NRA Puts Two Million People to Work

It is estimated that already the NRA program has taken 2,000,000 people off the unemployment lists and put them in jobs. This means, conservatively figured, that a billion dollars a year is already added to the purchasing power of the American people, and the movement is only beginning. This circumstance alone ought to be sufficient assurance to those timid people who have been doubting the success of the great experiment.

Ultimately, of course, all the business of the United States will be conducted under the codes, which have for their chief purpose correction of the unemployment situation. Elements in this accomplishment are the elimination of child labor, the shortening of hours of work, and a higher wage scale. It needs no statistician to demonstrate that every decrease of unemployment brings us closer to the end of economic depression, for every man who is earning a living indirectly contributes by what he buys to the employment of others, and so the wheels of commerce will turn faster and faster until the great depression becomes merely a memory. The rapidity with which we reach this desired goal depends on the promptness with which industry generally comes into the fold. Already most of the larger industries are in. But the smaller manufacturer or merchant, taken in the mass, is even more important than the big corporations. Incidentally, the consumer must play his part. Every purchase made now is an investment, the dividends of which will come out of future prosperity. Moreover, the encouragement the consumer can give to the businesses that comply with the NRA will not only encourage him but will be a warning to those who are holding back that if they expect to share in the general revival they had better get aboard at once.

Evangelist Cole Doing Some Fine Preaching

Rev. E. F. Cole is truly doing some fine preaching and the congregations are growing with each passing night. We urge that all who know Christ as Savior to fall in and help us in this meeting. A real revival of religion will help every church and Christian in this community, so let us do our best for Christ at this time.

Brownfield Baptist Association To Meet Here. Our association was to have met at Meadow, but on account of the continued drought at Meadow, and so many of their people have moved away, they felt they could not accommodate the association at this time. Our dear people in a fine Christian spirit offered to be a big brother to our sister church, and take the responsibility off their hands. So the Brownfield Baptist Association will meet here Sept. 14-15. We are asking that all our people so arrange their affairs so they will be able to attend this important meeting and help us entertain the visitors, etc.

As pastor of this church, I appreciate the fine spirit on the part of our people in taking this burden off Meadow. It was not our time in point of years, but we are glad to have our sister churches come to us at any time.—J. M. Hale, Pastor

Movies Will Portray Story of "New Deal"

Washington.—The motion picture industry reaching millions of American citizens daily has been mobilized by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson to propagandize the purposes of the National Recovery Act. Short films featuring popular players and written by well-known authors will tell the story of the New Deal by pictures in sound from thousands of screens.

If You Don't Get Your Herald—Tell Us

A good friend of the editor, and one of our best farmers walked into the Herald office last week, and asked if the Herald was still a dollar a year, and stated he believed he would take it. At that time we thought he was joking and meant he wanted to renew another year. But when he left and we tried to find his name on the list, it was not there. He was really a new reader. You could have knocked us down with a nail file. He had always taken the paper, and was one of the most prompt to pay we have ever had.

Later we met him on the street and asked when the paper stopped or if he ordered it stopped. No, he thought we got sore at him about something and stopped it. Not on your tintype. As long as a man pays for the paper, we won't ever get sore enough to stop it. We especially like this man, who so far as we know he never did us any harm in his life. Returning to the office, we started in to try to run down the cause of his paper getting off the list.

Here is what happened: Another man by the same name, with almost similar initials was getting two papers each week. One of the employees was asked to remove one of them, and instead of getting one of the names of the other fellow, he pulled the slug that contained the name of this man.

So from now on, any reader, whose paper is up within a reasonable proximity to the present time, and it fails to come, don't think for an instant that we are sore. Just drop in and we'll gladly rectify any mistake we have made—and we make 'em—plenty.

Primitive Baptist Association Next Week

The West Texas Primitive Baptist Association will begin its sessions here next Thursday night, August 24, and will continue till Sunday 27th. Delegates are expected from all over Texas and from many other states, more especially from west Texas and New Mexico.

The old Turner wagon yard sheds have been secured for the meetings, the best available at this time, as the Missionary Baptists are using the city tabernacle. If more shade is needed, an extension from the sheds will be made with cotton bagging. It will be seated with lumber.

Tom Bingham, who is taking a leading part in the entertainment of visitors, asked us to request all who have donated beavers to bring them in Monday or Tuesday of next week. Mr. Bingham states that citizens in the country as well as in town are helping with a liberal hand.

Some of the best talent of that faith in this section will be heard at the meetings here.

Trees in Court Yard In Healthy Condition

Despite the fact that the freeze in February wreaked vengeance on the trees in the court square park, they are looking fine and healthy now. Mr. Oliver is taking great pains to keep them in growing condition, and uses plenty of water to do so when natural rainfall is deficient. A man has been hired to take out all dead timber, and is on the job now.

