

LAWRENCE LEE PASSES

Lawrence Vernon Lee, the 18 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lee, who live in the Gomez community, passed away last Thursday of acute kidney trouble. Deceased was a senior last year in the Brownfield high school, and a general favorite among his playmates. The Lee family has lived here about two years.

The body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery last Friday morning following services conducted by Rev. Tharp, pastor of the Methodist church. Besides his parents, he leaves three brothers, Bill, Ervin and Elmer, and a sister, Miss Lillian Lee to mourn his passing.

SPEAKING ON THE STREETS OF MEADOW SATURDAY

Rev. J. A. Gibson of the Meadow section was in to see us Saturday to get his Herald on the right side of the ledger. He informed us that he was still living at home and boarding at the same place.

He also asked us to announce that he will speak on the streets of Meadow Saturday afternoon, December 3rd on the subject, "Sowing and Reaping." Hour about 2:30 P. M.

Still A Cow Country As Well As Farming

Not so many years ago vast herds of white-faced cattle roamed at will over the great unbroken stretches of the South Plains. Now and then there loomed on the horizon the headquarters of a ranch with bunkhouse, sheds, corrals and a few patches of ground that had known the bite of the plow. The remainder was lush native grass. Gradually pioneers pushed their relentless way from all directions and more land was broken out to give way to the two kings: Cotton and Wheat. Row crops and other grains were found adaptable to the fertile soil and whimsical climate.

Terry County became self dubbed: "The last sand of the cattleman and the future home of the most prosperous Farmers in the United States." Cows styeed on at the scattered ranches, grazed on the native grass and fattened for market on home-grown feeds. Rightly enough, in times of adversity these cattlemen managed to keep their heads above financial deep water and some even prospered. The farmers were able to live at home and board at the same place by virtue of meat in the smokehouse and in cans, row upon row of canned vegetables and fruits and plenty of the dried variety. The cash crops paid for clothes and taxes.

Now comes the William Randolph Hearst, Newspaper Syndicate with their cattle feeding project in Brownfield, represented locally by Leon Goodman of Midland, Texas. Thousands of head of cattle are to be fed out yearly on Terry county feedstuffs in pens located on the edge of the city limits. Outside of his manager he will employ local labor, thus giving Brownfield a year-round payroll. All materials for construction of the pens have been purchased from local merchants. The farmers will have a ready local market for their feed at fair prices, and the meager possibility of a bread line this winter seems vanished.

Merchants are elated, where before they carried long faces and a sour line of conversation. The pphesy is in a fair way of reaching near and complete fulfillment. If I were not a democrat, I would probably say, "Thank Thee, our Father Who Art in Washington!" But as is, I'll content myself with asking if you know how the election came out on November 8th?

—Oleta Campbell.

O. M. Minnix, of the Forrester community, was in last week with a bale of cotton and called to set his paper up two years.

Our old friend J. A. Forrester hollowed us out to the cotton wagon last week to get another dollar on subscription.

ALL CROP PRODUCTION LOANS MATURE NOV. 30, 1932

With only a few days left before maturity (November 30th) of the notes of the farmers who secured money from the Government Crop Production Loan Office to make this year's crop, this county is in very good shape. Many have paid their notes in full, or stored sufficient cotton on the 9-cent basis to fully satisfy their mortgages. Others have almost reached their goal and will before the due date, November 30th. Some have held their cotton, thinking that the price would go up and will now either sell and pay up or collateralize sufficient cotton to take care of their notes. This statement was made by the Field Inspector in this district, who is working in the county this week.

When November 30th arrives, this county will be up toward the top of the list for counties with similar soils and conditions. While all farm products have been low in price, the borrowers of Government money have shown resourcefulness in paying up. They are making every effort to protect their credit for another year.

It is certainly gratifying to see so many who have provided food and feed this year. Many have sufficient food and feed to go through the winter. Many will make their own meat and have fine turnip patches and winter collards. All agree that more time will be given next year to this—the most important part of farm operation. One farmer told us that he had the first winter garden that he had ever seen.

These are the things that the Field Inspector of the Crop Production Loan Office have encouraged, as well as the replanting of new crops through the year where others fail.

To those farmers who have found it a pretty tight squeeze to get their business straight with the Crop Production Loan Office by November 30th; you should get in touch with the Field Inspector, whose business it is to help you solve your problems, looking forward to being financed another year. He can always be reached through your bank or County Agent. Talk your problem over with him and do not let your affairs drag and thereby damage your future credit and rating, regardless of where you expect to borrow money for 1933. Act now—justify the confidence placed in you by your local committee when they recommended you for your loan this year.

Corn Borer Found In Lubbock County

First reported appearance of the Southwestern corn borer southwest of Lubbock, was made by S. C. Jones, of Sonora, an entomologist for the state extension service, who recently found the borer 22 miles southwest of Lubbock, near the Terry county line.

