What's Right With Brownfield Schools

When we think of the things that are right with education over the state of Texas and in our own locality we should not be able to render a very accurate opinion unless we considered how well our local institution fits into the scheme of universal or national education. The basis on which the schools of Brownfield are founded is that of democracy. The founders and present supporters of the institution proceeded on the idea that all the people were to be educated or should at least have the benefits of the schools. It has long been granted that "The educated mind is the guardian genius of democracy; it is the only dictator freemen acknowledge and the only security freemen desire." It is also granted that the illiterate person, neither appreciating the beneficent function of government, nor enjoying the capacity to render skillful service, may at any time become a liability to the state. These things being true it has been arranged so that every one has an opportunity to appraise himself of the privileges of school.

What good would it do to open the doors of the school and leave the difficulties of entering so great that many would be denied the rights of education. Since parents who are financially unable to buy text books would avoid personal humiliation by declining to enroll their children in school, the state has provided a law that brings the text books free to all alike. The taxes of each individual of the community go to pay for these text books. At least to this extent the state protects the rights of the children.

It would be hard to have school without teachers. The state has seen to it that teachers are prepared in the teacher training institution in quantities sufficient to meet the demand. The Brownfield school district has a corps of teachers that have been so trained by the state and are ready to render the highest type of service within the grasp of their ability.

Experience has also taught the state that some parents are so indifferent and some industries so heartless that many of the children would be denied the rights of school by being kept in the fields, shops and factories. To care for the welfare of the child the state has a compulsory education law that requires that the child shall be in school at least 100 days each year. These things together with the fact that we have accredited courses, relatively wide range of opportunity in school, and school so ordered that average child can be happy and pursue his work in evidence that the schools are a working part of the great plan of education. That education that keeps America a safe place for your family.

Rotary Rural-Urban Program A Success

Those who attended the Rural-Urban meeting of Farmers and Rotary members at the Wines Hotel last Friday night are well pleased with the outcome of it. Besides the Rotary members, some fourteen Terry county farmers responded to the invitation to be guests of the club. Before, during and after the speaking, those present were given some very fine music by Mrs. Roy Herod on the accordion.

The two main speakers of the evening were Dean Ledick and Prof. Remer of the Agricultural school of Tech College. Dean Ledick stressed co-operative work between the farmers and business men in order to build up better town and better communities. His address was well received. Prof. Remer stressed feeding out stock, and especially since there was an abundance of feed at low prices that would hardly pay to haul to market. He undertook to show that if there were sufficient corn and other grain fed stuff fattened here, it would create an advance market for that, and bring in outside buyers from a distance.

Both men expressed themselves as being highly pleased that they were invited to Brownfield to meet the farmers and business men, and would accept no part of their expenses from the club. On the other hand, they offered the services not only of themselves, but the Tech College of Agriculture to Terry county any time they were needed.

The revival meeting conducted last week at the church of Christ at Gomez by W. A. Kercheville, closed Sunday night. There were not many additions, but we are told they had a fine revival.

WHICH WILL YOU HAVE FOR GOVERNOR?

Big City Tabernacle Packed Sunday Night

One of the largest crowds seen under the city tabernacle for many days, was on hand Sunday night to hear Elder Lyle Price, of Denison, Texas, who is leading the local church of Christ in a revival. It is conservatively believed that not less than 1000 people were crowded under the tabernacle or sat in cars nearby. Crowds have increased steadily since the meeting started last Wednesday night, and this increase has been mainly by people talking the meeting and advising others to go.

While the young speaker failed not to declare the whole council as he believes the Bible teaches it, he nevertheless grants others the sacred privilege of believing as they wish without insulting them with harsh, upbraiding language, and as one lady was heard to remark, I sure like to hear "doctrinal" sermons if they are preached like he preaches them, even if I don't agree with all he says.

The crowds are doing some mighty fine congregational singing under the leadership of Paul Robertson, who came in from the markets in time to take charge Friday night. The meeting will go on over Sunday, all services, including Sunday school being held under the tabernacle. Several have been added at this writing.

Rialto Theatre Has Had Thorough Remodeling

The Herald man was called over to the Rialto Theatre last Friday to inspect the building as the painters, carpenters and decorators had about finished their work, and the show building was then in process of being cleaned up. Messrs. Sach Green and John Winston had done a mighty fine job of work on the walls with the paint brush, and you'll hardly recognize the interior when you attend the first show. You don't have to send out of town for your painters and decorators now.

The large slabs of celotex that was hanged on the walls when sound producing pictures were installed have covered with a fine curtain material, nicely fashioned. This work was done by the manager, Earl Jones and his wife, and speak well for their artistic ideas. Not only this, but the wall lamps have been cutely screened by Japanese shades, which give the theatre an air of the orient.

Mr. Jones, the manager, left this week for Chicago on business, and will be gone for two or three weeks, but the formal re-opening will take place Saturday, Sept. 2, we understand, and the regular force will be assisted by Mr. Jones' former partner, Arnet, Bynum. These announcements will appear in this paper next week.

The O'Donnell school board have announced that they will not be able to run over 4 1/2 months this term, and Levelland fears that they may not run over seven months. This is bad, but let us hope that conditions will so improve that people will be able to pay their taxes and we can keep the schools going.

What To Take In High School

With the beginning of school the folks in high school begin to think of what they can take this year. As has been explained before the possibilities this year will not be so great due to the fact that we have two teachers less in high school this year than last. That will necessitate the loss of some courses that are very much to be desired but which under the present circumstances cannot be financed.

It is hoped that each and every pupil and parent will be patient and cooperative in the adjustment to the schedule we are able to have this year. Below is given a complete list of the required subjects and the elective subjects for each grade:

In the freshman year there will not be a great deal of choice. All the boys will take History, English, Algebra and General Science. The girls will take History, English, Algebra, and General Science or 1st year Home Economics until the class is full.

The Sophomore folks will have three required subjects; History, English and Algebra. They may choose Spanish, Biology or Home Home Economics.

The Juniors will have three required subjects; History, Geometry and English and may choose one from Biology, Spanish, Bookkeeping, Typing, and Home Economics.

The Seniors will have two required subjects; English and Civics-Economics and may choose two from Chemistry, Solid Geometry, Home Economics, Bookkeeping, Typing, Advanced Arithmetic, Spanish.

Work Started On High- way 137 in Andrews Co.

Seminole, Aug. 20.—Work of constructing highway 137 in Andrews county, from the county seat, Andrews, north to the Gaines county line, is starting. The Lone Star Construction company has the contract for the 13.7 miles. Hannah Construction company has the sub-contract for grading and J. A. Preuit is foreman. Caliche spreading is to follow the grading work as fast as it is completed.

A. M. Brownfield and children, Misses Lenore and Letta Jane, and sons, Lee and Lad, have returned from Hot Springs, N. M. They were accompanied by A. M. McBurnett.

You Know Nothing About Hard Times

Frank Jackson came in this week from the Wichita Falls section to visit his father and sister, Mrs. Jim Johnson and family. Frank was reared in Terry and Lubbock counties, and is therefore an old timer. He called on us this week, and when the depression was mentioned, Frank informed us that we know nothing about hard times in this section. Why says he, "you people are sitting on top of the world, and your country is flowing with milk and honey in comparison to much of the country. I have seen in the last eighteen months.

He informed us that he had spent most of that time in the east Texas oil field, but had been south and southwest as far as Brownsville, southeast to Houston, and northeast to Texarkana an into Arkansas. He has seen women and little children ragged and half starved plodding the roads or riding in box cars. Men form what is known as "Jungles" and beg for this and that or take it otherwise if necessary to get it. This is pooled and all have a feed. These camps, he said are kept spotless, and all cooking vessels and dishes and dry rags are washed with soap each day. The filthy are rejected.

