nation and as the world's credit control, the United States can wait. Soon or late, Japan must come to us. When she does come to us, there is bound to be accounting under American treaties which the Japanese militarists mistakenly think they have destroyed."

The above information was handed the Argus by the publicity committee of the local Methodist Church, and is a reprint of an editorial appearing in the Washington Star, and which is a part of a world-wide program of the Methodist church against war and for disarmament, which they say is the only thing that will prevent war.—Amherst Argus.

Traylor Finds Too Much Silence Responsible for Business Slump

Chicago Banker Traces Crash to Failure of Leaders to Give Warnings

Danger Signals Disregarded

Speaking before the International Chamber of Commerce at Washington, Melvin A. Traylor, President of the First National Bank of Chicago, said in part:

"Business management, however, is not alone responsible for the course it has followed. Unfortunately, it has had the cooperation of finance and government and will likewise have to have their cooperation in adjusting its affairs to a saner course. What, in fact, did the leaders of finance do to encourage the expansion which took place in the last decade?"

What, if anything, did they do to prevent such expansion with the consequences which they certainly did know or should have known would follow?

"I believe their record in that connection is not an enviable one. As early as 1927, it was clearly obvious to anyone having experience with the granting of credit that if the situation was allowed to continue, and if expansion and speculation were carried on unchecked, there could be but one end—disaster. Yet the record of American financial leadership and of responsible government officials was regrettably one of too much silence.

Sounded Few Warnings

Few warnings were issued, and few attempts were made to attract public attention to the danger that threatened. Credit for the expansion of productive facilities to meet temporary demands was granted to business without adequate consideration of the consequences. Credit without stint was furnished to consumers to buy consumable goods, thereby further increasing false purchasing power and multiplying debt. No one called a halt.

Every kind and character of combination and consolidation was made, regardless of its economic advisability or the possibility of economies in management or increased profits therefrom. Little or no consideration was given to the nature of the businesses involved; in one instance, for example, soaps and candies were united. Such combinations and mergers were promoted and securities were sold on the theory that temporary earnings derived from a false demand would not only continue, but would forever increase.

Furthermore, these securities were not sold to those in a position to buy, or who could buy for investment purposes, but rather to those less able to buy—to men and women fascinated by high-powered salesmanship and an in-born desire to gamble for big profits. Was such financial leadership calculated to inspire confidence or make for an economic stability which insures social welfare? I am afraid not. But financial leadership did not stop there. It actively promoted the purchase of equity stocks and split its own unit of stock par in order, as it said, to bring its market value within the reach of the small investor. May I add, parenthetically, that such action would have been unnecessary for their purpose had they waited only a few months.

Financial leaders organized and promoted so-called investment trusts to give the small investor a chance to profit from wise financial leadership, made foreign loans of speculative value, and, altogether, followed the procession obviously intent upon getting theirs while the getting was good.

Must Chart New Course

Are we to have a repetition of this kind of financial leadership? If it be true—as I believe it is—that credit is the life-blood of the nation, and that there can be no economic stability or social progress without a sound financial structure; and if it be true—as I also believe—that no financial system is sounder or more useful than its management, then financial leadership in this country must take stock of itself turn over a new leaf, and chart a new course of conduct for its future guidance.

If it be objected that not all financial leaders are guilty of such misconduct—and certainly there are some who are not—the indictment, nevertheless, stands. As far as the record discloses, not one had the courage to fight in the open against the tendencies he knew were wrong and to demand a right-about-face. Knowledge is one thing, but courage of leadership is another.