The borer was first reported on the high plains at Dalhart several years ago, Mr. Jones said. From there it spread into Oklahoma on the east and to Lubbock on the south. The pest also has spread to around Childress.

Spends Winter In Ground
"We do not know any way to control the spread of the Borer," Mr. Jones said. "We are working on it and have been for several years. The borer spends the winter at the base of the corn stalk, in the ground. It comes out at an adult moth in the spring. It kills the buds."

"Eggs are laid by the second generation of the borer, in the summer, at the base of the stalk."

Mr. Jones was enroue to Amarillo and other points in the Texas Panhandle. He expects to return to the South Plains for a further study of the corn borer he said.—Lubbock Avalanche.

G. W. Connell, head of the new organization said that the banks have been closely associated for many years, and with the feeling that one bank is sufficient for the needs of the city, the merger was brought about for economical reasons.

The Beer Question

There is no doubt at this time but what Franklin Roosevelt will be in the middle of a beer fight soon after his inauguration unless some form of beer bill is passed during the December or "lame duck" session.

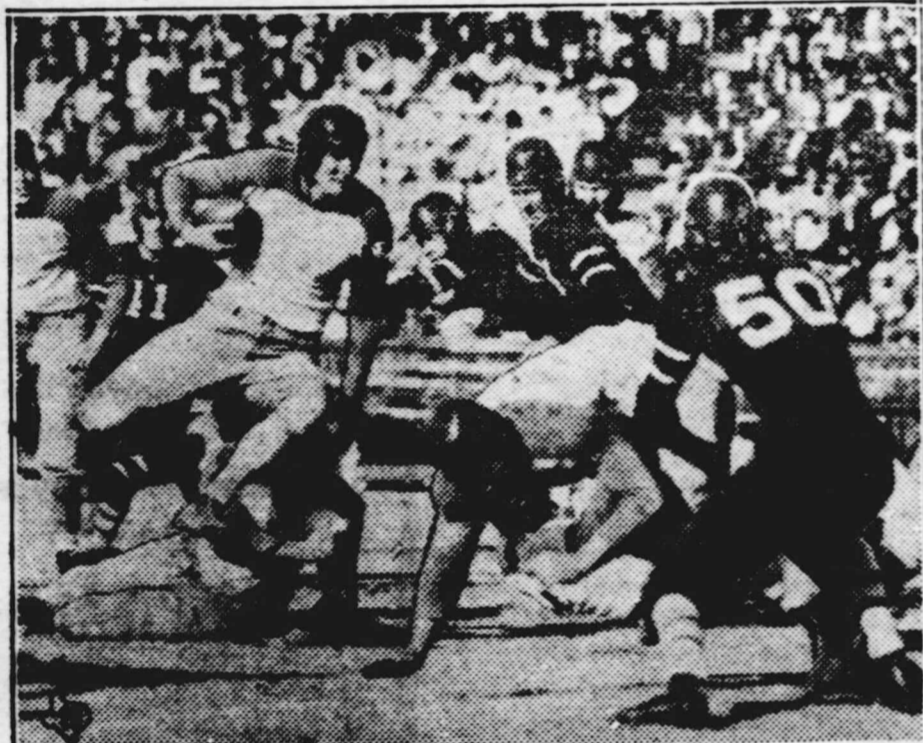

This fight for repeal may, if backed by enough money and purgent needs of the nation. The extreme east where the foreign born population is the heaviest, is wanting beer. The Pacific coast citizens would liketo have wine included because of the extra market that might accrue to the grape industry. The central portion of the nation is more interested in lifting the burden from the farm element. Three vital factors enter into the urgent appeal for repeal. First, the profit that might be made. Second, the financial influence brought to bear on lawmakers. Third, the rantings of "bucket shop" Cannon and the discrimination against one class of citizens in favor of the influential who have all along refused to recognize the 18th Amendment in any form.—Clarendon Leader.

DID WE LOSE, OR NOT?

Last spring, you know we wrote a little rhyme, Heading it political seed and shrubry at the time, To the voters we gave a lot of advice, And the way they voted suits us very nice.

We spoke of seed that long had laid in the ground, And some sprouts on the old stump should be cut down;

But many on the old stump had such a vigorous growth, They thought they should stand to shoot their branches forth.

But as we carefully looked them o'er we could see no yield, So we advised that they should be cut and thrown from the field;

But when thining time came and in the cycle we cast, We found 'twas quite a difficult task, so we let some pass.

For they all hollowed tax reduction and economical state affairs, But not much was said about a cut of the salaries o' theirs;

That they wouldn't want to cut-off much o' that, And this is what we want to now say,

That if we've lost the bet, we want to pay. But if we the wager, we have won, We guess we'll wear the old hat still some.

—W. J. Sullivan.

Another faithful old subscriber was R. L. Duckett of Wellman. He could not pay very far in advance now, but intimated that he might find some more money in a pig's track later.

