The Saturday drawings, which are still referred to as "trades day" promotions by most residents, are continuing to attract sizeable crowds. Mrs. Paul Fortenberry, we understand, had the "one in a million" happen to her last Saturday.

For the second week in a row, she was announced as a prize winner. A couple of weeks ago she was there to draw down over $300. Figuring her luck had run out, apparently, she didn't show last Saturday, and missed another big jackpot.

As we haven't seen Paul in some time, we don't know how he's taking all of this, but we cannot help but measure his fortune in terms of our misfortune.

The writer's wife is a contest bug.

Upon reading at home some evening, we may hear the salient snip, snip of the scissors, and know that once again, it's contest time and she is busy clipping the entry blanks from some manufacturer of soaps, flour, or dress materials.

We used to take an interest in such goings-on, but after four years, with a batting average of .000 wins out of no telling how many trips to the plate, the writer borders on discouragement.

Still, even though his head may be buried deep in the sports pages and he appears to be perfectly oblivious to anything or anyone else in the room, the writer is bombarded with inquiries like, "What is a word that begins with a 'b' and rhymes with Quaker?"

Or, "Dear, I have a paragraph of 27 words here that I need to cut down to 25 words. Can you help me?"

Once, we made a monumental effort to ignore her fetish for these cross-country quizzers that must draw thousands of participants, but the snip, snip of the scissors persisted at such length that eventually we were constrained to put down our paper and look to see what was going on.

There she was, sitting in the middle of the floor in a position not unlike a three-year-old about to begin a game of jacks, happily snipping away. Everyone is familiar with the allusion to paper dolls commonly associated with humorous stories about mental institutions, and to tell you the truth, for a moment or two, we did wonder if the wife had gone off the beam for good.

It turned out, though, that she was carefully cutting out pieces of tableware and positioning it, piece by piece, in a setting for eight. These were miniature cardboard replicas of tableware, of course, and the idea was to see who had the most imaginative setting arrangement.

Maybe all wives are this way about contests. We don't know, but ours gets the fever every time she sees the dotted line that says "cut here."

In months that have passed, we have had some amusement watching the shell-torn liberal element of the Texas Democratic party try to patch itself up after the two state conventions.

It seemed to us that backers of Ralph Yarborough, who knew he could win the Democratic nomination for governor, and those who were against him in the liberal group who knew with equal conviction that he couldn't, were having a hard time reconciling themselves to a united purpose.

That, we had supposed at the time, was to the good of the conservative group, or those who supported Price Daniel.

Now, however, the feud between Daniel and outgoing Governor Allan Shivers, has rent the temple curtain in a twain for the conservatives just as disastrously as it did for the liberals.

At the moment, we don't know of a state anywhere which is having more trouble trying to keep a political group together than here in Texas, where party workers are still trying to bring all the factions together under the Democratic banner.

As they say in France, Que sera, sera.

Even though the Friona Chiefs have just completed a rather unglamorous football season, we are pleased to report that mutterings of discontent among the fans of the community are less noticeable than might be expected of a town of Friona's size which is as sports-minded.

There is nothing like a dreary season to throw cold water on what otherwise is a group of madly-shouting, vigorously partisan fans who vow they'll do anything and everything if the team will just go to state. The lean years are the ones that determine who the true fans of the coach and the team really are, and this year has been typical.

We think local boosters are using common sense in realizing the

Basketball To Start Friday Evening

Duggins Pins Hopes On Frosh Prospects

Asked what he thinks prospects for a girls basketball team at Friona this year are, Baker Duggins, coach, Monday replied that he is depending heavily on how his more inexperienced team members make out.

"If the freshman girls can come along and make basketball players, we'll have a pretty good club," he predicted, "but if they don't, we just won't. It's that simple."

Duggins, who has been working the girls for a week now, says their morale is high and that "They are giving the game everything they've got. If the desire to play a good game means anything, their attitude is going to make the difference in some cases this year."

The Friona girls, who finished

Juniors Will Present Play

The junior class play, "Who Killed Aunt Caroline?" will be presented in the auditorium Thursday evening at 8. The three-act mystery will keep onlookers in suspense until the final act.

The cast includes eight girls and four boys. Members of the junior class and the sponsors invite the public to attend.

LIONS MEET THURSDAY

A short session is scheduled for the Friona Lions Club Thursday night, November 22, announces Charles Allen, president. The Club plans to disassemble in time to go to the school to see the junior play.

City Plans Move To New Building Monday Minus Hitch

City employees are plenty excited this week about prospects of moving into their brand new building. If no hitches occur, the transfer will take place Monday of next week.

City Clerk says he plans to have "all hands and the cook" available when the time comes to make the transfer, and hopes to complete the switch in a minimum amount of time.

Elda Hart, office secretary, says she doesn't expect that the city will be doing much business Monday, as most bill paying by local citizens has already been taken third in the district last year, have five returning lettermen, four of whom Coach Duggins expects to start Friday night.

His probable starting lineup includes Jonnie Hand or Jacquelyn Magness at post position, and Robbie Boggess and Phyllis Dean as the other two forwards; and LaVon Fleming, Paula Neal, and Eva Nell Thomas on the defensive end of the court.

Lettermen on the probable lineup include Misses Hand, Boggess, Dean, and Thomas.

Freshman whom Duggins is watching closely include Lawana Houlette, Jacquelyn Magness, Janiece Bock, Gwen Green, and Carolyn Crump. "We're depending heavily on these girls," he says.

One girl, Sandra Skinner from Bula, will not be eligible to play until next semester because of her transfer status. However, when she does become eligible about mid-season, Duggins is optimistic about her potentialities. "She is potentially one of the best players in the district," he says.

She plays guard, and will be available for all district games except one, plus the district tournament.

Asked what teams will probably offer the most opposition this year, Duggins says he is expecting strong teams from Springlake and Sudan. The teams rounding out the conference are Farwell and Morton.

The schedule for the girls is the same as that for the boys. It was published in last week's Star.

This is the second year in Friona for Duggins, who came here from Stratford.

care of, but that the city plans to conduct "business as usual" right through the move just the same.

W. C. Null, foreman for Cooley Construction Company, contractors of the new building, was scheduled to be in Friona this week to supervise finishing touches on the hall, which adjoins the fire stations and is across the city park from the present hall.

Clerk Wilson says that some last-minute difficulty in matching colors for the building's furnishings is being experienced, but other than that, he anticipates the change to go smoothly.

First Tiff Is Vega Boys-Girls

Both boys and girls basketball teams of Friona High will play their season opener Friday night of this week against Vega. The games will be played on the local court.

Boys' Coach Dempsey Watkins and Girls' Coach Baker Duggins don't know what to expect from the teams from Oldham County, as this is just the beginning of the season.

Watkins declines to be optimistic on the grounds that the Longhorns trounced the Chiefs both times the teams met last year. Too, drills for the local five started only Monday of this week, and with such a short time left to whip up a team, results would be hard to predict.

