Prairie Chicken Are Plentiful Says Cardwell

Post, July 30.—South Plains hunters who enjoy the annual short season of prairie chicken hunting, will have their fill this September, in the opinion of O. D. Cardwell, deputy game warden for this area of West Texas.

"From all reports I have there will be plenty of chicken hunting in Cochran, Gaines, Yoakum, Terry and Hockley counties," he said. "I was told by farmers and ranchers that a lot of chickens were killed by hail in June and that the high waters also killed many young ones. At that, there will be plenty of hunting I am sure."

Licenses On Sale Aug 20

Hunting license will be on sale in most hardware stores over the district about August 20, according to the warden. He expects the license about August 15 and he will send them at once to the stores that have usually handled them in the past.

"The new license year begins September 1 and closes August 31, 1933," Mr. Cardwell said. "Persons hunting out of their own county must have a license. I am anticipating a larger sale this year than last."

Last 4 Days

The prairie chicken season lasts four days, September 1, 2, 3 and 4. There are only a few counties in West Texas where the game birds are found. In the North Panhandle there is a large area around Wheeler, Hemphill, Roberts and other counties that has been famous as a hunting ground for years.

The South Plains area is not so well known. However, scores of Dallas, Fort Worth, and other hunters from that area were on the South Plains last year for the season. The coming season, Mr. Cardwell said, will bring more hunters from that area than ever before.

According to ranchers there were an unusually large number of young birds hatched out in the spring. Even with the death of many, the number is expected to be larger than last year.

Season bag is ten birds. A force of deputy wardens will patrol the area to see that the law is enforced.

Hockley Co. Singing Convention to Convene

Hockley County Singing Convention will hold the third convention for the year 1932 at Pettit beginning at ten o'clock August 7th. All officers of this organization are expected to be present and arrange for the program of the day.

Your program committee wishes to announce the following items: This is the day for the officers of the Plateau Convention to be with us. Singers from Lubbock, Lamb, Terry, and Cochran counties are expected. New Mexico will have a full representation. J. E. Brannon of Littlefield, one of the main managers of the organization, will be present. Zeddie Robinson, president of Lamb county, is expected. Bring your guitar, Zed, and the family, we will have a song.

Roy Ragshill be sure and bring the president of Terry County, "Chapman," Mr. Sears, you bring the rest of the bunch. Will say right here there will be plenty to eat. W. F. Frost guarantees that. With the co-operation of the surrounding communities Pettit has never failed.

In order for a singing convention to succeed there must be a live president with a set of officers that are awake.

Dan Fortenberry, president of Lubbock county convention, is expected to be here with his quartet.

All the Hockley people are invited to cooperate in every way possible to make the 1st Sunday in August (7) the best day and the largest crowd Pettit has ever had, and the largest gathering Hockley county has seen.

The way to cooperate is to come. Bring your books and a basket if you can. Any how bring yourselves and make it a day of good fellowship.

Program Committee: Albert Ellis, Anton; E. D. McDonald, Levelland; S. J. Taylor, Sundown.

Uncle Bud's Boss Tells Him to Go to Hell

Abilene, July 30.—"Uncle Bud" Russell, veteran penitentiary transfer agent, tried unsuccessfully this week to resign following the escape of Carlos Brazo, Mexican convict from El Paso, as Russell's one-way truck stopped last Tuesday night in front of the Taylor county jail.

Brazo's getaway was the first stain on Russell's escutcheon in 24 years. It cracked the agent's record of having delivered 100,000 convicts at the penitentiary door, and having brought back 4,100 "escapes" from all over the United States, without losing a man.

"I feel pretty bad about it all," said "Uncle Bud," and especially about a headline "read in the Waxahachie paper. It said, 'Uncle Bud Russell Slipping At Last—Loses First Prisoner in 100,000.' I guess that was what made me wire in my resignation to my boss, Lee Simmons. I don't want to stay on a job if I'm not making good, you understand. Mr. Simmons wired back that my resignation was refused and for me to go to hell."

Messrs and Mesdams Bob Bowers and Fred Smith and children are vacationing in Hot Springs.

South Plains Fair Has a New President

Lubbock, Texas, Aug.—W. G. McMillan, Lubbock contractor, has recently been elected president of the Panhandle South Plains Fair and preliminary arrangements for the holding of the nineteenth annual exposition, September 26 to October 1, are now being completed.

