Some Hoodlumism Here Hallowe'en Nite

The writer is considerably passed that age known as youth, but has never gotten to the point where he believed that the youth of today is very much if any meaner than they were when he was a boy. Nor have we reached the point of sanctimoniousness when we think the youth of the land should be guarded and watched and kept pent up in the homes all the time without any fun whatever. But there is fun and there is something else that passes for fun with some that is everything but fun.

Some of the boys here Monday night got out of the line of all reason and propriety. They destroyed property, and that is against the law. Some went a step further and showed their heartlessness by punishing innocent dumb brutes that could make no defense, taking them out of places where they were shut up for the night. Some of these boys are known, and will no doubt be called on to face the next grand jury.

Also, property belonging to the State of Texas and Federal Highway department was removed, and this too is very likely to be investigated. This is the first year since many years ago when the grand jury investigated another wild Hallowe'en night that much destruction of property had been reported.

If the parents of these boys are called on to pay a rather stiff fine, they should then procure a good shingle and get their money's worth on the rear end of these youngsters.

We have since learned that one of the little houses over the gas connections for the school buildings was torn away, leaving a considerable gas leak. Mr. Heath, local West Texas Gas manager said that if they had, broken one more little do-hickey that it would have probably blown up the grade school building.

Herald Not Connected With Any Schemes

Indirectly it has come to us of late that some of the business men have an idea that the Herald is in some way connected with advertising schemes of one nature and another that are put up to them. The Herald has never at any time endorsed anything except the series of cartoons that are run each week pressing the argument for trading at home. We still believe that this was money well spent.

The way to tell whether or not the Herald is connected with any kind of advertising scheme is just to see if any member of the force is doing the soliciting. If not, we have no connection with it. And if the solicitors intimates that we have, you have a phone, and nothing to hinder you but calling No. 1 for verification.

Many, many schemes put up to merchants and others in the fall are worse than useless, and not worth a penny as advertising matter. We have repeatedly warned the business men about them. Only this week one of our young business men informed the Herald that despite all our warnings, he got stuck recently. He had in good faith ordered some advertising matter that he understood was to cost about $8.00, but when he got a bill it was three times that amount.

A Roaring Jungle Is Brought to Life

Cubs Have Another Hard Game Friday

Lamesa turned out in a great way last Friday to pep up the Golden Tornadoes, who came over here for the express purpose of giving the Cubs the licking of their lives. They not only brought a big pep squad of boys and girls, but their band and several hundred of their leading citizens. Indeed, it was a great array of Lamesa people, but of course we had to send them back home very much disappointed, because it was their first conference game. It was also the first conference game for the Cubs, and they refused, even if they were playing host, to let them have it. Bad manners! But boy! it was a great game, full of thrills.

It is not the purpose of this article to give the game quarter by quarter. You may read that in the Cub Reporter if you wish. Suffice to say, we won 7 to 4. The purpose of this article is to discuss the game with Slaton, today. Slaton, like Lamesa, will have the Cubs considerably bested in weight, but weight under the new rules of playing, does not cut so much ice as formerly, according to football authorities. Presumably, the teams are rather evenly matched otherwise than in weight, and it promises to be a real tussle from the first whistle. Personally, the writer believes the Cubs will win, and he has reasons enough for this supposition. In the first place, they have not taken a thrashing this year, and are in fine shape physically. Their mentor, Hayhurst has been usually careful in their training. And so far, we have not had a serious accident to cripple the first line men.

Then, just to dope a bit, let's take some games that have already been played. Snyder beat Slaton 13 to 6 in a non-conference game and Snyder held Lamesa a nothing to nothing score. Snyder also made a better showing against the Lubbock class A team than Slaton. Brownfield beat Lamesa 7 to 4, who had held Snyder scoreless. To carry the matter a little further, Brownfield beat Post and Post beat Ralls 50 to 0. Ralls is one of the strong teams of the southeast part of the district. So far, we have heard little from the northwest part of the district. Littlefield, we understand has turned out for cotton picking, and Levelland does not seem to have any great team, although they beat Amherst, but so did Brownfield 43 to 0. Matador and Floydada will decide on the gridiron Friday which of those will represent the northeast section. Also, Spur has not made its usual showing.

So it looks to us as if there might be a good possibility of the Cubs clinching the district class B championship this year.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson, at the Brownfield Sanitarium, a nine pound boy on the 26th ult, who will answer to the name of James Richard.

for the first time the roars, shrieks and cries of not only primitive savages and wild animals, but the unexplored wilderness of Central Africa is shown in all its hectic splendor. Rivers alive with rhinos and crocodiles, wildernesses vibrant with man-eaters, forests shrieking with savage cries and treacherous mountains hysterical with shouts of gorillas are realistically brought to you in "Congorilla," thanks to science and the daring of the world's most fearless explorers.

Incidentally, the natural sounds record of the jungle will furnish innumerable surprises. Theories are blasted. Claims of writers of animal stories are likewise jolted by "Congorilla" which is thrilling patrons of the Rialto Theatre.

Bullington Well Received Last Thursday

For the reason that last Thursday was press day, and it takes all hands and the cook to get ready for press, we were unable to hear the address of Hon. Orville Bullington, candidate for governor of Texas, on the Republican ticket. For the reason that this was the first candidate for governor on that ticket to ever visit Brownfield, he was according a good hearing, according to those who heard him. Of course his criticism of the Ferguson's did not set well with ardent followers of Jim and Ma, many democrats told us that it was a fine sensible address and that they proposed to vote for him.

It is said that he handled the tax question in a very enlightening way, and told voters that if they elected the Fergusons and they split the highway funds, it would be years before there was any more highway building in west Texas, or not until all east Texas counties were paid back their bond issues. Some of the Ferguson followers said the speech was weak, and that the man was not capable of holding the high office as governor of Texas.

Anyway, while he may not be the next governor of Texas, Bullington has at least put Ma and Pa Ferguson on the road campaigning, which does not happen often when a Republican is running against a Democrat for governor in Texas.

Terry Seems Safe For Roosevelt and Garner

Four years ago, the regular brass collar Democrats of Terry county took their first thrashing. Boy it hurt bad, and the whole blame was laid at the feet of the lady voters. The county had gone for Hoover, of all men, when a lot of us old unterrified Democrats had gotten it in for Hoover when he "graced" a Democratic cabinet, and set corn bread before us three times a day, while his friends in Europe ate our flour. And then the meatless and the sugarless days. Bah!

But they beat us, but this year we aim to get revenge if possible, and so the leaders decided on a page ad this week which is called the Roosevelt-Garner Endorsement. Under the ad, you will find some of the leading citizens of both sex of Terry county have allowed their names to appear under this ad, and are paying 25c each for the privilege, and to help pay for the ad.

Among these men and women will be found many who supported Hoover four years ago, and some that voted the Republican ticket most of the time. In the group is also, two of our leading ministers who have leant their endorsement to this New York-Texas combination that are going to win like a top next Tuesday, not only in Terry county and Texas, but in the nation.

Ray Rodgers, wife and little son, of Happy, Texas, accompanied by Rodgers, are guests of their sister and daughter, Mrs. Wes Key, of Gomez. Grandmother Rodgers will spend the winter with Mrs. Key.

Double A. Sawyer slipped us a dollar this week to keep his Herald coming.

Brownfield Warned to Guard Against Lawless

County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, of Lubbock county, has addressed a letter to every newspaper within 75 miles of Lubbock to be on the lookout for the criminal element scattered out from Lubbock following the "Big Stick" methods used by the law in that city recently, following the murder of Robert Tharp. He also says that he learns on good authority that many of these hanger-on criminals are locating in the smaller towns, and that officers and citizens should keep a sharp lookout for all suspicious characters, and that citizens should at once report such to the officers.

Every Lubbock lawyer has gone on record pledging himself not to defend any robber or hijacker in Lubbock county courts, and the only shot they will have is to get a shyster lawyer from some other town to defend them. The Lubbock county lawyers are to be complimented for this noble stand. No doubt it will be the means of knocking them out of several dollars, but they consider the reputation of their city and the protection of the life and property of their citizenship a far greater reward than tainted dollars handed them by members of the underworld.