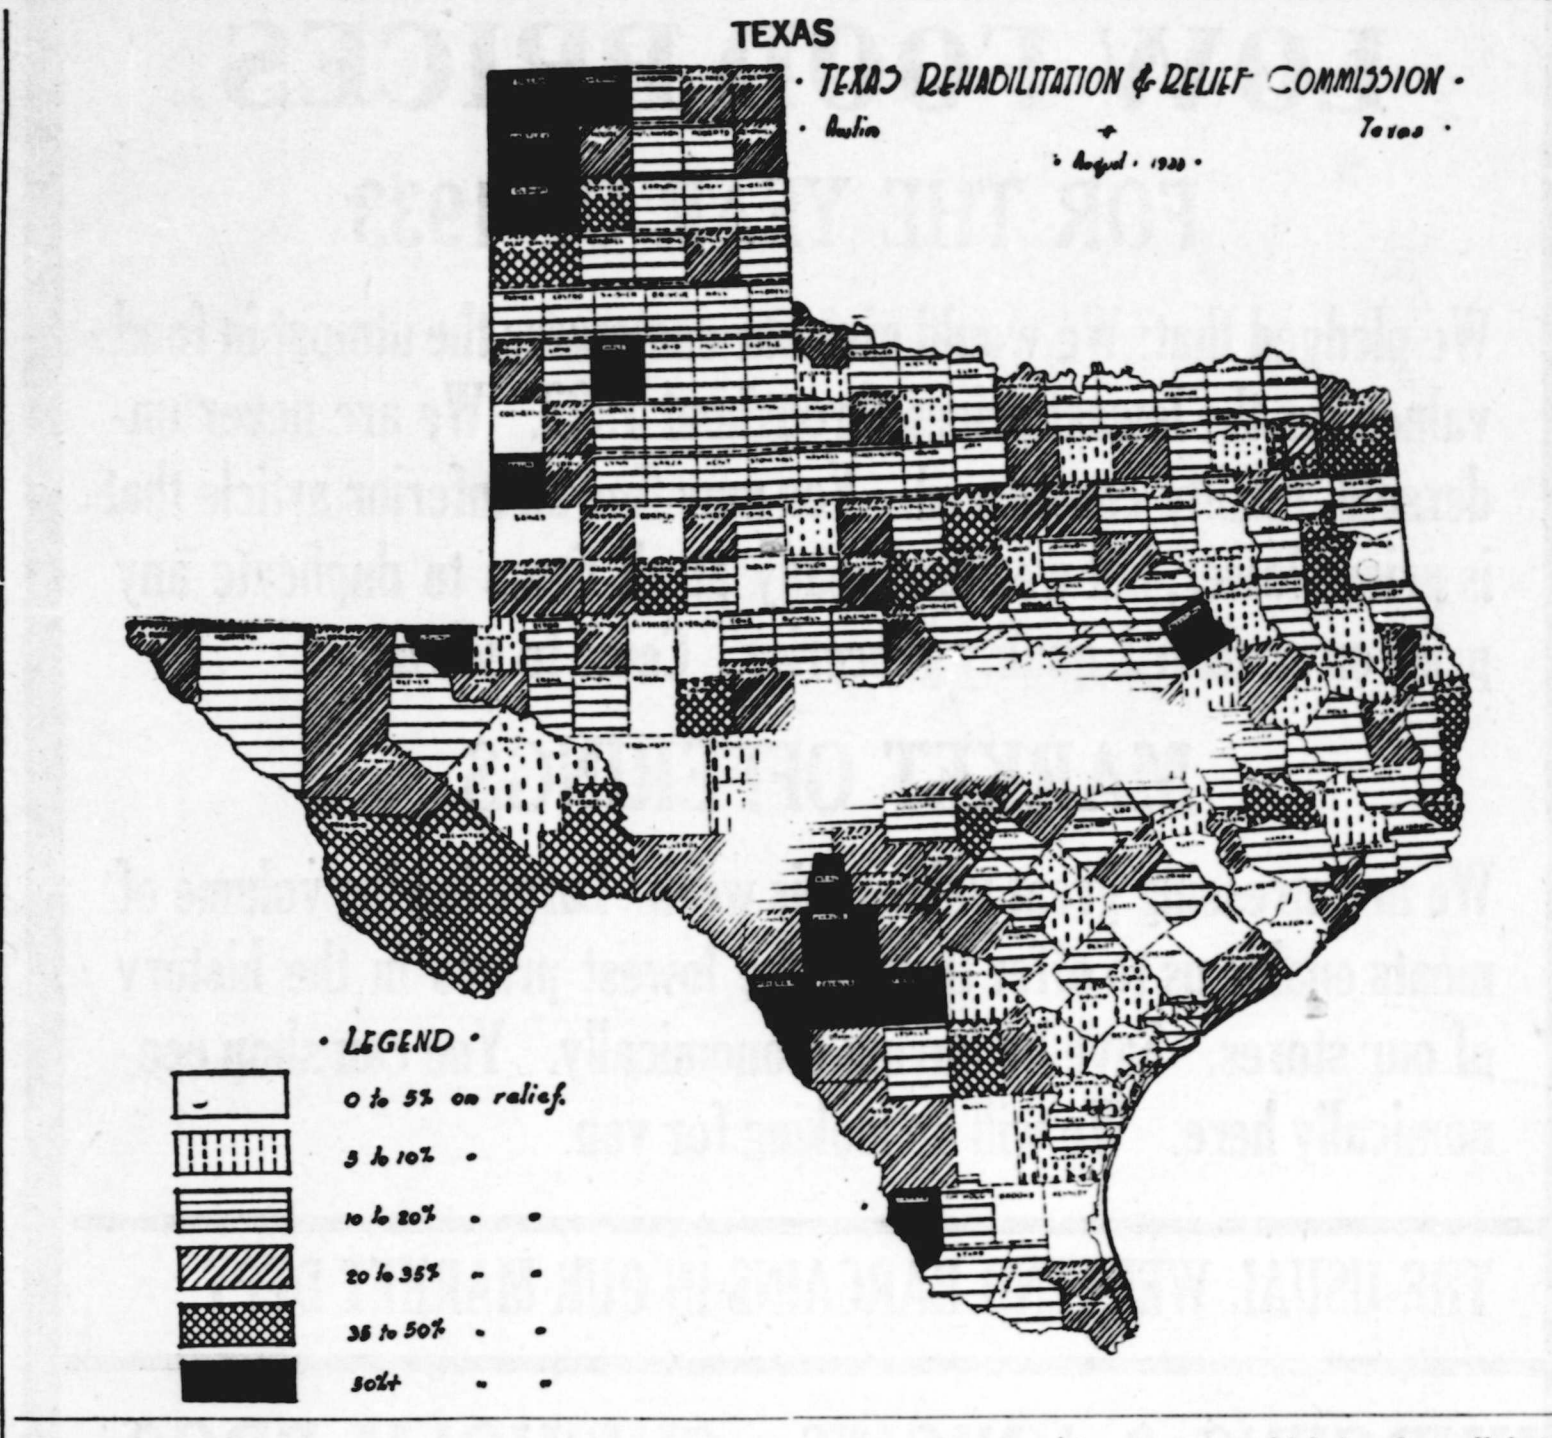

Personally though, we always wanted to see some kind of yard grass planted in the park. As large as the trees are, we don't believe it would injure them in the least, as they will shade the grass too much for the grass to grow directly beneath them.

It is a mystery why grass or trees will grow so much better from natural rainfall than from sprinkling.

Brownfield Placed 4th In Golf League

Our understanding is that with the games played recently, the South Plains Golf League ended the season, with the Lubbock Country Club and Lubbock Meadowbrook teams standing first and second respectively. The former was well in the lead of the latter.

Next came Plainview, then Brownfield, followed by Slaton, with Littlefield bringing up the rear. In this connection we wish to state that the Brownfield golfers are getting their links in fine shape. All bushes and other obstruction near the fairways, have been cut, and the grounds kept smooth with a large roller.

The Situation is A Very Grave One

If every voter in Texas clearly understood the critical situation existing and ever growing graver in regard to the condition of the state's unemployed, the proposed amendment to authorize the Legislature to raise funds by bond issue would amass the most overwhelming favorable majority at the polls of any issue ever submitted to the electorate. Under seven principal heads come the objections that have been advanced against the bond issue proposal.

Canning Campaign Good For the County

In view of the fact that it seems that meat animals and feed can never run along together; meat too low to feed high priced corn to, or some other inequality of balance, this will be a good year for citizens to take care of their own needs for some time by canning up a supply of luscious beef. Of course the canning of vegetables and fruits if you have them are in order at any time. This year, it appears that corn and perhaps maize, higeria and other feeds are to be too high to put into meat animals, unless meats take a turn greatly upward from the price now being offered.

With the help and encouragement of our new county agent, Mr. Reed, to direct the campaign, and with the provision made so that cans can be supplied to those who are not able to purchase them on a basis of a percentage of cans of meats and vegetables returned in payment of the cans used, there is no one who has the meats and vegetables of their own but can use them to advantage. As stated elsewhere in this issue, application for these "trade in" cans must be made to Malcolm Thomason instead of the county agent.

Some time ago, a list of places where community kitchens were located in this county, was printed, and if you have forgotten the location of the nearest to you, you may find out from either the county agent or J. E. Shelton at the chamber of commerce offices. Of course you do not need this information if you are prepared to can and seal your own stuff in your own home. We understand that filled cans received by the R. F. C. in exchange for empties, will be used in feeding the destitute here this winter.

Lubbock Odd Fellows Put on Minstrel Here

A large crowd of local Odd Fellows assembled at the hall last Tuesday night to hear a bunch of tripple linkers from the Hub put on a fine minstrel. The report came to the writer that it was one of the best home talent shows of its kind that they ever saw, and that all enjoyed it very much.

At the conclusion of the show, the local Odd Fellows provided refreshments in abundance, and a general good time was had. The Lubbock linkers were highly complimented and asked to return some time.

for a state, which is after all but a group of citizens banded together in a society whose interest is social and economical self-preservation. To answer the argument against setting a precedent for issuing state bonds it is well to point out that there is far less danger in authorizing the legislature to issue a limited amount during a limited period, in this case the total not to exceed 20 million dollars in a period of two years, than there would be if an amendment were voted authorizing the State Legislature to appropriate directly out of the general tax funds for the support of the destitute.—Ex.

A Trip Out to the Brownfield Ranch

In company with Claude Hudgens and wife, the editor and wife and Mrs. Kyle Graves took a spin in the Hudgens car out to the Ray Brownfield ranch Monday afternoon. Mr. Hudgens had to connect up a radio for Frank Rickles who has charge of the ranch. We found that they have the best grass growing on the ranch that they have had in a long time, and the cattle and horses are as fat as you please. Only Mr. Rickles and a young man they have hired do the work out there, a far flung change of condition from the time when it took several hands to look after a herd of cattle.

Now the pastures are well fenced and are kept in a fine state of repair so that the cattle will not get out and bother the crops of neighboring farmers. Also, the cattle are bred up and more gentle and easier to keep inside inclosures than the old long horns. Ray has several hundred head of among the best bred up Herefords in this section of the county.

The ranches like the farms, were hit hard by the freeze in February. The grape vines were practically all killed, and they once had such a pretty arbors out there. The peach and apple trees were especially hard hit, and even the old hardy cottonwood, some two feet through, show much dead timber. Mr. Rickles informed us that all the mesquite and catclaw bushes were killed down to the ground.

Johnson grass has taken the farm north of the ranch house, but the grass is harvested and used on the ranch for the milk cows and saddle horses. Mrs. Rickles has a fine garden which supplies the table with good fresh vegetables. They don't seem to have much to worry about on that ranch.

Yoakum County Singing Convention 4th Sun.

The Herald has been requested to announce that the Yoakum county singing convention will assemble the 4th Sunday in this month, which will be the 27th day thereof at the Turner school house. Everyone invited, and a good time and some good singing is anticipated.

