

REMEMBER MONDAY IS TRADESDAY, LOOKING FOR YOU HERE

Report of Grand Jury To the District Judge

State of Texas, County of Terry. In the District Court of Terry County, Texas, August Term, 1933. To the Hon. Judge of Said Court:

We, your grand jury for the August Term of the District Court of Terry County, Texas for the year 1933, report to you that we re-assembled at the court house of Terry County on the 21st day of September, 1933 as ordered by your Honor at a previous day of this term; that we have carefully inquired into all matters of law violations brought to our attention during this term of court, and have, where we felt the evidence warranted the same, returned our true bills of indictment.

We have turned in at this term of court 17 felony bills of indictment. These have included the following crimes, to wit: Rape, forgery, liquor, burglary, theft, perjury.

We desire to report to you that the majority of these bills have already been disposed of at this term of court. Some of the bills, of course, were returned too late to be tried at this term, but we desire to express our appreciation for the fact that these cases have been disposed of so readily. It is our opinion that when the courts function with speed, the criminals and those who might have a tendency to become criminals, will have more hesitancy in violating the laws of our country.

We desire to express our appreciation to the county and district attorneys, the sheriff and his bailiffs, the clerk and all others who have so splendidly cooperated with us in our efforts to make a thorough investigation of the crime of our county, and to make it as pleasant as possible for us during our labors.

We have inspected the county jail and find the same in a well kept and sanitary condition.

We find that one indictment was dismissed last year because of the fact that the officers thought it was impossible to find the defendant, hence no trial might be had. The complaining party has brought this matter to our attention and we have passed the matter to the sheriff and the next grand jury, having found that the statute of limitation will not run against this offense before another term of this court. If at that time or by that time this defendant can be found, we recommend to the next grand jury that they return their bill of indictment anew against him.

Having concluded our labors for the term we most respectfully request of the court that we be by the court discharged for the term.

Farm Holiday Organization to Meet Here

The State Board of Directors of the Farm Holiday movement will meet in Brownfield for an all day program, on Thursday, Oct. 5, 1933. This program will be chock full of interest; no dull moments from start to finish. There is a national call for all farm organizations to speak their sentiments on inflation and to co-operate with the government in every way possible to bring about better prices for farm products.

Now Bro. Farmer, read an article beginning in column one of Friday's Farm News, and bring Sallie and the children to town Thursday. Yes, and don't forget to bring a basket of beans and bread. There will be quite a few visitors that would like to share your hospitality.

Judge Gough of Amarillo, L. T. Mayhough of Kress; Dr. T. C. Kobbie, of Hereford; J. Frank Mason, and others will speak. Don't fail to hear them.

—R. E. Shugart, Sec.

THE GOVERNMENT HOG SITUATION

R. C. Reed, County Agent

Record storage of pork lard, prospective heavy receipts of hogs during the next few months, with a short feed supply have placed the farmer in a precarious position. I think this especially fits the case for Terry county.

The Agriculture Adjustment Administration has taken steps to furnish machinery by which hog farmers can materially improve his situation provided he cooperates as an individual. The better the farmer cooperates, the more assured is the success of the program, and the greater the benefit to the individual farmer.

Hog Farmers recommended and the administration adopted the following emergency program: (1) purchase of 4,000,000 pigs weighing from 25 to 100 pounds at a price ranging from $6.00 to 9.50 per cwt. (2) purchase of 1,000,000 sows due to farrow within three weeks weighing 240 pounds or over paying $4.00 per head premium above market price.

Only pigs that are in good health, that show normal growth and no body deformities at time of delivery will be accepted.

The Emergency Relief Administration is purchasing the meat at a price sufficient to defray all costs of processing, storage and freight, and handling this meat in such manner as not to compete with commercial supplies. Pigs weighing over 80 pounds are slaughtered for edible products. Pigs of lesser weight are converted into grease and fertilizer and disposed of through regular channels of trade.

The program is financed by a processing tax not to exceed 60 cents per cwt. on hogs during the 1933-34 marketing season. The program is placing $40,000,000 increased income in the hands of the hog farmers within a few weeks time.

The buying up of these 4,000,000 pigs and 1,000,000 sows at this time will keep 700,000,000 pounds of live hogs from reaching the fall and winter market.

Unless this program fully succeeds, hog farmers have little justification for expecting better hog prices this fall and winter. Supplies must be reduced if prices are to be supported. This program makes it profitable for the individual farmer to reduce his production by selling his pigs.

The method of marketing has caused us much concern especially the producer. The government placed the marketing in the hands of the Institute of Meat Packers. Mr. A. A. Lund, manager of Armour and Co., is chairman of this institute. Mr. Lund turned the issuing of permits over to the Commission Companies. It seems to me that the Commission Companies began issuing permits without perfecting their plans. They also were faced with unreasonable demands from their speculative customers. This all resulted in permits being issued to speculators and not producers. The commission concerns were attempting to do the natural thing by caring for their customers. They are not to be censured for their actions. They issued thousands of permits that they were unable to care for because of the lack of proper organization before hand. The market is congested beyond control. The government has declared an embargo to clear the situation.

As a favor from the administration to the drouth area a special allotment was made. This allotment was made. This allotment was proportioned out by the Agriculture Extension Service of the Texas A & M College. The allotment issued us from the extension departemnt was for six decks. At this time permits have been issued through the County Agent's office for 1365 pigs. To the best of our knowledge and ability we have issued permits only to the original producer.