The Herald for one thanks Attorney Wilson for this letter, and will assure him that our officers have already taken steps to hop on criminals with both feet as soon as they land here. We can also assure Mr. Wilson that the better class of citizens of this city are standing 100 percent behind their officers in helping them to keep our city and county clear of criminals. The Herald also stands ready at any and all times to aid the officers and citizens in any way it can in the way of any publicity they may want.

A New Minister Will Be Here Sunday

M. O. Daley of San Antonio, Texas, will arrive here possibly today to take charge of the ministry of the church of Christ, and will fill the pulpit at both the morning and evening hour Sunday. He comes well recommended by churches he has worked with as not only a good preacher, but a fine citizen and community worker. This church asks its friends to come out to one or both services Sunday and help give Bro. Daley a welcome.

The church has been for some time without a minister, and two or three months have been tried without any agreement as they did not appear to be the right men just at this time. An agreement has been reached with Bro. Daley to come and work for one month, and at the end of that time if he suits the church and the church suits him, the contract will be made permanent.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness and many floral offerings during the death of our son and brother.

Good Old Trades Day Rolls Around Again

Once again, Trades Day has rolled around, and although people will be busy, there will be many on hand Monday, possibly more than will be here Saturday, and the merchants will have two good days with just a Sunday to break the rush and give them a chance to rest a bit. It is a very noticeable fact that the same crowd that comes on Saturday, are not to any large extent the same that are here on First Mondays. Indeed, the Trades Days crowds are made up to a great extent of people who are closer to some other trading point, but like to come here on first Monday. So if you want to see a lot of strangers be here on First Monday.

However, they are only strangers once in Brownfield, and a lot of the people who have learned to come here First Mondays, have now become regular visitors here, as they have learned that Brownfield merchants are in line with any city, big or little, on prices, and in most cases are under neighboring cities, as well as in line on prices for the products of the farmer. Of course no farm products are very high now, except perhaps eggs, and they only seem high in comparison with other products.

The program of the Lions Club will be carried out as usual on the vacant lots on the east side of the square. Besides, many will come prepared to trade and barter with others and a great time is promised to all. Let us also say that you will find all kinds of goods well in line with cotton. When you get a whaling good suit of clothes for $12.50 or with two pair of pants at $15.00 you are getting a bargain. Of course there are many lower than this, but we are talking about clothes that you paid $40 for three years ago.

The merchants reports a brisk trade last Saturday, and with the receipt of considerable cotton, Saturday and Monday are expected to be the two banner days this fall. The weather has been ideal this week, and many are picking. The old cotton is producing a bumper crop, while the young cotton will be light.

Anyway, we want to meet you on the square Monday.

Forty New Books Received at Library

Miss Olga Fitzgerald, chairman of the Library Committee, was in this week and informed us that forty new books had been purchased recently and added to the already good library. Mrs. Frank Brown of Lampasas, sister of Mrs. J. E. Shelton has recently contributed 28 volumes to the library, and the Maids and Matrons Club have voted to buy a shelf from them and name it the Brown Shelf.

Some of the new books and authors are: Anita Agrees, Theodora Benson; The Secret Adversary, by Agatha Christie; Riversey, by Kantor McKinley; Green Isle, by Alice Puer Miller; Ra-Ta-Plan, by Dorothy Ogburn; Harriett of the Piper, by Kathleen Norris; The Hermit of Far End, by Margaret Pedler; Mildred, by Mary J. Holmes.

Miss Duskey Hullett, of Lubbock, is here this week the guest of her cousin, Kyle Graves.

Olen Hancock and family of Stephenville, was here a few minutes Sunday, visiting his old friend, Kyle Graves and family, and also with a brother, Walter Hancock at O'Donnell. Mr. Hancock will likely locate somewhere in this section.

Vote Full Ticket is Mrs. Ferguson's Plea

San Antonio, Oct. 27.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, democratic nominee for governor of Texas, in an address Saturday night, took cognizance of an intraparty bolt directed against her election on Nov. 8 with a plea for party regularity.

Mrs. Ferguson spoke in the municipal auditorium after a busy handshaking day with democrats who assembled from many parts of South-west Texas to help her and her former governor-husband, James E. Ferguson, launch their general election campaign.

The husband-member of the country's only married couple team that ever served a state as governor, spoke from the same platform. He dwelt, too, on the necessity of democrats standing together, not only in the interest of their nominees to state office, but in an effort to roll up a big majority for the national presidential ticket.

West Texas Loses Pioneer Thru Death

Colorado, Oct. 29.—Dr. P. C. Coleman, widely known West Texas physician and resident of Mitchell county for more than half a century, died at his home here this afternoon. Dr. Coleman was 79 years of age.

During his years of practice, Dr. Coleman ushered more than 2,000 babies into the world in Colorado and vicinity. One of his patients was a woman with 11 children. Dr. Coleman officiated at her birth and of all her children.

P. C. Coleman was born near Murfreesboro, Tenn., and was educated at Nashville and at the University of Louisville, Ky., where he was graduated with high honors in 1874. He was a member of the American Medical association since 1885.

He served many years on the board of Austin college, Sherman, and was called "the father of Texas Tech" because he called and presided over the first meeting ever held to agitate for a West Texas A. & M. For seven years he served as campaign manager of the fight that finally put the idea across.

Survivors are his wife and four children: Mrs. J. M. Thomas, Colorado; Dr. Reaves Coleman, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Roland Burchard, of Wyoming, and Miss Mildred Coleman, Colorado.

The funeral services has been set for Monday at 3 p. m., from the First Presbyterian church of which he was a member. Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor, will officiate.

Janet Gaynor Natural In Her New Role

No artificialities of manners, garb or speech were effected by Janet Gaynor for her role in "The First Year," in which both she and Charles Farrell appear as a normal young American couple deeply engrossed in each other.

In "Merely Mary Ann" Janet was an English scullery maid; "Daddy Long Legs" presented her as a homeless orphan fated to wash, scrub floors and nurse the babies; for "Delicious" she wore the red tam and kilts of Scotland and adopted the delightful brogue of the highlands to emphasize her characterization.

But in "The First Year" she has a father and mother of ample means, wears charming frocks, and entertains various young men as suitors. In fact, the chief charm of this latest Gaynor-Farrell romance is said to be the delightful naturalness of both players who rely upon their own personalities to emphasize the dramatic highlights of the story.

"The First Year," opening on Sunday at the Rialto Theatre, was adapted from Frank Craven's play by Lynn Starling and was directed by William K. Howard.

Hugh Snodgrass, tax assessor of old Yoakum, was over this week after supplies, and handed the Herald another $1.00 bill to keep his Herald in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ame Flache of this city, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mamie Sue, to Dr. R. B. Parish on October 15th. Miss Mamie Sue is a charming young lady, who was graduated from the Brownfield high school, and attended Tech College. Dr. Parish is one of our fine dentists. He came here a few years ago from Houston, Minn., and has made a host of friends.

"The Last Shot"—So Lay On McDuff

Rev. J. M. Hale, I will apologize for my ignorance of your identity. The Editor of the Herald informed me of your profession. This however, would not have "tempered the wind to the shorn lamb," as it was your statement that I handled not the merits of the mana.

I have enjoyed your last installment of verse immensely and now think it possible that you may yet "climb the steps that lead up to paripassu and the home of the muses." George Neill attended to your first installment and this second epic in which you rival Milton and Homer, almost, in dimensions; I will likewise leave to his loving care.

Like most of your previous history which you must have purloined from the archives of Moody and Sterling is somewhat at variance with the facts. Mr. Archbold swore in court some years after the impeachment that he made the loan, a personal one, to Ferguson and that it was repaid by Ferguson. He is just as credible as you so far as I know and believe.

Your threat that if the Ferguson Gang gets on you again you might get "a little rough" can be discounted. Yours was the initiative in this "temptest in a teapot" and your assertion is pure and poor bluff. What your rough stuff will consist in I don't know, perhaps some more poetry. If so I will turn you over to George. If it should be the Orthodox 24 feet square ring with seconds, I am still willing for George to take you a few rounds first. Or it might be that I would present the other cheek, try me and see.