The Wortham Shows, the largest moving shows in the world, have been engaged for the entire six days of the fair. There will be plenty of other entertaining amusement features, McMillan has announced.

Other new officers elected include: George A. Simmons, and S. E. Cone, vice-presidents, and Dr. Fred W. Standerfer, treasurer.

A. B. Davis, manager since 1924, is again to have management of the fair.

"Directors of the fair are determined that there shall be no let-up in an effort to not only equal, but excel all past fairs," McMillan has announced. "The danger of standing still is evident. We solicit the active cooperation of all Plains people to the end that this year's exposition may again be a true 'Show Window of the Plains' in order that the fair may fulfill its purpose, that of advertising to prospective new settlers the advantages and possibilities of the Plains of Texas and the educating and encouraging of home folks that greater strides of progress may be made."

MRS. E. R. CREWS PASSED AWAY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. E. R. Crews, 57 years of age, was the victim of a deplorable accident which occurred at the Crews ranch home 18 miles south of Seminole about 6 o'clock Saturday morning. While at work near the stove and becoming faint she clutched for support grasping a boiling teakettle of water which she poured over her body as she fell in a fainting condition, only her head and face, lower half of right arm and lower limbs escaped.

Dr. L. D. Richards of Seminole rushed to her and administered first aid before she was carried to Lubbock in an airplane flown by Dayton Orr, of the Branson Orr airport in Lubbock. There she was met by an ambulance and carried to the West Texas Hospital where every human effort was made to save her but death relieved her suffering at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.—Seminole Sentinel.

APPORTIONMENT SET AT $16 PER CAPITA

The state board of education today set the per capita apportionment for scholastics in the free public system at $16 for the 1932-33 school year.

The apportionment last year was $17.50 per student.

Among those who attended the funeral of Mrs. A. M. Brownfield here Friday from Lubbock, were Mesdames Chas. Lingle, John Kershner, LaVerne Kershner, Percy Spencer and W. R. Spencer.

"Cactus Jack" Back Home

Good Crowd Attended Tradesday Monday

Excellent crowds were here Monday, especially in the afternoon, but many came in the forenoon. All merchants were busy all afternoon, waiting on customers, and they tell us that they had a good day, and this covered practically every line of business represented here. Saturday was also a good day, but a little lighter than usual, as some were preparing to attend first Monday Tradesday, and did not come Saturday. However, merchants say that many come here on Tradesday that don't come any other time. Others who started to come here on Tradesday when it was inaugurated, are coming and trading here regularly now, having become acquainted with the merchants of the city.

While there was some trading among the farmers, it was too hot to stay most any where save in a good shade or under an electric fan. Most of them reported that they were getting up with their work and their fields were much less in the weeds and grass than last First Monday, and that they could easily get off in the afternoon to come in for Tradesday.

Tradesday has certainly become a fixture in the town, and few if any in the city, and perhaps none in the country would be willing to do away with the day. It is our understanding that beginning perhaps with the first of next month, or October at the outside, the First Monday Tradesday will be somewhat broadened in scope and include a little horse and dairy cattle show, perhaps, if the farmers wish to co-operate on such by bringing in their best stuff.

TOM F. HUNTER PROVES HE IS FOR THE MASSES

In refusing to take sides in the run-off primary for governor, Tom Hunter wins the respect of many citizens and will be the outstanding candidate for governor in 1934.

When asked by leaders of the Sterling and Ferguson forces to rally to their standards he turned a deaf ear to both and issued the following statement.

"I don't play politics. My cards lay face up. I know no other way. The two and one-half years that I have spent analyzing the economic conditions of our state and nation, have impressed me of the great necessity for a retrenchment and other much needed reforms that a contented people might be produced.

"Every statement that I have made in my life for the redemption of my people has been sincere. I shall continue the fight for the masses."

"I charge for example that a proxy government would be produced in either Sterling or Ferguson. I yet believe that."

Garrison Thanks Voters

I take this means to thank the voters of Precinct No. 4, for the plurality they gave me in the recent primary. I also wish to state that I came to town too late last week to get my card of thanks in the Herald, and it was not because I did not think of the matter.

