BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1933

NUMBER 17

Some of the Reasons Given to Editor Hill

"The State Highway Department through District Resident Engineer Guy R. Johnson of Lubbock has informed the commissioners court here that if they will furnish a 100 foot right of way from Brownfield to the Yoakum county line, that the road will be improved. . . . Yoakum county on the west had the same proposition put up to them, and therefore will connect with us at the county line on 84, giving them an outlet here north and east on 137, which is being improved." So says the Terry County Herald. We have heard of no proposition of this kind being made to the commissioners court of Lynn county. We wonder why? We think No. 84 should be improved through Lynn county as well as Terry and Yoakum counties. What about it, Mr. Johnson?—Tahoka News.

There is nothing at all unreasonable in Editor Hill's request that Mr. Johnson explain matters, but the Herald believes that it can give Mr. Hill a few, providing Mr. Johnson doesn't see his article and answer it. In the first place, it isn't because that the highway department thinks No. 84 west of Brownfield is of so much more importance than it is east of Brownfield, but the proposition, as we understand it is put up somewhat under the emergency part of the highway department in order to help counties and communities in Texas care for unfortunate drought stricken farmers. Indeed the letter received by our commissioner was simply a copy addressed to other drought stricken counties, like Gaines, Yoakum, Hockley on the south plains, and a few on the north plains.

Your county as a whole, has made a fine crop, we understand, and from reading the News each week, we find according to your articles that prosperity has returned to old Lynn, which is good, but there are hundreds of farmers right here in Terry county in the Harmony, Johnson, Pool, Tokio, Needmore and Meadow communities that didn't make a stalk of anything. They didn't even get to plow up any cotton, Mr. Hill, for it never did come up, and the rains which arrived late in August was entirely too late to make even row crops. A little pasture is all they have from dry planted grain. The people living on highway 84 east of Brownfield in Terry county, have made fair crops, some good ones, and this applies equally of course to those who live on it in Lynn county. Few if any of these farmers will need any aid whatever, this winter, and it is the intention of both the state and nation to help those without jobs and the drought stricken farmers.

Still another reason is that all counties were promised some road improvement, including your own, and it is being done on No. 9 through your county. Yoakum county has but one state highway, No. 84, and to improve it to the line of Terry county and leave a stretch of 18 miles over dirt roads would have been of little help to them outside of getting the work and money for it. But by improving it on to Brownfield, it will give them an all weather road north and south over 137, which you know is being improved.

The Herald fully agrees with the News that 84 is an important artery of traffic, and will in time be improved from one end to the other, but just now the drought stricken sections are being favored. We believe that next to the Bankhead, some day 84 will carry the most traffic west out of Fort Worth and Dallas.

Our old friend W. H. Hill has been off the list about six months, but paid all arrearage and ahead one year and is on again.

J. Cal Bond is having the Herald sent to his son, Walter, one of the pill rollers for the City Drug store at Lubbock.

Texas News Photo—United Press All Southwest Conference Team

Here is the All-Southwest conference football team for 1933, selected by the United Press and Texas News Photos as a symposium of opinions of the coaches and sports writers of the conference. Murphy, stellar Arkansas quarterback, and Clem of Baylor were the only men to receive unanimous choice. Fuqua of S. M. U. was closely pushed for his position by Rucker, rangy Arkansas end, as was Dominique of Texas A. and M. by Kitchen of T. C. U. and Witt of Rice. Dominique's fine playing in the Aggie-Tulane game early in the season had much to do with his selection. Hilliard of Texas and James of Baylor, who made the UP-TNP all-conference team last year, ran up against real competition this year and lost their positions to Petty of Baylor and Wilson of S. M. U. Arkansas, Baylor, T. C. U., S. M. U. and Texas placed two men each and Texas A. and M. one. Rice failed to gain a first team position.

Officers to Make it Hot For Bootleggers

We learned this week that a local man was captured by officers at Meadow Saturday night with a consignment of liquor. The arrest was made by local officers, and we did not learn whether or not they just happened to be up there, or had a tip that an attempt would be made to deliver liquor there at that time.

Anyway, we understand that county and city officers are cooperating to make it hot for bootleggers. They say that the men who are dispensing beer here are paying a heavy federal, state, county and city license to do so, and that they are going to see that they are protected as far as possible.