Vega, still playing Class B ball, is not in Friona's district this year, and the outcome of the Friday night contests will have no effect on the chances of the local teams in the conference.

Lewis Wheeler, formerly of Amarillo, is now a resident of Friona and is the local agent for Hub Motor Freight Lines. He and his family moved here Sunday.

Wheeler said this week that the company he represents is considering erecting a new warehouse and living quarters for the agent here, and that he has been looking around for a feasible location.

Hub Motor Freight is successor to Lee Way Motor Freight, which has leased a warehouse in Friona for some time.

The Wheelers have two children, Grover, 7, and Bobbye Carol, 17.

NEW OFFICE BUILDING GOING UP

Ground breaking got underway Monday for the new Douglas-Bingham office building, to be built at the intersection of Main Street and Highway 60: Raymond Fleming is contractor.

J. B. Douglas and Dean Bingham, partners in the venture, own the Douglas-Bingham Land Company and the D-B Insurance Service, which are firms from the consolidation of their independent real estate and insurance operations several months ago.

At the time they went into partnership, they considered the building of a new office building, but did not go ahead with their plans until this week.

The 40x36 building, to be of tile, brick, glass and aluminum, will rest on the west end of the lot which is directly west of Herring Implement Company.

The main entrance to the building will be on the south, and the structure is being designed so as to facilitate possible additions to the east at a later date.

Inside the building, which is of a modern design, will be four offices and a lounge. Two offices are provided for Douglas and Bingham, and one for Dalton Caffey, salesman with the company.

The fourth office will be used to serve the insurance division of the partnership. A reception room with a secretary's desk completes the

Sgt. Doyle Meets With Legionnaires

Sgt. Calvin Doyle of the Ground Observer Corps division of the Air Corps from Oklahoma City attended the regular social meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary at the Legion Hall Monday evening.

After the social hour, Doyle talked about the forthcoming organization of a GOC unit in Friona. A film on the subject was shown by Roy Wilson.

Refreshments were served to about 40 persons who attended.

Friona Wins Two Top Spots At District FFA Contests Here

The Friona FFA chapter was host to the Littlefield District FFA Leadership contests Saturday. J. T. Gee, chapter advisor, was assisted by Don Reeve, John Hamilton, Gerald Floyd, A. J. Robinson, and Ira Parr.

Schools in this district are Hart, Nazareth, Olton, Dimmitt, Spade, Friona, Muleshoe, Farwell, Bovina, Bula, Lazbuddie, Sudan, Littlefield, Three-Way, Amherst, and Springlake. All of these chapters except Nazareth entered one or more teams in the contests.

Out of the six events Friona teams won two first place awards. Other first place winners were Muleshoe, Spade, Littlefield, and Olton. Approximately 150 boys participated in the contests.

Team members from Friona winning first place in the junior farm skill contest were Jimmy Bainum, Don Clements, Ronnie Wood, and Gerald Daniel. Second place went to Farwell, and Springlake won third.

Taking first place honors for Friona in the senior farm skills were Dale Smith, Gary Sherrieb, Ira Parr, and Billy Zachary. Second place honors went to Dimmitt, with Farwell coming in third.

Members of the Muleshoe team which won first in junior chapter conducting were Don Ethridge, Leland Dean, Robert Hunt, B. H. Wagnon, Joe Childs, Jerry Nash, R. S. Smith, Kenneth Phillips, Eugene Hawkins, and Jim Bishop. Littlefield placed second and Dimmitt third.

Spade won first in the FFA quiz. Team members were Jimmy Mouser, Jerry Lockwood, Marcus Ramage, and Charles Cogburn. Littlefield was awarded second place and Muleshoe third.

Winning first place in senior chapter conducting was the Olton team which was composed of Bobby Johnson, Sherrill Alexander, Doug Smith, James Simmons, Sammy Thomas, Jerry Fancher, Jimmy Stone, Mack McGill, and Wayne Allen. Spade won second place and Dimmitt took third.

Littlefield FFA members of the team winning honors in radio broadcasting were Tom Boren, Lawrence Macha, Mickey Ratliff, Doyle Montgomery, and Lloyd Locke. Sudan took home second place honors and Dimmitt third.

This is the second time in a row that Friona has been picked as the site for these contests. All first place winners will compete for regional honors at Plainview Saturday, November 24.

Friona Revives, Whops Morton By 26-14 Score

Forgetting their drab season record, the Friona Chiefs pummeled Morton on the losers' own field, 26-14, Friday night to keep the Redskins out of cellar and give them their only conference victory.

It was a last fling at glory for the Chiefs, who previously had been able to work over only weak Hart and Bovina, but who had played other strong conference outfits some rugged football.

With a season record of three wins and seven losses, the Chiefs avoided the role of the conference doormat and had the satisfaction of playing, on paper at least, some acceptable football.

They were beaten by Champion Farwell only 6-0 in an early season game, and Friday night's 12-point margin over Morton also looked good compared to Farwell's 9-6 squeaky win over the same club. The few Friona fans who braved the weather and the distance to support the downtrodden local ball team were not disappointed, even though their hearts were in their throat in the early part of the contest.

Morton's Coleman steamrolled the opening kickoff 70 yards to the Friona 10 and went over two plays later to open scoring for the hosts in breathless fashion. Newman's kick cleared the standards and put Morton out front 7-0 with the game hardly a minute old.

Things went from bad to worse for the Chiefs as Coleman scored again just after the start of the second quarter, this time on an 18-yard pass from Quarterback Middleton. The kick was wide, but the 13-point lead still looked mighty big to the Chiefs.

Their fortunes took a turn for the better a few minutes later, however, when Larry Fairchild, fleet Chief halfback, whizzed off 53 yards for a TD.

That was the start of an exceptional evening for the small Friona halfback, who added the extra point with a run and was back before the quarter ended with another touchdown run, this time from the 17.

By picking up both extra points, Morton still commanded a 14-13 lead over their visitors by halftime.

Fairchild stepped in the clear to dazzle the fans with another long run in the third quarter. This time, he slipped through the Morton defense for 67 yards into paydirt. The attempt to convert was good, with Philip Weatherly running it over.

That put Friona ahead by a touchdown, but still left Morton alive and threatening. The most serious threat occurred when the hosts recovered a Chief fumble on the Friona 40, but they could not

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

YOU'RE A SALESMAN

Ever think of yourself as a salesman?

If you have not chosen that type of business as a means of earning a living, the answer is probably "no." But in a very real sense, you are—or should be—a salesman, and if you do your job well, the "commission" for your efforts can be very rewarding.

The thing you should sell is Friona. There just can't ever be too much effort expended in this direction, if Friona is to continue to grow and attract new farmers, new businesses, and new citizens.

Especially when you are out of town, the idea of "getting in a few licks for the home town," should always be in the back of your mind. Who knows what effect a few words about the wonderful opportunities of this progressive Plains city may have on ears turned your way?