Frank says that many times women are forced to enter these camps for food, or ride in the same box cars with a crowd of men, but he never heard of one being molested or insulted. They are just part of the great army of unemployed, and not bad women.

After hearing him talk for a half hour, we just asked ourself the question: "What the Heck are we kicking for?"

Sterling Speakers Here Friday Afternoon

We are requested to announce that Major E. A. Simpson, of Amarillo will speak to the voters of Terry county, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the necessity of Texas people re-electing Ross Sterling governor. He will tell the whys and wherefores at that time.

Major Simpson is said to be well posted on the issues between Governor Sterling and Mr. Ferguson, and will be able to take care of himself in discussion. This will probably be the last time Terry county voters will be able to hear a speaker for Governor Sterling.

Can Terry County Take A Chance On Roads?

This is the last issue of the Herald to go to its readers before the election will be held, and while it has never been the policy of this paper to try to dictate to the sovereign voters of this county how they vote, the Herald this time wishes to just appeal to their thinking capacities on the coming election for governor of the great state of Texas, and how that election may concern us.

Let us grant for argument sake that Jim Ferguson will make just as good a governor as Ross Sterling, and the reason we say Jim instead of Ma, you know and I know that he will be the governor. Both Jim and Ross have been accused of stealing; both have been accused of being servants of the major oil companies. Both, we are told are unfit mentally as well as morally for the great office of governor. So that is a stand off isn't it. So we pass.

When Jim Ferguson was governor, we supported him for re-nomination and re-election, because we were a Democrat. We did the same for his wife but lost. We even supported Jim two years ago in the runoff, but Ross Sterling won and has made us as good a governor perhaps as any one during these stressing times. Then, if we are Democratic, we are for his re-election to that office, and he should have had it perhaps without opposition.

The Sterling administration has started a big road building plan for this section, some of which is now under construction, and we have been assured that something like a half million dollars will be spent on our roads in the next two years without one cent of cost to us except to furnish the right-of-way. Oh! that is just a scheme to get in office again, you say. Not altogether, for some of these roads are already under construction—not in Terry—but in this section.

On the other hand, Jim promises that if he is elected, that he will kick the present commission out of office, which means that all highway construction will have to stop until everything is readjusted, and that will take much time. Then he proposes to divide the gasoline tax three ways, one-third to highways; one-third to schools, and the other third, Jim has not made quite clear to us what he aims to DO with it. But it will be spent, or taken care of if left to the tender mercies of a legislature or to Jim.

Many are predicting that Mrs. Ferguson will be re-elected; others say she will not get as many votes as she did in the first primary, as they say the 75,000 illegal votes were mainly guarded this time, and we'll see what we see Saturday night. But we will say this: Tom Hunter got 220,000 of the cleanest votes in Texas. They were voted for a GOVERNOR and not any kind of ISM.

Terry county people, let's not take any chance on losing our road construction, when we can gain no better governor than we already have by electing Jim Ferguson.

C. Sears brought us a nice mess of roasting ears last week. One of the ears tipped the scale at a fraction over two pounds with the shuck on.

Notice To Borrowers Of Money From U. S. Farmers Seed Loan

The United States Department of Agriculture has published a set of rules and regulations governing the collection of crop production loans. It covers several pages and is too long to publish in its entirety, but two paragraphs of it will be of especial interest to our farmers and they are given herewith:

Farmers will be allowed the use of the cotton seed to be used in picking, ginning, bagging and ties and where the buyer elects to sell his cotton and pay the proceeds from such sales to the Secretary of Agriculture to apply upon his account and the cotton seed will not pay for the ginning, picking, bagging, ties etc., he will be allowed to deduct for this purpose not to exceed 4-5 of one cent per pound of lint cotton in addition to the seed. That is, in other words, he will be allowed to deduct 80 cents from each 100 pounds of lint cotton at the time that he sells his cotton and remits to the Secretary of Agriculture, the proceeds to apply upon his loan.

Now in view of the fact that this allowance will not pay for the entire expense of picking, ginning and bagging and ties, it is up to the borrower to make other arrangements for the additional expenses that will be necessary.

Hester Begins To Like Terry County

H. B. Hester was in again this week just before leaving for his home in Corsicana, to insert another ad in the Herald, in which he wishes to trade for Terry county land, in the northern part of the county. He informed us that his brother, a garage man, had left for home last week, but if he could make arrangements, he too, would return here to make his home.

Mr. Hester has made several trips up here to visit his parents in the past several years, but has not, he said, really become sold on this country until this year. Formerly he had doubts about regular crops, but year after year when he found that we make crops with even more regularity than Navarro county, and with a great deal less expense, he thought it was time to investigate.

Mr. Hester says he knows there's a great future here, and the best place to sleep in the world. He says they have had to run fans in their rooms all summer in order to sleep, but he has had to have a quiet every night here.

Co-Op Office To Open Here September 1ST

K. B. McWilliams informed us this week that the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association office would be formally opened on September 1st, at the old location in the Rialto Theatre building, where it will be all season. Mr. McWilliams says that if he can be of service to the farmers or business men of this section, that he can be found any day after September 1st at that location.

Mr. McWilliams informs us that he has already brought quite a lot of last year's cotton since his return, some outright and some on other plans offered by the TCCA to its members. Mr. McWilliams expects his wife to join him here around the 1st, and that if business justifies, other employees will be added to take care of the work and handily without delay any business entrusted to them.

Burleson And Friends To Post Places

R. C. Burleson was in Saturday and informed us that he and a bunch of his neighbors were preparing to post their places against hunters. He said that he hated to do this on account of many of his friends, but that some would come to hunt chickens and other game and just try to see how much damage they can do his fences. Sometimes they run their cars over fences and tear them down for hundreds of yards.

Not only that, but he says these hunters that come out from the big cities shoot at everything in sight. Last year they killed a lot of their domestic fowls, brought them to town and iced them down and carried them home with them. Not only this, but they had little enough sense to laugh about the matter while icing them down.

Co-operatives To Hold Conferences

General Manager, R. J. Murray of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association will visit Brownfield Branch office area.

An outstanding feature of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association program for the Lubbock district will be a series of pre-delivery membership conference meetings to be held in each of the various branch office areas of this district beginning August 29, and ending September 10th. These pre-delivery conferences will be attended by general manager R. J. Murray in company with N. H. Payne district manager and H. L. Gantz organization director for the district.

All meetings have been arranged by the Lubbock office and are so planned that they will be of genuine interest not only to the membership but to all farmers who are interested in a sound and progressive program for a better agriculture. Farmers and business men are urged to attend these meetings that they might get the lesson of organized activities among farmers and that they might give careful thought and study to the principles involved in a co-operative marketing program.

General manager R. J. Murray needs no introduction to the farmers of this district. He has lived among them for years and is known throughout the State as an earnest and forceful speaker. His message will have a striking appeal to farmers who are interested in getting correct information regarding their own association and to all those who are deeply concerned regarding the organization, its plans, policies and benefits.

The date set for the pre-delivery conference at Brownfield is Tuesday night, August 30, at 8:30, Rialto Theatre.

High Points In Roose- velt Campaign Speech

We must make American individualism what it was intended to be—equality of opportunity for all, the right of exploitation for none.

I propose an orderly, explicit and practical group of fundamental remedies. These will protect not the few, but the great mass of average American men and women who, I am ashamed to repeat, have been forgotten by those in power.

When facts could no longer be ignored and excuse had to be found, Washington discovered that the depression came from abroad.

We find concentrated economic power in a few hands, the precise opposite of the individualism of which the President speaks.

We find a tariff that has cut off any chance of a foreign market for our products which had the effect of cutting the earnings of the farmer to the extent of threatening him with foreclosure and want.

