

We Are Looking For You Here Monday

Meadow Public Schools To Open September 5th

Meadow school patrons and friends are cordially invited to be present at the opening of school Monday, September 5th, 1932 at 9:00 o'clock. The Grade school and High school students and teachers will all assemble in the High school auditorium for the opening exercises.

In past years it has been the custom to open school on Thursday instead of Monday. This was caused by teachers attending the South Plains Teacher's Institute which is held at Lubbock, Texas, September 5th, 6th, and 7th. However, this year the Meadow teachers will not attend the Lubbock Institute but instead will attend the Terry County Institute which will be held at Brownfield sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

We are planning to attend the Terry County Institute because first; it is a home product and we owe it to our own county to support it; second, it gives us a better chance to get acquainted with the other teachers of the county; third, we must be there for the organization of the Inter-scholastic League; and fourth, it will be much more practical and economical for the teachers and school because most of the lectures and demonstrations will be carried on by practical men and women who are actually engaged in the work instead of by theorists who have never done what they are trying to tell us to do.

The law requires that all Texas teachers attend the institute two days out of each year.

It has been truly said that the most important business of the people is the education of the children. The schools of the United States make one of the largest, if not the largest, industry in the United States. It employs approximately 800,000 teachers and about 20,000,000 children. That leads us to say that the school is not a one man affair. It is not my school but your school. We, the teachers, are only the hired servants of your community, striving to guide the students to a higher, better, and nobler life.

The school may be compared to a large corporation composed of teachers, pupils, and patrons. The board of trustees are the directors, the teachers are the agents, the pupils are the raw product, and the patron is the stockholder in a corporation, in order to benefit by it and help run it, must know the business. Therefore we invite you to be present on the opening day and get acquainted with your child's teacher and encourage the child as well as the teacher by your interest.

A school is judged by the quality of the products it turns out. If they turn out poor students year after year the school will be judged as a poor school, but if they consistently turn out students who are thorough, honest, truthful, virtuous, efficient, and upright we may think of that school as being a school of high standards.

Good standards are reached through co-operation. Through co-operation of parents and teachers and students. A school usually maintains the kind of standards that you want it to. What about setting high standards for our school and then attaining them. Be present Monday, September 5th, at 9:00 o'clock A. M. and help set the standards of your school by the interest shown.

The faculty for Meadow Public School for the year 1932-33 is:

Homer Franklin, Supt., and History; Fred Groves, Prin. of High School, Coach and Math; Mrs. J. M. Burleson, English; Miss Dorothy Wilson, Girls coach, Spanish and Science; J. B. Airhart, Prin. of Grade School, Departmental work in 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th; Miss Nell Blackstock, Departmental work in 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th; Miss Cleo Price, Departmental work in 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th; Miss Gertrude Evans, Third Grade; Mrs. Lucile Franklin, Second Grade; Mrs. J. B. Airhart, First Grade.—Homer Franklin, Supt. of Meadow School.

R. A. Locker is having a petition put in his building on the west side of the square. We did not get to see Bob, but the workmen thought Bob was going to run a beer joint on one side when the Dean and Volsted laws are kicked out.

Mrs. C. H. Hester's sister, Mrs. F. M. Brown from Euston, La., is visiting here.

Littlefield, Aug. 27.—Eight postal workers, rural carriers, postmasters and other employes, from South Plains towns, are on the program for the district convention of the 18th district to be held here Labor Day, September 5.

A hundred and twenty-five out-of-town visitors are expected for the convention. The morning session, starting at 10 o'clock will be in the Palace theatre. The noon luncheon, with the afternoon session, will be in the First Baptist church.

Miss Ruth Courtney, of the local postal staff, and president last year, has been in charge of the arrangements. She is secretary this year. J. E. Brannen, postmaster, is vice-president.

Program Arranged
The morning program includes: 10 a. m. assembly invocation, Rev. J. F. Grizzle, First Baptist church; duet, L. W. Jordan and wife; welcome for the city, Mayor T. S. Martin; cornet solo by Jack Norman; song by Fern Hoover; song by Mr. and Mrs. Zed Robinson.

Following luncheon at 12:30 at the church the meeting will reconvene in the auditorium at 1:30.

Bonds Of Slaughter And Herring Remain As Set

Judge Gordon E. McGuire, of Lamesa, together with District Attorney, T. L. Price, of Post, and Clyde Backenstos, court reporter, were here Friday morning. Attorney J. E. Vickers, of Lubbock, representing Herring and Slaughter in an attempt to have their bonds lowered through habeas corpus proceedings was denied by Judge McGuire at the close of the testimony.

It was claimed that the $15,000 set for the above men could not be made, and through an attorney made an effort to have this lowered.

The defendants under arrest for participating in the robbery of the First State Bank of Seagraves, on June 17, have been confined to jail for some time.

James Baker and Edmond Meredith, two others who participated in this affair, are now out on bonds.—Seminole Sentinel.

Panhandle South Plains Fair Cuts Prices

Lubbock, Texas, Sept.—Admission prices to the Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 26 to October 1, have been cut in half, the fair catalog now being distributed announcements.

In spite of this cut in admissions, reducing the gate fee to 25c for adults and 15c for children, the same good show will be offered South Plains folks, W. G. McMillan, president, has assured the public.

Real agricultural exhibits are expected with better crops being produced this year than for several years and with a number of people over the section at work now gathering products for county and individual agricultural exhibits, McMillan says.

The John T. Wortham Shows, one of the largest moving carnivals in the world will be here for the six days.

Four good wild trips will be made about the middle of September by Lubbock people, traveling more than 1,000 miles to tell the people of the Plains of the plans for the fair this year. A band will accompany and novelties for the children will be given away.

JOHN BERT BELCHER IS BITTEN BY SPIDER

John Bert, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Gladys Belcher, was bitten on the great toe of the right foot by a poisonous spider Wednesday morning at the country home of S. E. Stanfield where he was visiting.