I very readily accept your designation of skunks for Neill and myself. The skunk—that is the small variety and I am sure you would not compare us to any thing large; is one of the prettiest of the weasel family. It isn't yellow, has white streaks and is odorless unless disturbed. Besides its pelt and fur adorns "Mi-Lady's collar and winter cap." Delightful associations.

The crowd you will have when you jine the republicans will be composed of some elements that will not remind you of "Memories of Paris." The black and tan contingent also carry about with them rather pungent odors very noticeable in close rooms. You may wish for gourd vines. Their pelts and fur are not found on the "topmost part of Misses bonnets."

Cattle, which seems to give you offense is a rather common term applied to all classes of people. While a little slangy it is free of offense. However I cannot imagine our Brother playing the part of the Jersey cow. My vision of him would be a Long Horned Bull, one of the Dear Old Texas Kind, of the long ago, in the spring of the year when grass has riz, pawing up the earth in clouds of dust and sending forth on the morning air those short quick screams to warn a rival or invite to combat, that seldom takes places. No, no, you can't play the role of "Bossie," your fountain of the "milk or human kindness" appears to be dried up. Behind your frowns however, you may hide a smiling face.

"Be ye therefore, wise as serpents and as harmless as doves." Wise that we may direct those committed to your care through the labyrinth of doctrine so rife in this day; to the essentials taught by the Master whom we should emulate. Harmless that we do no harm to others by an unbridled tongue. Christ politics consisted in the saying "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's. Wishing you and your friends Bon Voyage in leaving the house of the fathers. I shall expect you back in time for the Primaries two years hence. Adios Senior.

J. D. Moorhead.

One of the most amusing things that happened last Friday at the foot ball game, was that after a scout from Slaton had carefully tucked his notes away in his pocket after the game, some young Cub to be in a few years, took the notes out of his pocket during the excitement that followed the game. The young Cub sped on, and the Slaton scout sped after him, but the Cub gained enough on him to have a chance to tear up the notes. Of course Hayhurst regretted the incident, but it was funny nevertheless.

Miss Laura Jones, manager of the local telephone exchange, went to Levelland last week to visit her parents, and while there had her tonsils removed.

Matador and Floydada are to play at the former place today for the championship of the northeast part of the district, class B football.

DAYS OF BARTER IN THE CHURCH TOO

A new departure in church finance has proven successful with Rev. W. H. Gage of Adamsville, Texas. Mr. Gage is pastor of four rural Baptist churches and arranged his budget in each church on the basis of produce rather than money. The result was surprising.

A committee from each church was sent out to secure from each family represented in the membership the following gifts in produce:

Five bushels of corn, 5 bales of hay, 1 gallon of lard, 1 gallon of syrup or honey, 1 bushel of potatoes per year, and a monthly gift of 1 frying chicken, 1 dozen eggs, 1 pound butter, 1 pound vegetables and 1 can of canned goods.

Mr. Gage visited each family of his membership each month and collected the offerings in a trailer, and thus visited the homes of his people as well as secured the gifts.

All gifts not needed for the use of the pastor's family were sold, and the money used for clothing and other necessities.

The first year these churches paid their pastor more than $2,400 in produce at market prices, and besides he received numerous extra gifts, having 19 hogs, 80 pure-bred chickens and some 500 bushels of grain on hand at the close of the year.

The cause of missions and benevolences were cared for, by the church membership, with gifts of cash or produce which was converted into cash and forwarded to the institution for which it was given.

In arranging for the contributions, there were many substitutes for items listed and the quantity varied somewhat, from family to family, but it solved the most vexing problem of these rural churches.

REPUBLICAN BUNK

A great deal is being heard over the radio and read in the newspapers about results if Roosevelt is elected president.

Coolidge, one of the men largely responsible, negatively, for the political mess the country is in, makes a speech warning the country against making any change, and tries to tell what dire things would have happened had not Mr. Hoover been president the last few years.

People are not going to be misled this year by a lot of high sounding words and phrases, and they have enough of the Republican party.

The man asking for more of that party, nationally, is certainly a glutton for punishment. What we need and what most people are going to vote in favor of is a change. The only way things could go in the United States is upwards, in the opinion of most people.

This old stuff about prices going down if democrats get in the federal control is a time-worn joke, like the full dinner pail. Supply and demand still have something to do with the prices, and with practically every manufactured article and farm product being sold below the cost of production, it cannot go down. If it hasn't reached the bottom, there is surely no bottom.

Before falling for the old lines of political bunk, investigate—then let your conscience be your guide and vote as you think best.—Ex.

Some Instructions to Voters For Nov. 8th

As the ballot you will be handed when you go to the polls on November 8th you will have a job finding a place large enough to spread it out so you can study the amendments and properly prepare your ballot.

If you want to vote the Democratic ticket, straight, leave the first column unmarked and then proceed to draw two or three lines through the names in the columns headed Republican, Socialist, Communist, Jacksonian and Liberty parties. There are two additional columns, Independent and blank—but as there are no candidate listed in these two columns it will not be necessary to draw thru them.

The names of the presidential and vice-presidential candidates do not appear on the ballot. In voting for the entire list of Electors for President and Vice-President you are in fact voting for the president and vice-president of the party of your choice—if you leave those in one column only. Remember in voting a straight ticket to draw two or more lines from top to bottom of all columns of candidates except of the one party you wish to vote for.

You can vote a split-ticket if you so desire. Scratch the portions of one ticket and leave the corresponding portions in the column of the party you favor unscratched—and then scratch all other party candidates.

You need to study the nine amendments before you go to the polls.

A Bolters Soliloquy

A flexible conscience, is a "thing of beauty, and a joy forever." It enables the voter to go into all the primaries and cast his vote for the man of his choice, for the respective offices of his county, district and state, with the confident knowledge that his neighbor, whose conscience is not so flexible, will support his man should he receive the most votes, and thereby insure his election.

But in the event that his men loose out in the two primaries, then he promptly yells "my conscience" won't let me do what I have obligated to do, and what I expected my neighbor to do. Therefore I will "warp that conscience of mine" and vote for "spite" for the Nominee of the other party. Whoopee I am not "collar bound," I am a Free American Citizen, therefore I am holier than thou.

Next election I will run for office, and swear by all the eternals that I always support the ticket. This by virtue of my flexible and elastic conscience.

TECH HAS INCREASE IN STUDENTS OVER 1931

Lubbock, Texas, Sept. — Pres- ident Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological College announces that 1,761 students have registered for the fall term up to September 28. There were 1,652 students en- rolled for the fall term on the same date last year. This is an increase of 109 students, or more than six per- cent more than in 1931. Dr. Knapp announces that, should the registra- tion for the rest of this quarter and for the second and third terms be approximately on the same basis, the institution will have for the year 1932-33 approximately 2,300 stud- ents.

Lower Prices on Hogs In November-Dec.

Lubbock, Texas, Oct.—Hog prices may be expected to weaken slightly during the next thirty days, according to figures compiled by Dr. J. O. Ells- worth, head of the department of agricultural economics, Texas Tech- nological College. This forecast of prices movements, while admittedly uncertain, is based upon the best in- formation obtainable and such fore- casts in the past have proved to be correct in about 80 percent of cases.

According to Dr. Ellsworth, factors indicating a lower trend in hog prices are the usual tendency for market supplies of spring pigs to increase in October, the lack of largest on the part of processors to purchase in advance of daily needs, and the ap- parent glutting of the market on any advance for fear of a reoccurrence of last May's low prices.

The usual increase, he says, in market supplies of spring pigs after September has resulted, with but few exceptions, in a lower price trend from September to December. In only 13 of the 72 years from 1840 to 1931 did the market advance from October to December enough to pay to hold hogs weighing 170 pounds or more until they were finished.

Four of the 13 years were during the Civil or World war periods and another was 1909, a year of sharp business recovery.

The November price was lower than the October price in 14 or 15 years of declining hog prices similar to the trend since 1928, the Novem- ber price was lower than the October price in 22 of 33 years in periods of advancing hog prices. Indications are that the cyclical low has not been reached, which means only a one to 14 chance for higher prices in Novem- ber. In case May prices were the cyclical low for this cycle, the No- vember prices have but one out of two chance for an advance.

