Former Governor Pat M. Neff, the new President of Baylor University, is to preach the Commencement sermon for Texas Christian University.
As the world goes on, it seems at least to grow a bit more tolerant.

Some of the big utilities are great advertisers when it comes to patronizing the dailies and college paper.
They get a good ad all the time and occasionally a page spread. The little county "weekly" must be content with a little four inch ad weekly.
One of these days these "weakies" are going to wake up and demand a square deal.

The Hon. J. P. Morgan of big bank fame, is now undergoing a good stiff grilling at Washington by the authorities and powers that be. It is a mighty bad time for the idle rich to say, "the public be damned." It just wouldn't set well with the folks in the saddle at Washington.

The Methodist Episcopal Church South announce that their publishing house at Nashville, Tenn., showed a clear loss of several thousand dollars the past year, for perhaps the first time in history. In order to solace them, the Herald might explain that while their losses may not have run into five figures, there are a lot of publishers in the same boat with them. Come to Terry.

What is the poor editor to do. As times go on the fuller and fuller becomes his waste basket, filled to the brim with hundreds of letters and circulars demanding publicity, FREE of course, that he never has time to even open, much less read. And, many of them are as clear as mud to the average country editor. One set of oil men will say they believe the other side are thieves and liars, and the next day a sack full of mail comes from the "other" saying they know the party of the first part are thieves and liars. Whata life! whata life!

Well, the good old U. S. A. has at last elected a man to fill the White House that is a real President, spelled with a capital "P." Also, Franklin D. Roosevelt is a Chief Executive in spirit as well as in name. No man either at Washington or Wall Street has any strings on the man that now rules the roost at Washington. When he asks for further power, Congress runs all over itself to grant his wishes. And do you reckon the people of Europe are having just a bit of a dry laugh at our expense. We have always bragged that we detested the dictator as per Mr. Hitler and per Mr. Mussolini.
But perhaps, after all, the U. S. A. needed a dictator at this time as badly as Italy and Germany when the above men were introduced into power in Europe.

A great many of our editor friends are now busy writing dry editorials, and some of them we know write as dry as Sahara and drink as wet as the Atlantic when they cross the border into old Mexico. The Herald is also aware of the fact that there are a great many members of the fourth estate that are teetottlers, while some are bandstanding at home for the benefit of their pastors and other ministers of the town. The Herald believes that everyone should be just what he is at all times, and stand for his convictions whether he be a wet or dry. In fact we take the position that being for or against the return of beer is not a wet or dry battle.
To change the language, it does not mean that either side stands for the return of the saloon as older people knew it. But we are divided perhaps on whether or not the return of beer would prove to be a help or not a help for true temperance. Further, the Herald takes the position that a minister of the gospel worthy the name has just as much respect for a man who honestly opposes their view as they do of the dry-wet hypocrite.

FERGUSON'S IDEA IS RIGHT

Former Governor James E. Ferguson suggests that Texans who do not now have poll tax receipts, be permitted to vote in the special election on August 26th, providing they pay the tax and secure the receipt between now and the voting day.
Since Mr. Ferguson may be said to be at least "fairly close to the present state administration, doubtless his suggestion may be considered as an administration measure. Yet even those who steadfastly maintain that "nothing good can come from the Fergusons" must admit there is logic in Mr. Ferguson's suggestion.
Scheduled for vote on August 26th are three tremendously important questions which touch the lives of all adult Texans and the lives of the members of their families as well.
The cover repeal of the 18th amendment, legalization of beer and empowering the legislature to vote up to twenty million dollars for relief work in this state.

Because money was scarce and many did not believe there would be any use for a poll tax receipt in 1933 hundreds of thousand of Texans dodged the tax last January. Now they see what faces them and they are sorry they did not procure their receipts; they want to exercise their right to vote on questions affecting them.

With half the otherwise qualified voters of Texas on the shelf through lack of receipts, August elections cannot possibly represent the true sentiment of Texas. Mr. Ferguson is right when he urges an added opportunity for those who seek it.

A democratic form of government is based upon the fundamental principle of the voice of the people. If half the people have no voice, then they cannot make themselves heard on public questions.—Lubbock Avlanche.

The emergency measure which has just been passed embodies the farm mortgage refinancing provisions as well as the currency program. It is frequently referred to as the most important and far-reaching legislation ever presented to the American Congress.