If any partiality has been shown it was to the dry area. If this has been done I am sure you will agree with me that we were justified in our actions.

I am sorry that we were unable to care for all the requests that came our way. It is hoped that within a few days, plans will be completed and announced for a permanent corn and hog control program. It might be worth while for the farmer to hold his hogs until the announcement

Anti-Trust Laws Being Amended by Legislat'e

Austin Texas Sept. 23.—Legislation to bring the statutes of Texas in line with President Roosevelt's NRA program has occupied the center of the stage this week while hearings have been held before a committee of the whole in the senate. Regarded as the most delicate and intricate legal problem of the session, indications are that in principle and wording the Woodward-Bradley bill will be finally adopted by both houses.

Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, veteran senate leader and chairman of the committee on Civil Jurisprudence is author of the bill. By common consent the task was delegated to him in advance of the session because of his committee position and his record as a lawyer of distinguished ability.

The bill says full loyalty to the belief of Texas that her anti-trust laws are wise and righteous. It merely suspends from operations the penalties for their violations whenever such violation can be shown to be in consequence of obedience to the National Recovery program. In other words the bill is true to Texas principles but fully cooperative with the New Deal and the NRA.

Senator Woodward's sound handling of this difficult matter has served to call attention again to his legal ability.

Feed Shortage is Faced by Farmers

Washington, Sept. 21.—American farmers face the most serious feed shortage in many years, exceeding even the scarcity caused by the widespread drouth in 1930.

This was reported today by the bureau of agricultural economics after a survey of this summer's drouth damage. It is said that the feed shortage this year is further complicated by sharp increases in the number of livestock for which feed is required.

DEATH OF MRS JEFF DUNN

Mrs. Jeff Dunn of Lou, Texas, was born July 11, 1869. She was married to Jeff Dunn on March 7, 1904, in the town of Lampasas. They moved to Hamilton county in the fall of 1904, and from there to Terry county in 1915, where she spent her last days.

Mrs. Dunn underwent a serious operation at Lamesa on May 9, at a hospital, where she spent 15 days, and then carried home where she passed away Sept. 12, 1933.

She was laid to rest in the Lamesa cemetery on Sept. 13. She was loved by everyone who knew her, and was a true worker for the Lord, being a member of the Baptist church of Lou. She made a lovely wife and step mother. She was always ready to welcome her step children home and give them comfort. She was truly loved by her dear husband and all her step children.

31 STATES HAVE VOTED FOR REPEAL

New Mexico and Idaho voted for repeal of the 18th amendment, making these the 30th and 31st states to vote repeal. Virginia votes on repeal October 3; Florida, October 10th, and on November 7th, Ohio Pennsylvania, North and South Carolina and Utah. Only 5 more states need to vote for repeal to kill the 18th amendment.

As he made no feed this year, Tom Thompson says he is going to try and trade his mules and horses for a Case or Oliver tractor.

If the farmers wish to organize a permanent cooperative marketing association, under the farmer control, turning the entire proceeds back into the farmers hands they will have an opportunity to do so in a few days. At this time arrangements are being made to market hogs providing the farmers wish to set up an organization of this kind.

Highway Commission Saves Jobs For Men

Austin, Sept.—How the state highway commission, its current revenues exhausted, saved the jobs of workers this summer by pouring the bulk of its cash reserve into the breach was revealed by the Texas Good Roads Association today from figures for the fiscal year ending August 31, compiled by E. J. Amey, department statistician.

To preserve the livelihood of these thousands of men and their families until the Roosevelt public works program could get up steam, the highway department exhausted its surplus funds carried over from better years. It spent $8,000,000 more than it took in, the figures show, yet without going into debt a single dollar.

The near miracle was achieved despite a drop of nearly $12,000,000 in state road revenues, due to the retirement of many motor cars, loss of county aid, the diversion of one-fourth of the gas tax to refund county bonds.

Money for the successful job-saving fight came from a 33 per cent emergency boost in federal aid, $1,000,000 in old license fees which had been in litigation, and $7,500,000 in cash surplus from other years, all the department could spare and still finish its projects. Federal aid is not paid until jobs are complete, it was explained.

W. O. Higgins, Texas Good Roads Association president, called the figure "a valiant battle against human misery," but warned that the state fund is now crippled. "For the next year we are absolutely dependent on federal aid," he said. "To hold our ground, we must get more money from Washington. To do this, one course is imperative; we must not divert any more state road money to other uses. The Roosevelt administration has said flatly that states which do this—which do not help themselves—need not expect the government to help. This help is so vital to Texas now that we must permit nothing to endanger it."

South Plains Fair To Open Monday

Lubbock, Sept.—"We've completed our work, and the fair is ready for the people of the Plains," R. C. "Dick" Smith, president of the Panhandle South Plains Fair, said here today commenting on the 20th annual exposition which opens Monday morning, Oct. 2, for a six day run.

Five big horse races will be held daily as one of the many free attractions.

A quarter for adults and fifteen cents for children admits the fair visitor to everything on the grounds with the exception of the shows and rides of the John T. Wortham Shows. There is no extra charge for the horse racing program each afternoon, vaudeville acts, the horse show and fireworks program each night, band concerts, and other features.

Exhibits have been arranged in the women's building, the industrial building where all the commercial exhibits are housed, the agricultural building, and Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1, poultry, beef and dairy cattle, swine, horses, mules, and other livestock are to start filling up all available space in the four livestock buildings.