The large spider got into his boot during the night and bit him before the boot could be removed. He was brought to town for treatment about noon. He was reported doing nicely yesterday evening.—Seagraves News.

Public Schools To Open Next Thursday

This will be the last issue of the Herald to reach the readers before the 1932-33 term of our public schools shall have started on their run which we hope will continue for nine months. It is the intention of the board to complete a full nine months school (but they are going to have to have full co-operation of every man, woman and child in the district to do so. They have not only cut assessments in some instances, but the rate as well, and also have cut the salaries of teachers and are starting with about three less teachers than last year in order to make the burden just as light as possible on the tax-payers.

But the board as well as Supt. Sanders have assured the Herald that every effort possible will be put forth to make the school as efficient as possible with the shorter faculty, and we know that they will be gladly backed up by the corps of teachers, who have already shown the metal they were made of last year when they had to go through the whole term on a "watchful waiting" policy of deferred payments on salary. And we know that they will come back this year prepared to make a sacrifice if necessary for the school and pupils and parents they have learned to love and respect.

In order that we show that we are 100 percent behind the school in these strenuous times, let's all be at the auditorium at the high school building for the formal opening. And in the meantime, as the teachers begin to arrive here for their nine months of hard work, and it will be hard because they will have to double up somewhat, let's give them a smile, a welcome, and the glad hand. Let's show them that we, too, are prepared to go the limit in order to keep from dropping our school from the high pinnacle to which it has been raised by hard work, sacrifice, and money.

It looks as if the Gracious Father has granted us another good crop and better prices, and it may just be possible that our people will not only be able to pay up all back taxes, but those due this year as well, and that our school will not be hedged by financial worries as during the past year. We hope so anyway. But whatever way the tide may turn, we cannot afford to turn our backs upon the greatest blessing we have aside from the church to our town and community.

Let's talk for the school; let's work for the school; and if need be pray every man, woman and child in the for it.—Be there Monday at 9:30 A. M.

"The Trial Of Vivienne Ware"

"The Trial of Vivienne Ware", the much discussed Fox production with Joan Bennett and a cast of selected stars, comes to this Rialto Friday and Saturday as the Re-opening Program.

This is the film version of the radio broadcast that has already created a sensation throughout the country with the nation's celebrities participating in the broadcast and the radio audience acting as the jury in the murder case. The screen play depicts the trial of a beautiful society girl accused of murdering her former sweetheart. The motive for the crime is set forth as jealousy.

So condemning is the circumstantial evidence that even her handsome and youthful attorney, who is in love with the prisoner, tries to induce her to change her plea of "not guilty" to one of self-defense.

Conviction seems a foregone conclusion. But does she escape from the web of circumstance that is being woven around her? The answer—the climax of the picture—is sensational starting!

The cast appearing in support of Miss Bennett includes such favorites as Donald Cook, Allan Dinehart, Lillian Bond, Zasu Pitts, Herbert Mundin, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, Howard Phillips, Ruth Selwyn and Maude Eburne. The direction is by William K. Howard. Philip Klein and Barry Connors wrote the screen drama from the original novel and radio broadcast by Kenneth M. Ellis.

The New State And District Nominees

It appears almost sure at this time that Mrs. M. A. Ferguson of Austin will be the democratic nominee for Governor, and that in Texas, has always been equivalent to election. The Herald will try to give the vote in each place on the ticket next week, as by that time the unofficial count will likely be complete. The official count will be made at Lubbock when the State convention meets there later on this month.

In the race for railroad commissioner, C. V. Terrell of Wise county, is the nominee. In the four year term, Ernest O. Thompson, now holding the office by appointment, to fill out the unexpired term of Pat M. Neff, seems to have decisively defeated Gregory Hatcher of Dallas. William Pierson of Hunt county has several thousand lead over J. E. Hickman of Eastland county for Associate Justice of Supreme court.

In the Congressman-at-Large race, Dallas county gets two of them, Joe Bailey Jr. and Sterling P. Strong, and a county over on the Louisiana line gets the third, Geo. B. Terrell, although the growth of West Texas caused Texas to get at least two of these. Dallas has also their regular congressman, Hatton W. Summers. Two are classed wet, Bailey and Terrell; Strong is a dry.

Our state senator seems to be Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, having defeated Mr. Lockhart, J. N. Thomas of Tahoka, defeated H. R. Winston of this city for State Representative.

Weather Hinders Co-op. Meeting Tues. Night

Owing to the fact that a heavy rain fell here both Tuesday morning and afternoon, the attendance at the Texas Cotton Co-op. Association here Tuesday night was very small, according to K. B. McWilliams, local classifier and manager. Mr. McWilliams had put in lots of time to get a good meeting, but the roads were fearfully slick, and perhaps many members and prospective members thought the meeting might be postponed.

R. J. Murray, general manager, of Dallas, and Mr. Ganz, both good speakers were here and delivered fine addresses. They were asked many questions and seemed to answer all of them in a satisfactory manner. Several braved the elements and came from the Seagraves section. Meadow had promised an attendance of some 25, but this was cut almost to nothing on account of heavy rains.

The formal opening date here of the local office was Thursday the 1st. From now on, the office in the Rialto Theatre building will be open, and some one to give information wanted.

Revival Meeting Closes At Church Of Christ

The revival meeting conducted for twelve days under the auspices of the church of Christ by Lyle Price of Denison, came to a close Sunday night with interest as good or better than when the meeting started, although on account of weather conditions the Sunday night crowd was not quite so large as the preceding Sunday night. It is our understanding that many are now reading their Bibles that have not done so for years, and the people are rejoicing that they could go to a revival without hearing politics mentioned.

The church was greatly strengthened and are determined to go to work with a will never undertaken before. Some eleven souls were added by baptism, while others returned to their first love and promised to live better lives in the future. A new minister will be engaged as soon as possible to take the work here. Elder Claude McClung of Fort Worth, who held two successful revivals here several years ago, has agreed to come here for a meeting, which will begin on Friday night before the first Sunday in August, 1933.

In the meantime, the regular Sunday and week day services of the church will be continued as before at the church building.