The Senate and House have now agreed on all the provisions of the bill and it has received executive approval.

Soon after the farm measure was sent to the Senate, I introduced the administration's farm mortgage bill and led the fight for its adoption by the House of Representatives. It was adopted by an overwhelming vote. Currency expansion measures were also pending in the House during this period and had been discussed by many members on the floor.
These measures were combined and the Thomas currency amendment added. The result of these various steps and combinations is one measure of tremendous importance to the farmer and to the nation in general.

In passing this combination measure, the Senate added 85 amendments. In order to iron out the differences in the measure as it passed the House and Senate, it was necessary for a joint conference committee to be selected to represent each body.
Because of the importance of this legislation, I felt greatly honored in being chosen to head the group of conferees from the House when the measure was thus taken up for final revision and adjustment by the two groups before its enactment into law.
The House and Senate both adopted the conference report, which was the last step before executive approval. It was my privilege to be present when it was approved, and the President presented me with a pen which he used in signing the measure.

The farm relief section of the composite bill is admittedly an experiment, and is intended to be used only in the present emergency. Under its provisions the Secretary of Agriculture is given broad powers to administer plans in an effort to bring temporary relief to farmers while a permanent program is being instituted.

The mortgage refinancing provisions has been discussed in the press reports. The necessity of farm refinancing was recognized by the President, with the result that such a measure has been approved by Congress.

I believe that a controlled expansion of the currency will be a long step toward recovery, because it brings with it an increase in commodity prices and increased purchasing power.

The reflation, or expansion amendment which has been added to the farm bill contains the four major proposals, any or all of which may be used by the President for the purpose of increasing the commodity price level. The first relates to open market operations by the Federal Reserve banks; the second provides for the issuance of Treasury notes within certain defined limits; the third relates to the acceptance of silver aggregating two hundred million dollars in payment of debts owed by foreign governments; and the fourth authorizes a change in the gold content of the dollar, or the demoneti-zation of silver.

With such a program as this in operation, accomplishing three important steps in the President's program of ultimate national recovery, I have every hope that the farmer will once more assume his proper place in our economic structure, and that America will be well on its way to better times.

Killed to Silence

Detectives believe that Nick Raspakuy of Dallas, Greek cafe owner, was taken for a ride and murdered to prevent him from testifying in a million-dollar litigation over the will of the late C. C. Cobb. His bullet-riddled body was found two miles South of Dallas the morning after a mysterious man, impersonating a detective, took him from his hotel room. Recently he had been the central figure in a shooting and bombing at his cafe.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a section to be Section 3, which shall provide: "Section 3. (1) Holding the belief that the highest degree of local self-government which is consistent with the efficient conduct of those affairs by necessity lodged in the Nation and the State will prove most responsive to the will of the people, and result to reward their diligence and intelligence in their local governmental affairs, it hereby is ordained: (2) Any county having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more according to the last Federal Census may adopt a County Home Rule Charter, to embrace those powers appropriate thereto, wherein the specific limitations hereinafter provided. It further is provided that the Legislature, by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the total membership of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, may authorize any county, having a population less than that above specified, to proceed hereunder for the adoption of a Charter; however, as a condition for such authorization, it is required that notice of the intent to seek legislative authority hereunder must be published in one or more newspapers to give general circulation in the county effected, not less than once per week for four (4) consecutive weeks, and the first of such publications shall appear not less than thirty