COURT DISMISSES SUIT OF BRINKLEY

Del Rio, Texas, Sept. 20.—District Judge Joe J. Montague today had dismissed a $600,000 libel suit filed last year against the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing Company by Dr. J. Brinkley, defeated for Governor of Kansas in 1930.

Brinkley's suit, brought while he lived in Del Rio and operated a radio station across the border in Mexico, was based on a reference to him in an Amarillo Globe column written by Gene A. Howe, president of the publishing company and editor of the Globe.

We note that Rev. Douglas Carver, former Brownfield boy, and who started preaching while living here, is holding a revival for the Baptist church at Clarendon, and also leading the song services. "Doug" always was a glutton for work.

Dr. R. B. Parish and Tobe Howze visited in Amarillo Sunday.

Bradley is Given Two Years in the Pen

Levelland, Sept. 23.—After a court reporter had read testimony of the defendant to it at its request, a 72nd district court jury about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon fixer punishment of V. L. Bradley, charged with murder, at two years in the state penitentiary.

Bradley was tried for shooting to death Thomas W. Latimer in Levelland, August 26, election day. Bradley is 55 years old; Latimer was 53. Both lived here.

The state asked life imprisonment of Bradley in arguments Friday. They resumed their work about 9 a. m. today. At 11 o'clock, they asked that Bradley's testimony be read to them. Bradley had testified he believed he was defending himself when he fired a shotgun charge which killed Latimer. In cross-examination he first said he was "mad" when he fired the gun, and then quickly said that instead of being angry he had been "excited."

Ford to Put Plant Under Code of NRA

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 22.—Henry Ford, who alone of the major industrialists turned a deaf ear to the NRA, today took steps that will bring his huge plants in strict compliance with all terms of the automobile code, a high official revealed to the United Press.

Effective Monday, Sept. 24, workers in the Ford plants are to be placed on a 32-hour week, the United Press informant revealed. This is a reduction of eight hours from the present forty-hour week. It is the present intention to operate the plants for at least six weeks on the thirty-two hour schedule and then resume the normal Ford forty-hour week with only such variances as will give strictest compliance with the thirty-five-hour week maximum set up in the code.

SHOOTING JACKRABBITS BY BOW AND ARROW MADE POPULAR

Levelland, Sept. 23.—Shooting of jackrabbits with bows and arrows may become a popular sport among the youth of Hockley county if recent activities of Boy Scouts of Levelland are emulated.

During the time Russell Mitchell was scoutmaster, the boys took up archery. On several trips to New Mexico it was practiced and on one trip an Indian, a former Apache chieftan, gave instruction on how to make arrows that would shoot straight to the mark as well as on how to chip flints.

Recently while a number of boys were on the Circle Bar ranch they shot at rabbits and a big one was struck through the fleshy part of the neck. It ran off and Er Fort, ranch foreman was asked to look for it as the arrow was one highly prized by Mr. Mitchell.

Later Jake Mabie, jr. on the same ranch, shot another rabbit. J. R. Fain later found this rabbit. He noticed a red, feathery object off to one side, while driving on the ranch and stopped the car to investigate. More boys than ever are reported interested in archery as a result of these killings.

WHISKEY TRADEMARKS FLOOD PATENT OFFICE

Washington, Sept. 23.—The Patent Office is being swamped with applications for trademarks for whiskey in anticipation of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment before Jan. 1. Many were received from foreign countries.

Editor Otis Carver of the Seagraves News, accompanied by his family were up Monday on business.

Cub's Lose Season's Opener to Littlefield

Last Friday was a rather black day in the history of sports on the Brownfield gridiron, as it was the first time in some six years that the Cubs have lost a game on their own grounds, but we cannot always keep up such a reputation, for in the best regulated families, there is always a chance of a slip between the cup and the lip, and such befell us last Friday afternoon, when the Littlefield Wildcats locked with the fighting Cubs. Both teams showed poor form and inexperience, but with more practice and other games, both will come out of the sinks.

The writer is not a football expert by any means. There is a great deal for us to learn in the game, but in our opinion, if it is worth anything, we would say that Littlefield is a bit better at handling the ball, but the Cubs have it over them badly in line bucking, and with one costly exception, on the defense, the entire game being played in Littlefield territory. It was an unusual occasion for a Littlefield player to cross the fifty yard line, except to change sides at the half and the quarters. Only once did the Cubs slack up on their defense, and this was when they failed to back up their passes and allowed one to be intercepted by a Littlefield player who marched across the goal line for the points necessary to win games.

As a whole, both teams looked rather ragged, but can't pick up a team from a bunch of boys, some perhaps of which have never seen a game before, and make veterans of them.

MR. FORD COMES THROUGH

It looks like a safe prediction that the Government will attempt no court action against Henry Ford to force him to sign a recovery act agreement. There are two good reasons for this. One is the strong likelihood that Ford would take the Attorney General's department to a thorough drubbing in the courts. The other reason is that a comparison of Mr. Ford's wage and hours policy with NRA would make the prosecution look silly.

The code demands 43c an hour, whereas Ford pays 50c and expects to pay more. The code says thirty-five hours a week, and Ford is starting off with a 32-hour week, to be followed by a 40-hour week for a 35-hour average. The code says nothing about new labor (though additions are implied), and Ford is putting on 5,000 more men. To make the case more in his favor, somebody suggested that these new men be war veterans—and Ford complies.