Mr. J. E. White of Parker county, is here visiting his son, Sam and family. Mr. White lost his wife this spring.

Terry County Farmers Healed For Eats

We recently heard a Terry county farmer say that if he were fenced in on his farm—or the other man's farm, as he was a renter—he could live for twelve months without purchasing a thing to eat. Of course he might want some coffee, but coffee is not essential as a food—though we must admit is mighty doggone good to have on the place. Shen, too, he might not have any sugar, but what's to hinder him from making 'lasses out of his cane, which would answer as a fairly good substitute. Flour too, might be fine after a year of corn pone, but people lived in the south more than any year on corn pone, during the 4 years of Civil War. He remarked that he might get too ragged to want to get outside of the wall around the farm, but he could live.

But then, this farmer did not mean that he would undertake to live thus without a trip now and then to town, for as an afterthought he remarked that he seldom came to town but that he brought in the carried home without the formality of paying out any cash. That very day he brought in enough produce, butter, eggs and peas to pay for all the things needed on the farm that was not produced there in the way of foods. And this farmer and no other Terry county farmer need confine his diet to bread and molasses. There is an abundance of canned fruits and vegetables, meats, etc., not to say anything about the many things in the dry state like peas and beans to balance the diet.

The writer and wife drove out last Sunday afternoon with H. R. Winston and family to his farm four miles northwest of town. Mr. Wright is the farmer on it, and he not only has a good field of cotton, corn and other feed crops, but he has lots of other good things to eat, and will soon have an abundance of melons. When we returned from the farm, Mr. Winston had several days supply of roasted ears, peas, okra, squash and cucumbers, and you couldn't tell where he got them—they were not missed. Mr. Wright has almost an acre of peas alone, and each vine is simply hanging full, of the blacked variety, and his other truck patches are large and the yield great.

There was originally something like a hundred acres in cotton on the farm, but the wind, hail and hard rains reduced the acreage to about 35, but he will make all and more cotton than he can possibly gather if insects let it be. The only trouble seems that it is growing too fast just now to fruit well, although he had no rain up to that time. But we presume that most of the county got a good rain Tuesday.

Last year when several sections of the county produced a bale and more to the acre, some were heard to remark that it would probably be several years before such a crop was produced again. But there are cotton men here in town, who have studied cotton for years who are willing to post a bet that they can find thousands of acres in Terry county that will go a bale per acre if nothing happens to it from now on. Mr. Wright will probably get a half bale per acre himself, although the cotton he finally saved was planted up in June.

Two Inches Of Rain Here Since Saturday

What appears to be fairly general rains over this section have fallen since Saturday, and will be of special benefit to late corn and young feed, and if we can now have some sunshine, it is believed that insects will not start up enough to be a menace to cotton, although that plant is growing very fast and fruiting satisfactorily.

According to J. E. Shelton who keeps the government gauge on the roof of the courthouse, the rain Saturday amounted to a quarter inch; the rain Monday measured .30, and the two Tuesday morning and afternoon gauged 1.45 inches, making a total of two inches here since Saturday.

Mr. J. E. White of Parker county, is here visiting his son, Sam and family. Mr. White lost his wife this spring.

The Ferguson's Carry Terry County Again

Terry county has always been a Ferguson stronghold, but they seem to be losing some ground, and the day may not be far distance when there won't be enough "vest pocket" votes to overcome all other aspirants that get up against them. But they are still popular, as they carried the election this time by 190 votes. But when one remembers that this was out of a vote of nearly 2000 cast for governor, as against a majority of 224 two years ago with a vote for governor of only 1658. So one can see the trend away from jimferguson and ma is slow but sure.

Of course Terry county supported all west Texas candidates might well but lost all it seems but Ernest Thompson of Amarillo for railroad commissioner. It supported Terrell might well against Satterwhite, and although the former lives in north Texas, and the later in Ector county in west Texas, Terrell has been nice to west Texas and we have not forgotten it.

Some of course are happy and some sad on the county races, but personally the Herald believes that Terry county would have made no mistakes either way it went on the county races. And the thing for us to do is be good sports whether we lost or won, and go to the winners and promise them undivided support in helping them to make us good officials in every way. They certainly have the Herald's full co-operation.

Below we give the vote on the state, district and county officers in Terry county:

Governor:
Miriam A. Ferguson	1094
R. S. Sterling	904
Railroad Com. 6 Year Term:
C. V. Terrell	1003
Lee Satterwhite	746
Railroad Com. 4 Year Term:
W. Gregory Hatcher	560
Ernest O. Thompson	1165
As. Justice Supreme Court:
Wm. Pierson	711
J. E. Hickman	1028
Cong-at-Large Place 1:
Geo. B. Terrell	377
Pink Parrish	1403
Cong-at-Large Place 2:
J. W. Bailey, Jr.	729
J. H. Cyclone Davis	1027
Cong-at-Large Place 3:
Joe Burkett	923
Sterling P. Strong	795
State Senator, 30th Dist.
G. E. Lockhart	949
Arthur P. Duggan	1005
Representative 119th Dist.
H. R. Winston	1658
J. N. Thomas	343
County Clerk:
W. A. Tittle	1017
Rex Hesterman	1022
Sheriff and Tax-Collector:
J. S. Smith	1185
W. M. Thomason	867
Com. Precinct No. 1:
L. L. Brock	310
J. C. Johnson	221
Com. Precinct. No. 3:
R. I. Cook	197
W. H. Kelly	188
Com. Precinct No. 4:
G. M. Thomason	227
J. R. Garrison	193.

If you will note, the race for County Clerk will make one think of the race for governor. It was truly a horse race, as only a count, and the horse race, as only a matter of 5 votes separate them. Remember this is just the unofficial count, and the official count may change matters some. It will be published next week. The last we had on the governor's race Tuesday morning was that Mrs. Ferguson was leading the governor by about 400 votes out of a count of nearly 950,000 votes.

