

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

From our issue of April 23, 1910, we find that the Primrose correspondent reported a fine rain. That Lee Cowan had been on the sick list, and that school was progressing nicely, and they were aiming to have a "big to-do" at the school house.

On the second page, we find that Rev. Victor Trammel had returned from the north plains with a bride, the former Miss Essie Elam. Practically all the business men had endorsed the First Saturday Tradesday.

Local page: Madie Brooks was improving from an illness. Neill H. Biggs was over from Yoakum county. Billie Bryant and Douglas Day were in from the Groves community.

Jack Hawley was here from Canyon selling lightning rods (imagine). W. L. Allen was in from Glen Park. Jake Johnston was dispensing Watkins remedies.

Judge Tucker had sold his land in Yoakum county to Arch McPhaul. W. J. Luna and Fred Peyatt of Plains, passed through to Lubbock.

On the back page was an article too long to reproduce, about Count Zeppelin, of Germany, who was the father of the present airships.

Momer Winston and Jack Hart are off on a fishing trip to the Pecos. These boys generally get the fish when they go after them.

Wellman News

The spring revival closed Sunday evening. Mrs. W. B. Helms was received as a new member. Many were helped by the revival.

See Cars Put Together At Progress Exposition

Installation of equipment for the assembly of automobile at "A Century of Progress Exposition" at Chicago has already been started by the Chevrolet Motor Company, W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, announced today.

Complete installation will be affected well in advance of the scheduled opening of the 1933 World's Fair around June 1, assuring visitors that they will be able to see an automobile built up from the bare frame to the completed car.

A balcony seven feet above the assembly line, and erected in circular form so that visitors may walk completely around the line and watch every operation in the building of a modern automobile has been provided.

TEXAS JOBLESS AWAIT 'ORDERS' FROM CAPITOL

Waco, April—Enrollment in the Roosevelt Reforestation project probably will begin in Dallas the latter part of next week, Lawrence Westbrook, Texas relief director, said here tonight.

Relief directors from Southern states, none of which have yet received authorization to go ahead with enrollment, will meet in Washington, Tuesday night to receive instructions, he said.

Authority Held Back It will be after that meeting before authority will be given any of the southern states to accept applications.

Westbrook, who has been to Washington, said he has his instructions but will not carry them out until he receives authority from the capitol. Between 11,000 and 12,000 men will be the quota from Texas.

Governor Mariah Ferguson is expected to issue a statement relative to the work as soon as enlistment is authorized from Washington, Westbrook said.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kirksey, a son on the 17th. Weight 7 pounds.

John Burnett handed in the coin last week to keep his Herald coming. John drew the $20 last first Monday.

F. M. Ellington and little son, of the Tokio community, were in Monday after supplies.

Some of the indications of better times is that wheat is higher than it has been in two years, and cotton is up $3 per bale in the past three weeks. Corn and oats are also following in the rising tide, not to mention livestock.

AVOID THESE DRIVERS

Sensible motorists who desire to keep alive and well can help themselves tremendously in this ambition by more closely scrutinizing the drivers of other cars on the highways, especially those proceeding in the same direction, said T. W. Palmer, expert student of the traffic accident situation and an official of a company that makes brake linings, in a lecture recently.

"We don't pay half enough attention to the drivers who share the roads with us. Yet no study will produce greater dividends in safety and in knowledge of the type of drivers and driving to avoid. We should not, of course, keep our eyes on other cars sufficiently to interfere with our own driving, but a little practice will enable us to size up other motorists quickly and advantageously." The types of drivers which Mr. Palmer says are a deadly menace, may be easily spotted, which makes it possible to give them a wide berth, which are as follows:

1—The weaver—the real road hog—who cannot hold his place in line no matter how fast the traffic is moving but must show what a smart alex he is by weaving in and out and causing countless accidents by passing other cars, regardless of the danger to himself and others.

2—The driver who loafs along until you try to pass him, then speeds up. This moron usually pulls his stunts on hills or curves. Shun him.

3—Avoid all drivers with untidy looking cars. The roads are infested with thousands of old ramshackle vehicles with dangerously worn brake linings, steering gears and tires, with countless comparatively new cars with brakes that need adjustment.

Most of such cars cannot be stopped within a city block in an emergency, and are daily bringing misery and expense thru the accidents they cause. A man who pays no attention to the outside looks of his car is unlikely to spend much time on the upkeep of its running gear. Detour around all shabby looking vehicles.

4—The drunk. He's hard to recognize until after he has done his damage, especially at night.

5—The woman who gives no thought to those behind her, wobbles all over the road, makes sudden unorthodox turns, tangles up all traffic in her train and go blithly on her way. Instead of widely quoted statements that women are better drivers than men, it isn't true, and this lady is one of the profs.

6—The slow poke in the middle of the road. He is a throw back to a more leisurely and less efficient age. Pass him when it is entirely safe and leave him to the profanity of others behind him.

7—The petter with his arms around a girl. He can't give proper attention to his driving and to his amatory problems at the same time, and is not intelligent enough to be either a safe motorist or a satisfactory husband.

THEY'RE NOT READY— THAT'S ALL

T. E. Johnson, in his "Plain Speaking" column in the Amarillo News-Globelast Sunday, did some plain talking about the present legislature. He called them, in effect, a bunch of loafers who have drawn their $10 a day (except the little handful who stood by their efforts to reduce expenses and refused to accept $10 a day) for the past three months, and have accomplished nothing worthy of a body of men who represent 5,000,000 people.

But let's not forget that each representative district and each senatorial district elected its own men. Not that the whole group seems to average up alike—not a great deal of difference in them. It appears that the fault-finding should be directed at the choosers rather than at the chosen. Whenever the voters of Texas make up their minds that they want less expensive government in Texas, they will elect men to the legislature that are pledged to an adequate reduction. Some day a Governor will be elected who will have the qualities of leadership that can weld and unify a legislature into a legislative body worthy the name. But it will not happen until Texas voters are ready for it.—Clarendon News.

State Scholastic Fund Will Not Be Cut—Supr

Austin, April—L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction today announced that the $6 per capita scholastic apportionment allotted to schools for the 1932-33 school year would be paid in full. Woods said there had been some misunderstanding of a questionnaire sent out by the department of education and that school authorities has construed the questionnaire to indicate all of the apportionment of $8 per student.

"I cannot tell when it will be paid for it may be December or January before the revenue comes into the state treasury, but every dollar promised will be given to the schools," Woods stated.

A GILA MONSTER

John Easton, who is operating a truck line between here and Los Angeles, brought in a mammoth gila monster the first of the week, on his return from California, which he picked up on the desert country in western Arizona. Easton said he intended to turn it over to the city zoologist at Clovis.—State Line Tribune.