There is no doubt that Ford's failure to indorse NRA—and indorsement is all that he has failed in with regard to supporting the Government—has been an obstacle to Ford salesmen in some cases. But when the public takes into consideration the difference between compliance without indorsement and indorsement without actual belief in the code, the conclusion will inevitably be that Ford has taken what is for him the only honest way. Honesty and sincerity, after all, are still worth something in this country.—Dallas News.

BEER BOOTLEGGERS SEEK COUNTY RELIEF

Austin, Sept. 22.—Beer bootleggers who have lost means of supporting their families thru the legalization of 3.2 brew today were appealing to the Travis county relief administrator for food.

Relief Administrator Solon Walker said he was granting relief in several instances out of mercy for their children. In ach instance he required the former bootlegger to file an affidavit that he had not made or sold beer for the last two weeks and will not do so.

BAILEY COUNTY IS ONE OF FIVE COUNTIES RETIRING ALL BONDS

Muleshoe, Sept. 23.—Bailey county is one of the five counties in the state that participated 100 per cent in the retirement of highway bonds by state assumption of the bonds, according to Judge J. E. Adams.

The local participation included $30,000 worth of bonds voted for highway No. 7 some years ago and $12,000 worth of warrants afterwards voted to complete the same construction.

TRADES DAY WITH US AGAIN MONDAY

Next Monday is Trades Day again, and we are expecting one of the largest crowds that has been here since last fall and winter. The old cotton checks, both from Washington and from buyers of the new crop are coming in nicely, and the farmers, or at least many of them will have something to trade on except horses and other livestock, cream and eggs. They will either have the greenbacks or a checking account, and will be prepared to buy their needs with cash, as well as to pay "boot" with cash if need be in a "hoss" swap.

Merchants of all kinds and lines tell us that last Saturday really began to appear like old times. They were as busy as "two hunting dogs" as Andy would put it, especially in the afternoon, and we understand that some of the merchants who bought lightly are thinking seriously of increasing their fall stocks as conditions are 50 per cent better than a month or two ago, and the possibilities of a better business this fall grows better each week.

In fact, it has been estimated by some that if there was no other income than the checks due from the government for plowed up cotton, the returns would be more than for the 1932 cotton crop, half of which was hauled out last year, and the balance late and brought nothing after expenses were paid. They therefore figure that with an equal income from the balance of the cotton crop, better prices for feed and corn, not to mention cattle, hogs, mules and horses and all kinds of poultry and products, dairy products, etc., that business will be more like it was here in 1929 and 1930 than it has been since.

Anyway, Monday will be trades day, and the usual program is to be carried out. Farmers are not yet so busy but they can spare the day off to come in and mill with the big crowd.

The Farmer's Attitude Toward the N. R. A.

In view of the many statements that have come in from different parts of the country regarding the attitude of the farmers toward the NRA, the matter was submitted to Mr. Alvin Brown, Administrative Director of the NRA. And he expressed the following: "One the one hand, it is undoubtedly true that farm prices are still much too low, but I think we may rest assured that this will be corrected in reasonable time. While on the other hand it seems very likely that some retailers in some parts of the country have taken advantage of the probable improvements in prices to raise their prices unduly but I believe that natural influences, if nothing else, will correct this situation.

"Farmers who are well informed will certainly not complain about the NRA program because it is to that program which they must look for at least one half of their salvation. It will do the farmers no good to have their prices raised unless people can pay those prices. The NRA program proposes to increase purchasing power which will benefit the farmers more than anything else."

Baptist and Church of God Ministers Debate

There will be a three night Bible discussion beginning Sunday night, October 1st, at the church of God, one-half mile east of the Forrester school house. The subjects will be as follows: "Will there be a kingdom set up at Christ's second coming and a reign of 1,000 years on Earth?" Rev. J. T. Campbell, pastor of the church of God will take the affirmative side. Rev. J. A. Gibson of the Baptist church will take the negative side. "Is the tongues an evidence of the Baptism of the Holy Ghost?" J. T. Campbell, affirmative. J. A. Gibson, Negative. "Can a man be lost after he has been converted?" J. T. Campbell, affirmative. J. A. Gibson, negative. Everyone in vited.

The Lynn County News still thinks we are mad at them. Surely Hill doesn't think we stay mad all the time. Some of these days we are going to get a bottle of 3.2 and go over there and get a few of those old Tahoka roughnecks to help us drench Hill.

Well, the cosmos (guess that is the spelling) are in bloom, and from what we have always been told, it is now just six weeks until a freeze or frost. From the time the first one bloomed in our yard, then it will be around Nov. 1st when Old Jack gets here.

Scientist and physicians are greatly hoped up that they have found a cure for cancer in the venom of poisonous snakes. Well, we sometimes hear of fighting fire with fire, poison with poison, so why not in this case. Cancer is a disease that has baffled the medical profession for centuries, and in its advanced stages seems to yield to nothing. It would be a boon to mankind if a cure can be found, as it is sure death if not stopped in its insipient stage.

So the Bryan girls are going to law to force the board of directors of the A. & M. college to let them attend school there. We don't see why girls are so anxious to attend strictly male schools. Do you hear of boys trying to break into the CIA? The Herald has a hunch that the Bryan girls would not be trying to muscle in on A. & M. if the board would also stop faculty member's girls from attending. Logically, no exceptions should be made.

They are telling it here that some 50 bootleggers of Abilene have threatened to burn the beer dispensary on the line of Taylor and Shackelford counties, as it is interfering greatly with them in disposing of their wares of hard liquor. Whether this is true or not, we are not qualified to say, but it brings up that much discussed question of whether or not the bootlegger votes wet or dry. Personally, we have an opinion, and it is just this: From observation of this class of people and what we can gather from others, they don't generally vote at all—they have no poll tax receipt.