A check of the population of Friona today will reveal many farmers and businessmen who have been attracted here as a direct result of a practically "drought-proof" economy. Where did they first hear of Friona? What was it that caused them to come here instead of going to Plainview, to Dimmitt, or to some other oasis of the Southwest?

A newspaper that boosts the town, a live-wire chamber of commerce, aggressive club activities by organized men and women—these things help shape a community's frontal assault in the field of self-promotion. But, like the foot soldier in modern warfare, there is nothing so effective as an individual away from home who is "sold" on the merits of his town, and lets the world know it.

The Star does not have in mind encouraging those who resort to buffoonery and braggadocio in "whooping up" their towns. Among the most obnoxious persons we have ever met are those who fall into this peculiar class of vanity where a person attempts to force others to believe that their own cities are run-down, ill-managed, pieces of municipal junk.

But, on the other hand, there is nearly always an opportunity presented for a man or woman to recite the merits of their town in a manner not offensive to anyone. A person armed with statistics on school enrollment, church membership, tax valuations, meter connections, and such, can more than prove a match for the person who relies only on adjectives and a loud voice.

Be a salesman for Friona—but a polite one.

Local Youth Present Program For Club

Twenty-one members of the Friona Woman's Club were present for the Wednesday afternoon meeting at the club house. The program was on youth and the quotation used was, "When we are out of sympathy with our youth, then I think our work in this world is over."

—George McDonald.

The club collect was given in union by the club members, and Mrs. C. G. Nelson led the opening prayer. Five young people of Friona gave reports to the group.

Geraldine Phipps discussed flag making. The local FHA girls participated in a flag making program sponsored by the state FHA organization last year. Geraldine was chairman of the local group which assisted in the program.

Patsy Anthony, who is president of the local FHA, was a delegate to the National FHA Convention at Chicago last summer and related incidents concerning the trip.

Lila Gay Buske, who was one of the Friona High School students who attended band camp at Canyon late in the summer, gave a report on the band camp.

Phyllis Treider, who was selected by the American Legion Auxiliary to represent Friona at Girls' State at Austin in June, reported the highlights of her trip and the week she spent at the Texas School for the Blind.

Gerald Floyd, secretary of the Friona FFA chapter and one of the delegates to the National Convention in October, gave a report on the convention which was held in Kansas City. Floyd, who was also Friona's representative at Boys' State at Austin in June, reported several incidents concerning the week he spent on the University of Texas campus.

"The young people, all from Friona, gave very interesting reports. Those who were not present missed a good program by these young people," says Mrs. Pearl Kinsley reporter of the club.

and Mrs. S. S. Prichard, served fruit cake, whipped cream, and coffee to the members present and the five guest speakers.

Chieftain Mothers Honor Team With Banquet

About 80 persons attended the annual Chieftain banquet which was given by the Chieftain Mothers Club. The welcome address was given by Mrs. E. L. Fairchild, president. She also presented Ruby Lee Grubbs with a doll, which was dressed as a football queen.

The response was given by Don Reeve. Buford Carter and Phillip Weatherly presented gifts to the coaches, Colie Huffman, Roy Simmons, and Dempsey Watkins. The coaches then gave short talks.

The theme of the banquet, which was held in the cafeteria, was "Indian." The decorations were done in red and white. The speaker's table was centered with a miniature football field complete with players. Football balloons were tied on each chair and place cards were red teepees.

The menu was baked chicken with dressing, creamed potatoes, green beans, cranberry salad, hot rolls, ice cream, cake and tea. Members of the football squad and their dates and the coaches were guests.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wooley and sons of the Hub community were Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Wooley and Bill of Clovis and Gerald Floyd.

SO MUCH TO BE SO THANKFUL FOR!

Farmers, and others who depend upon agriculture for their livelihood, truly owe a debt of gratitude to Providence this Thanksgiving, for truly, without the soil, the sunshine, the water, and the miracle of living things that God sends us, farming indeed would be impossible.

Let us also consider at this time how really fortunate we are to live in a nation, where even though we have our problems, our lot is so much better than that of millions of others. We worry about surpluses, while most of the nations of the world worry about famines!

One other thing that we at Maurer Machinery would not want to forget to be thankful for this year: You, our customers and friends, who have made it such a pleasure to be in business serving the needs of this great part of the great Southwest.

Night-Life for Your Camera

Night-time has always been famed in song and story. Scarcely a poet down through the ages has failed to pay homage to that lovely velvet-cloaked mystery known as Night. So why not take your cue from all these advisers and put your camera on the "night shift," too?

We think you'll find that picture taking after dark is really a very simple matter. Place your camera on a tripod or other solid support and set it for time exposure.

As for exactly how long the exposure time should be, the best answer we can give you is "It all depends on the amount of light." Actually, it would be impossible to list specific information on exposure time for all the countless opportunities that exist for taking pictures out of doors at night. Exposure time may well run anywhere from three or four seconds to several minutes, all depending on the light. You'll just have to use your judgment and shoot several pictures at different lengths of exposure.

On summer weekends and vacation trips, nighttime driving is bound to present lots of views that will captivate you by their sheer beauty. There'll be the twinkling lights of a town seen in the distance as you approach over the brow of a hill, a quiet little tree-lined street in a residential section, a park scene given fairy outlines against the dark sky. Any of these is likely to yield good picture material—and so will fair grounds, public buildings, monuments, statues, and historic shrines which are illuminated at night. For such is the magic of night that it often lends enchantment and majesty to what might be only an average view when seen by daylight.

Whenever the night presents a breathtaking view, it's time for a little picture-taking activity on your part. Just get out of the car and stretch your legs for a few minutes while you set up your camera and make a brief time exposure.

Buying at Home

is much like The Golden Rule

COPYRIGHT 1956 D. E. SCOTT

Everybody Recommends It for Everybody Else

But . . . the sad fact that some folks who preach buying at home don't practice it much, doesn't keep it from being a wise habit. There always will be people who regularly stand in their own light, even when they know better.

Unlike The Golden Rule, the principle of buying at home has few moral aspects. It's just a matter of good hard dollars and cents, and fuller living.

Because somebody else does . . . or doesn't . . . is no good reason to give away what is ours.

Yet that is just what we're doing when we spend our money off somewhere else, with the excuse that our neighbors are doing it.

Let's quit watching them, and examine our own habits, reminding ourselves selfishly that of each dollar we spend, nearly one-third goes to pay for community progress and upkeep.

But it's no soup in our pot, no schools for our kids, no churches for our souls, nor increment for our property, if it is some other community.

*It Pays to Buy
where You Live*

Friona firms are the only business establishments in the world who are genuinely interested in the future of this community where you make YOUR living.