We find the Republican leaders proposing no solution except more debts, more conferences under the same bewildered leadership, more government money in business and no government attempt to wrestle with basic problems.

I sum up the history of the last administration—it encouraged speculation and over-production—erroneously charged the cause to other nations of the world—attempted to minimize the crash and misled the people as to its gravity—refused to recognize and correct the evils at home which had brought it forth, delayed relief and forgot to reform.

BROOMCORN SEDER IS BUILT BY TWO MEN NEAR SEAGRAVES

Seagraves, Aug. 20.—M. H. Minor and Claude Freeman, of the Sligo community in southeastern Yoakum county, north of here, have built in the Melton blacksmith shop here, a broomcorn seder. The two men now have the machine in operation in their community.

Most of the crop in the Seagraves territory will average 475 pounds of corn to the acre, Mr. Minor believes. Last year 1,000 acres was planted in this territory and the crop this year is thought to be larger.

Indications are the market will run $60 a ton, about the same as last year. Harvesting is well under way and the crop will be sold within a few weeks.

Hon. George B. Terrell, who opposes Pink Parrish for the Democratic nomination as Congressman-at-Large, Place 1, in the coming runoff primary, must have been planning to aspire to the place he now seeks for quite some time.

The Cherokee county politician, who has been running for office about as long as most of us can remember, apparently figured "in" on the $10,000-a-year job quite awhile before the rest of us began to think about it—at least judging from the records of legislative vote at Austin.

In the last session of the legislature considerable time and thought was given to redistricting the state. According to law, Texas gaining in population gave it added representation in Washington and at least two of the three new Congressional posts should have gone to West Texas—one of the two to the South Plains area.

Various and sundry bills were drawn up only to be voted down by peanut politicians seeking to discriminate against West Texas and Congressional posts for at least two

GLORIOUS MEETING

Mr. Terrell who resides in Cherokee county—way over by the Louisiana border—was a member of the House of Representatives when the redistricting problem came up. As a member of the House he consistently voted against every bill calling for re-districting.

He probably figured to himself that "I used to be commissioner of Agriculture and everybody knows my name. I know politicians in every section of Texas who'll be on the firing line for me and last, but not least, my name is Terrell and it's a cinch for a Terrell to get votes on his name, whether he has any qualifications or not."

At any rate, whatever he figured, Mr. Terrell voted against the rights of West Texas to added Congressional representation. To all intents and purposes, he didn't care what the law said in regard to redistricting. He saw a chance to "let George get it" in regard to a Congressional post and voted accordingly.

A SIX IS MORE ECONOMICAL

Thousands of tests have proved . . . engineers have established . . . owner experience has confirmed THIS FACT: For lowest, all-round motoring costs: SIX CYLINDERS. No more—No less!

With more, you sacrifice the economy for which Chevrolet is so famous. With less, you sacrifice the kind of maintenance cost that Chevrolet gives you—the lowest available in today's low-price market!

SAVE WITH SIX CYLINDERS

Why not strike a happy balance between "too many" and "too few"? Do as the majority of low-priced car buyers have done ever since January, 1931: SAVE—with SIX CYLINDERS. The Chevrolet six-cylinder engine gives you wonderful mileage on gasoline—and oil! Because its smoothness is built-in—the body, chassis and engine are spared the repair costs that result from constant, inherent vibration!

STILL GOOD AFTER 15,000 MILES

And the Chevrolet Six stays young for —10,000, 15,000, 20,000 miles and more—carries on—smoothly, dependably, economically.

Moreover it has every modern feature you're entitled to: Free Wheeling, no car is up-to-date without it. And genuine Syncro-Mesh as originated by General Motors. And big, luxurious Fisher bodies. And four parallel mounted springs.

Remember that you can switch to a 1932 Chevrolet for very little money. In fact, you'll probably find it more economical to buy a new Chevrolet Six than to worry along with the old car.

No. 1. The mighty blow off the Gulf left hundreds homeless, millions in property damage, scores injured and 32 dead. Here are some poor little boys and girls, lost in the storm, some hurt. The picture was taken in the hurriedly constructed relief station at Angleton. A Red Cross worker is talking to the crying girl.

No. 2. Freeport, Texas, which was hardest hit by the storm that lashed in from the Gulf of Mexico Sunday. Here is one of the biggest buildings on Freeport's main street, completely demolished by wind and water of the worst hurricane in years.

MEADOW BRIEFS

Some two weeks ago, after much persuasion, my family convinced me that I needed a vacation and in the mean time a brother came along to also insist that we visit another brother away over in the Southwestern part of N. M., and near the Arizona line. It would be a reunion after many years. Brother had along with him his wife and two daughters. They delighted in making fast time and not to be out done I kept up with the procession.

The first day we reached Las Cruces, inspecting the White Sands near Alamogorda. Next morning the whole bunch was sick, some vomiting and feeling bad in other ways. We reached brothers about noon in spite of our infirmities and I was in bed the time we stayed there. On our return we stayed all night at El Paso, and the girls and their father took in Juarez. I had flattered myself that when we reached there to at least take on a schooner of beer for Auld Lang Syne sake. I wanted to belly up to the bar and blow the foam away, drink to the health and happiness of the wets and the Sahara Desert for the dries—but it was not to be. I was too sick. The best laid plan of mice or men after gang a glee!

Sunday morning I felt some better and with one of the girls driving we hit the highway for the Caverns a hundred and eighty miles away. The drive through the Guadalupe Mountains is really scenic. The magnificent gorges are very inspiring. After reaching the high ridges beyond the Mountains the road is extremely rough, and winding.

We reached the Cavern as all were ready to descend, a sharp whistle and some ten or twelve men and a couple of women, all in uniform marched past us and the descent toward perdition began. One lady at this point became frantic, she turned and rushed back exclaiming she couldn't stand it but a couple of girls who called her mama overtook her and walked her back pale and trembling. I saw her after we reached the bottom and she appeared perfectly composed.

I felt very much like the lady—didn't believe I could make the trip—not from scare but from physical weakness. The further I descended that dark dismal hole my legs grew weaker. As the progress was slow I leaned on every column, sat down on every convenient rock, or held tightly to the rough busters provided in places, and on pretense of assisting my wife hanged on to her arm; in this way after about an hour we we reached the bottom and began our journey to the spacious chambers beyond.

Neither pen nor picture can portray the wonders of these underground halls, grottoes and immense chambers, hundreds of feet in width and lofty ceilings that almost break ones neck looking upward. Its lofty covering some seven hundred feet in thickness is supported by great natural arches which appear in places to have been the work man. The chambers are electrically lighted so arranged and obscured that the walls and ceilings or some object of interest is brought out more plainly. The pathway is semi-darkness. The cavern with most of its interesting objects was completed ages ago. There is very little moisture present. A few pools, all of them small, along the walls and slight amount of dripping from the low ceilings constitute the water supply.

While all parts of the Cavern presents objects of interest. The Kings Palace and Queens Room presents in profusion the greatest number of those objects built up by the precipitation of various salts left by the evaporation of slowly dripping water. These take on varied and fantastic tints of color, pink and red, due doubtless to the presence of iron, are present on much of the formations. Many of the giant stalagmites are many feet in circumference and reach the ceiling in places and must have taken many millions of years to have reached such enormous size. On one of these there is a card telling that calculations show it to have been sixty million years in the making. As deposits such as these could not form with running water the floor on which they rest must have been practically dry before they began to form.

A description of these, one that would give you even a semblance of the real beauty of the formations or the magnitude and extent of this freak of nature; would be like presenting you with a pine burr as a description of a forest of Conifers. Our lunch was taken in a most wonderful chamber. Its walls and ceiling appeared to be of lime stone. The ceiling of this was somewhat lower than most of the other large chambers and was void of any formations found in other parts. It was well lighted and the most spacious dining room of natures making in Big Round World. Like Solomons Temple there was not heard the sound of ax hammer or tool of metal in its building.