In the runoff primary I ask your vote and influence, and beg the consideration of supporters of the men eliminated in the first primary. If elected, it will be my endeavor to give No. 4 as well as all Terry county the best commissioner possible.

Very truly yours,
J. R. Garrison.

Not Many Changes in The Official Count

In conversation this week with R. M. Kendrick, County Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee, he informed us that there was not much change in the unofficial vote as given in the Herald last week and the official vote. Mr. Kendrick stated that as two of the committeemen were in hospitals at the time, he had most of the counting to do. There was a change of one vote in one of the precinct race, and one state officer gained several.

In his usual joking way, Mr. Kendrick stated that he held a county convention immediately following the count and elected himself the six delegates to the State Convention which meets in Lubbock September 13. However, he informed us that if we wanted to go, he could at least go at one of the alternates of which he also composed the six. He instructed himself to vote on all measures just as he dagged pleased.

Jones Says Hoover Unfair to Agriculture

Amarillo, July 30.—Charging President Hoover with unfairness and favoritism toward big business interests without regard for the farmer, Congressman Marvin Jones, chairman of the house agriculture committee, last night severely attacked the president's pocket veto of a bill to broaden loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to farmers.

"If the 80 million dollars commitment to Mr. Dawes to save his bank can be justified, certainly it seems that 125 million dollars to tide American farmers over a great emergency would have been justified. I regret that the president can not get the view point of American agriculture. He made a great mistake," Jones said.

THE SPREAD OF SLANG

The American motion picture as a spreader of American slang is a potent factor in familiarizing the denizens of other lands with English as it is not spoken in this country, that is, as she is not spoke except by about 99,000,000 Americans.

A group of Argentine athletes attending the Olympic games in Los Angeles told a newspaper reporter that they understood English. Asked to prove it, they chorused: "O. K. Hot dog. You bet."

Probably they could have added "Oh, Yeah," "Gee," and a few other choice movieisms, if pressed for details.

American slang has penetrated Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan, South America, Africa, Asia and the continent of Europe. The movies are mainly responsible for this spread of what might be called, for want of a better name, Amerikultur.

We refuse to be worried about it. Slang has, throughout history, been the more expressive form of language. As a good cartoonist can convey an idea with a few brush strokes that would require a column of written explanation to achieve, so can slang get across an idea more sedate language is helpless to carry.

American slang is particularly expressive and virulent. We have gone to greater lengths, perhaps, than any other people in the development of the short and dynamic word and the meaningful phrase.

It doesn't matter that foreigners accept our slang as perfectly good English. If they don't know any difference, what does it matter?—Abilene News.

Invites Sacred Harp Singers to Woodrow

Prof. H. M. McEachern, of the Woodrow school in Lubbock county, has extended a pressing invitation to the old Sacred Harp Singers of Terry county to meet with the Lubbock county class at Woodrow, about 12 or 15 miles northeast of Meadow on the Slaton road, the 1st Sunday in August, which is the 7th. Be sure to bring books.

I also wish to state to the Harp singers of our county that we are still working for the interest of the class, and hope to meet as soon as possible, perhaps the 4th Sunday in September, as the revivals and politics will be over by that time, and we can have a feast of songs.

We are indebted to the Herald for space and encouragement to this good cause, and if you want to keep up better, get your name on the subscription rolls of this good paper. We will make announcement of the time and place our meeting later. Let all get a book that can possibly do so, as we do not want to be handicapped by lack of books.—W. P. Elmore.

State Resident Highway Engineer, of Lubbock, who will direct State Road building in this section.

HUNTER MEN DUBBED RADICALS BY MOODY

Dan Moody proved a Jonah to the Sterling forces in the governor's race during the first primary as Sterling lost nearly every county in which Oily Dan spoke.

He has just about queered Sterling's chances for keeps in his interview published in the Dallas News Tuesday in which he dubbed the so-called oil vote polled by Hunter last Saturday—"as small and mostly by radicals who opposed a conservative policy."

Most of us know that the Hunter men are far from radicals but are the highest type of citizenship, and among the leaders in the communities in which they reside.

In-so-far as they resent the domination of our state by the major oil interests they may appear radical to those selfish interests.—Big Spring News.