As to the program of the day, that will be carried out very much like others heretofore that has proved so satisfactory to the people. We are expecting them here Monday from the forks of the creek. So don't forsake us. Also, remember that many of the merchants are making their bargain days begin Friday and Saturday of this week. Read them and come.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN NORTH

Business has made "a decided upturn" throughout the country, with improvement greatest in the manufacturing districts of New England, Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, said today.

The east, in general, was showing the upturn more quickly than the middle and far western states, declared in an address before the Association of Manufacturers' representatives of New York.

Willis has completed a survey of conditions in the country's principal industrial centers.

Mr. Loyd Ledbetter and recent bride came in Sunday from Abilene and are looking for apartments, as both will teach again in our public schools.

To Attend Judges-Commissioner Convention

The County Judge-Commissioners Convention will assemble Friday and Saturday of this week in Amarillo. Some of the members of the Commissioners Court of this county always make an effort to attend these meetings as they can always learn something of value to themselves as well as the county.

Among those who will attend from this county at the Amarillo meeting will be, County Judge, Jay Barret and wife, and Commissioners L. L. Brock and W. A. Hinson and wives.

Talkies Depicts Excitement Of Modern Times

"The Wet Parade" Compares Life Of Pre-War Era With Thrills Of Present Day

Thrills of modern life, exciting happenings which appear daily in newspapers and the engrossing adventure of a young man and woman who find the fight for love and happiness as hazardous as the most fantastic jungle adventure, form the plot details of "The Wet Parade," which will open Sunday at the Rialto Theatre for three days.

The story, based on Upton Sinclair's sensational novel, opens on an aristocratic Southern plantation before the World War, depicting the tragedy of a young girl whose father is driven to suicide as a result of his obsession by liquor. Because of this, the girl becomes an almost fanatic supporter of the cause of prohibition but as the succeeding years bring about first the 18th Amendment and then the modern era of bootlegging activities, she finds herself the center of a series of exciting happenings which rise to a thrilling dramatic climax.

Highlights of Plot

Highlights of the plot include the heroine's attempt to prevent her brother from repeating her father's fatal error; the tragic murder of a nagging wife who tries to interfere with her husband's post-prohibition drinking habits, the wrecking of a "gin mill" by government agents and spectacular nightclub raids. The settings which range from a beautiful Southern plantation to picturesque New York street scenes of the period of the Wilson administration and finally depict the luxurious drinking places of the current times are the most varied and colorful seen on the screen in some time.

Dorothy Jordan, last seen in "Hell Divers," plays the leading feminine role and featured parts are played by Robert Young, who appeared as the young doctor in "Sin of Madelon Claudet;" the veteran character actor, Lewis Stone; Walter Huston, who scored in "Beast of the City," and Neil Hamilton of "Strangers May Kiss" fame. That the picture also has its comedy moments is assured by the presence in the cast of that inimitable laughmaker, Jimmy "Schnozzle" Durante. The large group of players also includes Wallace Ford, Myrna Loy, John Miljan, Joan Marsh, Clara Blandick and Emma Dunn. The picture was directed by Victor Fleming.

Don't Forget That Monday Is Tradesday

Brownfield is expecting an unusually big crowd here Monday, as the farm work is practically all done, and the farmers have nothing urgent on hand at this time. The merchants will have some of the best as well as the largest quantity of bargains they have ever offered on Trades Day. The Dry Goods merchants have been joined by a number of other business houses this time with bargains.

As to the program of the day, that will be carried out very much like others heretofore that has proved so satisfactory to the people. We are expecting them here Monday from the forks of the creek. So don't forsake us. Also, remember that many of the merchants are making their bargain days begin Friday and Saturday of this week. Read them and come.

We Are Looking For You Here Monday

Meadow Public Schools To Open September 5th

Meadow school patrons and friends are cordially invited to be present at the opening of school Monday, September 5th, 1932 at 9:00 o'clock. The Grade school and High school students and teachers will all assemble in the High school auditorium for the opening exercises.

Panhandle South Plains Fair Cuts Prices

Lubbock, Texas, Sept.—Admission prices to the Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 26 to October 1, have been cut in half, the fair catalog now being distributed.

In spite of this cut in admissions, reducing the gate fee to 25c for adults and 15c for children, the same good show will be offered South Plains folks, W. G. McMillan, president, has assured the public.

Real agricultural exhibits are expected with better crops being produced this year than for several years and with a number of people over the section at work now gathering products for county and individual agricultural exhibits, McMillan says.

The John T. Wortham Shows, one of the largest moving carnivals in the world will be here for the six days.

Four good will trips will be made about the middle of September by Lubbock people, traveling more than 1,000 miles to tell the people of the Plains of the plans for the fair this year. A band will accompany and novelties for the children will be given away.

JOHN BERT BELCHER IS BITTEN BY SPIDER

John Bert, 12-year-old son of Mrs. Gladys Belcher, was bitten on the great toe of the right foot by a poisonous spider Wednesday morning at the country home of S. E. Stanfield where he was visiting.

The large spider got into his boot during the night and bit him before the boot could be removed. He was brought to town for treatment about noon. He was reported doing nicely yesterday evening.—Seagraves News.

Public Schools To Open Next Thursday

This will be the last issue of the Herald to reach the readers before the 1932-33 term of our public schools shall have started on their run which we hope will continue for nine months. It is the intention of the board to complete a full nine months school but they are going to have to have full co-operation of every man, woman and child in the district to do so. They have not only out assessments in some instances, but the rate as well, and also have cut the salaries of teachers and are starting with about three less teachers than last year in order to make the burden just as light as possible on the tax-payers.

But the board as well as Supt. Sanders have assured the Herald that every effort possible will be put forth to make the school as efficient as possible with the shorter faculty, and we know that they will be gladly backed up by the corps of teachers, who have already shown the metal they were made of last year when they had to go through the whole term on a "watchful waiting" policy of deferred payments on salary. And we know that they will come back this year prepared to make a sacrifice if necessary for the school and pupils and parents they have learned to love and respect.