On our short round after lunch we were halted on a rather steep grade and invited to sit down which was welcome to me, and one of the guides proceeded to inform us of the discovery some years ago by one Mr. White and the Federal Government at once declared it a National Monument. White was kept for a season and discharged without ceremony and is at present eeking out a sort of living.

Such is the kindness usually bestowed on discoverers and inventors that have done much for the human race. There were present on the occasion six hundred and forty four persons. Twenty-eight states were represented. The largest number being from Texas, three hundred. At this announcement a Texan screamed out, Hurrah for Ma Ferguson and the crowd rose and gave her loud acclaim.

The return journey was then began and I hunted up the elevator, which adjoins the Dining Hall. It was a slow process as only eleven could be carried at a time. A journey through the Caverns provides much food for thought. What strange prank of nature in the distant past brought it about. I was told that the Cavern was known to be over twenty-one miles in length. If

Married Women Will Lose Their Jobs

Gen. John A. Hulen of the Fort Worth and Denver city railway offices has let it be known that women whose husbands make salaries sufficient to support their families will be laid off in the offices of the system Aug. 1. Unmarried women employees who embrace matrimony after August 1 will be automatically dropped from the payroll. No blanket ruling on the salary of the husband has been made as the company will consider each case separately to determine if the man's pay check is ample for his family's support. In all cases reported so far the husband's salary has been deemed adequate. Replacements will be from the ranks of those employed laid off for reasons of economy during the past three years. "Back to the home" appears to be the slogan the country over for the wife who has a husband able to support her.—Cleburne Times.

Let the Republicans start their whispering campaign if they want to. In the meantime, we Democrats will shout from the housetop, from the watchtower and from Mt. Sinai what the rascally Republicans have been doing to the "peepel" the past twelve years. Run 'em away from the pie counters and let us there for awhile.—Terry County Herald.

They have already started it. Why should the Democrats wait on anything. We had better get to moving and keep going. We are very optimistic about electing Roosevelt and Garner, but I want to tell you that the money that is controlled by the Republican party, the machine which is capable of operating, will be difficult to overcome. When we say machine we mean that practically all of the Federal employees are working for the election of Hoover and Curtis, and that is characteristic of any party that is in power, and of course is expected. The Democrats are not going to have a walkover in the November election. They have a bare chance, but the Republicans have the better chance.—Abilene Times.

We shall continue to work for the welfare of our community, which is an ideal farming community. It is almost astounding to realize that land should be almost held in contempt here, while Japan is risking her national life to acquire less favorable territory, two nations are fighting for a little strip of rough land in South America, and two European nations are quarreling over just a few square miles on the southeastern shore of frigid Greenland.

It is the understanding of the Herald that all ballot boxes throughout the state are going to be closely guarded for illegal ballots tomorrow, and the fellows who FORGOT to get a poll tax receipt but votes anyway, may find themselves headed toward Huntsville, for it is a criminal offense. Our understanding is that grand juries are working in some counties in east Texas, now, and some have already been indicted.

Well, the Herald had a birthday last week, and the "old he of the helm" has one this week. Mrs. Herald had a jam up good noon day dinner at which several of our friends appeared and stuck their feet under our table. Some of our friends brought or sent gift offerings, all of which were highly appreciated.

But when we had the thing almost unpacked and one side of the dining room stacked with a ton of paper, more or less, and had unwound twine until our fingers ached, we had unearthed one Irish potato, medium size; one sweet potato, about bedding out size, one rotten sided onion, one hot-dog, but this one come out of the frigidaire and was cold.

Clyde Moore, in The Ohio State Journal, says, "We suppose Mussolini's action in ordering an 80 per cent cut in train fare for honeymooners may be spoken of as berth control." Not so. The great statesman wants birth freedom. Only the United States, with room for many times, its population, is fool enough to advocate birth control.

In order to cut down the expense of schools, much is being written these days on the propriety of sending or starting children to school at the age of six. Many think the teachers are for it in order to enlarge the school and to create more spending money for schools.

And now comes Bishop Cannon, who so ardently supported Mr. Hoover four years ago, classing Mr. Hoover with the bootleggers because the President saw fit to change his views on the 18th amendment.

We had a letter from a friend this week out at Glendale, Arizona in which he stated that they not only had gila monsters and lizards and hot weather (it reached 111 that day and the coolest part of the night was 87) but to add insult to injury their only daily paper was a Republican sheet, published at Phoenix, and they had to regale themselves every day on a hot, long-winded editorial on the virtues of Hoover and the necessity of Hoovercrats staying hitched again this year.

LET'S VOTE FOR A RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT

Texan boil over, we don't know what it would take to do it. He inclosed a sample that our friend has to read or skip each day, in which the writer tries to belittle John Garner for his defense of himself and Texas before the board of inquiry from the New England states, and especially the part in which Garner stated that he had always supported the Democratic ticket, including the one with Al Smith and Joe Robinson thereon.

MURRAY GIVES CROP ESTIMATE The six counties in the crop production loan district for which P. F. Murray is supervisor of loans, will produce 178,000 bales in 1932.

Lubbock county, Mr. Murray estimates will produce 60,000 bales; Hockley, 50,000 bales; Lynn, 40,000 bales; Terry, 20,000; Cochran, 5,000 bales and Yoakum, 3,000.

We learn that Mrs. W. H. Dallas will conduct another radio audition contest for a popular radio company again this year.

GOVERNOR STERLING DESERVES IT

The Herald is of the opinion that Governor Ross Sterling has served the state in a most acceptable manner and deserves to be re-elected for the customary second term.

There has been no hint of graft in the Sterling administration. The governor has served at a great personal sacrifice, his own fortune having dwindled while he served the state. But Texas has gained because of this sacrifice.

With the national deficit mounting, and Congress arguing over ways and means of meeting it, Texas can point with pride to a reduced deficit and increasing income under the able leadership of Governor Sterling.

THE CHRONICLE ON WEST TEXAS

The Houston Chronicle recently turned West Texas over its editorial knife and administered a sound, rhetorical spanking. It seems that West Texas voted for West Texas candidates. And that, we are astonished to learn, is high political crime and serious economic error.

When administering its rebuke, the Chronicle may have had in mind the West Texas vote for West Texas candidates for congressman-at-large. If that be true, we humbly remind the Chronicle that West Texas' growth in population created two of the three new Congressional positions; and, further, that its "bloc" system of voting appears to have given West Texas an opportunity to name but one of the two Congressmen to whom, in all justice, it was entitled.

West Texas may make a lot of mistakes. It probably does. But so does South Texas and East Texas and North Texas. In any event, loyalty to self and willingness to fight a just fight—even in the face of almost certain defeat—should not be counted against the people who inhabit the wide space of Texas.

J. H. Carpenter has a Dallas Morning News printed 40 years ago this August. His father preserved the paper among some valuable possessions that he had. The styles depicted in the dry goods ads look ludicrous to us now.

Jim Burnett was out on the Heath farms this week over in Yoakum county and brought back some sample corn that looks like they will live and do well over there another year.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

In our issue of August 27, 1909, we have on the front page a two column article from the pen of Rev. J. N. Groves, and aged Presbyterian minister who lived in the old Groves Chapel (Union) community on a long wagon trip from his home to Corpus Christi and return, which occupied all the time from April 30th that year till about August 1st. It was indeed an interesting article, as he described the products, the topography, crop conditions, etc. of each county he passed through on the entire trip. One description in particular that we wish to notice 23 years this side of that date, and that is his idea of Neveces county, of which Corpus Christi is the county seat. It shows that the world "do move" as the old negro said, and we can some times be mistaken in our ideas. Mr. Groves stated that the Neveces county was a very good farming county, but only made a crop about once in three years. Corn he said averaged from 8 to 25 bushels, and cotton from nothing to a half bale per acre on account of the boll weevil. In 1930, that county produced more cotton than any county on earth, and stood very near the top the year before as well as last year. There is said to be 17 Gins in the little town of Robstown in that county, alone.