WORK CONTINUES ON HIGHWAY NO. 137

The second layer of caliche base is expected to be laid on the north seven miles of Highway 137 in Gaines County by Saturday night. The crusher will then be moved to the second pit about ten miles south of Seagraves.

The base makes a fine road surface for travel after being rolled down.—Seagraves News.

Local School Taxes Reduced 10 Percent

The Board of Trustees of the Brownfield Independent School District sat as a board of equalization during this last week. The Board is pleased to announce that it equalized the taxes this year on a basis of a ten per cent reduction from last year. This ten per cent is not as much reduction as the Board would like to have been able to effect. But due to the fact that a great portion of the school expenses are already fixed it is hard to reduce the taxes as much as would be desired. By fixed expenses we mean the bonded indebtedness of the district. This amount has previously been fixed and cannot be changed. Forty-eight per cent of all the money paid into the school treasury goes to pay for interest and bonds mentioned above. The reduction that has been made was made by reducing the number of teachers and cutting the salaries of those that were kept. The teachers are willing to carry their part of the load and work for less even though they could not be assured that the money would be ready for them at the end of the month each time.

The School Board wished to express their appreciation for the kind consideration afforded them while they tried to solve the problem of equalizing the taxes of the district. Nearly all the people showed that they were for a school this year. The school board is in favor of having school the full nine months and having the most efficient school possible for the least cost. The School Board is glad to be assured that the people have not lost their desire for the essential elements of community welfare and are willing to spend every effort to the end that the best interests of the patrons of the school may be served.

Former Citizen Gets Kick Out of Herald

We had a letter last week from W. E. Ellis, who in the dim past was a partner with the late J. L. Randal in the drug business here. Of course, his request was for a copy of the Herald of last Friday for the election returns. This week we had a letter stating that he not only enjoyed the election returns, but that he and wife got a great kick out of the old time 23 year old column. He also intimated in his letter last week that he was not for two governors for the price of one.

In the letter this week he asked that we use our influence against the candidacy of another candidate making the race and would be in the runoff, stating that the man was from that county formerly and was unworthy of support as he had grafted the road funds and had serious family trouble. But Ed, he might have some kin folks in Terry county for all you know, and there would be another whipped editor. And we are too old to fight now.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

The tax-burdened citizen who reads that Ponca City and Salwater, Okla., will collect no city taxes this year because their municipally-owned utilities are earning enough to support the city government is apt to view such items wistfully. Similar reports have come at various times from communities in California, Kansas and Virginia. Cities whose utilities erase tax levies get more publicity than those whose water and electric plants add to, rather than lessen, the tax burden.

Municipal ownership was almost invariably a failure under the sort of government that American cities had two or three decades ago. A municipally-owned plant in those days was a cow for the taxpayers to feed and the politicians to milk. The commission form of government and the city manager plan have made it possible, in many instances, for municipal ownership to have a fairer test of its value. In some instances, like those above mentioned, it has been entirely successful. There are enough instances where it has not prevented the laying down of any general rule. It is still on trial.—Wishita Daily Times.

AMERICA CAME THROUGH

In 1893 stark ruin stalked thru the land; 467 banks failed in a few months. Mills, furnaces and factories shut down everywhere. Bankruptcy was on every hand. America had twice as many unemployed per thousand population as she has today. But she put them all back to work.

In 1907 a panic broke loose. The production of pig iron dropped 50 per cent in less than a year. All but the strongest men lost heart—"We are ruined," they declared. "Recovery cannot come in our time." Yet in two years prosperity had returned.

In 1921, when many honest and thoughtful people were predicting worse conditions to climb to the greatest era of prosperity it had ever experienced.

History tells how America has fought and won 19 major depressions. Good times always follow hard times, as surely as day follows night. Prosperity always comes back. It is coming back this time, too. Above all things, have faith.—Lovington, (N. M.) Tribune.

Mrs. Geo. Schultz and baby were here last week from western Kansas the guests of her sister, Mrs. Roy Collier and family.

Nothing to Write About —Just Pot Shoting

The first election is over, and as there has been no murders or killings to report, we are up against it for anything to fill the Herald this week. In other words, we kinder have the "Rambling Rufuses" this week, and we might write about a dozen things before we are through with this article. True we had a little mix-up on the streets lately by some of the white boys as well as a fracas among the colored people, but as there was nothing more serious than a few black eyes on the former and some skin abrasions on the later, it is hardly worth reporting. In fact, we are not much sold on such incidents for news matter anyway.