The season's low price has a pro- nounced tendency to occur in Novem- ber and December.

PENNY WISE, POUND FOOLISH

Big Spring citizens who predicted that when Uncle Sam went back to 3-cent postage he was making an un- wise move can now say with satisfac- tion: "I told you so." Only a few months have passed since the post office department raised the rate from two to three cents on a letter, yet the volume of mail has slumped so in that time that the next re- port of the department is pretty apt to show a larger deficit than ever. It isn't the first time it has happen- ed. That is why it is hard to under- stand why our postal officials rushed headlong into it again. Business, al- ready in a discouraged mood, resent- ed the increased postage rate and cut down on its mailing. Private in- dividuals are now writing fewer let- ters. The saving of this cent on each letter, running into millions, is just that much the country could have had but is not getting. It takes some people, including postal officials, a lifetime to learn that it doesn't pay to be penny wise and pound foolish.—Big Spring News.

DRIFTERS BECOME NUISANCE, SAYS GAINESVILLE MAYOR

The professional itinerant beggar that makes his livelihood traveling from place to place, preying off public charity, has become a problem and a nuisance to every city, town and village.

Every community in Texas is re- quested to cease all financial assist- ance of a charitable nature to any person not a resident of the respec- tive community, in order to stem the tide of professional drifters, some of whom travel by automobile on chair- ty gasoline, oil and tires, seeing the country at the expense of the tax- payers, charity organizations and business men. The vast number of people making their livelihood in this manner and the fact that a new generation of professional beggars and drifters is being brought up by un- scrupulous adults who encourage children to ask public alms as they travel from point to point, making no pretense at work, demands, in the opinion of the writer, immediate and concerted action on the part of all cities and towns.

There is only one way that we know of to stop this human driftwood floating over Texas and that is the method mentioned herein, by all or- ganized communities refusing further charity aid to itinerants.

It is not the intent to withhold charity from any worthy person so long as he or she is a bona fide resi- dent, but they must be given to un- derstand that they must apply for assistance in their home community and not expect citizens elsewhere to take care of them. If every munici- pality will adopt this procedure and policy, we believe professional beg- gars will be most effectively elimi- nated. It is our desire and hope that a similar movement will become na- tion-wide.

So long as we feed and furnish transportation to the hitchhiker, drifter or by whatever title we care to identify them, just so long we can expect to have them with us by the thousands, as at present; but if we will withdraw our assistance and broadcast to the world that we will no longer tolerate them or their methods, we will get immediate re-

AN ERA OF BETTER FEELING

By Clayton Rand

Many brighter signs appear upon the country's horizon—many hope- ful changes spread encouragement. Cotton is up and other markets yield to the pressure of better times.

The one great business life, how- ever, lies in the rise of CONFI- DENCE among the masses.

And the one essential force most needed now to capitalize this turning tide is printers ink and advertising.

The business man who does not use these weapons, the merchant who ignores this era of better feeling, overlooks a golden opportunity, for the light is in the East—the dawn of a brighter day is breaking.

 might have been true a few days back, before winter made an early appearance Tuesday and Wednesday. Man, we nearly crawled into our winter flannels when the thermometer dropped to 40 degrees early Wednes- day morning. The young bucks may stick to their shorts the year 'round, but we've reached the years of dis- cretion—the time of life when we pull on the old ribbed longies at the first suggestion of frost.—Dublin Progress.

lief and will at the same time per- form a worth while service to our community and country and to the ultimate good of the individuals to whom we refuse to contribute.

If you concur, Mr. City Official and Citizens of Texas, and desire to stop this traffic, take immediate ac- tion in your community. Discuss it with your charity associations. Write an article for your local papers that all of your people may be acquainted with your plan and the plan of other Texas cities that they may lend in- dividual assistance.

And in the heat of this campaign, don't forget that we expect you here Monday as well as Tuesday. Let's make Monday a big trades day and Tuesday the heaviest voting general election in our history. Texas ought to cast a million votes Tuesday.

In his speech at Madison Square Gardens Monday night, President Hoover accused Gov. Roosevelt of being revolutionary. All we have to say is that we certainly need something absolutely revolutionary from what we have been getting the past three years.

The Merkel Mail came out recently with a fine edition which they called Prosperity Edition, which was a fine one, and made us think of way back in 1929. If that doggoned snail of Prosperity ever gets around that corner, we may try something like that here in Brownfield. Anyway, business is better, thank you.

It is reported that Col. Dick McCarty of the Albany News is in El Paso to have his eyes treated. While we have never been there, we are told that they have a lot of eye-openers across the "crick" from that city.—Terry County Herald.

Col. Dick McCarty has set the example, and now others will likely follow. He has always been a "wise guy" but few persons would have thought of such an excuse, Stricklin, and you should not envy the Colonel. Let him have a good time during the last days of his life.—Abilene Times.

The Herald is not going to ask very much of President Roosevelt when he takes his seat at Washington, but we are going to make one request here and now. That before he makes or announces any cabinet positions, that he recall that distant cousin of his from the Philippine Islands. To our notion, he is a very poor son of an illustrious father. Furthermore, if William Howard Taft was too much of a standpatter to suit Teddy Roosevelt Sr., what about that Stander of All Patterns, Herbert Hoover? If Teddy was living today, he would be for Franklin D. Roosevelt. We firmly believe this.

This is the standing and the way the Herald votes on speeches we have heard made for Roosevelt and Garner—we didn't hear either of Al Smith's speeches. Four of these speeches were made by what we took to be Republicans, we know who two were. The grade as follows: Sen. Hiram Johnson of California, 1st; Sen. Norris of North Dakota, 2nd; The President of the Missouri Farmers Association, 3rd; a man whose name we did not learn, but who spoke over a National hook-up originating in St. Paul, Minn., 4th. We also took him for a farmer. Hon. Morris Shepherd of Texas, 5th. Shepherd was the only Democrat, and he made a fine address. On the Republican side, we think President Hoover himself is the best alabier they have.

Our good friend, A. J. Stricklin, of the Brownfield Herald, gallantly comes to the defense of female editors whom J. C. Estlack of the Donley County Leader had accused of not being able to look the part, since they could not rear back in the editorial chair, put their feet on the desk and light a stogie. Stricklin needn't worry about Estlack's ungallant attitude. It's in the air down there at Clarendon. It isn't so long since Sam Braswell was "agin" woman's rights but we got 'em just the same and the News has quit talking about it. Personally, we don't aspire to the privilege of smoking a stogie and decorating the editorial desk with our "dogs" but in this era of trousered and cigarette-smoking females, it looks feasible, if that's the only way to qualify for the job. Speaking of the Brownfield Herald, we regret to not that Editor Stricklin has announced his intention of returning to a six-column paper in the near future. Like all other newspapers, the Herald has "shrunk" because of lack of advertising patronage and the Herald man balks at that printer's "pet peeve," a six-page paper. In the fall of 1929 when the paper was changed to seven columns, he was issuing from ten to fourteen pages each week and we trust that "them days" aren't "gone forever."—Southwest Plainsman.

Show Us How To Denounce Hoover

Mr. Roosevelt in his able acceptance speech differentiated between Republicans and Republican leaders. It is nearly four years since the mystery man, imported by the International Bankers into America to take charge of its receivership, was elected President.

Federal office holders, hired propagandists, and the Anglicized press, painted him as a great executive, with the aid of weak-minded men and strong-minded women, appealing to ignorant religious bigotry, and racial prejudice, boosted him into the president office.

Heralded as a great executive and engineer, his abilities seem to have been devoted to the promotion of wildcat corporations, which usually came to the same sad end, to which he has brought the American Republic, to the great distress of the stockholder, and his own financial aggrandizement.

Even admitting his magic and superman powers, when he was elected, thoughtful men, considering his inexperience in statescraft, his ignorance of American politics and institutions, being to all intents and purposes a foreigner, doubted his ability to give us a successful administration, but few dreamed of the horror and ruin his incompetence or indifference was to bring upon us.