Shower Honors Miss Nelda May

Miss Nelda May, bride-elect of Ross Miller, was honored with a bridal shower in the Nelson Welch home Friday afternoon. Hostesses were Mesdames Nelson Welch, Gene Snead, Sloan Osborn, Henry Lewis, Steve Struve, Carl Fairchild, Elmer Euler, L. A. Haws, Charles Rickerd, M. B. McKinney, Leonard Gonsler, and E. L. get enough steam to push closer, and ended up punting.

The best display of all-around football of the evening was shown late in the third quarter, when the Chiefs, sticking to the ground, started a drive on their own 23. They made five consecutive first downs, going across the midstripe and down to the Morton 15, but pooped off all their hard-earned effort with a fumble, which Morton recovered.

The defense saved the day, however, forcing the hosts to kick, and with the aid of two penalties, Friona was soon back to the 15, knocking for another touchdown.

Fairchild, closing out his evening's exciting performance, dashed around left end for the yardage that widened the margin to 12 points and iced the game for the Chiefs.

Seven Arrests Made By County Sheriff

Seven arrests were made in the county over the past weekend, reports Parmer County Sheriff Chas. Lovelace. Included in these were three for possessing liquor for the purpose of sale and four charged with being drunk.

Two of the bootleggers were from Bovina and one lived near Friona. All three were tried in county court at Farwell Monday morning by Judge A. D. Smith and fined $100 plus court costs, according to the sheriff.

Roy Jacob Stephens and Pete Andrews, both Negroes, were arrested in Bovina Sunday afternoon and Hubert Alexander's place near Friona was raided Saturday afternoon, Lovelace says.

The four charged with being drunk were all picked up in Friona Saturday night. They appeared before B. N. Graham, justice of peace, at Farwell Sunday, and were each fined $5 and court costs. They were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Case, Enrique Ocona, and Silverco Onceiro. All were from Friona.

Another case tried in county court was that of a 15-year-old Farwell youth, charged with burglary. He was paroled to his parents with the understanding that the child be enrolled in school, Lovelace says.

New Telephone Directory Shows Growth of City

All Friona telephone subscribers have been issued shiny new directories, to replace the thumb-marked directories that appear in most business places and homes, that require frequent use of the telephone.

The directories, which are distributed to phone users by General Telephone Company of the Southwest, include four towns, Bovina, Earth, Friona, and Muleshoe. Also included are numbers on the Hub, Parmer, Tharp and Lazbuddie exchanges. The new directories will mark a milestone for Lazbuddie, since phones were installed in that community during the past year.

Growth of Friona can be noted by the directories, which are published in November. An increase of 71 phones installations is noted in the city in the year. For 1955, 394 numbers were listed under "Friona" in the directory, and in the 1956 edition, 465 numbers are included. The approximate population of the city is now estimated at about 2100.

Adams and Brookfield Drilling Company leads off the alphabet in the listing of customers, in the city of Friona, and Mrs. Alta Wyly is named as the last subscriber in the city.

People and businesses beginning with the letter-S, seem to be the most numerous telephone users with 45 phones in that group, with the C group running a close second.

The BIBLE Says "AND YE SHALL KNOW THE TRUTH, AND THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE." (John 8:32) This freedom is the release from the bondage of sin. Freedom from guilt means more than any other freedom we can enjoy for it may eventually result in eternal life in heaven. Note, please, that it is the truth that makes us free. What is truth? Where can it be found? How can it make me free? Jesus, when praying to God, said, "Thy word is truth." (John 17:17) Since God's word is truth we know where to find it, for the Bible is God's word. The way we are made free by the truth, then, is the way of salvation laid down in the pages of God's holy word. There are facts to be believed, commands to be obeyed, and blessings to be enjoyed. Paul told Timothy to "preach the word". (II Timothy 4:2) Others did the same and the Bible records the results. (Read the book of Acts). In order for men to be free today the same lessons must be taught and they must be received in the same manner. The gospel is still truth." (John 17:17) Since God's word is truth we know where to find it, for the Bible is God's word. Would you know the truth? Then seek where the truth is to be found. FRIONA
With June

The Thursday evening "buzz session" of the Friona PTA was well attended. There were almost as many fathers as mothers there. That is as it should be, but seldom is. Just about a year ago we attended this same type meeting.

Up until then we thought most of the men didn't know that PTA was fathers, too. Now we have reached the conclusion that a number of Friona men know that at least one meeting in the year is for them. Perhaps the PTA should start a drive aimed at interesting fathers in all the programs.

The age old saying, "You get out of anything just what you put into it" applies to your children's education as well as any number of other things. If you put some time, thought, and study into the kind of education they are getting, you will benefit from it almost as much as the children do. It just may be that taking no interest at all in the school or its problems is following the path of least resistance. Most of us wouldn't think of putting our money into a bank about which we know nothing and care less. How much more important is it for us to be acquainted with the teachers and the conditions under which our children spend so much of their time?

The program was interesting, informative, and educational. Those who attended left with a much better idea of the present day school problems than they had before. Most of us do not realize how much change there has been made in a day at school now and when we attended.

Mrs. O. J. Beene presented an interesting devotional. We have known and admired Mrs. Beene for more years than we like to admit, but never knew before that she shared our opinion that fall is the nicest time of the year. Of course, persons who agree with us on any subject are good authorities on the subject.

At least three Friona High School students should be in good practice at practicing on a play. Jan Edelman, Dale Williams, and Jerry Hinkle, all members of the junior class, had parts in the Thespian play which was presented two weeks ago.

Then when the cast was chosen for the junior class play, "Who Killed Aunt Caroline?", they were selected for parts in it. By the time it is ready for presentation, these three will have had a pretty steady diet of play practicing for several weeks in a row.

Friona football players, coaches, and fans were very happy over the outcome of the Friona-Morton game Friday evening at Morton. The band didn't go, but a large number of students and adults attended.

Several persons expressed their disappointment over the first play. On the kickoff, Morton made a touchdown, then within the next few minutes another was made. Think the Friona fans were justly proud when the local team pulled out from behind and won the game.

At least one local merchant has made adequate storage facilities for the trash. Ralph Roden of the Bi-Wize Drug has a new walk-in trash box. It is 10x6x5 and is constructed of sheet iron with a wood floor.

In addition to taking care of the boxes and other trash from the drug store, Ralph has invited the neighbors, including the Friona Star, to make use of the new installation. This section of town should soon begin to be less trashy.

Seeing the FFA boys from this area here for the district contests gives a small idea of what Cotton John meant when he reported the National Convention at Kansas City. Of course, there is no comparison, but maybe 150 blue jacketed young future farmers make as big a showing in Friona as did the more than 10,000 in Kansas City.

When we stopped at the school one day this week to pick up letters the first graders had written to Santa, Mrs. Woodward's pupils had not all finished their letters. One small boy with large brown eyes sat near the door. When he learned what our mission was, he held up his letter and asked, "Do you think Santa can read this?"