From the tone of the second, or editorial page, the Fort Worth Record and Dallas News must have been into a verbal scrawl, as we advised the Texas Press Association to make them kiss and make up at their next meeting. We had taken a fling at Jim Jefferies for consenting to a fight with Jack Johnson, negro, which took place a few weeks from the date of this paper. It seems from the tone of the paper that candidates were swamping the press with "free dope" even at that date. No better now, Nay! neigh! We note also, where we had given our little city a rap from its seeming religious negligence. It seems that the Baptist meeting had to close before time on account of lack of interest. We had a very encouraging letter which we printed from a subscriber by the name of Henry Hansburger of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Hansburger read the Herald regularly until his death some ten years later. He paid for us a Christmas turkey one year.

Page three, one which we find mostly locals, lets see what had happened: Edwin and Elza Groves were in on business. V. E. Hargett was a business visitor to Plainview. Ed Neill had accepted a position as compositor on the Gomez Review. J. F. Holden was selling high patent flour for $4.20 per 100. Clay Hughes had come in from Big Spring with a load of freight. T. M. Biles was over from Gomez. Will Mathis was here from Lubbock visiting his mother, Mrs. Griffith. John Daniels had left for Big Spring after freight. A lot of transient people were reported at the Hill Hotel. W. D. Shaw had returned to Plains from a visit to Mullins, Texas. Assessor Shepherd and son, Artie, were over posting up his books. Several Bailey admirers had gone to Plainview to hear "Joseph Weldon expound the gospel," we reported. That was the one and only original Joseph Weldon Bailey. Arthur Moore was doing some surveying for the T4 ranch. Geo. E. Tierman's new home was about complete. Dr. Ellis, Billie Bird and Jim Gamble made a flying trip to Lubbock. Bill Johnson, old time Territe came in to make it his home again. Misses Nannie Lee and Minnie Fisher, of Mullins, Texas, were visiting the Shaw family in Yoakum county. J. H. Black's family had carried him to San Angelo for his health. Mal (Deacon) Donaldson came in from the Slaughter ranch. J. T. Carter of the west side was in to renew. E. L. Duke had returned from Arkansas where the family had a reunion. Dick Brownfield cashed at the State Bank while W. A. Bell attended the Bailey speaking at Plainview. The school building has undergone repairs and was ready for school opening. John Burnett and family had returned from Dublin where they visited. The Holiness people were conducting a revival at Gomez. Miss Flora Robinson had left to re-enter Kid-Key College at Sherman. She was to graduate the following May.

Robt. Forrester and wife were visiting the later's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hughes. W. G. Harbin had returned from a visit with his mother in Parker county. Mrs. Arthur Alexander had returned from Dallas where she had made her fall millinery purchases. Prof. W. G. McConnell of Broneo was in town and announced that he would teach the Plains school the next term. G. M. Smith was in from the Groves community and reported that Miss Mabel Farrar had taught them a mighty good school. One prominent member of the "Sweater Club" had reported late and was fined $5. Well, at least they had $5 in those good old days. Heavy rains had visited the south part of the county the week before. Bud Smith, Tom and Jim Hill, of Eliasville, were visiting county clerk, T. J. Price and family. Sam Rather had been employed by Spencer to do their abstracting. He had received a new Oliver typewriter. W. D. Winn had received a very fine pig from a dealer in Knox City. J. J. Kendrick of Plains, had passed through in his white Buick, headed for Big Spring.

In the Groves Chapel Dots, we note that Walter Groves had carried a load of hogs to Big Spring. S. E. Hamilton carried a load of corn to Lamesa and received a dollar a bushel for it. The Nuns had stocked the Cathey ranch. Billy Wilks of the Clayton ranch was gathering up Muleshoe steers. Alvin Groves of Fort Worth, was visiting his father, Rev. J. N. Groves, and engaging actle for Swift & Co. Miss Kate Bryant was visiting in the J. N. Groves home. A big celebration was to be had at Sweetwater Sept. 7-8, welcoming the Santa Fe Cut-off. Sen. Culberson, Cong. Smith, Gen. Jewell Lightfoot, and Morris Shepherd were expected to speak. Hon. Cone Johnson was in this city that week, and was advertised as the prohibition candidate for governor. He spent some time here on his way from the north Plains to Big Spring on a speaking tour. We published the Treasurer's (A. B. Bynum) Quarterly report that week. The county had a cash balance in all funds (five) of $9,162.96 on hand and didn't owe a dime. W. N. Copelins, Texas. Assessor Shepherd and son, Artie, were over posting up his books. Several Bailey admirers had gone to Plainview to hear "Joseph Weldon expound the gospel," we reported. That was the one and only original Joseph Weldon Bailey. Arthur Moore was doing some surveying for the T4 ranch. Geo. E. Tierman's new home was about complete. Dr. Ellis, Billie Bird and Jim Gamble made a flying trip to Lubbock. Bill Johnson, old time Territe came in to make it his home again. Misses Nannie Lee and Minnie Fisher, of Mullins, Texas, were visiting the

WHO CAN AFFORD IT?

By Bruce B. Brewer, Vice Pres., Ferry-Hanly Advertising Co.

"They can afford it—I can't." That argument, used by a local merchant when he is reminded that large national concerns profitably use small city advertising space, simply doesn't hold water. In the first place, the big national concern probably grew to largeness from a start in using small city advertising. Secondly, it costs the national advertiser far more to use the paper than it does the local merchant. The big advertiser must use thousands of papers. Divided the number of papers used into his total sales and you quickly see how costly it is for him, and yet, he uses this advertising only because he knows by experience it pays him. To illustrate: A national advertiser's sales in 1,000 small cities are $2,000,000 annually. He spends for advertising an average of $100 in each small city, or $100,000 in all. His $100 in each city must bring $2,000 in sales. On the same basis, a retailer with sales of $10,000 should spend $500; with $25,000 he should spend $1,250; on $50,000, his advertising should amount to $2,500; on $100,000 it should be $5,000. In addition, the merchant secures a lower rate, so his money buys more advertising, which makes his advertising-sales cost lower. Now, "who can afford it?"

WHY BRING TECH INTO IT?

Rev. Bradner J. Moore, in an open letter presented by him to The Morning Avalanche for publication, makes a veiled charge that his dismissal was due at least in part of antagonism on the part of "influential Episcopalians" on the Board of Directors of Texas Technological college. Assuming that the pastor's charge is entirely true and correct, we are moved to ask, "well, what of it?" Whether Episcopalians, Catholics, Presbyterians or Baptists, directors of any college may, as we see it, urge the removal of any pastor who, in his work with college students, insists upon offering theories in direct opposition to the policies of the institution in question. The fact that Rev. Moore charges members of his own faith with opposing him weakens rather than strengthens his position.

ABILENE VOTERS HIT BLUE LAWS

Abilene, Aug. 20.—By a majority of 378, voters of Abilene today instructed the city commission to repeal an ordinance prohibiting showing of Sunday pictures. The number of votes cast in favor of Sunday shows was 1,567; against, 1,189.

The city commission sponsored an informal referendum at request of 750 citizens who presented a petition last week promising that in even the petitioners won the anti-Sunday picture ordinance would be repealed. That action will be taken at once, said Mayor Lee R. York.

Sunday shows here were legislated out of business last January, after operating briefly after a referendum in which the anti-show group won by a majority of about 250 votes.