When Mr. Hoover entered the executive office the material prosperity of the country was at its zenith, wages the highest ever known in this or any other country, land prices at the top, industries earning big dividends, stocks and bonds at their peak.

To what has he brought us? Smokeless chimneys, crumbling factories, vacant stores, ragged impoverished, and thriftless farmers, despondent tramping and drunken workmen, shivering, forlorn, paupered, and depraved women, gaunt starving vagabond children, nine million unemployed with thirty million hungry ones depending upon them.

Contemplate the picture, then vote for Herbert Hoover, and dare to face your God with the crime upon your Soul!

This movement is not a Texas-Garner gesture prompted by personal friendship for him. It is no higeria to the Democratic Camp, but an honest effort to rid the party of Hoover, Hooverism, and Hoovercrats and return it to the principles enunciated by Thomas Jefferson and practiced by Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt.

There are still too many Glasses, Robinsons, Sheppards, Cannons, Sterlings and Strongs in the Democratic Party to make it an inviting harbor for intelligent Republicans.

The condition confronting us is Hoover ruin and slavery, revolution, or temporary Democratic control. We are choosing the least of these evils, to supplant it in four years with a genuine Republican administration.

Mr. Hoover in his acceptance speech boasted of having checked the depression and turned the tide. If he has done this by the waving of his magic wand, it but emphasizes his crime. Why did he not wave it three years ago? If his magic can change the depression into prosperity today, why could he not have stopped it three years ago? Why has he fished for three years, while the destroyer has swept over the land, to awake and strike him down only ninety days before the election? Three years ago the supplication of the farmers was met by giving them a high-salaried Wall Street gambler, who threw millions of the Government's tax raised money into the lap of his gambling associates without adding one farthing to the products of the farmers. For three years the moan of shivering mothers found no echo in this Pharo's heart. For three years the cry of starving children has fallen upon deaf ears.

Generations of the past have said, "Nero fiddled while Rome burned." Generations of the future shall say, "Hoover fished while Americans starved." It was not until the usurer and bond clipper demanded that the Government make good loans, their greed of ignorance had frozen, that he woke from his stupor and demanded four billion dollars to pack into the already bursting coffers of the coupon chippers.

Mr. Hoover's indifference to the cry of the hungry finally brought to the doors of the White House the supplicant heroes of the World War and their hungry families where they were told they might fight with the dogs for the crumbs that fell from the tables of Morgan and the International Bankers which the Government was loading with billions of bonds.

When Congress adjourned the great majority of the supplicants abandoned hope, a few hungry ragged unarmed men and women were left. Then came the supreme folly of the age, a folly which could have been born only of adject cowardice or superlative ignorance, such as breeds communism and revolutions. The folly of calling out the U. S. Army, Infantry, Cavalry and Artillery, tanks and bombs to do battle with a few unarmed non-combatants.

Already a bullet has reached the heart of one of the least offenders Should Mills, Hurley or Hoover, the principal criminals who planned and ordered the crime, met a similar fate, which God forbid, let it be remembered that the bullets were molded in the battle of Pennsylvania Avenue. Should the torch reach the White House or be laid at the door of Morgan's counting house, let it be remembered that it was lit at the burning shacks in the Valley of Anacosta.

The Republicans must sweep such irresponsible dumbbells from leadership. There are millions of real Republicans all over this country who repudiate these Hooverists, as well as his pandering to the Mohammedan priesthood, masquerading in the fleece of our Morals beneath legions of bootleggers, and our laws beneath gangsters, but they are disorganized, have no leader and many are being scourged to the pools by the scorpion whip of partizanship in the hands of millions of office holders and pap suckers.

We are appealing to the Republicans worthy to wear the toga of the supporters of Lincoln, to meet and organize clubs. If there are only a few of you in the county, organize and send your address to Headquarters at 507 Basse Building, San Antonio, Texas.

From now until election, let our evening prayer and waking thought be for the "Defeat and repudiation of Hoover and Hooverism."

National League of Republican Roosevelt-Garner Clubs.

DUCK AND GOOSE SEASON TO OPEN ON NOVEMBER 1

Much to the joy of local nimrods, the duck and goose season in this section of the state will open at noon November 1st, and continue through December 31. Last year the open season on ducks was limited to one month, and it was too late for ducks, or many in the Panhandle.

Several flights of ducks have been reported already, especially since the recent rains filled up some of the dry lakes on the plains. More moisture is needed, however, to insure good shooting this fall, local hunters declare. Lakes which had water in them following the rains are drying fast and only more rain will aid the nimrods in this section.

The government recently promulgated the open season for geese and ducks to cover two zones, north and south. The zones are the same as for doves with the Missouri Pacific railway and the Austin-Houston Southern Pacific line marking off the zones.

It was believed until recently that there would be only one month for hunting in the Panhandle.

Fourteen Years After The First Armistice

Armistice Day, marking the 14th anniversary of the end of the World War, again recalls the stern reality of that titanic struggle, which ended the man of the world. About that to of the Texas game laws had just begin to really be enforced, and there was a long article in explanation of the laws, as well as the bag limit on wild game of all sorts. Another told about the demand for Texas mules in other sections. For instance, St Louis had taken 250 carloads in on year; Oklahoma had taken 50 cars; 100 went to New Orleans; 50 to the rice belt; 50 to California; 25 to Cuba, and 25 to Arizona. We wish there was a better demand now as well as a better price. Another front page article taken from an exchange, denounced the double standard of sex conditions that then obtained in society. Twenty-three years later the ladies seem to be holding their own pretty well. Mr. J. T. McPherson and family, had returned to Big Spring. R. G. Wood of Meadow, was down. B. F. Nix had leased his freight team over to Claude Criswell and announced that he would travel some. Mrs. Otis Copeland of Meadow, was visiting in the home of Judge and Mrs. W. N. Copeland. Painters were putting the finishing touches on the home of Geo. E. Tiernan. G. E. Lockhart was attending court in Big Spring. The editor had been in Lubbock to see the train, and hoped it would not be long till we heard one in Brownfield. A. M. Brownfield and wife had returned from their long vacation on the Concho. Foundation to the DeShazo home had been laid. W. R. Harris had the Herald sent to his daughter, Jeffie Ray in Louisiana. Bert Tingle, Plains merchant, was called to Alabama on account of the serious illness of his father.

We reported in these columns last week that W. D. Winn had gone to Big Spring after Jim Parks and family. They got back the next week ok. Jim Burnett was on the sick list. Charley Benton of this county, and his father, Uncle Dave of Emma, Crosby county, had brought in 200 head of cattle to pasture. R. H. Bourland, of Chickasha, Okla., was here to look after his interests. Dr. Griffin of Gomez, had carried Mrs. Sam Funderburk to Dallas for an operation.

Doings in Court: W. T. McPherson vs. Geo. McMhirter, hung jury; Assault case was tried, the defendant fined $125.00. (No names were mentioned, but we presume this was the "Windy" Williams case.) The Arbitration case of Mrs. Lou Key vs. S. H. Key, rendered an opinion in favor of the plaintiff for $550.00. The Maids and Matron Club met with Miss Georgia Cooper. Mrs. Bell was teacher, and Miss Daugherty read an interesting paper. All for this week.

REMEMBER 1922, 1923, 1924

In 1929, when things were booming, we simply would not remember what happened in 1920. We paid for that forgetfulness.

Today, when we seem at last to be pulling out of this depression, we are giving very little thought to what came about in 1923, 1924 and 1925, those other recovery years. Later, we may wish we had remembered.

In those years, new types of aggressive merchandising appeared. Active-minded men saw big opportunities in the up-swing, and before many of us knew what it was all about, these men were tossing overboard many of the old theories of selling goods. Before they could be stopped, these new leaders were in the front positions, ready to defend their gains.

We are going to see that same thing happen again. The up-turn will encourage new enterprises by men with faces and names new to us.

The other day I was talking to a city merchant about this very subject.

"Perhaps you have noticed we have already started increasing our advertising," he told me. "We aren't going to be caught again. We are going to be known as the aggressive store as we come out of this slump, and we aren't going to let anyone get the jump on us. The stores that stand still right now will find it hard to gain momentum later. That's why we are starting now."