Men Who Battled TB To Aid the Seal Sales

New York, Dec. 2.—Nine distinguished Americans, all of whom at one time or another have won a personal battle with tuberculosis, are sponsoring the twenty-seventh annual Christmas seal sale which starts throughout the country on Thanksgiving Day with 2,084 local associations participating. The announcement was made here today at the office of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Members of the national committee are: Eugene O'Neill, playwright; Roger W. Babson, statistician; Harold Bell Wright, novelist; Professor Irving Fisher, political economist; Charles Wakefield Cadman, composer; Will Irwin, author; Hobart Bosworth, motion picture actor and director; and Dr. William Charles White, chairman. Dr. White is the head of the medical research committee of the National Tuberculosis Association.

Tom May Hurt in Car Wreck Wed. Night

Between seven and eight o'clock Wednesday night, while Tom May was on his way to Lubbock to attend a business meeting, he had the misfortune of running into a concrete culvert, which wrecked his car, and hurt him badly. He was picked up and carried to a Lubbock hospital.

Greatest Tradesday In Our History

There were people here Monday from the four quarters of the universe, and there was twice as much live stock on exhibit and for sale than was ever seen here before. Men from Lubbock and Lynn counties were here principally it was thought to pick up bargains in forced sales, but it seems that most of the people who have good stock can make arrangements to feed them, and are in no hurry to sell for a song. Others were found succeeded in matching a mule or horse where one had died or had never been matched.

Of course the principal part of the large crowd that almost blocked the side walks and filled the stores at times, were mostly Terry County people, with those from Yoakum county standing next, of course, as this is their natural trading point. North Gaines, north Dawson and south Hockley were well represented, while a goodly number of people were noticed here from eastern New Mexico, and especially from the Tatum, McDonald, and Cross Roads sections. A good sprinkling of people were also here from west Lynn and southwestern Lubbock county, all one had to do to tell where the crowd came from was to walk up and down the parking places and get the number on the cars. About every fourth car was an out of county car.

Men Who Battled TB To Aid the Seal Sales

Every place of business felt the spending ability of the home and stranger, from the smallest eating place to the largest of our stores. They seemed eager to share in the bargains offered and those interviewed, who had come here for their first time expressed themselves as well pleased with the class of goods offered and the price, and were especially struck by the friendly attitude of our merchants. Some expressed themselves that it seemed that they had been trading here a long time already, as the business men made them feel so at home, and they expressed for themselves that they aimed to trade here a lot in the future. Yes, said another, and you can mighty near depend on seeing your friends here Tradesdays.

Already, Brownfield merchants are preparing to make the first Monday in January the greatest Tradesday yet. They know they will have to go some to beat Monday, but they are determined. Not only will they use the local paper and the Seagraves paper, but to them will likely be added the Seminole and Plains, Texas, papers, and the Tatum, N. M. paper with nice ads. Brownfield isn't trying to bother anyone else's trade territory, but is honestly trying to extend our own without malice toward any other town. Brownfield has a great territory already, but its future potentiality is magnificent to contemplate. A great trading center for this section of the sander lands of the south plains will be built. Brownfield is ideally situated to be that town.

J. H. Parrish of route five is another valued new reader. Boy that old list is stretching out fast. New ones coming in, and no one wanting off.

DeMille Finds Youthful Stars in Latest Film

"This Day and Age," the first great spectacle of modern times by the master of spectacle, Cecil B. DeMille, is coming on Sunday to the Rialto Theatre. In the large cast are Charles Bickford, Richard Cromwell, Eddie Nugent, Ben Alexander, Harry Green, Fuzzy Knight, Bradley Page and George Barbier. Miss Judith Allen is a new discovery by DeMille.

DeMille has also brought to the films in "This Day and Age," the sons of screen stars of today and yesterday, including Wallace Reid, Jr.; Eric von Stroheim, Jr.; Carlyle Blackwell, Jr.; Bryant Washburn, Jr.; Neil Hart, Jr.; Frank Tinney, Jr.; and Fred Kohler, Jr.