Many of the newspapers are now discussing what will happen after repeal of the 18th amendment. Those states whose enforcement laws have been repealed should get busy at once and be ready to meet the issue, as it is now believed that the law will be repealed by Christmas. In the case of Texas, the Dean law still obtains. However, it is the general census of opinion that the old saloon as we older people knew it will be allowed to return in but a few states if any. On the other hand, most papers seem to think that dispensary laws patterned after those of Canada and Sweden, with swift and sure punishment to the bootlegger and the habitual drunkard, and with hard liquor probably forbidden the latter entirely, will be tried out in most states.

"Actions speak louder than words" is an age-old saying that carries much truth, but we never fail to criticize a fault or wrong so why not give a little praise where the actions of an individual or group merit it. We wish here to approve the action of the Roberts County Commissioners in employing a County agent. At this time an office of this kind is almost a necessity to the farmer for the explanation of and the figuring of his own particular interest in the wheat allotment plan. This action of the Commissioners Court will indirectly be a saving to the county at large, and will in no way affect the evident purpose of that body to operate the business of the county at a minimum cost with a maximum benefit for every expenditure.—Miami Chief

The same is true in helping the farmer with his cotton, corn, feeding plans, and what have you. Yes, sir, the County Agent is a hard gent to do without once you have one. Flowers for the living.

Terry County of which Brownfield is the capitol, is settled up largely by Parker County folks. Parker is pretty much like Jack and Palo Pinto which it joins, though Parker is more progressive. Parkerites pattern after the Hill-Billies of Switzerland except when the Swiss are yodeling the merits of cheese, Parkerites are yodeling the praises of their watermelons. Parkerites long used to sandrock-capped hills from which to do their yodeling broadcast, find no such yodeling foundations in Terry where the mountains are minus and the hills are sand dunes.—Clarendon Leader

No, Terry county isn't settled up largely by Parker county folks. Lots of them here, but more perhaps from Taylor, Jones, Haskell, Knox or Cottle. Also, there are more people here from Oklahoma than there is from Parker. There are many satisfied people here from Donley county. But what we started to say is that most people prefer a few sand dunes to alkali flats and rocky canyons. As to the insinuations Estlack makes to Parkerites and their old county, we'll leave him to their "tender" mercy.

HALF-CENTURY OF PROGRESS

That brilliant West Texas product, David Guion, wrote in his "Home on the Range," something about "where seldom is heard a discouraging word, and the skies are not cloudy all day."

He was talking of his native West Texas.

Sunshine and cheerfulness are a part of the West Texas ensemble, as much so as her high mountains, than which there are none higher between the Rockies and the Atlantic; the broad sweep of the Llano Estacado, that amazing expanse of tableland which awed the Conquistadores; the magnificent stretches of the Rio Grande, the Rio Brazos de Dios and the Rio Colorado; the depth, variety and fertility of its arable lands and the unlimited acres of its cattle baronies; the enchanting beauty of its purple twilights and its soul-lifting daybreaks; and the push and hustle of its rising cities.

Chicago has her Century of Progress. West Texas dates back only half as far into history, to that period when the Texas & Pacific railroad drove its two streaks of rust across her broad bosom 650 miles from Fort Worth to El Paso. From a handful of hunters and cowmen in the early 80's to more than a million and half population today, West Texas has never taken a backward step.

When you speak of Texas as the greatest cattle country on earth, you are talking of West Texas; when you speak of Texas as the world's premier sheep and goat country, you speak of West Texas; when you speak of Texas petroleum you speak of West Texas, whose enormous oil production has been held in check and conserved while the wild East Texas field was permitted to drown in its own spewing; when you speak of Texas as the producer of a third of this nation's cotton, you speak of West Texas, for this region added 1,500,000 bales to the state's production.

A new country, West Texas. A country to be developed, a country where Opportunity beats a tattoo on

EXPENSIVE BRIDES

Along with the rising prices in the United States travelers tell tales that the cost of brides in Erzinjan, Turkey, has risen considerably, in fact about 300 per cent, within the last few months.

Females eligible for marriage are not actually bought outright in Turkey, but the bridegroom has to pay the bride's parents a dowry, so it amounts to the same thing anyway. Not so long ago the prettiest maiden in this village could be obtained from her parents on the payment of $150 by the right young man. Naturally, the price on the homely one was considerably lower. Now, however, the tariff on all maidens has risen and the beautiful ones cannot be led to the marriage ceremony for less than $450 to $500. It's the young Turk with the small bank account who is raising the biggest kick.—Pat H-finder.

AS REPEAL IS NEAR

Mrs. Walter Ferguson the Houston Press:

"You can tell before you open the door of any temperance meeting what you are to hear. It is hardly a discussion, it is an animated attack on the people who make and sell liquor. Battle against them is delivered with great energy. For the rest—physiological, ethical, social statements about what is meant by personal purity and by the danger of intoxicants, you will not hear."

"The truth is, these questions come into all life and may be discussed from 20 different points of view, so that the literature of the temperance reform might be as interesting as it is dull. But they confine themselves entirely to the discussion of the aspects of the sale of liquor before the law that they do not interest young people of any age. Now, whether the thing could be made interesting in the newspapers, I do not know. But I am quite sure that the subject is so wide and presents so many current points of investigation that it can be made interesting to men and women of average information and intelligence."