There were a few eraser marks on it and not all the words were spelled right. To put the young man at ease, we assured him that the letter would be typed before being mailed to the North Pole. The next question was, "Will you type them?" When we answered in the affirmative, another question quickly followed. "Well, are you sure Santa can read your typing?"

In Canada a gallon measures almost five quarts.

Come with Us To School Today

By W. H. GRAHAM, Jr.
The Old Woman, who lived in a shoe, and as the legend goes, had so many children she didn't know what to do, has a modern counterpart right in your own community: your public school system.

Only, so far as we can tell from the story, The Old Woman didn't happen to be expecting any more children, and from that standpoint at least, might have found some cause for cheer in the consolation that things couldn't get any worse.

Your Friona school system, like the fairy tale mother, is hard pressed to find a place to put all the kids, but to make matters worse, your system is "expecting." And, sorry to say, the pitter patter of new little feet in the hallways can hardly be heralded as a blessed event under present conditions.

Already, you have seen how the baby boom has hit the elementary grades with such force that a building erected only last year already is bulging at the seams. Already, you have been shown how your children of grade school age are trying to obtain for themselves an education for a modern world in facilities that were erected in 1923.

And now, look if you will at the high school of the local system. Most Friona citizens, when asked about their high school facilities, stick out their chests, and, bristling with community pride, pronounce them the world's finest.

That's a commendable attitude, to be sure, and it is well that everyone is proud of their school, for the public education institutions of America are a link in the triumvirate of home, church, and school that make this nation what it is.

But, as Jimmy Durante would say, "Let's examine dem facts." How long has it been since you set foot in the Friona High School. (Continued on Last Page)

Farmers Preparing For 1957 Crop Year

With the whirr of combines and the roar of the gins still echoing over the irrigated High Plains, farmers are already well into preparation for another crop year.

All of the approximately 90,000 acres of wheat in the county has been sown, and all of it is up though some on dryland is precarious. Looking good are the county's some 40,000 acres of irrigated wheat which is up and already supporting considerable grazing.

By and large, the 1956 grain harvest is complete, and behind harvesting operations have come the moldboard and disc breaking plows, which have turned under a large percent of stubble. And many farmers are making every day count from now until planting time by obtaining maximum decay of their old crop residue.

Speeding this process is the application of commercial fertilizer, mostly in the form of anhydrous ammonia, which not only helps decay the plant matter, but will make nitrogen available for next year's crop.

This practice has been increasing in popularity under irrigated conditions, and the showers of three weeks ago, resulted in a spurt of this type of activity.

Once again a fairly common sight in the area is the "automation" of land breaking, where mechanical guides perform the function.

So much has been said and written about the changes in styles for women. We have heard almost nothing about the changes that are being made in men's shirts. One of the newest things we have seen is reverse box pleats from the shoulder seam down each side of the shirt front.

It wouldn't surprise us too much if in the not too far distant future shirt designers aren't using lace. Probably tape or braid will be used first. After these two catch on, they could very easily be followed by lace and ruffles. Who knows?

If you are baking apple pies and like a spicy flavor, add a small amount of your favorite spices to the pie crust before baking.

How long has it been since you gave your entire house a real good cleaning? Most of us don't discard our things which are not usable unless we decide to move. We have planned a thorough house cleaning during which we plan to discard everything that we would not move if we were moving into a new house.

One homemaker we know describes "junk" as something you save for years wondering what to do with it then discarding it two days before you figure out what it could be used for.

A couple of years ago one of our friends discarded some worn nylon hose she had saved for years. Sure enough, a few weeks later her sister, who lives in another section of the country, came up with the idea that discarded nylon hose made ideal stuffing for toys.

An idea, which was introduced into government offices, built around "Don't file it, discard it," caused a great deal of comment and some criticism. It might not of a manual operator and lead the driverless tractor in wide circles while the plowed soil rolls out behind.

Also in the cotton field, stripping machines are fast winding up the harvest of this crop, and a few farmers already have made application of cotton burrs or barnyard manure to strengthen their soils.

Elsewhere, bookings are already being made for hybrid grain sorghum seed for spring delivery, and all indications point toward the likelihood that farmers of the Parmer County area will be better prepared to begin farming next year at the earliest moment permitted by the season.

be a good idea for an office, but for a lot of the "junk" which we accumulate it should be super.

For a good crust, use 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 1/2 cups graham cracker or wafer crumbs, 1/3 cup melted butter or margarine and 1/4 cup sugar. Roll crumbs with rolling pin, add other ingredients and shape into desired shape. Will make enough for a nine inch crust with generous sprinkle on top or for eight baking cups.

A large desk type calendar should be a must for every homemaker. Then every time you accept an invitation or make an appointment, jot it down. Looking at the calendar is much easier than trying to remember the date or hour you are expected to be at a certain place or do a certain task.

This calendar will also come in very handy as a reminder of things the other members of the family expect you to remember. Before very long it will be one of the most used articles in the house.

A hassock-type clothes hamper will make a nice addition to just about any room in the house. They come in very attractive styles in colors to fit almost any color scheme.

Pipe cleaners come in very handy when you are preparing food for the freezer. Cut them in half and use to close plastic bags. It's easy and a real time saver.

ARE BETTER TODAY

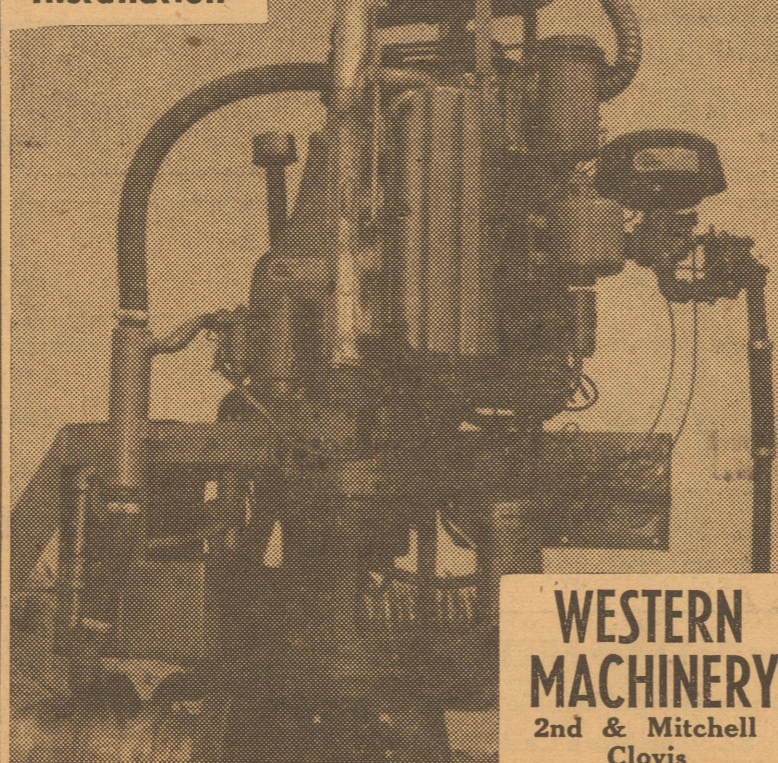

Fertilizers are a lot better today than in years past, but more improved fertilizer materials can be expected in the future, reports M. K. Thornton, extension agricultural chemist. He suggests that farmers be alert to the new developments because they can mean more opportunities for increased production and efficiency and greater farm profits.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

The eleven members who attended the state convention in Houston last week had an enjoyable and fruitful time. Seven of them were voting delegates and participated in the policy making sessions that determined Texas Farm Bureau's policies for 1957. They supported or opposed resolutions according to the instructions they received at the county convention in September when they voted. Those subjects that were not acted upon at the county convention were discussed by your delegates and acted upon according to what they believed you had indicated in principle on other related issues.