We have took most of our space this week to tell about people who were renewing their papers. Well, this might not be good news to our readers, but it is doggone good reading to us.

Our faithful old friend, J. W. Spear called this week to renew for the Herald and Farm News. He informed us that Mrs. Spear was not having very good health this fall.

We've just finished unpacking crate after crate of new toys for Christmas. And the first thing we want you to do is to come in and see the largest selection of toys we have ever assembled. ## RED GOOSE The Ojibwa

(Synopsis)

Following the attack on Fort Ridgley by the bad Sioux Indians, in which little Red Goose, son of the good Ojibwa Chieftan, played such a prominent part by riding out alone for help. Captain Roberts was put in command of the stronghold. He sent for Red Eagle and his brave son and asked them to become Indian Scouts for the Fort. Betty, the Captain's pretty daughter, met Red Goose for the first time, and he asked her to take a ride with him on his poney, Spot-on-tail.

Red Goose led Betty to the place where his fleet-footed Indian pony, Spot-on-tail, was grazing. It was one of those clear days without a single cloud in the sky, and Betty was happier than she had been since she came to Fort Ridgley with her father, Captain Roberts.

"Oh, what a perfectly handsome pony!" she said, running over quickly and throwing her arms around the neck of "Spot-on-tail." "And just think!—this is the very pony that you rode when you saved this Fort from the Sioux Indians!"

"Spot-on-Tail good Indian pony. Him do his duty, like Red Goose."

"Can we ride on him together?"

"Red Goose and Betty, both ride on Spot-on-Tail—same time. You see."

"Where shall we go?"

"Where Betty like to go?"

"Oh, I know! Let's ride down to the river. It's only two miles."

So Red Goose threw a blanket on

"Red Goose Discovers the Prairie Fire"

Spot-on-Tail, and after helping Betty to get on, he slipped on behind her and off they started.

"Where are you going, Miss Betty?" asked a sentry as they were about to ride through the gate.

"We're going to ride down to the river and back. It's all right, isn't it?" asked Betty.

"It's all right as long as you are with Red Goose. He'll take good care of you," was the reply.

"Shee-sheeb take good care of pale face squawno worry," said Red Goose as they turned toward the river and Spot-on-Tail began to go faster and faster.

"What does Shee-sheeb mean?" asked Betty, holding on tight—her eyes shining with happiness and excitement.

"Shee-Sheeb Indian name—mean Red Goose in white tongue."

"I like Red Goose better."

"Red Goose think "Betty" pretty name, too."

And so the happy children rode to the river where they dismounted and let Spot-on-Tail graze, while they watched the chipmunks and beavers busy at their work.

Suddenly Betty looked up, startled and cried, "Red Goose! I smell smoke!"

Red Goose climbed up a nearby tree and came down looking very serious indeed.

"Is it the Fort?" asked Betty. "No—Big fire on prairie—come this way—we must ride fast."

But when they turned to look for Spot-on-Tail, they found he too had become frightened and had run away, leaving them out on the prairie with no way of getting back to the Fort before the fire reached them.

Official paper of Terry County.

We have had notice this week from headquarters that next Sunday will be known as Bible Sunday. We are glad to give this item some publicity, but will just add that the world would be much better off if every Sunday—every day of the week—were Bible Sunday and Bible Day.

Dick Hyatt, of the Ralls Banner has taken over the publication of the Texas Spur from the McClure Bros. Whether he aims to issue both papers from the same office, we did not learn, but anyway, Dick is going to be on the jump issuing two papers, and may have to act quite like those famous Jack rabbits that play football over there. Anyway Dick is some runaround and we'll bet he makes the venture a go.

In his column which he designates "The Plainsman" each day in the Lubbock Journal, that Guy that conducts it, slyly intimated this week that he was kinder after the position of Postmaster Vaughn up there, suggesting "to the victors goes the spoils of war." But, if we are not mistaken, Mr. Guy jumped the ticket four years ago, and Al Smith is going to have some say in handing out pie. Yes, sir, Mr. Plainsman, this is going to be one time that the brass collars are going to shine like new money up at Washington.

Again, Jim Ferguson has proven beyond doubt that he is the friend of the "common herd." He has tied up highway building for possibly two months in the coldest part of the year when it may mean meat and bread to thousands of poor men and their families. It will not very badly hurt the man of means—they'll get by. It will mean the loss of thousands of dollars to Terry county farmers, perhaps, right when they need it, and it was done just to gratify Jim's personal ambitions to "handle much money."

According to what is given out by Jno. N. Garner, there will be more action for the relief of the people and less said about who'll sit next the president at banquets during the next administration. There will be no Dolly Ganns-Alice Longworth fusses over who's who at the tables. Then it is a well known fact that Franklin D. Roosevelt is a man of the people and loves to talk to the real people who compose and make America what it is. It was said that during his campaign he was often found talking with the farmers or the train crew that were pulling his train.