As to the election, we have all been success in some cases and perhaps sadly disappointed in others. This writer can say that much, and we are sure that there are few but lost in the first primary on some race on another. We most always do. But let us not conclude that the whole country is going to the bow wows because neighbor Brown failed to see the matter just like neighbor Jones did. And, personally, while the Herald aims to give Mr. Sterling its vote, it is not going to run itself ragged about his election; nor will it get all up in the air if Mrs. Ferguson is elected and we may become quite threadbare in place; patches may refuse to stay put for any length of time on rotting cloth, but we think we are going to get by without embarrassing any of the ladies when we meet them on the streets. As for the food proposition, our wife has purchased a pressure cooker, and if any of the farmers in Terry county raise any peas, beans and corn, we're going to have our share of the living.

We have already spotted several patches that are now about ready for the harvesting, and two or three of our good old farmer friends have promised to turn their backs if they see us in the neighborhood of their fields.

As to the fuel, if the West Texas Gas company get to where they won't sell that commodity on credit, we'll say right here that we know where there is heaps and heaps of prairie wood, known in the good old pioneering days of Terry as "Cowchips." Many the Sunday in the first two or three years of our sojourn here have we hiked out with other fellows to the lakes east of town and came in with plenty "fuel" to last through that week. It is a good burner in the heater and an excellent cooking fuel, flavoring the dinner to a king's taste. No sir, they are not going to freeze us either.

Was you ever lost in the big woods at night and ramble and ramble for hours? Perhaps it was a bit cloudy and you could not locate the Great Dipper and the North Star. But after while you discovered a dim little old oil lamp in some cabin window through the trees. Then how you groped your way to that light. Well, in our imagination, we can just see the faint glow of a little light through the jungle of depression.

Every day in every way it seems to be getting clearer and clearer. Stocks and bonds are looking up; cattle, hogs and sheep are following; wheat and corn are beginning to get their heads above ground and a toe hold on the embankment. Produce and groceries, especially in the staple lines are advancing a little; the world is demanding a little more cotton and the gradual move upward is showing that demand is having its effect on the price, slowly but surely. Happy days are comin' again.

As crops, they are growing by leaps and bounds. With the exception of a few areas that were hailed ten days ago and too late for anything like corn or cotton. If a late freeze is had, they will perhaps get some feterria or higeria off their fields. In many sections of the county, especially in the Loop, Wellman and Willow Wells sections, they report the best crops they have ever had. We'll be alright when the work's all done this fall.

As to the weather, it is too hot for the least; she has a fair pop at us, and the breeze, what there is, don't seem to have had any contact with ice. But the less one studies about the heat the better—and the heat and dry weather is most people's only chance for a cotton crop, especially, especially young stuff.

Drennon Starts Revival Tonight at Johnson

Elder Robt. Drennon returned this week from Hermleigh, in Scurry county, where he held a revival for the church at that place. Had good hearing and fine interest, he reports, but few additions to the church. This is the church to which W. F. Young, formerly of the Harmony community now resides.

Elder Drennon will begin a revival for the church out at Johnson tonight, which will probably run over two Sundays. The church at Johnson asks the churches at other places in the county to encourage this meeting by visiting them during the revival.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis visited in Roby and Post over the week-end.

Let the Republicans start their whispering campaign if they want to. In the meantime, we Democrats will shout from the housetop, from the watchtower and from Mr. Simat what the rascally Republicans have been doing to the "peepel" the past twelve years. Run 'em away from the pie counters and let us there for awhile.

There will be only one lady in the Texas legislature lower house next term, as the others were all defeated, against three last term. The ladies who ran for congressman-at-large did not fare even as well as they were all badly defeated, being far from runoff possibilities. It seems that the ladies have also fared badly in county races this time, over the state.

What is the worst puzzle to the Reporter man is being able to figure out just how many votes "Ma" would have received had the Ferguson supporters all paid their poll tax. Some declared before the election that there would be a falling off of at least 50,000 in the Ferguson vote on that account. Don't kid yourself, Bud; death is the only thing that can keep a Ferguson supporter off the firing line on election day.—Lamesa Reporter.