In order that we show that we are 100 percent behind the school in these strenuous times, let's all be at the auditorium at the high school building for the formal opening. And in the meantime, as the teachers begin to arrive here for their nine months of hard work, and it will be hard because they will have to double up somewhat, lets give them a smile, a welcome, and the glad hand. Let's show them that we, too, are prepared to go to the limit in order to keep from dropping our school from the high pinnacle to which it has been raised by hard work, sacrifice, and money.

It looks as if the Gracious Father has granted us another good crop and better prices, and it may just be possible that our people will not only be able to pay up all back taxes, but those due this year as well, and that our school will not be hedged by financial worries as during the past year. We hope so anyway. But whatever way the tide may turn, we cannot afford to turn our backs upon the greatest blessing we have aside from the church to our town and community.

Let's talk for the school; let's work for the school; and if need be pray every man, woman and child in the for it.—Be there Monday at 9:00 A. M.

"The Trial Of Vivienne Ware"

"The Trial of Vivienne Ware", the much discussed Fox production with Joan Bennett and a cast of selected stars, comes to this Rialto Friday and Saturday as the Re-opening Program.

This is the film version of the radio broadcast that has already created a sensation throughout the country with the nation's celebrities participating in the broadcast and the radio audience acting as the jury in the murder case. The screen play depicts the trial of a beautiful society girl accused of murdering her former sweetheart. The motive for the crime is set forth as jealousy.

So condemning is the circumstantial evidence that even her handsome and youthful attorney, who is in love with the prisoner, tries to induce her to change her plea of "not guilty" to one of self-defense.

Conviction seems a foregone conclusion. But does she escape from the web of circumstance that is being woven around her? The answer—the climax of the picture—is sensational startling!

The cast appearing in support of Miss Bennett includes such favorites as Donald Cook, Allan Dinehart, Lillian Bond, Zasu Pitts, Herbert Mundin, Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, Howard Phillips, Ruth Selwyn and Maudie Eburne. The direction is by William K. Howard. Philip Klein and Barry Connors wrote the screen drama from the original novel and radio broadcast by Kenneth M. Ellis.

The New State And District Nominees

It appears almost sure at this time that Mrs. M. A. Ferguson of Austin will be the democratic nominee for Governor, and that in Texas, has always been equivalent to election. The Herald will try to give the vote in each place on the ticket next week, as by that time the unofficial count will likely be complete. The official count will be made at Lubbock when the State convention meets there later on this month.

In the race for railroad commissioner, 6-year term, the present incumbent, C. V. Terrell of Wise county, is the nominee. In the four year term, Ernest O. Thompson, now holding the office by appointment, to fill out the unexpired term of Pat M. Neff, seems to have decisively defeated Gregory Hatcher of Dallas. William Pierson of Hunt county has several thousand lead over J. E. Hickman of Eastland county for Associate Justice of Supreme court.

In the Congressman-at-Large race, Dallas county gets two of them, Joe Bailey Jr., and Sterling P. Strong, and a county over on the Louisiana line gets the third, Geo. B. Terrell, although the growth of West Texas caused Texas to get at least two of these. Dallas has also their regular congressman, Hutton W. Summers. Two are classed wet, Bailey and Terrell; Strong is a dry.

Our state senator seems to be Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, having defeated Mr. Lockhart, J. N. Thomas of Tahaoka, defeated H. R. Winston of this city for State Representative.

Weather Hinders Co-op. Meeting Tues. Night

Owing to the fact that a heavy rain fell here both Tuesday morning and afternoon, the attendance at the Texas Cotton Co-op. Association here Tuesday night was very small, according to K. B. McWilliams, local classifier and manager. Mr. McWilliams had put in lots of time to get a good meeting, but the roads were fearfully slick, and perhaps many members and prospective members thought the meeting might be postponed.

R. J. Murray, general manager, of Dallas, and Mr. Gann, both good speakers were here and delivered fine addresses. They were asked many questions and seemed to answer all of them in a satisfactory manner. Several braved the elements and came from the Seagraves section. Meadow had promised an attendance of some 25, but this was cut almost to nothing on account of heavy rains.

The formal opening date here of the local office was Thursday the 1st. From now on, the office in the Rialto Theatre building will be open, and some one to give information wanted.

Revival Meeting Closes At Church Of Christ

The revival meeting conducted for twelve days under the auspices of the church of Christ by Lyle Price of Denison, came to a close Sunday night with interest as good or better than when the meeting started, although on account of weather conditions the Sunday night crowd was not quite so large as the preceding Sunday night. It is our understanding that many are now reading their Bibles that have not done so for years, and the people are rejoicing that they could go to a revival without hearing politics mentioned.

The church was greatly strengthened and are determined to go to work with a will never undertaken before. Some eleven souls were added by baptism, while others returned to their first love and promised to live better lives in the future. A new minister will be engaged as soon as possible to take the work here. Elder Claude McClung of Fort Worth, who held two successful revivals here several years ago, has agreed to come here for a meeting, which will begin on Friday night before the first Sunday in August, 1933.

In the meantime, the regular Sunday and week day services of the church will be continued as before at the church building.

Mr. J. E. White of Parker county, is here visiting his son, Sam and family. Mr. White lost his wife this spring.

Terry County Farmers Healed For Eats

We recently heard a Terry county farmer say that if he were fenced in on his farm—or the other man's farm, as he was a renter—he could live for twelve months without purchasing a thing to eat. Of course he might want some coffee, but coffee is not essential as a food—though we must admit it might degenerate good to have on the place. Then, too, he might not have any sugar, but what's to hinder him from making "lasses out of his cane, which would answer as a fairly good substitute. Flour, too, might be fine after a year of corn pone, but people lived in the south more than any year on corn pone, during the 4 years of Civil War. He remarked that he might get too ragged to want to get outside of the wall around the farm, but he could live.