We understand that the Huff Sisters of Lovington, N. M., are expected, as well as the Carson Brothers and other good singers over this section.

ed against the bond issue proposal. First of all, there is the general reluctance to depart from the established custom of keeping the state free from bonded indebtedness, and fear that a precedent may be set which would be followed to disaster; and second, there is a specific objection at this time to increasing already burdensome taxes. These two objections are so closely related that their answer is likewise so. When a man is in need of funds to meet a desperate situation he raises them, if his credit is good, by borrowing, expecting to repay when his income makes it possible. That is his logical course, and it is no less logical

"The Argonne of 1933" Legion Men Are Told

The Local American Legion post, as well as all others in the United States perhaps, have received the following letter from the Recovery Act administration. Leaders here stated that they did not know whether a meeting of the local post would be called to act on the matter or not, but as individuals, Legion men were perhaps 100 percent behind President Roosevelt and Gen. Johnson.

Following is full text of the letter to Legionnaires:

Fight to the Finish
"Our country is in the middle of the greatest battle in its history. It is the Argonne of 1933, a fight to the finish to end conclusively the war of economic forces that has brought us all to the threshold of disaster. This battle must be won as decisively as that first battle of the Argonne in 1918 in France. Victory will be swift and certain if every loyal American citizen does his part. No politics whatever is involved. This is no time for slackers or conscientious objectors. This is a fight to bring contentment and plenty back to millions of American homes that otherwise face another winter of hunger and misery. It is a fight to give an honest job with an honest living wage to every bread-winner who wants to work.
"We must not fail! We dare not fail!"

Hails Legion Help in Unemployment Drive

Washington.—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, National Recovery Administrator, has expressed deep appreciation of the enlistment of the American Legion in the fight for the President's re-employment program.

"It gives me a great personal thrill to hear that my comrades in more than 10,000 American Legion Posts are in the fight to make the President's plan a success," he said. "Legion members, always loyal, are particularly well equipped to help the President carry on. They are well organized, they have high standing in their communities, and they know how to strike hard for victory. It is the heartiest support of all red-blooded Americans such as the Legionnaires. I knew they would be in the thick of it."

Claude Hudgens and wife were Lubbock visitors, Monday morning.

Has "Blue Eag" Bird Tattooed on His Chest

New York, Aug. 11.—The patriotic heart of Mr. K. Maramapus beat proudly tonight beneath the outspread wings of a Blue Eagle that has come to roost more or less permanently upon his broad bosom.

Mr. Maramapus, who runs a suit and dress repairing concern on the fourth floor rear of a Third avenue loft building and whose payroll lists five names, had the bird tattooed on his chest today and thereby solved a problem that has been bothering him no end.

"Blue eag' on the piece of paper, she no good," explained the plump, active, rosey-cheeked Mr. Maramapus. "Put my eag' in my window, she see nobody, nobody see my eag'. I think hard. I feel much trob'. I walk down street, see blue eag', blue eag', plenty blue eag' in windows, but nobody see my blue eag, I feel much trob'."

"So, I think hard. I think quick, like that. I think tattoo. Tattoo, I think, very good, but I say, 'no, wait. Think.' So the next day I think more, and the more I think, the more I think tattoo. So this morning I say, 'now tattoo' and now I got my blue eag'."

"My chest, she hurt, but I no care. I got my blue eag'. When I see my custom, my friends, I do like this—ho!"

And with a flourish Mr. Maramapus bared his chest.

Brownfield Schools to Begin Term Sept. 4th

The 1933-34 session of the Brownfield Public Schools will open on Monday, Sept. 4th. A detailed program for the opening will be published later in the Herald.

Our schools are going to be operated in a greatly reduced financial expenditure this year. While we will be handicapped to some extent due to the increased teacher-pupil load, the efficiency of our school will not be greatly impaired. I think we are fortunate in retaining most of our teachers of last year, and in securing well prepared new ones.

The most important business of the people is the education of their children. Let's all work to make this school year the best ever.

—Paul F. Lawlis.

Rev. J. A. Gibson to Speak Again Saturday

Rev. J. A. Gibson announces that he will speak again from the band stand at the court house lawn next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. His subject will be, "Resurrection of the Dead—Will There be a Thousand Years Between the Resurrection of the Righteous and the Unrighteous?" You are invited to hear him.

Also, Rev. Gibson says that he was badly misrepresented by some last Saturday that told on the streets that he said the mark of the beast spoken of in Revelation was the NRA. He says that he merely quoted from a prominent Fort Worth preacher on the subject, and that he tried to make it plain that it was not his view of the matter.

Probe to Be Made of Sudan Man's Death

Littlefield, Aug. 12.—An investigation into the death of the late A. D. Russ, Sudan, who was mysteriously killed at his home some months ago, is being conducted by Sheriff Len Irvin, it was learned here.

Russ was slain by an unknown person as he answered a knock at his door at night. A .38 calibre pistol's said to have been used by the assailant. No arrests have so far been made and relatives were unable at the time of the killing to give any clue as to any one who might be involved in the case.

Miss Eloise McSpadden of Bovina, is here visiting her father, Hal McSpadden, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McSpadden.

Baptist Meeting Now Under Full Headway

The Baptist revival which started at the church building Sunday morning, was moved to the city tabernacle Monday, and all services for this week and the next till the meeting closes will be conducted at that place. Rev. Cole is here now, Rev. Hale starting the meeting for him, and we understand the evangelist will be here the rest of the meeting.

Judge W. W. Price has charge of the song service, and he has what is said to be the best choir in the city. Congregational singing too will be had all during the revival. Good crowds at night are responding, and reasonably good day attendance is in evidence.

The church of Christ closed a successful meeting Sunday night, indeed one of the best in years from many angles, although not in additions, perhaps. However, some ten or 12 from all sources responded.

Business Upswing Again is Recorded

New York, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The 16 weeks has been resumed after a business upswing which continued for brief pause caused by uncertainties surrounding the new industrial codes and a restricted seasonal recession in some lines, Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., said today in its weekly trade review.

Extension of retail and wholesale distribution has been wider than was commonly reported, the review said, and rested on a real need for merchandise rather than a speculative desire to seek advantage of any probable fluctuation in price trends.

Looking ahead, the agency envisaged the straightening of the upward sales curve in the opening fall months as more than counterbalancing any slackening that may appear in the next few weeks.

Sales Effective
"Retail trade" asserted the review, "has contributed to hold the gains made during the last several weeks, having been bolstered steadily by the generous response to the August clearance sales which have been general throughout the country."

"Increasing buying power has served to check the usual midsummer decline in evidence at this period and department stores are holding volume to an increasingly greater extent at a level above that for the comparative period last year."

39 States May Vote on Repeal During Year

Washington, D. C. Aug. 11.—The nation's quick-shifting repeal map today showed possibilities that 39 states will ballot well before next New Year's Day on the question of whether prohibition is or is not to be.

Rounding off a week of major wet-and-dry developments, Governor Ruby Laffon of Kentucky yesterday called a special session of legislature for August 15, to vote on submitting the eighteenth amendment.

A few hours earlier, Governor O. K. Allen of Louisiana confirmed a statement that a special session of the state's legislature would be called for the same purpose. Allen set no date.

Should both states be given votes before the year's end, however, the total to ballot would reach 39 as a minimum. Ratifications by 36 are necessary for repeal.

Arizona's vote for repeal of the amendment by a three to one vote earlier in the week brought to 21 the states that have spoken without a break for abolition of the dry law.

Commanders of the prohibition and anti-prohibition forces turned immediately to Missouri, where ballots will be cast next week. Other states to make decisions this month will be Texas and Washington.

The absolute certainty that at least 37 states will vote this year was sealed when Governor Henry H. Blood of Utah, issued a proclamation calling an election November 7, to record that state's position.

Bill Pool was in Monday from the ranch after supplies.

The Official paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield.

A weather report recently stated "that it would be generally fair on the east coast of west Texas." So we guess they will be putting in a deep sea port very soon in the "city where the west begins."

The weekly newspapers have received copies of their code that was recently adopted in a national session at Washington. It don't seem very hard to comply with. Personally we aim to offer our hands the paper and take their salary as an employee if we can work it that way. It has not so far been approved by the national NRA director.

You will note that the Herald has passed another mile post on its more or less uneven journey. It has now seen its 29th birthday, twenty-four of which have been under the present management. We do not say it boastfully, but we believe it has been under one management longer than any other paper on the south plains, and few in West Texas have been guided by the same person longer.