This is the best, the most profitable time to advertise. And advertising men are agreed that weekly newspapers, with their home-folk news, their cover-to-cover readability, are the best advertising mediums.

So let's remember what happened in 1922, 1923 and 1924. It will happen again in 1932, 1933 and 1934.

COMMUNITY COMMENTS

HARMONY HAPPENINGS

There is some cotton being picked in this community but most of it is yet to open. The farmers have been gathering their feed and corn and having bundlestuff cut.

Mr. George Merritt of the Lahey community is cutting feed this week for his brother Clarence.

Dock Christon, Edwin Myrick and several others have been hauling cane to mill to be made into syrup.

We are glad to have Miss Perl Cardwell back again. She has been taking treatment at the Carlsbad Sanatorium, and her condition is greatly improved.

Next Tuesday will settle the question I suppose. I'm sure everyone will breathe a sigh of relief to not hear and read any more political dirt, though one side or the other will be disappointed. All this mud slinging and argument certainly "gets ones goat."

The "cookie jar" was good. Write some more.

RED GOOSE The Ojibwa

(Synopsis)

On his fourteenth birthday, Red Goose rode out with his father, Red Eagle, for the first time, to help protect the Pale Face people from the bad Indians. They reached Fort Ridgley, a stronghold of the whites, in time to warn Serpeant Henry of an attack by the Sioux Indians. The Sergeant had only two men with him, Tom Boling and Bear Cat, and when someone had to ride to Captain Sutter for help, Red Goose jumped on his pony and started off alone for reinforcements.

"Now, there's a boy that is a boy!" chuckled Sergeant Henry, as he watched brave little Red Goose start off like the wind on his pony, with a promise to bring back Captain Sutter with reinforcements.

"It seems a shame to let that youngster ride out like that," said Bear Cat. "The Sioux are bound to see him and their arrows are swift and sure."

"Red Goose more swift—more sure," grunted Red Eagle. "Him come back—you see."

"I hope so, Red Eagle. We just couldn't afford to have one of us go and leave only two men to defend the Fort." It was Tom Boling who spoke this time, and it was easy to see he was greatly affected by the bravery and daring of Red Goose.

"Kongra Torga at the Gate of Fort Ridgley"

The sound of the tom-toms grew louder and louder, which meant that the Sioux Indians were approaching nearer and nearer to the Fort.

Red Eagle looked through a peep hole in the stockade and turning quickly, said:

"Many Red Men come. Hundred Sioux on warpath. Soon Big Crow knock at gate. Big Crow will make believe him friend and want come in an dance for you. No let him in. Him bad Indian. Kill white squaws."

"So that's his idea, is it? He thinks he can fool us by pretending to be a friend, and then when he gets inside the Fort, kill us, eh?" said Sergeant Henry, looking down the barrel of his gun to see that it was in good condition. "Well, I've always found it pays to have a loaded gun when there's a bad Indian around."

"I have an idea," said Tom, who had been walking back and forth trying to think of a way to hold off the Indians until Red Goose would return with help.

"Let's draw the old cannon up by the gate. When Big Crow knocks, we'll open up and let him see us loading it. That will scare him off for a while."

"Fine!" said Bear Cat. "Then, when Big Crow comes in, he will look right down the muzzle of our old cannon. Then we can bring all the rifles out here, and when he sees us polishing them, he'll know we mean business."

As the continued dinning of the tom-toms came nearer and nearer, the men worked with feverish haste. They rolled the old cannon right up to the gate and brought out thirty rifles, which they placed in a position so that Big Crow could see them easily.

"Now, we're ready—let them come," growled the Sergeant.

No sooner had he spoken than there came a loud knock at the gate. "Big Crow—him at gate," said Red Eagle.

Fourteen Years After The First Armistice

Armistice Day, marking the 14th anniversary of the end of the World War, again recalls the stern realities of that titanic struggle, which changed the man of the world.

The significance of the events which have occurred since November 11, 1918 may be variously interpreted, according to the viewpoint from which we see them. To some it will appear that great progress has been made toward universal peace, while to others the trend of events will imply grave danger for the future.

Even a single individual may waver between hope and fear—hopeful when some felicitous occurrence seems to draw the nations closer together; fearful when an outbreak here or there threatens to undo all efforts for concord and understanding.

No one is wise enough to foretell the future. Was the "war to end war" the last great clash of nations, or was it only the prelude to more frightful slaughter and destruction yet to come?

Only time can give the answer, and in the meantime it behooves all right thinking persons, and particularly those in positions of influence and responsibility, to exercise whatever they may possess of tolerance, forbearance and the will to do justice to their fellowmen.—Jayton Chronicle.

SEN. NORRIS IS FOR ROOSEVELT AND GARNER

Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska is a life-long pro and a life-long Abraham Lincoln republican. Notwithstanding his classification, he declined to vote for Hoover in 1928 and cast his ballot for Alfred E. Smith "as the man closest to the people and policies which safeguard the rights of the people." In 1930 Sen. Norris offered as a candidate for re-election subject to the action of the republican primary of Nebraska. He was renominated by a large majority. In the fall of that year he was reelected by a large majority. Now the magazine known as "Liberty" carries a powerful article from the pen of Norris. He is going to make speeches and cast his ballot for Roosevelt and Garner in November because he is a better republican than Pres. Hoover, and the policies which should receive the approval of the American people are dear to the hearts of the national standard bearers of the democratic party.

Norris at 72, after 50 years as an advocate of national state prohibition, declares that the 18th amendment has been a flat failure, a disappointment to all thinking men and women, and that a change must come in the handling of the liquor traffic in the United States. This Nebraska leader never makes use of weasel words. He has gone all the road in this campaign and he tells, in the plain language of the people, why he is making the journey on November election day.—Cleburne Times.

HE PINS 'EM ON THE DEMS. AND REPUBLICANS

Decatur, Texas, Oct.—Colonel Dick Collins, editor of the Wise County Messenger, is a member of the Democratic Campaign Committee for Texas. Among his duties is that of raising funds for the national ticket. With the courage and pertinacity that is typical of Colonel Dick in everything he undertakes, be it freeing Cuba from the Spaniards to delivering America from the Republicans, he tackled W. C. Milligan, prominent Decatur Business man, who has been a life-long Republican. Colonel Dick promptly pinned a Roosevelt-Garner medallion on him, exacted a contribution from him and passed on to the next prospect, Judge A. Muldoon, former Nebraskan and likewise a Republican, who became Shareholder in America Number two for Wise County, as quick as Dick could tell his story.

"After that," says Colonel Dick, "the rest was easy." A Democratic photographer caught Colonel and Mr. Milligan in the informal pose pictured accompanying photograph

WOULDN'T VOTE FOR HOOVER ANYWAY

Some people are such loyal Democrats that they regret to see business improvement, fearing that it will help the Republicans to win the election. Most Stamford people that we have talked to don't feel that way about it. They will gladly take all the prosperity the Republican party is able to stimulate, but still reserve the privilege of voting the democratic ticket. One fellow expressed what seems to be the general sentiment when he said: "I'm mighty glad to see the price of cotton go up, but I wouldn't vote for Hoover if it went to forty cents a pound."

After all the administration can not make up in two or three months before the election for all its failures in the past three years.—Stamford American.

We believe that the Republican candidates are doomed to defeat, and while we expect to vote for the Democratic candidates, we are not so narrow as to blame all this "depression" to the party in power, in fact we believe that they have had little to do with it, yet the people will vote against Hoover and Curtis thinking that a change would make conditions no worse.—Abilene Times.

Hoovers-Roosevelts Both Old Families

Regardless of whether Herbert Hoover or Franklin D. Roosevelt is elected president of the United States on Nov. 8, the nation's next chief executive will be a man whose family line in American dates back more than 200 years.

Roosevelt's line is the oldest, his distant grandfather having immigrated from Holland about 1636. Hoover's ancestors came over from Germany about 1730.

According to those who are familiar with the Hoover genealogy, the founder of the line in America was Andrew Hoover who, as a boy, settled in Pennsylvania about 1730. After his marriage to a certain Margaret Fouts they moved to Maryland where several children were born.