(30) days next prior to the time of an Act making proposal hereunder may be introduced in the Legislature. No County Home Rule Charter may be adopted by any county save upon a favorable vote of the resident qualified electors of the affected county. In the elections submitting to the voters a proposal to adopt a Charter (unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the total membership of each house of the Legislature) the votes cast by the qualified electors residing within the limits of all the incorporated cities and towns of the county shall be separately kept but collectively counted and the votes of the qualified electors of the county who do not reside within the limits of any incorporated city or town likewise shall be separately kept and separately counted, and unless there is a favorable majority of the votes cast within and a favorable majority of the votes cast without such collective cities and towns, the Charter shall not be adopted. It is expressly forbidden that any such Charter may in any manner affect the operation of the General Laws of the State relating to the judicial, tax, fiscal, educational, police, highway and health systems, or any other department of the State's superior government. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the adoption of a Charter provision inimical to or inconsistent with the sovereignty and established public policies of this State, and no provision, having such effect shall have validity against the State. No Charter provision may operate to impair the exemption of homesteads as established by this Constitution and the Statutes relating thereto. "(3) a. A Charter hereunder may provide for the continuance of a County Commissioners' Court, as now constituted, to serve as the governing body of a county to operate hereunder; or, may provide for a governing body otherwise constituted, which shall be elective, and service therein shall be upon such qualifications, for such terms, under such plan of representation, and upon such conditions of tenure and compensation as may be fixed by any such Charter. The terms for service in such governing body shall not exceed two (2) years, but shall not exceed six (6) years. In any event, in addition to the powers and duties provided by such Charter, such governing body shall exercise all powers, and discharge all duties which, in the absence of the provisions hereof, would devolve by law on County Commissioners and County Commissioners' Courts. Further, any such Charter may provide for the organization, reorganization, establishment and administration of the government of the county, including the control and regulation of the performance of and the compensation for all duties required in the conduct of the county affairs, subject to the limitations herein provided. "b. A Charter hereunder may provide that Judges of County Courts (including that County designated in this Constitution) and Justices of the Peace be compensated upon a salary basis in lieu of fees. The jurisdiction of the County Court designated in this Constitution, and the duties of the Justices thereof, may be confined to that general jurisdiction of a probate Court which elsewhere is defined in this Constitution. The office of Justice of the Peace may be made either elective or appointive. Other than as herein provided, no such Charter shall provide for altering the jurisdiction or procedure of any Court. The duties of the District Attorney and for County Attorney may be confined to representing the State in civil cases to which the State is a party and to enforcement of the State's Penal Code, and the compensation of said attorneys may be fixed on a salary basis in lieu of fees. "c. Save as hereinabove and hereinafter otherwise provided, such Charters within the limits expressed therein may invest the governing body to be established for any county electing to operate hereunder with the power to create, consolidate or abolish any office or department, whether created by other provisions of the Constitution or by statute, define the duties thereof, fix the compensation for service therein, make the same elective or appointive, and prescribe the time, qualifications and conditions for tenure in any such office; that no such Charter other than as hereinbefore authorized, shall provide to regulate the status, service, duties or compensation of members of the Legislature, Judges of County Courts, District Attorneys, County Attorneys, or any office whatever by the law of the State required to be filled by an election embracing more than one county. Excepting herefrom nominations, elections or appointments to offices, the terms whereof may not have expired prior to the adoption of this Amendment to the Constitution, at such time as a Charter provision adopted hereunder may be in effect (save as to those offices which must continue to be elective, as herein elsewhere specified), all terms of county officers and all contracts for the giving of service by deputies under termination by the administrative body of the county, under an adopted Charter so providing, and there shall be no liability by reason thereof. "d. Any county electing to operate hereunder shall have the power, by Charter provision, to levy, assess and collect taxes, and to fix the maximum rate for ad valorem taxes to be levied for specific purposes, in accordance with the Constitution and laws of the State, provided, however, that the limit of the aggregate tax, which may be levied, assessed and collected hereunder shall not exceed the limit or total fixed, or hereafter to be fixed, by this Constitution to control counties, and the annual assessment upon property, both real, personal and mixed, shall be a first superior and prior lien thereon. "e. In addition to the powers herein provided, and in addition to powers included in County Home Rule Charters, any county, may, by a majority vote of the qualified electors of said county, amend its Charter to include other powers, functions, duties and rights which now or hereafter may be provided by this Constitution and the statutes of the State for counties. "4. Any county operating hereunder shall have the power to borrow money for all purposes lawful under its Charter, to include the refunding of a lawful debt, in a manner conforming to the General Laws of the State, and may issue therefor its obligations. Such obligations, other than those to refund a lawful debt, shall not be valid unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by those resident qualified voters of the area affected by the taxes required to retire such obligations, who may vote in cases of county obligations, maturing after a period of five (5) years, the same shall be issued to mature serially, fixing the first maturity of principal at a time not to exceed two (2) years next after the date of the issuance of such obligations. Such obligations may pledge the full faith and credit of the county; but in no event shall the aggregate obligations so issued, in principal amount outstanding at one time, exceed the then existing Constitutional limits for such obligations. Such indebtedness by its supporting tax shall constitute a first and superior lien upon the property taxable in such county. No obligation issued hereunder shall be valid unless prior to the time of the issuance thereof there be levied a tax sufficient to retire the same as it matures, which tax shall not exceed the then existing Constitutional limits. "(5) Such Charter may authorize the governing body of a county operating hereunder to prescribe the schedule of fees to be charged by the officers of the county for specified services, to be in lieu of the schedule for such fees prescribed by the General Laws of the State; and, to appropriate such fees to such funds as the Charter may prescribe; provided, however, no fees for a specified service shall exceed in amount the fee fixed by General Law for that same service. Such Charters as to all judicial officers, other than District Judges, may prescribe the qualifications for service, provided the standards thereof be not lower than those fixed by the General Laws of the State. "(6) a. Subject to the express limitations upon the exercise of the powers by this subdivisions to be authorized, such Charter may provide (or omit to provide) that the governmental and proprietary functions of any city, town, district or other defined political subdivision (which is a governmental agency and embraced within the boundaries of the county) be transferred, either as to some or all of the functions thereof, and yielded to the control of the administrative body of the county. No such transfer or yielding of function may be effected, unless the proposal is submitted to a vote of the people, and, unless otherwise provided by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature of each House of the Legislature as a separate issue, and the vote within and without any such city, town, district, or other defined governmental entity, shall be separately cast and counted, and unless two-thirds of the qualified voters cast within the yielding defined governmental entity, and a majority of the qualified voters cast in the remainder of the county, if the proposed merger, it shall not be affected. In merger, the mergers hereby authorized, without express Charter provision therefor, in so far as may be required to make effective the object of the proposed merger, the county shall succeed to all the appropriate powers, duties, rights, procedures, restrictions and limitations which prior to the merger were imposed in, or imposed upon, the yielding governmental agency. Particularly, it is provided that the power to create funded indebtedness and to levy taxes in support thereof may be exercised only by such procedures, and within such limits, as now are, or hereafter may be, provided by law to control such appropriate other governmental agencies were they to be independently administered. Such mergers may be effected under proposed contracts between the county and any such yielding governmental agency, to be approved at an election as hereinbefore provided for. In order to increase governmental efficiency and effect economy the county may contract with the principal city of the county to perform one or more of its functions, provided such contracts shall not be valid for more than two (2) years. "b. In case of the partial or complete merger of the government of a city operating under a Home Rule Charter, with the government of a county operating hereunder, those city Charter provisions affected thereby shall cease to control, and the county Charter provisions shall control. "c. When any embraced incorporated city or town elects to merge its governmental functions with those of the county under the provisions hereof, such Charter may provide for defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, provided, however, that in defining or redefining the boundaries of such cities and towns, such boundaries may be extended only to include those areas contiguous to such cities as are urban in character; and as to such cities or towns and for the benefit thereof the county, in addition to the primary city and county tax herein authorized and any other lawful district tax, may levy and collect taxes upon the property taxable within such city or town as defined or redefined, within the limits authorized by Sections 4 and 5 of Article XI of the Constitution, (or any Amendment thereof) for incorporated cities according to the population, provided that no tax greater than that existing at the time of such merger or for any added purpose shall be imposed upon any such city or town unless authorized by a majority of all votes cast by the resident qualified voters of any such city or town. "d. Areas urban in character but not incorporated under an appropriate Charter provision may be defined as a separate entity by the governing body of the county, provided, however, that no portion of the county shall be defined as an urban area unless it has sufficient population to entitle it to incorporate under the then existing laws of the State; and no such urban area, when created, shall be vested with any taxing or bonding power which it would not possess if it were operating as a separate incorporated unit under the then existing Constitutional and Statutory provisions of this State; and provided further that the governing body of the county for the government of such areas shall have and exercise all powers and authority granted by law to the governing bodies of

NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Article 1-a of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended so as to hereafter read as follows: "Article VIII, Section 1-a: Three Thousand Dollars ($3,000.00) of the assessed taxable value of all residence homesteads as now defined by law shall be exempt from all taxation for all State purposes; provided that this exemption shall not be applicable to that portion of the State ad valorem taxes levied for State purposes remitted within those counties or other political subdivisions now receiving any remission of State taxes, until the expiration of such period of remission, unless before the expiration of such period the board of governing body of any one or more of such counties or political subdivisions shall have certified to the State Comptroller that the need for such remission of taxes has ceased to exist in such county or political subdivision; and this Section shall become applicable to each county or political subdivision, and when it shall become within the provisions hereof." Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held throughout the State on the fourth Saturday in August, 1933, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following: "For the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas, adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein." "Against the Amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of Texas adding Section 3, providing authority for the adoption of a Home Rule Charter by the voters in counties having a population of sixty-two thousand (62,000) or more, to effect more efficient and economical government within such counties, and to authorize mergers of separate governmental agencies within such counties as may from time to time be authorized by vote of the people therein." Each voter shall scratch out one of the above listed clauses on such ballot, leaving unscratched that particular clause which expresses his vote on the proposed amendment to which it relates." Sec. 3. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation ordering an election in conformity herewith to determine whether or not the proposed Constitutional Amendment set forth herein shall be adopted, and the Governor shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State. NOTICE OF PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS

Be it Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas: Section 1. That Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto another section, Section 51a, which shall read as follows: "Section 51a. The Legislature shall have power to authorize by law the issuance and sale of the bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed the sum of Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, bearing interest at a rate not to exceed Four and one-half (4½%) per centum per annum; and payable serially or otherwise not more than Ten (10) years from their date, and said bonds shall be sold for not less than par and accrued interest and no form of commission shall be allowed in any transaction involving said bonds. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds to be used in furnishing relief and work relief to the needy and distressed people and in relieving the hardships resulting from unemployment, but to be fairly distributed over the State and upon such terms and conditions as may be provided by law and the Legislature shall make such appropriations as are necessary to pay the interest and principal of such bonds as the same becomes due. The power hereby granted to the Legislature to issue bonds hereunder is expressly limited to the amount stated and to two years from and after the adoption of this grant of power by the people. Provided that the Legislature shall provide for the payment of the interest and redemption of any bonds issued under the terms hereof from some source other than a tax on real property and the indebtedness as evidenced by such bonds shall never become a charge against or lien upon any property, real or personal, within this State." Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State on the Twentieth day of August, A. D. 1933, at which election all voters favoring such proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to the Constitution providing that the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds." Those voters opposing said amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to the Constitution providing that the Legislature may authorize the issuance of bonds of the State of Texas, not to exceed Twenty Million ($20,000,000.00) Dollars, for relieving the hardships of unemployment and for the necessary appropriations to pay said bonds." Section 3. The Governor of the State of Texas is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution for amendments thereto. Red Goose-The Ojibwa

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls
By Carlyle Emery

Episode No. 29

Shortly after Red Goose and his father, Red Eagle, returned from St. Louis, Winter set in, and the Ojibwa tribe was visited by Yellow Thunder, a chief of the bad Sioux Indians. Little Beaver ran to tell Red Goose, and together they listened to the pow wow. Now go on with the story.

Yellow Thunder stood before Red Eagle, and as Red Goose and Little Beaver approached, the Sioux warrior was saying:

"Pale Face came into the land of the Sioux and Ojibwa and break Indian tribes one by one. Sioux and Ojibwa must join together and kill Pale Face—take many scalps."

"Yellow Thunder is wrong," replied Red Eagle. "Take this message back to Sioux: Ojibwa like Pale Face, and will not fight with Sioux. Ojibwa will not join any tribe to fight Pale Face."

"Yellow Thunder come as a friend. Next time—as enemy."

"Maybe Red Eagle is wrong," whispered Little Beaver. "Maybe Ojibwa should join Sioux to fight Pale Face?"

"No!" replied Red Goose. "My father is a wise Indian chief. Pale Face is a friend to Ojibwa. Come, we go down to the river and Little Beaver watch Red Goose shoot with new gun. Maybe get another rabbit."

And sure enough, it wasn't five minutes until Red Goose had shot another rabbit, and Little Beaver decided she would make believe she was an Indian squaw and cook the rabbit for Red Goose to eat.

They found a good place to make their camp, and while Little Beaver was busy preparing the rabbit, Red Goose went off to pick some berries.

Pretty soon he returned and found Little Beaver ready for the fire. So, gathering up some dry twigs and leaves, Red Goose made a fire and Little Beaver cooked the rabbit.

Then such a meal as those two Indian children did eat! While Red Goose had been picking berries, Little Beaver had pounded some rice and made rice cakes, which were so good, Red Goose complimented her on her skill.