"No one reads the paper," has been repeatedly told every newspaper worker since Ben Franklin set his first line of long primer, and disproven every time the name of a six-year-old fairy in the school play was printed Lucy Jones instead of Lucy Ann. Everyone from grandma to second cousin Susan will tell the editor that he should have known the little star's name; that it was just tickled to let such a glaring error get into the paper—why, even Lucy would never be the same again without that Ann. 'Squeer, isn't it, that nobody reads the paper, except he issue that happens to print a six-point error.—Seagraves Signal.

Yes, the Eighteenth Amendment will probably be repealed, beer will come back after the 26th of this month, and our own state prohibition law may be set aside entirely a little later, but we still don't believe our country is going to the devil. We have faith enough in our people to believe that after having given legalized liquor another chance, they will either vote it out again after a few years or so rigidly regulate its sale as to greatly eliminate its evils. We are not going to permit the liquor traffic to destroy us.—Tahoka News.

That is the spirit E. I. We knew you were a good sport although an ardent dry. Yes, the American people are rather fickle in their belief. They may set their heads stubbornly on a subject matter one year, and gore the dickens out of it at the polls the next. Within ten years, we may see the pendulum swing toward prohibition as strongly as it seems to be swinging the other way now.

"If all our people have work and fair wages and fair profits, they can buy the products of their neighbors and business is good. But if you take away the wages and profits of half of them, business is only half as good. It don't help much if the fortunate half is very prosperous—the best way is for everybody to be reasonably prosperous."—Franklin D. Roosevelt.

And then there is the farmer over in Lubbock county who plowed up the wrong cotton. He said he knew it was the wrong cotton, but the cotton he sold to the government had received a good rain in the meantime and it was looking awfully good so he decided that he would just plow up some cotton that did not look so good. But Uncle Sam does not propose to get "gypped" in this cotton deal so this farmer must stand the entire loss and he will not receive a red copper for plowing up his cotton. Funny how some people will try to skin the other fellow, and be just a little dishonest about it.—Lockney Beacon.

THE NEVER-ENDING WAR

The American public has a war to fight every year. That war is against the accident menace—in industry, the home, on the highways and elsewhere.

This is not an empty parallel. Automobile accidents alone actually cost more lives than war. They create as much suffering. They are even comparable to war in the economic waste they entail.

On a number of fronts this war has been successful. In the industrial field tremendous progress in accident prevention has been made. Roster of important industries which operate for months at a stretch without a single mishap of importance, is constantly growing. The life and health of workers in every producing field has never been better guarded—because management has been tireless in instilling the doctrine of safety-first into its employees.

That is also true of children of school age. Thousands of young lives have been saved through courses on caution and accident prevention.

The great failure has been in the field of the automobile. Most years have seen decisive advances in the number of deaths and injuries over the last. Reduction, the few times they have occurred, have been small. The reckless and inconsiderate driver has scored victory after victory. The result is that our public streets and highways have become places of carnage.

The never-ending war against accident must be fought with increasing vigor if it is to succeed. The dangerous driver is public enemy Number 1. He should be given the treatment he deserves.

JOSEPH WELDON BAILEY WILL SPEAK IN LUBBOCK AUGUST 22

Joseph Weldon Bailey, Jr., of Dallas, congressman-at-large from Texas, is to speak at Lubbock on the night of August 22 in the interest of passage of the amendments allowing the sale of 3.2 beer in Texas and the state's ratification of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, it was announced Saturday from the offices of the Texas Liberal Legion here.

Young Bailey is to make a tour of the state in the interest of Texas approval of beer and his talk here will be the only one in this section.—Lubbock Avalanche.

REHEARSES ECONOMIC ERRORS

Reformers for many years have been trying to tell the folks what not to drink. Very, very few have been paying much attention to the economic condition that drives men to drink liquor to excess. Still fewer have been trying to work any reform in a commercial system that compels the masses to support the classes.

Arthur Brisbane in his column recently emphasized what he considered a great crime. The basis for the Brisbane crime was found in the New York stock exchange. Some "criminal" had placed tear gas bombs in such a position that when the liquid gas was released, the operators of that gambling hell and the employees were forced to vacate the building. The tear gas was placed by a "criminal" but no mention was made of the gamblers being criminals. Gamblers in the stock markets make suicides, paupers, human wrecks. They deny children the advantages of education and commit a thousand other wrongs through the operation of a "legalized" gambling hell approved by the government. Other gamblers deal in cotton, wheat and corn futures. They do not own any of it, but they control the price of these and other farm products. The government permits these wrongs to the great detriment of the farming class. Would we not have more faith in the NRA if these gambling hells were dispensed with first? If our government is to equalize opportunity, we do not need the commercialized machinery of capitalism to handicap our progress.

Quoting from a recent lecture by Karl Ashburn, a noted student of economics: "Workers are exploited too much. Two hundred corporations which are in turn controlled by 2,000 men, are in charge of all the businesses of the United States. The financial structure of the nation amount to 300 billions of dollars is controlled by a few of the banking houses like Morgan, Kahn and Mellon. If opportunity were equally distributed, each family would have an income of about $2,000 each instead of $600 as they have now."

It is pretty generally agreed that the present economic system has fostered crime and racketeering. Many churches have been commercialized to their great detriment. Divorce courts have been speeded up. As a nation suffering from commercial wrongs, happiness has been sought in many ways that caused laxity of morals. This excess materialism has brought unhappiness in general and created paupers and beggars by the million, the latter through the dole system the past few months. Knowing that great leaders in this effort to recover from economic distress are conversant with these conditions, we patiently look forward to many changes for the better before the new year.—Clarendon Leader.

NEW COTTON PLAN COMING

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said in an address here tonight he hoped the government would be able to announce a cotton program for next year not later than the middle of September. Mr. Wallace said that a program can be pushed to the extent that signed commitments from the farmers will be scored not later than the middle of November. Mr. Wallace did not attempt to outline next year's program. Mistress:—"You may take the dog out for a little air, Molly." Maid:—"Yes, ma'am, and where will I find the nearest service station." Burdett Auburg is on a ranch near Lovington to spend a month.

AUGUST MONTH OF INCREASING INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Austin, Aug. 7.—The month of August usually shows an increase in the number of cases of infantile paralysis in Texas, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. It is not only a serious disease but also one of the most treacherous with which the medical profession has to deal. The death rate is very high and also the number of cripples. It is estimated that one-third to one-half of all the cripples in the United States can trace their handicap to infantile paralysis.

Suspicion should be aroused when an illness begins with headache, drowsiness, fever, irritability, vomiting, diarrhea or constipation and with stiffness in the back of the neck or spine. When such early symptoms appear, parents are urged to obtain medical advice at once and no assume the condition to be of temporary importance. Treatment at this stage of the disease is of great importance and more effective than when delayed until after the appearance of paralysis. These acute symptoms rarely last more than a few days, 75 per cent of the cases developing on or before the 4th day.

The disease may be divided into two main groups, the paralyzed and the non-paralyzed. The latter, regardless of how mild, is the greater danger in spreading the disease. No one would deliberately expose a susceptible person to a definite paralytic case, so it is the exposure to the unknown case or carrier which causes the greatest spreading of the disease.

Dodging infantile paralysis infection is a blind game for no one knows where the infection exists. Sometimes it appears as if the infection spreads as that of influenza, but owing to the longer period between exposure and illness, cases do not appear in such rapid succession and because of extensive natural immunity, at least to its paralytic effects, the recognized cases are many times fewer. The best plan to follow to avoid this disease as well as many others is for the individual to follow the rules of personal hygiene.

PRIZE JASSACK OF 1933

Numerous stories are told, some true and some untrue, of the stupidity of government officials "clouded with a little brief authority. One, which seems to be well authenticated was told in press dispatches recently about a federal deputy game warden in Indiana. A humane gentleman and bird lover named Foster Lewis found a red bird with a broken leg in his backyard. He had the wounded leg set, cared for it and nursed it back to health. After the bird was well it refused to leave its benefactor and persisted in staying about the house. Then comes the deputy game warden, who points out to Mr. Lewis that he is violating the migratory bird law by keeping the bird on his premises. And Mr. Lewis is arrested. We don't know how the case came out, but if the game warden was not fired and branded as the prize jassack of 1933 he didn't get what was coming to him.—Jayton Chronicle.