One of the resolutions Parmer County sent in was not included in the draft from the state resolutions committee. Upon the advice of your delegates, Harry Hamilton went before the delegation and presented it from the floor and it was adopted. This was the resolution favoring marketing regulation that will reflect the superior quality of feed grains free of noxious seeds at the local market level.

Cotton John, our radio friend of KGNC, was on hand recording and relaying news reports to the radio and newspapers of Amarillo. His presence made everyone from this area feel more at home, too. All three Houston newspapers and reporters from the Associated Press covered the convention also. As you know by now, District II provided the State Farm Bureau queen for the second year in a row. She is Miss Joann Vaughn of Tulia. Runner-up, Miss Donna Black, is from Dumas, also in District II.

We feel that one of the most significant features of the session occurred when Bill Millen, President of Bailey County Farm Bureau, arose and moved that the section of the suggested 1957 TFB Preamble reading, "We endorse and pledge our support to the principles of the United Nations Charter" be deleted. His motion was seconded and adopted by the delegates. Millen summarized his reasons briefly as follows: Russia, because of her control of satellite nations who are members, holds three votes to America's one. Because of the one-nation veto power, the UN Charter cannot be changed unless Russia wants it changed.

There are numerous other good reasons for the action taken. We hope many people will study aspects of the charter within the next year.

Consider this: And He arose, and departed to His house. Matthew 9:7.

PRICES WILL PICK UP

Pecan growers are advised not to become unduly alarmed about the present market outlook for pecans. Prices later are expected to follow the trend of past years and if this happens, prices should pick up. Growers should harvest their pecans as early as possible to avoid loss from crows, squirrels and bad weather. The crop should be handled carefully to insure clean pecans of uniform high quality.

Hereford Coliseum to Host Event Saturday

The new Deaf Smith County Coliseum will be opened on the evening of Saturday, Nov. 24, at 8:30. The first scheduled event is to be a Hereford Lions Club-sponsored wrestling match featuring some of the best "grunt-and groaners" in the business.

No formal opening ceremonies are planned, "just good wrestling plus about $500 worth of door prizes for the spectators," said Ray Cowsert, general chairman for the opening night activities at the new 20,000 square-foot county-owned building.

An added attraction on the evening entertainment calendar will be the performance by an acrobatic team, the Amazing Monahans.

With a seating capacity of 1,750, the agriculture exhibit building that has been built to replace the fire-damaged and now demolished bull barn will afford the audience a comfortable and attractive arena for wrestling and the many other events expected to be staged within its walls, said Earnest Langley, Lions president.

Constructed by the county at a cost of over $20,000 on a 20-acre lot donated by Veterans' Memorial Park owners, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion, the building has been furnished inside by the Hereford Lions. The civic club has purchased seating, heating, plumbing and other facilities at a cost of $15,000.

Delegations from the Dimmitt and Friona Lions Clubs are expected to join Hereford Lions, their wives and families, and the general public in attending the opening event.

On the wrestling card for the evening are three 20-minute preliminary bouts and the main event, a six-man tag-team donnybrook. Competing teams will be Rip Rogers, Art Nelson and Shoulders Newman, versus Dory Funk, John Tollas and Ray (Big Train) Clements.

Rogers and Nelson hold the tag team world championship.

The colorful Dory Funk will enter the ring here as Southwestern States junior heavyweight champion, having won the title last Thursday night in a much-publicized brawl with Dizzy Davis at Amarillo's Sports Arena.

Door prizes being offered by the Lions include a television set, electric fry pan, automobile tire, man's hat and many other items.

Lions aiding Cowsert with opening night arrangements are Harold Wester, wrestling promotion-chairman; Albert Maxwell, concessions chairman, and F. W. Dool, time-keeper.

Wester is scheduled to referee a preliminary bout, and Karl (Doc) Sargolis of Amarillo will be here to oversee the matches and referee a second preliminary.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Where will the farmers get the grass seed to plant the acres placed in the conservation reserve phase of the soil bank? This question is being asked over and over and nobody can give the answer. A more than normal supply of seed is in the warehouses of the usual grass seed supply firms, but not enough to plant all the acres that are suddenly going back to grass.

Seed firms, generally, are reluctant to quote a price on their seed in the face of such a demand. So far as farmers are concerned locally, the situation could, with a little planning, work itself out very nicely. Most of the land going back to grass in the Parmer County Soil Conservation District will be planted to a mixture with the chief grass being blue grama. Blue grama is the grass that is found so much on native pastures in this part of the country. It makes seed every time it gets a chance and the seeds are not difficult to harvest.

Assuming that this area receives some winter moisture and a reasonable amount of rain in the spring, these native pastures could easily make more money for the owners from one seed harvest that they have made in the last ten years from grazing. A man with native pasture who also has land to plant to grass could assure himself a seed supply by harvesting his own.

The latest quoted price on blue grama grass seed was about 50 cents per pound. A reasonable harvest would be 100 pounds per acre, while yields up to 300 pounds have been made. It seems it wouldn't even be a bad idea for a man with an irrigation well and some native pasture to give the pasture some extra water and care and take a seed harvest.

Seed harvested next summer would come just right to meet the peak demand. There won't be a lot of grass planted in the spring of '57 since grass must be planted in a standing dead cover crop such as is left by sorghum or sudan. Next year will, for the most part, be used to get that cover. The spring of '58 should see the heavy grass seedings.

An ordinary combine with a few adjustments can be used in harvesting blue grama. With pastures clean and smooth as most of them are here, it wouldn't be difficult to get a combine over them. As with other good things, there are some hazards. Weather can be such that a nice seed head is made without it having any seed in it. However, with a little experience, you can easily detect the presence or absence of seed and if absent you can graze instead of combining.

Snakes sleep with their eyes open because they have no eyelids. Tobacco is cultivated in nearly every civilized country.

Go look this 160 acres over. It is a choice piece of land. Would be classed as near perfect. On the pavement five miles west of Hub on the south side of the highway. It is the north east quarter of Sec. 18, township 6 south, range 3 east. This is priced at least $25 an acre under market value. On natural gas and choice water. Priced $225 an acre with small down payment and long term balance.