About 1754, Andrew Hoover and his wife moved to the new settlements in Randolph county, in the upcountry of North Carolina. The family lived there until the early years of the 19th century when slavery arose and the Hoovers with other Quakers, departed for Ohio, where slavery did not exist.

After a short time in Ohio, they continued their journey by wagon train to Indiana and settled as pioneers near where Richmond, Ind., now stands. From there they spread to Iowa, where the president was born, and to other states in the west.

Herbert Hoover is of the seventh generation of Hoovers in America. His father was Jesse Hoover, the village blacksmith in West Branch, Ia. His mother was Hulda Randall Minthorn. Both of his parents died before he was 10 years old, leaving him an orphan boy to work his own way upward in the world with such assistance as his relatives were able to provide.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT'S line in America dates back to Claes van Roosevelt, who immigrated from Holland and settled in New Amsterdam about 1636. Later, when New Amsterdam passed from the Dutch to the English and became New York the "van" was dropped from the name.

Claes' son, Nicholas van Roosevelt, was the great-great-great-great-grandfather of both Franklin D. Roosevelt and their common ancestor. The Theodore Roosevelt line is descended from Nicholas' second son, Johannes, the Franklin Roosevelt line is descended from his third son, Jacobus. The former branch of the family turned Republican during the Civil War and has remained so. The others were "Union Democrats."

The Roosevelts have lived in New York ever since the founder of the family arrived there 300 years ago. Through various generations they became wealthy by the purchase of real estate which steadily increased in value; in 1817 James Roosevelt, great-grandfather of Franklin D. Roosevelt, bought 150 acres in what is now upper Manhattan for $20,000. The latter's grandson, another James Roosevelt, was a wealthy vice president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad and the father of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was born on the family's 500-acre estate near New York City on January 30, 1882. On March 17, 1905, he married his sixth cousin, Miss Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a niece of Theodore Roosevelt. The latter, his fifth cousin, was then president of the United States and he attended their brilliant society wedding at the family's town home in New York, giving the bride in marriage.

Gain Physical Vigor — Youthfulness With Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes That Sparkle With Glorious Health

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast — cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—in 4 weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished.

Get a bottle of Kruschen Salts—the cost is trifling and it lasts 4 weeks. If even this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned.

But be sure for your health's sake that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at Alexander Drug Co. Inc. or Any drugstore in the world.

Dumas—Contract to be let in near future for improvement of Highway No. 9 from here south to Potter county line.

How Democrats May Vote For ORVILLE BULLINGTON FOR GOVERNOR

Assuming you want to vote for ROOSEVELT and GARNER and all the rest of the Democratic nominees, except Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the only name you mark out in the Democratic column is Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, as shown below. In the Republican column you mark out everything from top to bottom, except Orville Bullington. In the next column, the Socialist, you draw a line from top to bottom, and the same for the other five columns. If two gubernatorial candidates' names appeared unmarked, neither would get a vote and your ballot would not be counted.

You must leave all the 23 electors unmarked in the party you want and mark out all of them in the other columns in order to cast a vote for your presidential choice.

Below is the important corner of the official ballot correctly marked if you want ROOSEVELT, GARNER and BULLINGTON and the rest of the Democratic nominees.

Headlines or Breadlines

Which do you believe? The Hoover Headlines—telling you that Prosperity is Just Around the Corner—or the Hoover Breadlines—that ARE just around the corner for more than eleven million Americans—out of work and unable to earn a decent living?

Do you want four more years of Hoover Headlines and Hoover Breadlines—of broken promises—of control of the government by a privileged handful of men? Or do you want to reclaim your interest in America and restore Democratic government under which this country in the past has prospered?

When Do We Eat?

Eleven million breadwinners—out of work and denied the right to earn a decent living—are asking this question. Thirty to forty millions of their dependents in distress—many dependent on charity—are asking the same question.

More than 200,000 children—driven from their homes by poverty and privation—are wandering shelterless and jobless over the land—suffering from under nourishment and slow starvation.

Franklin Roosevelt says:

“The only hope for improving present conditions, restoring employment, affording permanent relief to the people and bringing the nation back to its former proud position of domestic happiness and of financial, industrial, agricultural and commercial leadership in the world lies in a drastic change in economic and governmental policies.”

Brownfield Cubs Open Conference By Defeating Lamesa 7 to 4

Friday, October 28, was the first conference game for the Cubs. They played the Lamesa Tornados, who have always been our greatest rivals.

The Lamesa team outweighed the Cubs about ten pounds per man. Our team average is about 160 while their average is about 170 pounds.

Lamesa thought the Cubs would just be a walk over but they were badly disappointed when the game started and our eleven began hitting them and holding them without gain. After the game had advanced a little ways, they knew that it was going to be everything but a walkover.

In the first quarter, Lamesa had the first kick off. Brownfield had ball and they try three runs, but fail to make any yardage. Cubs punt giving ball to Lamesa. Lamesa tries a pass, but it is slapped down by one of the Cubs.

They are penalized 25 yards on the second down. They try a run and are penalized 5 yards for being off sides. The ball goes to the Cubs after Lamesa makes no gain. Brownfield punts the ball. On the first down they try a pass but fail. They then made a beautiful punt. It goes nearly to touchdown line and stops.

Brownfield comes in possession of the ball. Neill is going to punt and be far to stand behind the goal line. The ball is passed over Neill and Lamesa gets a safety which counts two points. After an exchange of runs and points the ball comes back to the Brownfield goal line and they get another safety in the first quarter. At the close of the quarter the scores are 4 to 0 in favor of the Tornados.

In the first quarter, Lamesa made one first down and completed one pass. Brownfield neither making a first down or completing a pass.

In the second quarter Lamesa is in possession of the ball. They are penalized 15 yards. They try to run, but Moore took them for a loss. Lamesa punts and are again penalized.

After an exchange of runs and punts the quarter ended 4 to 0 favor of Lamesa.

Lamesa made two first downs but did not complete any passes. Brownfield made two first downs and Huckabee of Brownfield completed a pass.

In the third quarter the ball stayed along in the middle of the field. Both teams were fighting hard and not but one gain could be made when Lamesa made one first down. The quarter finally ended and Lamesa was still in the lead of Brownfield. There was no first downs or no passes completed in the third quarter.

In the fourth quarter the Cubs knew that they had to do something and do it quick or they would lose the game.

After an exchange of runs and punts Brownfield came in possession of the ball in the middle of the field. The ball was snapped back to Neill. He started around the right end of Lamesa, the end made a grab at him, but before he knew what had happened he was rolling in the dirt about fifteen yards away. Billy Brown, who was playing guard for the Cubs hit him, and then Tankersley playing in the backfield for the Cubs downed the Lamesa wingback before he had a chance to stop Neill. Two men were then left to get Neill, but they did not have a chance to catch him because he was gone like a flash for a touchdown. They lined up to kick the field goal. It was a perfect kick made by Huckabee. The score was then 7 to 4. Toward the last of the quarter, Lamesa had the ball on the fifteen yard line with the first down. They tried to make a place kick but failed, because the ball did not go between the goal posts.

The game ended with a victory of 7 to 4 in favor of the Cubs.

An Accident

The boys and girls pep squad met with an accident Friday, going to the ball game. O. L. Tidwell was hurt.

The accident occurred just before we reached the field. The girls were riding in a truck, and the boys were on the car. O. L. was sitting on the right front fender. The truck stopped and the car ran into the back of the truck. O. L.'s leg was cut about six inches, showing the bone. A doctors car was parked nearby, and O. L. was rushed immediately to a Sanitarium. At the present time O. L. is at home and resting well.

We are all very sorry that this happened, and from now on the pep squad will walk out to the field to prevent any more accidents.

Music Classes Observe Hallowe'en

Mrs. W. H. Dallas entertained her music classes of the Junior High and High schools, in a jolly Hallowe'en party Monday evening. The entertainment was in the form of a treasure hunt, led by the captains, Misses Martha McClish, Mary Dee Price, Dora Dean Neill and Evelyn Pippin. After the "spooky" journey they engaged in various parts of contests and were served.