Farm Woman Profits From Rug Making

Mrs. John Wood of the Skinnertown home demonstration club, Polk county, Texas, is pictured at her rug frame working on a hooked rug. Mrs. Wood has made hooked rugs, braided rugs and mats for less than a year. In six months she sold five hooked rugs, two braided wool rugs and three mats, which together with $4 taken in prizes at fairs gave her a sum of $49.79 for her work.

Killed by Wild Wheel at Auto Race

Miss Allie Mae Sherrill Miss Madelene McMaster
 A roar of speeding race cars, a flash of a wheel unloosed, screams from the crowd of spectators, and two Dallas girls were fatally injured. Both are now dead. The two girls, with another girl and a man, went to the night auto races in Dallas. The wheel came off of the speeding car and ran wild, striking the heads of the two girls pictured above. Miss Sherrill, 14, died in a short time. Miss McMaster, 21, lingered unconscious a week before she succumbed.

Uncover Lost Army Camp in Valley

What the wind and tide covered in 1867, it brought to light again during the recent Gulf storm in the lower Rio Grande valley. On Brazos island, near the mouth of the Rio Grande and Brownsville, General Sheridan's old camp, buried under sand by a storm years ago, is now being searched for relics. In the left picture a wheel track is shown, probably made by an old cannon wheel in clay and preserved these years by sand. At the right searchers display medals, axes and guns left in the old camp when soldiers fled the storm.

Long Distance Calls Free at World's Fair

You can talk to your sweetie in Los Angeles or your spouse in New York city for nothing in this exhibit of the Bell Telephone company at the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress—if you're willing to let 25 or 30 others listen in. Calls can be made to any of 56 large American cities. The man in the booth at the extreme right is making one of the free calls, while the persons lining the back wall listen. The path of the call can be traced on the big map at the left.

Red Goose-The Ojibwa

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls
By Carlyle Emery
Episode No. 38

Episode No. 40.

Red Goose, Bear Cat and Frank Blake were captured by the Sioux. They were bound hand and foot and thrown into a tepee waiting night-fall, when the Sioux planned to take them down the river to their own country. But Little Beaver cut a hole in the tepee and came in to free them. Now go on with the story.

"Little Beaver," whispered Red Goose. "Why did you not go for help?"

"No. Tribe too far away. Little Beaver hide in the woods. See Sioux come and capture Red Goose. Little Beaver follow and come here too. Camp is asleep. Hurry and get away!"

"Little Beaver is brave. Quick! Cut things that bind Red Goose and Paleface."

"They'll catch us before we get a hundred yards away," said Bear Cat, lowering his voice.

"No. Many canoes on river bank. That is only chance," answered Little Beaver, as she cut the leather things that bound Red Goose and Bear Cat.

"Boy! It feels good to stretch. Those things were like iron." As Bear Cat spoke, he stood up and stretched his arms and legs with a big sign of relief and satisfaction.

Slowly and carefully, little Beaver led her two companions around the sleeping camp to the river. Suddenly Bear Cat stopped short and exclaimed: "Upon my soul, I had forgotten Frank! Where is he?"

"Other Paleface gone to happy hunting ground," said Little Beaver sadly. Come! We must not lose time."

As they approached the river they could see many canoes lined up on the bank, with a big Sioux standing guard over them.

"Sh-h-h—keep flat down. Sioux guard will pass here soon. Wait until close—then strike quick. Sh-h-h—guard come now."

As Red Goose gave these instructions, Bear Cat crouched low and then, at just the right moment leaped up and struck the guard so hard with his fist, the Red Skin fell to the ground dazed and bewildered.

"Quick! Take canoe!"

Little Beaver was already in, and as Red Goose and Bear Cat jumped in and pushed off, the canoe swung out toward midstream and headed for the falls that could be heard not two hundred yards away.

"We'll swamp in the rapids," cried Bear Cat.

"Better death by water than by torture," answered Red Goose, as he dipped his paddle deep in the water and pushed the canoe onward toward the falls.

By this time their escape had been discovered and wild shouts filled the air, as angry Sioux rush to the river bank. In no time at all they had their canoes in the water and with backs bent low over their paddles were in swift pursuit.

"Look out!" shouted Bear Cat.

"There are ugly rocks ahead!"

"Yes, and ugly Sioux behind. Paddle fast."

On and on they went, gathering speed as they neared the top of the steep falls that now were but a few feet in front of them.

Fort Bend First to Vote on Beer Issue

Richmond, Aug. 12.—Texas' first test on the prohibition question was provided here today when precinct number one, Fort Bend county voted five to one against continuing dry under local option.

The precinct includes the county seat of Richmond and the nearby town of Rosenberg, the two largest communities in this historic county. Richmond voted 176 wet to 13 dry and Rosenberg 326 wet to 92 dry.

Idle Men Warned To Stay at Home

Washington, Aug. 11.—Secretary Ickes as public works administrator warned men out of work not to leave their homes in search of employment elsewhere on public works projects.

Reports have reached the administrator that some futile migration was occurring as the public works program has developed.

Preference under the terms of the national industrial recovery act which set up the $3,300,000,000 fund, must be given local labor.

A. F. Phillips, of Lubbock, representing the Tayloe Paper Co., of Ft. Worth, was here Monday. He says he can tell that business is moving up some with the printing profession.

Where Urschel Was Held in Remote Texas Farm House

The top photo is the tenant house on the R. G. Shannon farm, south of Paradise, Texas, in Wise county, where C. F. Urschel, millionaire Oklahoma City oil man, was held until $199,620, the highest kidnap ransom ever collected, was paid. The left circle is the room in which Urschel slept at night, the arrow pointing to his bed. The right circle is the crib in which he was locked by day, the arrow pointing to a picture of the interior. The oil man remembered that an airplane flew over his prison every morning at 9:15 and every evening at 5:45, a fact which disclosed the whereabouts of the hideout.

38th Bone Broken

Although only ten years old, Clinton White of Fort Worth, has had 38 bones broken. For the 28th time, he is now in a plaster cast at the Children's Hospital. His bones are so fragile that he breaks them by turning over in bed, bending over or suffering the slightest fall or wrench. The last fracture happened when he stooped to pick up a piece of a cross word puzzle. Doctors say his bones are deficient in lime.

El Paso Beauty

There may be a shortage of wild waves in the arid expanses of West Texas, but the beauties who are usually seen on beaches seem to thrive as much as in wetter places. Here is Miss Jane Keller who was recently judged the most beautiful bathing beauty in El Paso, Tex.

Kidnappers and Where One Was Caught

Upper left is Harvey Bailey, notorious outlaw and escaped convict. Federal officers have proven conclusively that Bailey was one of two men who kidnaped C. F. Urschel, millionaire oil man, to collect the highest ransom ever paid, and also that he was the gunman who mowed down four officers and a convict in Kansas City. Bailey was captured while lying asleep on the cot pictured below, near the kitchen door of a Wise county (Texas) farmhouse. An officer thrust a machine gun in Bailey's mouth to awaken him. Upper right is George Kelley, the member of the gang who is still at large. A large sum of money, said to be part of the marked Urschel ransom, was found on Bailey, and Urschel's fingerprints were found all over the house.

Miss Kemp has a lion farm near San Antonio, and needs no introduction to Texas. She spends all her winters on the farm training her animals. The lion tordmore, where Miss Kemp drives this car around the sides of the huge bowl, was recently named one of the eleven outstanding special attractions of the Fair.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

For some reason or other, we do not find an issue of August 21st of the good year of 1910. Must have been lost, as surely we did not miss an issue in mid-summer. We remember that we missed several around Christmas. In fact we don't remember ever having printed a paper Christmas week until well up in the 20's. And we find the issue of the next week dated Sept. 25, when it should be dated the 27th. Anyway we will copy from it this week, skip next week and start September together.

About the most interesting thing on the first page was some extracts from a paper, "The West Tennesseean" published at Bolivar, Tennessee, (our old home county seat) in 1857. That was about 76 years ago and hoop skirts were advertised by the merchants. The merchants would also barter other things for feathers, linseys, jans, beeswax or what have you. One negro woman and her five-year-old child was to be sold to satisfy a debt before the courthouse door of Hardeman county. That was the day of the Know Nothing party, but news from Texas stated that the state had gone democratic. There were many other interesting things in that old paper which we cannot copy here. Also, on the first page was a notice that drilling operations for oil would soon start in Scurry county. At that time there was not an oil well in all west Texas.