And now come the big wheat farmer of the Panhandle that came to Texas to "show us" ignorant Texans how to raise wheat at 25c a bushel and make a profit, asking his creditors to take charge. To this moment, the Herald has not shed a tear about the matter, and refuses to do so. In fact, it was just such talk as he put out last year that ran wheat to nearly nothing, as his talk had influence with the bear market, no doubt. He not only ruined himself, but injured every wheat farmer in the United States.

Well, the official count has been made and the "herd" is now off to another "stampede," and may the best man win as in the former race, where there were no runoffs. We also hope that all the defeated boys will be as good sports this time as they were before. Of course there are some that feel that they have been handed a lemon one way or another, but we cannot say whether their surmises are correct or not.

Evenso, they had very little to say about the matter to the Herald, and went on about their business.

Down to Cleburne in Johnson county, some of the legal lights were making much ado about the fact that a dead man had won the office of district clerk, having "dropped dead" just before finishing his last announcement. These legal lights were discussion the "constitution" on the matter and were talking of taking the matter up with the attorney general's department for an opinion, as there was no "precedent," but the county chairman and his committee seemed to be practical men, and just stepped in and gave the nomination to the dead man's daughter, a good and wise thing to do. Of course, there are some who say that the office belongs to the people and not to any family, but at least that family won the election fair and square. Then why deprive them of it through the one who won the office be dead?

Every week there is something in the Advance that some reader does not like. The editor, above all other persons, can sympathize with you, for in nearly every issue there is something in the Advance the editor does not like, but in addition to having to read it, as you do not, he has to set it in type, proof it, read the proof, make it up in a page, print it, and then pay postage on it as the paper goes to subscribers. If we don't like it why do we print it? Because we do not print only the things we like. We are not publishing a paper for ourselves. We intend to print those things that the people of the community have a right to have printed. We no doubt make many mistakes in printing what should not be printed and in not printing that which should be printed, but we are trying to serve the people and not please ourselves. We would not do all this work for no one but the things we like. We are not publishing a paper for ourselves. We intend to print those things that the people of the community have a right to have printed. We no doubt make many mistakes in printing what should not be printed and in not printing that which should be printed, but we are trying to serve the people and not please ourselves. We would not do all this work for no one but the things we like.

Great pressure is being brought to bear on Tom Hunter to get him to commit himself to the candidacy of Gov. Sterling. So far, Tom has set tight in the boat. The Herald believes that there would be no harm in his saying how he aimed to vote, but to do like Clint Small did two years ago would be to dig his political grave. No one has any objection to how Mr. Small aimed to vote, but after announcing that he would remain neutral and then after making a trip to Houston, he took the stump for Mr. Sterling, many of his staunch followers in the first primary quit him cold, and he could not get anything like the amount of votes in this section that he polled two years ago.

Another thing, this pressure on Tom Hunter is coming from the daily press in the main and from papers that tried to ignore his candidacy until the last few days of the campaign, when they saw there was some possibility of Hunter being in the runoff instead of Sterling. If they had played fair with Hunter throughout the campaign, or if the election could have been deferred two more weeks, there would have been a very different tale to tell. In a runoff with Mrs. Ferguson, Tom Hunter could have polled practically ninety-five percent of Mr. Sterling's vote as well as that of the some 50,000 polled by the "also rans," but as the Herald sees the matter, Mr. Sterling is going to have an uphill fight to carry enough Hunter votes to put him over. This is especially true in view of the fact that "Little Dan Moody" accused the Hunter followers of being radicals. If there is anyway to muzzle Dan for the rest of the campaign, Gov. Sterling will have a much better show. The Herald believes that Dan Moody did Sterling more harm than good in the first primary.

Tom May was on the sick list last week, and from the nature of the case it was thought best to carry him to Lubbock to a specialist. We are glad to report him back on the job this week.

Wilma Frank and Virgella Nann Dunn, who are in Stamford visiting their grandmother and aunt, will return home this week.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Good attendance at most all services Sunday, and classes in Bible school seem to be taking hold of the lessons with vim and determination to learn more of the Old Scriptures, as they are our schoolmaster to bring us to Christ. Preparations being made for the meeting which will start August 18th with Lyle Price of Dennison, Texas, doing the preaching again.