A judge usually has his battles of words with the gentleman of the bar, but a west Texas judge got into a real fight for his life this week with a real buck deer that got hung in a wire fence, and which the kindly judge helped to extricate. But the beast did not seem to appreciate the service rendered him, and turned on his Good Samaritan with lowered antlers, and only the arrival of another man saved his life. Lots of people are also learning that it is not safe to give a man a lift along our highways. What was it the scriptures say about feeding swine to have them turn and rend you?

Thanksgiving was sure a quiet affair in Brownfield. A great many of the people of course journeyed to Floydada to see the Cubs give that football team the goose egg, while other went hunting, or spent the day at home with the family. Of course the Herald had to go on with press day, but when we returned to town after lunch, there was three cars parked on the north side and none on the west or south side. It gave every appearance of being the "Deserted Village" so aptly described by one of our great novelists, Washington Irving or maybe it was Goldsmith. Anyway, it was written.

It is not known just how they find it out, but it is an amazing fact anyway that mail order houses do find out when local merchants get delinquent in their advertising. Of course they have reporters to tell them, but who these reporters are is a supreme secret in the town where they reside. The heads of mail order houses are business men from the jump go, and they know as well as you know that it will not pay them to go to any great expense in sending a lot of expensive catalogues into a town where the local merchants are live wires, because they can't get the business. On the other hand, when the local merchants rest on their oars and propose to take things easy, it is them that the mail order house flood that section with their advertising and get the business, too, or a lot of it. Indeed, what they get would pay the advertising bill of every merchant in a small town for years.

FIVE DOLLAR BILL MAKES ITS APPEAL

I am a five dollar bill, I was born in Washington in the U. S. mint. Uncle Sam created me in order that I might serve his people. Let me tell you my first duty. It is circulation. I am supposed to go from one place to another to meet obligations of my fellowman. There are a great many of us. Some of smaller, others of larger denominations. But our purpose is the same. It matters not how long I remain in your community, so long as you grant me a visit from one individual to another. About the worst you can do to me is to pack me away under a mattress or bury me in the ground. I like to stay in your town, especially in times like these. If you keep me going, I will make many of you happy and you will feel my going sadly. You know I am really happy right here if I can have company with a few others of my kind. I can tickle your pocket for awhile and then go over to your neighbor and tickle his. It's lots of fun. But when you send me off to a big town, they slip me into a huge sum and sock us into a vault. We then do our circulating enmass. I never see daylight for a long time. The big boys keep me chocked up.

Only Flag to Fly Over Both Poles

Here is the only flag to fly over both the north and south Poles. George Hamilton Black, supply officer on both polar expeditions headed by Commander Richard E. Byrd, is shown presenting this flag to D. Harold Byrd, of Dallas, cousin of the commander. Black had Byrd carry the flag to both poles for him.

Let me stay with you. I'm worth a thousand dollars to your town, because I am able to aggregate that amount by constantly changing hands among you. The birth rate among us has dwindled down to almost nothing, and the constant hoarding has made me the more valuable. I'm in your pocket now and don't belong to you. Send men over to Jim and square up with him. He will pass me along to John who is anxious to settle with Frank who needs a few groceries from Henry. Henry is so anxious to apply me on his doctor's account. Old "Doc" wants to wipe out the red in the bank. The cashier will again slip me to some one who wants a new pair of shoes. This man pays me to the farmer for a calf. See how it works? There are quite a few of us in your community. We can do much to bring back good time if you handle us intelligently. The moral: Keep your money at home and keep it in circulation.—Flatonian Argus.

MUST RIDE IN COFFIN

St. Louis, Nov.—Because he bet on President Hoover, R. E. Liebner must ride in a coffin in a procession through the brewery district in south St. Louis Sunday afternoon. Albert Kimmerie with whom Liebner made the wager, will walk behind the brewery wagon in the role of chief mourner.

ALIAS CITATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Terry County, Greeting:
You Are Hereby Commanded to

UVALDE, Texas.—Realizing the success of this year's sale of Christmas Seals is more imperative, perhaps, than it has ever been before, Vice-President-elect John N. Garner opened the 28th annual campaign in Texas by making the first purchase, with his nine-year-old granddaughter, Genevieve Garner, having the honor of making the first sale.
Relative to this important work, Mr. Garner had this to say in part: "Knowing the great work done by the tuberculosis organizations of the United States during the past quarter of a century, through whose efforts the saving of thousands of lives a year is accomplished, I urge every citizen to make his contribution, large or small, through the purchase of Christmas Seals. I know of no more worthy cause than the support of the annual Seal Sale, through which the work of these organizations is made possible."
The records of the Texas Tuberculosis Association show that Mr. Garner has purchased Christmas Seals annually for many years.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Taken from the Herald of December 3, 1909.