But then, this farmer did not mean that he would undertake to live thus without a trip now and then to town, for as an afterthought he remarked that he seldom came to town but what he brought in off the farm paid for what he carried home without the formality of paying out any cash. That very day he brought in enough produce, butter, eggs and peas to pay for the things needed on the farm that was not produced there in the way of foods. And this farmer and no other Terry county farmer need confine his diet to bread and molasses. There is an abundance of canned fruits and vegetables, meats, etc., not to say anything about the many things in the dry state like peas and beans to balance the diet.

The writer and wife drove out last Sunday afternoon with H. R. Winston and family to his farm four miles northwest of town. Mr. Wright is the farmer on it, and he not only has a good field of cotton, corn and other feed crops, but he has lots of other good things to eat, and will soon have an abundance of melons. When we returned from the farm, Mr. Winston had several days supply of mung bean peas, peas, okra, squash and cucumbers, and you couldn't tell where he got them—they were not missed. Mr. Wright has almost an acre of peas alone, and each vine is simply hanging full of the blacked variety, and his other truck patches are large and the yield great.

There was originally something like a hundred acres in cotton on the farm, but the wind, hail and hard rains reduced the acreage to about 35, but he will make all and more cotton than he can possibly gather if insects let it be. The only trouble seems that it is growing too fast just now to fruit well, although he had no rain up to that time. But we presume that most of the county got a good rain Tuesday.

Last year when several sections of the county produced a bale and more to the acre, some were heard to remark that it would probably be several years before such a crop was produced again. But there are cotton men here in town, who have studied cotton for years who are willing to post a bet that they can find thousands of acres in Terry county that will go a bale per acre if nothing happens to it from now on. Mr. Wright will probably get a half bale per acre himself, although the cotton he finally saved was planted up in June.

Two Inches Of Rain Here Since Saturday

What appears to be fairly general rains over this section have fallen since Saturday, and will be of special benefit to late corn and young feed, and if we can now have some sunshine, it is believed that insects will not start up enough to be a menace to cotton, although that plant is growing very fast and fruiting satisfactorily.

According to J. E. Shelton who keeps the government gauge on the roof of the courthouse, the rain Saturday amounted to a quarter inch; the rain Monday measured .30, and the two Tuesday morning and afternoon gauged 1.45 inches, making a total of two inches here since Saturday.

The Ferguson's Carry Terry County Again

Terry county has always been a Ferguson stronghold, but they seem to be losing some ground, and the day may not be far distant when there won't be enough "vest pocket" votes to overcome all other aspirants that get up against them. But they are still popular, as they carried the election this time by 190 votes. But when one remembers that this was out of a vote of nearly 2000 cast for governor, as against a majority of 224 two years ago with a vote for governor of only 1653. So one can see the trend away from Jim Ferguson and his is slow but sure.

Of course Terry county supported all west Texas candidates mighty well but lost all it seems but Ernest Thompson of Amarillo for railroad commissioner. It supported Terrell mightily well against Satterwhite, and although the former lives in north Texas, and the later in Ector county in West Texas, Terrell has been nice to west Texas and we have not forgotten it.

Some of course are happy and some sad on the county races, but personally the Herald believes that Terry county would have made no mistakes either way it went on the county races. And the thing for us to do is be good sports whether we lost or won, and go to the winners and promise them undivided support in helping them to make as good officials in every way. They certainly have the Herald's full co-operation.

Below we give the vote on the state, district and county officers in Terry county:

Governor:
Miriam A. Ferguson	1694
R. S. Sterling	904
Railroad Com. 6 Year Term:
C. V. Terrell	1003
Lee Satterwhite	746
Railroad Com. 4 Year Term:
W. Gregory Hatcher	1160
Ernest O. Thompson	565
As. Justice Supreme Court:
Wm. Pierson	711
J. E. Hickman	1028
Cong-at-Large Place 1:
Geo. B. Terrell	877
Pink Parrish	1400
Cong-at-Large Place 2:
J. W. Bailey, Jr.	729
J. H. Cychone Davis	1027
Cong-at-Large Place 3:
Joe Burkett	923
Sturling P. Strong	796
State Senator, 30th Dist.
G. E. Lockhart	949
Arthur P. Duggan	1005
Representative 119th Dist.
H. R. Winston	1658
J. N. Thomas	343
County Clerk:
W. A. Tittle	1017
Rex Headstream	1022
Sheriff and Tax-Collector:
J. S. Smith	1185
W. M. Thomson	887
Com. Precinct No. 1:
L. L. Brock	319
J. C. Johnson	321
Com. Precinct No. 3:
R. L. Cook	197
W. H. Kelly	188
Com. Precinct No. 4:
G. M. Thomson	227
J. R. Garrison	291

If you will note, the race for County Clerk will make one think of the race for governor. It was truly a horse race, as only a count, and the horse race, as only a matter of 5 votes separate them. Remember this is just the unofficial count, and the official count may change matters some. It will be published next week. The last we had on the governor's race Tuesday morning was that Mrs. Ferguson was leading the governor by about 400 votes out of a count of nearly 350,000 votes.

Talkies Depicts Excitement Of Modern Times

The Wet Parade' Compares Life Of Pre-War Era With Thrills Of Present Day

Thrills of modern life, exciting happenings which appear daily in newspapers and the engrossing adventure of a young man and woman who find the fight for love and happiness as hazardous as the most fantastic jungle adventure, form the plot details of "The Wet Parade," which will open Sunday at the Rialto Theatre for three days.

The story, based on Upton Sinclair's sensational novel, opens on an aristocratic Southern plantation before the World War, depicting the tragedy of a young girl whose father is driven to suicide as a result of his obsession by liquor. Because of this, the girl becomes an almost fanatic supporter of the cause of prohibition but as the succeeding years bring about first the 18th Amendment and then the modern era of bootlegging activities, she finds herself the center of a series of exciting happenings which rise to a thrilling dramatic climax.

Highlights of Plot

Highlights of the plot include the heroine's attempt to prevent her brother from repeating her father's fatal error; the tragic murder of a nagging wife who tries to interfere with her husband's post-prohibition drinking habits, the wrecking of a "gin mill" by government agents and spectacular nightclub raids. The settings which range from a beautiful Southern plantation to picturesque New York street scenes of the period of the Wilson administration and finally depict the lurid drinking places of the current times are the most varied and colorful seen on the screen in some time.