ORVILLE BULLINGTON—DEMOCRAT

A republican ticket will adorn the November ballot. It will include the name of Orville Bullington, by the republicans nominated for the governorship of Texas.

Back in January, Mr. Bullington almost decided to become a democrat. Maybe he did become a democrat. Witness this extract from a release to Texas newspapers over the signature of Tom Hunter.

"Orville Bullington, Wichita Falls attorney and state republican leader, related to the audience the activities of Mr. Hunter in Washington and ended up by stating that he would probably bolt his party and vote for Tom Hunter on the democratic ticket.

It would be interesting to know whether or not Mr. Bullington made good his promise to his Wichita Falls neighbors. It would be interesting to know whether or not Mr. Bullington did go into the democratic primary and pledge himself to support the democrat nominee. It would be interesting to know if, in compliance with that pledge, Mr. Bullington is obligated to vote against himself in the general election.

In any event, Mr. Bullington certainly proved the soundness of his judgment if, even for a moment, he seriously considered bolting the republican party and embracing the hallowed principles of Texas democracy.—Texas Opinion.

Gen. Smedley D. Butler, on the retired list, has thrown caution to the winds and is marching on. He peremptorily declined the dry nomination for senator in Pennsylvania. A lifelong republican and the son of a distinguished republican father for the first time in his life he is going to vote for the democratic standard-bearer for president and vice president. He has more than burned the bridges behind him. He accepted an invitation to go to Washington and address the bonus marchers. He offered encouragement to the army of veterans in Washington seeking the bonus. He said: "You are the best behaved segment of society in America today. You are as well disciplined as any army." His speech bristled with "hells." His first was when he said he had run for the senate in Pennsylvania as a republican on the bonus ticket and "got the hell beat out of me."

He advised the veterans to return to their homes and leave their leaders to guard their interests. In conclusion he said: "If you do go home keep your leaders here to look out for your interests and when you get home go to the polls in November and lick the hell out of those who are against you. You know who they are. Yes, the time has come to change the position of the soldier who bled in wartime and suffered in peacetime. You can change it. There is a simple method provided in November this year by the God-given system of government we have. NOW GO TO IT."

Well, the former king of the fighting marines, fighters Butler led around the world, is on the road again. This time he has tossed the elephant over and is going to chase the donkey around the track.—Cleburne Times-Review.

PETITION SEEKS TO ABOLISH AGENTS

Levelland, Aug. 31.—A movement is on foot here to request the county commissioner's court to submit to Hockley county voters in December, the question of retaining the county extension work.

The agitation is the outcome of a demand for lower taxes, it being felt by many that money can be saved by elimination of the cost of maintaining the county agent and the home demonstration agent. The petition is expected to be presented to the court soon.

"ROLLIE BURNS" A NARRATIVE OF WEST TEXAS PROGRESS

The adventurous life of Rollie Burns, one of the real empire builders of West Texas, has been committed to paper and bound within the covers of a book, the product of the Southwest Press, Dallas.

The author is W. C. Holden, former professor of history at McMurry college, now in the history department of Texas Technological college.

Very wisely Dr. Holden lets Rollie Burns tell his own story. It's a first-person narrative, full of the idioms and flavor of West Texas. It bristles with the vigorous speech of the cow camp and the open range. There are a few switchbacks and meanderings along paths not strictly belonging to the picture, but these are few and do not interfere with the flow of the story. Dr. Holden has done a fine piece of work in ghosting an autobiography that has all the elements of a popular novel, based on solid, substantial facts of life in the pioneer west.

Everybody on the Plains knows Rollie Burns of Lubbock. He had a hand in converting West Texas from an Indian paradise to a land of baronial cattle estates. His life and deeds have been written about many times, but never so interestingly as in this book, which is called simply "Rollie Burns." The person who would know the true story of West Texas' emergence from oblivion into the bright light of civilization would do well to read the story of Rollie Burns.

THE LAST WORD

A certain Kansas farmer was observed by his wife to be unusually pensive. A penny for your thoughts, she remarked.

"I was thinking, my dear," he said, "what epitaph I should put on your tombstone."

As his spouse was in perfect health, naturally, she resented this undue thoughtfulness.

"Oh, that's easy!" she responded briskly. "Just put 'Wife of the Above!'"

CALICHE FOUND PROFITABLE IN STOCK RATION

Lubbock, Aug. 13.—A new use has been discovered for the caliche hills of the South Plains and one that may not only revolutionize the commercial ration industry but likewise farm feeding.

Feeding livestock on caliche or limestone, will build bone and weight in the animals.

The discovery was made accidentally by H. W. Stanton at his feeding pens in Yellowhouse Canyon north of town.

One day last spring he went into the pens and found that the animals had eaten back into the canyon a space wide enough for a wagon or truck to drive in. He soon discovered that the animals liked the caliche and daily ate it with their grain ration.

It has long been known that a small amount of limestone was a necessary part of rations for livestock. But as far as is known here, this is the first time that cattle have consumed caliche or limestone in any quantity.

Cattlemen state that the animals from the Stanton pens had wonderful bone structure and that they were able to carry a heavier weight than those without a regular lime ration.

HEALTH A POLITICAL ISSUE

Another "whispering campaign" is indicted. Religion was the basis of the one in 1928; this year physical fitness will be stressed. Even while the Democratic convention was in progress the whispers got busy in questioning the health of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and Newton D. Baker. The latter's physical fitness was unofficially debated by some Ritchie adherents.

Mr. Roosevelt's physical handicap—he has often been described as "an athlete from the waist up"—has long been more or less openly stressed by Smith followers as well as by Republicans in general. In 1922, at the age of 40, Roosevelt was stricken with infantile paralysis following a swim in cold water off the New England coast. It affected the spinal cord and his legs withered somewhat. Nothing daunted, he carried on with the aid of crutches. Then bathing in warm springs and a certain underwater treatment so benefited him that he discarded his crutches for braces, though still using a cane. He was so gratified by his improvement that he raised a $75,000 fund to help fellow sufferers. However, an attendant has to snap the knee braces in and out of position whenever the Governor stands up or sits down. In a campaign appearance not long ago Mr. Roosevelt was embarrassed and helpless for several minutes because his attendant was not present when he had to arise.

To satisfy the public that he is physically fit, Governor Roosevelt on April 29, 1931, underwent an examination by four specialists—Dr. Linsley R. Williams, director of the New York Academy of Medicine and Drs. Samuel W. Lambert, Russell A. Hibbs and Forest Kennedy. As a result, they announced: "We have today carefully examined Governor Roosevelt and we believe that his health and powers of endurance are such as to allow him to meet any demand of private and public life." Before the convention someone asked Roosevelt to "do something" to prove his physical fitness for the presidency, but the Governor evidently thinks that running for office is enough.

That the Republicans intend to capitalize the health issue to a greater or lesser degree is seen in the sudden pre-convention statement by Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, that President Hoover is a "physical rarity" and his ability to withstand the strains of office is "almost a phenomenon."

So you may expect to hear a lot more about the "health issue."—Pathfinder.

A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS

An exchange says that, "We have been interested in the proposal sponsored by John Perry that the United States accept whiskey, wine and cordials from the European nations which owe us money, in settlement of the war debts. If the United States should repeal the 18th amendment, making the sale of intoxicants legal again, there could be no objections on legal grounds to the importation of British whiskey, French wines, Italian cordials and Cuban rum; and the merit of Mr. Perry's project is that these are commodities which we do not produce and of which there is no considerable supply on hand in America."

"To be sure, the Perry plan involves the Federal Government going into the liquor business. We feel certain, however, that if the people of the United States are going to repeal the prohibition amendment they will set up some sort of control in place of the old-time saloon system, and that will mean that Uncle Sam must either sell liquor himself or delegate its sale to some agency under governmental control."