"Red Goose likes to make believe that he is a big warrior and that Little Beaver is his squaw. Little Beaver is a good cook and makes good rice cakes."

Praise from Red Goose made Little Beaver very happy, and they played until sun-down, when they returned to the village and found that Red Eagle and his braves had started north on a hunting expedition.

THE WORLD'S RESPONSE

President Roosevelt's proposal to foreign governments for immediate adoption of the McDonald disarmament plan and a pact of non-aggression pending further agreement, has been greeted with world-wide acclaim. France, England and Germany particularly, pledging their support. The president has earned the applause of American leaders and of foreign statesmen for his well timed and direct appeal from debate to action.

A significant part of Chancellor Hitler's speech to the German Reichstag, called into session for the delivery of this address setting forth the German determination regarding armament and the Versailles treaty, gave unqualified endorsement to the Roosevelt program. "The American President's proposal," said Hitler, "places Germany under warm obligations. Germany is ready without reserve to agree to this method of relieving the international crisis, for it too is of the opinion that without solution of the armament question no lasting economic reconstruction is possible. Ramsey McDonald greeted the proposal as "a great landmark" in international history. Premier Deladier of France pledged cordial cooperation of the French.

In his message the President noted that "if any strong nation refuses to join in this program of non-aggression, the civilized world will know where the responsibility for failure lies," a reminder that will scarcely be lost upon national leaders and governments.

The initial responses to the President's notable action demonstrates that another great step in progress toward world organization for peace has been taken, in which the first and greatest democratic governments has appropriately assumed the lead. Diplomatic difficulties and differences may arise, they have arisen in previous negotiations, and delays may occur. Yet the world is moving steadily in the direction of abolishment of force and war in international relations, and with every forward step moving with increased confidence of ultimate success.—Star-Telegram.

Dr. Krueger came down from Lubbock one day last week and performed another operation on Dad Turner, this time amputating the limb high enough to get sound bone, flesh and skin. It is reported that Dad is now doing nicely, and it is believed that his limb will soon heal so that he may get out again.

Fairyland Flares in Light Chicago World's Fair Fantasy

A MAGIC city of dazzling light, with fantastically-shaped buildings silhouetted against the night sky by beams from myriad sources—searchlights, scintillators, floodlights, sparkling colored fountains, glowing neon tubes, with brilliant fans and plumes of light overhead.

This is the fairyland that will blaze like a jewel with a million facets every night at Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress, which opens on May 27.

Just as the architecture of the Exposition has transcended all previous attempts in the creation of new and startling effects, the night illumination will surpass anything ever before attempted. Foremost electrical engineers and illuminating experts of the nation have combined to produce the most spectacular of all night pageants of color and light.

The Fair will dramatically demonstrate to the millions of visitors that illumination in the past century has made startling advancement. Well into the century being celebrated, oil and gas were the sources of light on which night-time activity depended. Expositions in the early days closed their gates at sundown.

The first attempt to provide night entertainment for Fair visitors was at Philadelphia in 1876, and then the official closing was at dusk. The merchants of the city banded together, however, and made an effort to carry the carnival spirit into the night by installing thousands of gas jets and by sponsoring firework displays.

Use 15,000 Lamps

Two great electrical manufacturers, General Electric and Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing, have pooled their forces under the direction of Walter D'Arcy Ryan, for years director of G-E's illuminating engineering laboratory, to produce lighting effects heretofore unseen.

Lighting plans for A Century of Progress call for the use of more than 15,000 incandescent lamps, ranging in size from 10 to 3,000 watts, for exterior illumination alone. It is possible only to guess the number that will be used within the great exposition buildings and by concessions. A single battery of twenty-four searchlights will have a total light output of 1,500,000,000 candlepower for one spectacular effect. Thousands of feet of neon and mercury vapor tubes will add their soft glow to building exteriors.

It is estimated that 2,100 kilowatts of electrical energy will be required for the outdoor lighting effects.

Three electric fountains are being installed in the lagoon, just off the east shore and north of the Twenty-third Street bridge. With 807 water jets, sprays and nozzles in each, it will take 3,600 gallons of water per minute to produce the eight distinct water displays of which each fountain is capable. A 75-second period is required for each water effect, and a complete cycle that includes the many combinations will take ten minutes. At the climax of the demonstration cycle, water will be spouted eighty feet in the air.