Dorothy Jordan, last seen in "Hell Divers," plays the leading feminine role and featured parts are played by Robert Young, who appeared as the young doctor in "Sin of Madelon Chouder," the veteran character actor, Lewis Stone; Walter Huston, who scored in "Beast of the City," and Neil Hamilton of "Strangers May Kiss" fame. That the picture also has its comedy moments is assured by the presence in the cast of that inimitable laughmaker, Jimmy "Sho-nozzle" Durante. The large group of players also includes Wallace Ford, Myrna Loy, John Miljan, Joan Marsh, Clara Blandick and Emma Dunn. The picture was directed by Victor Fleming.

Don't Forget That Monday Is Tradesday

Brownfield is expecting an unusually big crowd here Monday, as the farm work is practically all done, and the farmers have nothing urgent on hand at this time. The merchants will have some of the best as well as the largest quantity of bargains they have ever offered on Trades Day. The Dry Goods merchants have been joined by a number of other business houses this time with bargains.

As to the program of the day, that will be carried out very much like others heretofore that has proved so satisfactory to the people. We are expecting them here Monday from the forks of the creek. So don't forsake us. Also, remember that many of the merchants are making their bargain days begin Friday and Saturday of this week. Read them and come.

BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT NOTED IN NORTH

Business has made "a decided upturn" throughout the country, with improvement greatest in the manufacturing districts of New England, Paul S. Willis, president of the Associated Grocery Manufacturers of America, said today.

The east, in general, was showing the upturn more quickly than the middle and far western states, declared in an address before the Association of Manufacturers' representatives of New York.

Willis has completed a survey of conditions in the country's principal industrial centers.

Mr. Loyd Ledbetter and recent bride came in Sunday from Abilene and are looking for apartments, as both will teach again in our public schools.

Preachers in politics. How often we hear this expression. But the Herald has no more objections to a preacher expressing his sentiments on the streets to a friend, or even at a regular political rally than we do a merchant or a lawyer.

We heard an original Sterling man remark the night of the election that where he made a mistake and thousands like him, was not supporting Tom Hunter in the first primary.

Although it appears from the unofficial count that I have been defeated for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 4, I nevertheless feel very grateful to those who did support me and put me in the runoff, and those who favored other candidates in the first primary and turned to me in the second, and I take this means of thanking them. No hard feelings remain with me for my opponent or his supporters. Again thanking you, I beg to remain, Sincerely yours, J. R. Garrison.

Heckling is a word that has come into common use in a political sense in the last few years, and seems to be resorted to more in Texas than any other subdivision of the United States. Of course the motive is to confuse the speaker, and to further the prestige of the opposing candidate.

chairman is said to have threatened to have hecklers thrown in jail who were trying to annoy Gov. Sterling when he was speaking there. This Ferguson leader was well aware of the fact that good mannerly people who rather favored Mrs. Ferguson, could easily be influenced to vote the other way by this unfair method.

TO THE VOTERS OF TERRY CO.

I take this means of thanking the voters of Terry for their splendid support in the Representatives Race. I received about 85 percent of the votes in Terry county, without asking a voter in the county to support me as I had to do all my work in counties that did not know me.

Gratefully yours, Homer Winston.

COOK THANKS VOTERS

I want to thank the voters of Precinct No. 3 for your vote and influence in the August primary.

In return I promise to make the people of this precinct the best commissioner possible.

Yours respectfully, R. I. Cook.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Taken from the Herald of September 3, 1909.

Well, lets see what we had on page one of September 3, 1909. So, even then, the Texas people were bragging about the size of the state, saying it was as big as the German Empire with the state of Illinois thrown in for good measure. This article also told about the rivalry of Texas cities at that time, and closed it by bringing in prohibition. Won't we ever get that question settled? The closing paragraph read as follows: "In the matter of temperance, Texas is gradually adding to the "dry" territory. The question is up to the legislature and will stay up until the flood of beer stops going down.

And so there is nothing new under the sun. Will Alf Bell, this good summer of 1932 thought he found something new in the manner of killing flies. We gave his remedy which was copied in many paper in this section. Well, we copied a piece from a London paper of 1909 which gave practically the same remedy and same chemical that Bell uses.

Another article told of a great fight between a bulldog and a huge Angora cat on the roof of a New York Hotel. They fell to their death on the street below locked in a death grapple. That was the age of the popular novel, said another front page article. Movies were far between in these days especially in rural sections.

Now to page 2, or editorial page. Well, we not that we had caught the railroad bug from our exchanges. The Santa Fe had through its president, Mr. Story, mentioned Brownfield and the possibility of obtaining a section of land adjoining the city.

This with the north AND SOUTH ROAD TALKED AT THAT TIME, would give us two, and we thought we would get both—no joke. We were still hammering away to get the cemetery put in good shape. A big sugar mill was talking of putting in a factory at Mercedes, according to the Dallas News. John W. Gates of Galveston had met the preacher that had married him 40 years before and presented him with $100. Now don't you preachers of this time (1932) get all excited; married men are hunting the divorce courts now. The Lubbock Avalanche was scoring a guy who had been drawing wages from them and had set up an opposition job shop. The Brownfield Woodmen had unveiled a monument at the local cemetery, probably the first, to the memory of G. W. Parks. R. H. Banovsky was master of ceremonies and Geo. W. Neill delivered the principal address. The remains of a baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Howard, was buried here, the previous Monday. Miss Mary Rather had tendered a party to Miss Effie Brownfield; Progressive 42 was the game. Mrs. Dial and Misses Daugherty, Orel and Mattie Harris, the honoree; Messrs. Hardin, D. Brownfield, James, Van Zandt, Rather, P. Spencer and Judge and Mrs. W. R. Spencer attended. Punch and cake were served. Mrs. Dial and sister, Miss Daugherty had given a Japanese party. The home was decorated like a Flowery Kingdom home. Word Price, W. G. Hardin and Miss Graves won prizes. Flora Robinson gave her friends a farewell party before entering Kid-