ANOTHER PIONEER LADY PASSES

Although her death was momentarily expected, it was nevertheless a great shock to the people of this city last Friday when it was generally learned that Mrs. A. M. Brownfield was no more. She had been a sufferer from heart trouble for the past several weeks, and some three weeks ago was carried to the Lubbock Sanitarium for treatment. Everything that medical skill could do was done but to no avail, and her suffering ended about 10 or 11 o'clock last Thursday night. She was 51 years of age at death.

The body was brought home by the Brownfield Undertaking department Friday morning, and carried immediately to the family residence, where it remained until five o'clock in the afternoon, and was carried to the Baptist church where funeral services were conducted by Rev. Eugene Surface, pastor of the local Presbyterian church. Following, the body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery.

Besides a devoted husband she left seven children to mourn her passing. They are Mrs. Lois Wingerd and Mrs. Ike Bailey of this city; Mrs. Joe Bailey of Lubbock; Misses Lenore and Jane; Lee and Laddie Lynn, all still at home. Also, two sisters, Mesdames W. G. Hardin and Relford Smith, both of this city.

Much could be told of the virtues of Mrs. Brownfield, as a wife, a mother, a friend and a worker for the interest of the town and community. But these virtues will live on and on in the minds of the people long after what we pen about her is forgotten. Mrs. Brownfield was always ready and willing to help put over anything that was for the educational and moral betterment of the town. She has raised an excellent family of children which will stand as a monument to

BROADWAY CHURCH OF CHRIST

We have just closed a meeting with Bro. H. P. Cooper of Lamesa, doing the preaching. Interest was fine all through the meeting and the church has been strengthened and encouraged by it.

Bro. Drennon is starting a meeting with the church at Johnson Friday night so we are going to have Young People's meeting an hour early Sunday evening so we can be with them at the night services. Otherwise our meeting times are unchanged.

A CURE FOR SUICIDE

A Chicago suburban preacher, who had officiated at six suicide funerals had decided that something ought to be done about this epidemic of self-destruction, so at the seventh funeral he threw aside soft words and all efforts to find something nice to say about the deceased.

"I think the time has come," said the minister in great disgust "for some strong words to be said on this subject of suicide. These men, who under the stress of adversity or failure, the loss of their money or their business, have no right to take lives that do not belong to them; they belong to the Creator of them. Furthermore such men are cowards. They are deserving of very little sympathy. They are willing to escape the results of their reverses and let their wives and children and in many cases their creditors endure them. They are cowards, weaklings, and I have no pretty platitudes to offer in their behalf."—Exchange.

S. T. Miller was in Tuesday and reported the loss of his barn by fire Monday. It seems that there was no feed in the barn and a colored family was occupying it. Mr. Miller lost all his harness and the colored family all their belongings. Mr. Miller did not state whether or not he carried any insurance or not.

Uncle Joe Bryant was in this week and told us a great deal about his winter spent in San Antonio with his daughter, Mrs. Guthrie Cook. Uncle Joe is now visiting his daughter, Mrs. Cleve Williams, and will spend a week or so with Mrs. Bayne Price, another daughter. From what we could gather from Uncle Joe's conversation, he doesn't like the fare any too well put out by his bachelor sons, John and Joe down on the farm near Union. He says there is plenty to cook, but they won't cook it.

From the Rotan Advance we note that our friend, Bob Owens was eliminated in the first primary in his race for county judge of Fisher.

TEXAS BOYS EARN HONORS

Gold and Trips Awarded Fisher Body Craftman's Guild Competition

DALLAS (Special)—When 112 boys craftsmen from all parts of the United States and Canada gathered in Detroit next month for the second annual convention of the Fisher Body Craftman's Guild, the State of Texas will be represented by Jack Norman, and Chester Meyer, both of San Antonio, who carried off top honors at the state judging just concluded here. Each of the two will receive not only the trip, but $100 in gold, and his model will also be judged in the international competition for scholarships, though the boys will not attend the convention. Additional awards, ranging from $15 to $25, were made to the following Texas boys:

Carl Waters, of Fort Worth, Elmer D. Day, of Comstock, Eunice Dove, of Waco, J. A. Franz, of Dallas, Joseph De Loach, of Beeville, Alex Jungman, of La Coste, Wilson Mangum, of Crosbyton, and Lloyd Halpenney of Harlingen. A similar list of awards is being offered in each of the 48 states, in the District of Columbia, and in each of the seven Canadian Guild districts.