On the editorial page we announced that war had been declared, and reading on down, we find that at the Galveston convention, Sen. Joe Bailey had announced for reelection. We said that anti-Bailey Democrats would fight until the next generation if it took that long to raise up a man to beat Bailey. But it didn't take

HOW LONG WILL YOUR CAR LAST?

You have seen to cars of the same make and age driven practically the same distance over the same length of time and at moderate speeds. But here all resemblance ceased. One car was ready for the junk heap while the other was just beginning a long period of active service. Perhaps you have thought that this was just another case of one fellow getting a faulty car. But that is hardly possible in these days of mass production. Cars of the same make and model are practically identical in quality. The short life of the so-called "faulty car" can be attributed to negligence in having it lubricated properly and regularly. And this is where we come in. We are prepared to give a THOROUGH lubricating job at a reasonable, very reasonable, price. Let us assist your car in giving you a square deal. 85 percent of all repair bills are caused by faulty lubrication.

Even the Hoboes Are Hit By Code

Chicago, Aug. 14.—While they lost no time in drawing up a code of fair practice, the Hoboes of America as represented at their annual convention find modern conditions none too attractive for their profession.

Jeff Davis of Cincinnati, "king of the hoboes", Ose Routh of New York, and his father, James Routh of San Francisco, drew up the code for the itinerant workmen as they call themselves. It provides:

Hoboes will not wash dishes or otherwise work in a restaurant for meals—such might take work away from a man with a family.

Pay for cleaning snow off walks shall be 50 cents an hour and the same rate applies to shovelling coal or cleaning windows.

Hoboes may chop wood or farms in exchange for a bed in the barn or a meal but shall not chop all day for these rewards.

SUMMERTIME MAGIC

Mabel S. Merrill in Home Friend

I know a green corner the size of your hat

Where venturesome grasses get trampled flat;

For it's close to the sidewalk in Workaday Street

That echoes all day to the tapping of feet.

But once it had rained and that small spot of green

Shone fair in the sunlight, all dewy and clean;

And there stood a buttercup, neat as a pin,

Fit to make a gold flare under Sylvia's chin.

Then, while I was gazing, a gold butterfly,

Just blown out of dreamland, came wandering by.

On the blossom it settled, till petals and wing

Had blended to fashion a marvelous thing.

A summertime vision it shone for me there,

A glimmer of gladness, like song in the air.

Now I look every day at that patch of green grass;

Who knows what new miracle might come to pass?

And I'm almost forgetting the dust and the heat

Since a buttercup blossomed in Workaday Street.

CHALLIS CHATS

The long looked for rain came to some parts of this community last Friday afternoon. Although it was not general, it did lots of good to the young crops that was dry planted.

The Primitive Baptists are having their association here and there are several visitors here from Young, Lubbock, and Hockley county and Oklahoma and New Mexico.

Mr. Tobe Howze and Shorty Hall made a business trip to Texon last week. Mr. Hall returned last Sunday to go to work in the oil field.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil George visited with his sister, Mrs. Leady Frye of Pleasant Valley, Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. Minnix and Mrs. Dick Burson and little daughters visited with Mrs. Money Price Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Marchbanks of Snyder, Texas, visited Sunday with his mother, Mrs. N. R. Marchbanks, who is very sick.

Mrs. Ada Howze visited with Mrs. J. H. Howell Sunday.

Mrs. Jimmie Langford has as her guest, her mother, Mrs. Wooley, of Portales, New Mexico.

Mrs. Money Price entertained the quilting club Friday. About fifty ladies and girls attended. Four quilts were finished and refreshments of lemonade and cookies were served.

Appendicitis, Acute Or Chronic, Kill Many

Austin, Texas.—During the past year 605 persons have died of appendicitis in Texas, according to the Director of Vital Statistics for the State Department of Health. Many of these deaths are caused by the persons' ignorance of the disease.

There are two forms of appendicitis, acute and chronic. The form that appears suddenly, with great pain and sickness, is acute. Chronic appendicitis may extend over a long period of time and consists of slight attacks at intervals, but, at some time, there will usually occur an attack worse than any before and the disease may then become serious.

The acute attack appears suddenly. The first symptom is pain, sometimes over the entire abdomen, sometimes in a particular position in the right side of the abdomen. Sometimes this pain extends around to the back or down into the right limb. The pain is cramp-like and is often mistaken for colic. The fever rises to 100 or 101 degrees and the pulse becomes quickened. Chronic appendicitis is the result of repeated attacks of milder forms of appendicitis.

How to prevent appendicitis? Keep the body in perfect health as long as possible. Watch your teeth, your tonsils, any place where an infection may occur. Get plenty of good food, plenty of sleep, plenty of exercise. Have a thorough medical examination at least once a year and have your teeth examined and cleaned by a dentist at least once every six months. This kind of watchfulness will not only help you to avoid appendicitis, it will help you to avoid many other illnesses as well.

STILL A BIG CROP

The government says there is going to be 12,314,000-bale crop. That is much larger than the trade expected, the drop in prices indicate. It is the first intimation of the tremendous yield that would have occurred but for the plow-up campaign. In fact, all interpretations of the situation will inevitably interrelate the price-fixing efforts of the Government and its cotton-predicting service.

The first question that suggests itself is whether the prediction service is blue-aging with the price fixers. It cannot be denied that a generous figure now on the acreage supposed to be left over will help maintain conditions under which the inducement to comply with the plow-up contracts will be strong. On the other hand, a prediction of a 10,000,000-bale crop would have shot the price up to where it would be more profitable to pick the cotton than to plow it up.

There is here no intimation that there is a conspiracy abroad to falsify the figures. But in a system where pars are new every year and where some guesswork is bound to be involved, anyhow, under the most scientific methods, there is always lee-way. Whether by design or not, a 12,000,000 crop with a 12,000,000 bale crop would have shot the price up to where it would be more profitable to pick the cotton than to plow it up.

W. F. Murphy and wife of Munday came in last week to attend the bedside of their little grand daughter, and daughter of Sam Murphy and wife. Mr. Murphy reports crop conditions good in that section. They will also visit their sons Dewey and John and families while here.

Miss Bettie Joe Savage returned Saturday from Clovis where she spent several weeks visiting.

Mrs. Jessie May and children of Clovis, N. M., are spending two weeks in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green.

New Gasoline Tax Law Getting Results

Austin, Texas, Aug.—The Texas Legislature's sweetest gift to the taxpayers—Comptroller Sheppard's new gasoline enforcement division—is steadily stretching out over the state after fugitive millions in public money.

The enforcement "army" now numbers more than 70 trained men and establishment of two more district headquarters has brought the total of such offices to eight, according to the latest report of J. W. Reynolds division chief, to the comptroller. The report was requested by the Texas Good Roads Association.

The new district offices, already established and working are in Corpus Christi and Eastland, Mr. Reynolds' report said, and they augment similar centers in San Antonio, Houston, Longview, Dallas, Fort Worth and Amarillo.

To date, the comptroller's operatives have obtained 36 felony indictments against alleged gas tax violators. Three refineries have been placed in receivership to preserve assets.

The great benefit, however, has not come from prosecutions but from the $300,000-per-month increase in gas tax payments, which is expected to give a $1,000,000 "bonus" yearly to the common school fund, a similar amount to the bond refunding fund, and $2,000,000 to highway fund.

Comptroller Sheppard added that "just as a sideline," his men have raised cigaret tax collections at such a rapid rate that he expects to add from $500,000 to $1,000,000 to the school fund yearly from "smokes." All of the cigaret tax now goes to the schools.

COTON YIELD IN TEXAS TO BE LOW

Austin, Aug. 9.—Information gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture indicates the Texas cotton yield this year will be the smallest since 1922. It was estimated 3,541,000 bale of 500 pounds each would be produced, against 3,222,000 bales in 1922.

Conditions of the crop as of August 1 was given 71 per cent of normal against a ten year average condition of 66 per cent for the same period of the season.

The report said indications were the harvested acreage this year would be the smallest since 1909. Acreage harvested that year totaled 9,900,000 acres. The 1933 harvested acreage was estimated at 11,095,000 acres.

WHEN GAS WAS FIRST USED

One hundred and twenty-five years ago London became the first city in the world to use gas street lights, installing a system along Pall Mall.

The response was universally unfavorable. Cartoonists showed innocent citizens being choked to death by the new illuminant. Sir Walter Scott, greatest of the novelists of adventure, spoke of "the madman's scheme for lighting the city with smoke." Another well known personage observed that it would be as easy to light the city of London with a piece of the moon as with gas.