Sawyer Graham received a novel "foot ball player" as winner in the art contest. Ethel Pippin and Pete Owens were winners in "tree" contest. Candy was the award.

Silhouettes were made of the guests as they arrived. Attending the party were Maxine Hardin, Eunice Michie, Margene Griffin, Ima George Warren, Venus Cason, Johnnie Corning, Ethel Pippin, Irene Adams, Helen Quante, Verna Brown, Wilma Frank Dunn, Mary Lee Gracey, Mattie Jo Gracey, Jocelyn Lambert, Ruth Brazzelton, Elizabeth Brazzelton, Joy Greenfield, Wanda Graham, Elray Lewis, Virginia May, Queenelle Sawyer, Orel Greenfield, Betty Jo Savage, Elizabeth Ann Smith, Mary Jean Lees, Herbert Lees, Billy Jo McGowan, Kathy Hunter, Sallie Truman Stricklin, Billy Steppes, Pat O'Brien, Clyde Dallas, Sawyer Graham, John L. Cruce, James Michie, Pete Owens, Charlie Michie.

A Christmas party will be given the smaller children's classes early in December.

Dramatic Club Meets

The Dramatic club met October 25th. The roll was called and each member answered with the name of a modern play writer. Imogene Luckie gave a talk on Suggestions to Actions. A talk on making up a play was given by Wayne Tipton. Then the following committees were appointed.

Committee to read plays—Martha McClish, Marion Chisholm and Woodrow Chambliss.

Committee to arrange for musical numbers between acts of the Dramatic club play—Martha McClish and Lee Brownfield.

Committee for advertising—Sawyer Graham, Jim Neill and Elwene Sleigh.

Committee for stage properties—R. W. Rambo, Carmon Anderson and Bonnie Dale Gross.

The play "Whittling" will be put on November 17th and 18th.

The Zellica Club

"Precious Gems" was studied by the Zellica club Tuesday, October 25. The program was as follows: Famous Diamonds, Agnes Hamilton; Gem cutting, Ruth Brazzelton; Sapphire and Emeralds, Shirley Bond; Sparkling Diamonds, Geneva Thompson; The Glowing Ruby, Helen Green; Topex and Amethyst, Evelyn Diddy; Opal and Lustrous Pearl, Verna Brown.

Each one received a better viewpoint of these gems from the talks. We found that the history of the gems was a very interesting study.

I want to express my appreciation to the Senior class for the beautiful flowers they gave at the recent death of my father. I also want to thank each teacher and student who has offered kind words of sympathy. Lillian Thames.

L. P. Loomis is Still A Good Republican

We made mention along in the summer that our good friend, L. P. Loomis, formerly of the Slaton Slatonite and the Canadian Record of Texas, but now editor and publisher of the Torrington, Wyoming, daily, was through here to shake hands. L. P. was in such a hurry that politics was not mentioned, or perhaps thought of. Recently he had a good story of his tour back into this section as well as Oklahoma where he was born, and sent us a paper with the story therein. He was accompanied on the trip by one of his linotype operators, who was taking his vacation, and as he had never been in the southwest, decided to accompany Editor Loomis. We are printing herewith, the last part of the article in question, or as we might say, the summary, and we make the above explanation that the reader might understand it better, and especially the reference to Smith:

It was a very enjoyable trip which could easily have been extended over a period of thirty days. Smith saw a lot of things in the southland he had never seen before, and he enjoyed many of them. He got a feast of real, honest-to-goodness delicious southern biscuits, the like of which is never equaled anywhere else in the world, and you never know when to quit eating them. He set his teeth into some real watermelons and he even drank some Dr. Pepper, a more popular drink down there than Coca Cola. He even ate black-eyed peas and tried to eat okra and smile, in courtesy to the hostess, while he was doing it. He saw cotton, broom corn, kaffir, maize, feterita, and kindred crops—entirely different from northern crops. After watching the writer shake hands and greet friends for ten days he began to understand the friendly and courteous spirit of the south and to warm up to southern hospitality.

looked better than Torrington—perhaps, for one reason we were not looking for it. We were just away on a care-free, resting up expedition, and we chose to spend the time among old friends, reliving old times and reviving old memories.

Conditions, generally, are about the same wherever you go. The people of one town are optimistic and getting ready for another era of constructive activity, while the people of a neighboring town are pessimistic, complaining and wanting to unload their grief on the other fellow—and this is merely the way of the world.

Crops are good in one section and an adjoining neighborhood may be burned out from the drought.

Politics—we forgot that on the trip. We were in southern territory where the only Republicans were the fellows who held commissions as postmasters, and we were in for a lot of good natured razzing from old friends, for we were in the country where Democratic politics is their religion, and the best way to enjoy the trip was to talk about the weather and discourse on what a beautiful country we live in, in the irrigated valley of the North Platte.

One of the proudest men in town is Gladys Green. Last week he received notice that he had successfully passed an examination with the board of pharmacy of Texas, and was now a full fledged registered prescription druggist. Congratulations.

Buddy Blanton, of Amarillo, who was held some ten days at Lubbock, charged with the murder of Robert Tharp, was exonerated by a Lubbock county grand jury this week and freed. He expressed the wish that the real murderer be brought to justice for the crime.

A. P. Stewart of the Tokio community, accompanied by his brother who is visiting him from San Diego, Calif., were in town, Tuesday.

Watch for the Carnival Nov 8.

WELLMAN BAPTIST CHURCH

Pastor, W. Loveless
Sunday school met with an attendance of 55. The Ruth class gave a program at General Assembly, assisted by the Four Square Class. Roma Lewis read "The Penny You Aim to Give." Following this the two classes sang "Bringing in the Sheaves."

There was 62 present at B. T. S., an increase over last Sunday. General assembly of the B. T. S. unions was very interesting as the officers of the different unions gave the programs. Mrs. Gardenhire had charge of the program. It was as follows: Why have a B. Y. P. U?—Mr. Lawrence. Why Attend B. T. S?—Mrs. Jenkins. Why Be on Time?—Mrs. Schroeder. Why take a Study Course?—Mr. Burnett. Why Read Daily Bible Readings?—Mr. Penticost. Why Attend Preaching?—Billy Joe Schroeder.

We urge everyone to be on time at Sunday School, which meets promptly at 10 o'clock. We are happy to report that Bro. Loveless will be here over this coming weekend. Church services will be held Saturday night, Sunday morning and Sunday night. We invite everyone to come and enjoy these splendid services.

Our social on Hallowe'en, October 31st, was well attended as the church was filled to overflowing. There were ghost too scary for anything, and the stage was decorated with a shock of corn and a lady and gentleman scare crew, pumpkins, black cats, witches, bats and jack-'lanterns. The witch's disguise was a work of art. Mr. W. L. Burnett who represented the witch was a wow! He told fortunes so interesting they crowded him until he swept them out until next October 31st.

J. R. Lindsey got his Herald up another year this week, and will get the Semi-Weekly Farm News for his state and national news.

Mrs. Jenkins, of Marshall, Texas, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. W. A. Bell.

ROOSEVELT AND SMITH

The reconciliation between Smith and Roosevelt had to come. They have been friends a long time. Smith helped to make Roosevelt. It is fitting that he new help Roosevelt toward the presidency.

For he can help—not so much by his lashing attacks on the administration, such as his convention speech Tuesday night. Other lesser men can do that almost as well, because the Republican record of failure speaks for itself.

But Smith, we hope, can add a definiteness to the Roosevelt campaign which has too often been lacking in Roosevelt himself. Smith can not be other than forthright. He has always been that way.

The wisdom of Al Smith and the courage of Al Smith should be one of the greatest service to Franklin Roosevelt.—El Paso Herald-Post.

We are glad to report that Miss Lucille Harris is back with us again. She underwent an operation about two weeks ago and is about well again.

How Doctors Treat Colds and Coughs

To break up a cold overnight and relieve the congestion that makes you cough, thousands of physicians are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess calomel compound tablets that give you the effects of calomel and salts without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bedtime with a glass of sweet milk or water. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you wish,—no danger.

Calotabs are sold in 10c and 35c packages at drug stores. (Adv)