In our issue of December 4, 1909, we take the following from the Harris items: Judge Tucker has accepted a position windmilling with the T—outfit. Finnis Zinn of Yoakum county, has returned from a visit to Stanton. Mr. Williams and Charley Baker were off on a trip to New Mexico. The section was full of deer hunters, but little game was found. A singing was enjoyed at W. H. Harris home. Bro. Simms was off to Mexico with the other boys, he announced.

A letter from Uncle Jack Coble appears on the first page, in which he sang the praises of Terry. Uncle Jack announced that he was born and raised in North Carolina, and went as far north at Gettysburg with the Army of Virginia. Had come to Texas after the war, settling in Titus county, and from there on to Jack county, then Floyd and Terry. He had been as far west as Roswell, but for a dependable and sure farming country, he announced that he had as soon risk Terry as any place he had ever seen. Sounds like prophesy now, doesn't it? R. M. Ellerd of Plainview, had announced as a candidate for the office of District Attorney of the old 36th district, which included the whole south plains section at that time. Terry had received a big rain, which was said to be the best in two years, and were healed for sod and other land breaking.

J. Cross Items—For the benefit of new comers will explain that the J Cross community was out about where Happy is now, and was named for the old J. Cross ranch. H. L. Ware and I. H. Hudson were in the community gathering cattle. Coral woodard and Mr. Alston had finished a well for N. B. Holland. Mr. Wilkins had moved into the home he had recently purchased from D. Y. Blanton. Their school was being taught by Mrs. Brooks, of Gomez. J. M. Currier and wife had returned from a visit to Plainview. Meadow School Notes: A number of Meadowites had visited the Lakeview school to attend the Literary. Hale's Arabian Nights, were being used in the Meadow school for supplementary reading. Miss Geers of Fort Worth, was visiting her sister, Mrs. J. W. Peeler. Miss Lucie Gerren was convalescing from being thrown from a cutting horse while after some range horses. G. W. Howard had established a land office at Meadow. Sheriff Geo. E. Tiernan was serving notice in this issue that the grand jury had warned that citizens could have but one brand, and that it must be recorded.

Luther French and the editor had spent the night out at the Jno. Powell ranch and enjoyed some good eats, including all the 45c eggs we wanted. We used most anything for news in those good old days. For instance we told about Jim Lewis and J. M. (Beefy) Johnson dirtying Ed Ellis' back in a wrestling match. Rev. Victor Trammel had come in to take charge of the Methodist church, and as he was a former cowboy, we announced that he ought to mix well here. Walter Groves was in town. Mrs. Arthur Alexander was on the sick list. J. O. Jones was in from the ranch on business. The Maids and Matrons club were to put on a Christmas play. Mrs. J. R. Hill was the recipient of a new piano. R. J. Heflin had rented his farm and moved to Spur. Earl Hill had killed a deer over in the sandhills. The Herald had been so crowded with job work that it had to get an extra hand for a few days. E. M. Cook of No. 3, was visiting his mother here. C. V. Harris, of west

Pyeatt was in from the farm near Harris, and reported that his good lady raised lots of chickens. The Trustees had promised to fence the school grounds so that trees could be planted. Cattle ran over the town-section in those good old days. Jim Burnett had started breaking his land. The Brownfield State Bank had also presented us with a nice calendar. H. L. Hunter of the Dumas community came in with some nice cabbage, yams and country butter for sale. John Burnett had threatened to take his Market ad out if we did not report his comings and goings. We offered a cigar to the man who could tell us where he had been the week before. J. F. Winston had just come in from the old home in Rosenberg, and announced that his family would be in Brownfield in a few days. He had bought the B. F. Nix residence. Happy Hooligan, was new correspondent. Frank Rather was able to be up after a short illness. An ad was carried for the Blue Front Lont Star Store, which was run by Uncle Tom Holley. It ended rather peculiar, with the following words: "Yours in life till eternity, T. A. Holley." All for this week.

CAST NOW AT WORK ON "SOUND YOUR HORN"

The selection of a cast for the comedy "Sound Your Horn," which will be presented by local talent on December 13th, has been made and the east is hard at work. The play is to be given under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association and the proceeds will go to the school piano and for other worthy school objects.

That is a new play, and promises to be one of the best local talent plays that has ever been given in Brownfield. Every character is a real character. The cast will be as follows:

Miss Lenore Brownfield and Mrs. Roy Ballard will take the parts of Phyllis and Drusilla, two flapper girls whose main interest in life is helping run every one else's business. Mrs. E. G. Akers will play the role of Etta Lamb, the waitress in the refreshment stand. Etta is a whole comedy by herself. Playing opposite her is James Michie, who takes the part of Homer Bird, employee of the Empire Bottling Works.

Mrs. Homer Winston will play the role of Mrs. Van Dyke, a self-made millionairess. You can't afford to miss the comedy which takes place between Mrs. Van Dyke and her attorney, Mr. Angus. The Attorney will be played by James Harley Dallas.