Electricity, when first employed, met with much the same reception. Pioneers of great industries are often the victims of jibes and abuse.

Mrs. Geo. Warren has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Bob McDonald and husband at Nocona, Texas.

Ollie Bruton Jr., of Lamesa, had business (?) in Brownfield Sunday afternoon.

She:—"Each cat has nine lives." He:—"Well what of it,—there's a frog that croaks every day."

"Economic Death" If Eagle is Removed

Washington, Aug. 11.—Removal of the Blue Eagle from stores found to be violating reemployment agreements was said by administrator Hugh Johnson today to be equivalent to a "sentence of economic death."

Johnson was discussing chiseling and code violations. He said that code violations for the most part would be taken care of through complaints and trade associations planning committees and that he did not want to invoke policing until necessary.

He said the federal trade commission would be called upon when necessary to use its policing powers. We are going to assume good faith until we see something different," he said. "The time is coming when somebody is going to take the Blue Eagle away in a clear cut case and after the public is well informed, that's a sentence of economic death."

HAIL THE SMALL TOWN!

Hail the small town! A western contemporary tells us that two things have come out of the depression that are worth noting. The large centers of population have discovered that they cannot get along without the country and the smaller communities have discovered that they can worry along without a great deal of assistance from the big cities.

We recall many years ago when the words "hick" and "rube" were in common usage and when it was the habit of the larger cities to display airs of superiority to the so-called "rural communities." These days have happily passed. The annual hegira to the cities has slowed up, stopped, and the country folk and small town folk are fast beginning to realize that the land of real opportunity is not within the brick and stone canyons of some big city, but on little main street at home.

The great need of America today is a vital individuality and cities are unfavorable soil for its cultivation. It is the small town that will give individuality to the next generation, just as it has done in the past. Automobiles, radios, telephones and a thousand other things have made rural life more attractive. The disillusioned folk who thought that the bright lights were what made life worth while will soon be drifting back to the country, eager to capture once again the peace, the sincerity, the integrity, the gladness that abides where neighborly comradeship is possible.—Home Friend Magazine.

COTTON BURRS MAKE A GOOD TOBACCO FERTILIZER

For several years cotton burr ash has been shipped in carload lots from South Plains towns to the New England states where it is used in the manufacture of fertilizer for tobacco. From eight to twelve cars a year have been shipped out of this territory. The ash generally comes from gins and a buyer is recently through this territory getting a line on the ashes. Hipsments are usually made to East Hartford, Conn. Some of the movements go from Houston and Galveston by water.—Lubbock Avalanche.

SUMMER SANTA CLAUS

When the cotton farmers get their checks for plowing up cotton, it will be the first time they have ever been visited by a summer Santa Claus. The role is such a new one for Uncle Sam to take toward the cotton farmer one can hardly believe it to be true. However, here is a thought: Uncle Sam has played Santa Claus many a year to many people, notably numerous Eastern manufacturers. It has been called a tariff instead of a processing tax, but it worked the same way. The only change is in the recipient and the name, but thank FDR for both changes.

Uncle Sam has been playing Santa Claus for a long time, only the inland farmer didn't know it.—Ex.

Charming World's Fair Retreat

Down by the old mill stream it's still peaceful and quiet, even in the heart of the busy Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress. Thelma Wellbaum, of Dayton, Ohio, pauses in one of the many beautiful gardens of the Horticulture Building to rest a moment in her tour of the Fair's many interesting spots.

SOCIETY

MRS. MOORE HOSTESS FRIDAY 42 CLUB

Last Friday at 3 p.m., Mrs. Jim Moore was a very pleasant hostess to the Friday 42 club. Four tables were placed for playing. Delicious punch was served during the games. At the close of the games, ice cream and cake were served to Mesdames Kendrick, Sterns, Dunn, Webber, M. C. Bell, Wingerd, Gore, Rambo, McPherson, Spencer, W. H. and Hal McSpadden, Thomas, Proctor, W. H. Pollard from Lubbock and Miss Olga Fitzgerald.

LITTLE TOTS HAVE A SLUMBER PARTY

Last Thursday night, Irma Ione Smith invited several little friends to her home for a slumber party. Games were enjoyed for a time. Supper and a sunrise breakfast were served out on the lawn to Jane Brownfield, Twilla Graham, Imogene Coleman, Christine McDuffie, Mary Jean Lees, Mary and Alma Ballard, Evelyn and Earlene Jones.

AMONA S. S. CLASS

The Amona S. S. class of the First Baptist church believes in the development of the social side of life as well as the spiritual side. This fact has been proven to us several times this summer, but more so Friday night when they met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tandy for a "Kid" party. Games were played and refreshments served to the following: Lola Mae Tittle, Ita Mae Roe, Marie Rowden, Boyd Hogue, Annie Lee Brown, Lurline Brown, Nathan Evans, Jerry Dumas, Ora Belle Chambliss, Jim Cousineaux, Robert Chambliss, Edna Evans, K. W. Thomas, Mildred Nowell, Douglas Mason, R. J. Rowden and the teacher, Mrs. Savage, Helen Leach, Freda, Ruby and Gardie Tandy.

Everyone reported a nice time and all were urged to attend Sunday School next Sunday.

MEET WITH GRANDMA DUNN

Sunday August 13, all the children met at the bedside of their dear mother. All rejoiced to be with her once more and she could enjoy talking to them. Her three daughters, one son-in-law and three grand children from Hamilton county, came Saturday, Aug. 12. Mother Dunn was so rejoiced to know that her good friends thought of her at the home coming at Lou. Her friends sent her such a nice box, consisting of fried chicken, chicken salads and dressing salads, beef roast and bread, different kinds of good home baked cakes and pies. Mother and father Dunn want to thank all their good neighbors and friends for their thoughtfulness and help since mother Dunn's illness. We are all hoping that she will soon be able to be up. Those present on August 13th, were, Mr. E. V. Dunn, wife and children, J. T. Dunn, wife and children, M. F. Mitchell, wife and children, L. T. Ferguson, wife and children; Mesdames G. M. and R. M. Perry. Friends present were, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rea, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens and baby son, Mrs. A. H. Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Will Cunningham and children, Miss Maggie Eason and Austin King.

HUNTER

Here we are again. It's been a long time since we had any good news from our good people.

We had a nice little shower last Thursday evening that made things look fresh and green. Most everyone have their crops layed by, and are on their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sims, D. B. Billy and Mary, left Sunday morning for Foard and Wise counties to visit relatives. They were to stay about 8 days, and were thinking of going out to the mountains of New Mexico. We hope they have a pleasant trip.

Mr. Oliver Miller, Arnold Baldwin and Lonnie Rutherford are off on a business trip. Mr. Rutherford is looking for a location for another year. Seems like he is tired of old Terry.

Miss Nina Bell Adams had company from Wink, Texas, last week. She returned home with them for a three weeks visit.

Mr. Jess Hill from Lubbock was down to see Mr. M. W. Hill and folks Sunday night. Mr. Hill went back with him. We don't know how long he will be gone.

There seems to be no one on the sick list. R. L. was slightly sick last week, but guess it wasn't serious as he was at the B. Y. P. U. Sunday night.

Miss Cleo Walser and folks from Brownfield, were down Monday and Tuesday visiting Mrs. Etta Thurman. They are to leave before long for Jones county. We will all miss Cleo's visits down here among us. We hope they decide old Terry is the better place to make their home.

Boggie Sims is batching since dad's gone. Look out girls. He he's looking for a cook, and he also has a nice location for another year.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Smith spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edwards. They reported a nice time.

Lawrence and Callie also had a nice little crowd Saturday night. They had music and lots of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith had about twenty guests for dinner Sunday. They were neighbors and relatives.

We hope all those folks that are taking their vacation have a nice time, but hurry up and come back.

We did not have any entertainment last week end, but Saturday night week ago, Mr. and Mrs. Ralf Hall was good enough to give the young folks a party. Everyone had a good time.

School days are here again starting the 28th of this month.

A change of venire has been granted Com. Simpson of Tatum, N. M., who is alleged to have killed Oscar Adams on the streets of that city. He will be tried at Carlisbad.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Shelbourne and Mrs. Shelbourne's niece, Miss Jaunita Dey, all of Houston, are here the guests of Mrs. Ola Tinkler. Mrs. Shelbourne is a sister to Mrs. Tinkler's late husband.