This passage is distinctly modern in tone, yet it was written by Edward Everett Hale in 1890.

It will bear reading several times, however, by all those who are anxious to see the cause of temperance advanced in the United States.

Today we stand at the crossroads. The 18 amendment is practically certain to be repealed, hence there has never been a time when the need for education for young people regarding the evils of overindulgence was greater.

And that education will never be accomplished by the use of aspersions, exaggerated reports, or the falsification of facts. In the first place, young people who have been reared as ours have been, under the lawlessness of prohibition, know a

Her letter reads: "I am 53 years old and my height is 5 ft. Last year I weighed 154 lbs. I have been taking a half-teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts, making no change in my diet. Now I am less round the hips, and only weigh 147 lbs., dressed. But I feel lighter and can now run upstairs, which before used to make me gasp for breath. ### RED GOOSE—THE OJIBWA INDIAN BOY

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls
By Carlyle Emery
Episode No. 46.

Red Eagle and Bear Cat were hurrying to the Fort when they saw a big steamer coming up the river. They joined the crowd of people who went down to the river bank to see the big "canoe" came in, and Red Goose met Alvin Carter, a young white boy just about his age and size.

... Now go on with the story. "Can you tell me if there is a hotel around here anywhere?" asked Alvin, after Bear Cat had introduced him to Red Goose.

"Well," chuckled Bear Cat, "I'm afraid there isn't any such thing around here, lad. Are you planning to stay long?"

"Only a day or two."

"Then maybe Nathan Fairlea can find room for you at his house. Red Goose, suppose you show the young gentleman where the Fairleas live." "That would be fine," said Alvin with enthusiasm. "My! This is a wonderful country," he added, as the two boys started out together. "I'm glad I'm going to live in it."

"Will you live near here?" There was a note of eagerness in his voice as Red Goose asked the question.

"Well, not so very near. I'm on my way to Fort Snowden."

"That is far North. Ten—eleven days by trail—a week by canoe."

"That's what one of the men on the boat told me. But I have to go, because that's where my sister is living with her husband."

"Red Goose has been to Fort Snowden."

"Then maybe you have seen my sister. Her husband's name is Phillips."

"No—not remember Paleface of that name."

Prosperity Back in Goat Country

Eastern mohair buyers last week shelled the Texas hill country with the greatest shower of dollars the goat raisers have seen in four years. In one day 3,250,000 pounds of mohair, half the 1933 crop, was sold at prices ranging from 40 1/2 cents per pound for adult hair, to 55c per pound for kid hair. In 1932 mohair averaged 8c per pound and went to an all-time low of 6c. The unprecedented rise resulted from great demand of auto and furniture manufacturers for upholstery materials. In the picture above, the dark section shows the goat section of Texas, and around it are pictures of a number of the pure-bred angoras which inhabit this brushy, hilly area.

"You see, Red Goose," went on Alvin, "when my sister married, she and here husband left for this country, because they'd heard that the farm land was very rich and that money could be made by those who'd come and work it."

"It is hard work to clear land of trees," said Red Goose.

"My father died a short time ago," continued Alvin, "so there was nothing left for me to do but to take what money there was and start out for my sister's. I have about six hundred dollars with me in my money belt, and I hope to get a good start with it at Fort Snowden."

Neither of the boys noticed that a man with heavy black whiskers was walking behind them, close enough to overhear their conversation. The man's name was Michael. Little was known about him except that he had come to the settlement a few weeks previous with a man called Weasel.

Red Goose took Alvin to the Fairlea home and was about to leave, when Alvin said:

"If you hear of a party going to Fort Snowden, let me know, will you Red Goose?"

The man Michael seemed well pleased over this remark, and shuffled on down the street with a wicked plan in his heart.

GOING, GOING, GONE

The recent speech of National Recovery Administrator Johnson concerning the "buy now" campaign he plans to start late in September, should be of special interest to the wise and thrifty property-owner.

The forthcoming campaign is not to be classed with sporadic campaigns of a similar nature attempted during the past few years. This one will have the highest backing—it will come at a time when recovery is really underway, and the public will go the limit in cooperating with the heads of the government. There is every reason to believe it will succeed. And the inevitable result will be still sharper acceleration of the price level.

There it, as General Johnson said, a tremendous latent demand for all the necessities of life—for auto repairs, for clothes, for new heating plants, for house and land improvement. Organized and directed, this demand can create the greatest buying wave since-war time. It will lower the value of the inactive dollar, by making it buy less. It will raise the value of the dollar that is spent wisely now, by increasing the value of improvements.

This is fact not theory. The day of bargains for standard commodities is going. It will be gone before we know it. The American property-owner is being offered his last chance to build a new home, repair an old one, and do similar things at extremely low prices.

WILL STUDY COSMIC RAY

Now that the Settle stratosphere ascent failed this year, Italian scientists have decided that something must be done about the study of the cosmic ray and, led by Prof. Bruno Rossi, several of them under the auspices of the National Research Council are going over into East Africa to the Italian colony of Eritrea where they will conduct some experiments and try to find out its exact nature. It is not practical at this time for the expedition to conduct their experiments either in the stratosphere or in the ocean depths as they had originally intended so they have chosen a place in Eritrea that is only seven degrees from the magnetic equator and still has the advantage of an altitude of about 7,000 feet. MISSISSIPPI'S

The New York Times article on Governor Connors in Hockley county. The Trent are laying off to tempt to secure a new constitution for the state of Miss. He the members of the Legislature pledge in advance that they will not a his bill for a constitutional convention, if he calls them in special session.