In the center fountain, harmonious gradations of colored light, including soft pastel shades, will be provided by seventy special floodlighting projectors equipped with red, green, blue and amber lenses. Each of the two outer fountains will employ thirty-six floodlights with clear lenses.

Scintillator Display

The scintillator will be located on the shore of Lake Michigan south of the Travel and Transport Building. With a railroad track located nearby, two gigantic locomotives can be run in to generate steam and shoot clouds of it high in the air. The brilliant colored lights, operated by a squad of specially trained men, will be played on the steam and on clouds of smoke exploded high in the air by smoke bombs.

Brilliantly colored fans and plumes of light will be thrown hundreds of feet into the sky, and a fiery battle of serpents will be symbolized in the nightly displays. In their initial position, the searchlights will form an intensely bright aurora over the entire area.

Elaborate mushroom-like reflectors which will light the paths at A Century of Progress.

Cheese Making on Texas Farms Growing

American cheese has become a farm-manufactured product on many Texas farms these days as shown by this exhibit of home-made cheese at the Second Annual Dairy Products Show at Albany, April 14 and 15. Brought in by 61 home demonstration club women of Stephens, Knox, Baylor, Young and Shackelford counties, they were judged by H. L. Wilson, United States Department of Agriculture (left), and J. L. Thomas, dairy specialist, Texas A. and M. College Extension Service (right). "The poorest quality of cheese this year was better than the best last year," Mr. Wilson told the exhibitors. "You people in Texas have started the manufacture of dairy products as it was begun in New York and Wisconsin years ago, but you are making strides much more rapidly."

Time and again I am told—by my own organization and by others—that I penalize myself by quality.

Friendly critics protest our putting into the Ford V-8 what they call "twenty-year steel." They say such quality is not necessary; the public does not expect it; and that the public does not know the difference anyway.

But I know the difference.

I know that the car a man sees is not the car he drives—he drives the car which the engineer sees. The car which is seen, comprises beauty of design, color and attractive accessories,—all desirable, of course. The best evidence that we think so is that they are all found on the Ford V-8.

But these are not the car. The car proper, which is the basis of all the rest, is the type of engine and its reliability; the structure of chassis and body, ruggedly durable; the long thought and experiment given to safety factors; the steady development of comfort, convenience and economy. These make the car.

A car can be built that will last two or three years. But we have never built one. We want the basic material of our car to be as dependable the day it is discarded as the day it is bought. Ford cars built 15 years ago are still on the road. It costs more to build a durable car—but two items we do not skimp are cost and conscience. A great many things could "get by"—the public would never know the difference. But we would know.

The new Ford V-8 is a car that I endorse without any hesitancy. I know what is in it. I trust our whole thirty years' reputation with it. It is even better than our previous V-8. It is larger, more rugged and mechanically a better job all round.

I readily say this in an advertisement because I know the car will back it up.

Mortgage Bill Gets Senate Approval

Washington, May 22.—The administration's two billion dollar bill for refinancing small home mortgages was approved today by the Senate banking committee.

Also, legislation to enlarge the Reconstruction Finance Corporation fund for loans to closed banks to $300,000,000 and permit extension of credit to closed building and loan associations was approved by the committee.

On the mortgage bill, it widened the scope to include homes valued up to $25,000, instead of $10,000.

It also provided that cash advances could be made up to 50 percent of the value of a home property for taking up a partially retired mortgage on which foreclosure was threatened.

HEROES OF NORTH AND SOUTH LIVE IN MEMORY

As the war between the states dragged out its tragic length, women in the north began decorating the steadily multiplying graves of their loved ones with the flowers that brightened the countryside. After the war the Grand Army of the Republic made the decoration of the graves of the Union dead a part of its ritual; and Gen. John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., designated May 30 for that purpose. This was the origin of "Decoration day," which is now known more appropriately as Memorial day.

The southern states also set apart days for decorating the graves of the Confederate dead. Spring unlocks the flowers earlier down in Dixie; and because of this a number of the southernmost states hold their memorial ceremonies on April 26. The day observed in North Carolina and Kentucky is May 10, while in Tennessee it is June 3. Alone among the states that succeeded, Virginia lays her floral tribute to the graves of the Gray on the same day that the graves of the Blue are decorated in the North, and the ceremonies are equally impressive.—Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Peamie McGuire from Lampasas, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thomas.