J. F. Reinel of the Fisher Body Craftman's Guild, in charge of the Texas judging, voiced gratification at the high standard of craftsmanship achieved in the state this year. "Every boy who finished a model," said Reinel, "has not only developed his manual skill, but far more important than that, has learned a lesson in perseverance which will stand by him all his life."

BANKERS ENDORSE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

The Minnesota Bankers' association believes that the local newspapers are the most logical, effective and economical medium at hand with which to advertise banks, and to build confidence in both the banks and the communities served by the banks.

The public expression of this firm conviction by a state-wide group of hard-headed, long-headed, and level-headed bankers should knock into a cocked hat the foolish notion entertained by timid business men that dollars expended in home-town newspaper advertising to bring their names and their business messages before a receptive audience of their friends and neighbors each week, are just so many dollars tossed to the four winds.

Bankers, as all of us who have had experience borrowing money know only too well, are not accustomed to hurling money out the window, so to speak. When an average banker puts out money, he aims to get that money back, with interest. We have no quarrel with this formula. Indeed these hard-headed tactics on the part of your banker is what makes your money safe in the bank. We cite the fact only to point out that when the average banker puts money into the cash box of the home town newspaper for newspaper advertising, he does so knowing that he will get that money, also, back with interest.

The business man who hopes to keep up with the swift parade of modern days without advertising—without eternally shouting to the folks of his community the news that he is here, on earth and ready to serve them well and often—will never reach the goal which he should, considering his opportunities. It is true that many business men who never advertise remain in business, pay their bills, eat well and keep warm and are able to buy gasoline for their automobiles. These men would go father, in trade volume and net profits, they would be far more successful, if they wisely and consistently hewed to the advertising line, driving the story of their businesses home to the readers of their local newspaper consistently and persistently, week in and week out, throughout the year.—Hennepin County, Minnesota, Review.

SHORTEST WAY BACK TO NORMALCY

It is becoming increasingly evident that before there can be a return to normal conditions in business and industry there must be a reduction in working time to balance production and consumption.

Prosperity for all classes demands that the work-day and work-week be restricted to an extent that full use of manpower within the limits established will not produce more than that which can be purchased and consumed.

Wage-cutting is no solution for the present problem. No matter how cheaply articles can be produced unemployed men and women can not buy because they have nothing with which to purchase. It is patent that so long as these unemployed millions can not buy there can be no resumption of business and industry.

Domestic demands can not be artificially increased by wage reductions based upon the theory that lower production costs will increase the volume of business. Each salary or wage cut reduces purchasing power of the nation by just as much as the aggregate of such reductions. What is needed is to increase the ability of the workers to buy and consume rather than further restriction.

It is recognized as an inescapable economic law that wages in any industry must be within the ability to pay. But to lower wages to maintain unjustified profits or meet financial burdens which result from unnecessary expansion and speculative excesses is false economy. Universal establishment of the shorter work-day and work-week appears to be the shortest route to travel back to Normalcy.—O'Donnell Index.

AND THAT'S SOMETHING

A leading Chicago daily Monday carried the following editorial: "Germany is on the verge of a revolution. Their number of unemployed is said to be seven million. Seven leading nations of South America are already in revolt against constituted authority, or preparing for the first uprising. There are between thirty and fifty million destitute in America today, and winter begins little more than a month ahead of us."

Back in 1907 President Roosevelt put a stop to the depression before it was well started. President Wilson did the same thing in 1914. It is a sad spectacle today to see the greatest nation on the globe gradually crumbling beneath us, and especially so when we stop to think of the price our forefathers paid for our liberty. The common class is the back bone of the nation. Half of them don't know or don't care. Half of the other half are content to follow their prejudices and false promises, while the others are 'up in the air' and greatly alarmed hoping for a square deal and certainly not looking for trouble.—Clarendon Leader.

R. I. Cook was in from the Johnson community this week after more cards and inform! us that crops in that section were surely improving.

Mrs. Lolan Flippin has returned home from Fort Worth, where she visited relatives.