"We shall know by November perhaps sooner, whether we are going wet again or not. And if we are why shouldn't we stock up with foreign wines and liquors while our own breweries and distilleries are getting into shape to replenish the domestic supply?"—Crosbyton Review.

RADIO VS. NEWSPAPER

If you are not on hand to hear a radio broadcast at the moment it is given, can you "turn back" the radio and pick up the report when you want it?

No. But if you are not at liberty to read a newspaper the minute it is issued, the newspaper is available for your instant use at any time you want to pick it up.

If an important speaker gives a statistical report over the radio can you "turn back" the radio in order to compare the speaker's closing statement with his opening statement?

No, but your eye can compare the last paragraph of a newspaper's report of a public address with the paper's report of the speaker's opening remarks.

If you are listening to something you want to hear over the radio and neighbors drop in, can you ask them to wait until the broadcast is over, before you receive them?

Or, if the baby screams, or something boils over on the stove, can you holler at the announcer to "Wait!" while you investigate the baby or take the pot off the stove?

No, you cannot. But you can lay down your newspaper when a domestic emergency arises. You can attend to the duty required of you, return to your paper, and resume reading where you left off.

Can you file a radio talk for reference? Can you refer at will to information gained over the radio? Can you accurately quote from memory what you have just heard over the radio, even five minutes after you have heard it?

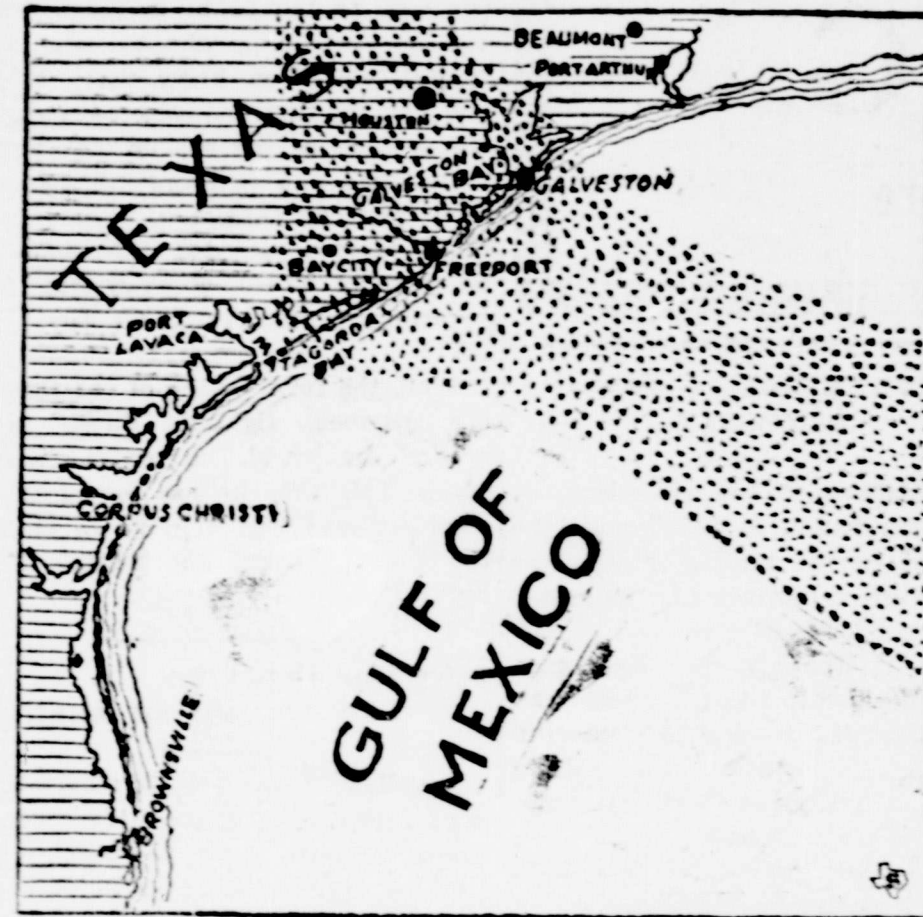

No, no, NO! Dozens of nos to all these questions.

The newspaper will continue to serve, as it always has served, every citizen's need for a stable source of information and knowledge. It is readily available, it may be preserved for record, it may be referred to, taken up and put down, at will. It may be glanced at or pondered over. The section you wish may be singled out when and as you wish it.

Radios were originally designed for entertainment, and as a successor to the talking machine in providing music in the home.

It ably fulfills these purposes, but as an advertising media, as a news source, it is a breath upon the window, here this minute, then gone, forever.—Orosi, (Calif.) Courier.

Where Gulf Storm Took 18 Lives

Seventeen dead, at least fifty injured, and property damage estimated at around a million dollars were reported in the wake of a tropical storm which swept in on the area shown above from the Gulf of Mexico. Crippled communications and impassable roads made full information impossible concerning the storm. Heaviest toll was at West Columbia, where eight lost their lives.

Win Trips to Guild Convention

CHESTER MEYER

JACK NORMAN

As winners of highest state honors for Texas in the $75,000 coach-building competition of the Fisher Body Craftsmen's Guild, Jack Norman and Chester Meyer, of San Antonio, will leave this week for Detroit, where they will attend the second annual convention of the Guild, Aug. 22 to 25 inclusive. Fellow-delegates to the convention will consist of two similar winners from each of the other states, the District of Columbia, and each of the seven Canadian districts of the Guild. The boys earned the trip by constructing the finest Napoleonic coach models in the state, and their models will be re-judged at Detroit as a basis for presenting the four international awards, each consisting of a four-year university scholarship worth $5,000. Among the guests of honor at the convention will be the leading scientific educators of the United States and Canada, including such men as Dr. R. A. Millikan, of the California Institute of Technology, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and M. Augustin Frigon of the University of Montreal. Dan Beard, "Father of the Boy Scouts," and John Stiles, head of the Canadian Boy Scout organization, also will attend and will address the boys.

TAXPAYERS ON THE WARPATH

From the Marshall News:

The taxpayers in Tarrant county seem to be deadly in earnest about seeking relief from the tax burden as will be seen from the following editorial in the Dallas News:

The taxpayers of Tarrant county are on a rampage and give every appearance of meaning business in their demands for few taxes and wiser expenditure of public funds. An example of their desperate earnestness is their proposal to reduce the number of representatives in the lower house of the legislature to seventy-five. That means that Tarrant county is ready to give up two of her members in the House and perhaps three. It is only by that sort of self-denial, however, that we will ever get any real relief from taxation.

Going further, the taxpayers would limit court house salaries to a top of $5,000. They would combine the office of county clerk with that of district clerk, abolish the treasurer's place altogether, consolidate posts of tax collector and tax assessor, economize on lateral roads, let the sheriff police traffic on highways, tighten up collection of delinquent taxes, trim off a number of county sinecures, hire a reliable outside audit of county accounts and clean house generally. If one-half of these recommendations should be adopted, Tarrant county will save hundreds of thousands of dollars.

But the taxpayers propose even further to cancel $1,700,000 worth of bonds voted by the county and by the city of Fort Worth and now left unspent. The News is not prepared to say what should be done in that case, but the very fact that it is proposed shows that the sentiment for saving money in public business is getting very strong and very concrete. If that determination becomes general, taxation will actually come down.

Fat Man Reduces 53 Pounds—Oh Boy!

Don't be stubborn, you big fat men—throw off your fat before your fat throws you into the discard. Do as Mr. S. A. Lanier of Sawtelle, Calif., did—read his letter:

"I have used two reducing belts to no benefit but since using Kruschen Salts each morning in my coffee I have taken off 7 lbs. in a week and eat most anything I like. I weighed 243 lbs. 6 months ago and now I weigh 190 lbs."