Mrs. Clyde Cave plays the part of Christine Elliott, the young woman who is fighting for her rights, and who finally outwits the entire group. Playing opposite her will be M. L. Penn, taking the part of Theodore Webster, nephew of Mrs. Van Dyke. Mrs. Vonelle Williams will play the role of Diane Webster, the rather snobby and yet likable niece of Mrs. Van Dyke.

Orian Dennis takes the role of Mr. Beasley, the care takes of the vast Van Dyke estate.

The play is under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Penn. Watch for further announcements, and don't miss "Sound Your Horn!"

Cubs Beat Floydada 19-0

The Cubs opened a second half drive, after being held scoreless the first half, to score three touchdowns.

Floydada chose to receive. After a return of ten yards on the kick-off, Floydada made two first downs on line plays. After an exchange of punts, Floydada had the first and only opportunity to score. After a series of line plays, passed into the end zone. The quarter ended after several exchanges of punts.

Floydada opened the second quarter with lots of power and drive, but failed to make yardage after passing midfield. The Cubs opened up once and went to the four yard line. Here Floydada held like a brick wall and the ball went over on downs. The rest of the second quarter was played in mid-field with both teams trying for an advantage.

Floydada received at the half, but failed to make any headway. After an exchange of punts the Cubs gained possession of the ball on Floydada's 40 yard line. On four plays they went for a touchdown. The try for goal was no good.

Floydada received and after no gain kicked to the Cubs. An exchange of punts and again the Cubs went for a touchdown. Scoring on a tackle around with the ball. The try for goal was blocked.

Floydada received but failed to gain. After an exchange of punts the quarter ended.

Early in the fourth quarter the Cubs again went through and around Floydada for the final score. Try for point was good.

Floydada received but failed to gain. Pass after pass was hurled, but to no receiver. The game ended with many substitutes going in for both sides. Score Cubs 19, Floydada 0.

Pep Squad

The Pep Squad made a journey to Floydada last Thursday, November 24th, Thanksgiving Day, to help the boys win the Floydada-Brownfield game, and sure enough they did. The forty girls all went in a large bus over there and back. Each girl took her lunch and ate, the other side of Ralls. Everybody reported a good time.

Ex-Graduates Of '32

Otis Spear, who won second in essay writing in Texas, visited Mr. and Mrs. Alewine over the week end. They are always glad to see our ex-students back in Brownfield. Otis is planning on going to Tech after Christmas.

Stephen Brock, another of our graduates who is not going to college is now a clerk in the Clyde Lewis Dry Goods Co.

Wilburn Bryan is foreman of a ranch in New Mexico.

Lucille Burnett, Janet Brown, Annie Lee Brown, Mary Handley Endersen and Marjorie Moore are all at home; some planning to go to college after Christmas.

Louisa May Alcott

"Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy!" Is there a girl in the whole, wide, wonderful world who doesn't know who the March girls are? Surely not.

Only recently the authorized publishers of Little Women, of Meg, Jo, Beth and Amy, as it is sometimes called, reported the sale of over one million five hundred thousand copies of this book in the United States alone. Indeed it would be hard to tell how many people have read "Little Women." Some experience the joy of it when they are very young; others don't discover it until they are almost grown up.

If Louisa Alcott had written a thousand books—and she did write many others—surely none could have given as much pleasure to millions of young people as her story of the March Girls has.

For this alone, the one hundredth anniversary of her birth this year should be gloriously commemorated.

And I hope every one of you who read this will pay tribute to her in some manner, in your schools, in your clubs, or in other places, on November 29th, the day on which she was born in 1832.

After the program, we had some time left, and Mr. Penn gave us some new "ideas" for our museum. The club is taking more interest all time and is planning on their program for chapel, December 8, 1932.

Billie Stepp's father was a garage-man. One day he came to his mother and said: "Mother something is wrong with our cat." He took his mother into the other room where the cat was sleeping and purring contently. Billie said, "See! The cat has gone to sleep and left her engine running."

TOKIO

Last Tuesday morning the community was saddened to learn of the death of little James Calvin Sappenfield. The two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sappenfield had undergone treatment in Brownfield and Lubbock for a serious spinal trouble and he had been sinking for several days. The sympathy of the people of the community goes out to the family in their bereavement. Funeral services, in charge of Mr. W. B. Elmore were held in the Plains cemetery where interment was made, on Wednesday afternoon.

An interesting and inspiring Thanksgiving program was given in the local Baptist church Thursday evening. Extemporaneous speeches were given by Mr. Norman Lovelace, Mr. Luther Hobbs, Miss Pearl Rushing, Mr. Jewel Key and readings were given by children of the community. Miss Pearl Rushing, very capable church worker and leader, was in charge of the program.