Four Speakers for Texas Press Association Meet

These four nationally prominent men will deliver addresses at the Houston convention of the Texas Press Association, May 8, 9 and 10. Samuel O. Dunn, editor of Railway Age, Chicago, is nationally prominent as a speaker, author and writer. In addition to his regular editorial and statistical work he is a contributor to Scribner's, Atlantic Monthly and other widely circulated magazines. Marlen E. Pew, for the past 20 years editor of Editor and Publisher, New York, has been actively engaged in newspaper work for 40 years as editor and special writer. John Benson is president of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, New York, and the best posted man on general advertising conditions in America today. A. F. Baumgartner, vice-president of the Thompson-Koch Agency, Cincinnati, each year places around $15,000,000 worth of business with papers in this country—probably placing more advertising in Texas papers than any other man.

The "Bloody Angle" Fought May 12, 1864

"Men fought from the top of heaps of dead men, till their own bodies were added to the pile and others came to take their places. Not a tree or sapling was left alive or standing. One tree nearly 2 feet in diameter, was literally cut in two by musket balls. So the historian Elson speaks of the fighting in the "Bloody Angle," at the battle of Spotsylvania, May 12, 1864. He goes on. "The battle was one of the most tremendous of modern times. Had it continued another day, it would have surpassed Gettysburg. Neither side won. The losses about the same on each side, footed up the frightful total of 36,000 men."

The "Bloody Angle," which Elson describes, is known to British military historians as the Salient. It was an almost octagonal bulge in Lee's battle line, protecting Spotsylvania Court House. Manned by the remnants of Stonewall Jackson's "foot calvary," it was overwhelmed when Hancock's federals swept over the breastworks in the mists of dawn. Disordered by the excitement of their own success, the Union forces were at once attacked by Lee. The result was the deadliest fighting of the Civil war. And from it came Grant's stubborn message to Washington: "I propose to fight it out on the line if it takes all summer."

Orderly furrows have replaced the ominous breastworks in some parts of the battle front, and farm produce is growing where once death swept by. Yet a great part of the "Bloody Angle" field is marked almost as clearly as on the day when thousands of valiant men were killed within and on each side of the sector. The trenches, which were partly filled and which later served as the burying ground for thousands, still are plainly visible.

Trees have grown up in the years that have past, but they have served only to lend a softening touch to the view of the row of rifles, the ammunition holes, and supporting trenches and the gun emplacements which General Lee built when Spotsylvania Court House was the wedge in the federal line held by the Confederates.

At the tip of this wedge now stand three small granite monuments as

What a Bladder Physic

Should do. Work on the bladder as castor oil on the bowels. Drive out impurities and excess acids that cause irritation which results in getting up nights, frequent desire, burning, leg pains and backache. BUN-KETS (5 gr. Tablets) is a pleasant bladder physic. Get a 25c test box from your druggist. After four days if not relieved go back and get your money. You will feel good after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Sold by Palace Drug Store—Alexander Drug Co.

PIONEER WEST TEXAS RANCHER IS DEAD

Midland, May 18.—Fred Cowden, 74, one of West Texas most widely-known ranchmen, died at his home here today. Born in Palo Pinto county, Cowden drove East Texas cattle to Winkler county in 1885 and two cash deals gave him a working capital of $24,000. He then bought the M-Bar ranch in Ector county which then consisted of 200 sections.

With his children he filed on university land and patented 20 sections. His investment worked out favorably, and after acquiring more land, he became director of the First National bank here. Later oil was found on his Ector county ranch.

Besides his widow he was survived by nine children, two brothers and a sister.

WOOL AT ANGELO BRINGS NEW TOP PRICE OF 26 CENTS

San Angelo, May 22.—Russell Menzies sold 80,000 pounds of 12-months wool here yesterday at 26 cents a pound, setting a new season's top for this commodity. Joe Skinner and H. B. Buell bought the clip for the Colonial Wool Company of Boston.

tributes to the bravery of the New York, New Jersey and Ohio regiments that were mowed down by buckshot and minnie ball from the guns of Lee's men.

The "Bloody Angle," is now a peaceful breastwork covering four acres, and has been given to the United States by Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. Steuart of Philadelphia, and through their generosity, therefore, it becomes, what it should be, a part of America's holy ground.—New York Evening Post.