Somehow, Governor Connors' points sound strangely familiar. The population has shifted, the apportionment is unfair, there are too many counties, there is a great waste in governmental expense and there is no intelligent supervision over expenses. It is assumed that professional politicians, courthouse rings, and local nabobs will oppose the calling of a convention, along with those ultra-conservatives who favor amendments rather than a revision.

Mississippi's constitution is rather youthful compared to that of Texas. That State also is rather small by comparison, and its general economic interests have not greatly altered since 1890, the date of their outworn document, which is now quite unsuited to present situations. The indications are that Governor Connors will get his convention and that Mississippi will within the next twelve months have a revised constitution.

Texas expects to keep its ancient Constitution as an antique, to be put on exhibit in 1936. Few of the political leaders of Texas seem to realize how serious a handicap an outworn Constitution can be. Good government is well nigh impossible under the present patchwork.—Dallas News.

The Cubs Lose to Littlefield Wildcats By a Score of 6 to 2

The Brownfield Fighting Cubs met the Littlefield Wildcats Friday, Sept 22 on the local gridiron. It was the first game of the season for both teams. Littlefield kicked off and there followed a game of punting for the first quarter.

In the second period W. Chambliss got off a good punt and backed Littlefield up against their goal line. After Littlefield had run two plays for no gain they punted it back, and the Cubs started passing. Littlefield was given a penalty for interfering with a forward pass and it gave Brownfield a first down. The Cubs completed a pass over center to Tankersley for another first down.

Later in the same period W. Chambliss passed a short one to the right, and it was intercepted by a

No argument about the camel. When it comes to miles per gallon, there's nothing in all the Gobi desert—or Sahara—or anywhere else—that can beat him. No argument about Chevrolet, either. It's the most economical form of full-size transportation on wheels. You can travel a long, long way in a Chevrolet Six without a single stop for gas or oil. In fact, you can get more miles out of a gallon of gas in a Chevrolet, than you can get in any other full-size car. The best proof of this is the way Chevrolet is being preferred by leading national business firms. These firms know their mileage figures. And today, Chevrolet is their first choice by an overwhelming count. Chevrolet is also first choice of the American public by the widest margin in history.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Well we note from the first page of the issue of Sept. 29, 1910, that the second annual Terry county fair was history, and reading the list of prize winners is like reading the history of the people of Terry county at that time, for it would seem that most of the farm families of that time were in the winning on some particular line. For instance, one could not fancy Bert Shepherd, Allen Shepherd, W. B. Snodgrass, A. P. Seitz, displaying peanuts and such like; neither could you fancy some winning in the farm products line competing with the above men on fancy stock. But the list is too long for reproduction in these columns, but many people still citizens are listed as winners. But we find the now highly exalted chicken fancier, John S. Powell, had no chickens then to display at least, but instead was one of the draft mare winners; in fact, he got the blue ribbon. He always was lucky. Might have been a gambler. We note that this editor along with John W. Gordon and Mr. Pulliam were selected to judge the baby show, and our remembrance is that Dona Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Welch of this city, carried off the honor.

Along with the fair was the old Soldiers reunion, and the main address was made by that fine old southern gentleman, Major Perryman, of Tahoka, then County Judge of Lynn county. His address was along the line of what really caused and led up to the Civil War.

On the editorial page, we noted that we were urging more Brownfield and Meadow men to take part in the Terry county fair as it was a county and not a Gomez institution, although it was born there. It was to be held in Brownfield in 1911. In the locals we note that Mr. Bradley of Lubbock (original south plains Ford dealer) had business here. Our postmaster, J. N. Gunter, was building an addition to his residence. W. R. Harris was building a new gallery in the Randal Drug store. Uncle Bill Pyeatt was down in old San Saba, and wanted the Herald to follow him. The Methodist people had secured the old garage for the Abe Mulkey meeting. Miss Orel Harris was a delegate from this place to the Eastern Star grand lodge at Austin. Born to Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Banowsky, a boy (Wade). Gus Farrar spent the week end here with his uncle, John Randal and family. He was teaching at Midway. Uncle Mose Dumas was in from southwest Terry. Mrs. W. N. Copeland had returned from Lubbock, where she had received medical attention for spider bite. Joe Lane had purchased lumber for his new ranch home. Jake Johnston had put in a meat market with his shoe repair business, (a funny combination now). Rev. J. H. Hill had closed the Groves Chapel meeting with several conversions.

Luther French, bookkeeper of the Brownfield State Bank had been noticed much of late umpiring a baseball game between the juveniles, and although supposed to be neutral as umpire, would whoop it up for both sides. Interviewed about the matter he remarked that he was trying to develop a juvenile team here that he could carry over Texas and wipe the socks off anything their size and age. In a double header baseball game, Brownfield had licked their old rivals, Gomez, 8 to 7.

The first nine here then played the Brownfield school nine and beat them 2 to 0.

Dr. Lively told us how Terry county got its name, as well as how some others got their names. Closing the article, his last paragraph was as follows: "Terry county is a modest shaft to a soldier Col. Frank Terry, whose trained eye watched over west Texas in the long ago." All for this week.

Mr. McDonald of the Farmers Gin stated this week that local gin men thought they could operate for some time with one crew, but it looked like cotton was opening so fast that they would have to put on another crew right away.

Frank Weir, local ginmer, says that he has ginned some of the prettiest and longest staple cotton this year that he has ever ginned in Terry county. The cotton sure looks white and pretty on the wagons this year.