"The Place Where Most People Trade" Tuesday, November 20, 1956

The Christmas Card club project, sponsored by the Modern Study Club, will close about the middle of December. People joining the club project are asked to donate to the Parmer County Community Hospital what money they usually spend on sending Christmas cards, locally. The money is to be deposited in the Friona State Bank and the name on the deposit slip should read exactly as you would sign your local Christmas cards. In December, Mr. Graham will have a huge Christmas Card in the Friona Star with greetings to your friends and your name will be on that card. Thus, if you usually spend $20.00 for cards to Friona friends, deposit $20.00 to the Christmas Card club project at the bank, sign your deposit "The Jones" or "Bob and Mary" or anyway you choose. Your Christmas card chore will be over and the hospital will be the beneficiary.

County-Wide Dinner Attended by Ninety

Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Parmer County Home Demonstration Agent, reports that about 90 persons were present for the second annual county-wide home demonstration club Thanksgiving dinner.

The dinner was held at the Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church with members of the WSCS preparing and serving the turkey dinner.

Mrs. Davis Gulley was toastmistress for the occasion and Rev. Vance Zinn, formerly pastor of the Oklahoma Lane Baptist Church, was guest speaker. The subject of his message was the influence of women in the home, the community and the world.

After the message, the group sang several songs, one of which was the new National Home Demonstration Association song. Songs were led by Mrs. Dorothy Hough and Mrs. Lauretta Brookfield.

Miss Wainscott acted as commentator for the dress revue which featured home demonstration club members modeling dresses they made during the advance sewing workshops.

Those modeling dresses were

Mesdames A. L. Black, Lauretta Brookfield, Faye McMahan, Olive Massie, Floyd Rector, Billy Dean Baxter, John Renner, Edgar Walters, Blanche Woody, Lloyd Battley;

Also, Mesdames Marian Fite, John Hand, Tress Tannahill, Johnnie Hand, Davis Gulley, J. B. Barrett, Gertrude Renner, Cherry Ann Mings and Miss Wainscott.

Guests attending were Rev. and Mrs. V. E. Willard, Rev. and Mrs. Vance Zinn, Joe Jones and Mrs. Durb Kittrell.

Mrs. Vernon Symcox; Rhea, Mrs. Sarah Dean and Mrs. Velma Schlenker; and one visitor, Mrs. E. A. Rutledge of Merkel.

The right kind and amount of trimmings adds interest and individuality to a costume. Too much can be distracting and confusing, according to extension clothing specialists.

The secret of effectiveness in trimming lies in discriminating use. Self-covered buttons and belts, or those that blend with the garment, can be used without danger of a spotty or overdecorated effect. Self trim of this type becomes part of the design of the garment and gives more leeway in choosing other accessories.

If you plan for contrasting trim, study your figure carefully to determine where to place the emphasis. In other words, "accentuate the positive." Make certain the trim is appropriate to the garment and the occasion for which it will be worn.

Shop for ideas that are different. Study garments displayed in exclusive dress shops and adapt ideas to your own purse and personality.

A final word. When in doubt, leave that extra trim off. . . it's better to use too little than too much.

This is a rather abrupt change of subjects but it does give us some food for thought. The three C's of credit are a guide for family use of the charge account, says Eula Newman, extension home management specialist. . . The first one is

CHEF ROBERT KREIS who "tossed salad greens into greenbacks" with the creation of his salad dressing mix also made a major contribution toward the salad's popularity in America.

The time may be close at hand when Americans will be eating salads three times a day—even for breakfast!

When a famous gourmet recently aired this prediction at a dinner he was giving, his guests tactfully let him know that even the very thought of salad for breakfast was too much for them.

It may be many years before this prediction becomes a reality, but there is no question that the salad is playing an ever increasing role on American dinner tables. A major contribution to the "eat-more-salad" campaign was made recently by a 6-foot, 4-inch tall chef from Hollywood California, Robert Kreis.

The Kreis contribution is five different salad dressing mixes. These make delightful salad dressings when combined with the exact amounts of oil and vinegar that are prescribed on a bottle which is available with the mixes.

Kreis, who was supervising chef of Hollywood's famous Brown Derby Restaurant explains how his Good Seasons salad dressing came into being. Continually beseeged by friends for information on how to make a salad, he obligingly gave instructions, yet everyone complained that their dressings never turned out as good as his.

"That got me to thinking," he says, "and I made up my mind to create the perfect blend of salad herbs and spices and package them complete with instructions about the proper proportion of oil and vinegar to use."

The ingenious chef added a small easily handled glass shaker to his salad kit. It was clearly marked, indicating so much vinegar and so much oil. This made it very easy to shake up a first class salad dressing. When the mix hit the market, salads had already taken hold in California, and it became popular almost overnight there.

Salad dressings were considered so good by General Foods, the world's largest packaging corporation of grocery products, that they decided to add Chef Kreis's Good Seasons Salad Dressing Mix to their "family of fine foods."

THE PARMER FARMER

We have chased County Agent Joe Jones down several times during the past few weeks, pressing for the results of those extensive hybrid grain sorghum tests he staked out over the county this spring.

Joe says that the results have been very slow in coming in, and he is reluctant to release any figures for publication until a complete—or nearly so—representation can be had.

We appreciate this idea, and hope that farmers who have cooperated in this rather large experiment will come through with the necessary statistics in order for the results to be tabulated and published.

Hybrids generated a world of interest in the grain sorghum producing areas this year, and we share the excitement of area farmers in finding out the results of their year of large-scale production.

Our candid advice at the moment, based on what some of the experimenters themselves have said is: Don't set your sights too high. This is our first try with varieties which have some characteristics that are totally unlike the ones we have grown for years and years.

Also, it already has been pointed out that the hybrids probably won't make as good a showing under ideal or nearly so conditions, as they will under adverse conditions, particularly drouth.

An area ginner, who is publicity shy and asks that we not use his name, thinks he has unearthed something sensational in reducing or almost eliminating static electricity problems in ginning cotton.

Static electricity, especially in dry and often windy West Texas, is tough to whip, and ginners often are troubled by this condition until they are virtually shut down.

The dry, fleecy cotton picks up so much "juice" as it is transported through the gin that it adheres to the machinery and refuses to turn loose of particles of dust, which has the double effect of not only reducing the gin's ability to turn it out, but also reduces the grade of the cotton considerably.

This particular ginner's idea is not revolutionary in the sense that it makes use of anything new in the "de-statising" field. It merely is his method which is different.

He applies a common wetting agent to the cotton as it is weighed in. This is in contrast to the already proven practice of spraying the chemical on the cotton as it passes through the stands.

Results are most gratifying, he says. Perhaps his desire to remain anonymous is explained by his comment to us that he is in the process of obtaining a patent for this different method.

The picture just below shows how the wetting agent is shot into the dry bolls.