Take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—now you know the safe way to lose unsightly fat.

For a trifling sum you can get a jar of Kruschen Salts that last 4 weeks at Alexander Drug Co. Ins., or any drugstore in the world—but be sure and get Kruschen—your health comes first.

COUPLE CELEBRATE 60TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The children and old friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Moore, met at the home of their eldest son, J. W. Moore, Sr., Sunday, August 21st, to celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary. The day was well spent in feasting, singing and talking about old times. The family wishes to thank those who sang or in any way helped to make the day enjoyable for this aged couple.

There were 84 people who registered, and of these 8 were children, 26 grandchildren and 9 great grandchildren of the honorees. All children of Mr. and Mrs. Moore were present except Bob Moore of Brady, Texas. The out-of-town children and relatives who attended were Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Brannon and Lorman of Crane; Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Moore and children of Lamesa, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Key, Clovis, N. M.; Mrs. Bessie Duke and children, of Lubbock and a grandson, Fowler Moore and family, Clovis, N. M.

MRS. LEE ALLEN HOSTESS

Mrs. Lee Allen was hostess to the Ideal bridge club Wednesday. Table cuts were boxes of handkerchiefs and went to Mesdames Leo Holmes, Mon Telford and Dick McDuffie. Mrs. McDuffie wining high, a bottle of perfume. Miss Christine Owens was presented with a bottle of perfume as guest prize. A salad course and ice-cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Orb Stice returned to her home in Lovington, N. M., Friday, after several days visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McCullen from Lubbock, visited Mrs. McCullen's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Ed Sharp Sunday.

SHOWER FOR NEW BRIDE

Mrs. Clovis Kendrick, who before her recent marriage, was Miss Ruth Henson, was delightfully surprised by a shower given by Miss Velma McClish and Mesdames James King and Dick McDuffie at the home of the later.

Mrs. McDuffie acted as hostess and presented the honoree, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Orb Stice, of Lovington, N. M., and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick to each guest. Punch was served from a beautiful table covered with net over pink. The serving table was presided over by Miss Christine Owens and Mrs. Lee O. Allen. When the guests had arrived, a colored lady (Twillie Graham) came bringing Mrs. Kendrick a basket of laundry. The basket contained many lovely gifts for the bride. About 50 guests registered in the bride's cook book.

AGED MINISTER PASSES ON

Elder S. S. Bozeman, well known aged minister of the church of Christ passed away August 10th, at the ripe old age of 77 years, after laboring 35 years in his Master's vineyard as a gospel preacher. He was buried just 22 days after the passing of his life companion. Both were buried in the Tipton, Okla., cemetery.

Bro. Bozeman was here about a week before he died, having preached the Sunday morning before at the local church. Following that Sunday, he went to Cameron in Milam county to visit some nieces. He had reached that city and had been talking to a young man, son of a friend, who was out of duty. On taking his leave of the family, he reached the gate and fell, passing away in a few minutes. Surely this aged man of God was in line of duty when he was called home.

He leaves five children to mourn his passing, three of which live in Terry county, as follows: E. F. and S. F. Bozeman and Mrs. Brockman, and two at Tipton, Okla., K. K. Bozeman and Mrs. E. C. Cook.

Trans-Continental Cord Derby Opens 1932 National Air Races

Great fleets of competing airplanes, piloted by men and women, will open the 1932 program of the National Air Races to be held at Cleveland, O., Aug. 27 to Sept. 5. These aircraft will be racing in the trans-continental Cord Cup Derby, with more than $10,000 in cash, two Auburn automobiles, trophies and plaques as prizes. This great race starts Sunday, Aug. 21, one division leaving Washington, D. C., and another leaving Los Angeles. The groups will take off at Bartlesville, Okla., and race en masse to Cleveland, arriving at that city the first day of the air race program. Arrangements have been made for these racers to stop at a number of cities in the eastern, western, southern and central parts of the country. These cities, all enthused over aviation, are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of the fliers and each will have an air show of its own. The accompanying map shows the routes of the two divisions and the cities at which the fliers will stop. This great cross-country race was made possible by The Cord Corporation, makers of Cord and Auburn automobiles, which is headed by E. L. Cord. It is estimated that 100 or more airplanes will be in this competition, all winging toward Cleveland, O.

DR. KNAPP COMES TO TEXAS

Announcement that Dr. Bradford Knapp has accepted the presidency of Texas Technological College at Lubbock, and will take up his duties at that institution in the fall, is of importance to the entire State. The Board of Directors of the college is to be congratulated in that it has provided the institution with an executive head who is one of the educational leaders of the South. But Mr. Knapp is more than that. He is one of the most able leaders of economic progress in the South, and his coming to Texas is an event on which the entire State is to be congratulated. The board has done something for West Texas and for the State as a whole, and not merely something for the college, in inducing Dr. Knapp to move to Lubbock.

For the past twenty-three years Dr. Knapp has been engaged in activities having for their object the raising of the standard of living among the people of the South. And he has lived with such work, so to speak, most of his life. For he is most decidedly the "son of his father," the distinguished Seamon A. Knapp, founder and pioneer of agricultural extension work in the South. Beginning as the assistant of his father with the United States Department of Agriculture in 1909, and succeeding him at his death, Dr. Knapp was with the department for ten years.

For five years he was chief of the Office of extension work in the South, States Relations Service. For the past twelve years he has been a college executive, but during that period has been even more distinctly a leader of economic progress than when he was with the Department of Agriculture, University of Arkansas, and director of the State Experiment Station, from the beginning of 1920 to the end of 1923, when he became President of Oklahoma Agricultural & Mechanical College. In 1928 he became President of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, which post he will leave to go to Lubbock. Texas has great need at this time of just such leadership as Dr. Knapp embodies. Few men understand the problems of the South as well as he does, and few have the capacity to inspire others that is his. We welcome him to Texas.—The Texas Weekly.

UNEQUAL REGULATION IN TRANSPORTATION CAUSES DISORDER AND CONFUSION

● The instability, confusion and disorder which unrestrained truck transportation has brought about is responsible in large measure for much of the distress in which all business finds itself today. Texas has moved to find a remedy and all concerned in the welfare of this state and its institutions should cooperate in the effort to restore stability and order to our transportation systems.

The Texas Railroads, in these advertisements, have endeavored to place before the people of this state some of the reasons why the existing laws, regulating motor transportation, should be upheld and enforced.

1. The railroads are necessary for the successful marketing of the enormous production of this state, which is used and consumed in every other state in the union.

Uniform, published, non-discriminatory transportation service rates are essential to the orderly conduct and welfare of business.

Unregulated truck transportation inevitably results in discriminatory charges and practices, rebating, unfair and unbusinesslike competitive methods, bringing about losses and commercial insecurity.

The wholesaler, jobber, retailer and local merchant suffer from the unfair competition of truckers and peddlers who, for the most part, are non-residents, pay no taxes and contribute nothing to the community welfare.

The farmer and agricultural producer must have at his command facilities adequate to transport crops and produce which move long distances in large volume, at low cost, by rail.

2. The railroads build and maintain their own roadways, pay heavy taxes for the support of state and municipal governments and institutions, and expend millions of dollars for payrolls, materials and supplies. Railroad workers are substantial citizens, home owners, and valued members of their communities.

3. Rail transportation is the most efficient and economical in existence for the movement of traffic in volume by land.

4. Texas highways belong to the people and are built and maintained at heavy cost. Their use for commercial purposes is a privilege, not a right. They should be kept safe for general use and not prematurely destroyed by heavy trucks.

5. The stability, security and orderly conduct of business require reasonable control and regulation of all transportation agencies.