Miss Capitola Hobbs, who is attending Wayland College at Plainview visited her home in Tokio during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Quite a number of Tokio people were present in Turner Thursday evening for the Thanksgiving services, a feature of which was the sermon by Mrs. B. M. Wade, pastor of the Tokio church of the Nazarene.

It is estimated that between thirteen and fourteen hundred bales of cotton have been harvested during the present season for this particular section. This is taking into consideration figures obtained from the local gin and the number which is estimated have been taken to the Farmer's Co-operative Gin and others in Brownfield.

The Sunday school of the Nazarene church was well attended Sunday afternoon.

We understand that Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Taylor are greatly improved after an illness attack which kept them in for some time.

Last Wednesday evening the prayer meeting of the Nazarene church was of special Thanksgiving significance with Biblical character outlines by those in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Head visited in Tokio Sunday afternoon.

It is reported to the correspondent that last Thursday Mr. Dave Blevins and Miss Jewel Hobbs, Mr. Loyd Hobbs and a young lady whose name we failed to get, motored to Lovington, New Mexico, where they were the principal characters in a double wedding. As these are all prominent local people we take this method of extending congratulations.

A number of local people were present at the singing convention at Stanford Valley Sunday.

Mrs. C. V. Brown dropped in one day last week to renew for their Herald.

A great many people from here attended court at Lamesa this week as the Bonds case was up.

Our joy relief from campaign oratory is somewhat abated by the thought that Congress must meet next month.

Worst Weevil Plague Faces 1933 Cotton

New Orleans, La., Nov. 23.—The worst boll weevil infestation in history threatens next year's cotton crop, it was announced by the American Cotton Co-operative Association here today.

It was found that 69.9 per cent of the cotton squares in the field at the end of picking time this season were punctured by the pests. This was an increase of 50 per cent over last fall's figure and 25 per cent above the fall of 1928, when infestations were the highest of any year for which comparable records were available.

The data was obtained from 7,000 reporting members of the A. C. C. A. and forecast another short crop for 1933.

In estimating likely weevil damage A. C. C. A. experts said the number of weevils entering hibernation was the first consideration. Weather during June and July is another factor, as is extent of the use of fertilizer. Sales of fertilizer were less this year than in any of the three worst weevil years, because growers did not have the money to spend for it the report said.

The limits of the weevil territory also have been extended, according to the report. Even Virginia, free from weevil until recently, reported 18 per cent infestation. In Texas the weevil has pushed westward by an average of two tiers of counties this season practically carrying the line of infestation to the foot of the high plains including the counties of Wichita, Baylor, Scurry, Mitchell, Iron, Schleicher, Sutton and Edwards.

"Another important extension has carried the weevils to Northeastern Arkansas, including Mississippi County, world's champion cotton growing area," the report said.

Mississippi's infestation was given at 95 per cent and Georgia's 91 per cent.

Our friend, J. T. Pippin, of Tokio, was a pleasant caller at the Herald office one day last week.

We wonder what sort of place heaven would be if professional reformers could plan it.

Postmasters Terms Come Under Investigation

According to information received by the Leader the week, the House will be asked to conduct an investigation during the December session to determine whether President Hoover "juggled" the terms of postmasters in order to keep them in office during the coming Democratic administration.

Representative Parks of Arkansas who will demand such an investigation, said he had received reports that postmasters have been appointed acting postmasters and allowed to remain as such for two years before they were appointed postmasters for the regular four year term. This would result in a number of postmasters remaining in office until 1934, 1935 and 1936, Parks said.—Clarendon Leader.

Several Santa Claus letters received late will be run next week.

Answer to "Beer by Xmas" Threat

The W. C. T. U., spurred by the tremendous Democratic wet landslide, has erected signs like this one all over Texas preparatory to a finish fight to save the 18th Amendment. "We are going to launch a statewide educational campaign," said Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth, district president, "alho I don't think the dries have anything to fear."

Where Three Hunters Met Death

Here is a view of the salt marshes south of Port Arthur and Beaumont, where three hunters have died of cold and exposure and two others have been found unconscious while the duck hunting season was barley three days old. The thick marsh grass is almost impassable in places, and a cold wave caught the hunters in the middle of the swamp, unprepared.

CHALLIS CHATS

The farmers are all still busy gathering their cotton and if this pretty weather continues, we believe the most of the cotton or all of it will be gathered in another two weeks.

Legions Enemies

An organization known as the National Economic League is spending $35,000 per hour over the radio broadcasting stations telling the folks that the Legionists are attempting to wreck the financial standing of the government in asking for adjusted compensation.

Over five hundred thousand dollars is said to have been spent by the League for the dissemination of information calculated to react against the ex-soldier. Why is this League so patriotic (?) in behalf of the national treasury? Possibly because the soldier pay would be scattered over the nation instead of being left on deposit with rich banking interests in the east. And there are many other reasons just as selfish—Clarendon Leader.