The Rotarians and wives enjoyed a big chicken barbecue last week one evening, at the Shamburger lumber sheds.

Grandpa Quante, who has been visiting his son at Weather, came in this week. He is making his home with his son, Chris, here.

Chamber of Commerce

—By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

For the past three weeks, the writer has been pretty well engaged in undertaking to secure information concerning the workings of N R A as it applied to towns of under 2,500 population, but up to this date we have not been able to get a clear idea of some of the provisions and have mailed a questionnaire to the administration and are hoping for an answer most any day. Representatives of dry goods and grocery stores have held several meetings in the office of the chamber of commerce and there has been 100 per cent attendance and all of them desire to subscribe fully to the act and it is hoped that within the next few weeks that everything will be working smoothly. People in general are urged to lend their assistance in every way, in order that "we do our part" toward assisting in the general recovery, which of course means reemployment and a better price for raw materials that we have for sale.

Something like 700 performance contracts covering the cotton reduction campaign, have been mailed to Washington and others are being completed as fast as they are received. It is expected that checks will begin arriving within the next few days and that all who have their contracts in the office will be paid before September 1st. Terry is several jumps ahead of any of the other counties in getting approval certificates out of Washington, and this is due to the efficient efforts of our county agent, Mr. Raymond Reed, as he kept the wires hot in asking for prompt approval of our papers and secured service while other counties were waiting action. Some of the county committees are just commencing on final approvals and they are yet to be acted upon. Leo Holmes, W. H. Black and the writer compose our county committee, and we have held ourselves in readiness at all times to answer requests of Mr. Reed, and we know that all of our folks desired to get circulation on the cotton money and we did not do anything that would delay the game.

The canning proposition should be ready to function soon, as Malcolm Thomason, who has charge of the program, informed us that all of his supervisors had been appointed and that cans and canning would be moving at a lively rate within the next few days. It is of course known to the public in general that community kitchens will be established over different portions of the county, but at the same time, there is a large number of people who have their own canning equipment and who will prefer to do their work at home.

Cans are available to them under the same conditions as if they used the public kitchens, and applications should be made for them to Mr. Thomason. It might be well to say that the Chamber of Commerce has a supply of bulletins covering on canning meats, fruits and vegetables and they are for free distribution. We will endeavor to keep a supply on hand. We also have bulletins covering on other subjects that are supplied by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the A. & M. College of Texas.

Highway 137 is still in the "bag," but we are expecting news, most every day, advising that a contract would be up for letting, or that the highway department would undertake to use the maintenance crews for the purpose, the latter to be preferred as it would give our people more work.

Our preliminary application for funds with which to build a recreational center, city-county hospital, lateral roads and other relief measures, seem to have hit a snag. We were advised to make our applications by June 25th, which was done, but in the case of the city-county hospital and recreational center, no notice has been received from the powers that be, that they have received our request, but we live in hopes.

MERRIMENT, CAMERADERIE, NOISE, NAUGHTINESS— THAT'S STREETS OF PARIS AT A CENTURY OF PROGRESS

CHICAGO, July 00.—Nowhere, even in this center of gaiety—the Chicago World's Fair, A Century of Progress—does the spirit of merriment and camaraderie appear more spontaneous than in the Streets of Paris.

In endless procession sightseers flock into the great canvas Meer that is to spirit them, figuratively, to the land of romance a few of them have seen and all want to see.

Boom! The whistle blasts its deep, irresistible welcome, and in they come. Up the gangplank—by the hundreds, by the thousands.

They came for a World's Fair, but they won't go home without seeing Paris.

City of gaiety, ancient, ever-new, happy and tragic, brilliant, shadowed. As bright as it's painted? They mean to find out.

Boo-o-o-m! Up the companionway, through the hatch into Paris.

Steins in Profusion. By the hundreds, the thousands. Laughing, some knowingly, some to hide tremors. Sophisticates are interested, the naive feign boredom.

Flower-girls greet them; cigarette-girls, with shapely legs twinkling in sheerest chiffon.

Boo-o-o-m! They're in Paris! There's Harry's New York Bar. Beer has come back with a vengeance. It never left Paris. Steins on the bar, and steins on the tables. Steins in the air, foam dripping in jewels. Barmaids in sweaters, short skirts and berets. A trio, with voices forgotten, but spirits undying, grinds out the songs as the customers name them. A pale piano player cocks a brown derby, a limp cigarette almost burns his lips.

Into the street again. Shops without number cry out their wares. Silhouettes while you wait! French dolls that squirm with exuberant gyrations! Curios, novelties, "direct from Montmartre!"

Let's All Be Artists! The Cafe de la Paix, a huge amphitheater, seething with motion, swells with the laughter of diners and dancers. Spotlights and floodlights, choruses, waiters fit through the merriment of a giant kaleidoscope.

Out in the streets sound the harsh cries of barkers.

"Life class! Live models! You can't be Parisian till you've learned how to draw them!" In they pour, laughing, to a room like a garret. No furniture, air stagnant, wood boxes to sit on. They take charcoal and paper, and a bearded director calls in the model. Women, who make up the bulk of the "models", light cigarettes to appear unaffected.

Baldheaded bankers chuckle and scribble. One pupil takes hardly a glance at the model, yet finishes his sketch before any of the others.

"Draw it from memory," he tells the director. Blurred models, bristling models, alternate posing. Students draw roosters, dogs, caricatures, whatever doesn't enter their heads at the moment.

Out they pour, intimate, elbowing, jostling one another, into the Rue de la Paix and the boulevard.

Cafe de la Rotonde, cafes without number. A bar every minute, all of them crowded.

Plenty of Shows "Clowns of modest! Step right inside! You've seen nothing like it!" The Barker invites them. He's right, for they haven't. They go in clanking furiously, emerge laughing sheepishly.

"Visions d'art! These are the models!"

"Le Belle au Bois Dormant! Wake her up! See her roll out of bed, this beautiful red-head! Three balls for 15 cents, the thrill of a lifetime!"

Fortune-tellers, palm readers, mystics, fakirs and vendors pitch their shrill voices to rise over the clamor of general commotion.

In the Red Mill cafe are shop-girls and working-men swaying in rhythm with celebrities and high-rows. Red-checked tablecloths over the tables. The atmosphere is pregnant with the blatant noise of "theatrical torch-music."

A Merry-go-round Bar. The avenue deposits its hundreds of funmakers on a boardwalk along the Michigan. Under the moon it is but a promenade on the banks of the Seine. A merry-go-round bar whirly revolves with its load of sanity, thirsty and noisy.

All streets lead eventually back the Cafe de la Paix, where diners, bathed in white floodlight, save the night in double jack-knives and graceful swans, expert-breaking the waters of the pool and the dining tables.

Boo-o-o-m!

The whistle reminds World's air sightseers that time still goes on, even in a mythical Paris! Boo-o-o-m! Still they pour in, by the hundreds, the thousands.

They have to see Paris!

A French sailor stops to chat with the cigarette girl at the Streets of Paris, the playground of A Century of Progress—The World's Fair.

Nights are Sleepless for Acidity Victims!

Night after night of tossing on your bed—morning after morning of dragging yourself out more dead than alive, will soon put you "on the rocks." Nothing withers faster than a sleep-starved body! Yet many cases of sleeplessness are but cases of Acidity—an acid condition of the system.

Acidity is brought on by the formation of too much acid in the stomach. The acid upsets digestion and causes sour stomach, flatulency, gas pains and often sick stomach. Not infrequently it steals our health and strength and makes our nerves so restless that we can't sleep at night, fagged as we may be.

Especially for Acidity McKesson's Milk of Magnesia is especially effective for acidity. It contains 32 to 40 grains of Magnesium Hydroxide. This is considerably more than the United States Pharmacopoeia requires. It is so highly antacid that a tablespoonful in a little water neutralizes 10 times its volume in acid. Its mild laxative effect makes it efficient as an internal purifier. Once you try McKesson's you will realize there is a difference in milks of magnesia. Absence of earthy or chalky taste, makes it pleasant for young or old to take.

Make this Sleep Test Take a tablespoonful of McKesson's Milk of Magnesia in a little water before retiring for a few nights. See the results that soon show. Mark the improvement in digestion and the absence of old distress. Note how much less your nerves bother you and how much more soundly you sleep at night. A week tells the story. McKesson's Milk of Magnesia is more economical to use. The 8 oz. bottles cost only 25c and the 16 oz. bottles only 39c. Always ask for McKesson's by name.