J. H. Webber handed in the kale this week to keep his Herald headed toward his household.

Zac Smith of Bonham, who owns land in old Yoakum, sent in his renewal recently.

A. C. Finley, prominent Meadow citizen, was down this week and renewed.

J. M. Young of route two, tickled us Saturday with a renewal.

A NON-FLOATING FISH

Why does a fish float so easily without apparent effort? This is accomplished by the means of an air bladder without which the body of a fish would have the same specific gravity as that of man and it would sink to the bottom unless it put forth continual swimming effort.

E. D. Reid, a Smithsonian biologist, brought back a specimen from the James river this summer that lacks the customary floating apparatus. It spends most of its time on the bottom of the river away from the swift current of the stream in which it lives. It is classified as a member of the sucker family and is the fifth of its kind found, the first known specimen having been caught in 1896.—Pathfinder.

Mary Eliza Clark has entered school at the University of Texas.

Dr. M. E. Jacobson made a business trip to Kansas City the first of the week.

Mrs. J. E. Michie was hostess to the Ideal Bridge Club Friday afternoon.

Elmer Roberts of Seagraves passed through here Friday on his way to Amarillo to attend a meeting of Sinclair agents.

Tom May attended a meeting of Magnolia Petroleum Co., agents at Lubbock, Tuesday night.

A live opossum was captured in the basement of the federal building at South Bend, Ind.

Plains is mighty sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Joe Eubanks, who have moved back to their home in Brownfield. They stated that their residence had been left vacant and that it was imperative that they move into it. Mr. Eubanks will come over on route days to deliver the mail.—Plains Review.

Frank Harris moved his household goods to Brownfield, Texas Thursday. He and wife will make their future home in that city. We regret to lose these young folks from our midst but we wish them much happiness and prosperity in their new home.—Tatum Courier.

Old Timer R. H. McCormack crossed our palm with a dollar bill this week to make us happy.

That fine farmer, J. E. spears of the Wellman section was up this week and dropped in to help us out.

W. H. Hare came in not long since and showed us that it was possible to bore a square hole with an auger bit.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Tiner, of Trent, were up this week looking after their farm in Heckley county. Mr. Tiner is Supt. of the Trent schools, but they are laying off to pick cotton for awhile. The Tiners have taught school for several years in Terry county.

Mrs. T. I. Brown underwent a minor operation at one of the Lubbock hospitals last week, and is now convalescing nicely.

Mrs. C. J. Smith was in the past week to get on the regular mailing list of the Herald. If the "old he" wont take the Herald, the ladies will, bless 'em.

Provisions of Ginners Code

Brownfield Gins Under NRA

We will operate our plants this season under the Cotton Ginner's Code of the government and will do everything possible to co-operate with the President's program which has been put into effect to bring about better conditions and eventually better prices to the farmer for his cotton.

Here are some of the regulations under which we are operating this season.

GINNING PRICES:—We feel that the price for ginning snapped cotton this year will be 35 cents, since the scale is set by the Code at a 35-40 cent minimum and maximum. We want to keep the price as low as is consistent with the President's plan for fair profits. This price was set by the Secretary of Agriculture at Washington and the State Committee.

CLEANING PREPARATION—Charges to growers for ginning services shall conform to the follow schedule says NRA:

- 1.—Cleaning and preparing picked cotton: 5 cents per 100 pounds or 30 cents.
- 2.—Cleaning and preparing snapped cotton or bollies: 10 cents per 100 pounds or 35 cents.
- 3.—Cleaning and preparing sledged cotton: 15 cents per 100 pounds or 40 cents.

WRAPPING, TIEING, WEIGHING, TAGGING, STENCILING, HANDLING—Charges to growers for the services of wrapping, tying, weighing, stenciling and handling shall be 25 cents per bale over and above the actual average cost of bagging and ties.

STORAGE AND INSURANCE OF SEED—Under the Code we must charge 25 cents per ton for each month or fraction thereof for the storage of cotton seed, and said charge to include fire insurance. Each customers seed must be kept in a separate stall.

In the purchase of cottonseed from a producer, ginners shall pay 85 per cent of the carload price for cottonseed on date of purchase; PROVIDED, that in no case shall the difference between the carlot price and the producer price exceed $3.00 per ton when the average grade of seed of current ginning is 100 or higher, nor $4.00 per ton when the average grade of seed of current ginning is below 100.

TRADE PRACTICES—1. The payment or allowance for rebates, refunds, bonuses of any kind, whether in the form of money or otherwise, or extending to customers special services or privileges not extended to all customers under like terms and conditions, with the intent and with the effect of injuring a competitor and where the effect may be to substantially lessen competition, is an unfair trade practice and is prohibited.

- 2.—The extending of unsecured credit for services is prohibited.
- 3.—The purchase of cotton in the seed is prohibited, provided, however, that ginners shall be allowed to purchase one remnant of seed cotton at the close of each grower's season.

We join hands with our patrons and march under the NRA. Let's all help. We give you this information so that you may better understand our positions and better co-operate with us this year.

Smith County Gets Beer at Last

When the vote was counted in the recent state repeal and beer elections Smith county was left out. It is in the heart of the East Texas oil fields, with the mushrooming metropolis, Tyler, as county seat. The county went wet on the state beer vote but dry on the local option election by a narrow margin. Machinery was quickly set in motion for another local vote, however, and Smith county has now gone wet. Do they like it? Don't ask us—look at the picture above, taken in Tyler when the first license was granted.