Key college. Ice cream and cake were served. We note, however, that we had the guests leaving at $11.30. Just one of the many errors overlooked. Well, lets see what was on page three, or the "local" page. Grandma Shrock was reported better. John Scudday Jr. was helping his father move to town. Uncle Tom Holley had returned from Big Spring. The Meadow Methodist church was preparing a Children's Day program. Mr. Little, chief clerk to the Secretary of State, Austin, was visiting here. Prof. A. K. Huckleberry was down showing Uncle Lewis Howard the capitol. Mrs. Daugherty's residence received a new coat of paint. Uncle Sharley Lyon rebuilt an auto top for Lee Almon. Geo. Tiernan had his old residence near the school building repainted. Mrs. Chas. Randal of Seymour was here visiting her mother, Mrs. Shrock. Dr. Griffin, of Gomez, was a visitor to Big Spring. Joe Higginbotham was here from Dublin, was here looking over the situation for a lumber yard location. They put one in—some

Mrs. Robertson and children returned home from Big Spring, Saturday.

Bro. Webb sure did preach a good sermon Sunday morning and Bro. Virgil Jenkins preached Sunday night and Bro. Butler came over Saturday night to preach but most all were too interested in politics to attend church.

The B. Y. P. U. girls put on their program Sunday night and it had a real meaning, but the girls just cannot sing, or at least they didn't Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Floyd are entertaining the Forrester League Tuesday night.

Mrs. Allie J. Gibson helped Mrs. Sam Walters on peas Tuesday.

Mr. J. M. Robertson, Mr. L. J. Wilson, Miss Eunice Norris and Mrs. Sam Walters were elected messengers to go to the association at Tahoka the 13th of September.

Mr. and Mrs. Ship from Snyder are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson.

HARMONY HAPPENINGS

Miss Lorene Haggard left Saturday for Quitaque, Texas.

Mr. Joe Edwards has a brother visiting him.

HUNTER NEWS

The meeting is coming along nicely for there are sure a crowd every night; not so many during the day, but they sure pour in every night. We hope they will continue coming day and night. We don't know how long the meeting will continue.

Mr. Joe Smith came home last Monday night and his daughter and ten years later. H. T. Brooks has started a blacksmith ad. Byrd & Gamble had contracted to build an addition to J. O. Jones' ranch home.

Chas. Benton was offering to trade a 2-cylinder Buick for land—or what have you, John Scudday Sr. was moving to town for school purposes. C. M. Benton purchased half the O. M. Daniel section west of the city. Miss Irene Copeland and brother, Newt, were preparing to leave to enter Clarendon college. A brother of Uncle Bill Howard was visiting here from Haskell county. Miss Effie Brownfield was re-entering Kid-Key College at Sherman, Texas. Robert James was leaving for Norfolk, Hale county, to teach their school. W. P. Yielding of Ector county, had located here. Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Farrar of Nolan county, came up to visit her mother, Grandma Shrock. Cleve Holden returned home from Coahoma, bringing his sister, Mrs. J. A. Roberts and children. A. B. Bynum had returned from Hereford and reported the shortest crops there since he had known the country. The Baptist Aid Society were to give a supper September 8. Misses Nancy and Lizzie Dumas were in to attend Eastern Star Lodge. Miss Orel Harris had been asked to play before the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs at Denton, which was then and still is a great honor. George M. Smith gave an interesting article on why he had rather farm here than in the black lands of Middle Texas. The same argument can as well be made to this day. In fact, it might sound like it was written in 1932 instead of 1909, except that he mentions we have no cockleburrs, which is all "wet" now.

Now to page four. Not much of local interest on it. Had a column and a half on flies and their meanness. Must to have had it in for the poor little fly in those days. We reproduced an article in which the sentence from a western Saloon read: "Please don't shoot the pianist; he's doing the best he can," and we thought that came in with modern talky movies. An article was reproduced from the pen of the late Alex Sanger in which he praised newspaper advertising. They are still using it too. And another taken from the London Chronicle told us Americans that we were busy chasing the dollar to be sentimental. Even that accusation is not new stuff.

All for this week.

We neglected to mention last week that T. M. Flippin & Son had opened a new grocery store in the building vacated by the Bailey Cash Grocery. The name it will go under is the Flippin Food Store.

Luther French was in from the farm Monday and handed in a bat-hide for the Herald another year.

R. H. Timmons, of Meadow, was down one day last week, and dropped in to put his Herald up another year.

Many were the smoked glasses turned to the sun here Wednesday afternoon. It was partly cloudy here.

her husband Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Brown and Mr. Earl Sessions of Seymour, all came, but Mr. Brown and Mr. Sessions went back that night.

The preachers are sure getting the fried chicken, ice cream and all other things this week.

he is going to make some crop after all, and that he has ran over no more horses.

Mrs. Lyle Price and children, accompanied by Mrs. Price's sister, came in Sunday from Denison. West Texas Primitive Baptists Here In 1933

Tom Bingham was in this week and informed us that he and others from Terry county had attended the West Texas Primitive Baptist Convention at Tahoka last week...

Tom stated that due to the fact that the church was rather weak here was probably the reason that the association so readily agreed to come here to encourage them to press on.

NEGRO KILLS MAN WHO SLEW BONUS CAMPER

Washington. — Detectives decided Monday that chance last night sent George Shinault, policeman slayer of a bonus camper, to his death.

Shinault already exonerated by a coroner's jury for shooting William Hushka, Chicago veteran, in the rioting July 28, was sent last night to a negro neighborhood to stop a fight.

He went with Ralph Edwards. While Edwards shut off the engine and hunted a flashlight, Shinault dashed into the house. Edwards heard two shots and Shinault raced back, kneeling beside the police car and saying:

'Edwards that fellow's got a gun.' Then he fell over dead, with two pistol bullet wounds in his chest.