Crosbyton—Con Parrish, cotton farmer west of town, purchased 12 new cotton harvesters.

McCamey—Acme Cleaners and Dyers to enlarge present quarters.

The words "Find check enclosed" are entirely superfluous if the check is really in there.

BROWNFIELD TO BE CHOSEN FOR FEEDING CATTLE

Brownfield gets the Hearst-Goodman cattle feeding project.

Instead of starting with 4,000 head as originally wired Goodman Saturday asking him to start with 6,000 head of yearling steers. The Midland man agreed to the increase.

Work on the feed pens at Brownfield will start Monday. Cattle shipments from the Babicora ranch at Madera, Chihuahua, Mexico, will start probably next Saturday.

Goodman will make an initial purchase of 20,000 tons of corn and hegarri. He gets corn and hegarri at about half the price Midland farmers felt they were able to sell without loss.

The Midland man bought a feed mill Saturday which will hammer up 7 1/2 to 10 tons of feed per hour. He will ship salt and minerals to Brownfield by the carload as well as several carloads of cottonseed products.

The big project developed by the Midland cattleman with the Hearst cattle interests has already attracted wide interest in West Texas. Requests were received Saturday from newspapers in West Texas for additional data on the project. Newspaper men interested in the breeder-feeder movement see in the gigantic feeding program a partial solution of the over-production of feed in West Texas, and a possible opportunity for the farmer to raise still less cotton and more feedstuffs.

J. E. McDonald, state commissioner, of agriculture, has learned of the feeding program and wrote that the state department of agriculture was deeply interested in the project.—Midland Reporter.

NEW ENVELOPE CONTRACT AWARDED

Postmaster General, Walter F. Brown, has awarded to the International Envelope Corporation, New York, the contract for furnishing 9,539,183,000 stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers for the post-office department for the four years commencing January 1, 1933. The contract amounts to $11,531,141.

The "International," which holds the present contract, has a printing plant at Dayton, O. Last year a total of $1,078,000,000 plain stamped envelopes were sold by the postoffice department and 1,756,000,000 envelopes with a printed return card.—N. E. A. Bulletin.

AMERICA NOT COCK-EYED OVER COMMUNISM

Col. Maco Stewart of Galveston delivered himself of a hot address before the annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Indeed, the colonel made vigorous denunciation of "activities of communistic organizations on the campus of the University of Texas." He made the additional charge "that the communists were responsible for the defeat of a bill in the 42nd legislature to make syndicalism a criminal offense." Dr. C. P. Patterson is a government professor at the University of Texas. He is a very level-headed and well-poised American. He reviewed the Stewart address, and in conclusion he placed this in the record: "Youth is pretty idealistic and likely be tho't by an older generation crooks and a few names like that. Youth in every generation at every college has gathered in small meetings and surreptitiously preached communistic doctrines. Then the members of this group go out into the world to earn their living and find themselves so busy they have not any longer to worry about whether the world owes them a living or not." Very direct and to the point. American communists had national standard-bearers in the field. The showing that they made in the grand round-up for ballots was a reminder that communists qualified to cast ballots are as scarce in the republic as the visit of angels from the world invisible. All of which reminded the well-poised and well-informed university professor that "America is not particularly cock-eyed over communism." Let it go at that. Socialism showed a slump; communism showed a slump in the nation-wide balloting. This is not all: ten million Americans qualified to vote, according to registration figures, boycotted the polls November election day. They were too lazy or too indifferent or too timid to cast ballots in the great presidential classic sweepstakes race.—Cleburne Times-Review.

FAINTED OR MERELY TAKING A NAP

B. B. Barnes the county clerk had an especially lucrative day of business at the office one day this week which the proceeds were over sixty dollars, most of which were bills. At closing time the money was placed in an open cigar box and set in the vault. Next morning when Mr. Barnes went to get his money he found the mouse lying on top of the bills and to all appearances, Mr. Mouse had expired during the night. Mr. Barnes very gingerly picked him up by the tail to consign him to his last resting place when Mr. Mouse slowly began to move first one foot then the other and soon was kicking about his surroundings. Mr. Barnes is still wondering if it was a depression mouse and the sight of so much money caused him to faint, or if he merely found a soft bed and was just taking a nap.—Tatum Courier.

CONDITIONS ELSEWHERE

Eliza White Sr., one of the veteran sheep men and cattlemen of eastern New Mexico who has seen life on the range in all of its phases and under all conditions, is convinced that things might be worse.

In proof of his assertion, Mr. White submits a statement from Perth, Australia which tells how the sheep growers of northwestern Australia are destroying their sheep after shearing them because they are unable to get as much as 12 cents each for them in the markets.

The statement further says growers of sheep in this particular district of Australia get what they can for the wool which is far less than the poorer grade of cotton is bringing in the United States. The animals are killed because growers cannot stand the expense of keeping them.—Roswell Dispatch.