The wetting agent increases the moisture content of the cotton to a point where static caused from friction against gin parts is almost eliminated. No damage to staple occurs with this treatment.

Most major farm commodities are still in surplus.

One of these is our "competitor" feed grain, corn. Good old corn, one of the oldest cultivated crops on the North American continent, is still the major product of the nation's farms, the net worth each year being over $4 billion. The Midwest, East, and Southeastern parts of the country produce most of the crop, though most states have some acreage.

Next year's pig crop seems sure to be reduced, and prognosticators warn that corn may go as much as 20% over actual needs.

Wheat figures to about hold its own, unless exports can be increased substantially. Domestic use and exports combined now about equal the annual production. There are 980 million bushels of wheat in CCC hands.

The cotton picture is bright for the first time in years, especially if some of the Southeastern producing areas come into the soil bank. Domestic use is about stable, but Uncle Sam is stepping up exports. There are still about 10 million bales of cotton in the warehouses, though.

It's not too important to our specific area, but we all are interested to note the great progress that has taken place in the surplus dairy products department.

Stockpiles of butter and cheese, which were almost a national scandal a year ago, have been halved. The stockpile is still going down, and the USDA program to cure the ills of this arm of agriculture seems to have been successful.

when classes actually were in session? How long has it been since you have seen for yourself what changes are inexorably working themselves into the complexion of the local classroom?

High school enrollment now is 225. That amount breaks down into 40 seniors, 45 juniors, 72 sophomores, and 68 freshmen. All of these students now meet in one building on the campus.

Admittedly, that one building would be sufficient if teaching today was as it was a generation ago when, because of a narrow curriculum, the need for many different classrooms was not so pressing.

But, not so today.

For instance, there is a rush to enroll in home economics courses. There are now 81 girls in high school seeking instruction in this field. There might possibly be more, but the administration seeks to encourage students to diversify into other studies when one, such as home ec, gets so crowded.

The boys like vocational instruction in agriculture. There are 75 of them in the series, and like the girls, they are bottled into only one classroom.

As the high school was designed to accommodate rooms of 30 students each (considered the maximum number for proper instruction conditions), this situation has meant that Mrs. Dalton Caffey, the home economics teacher, has to stay after school a couple of hours nearly each day to see that girls get an opportunity to work on their projects.

In addition to the domestic sciences, there are 70 in general science, 60 in biology, 30 in chemistry, and 10 in physics. That makes 170 boys and girls who have subjects requiring laboratory work—and there's but one lab in the high school.

This lab, designed for 25 students at a time, is woefully inadequate for the need. As a result, most science classes turn out to be largely lecture in nature, rather than having the benefits of laboratory demonstrations.

Looking at the building as a whole, we see a modern and attractive structure, but one which is too small to meet the needs of this fast-growing district.

There are seven classrooms, one study hall, the home ec and ag departments, one science room, a band hall, and two offices. Many of these rooms serve dual or triple purposes, with activities going on in them simultaneously which bear no relation one to another.

The building, erected in 1931, was gutted by fire in 1950. At that time, a $225,000 bond issue was floated to rebuild the damaged structure and add the agriculture and science departments.

Latest improvement has been to the old gym on the south end of the building, which was remodeled into a band hall at a cost of $37,000. That amount did not require a bond election.

Also, after consolidation with the Lakeview school, the house used in that community was brought to the Friona campus, and is still serving well, although it is a frame, non-fireproof building.

At the time it was brought in, it was for storage of the janitor's supplies, but growth of the school promptly forced it into use for teaching. Driver education and physical education classes are now being held there.

In a nutshell, the Friona high school can already hang a "no vacancy" sign on its door. But, progress doesn't wait, and even next year, prospects appear certain that another 35 or 40 students will be mashed in somewhere.

The 40 graduating seniors will be replaced by 78 freshmen. Where do we go from here? Next week we'll explain some possibilities under consideration by the school board.

Reeve Heads Drive

Glenn E. Reeve, local Chevrolet dealer, is devoting one day of his time during the week commencing Friday, November 23, to head a membership campaign among factory authorized new car and truck dealers. As Area Chairman for Farmer County for the National Automobile Dealers Association and the Texas Automotive Dealers Association, Reeve is an active leader in dealer association affairs. The campaign has as its goal the enrolling of every authorized new car and truck dealer as a member of the state and national associations.

Announcement of the membership campaign for the two associations was made jointly by Tom Abbott of Fort Worth, Texas director for the NADA and D. L.

Johnson, Dallas, president of the TADA.

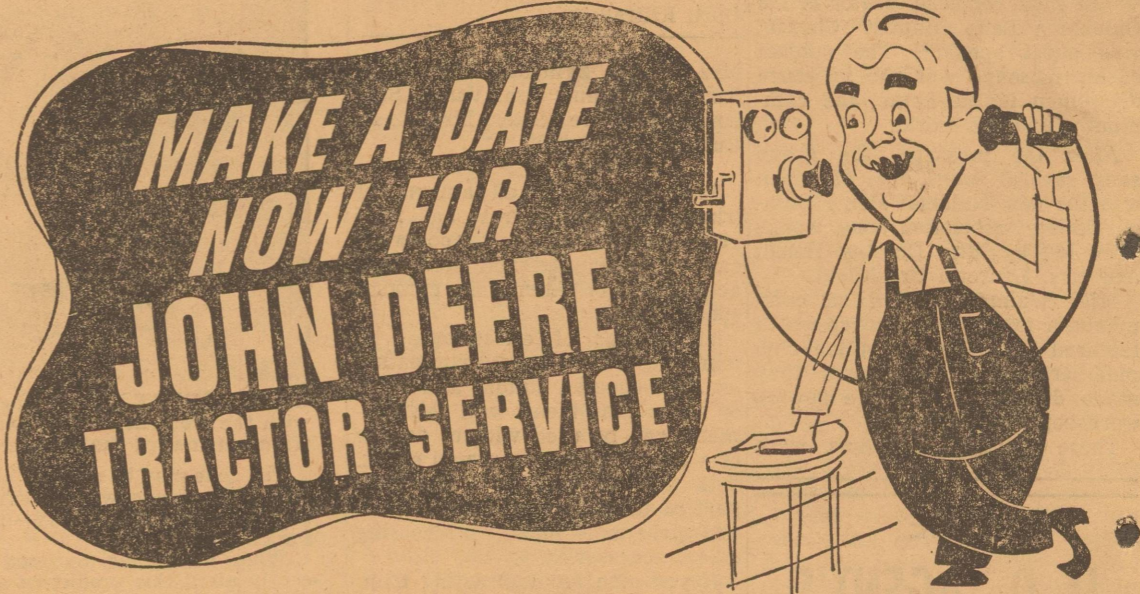

NADA is one of America's largest retail business associations, with a membership of over 31,000 retail new car and truck dealers in every state. It was founded in 1917.