The story concerns the battle of the youth of an average community against a city's subversive influences after all efforts of the adult community have failed. When Boys' Week of the city comes along, students of the high schools are appointed to the town's executive, administrative and judicial positions. One of the boys, appointed to the position of District Attorney, has seen the murder of a merchant by one of the town's racketeers. Zealously, he comes to the witness stand at the trial, only to have the defense attorney take advantage of legal technicalities and win an acquittal for his client.

Undaunted, the boys go after more evidence and in securing that evidence, one of their number is killed by the racketeer, and the murder is planted on one of the boys. The story reaches its height when a mob of five thousand indignant youngsters kidnap the racketeer, drag him off to an old abandoned quarry where they hold a kangaroo court and "swear" a confession out of their captive, using his own expert "sweating" methods.

Roy Fitzgerald was over Monday from Plains for Tradesday, and informed us that his cattle were doing fine—bu' worth nothing he added. Bu' he's the kind that hangs and rattles, and they'll change.

Dr. Treadaway Takes Partner in Hospital

Dr. A. H. Daniel last week formed a partnership with Dr. T. L. Treadaway in the Treadaway Hospital, which institution will hereafter be known as the Treadaway-Daniel. The supplies and equipment will be maintained in the present quarters of the hospital.

Dr. Daniel is not unknown to people who have lived here as much as ten or twelve years, for the Daniel family lived here several years beginning around the time the railroad came to Brownfield, and the doctor, better known here as just Alfred Daniel, spent several years in school here. He was then known as an industrious, quiet young man, and he has maintained that men to this day. He was graduated from the Seminole schools after moving there, and is a graduate of the State University Medical College at Galveston, Texas, having graduated with second honors of his class. He spent the last year in the City-County Hospital at El Paso.

Dr. Treadaway is already too well known as a physician and surgeon in this section to add anything to this article not already known. Suffice to say that he is real proud to add this old school and playmate as a partner, as using his own language, "with Dr. Daniel with me, there will almost always be a physician around the hospital in case of emergency."

New Telephone Directory Out This Week

A new telephone directory, for the Southwestern Associated Telephone Co., local exchange, was given the Herald last week end, and was finished Wednesday of this week with December dating. This company figures that in six months' time a telephone directory will become obsolete, and they are.

Up till a year or so ago, this company, like many others, thought that the small town printer could not handle the job, and it was sent to large city printers. But they found that the small town printer gives them just as good service and with the minimum of errors, as the local printers know better how to spell local people's names, and knew their initials better than anyone.

Also, they find that the local printer can get the specified material to print the directory on as well as the big city man. The company realizes that the local printer uses their phones, and is a part of the public that keeps them going, and that it is only fair that the local printer get the work. Their local manager, Miss Laura Jones is an agreeable person to work with in getting out a directory for the company. When she gives the printer the data she doesn't expect the work to be completed in the next fifteen minutes. But gives plenty of time for efficient work.

Ed Thompson killed a nice beef this week and remembered the Herald with a liberal portion. We have been sharing Ed's beef kills for about four years now and they still taste good.

First Train Load of Hearst Steers Arrive

The first train load of the W. R. Hearst steers from his Babicora ranch in old Mexico, arrived in Brownfield between midnight and dawn Tuesday morning and were immediately unloaded. This is the first shipment of from 10,000 to 12,000 that will be put on feed here through the winter. This shipment contained 39 cars.

We earn that the train that they were on before crossing the international line was wrecked, and there was one dead steer and some three or four badly wounded when they reached here. The dead steer was buried and the wounded separated from the rest and put in a pen that was provided for sick or hurt steers over at the Hearst feeding pens.

There is usually from four days to a week between shipments, as they let one load get used to their surrounding, watering places and feeding times before another train load is brought in, so that it may be well up in January before the last comes in.

Killed by a Negro—Mob Attempts Lynchi'g

A mob assembled in and near Lovington Thursday night and staged an attempt to lynch a negro who had been arrested on the charge of killing a white man at Hobbs. The mob, which is estimated at from 60 to 70 in number, is supposed to have been from Hobbs where the killing occurred.

The negro, whose name is given as "Blue Steel" and who operates a barbecue joint at Hobbs, is said to have stabbed Claude Ingram, a white man, about 39 year old, through the heart with a butcher knife when they became engaged in an altercation. He surrendered to the officers and claimed the killing was done in self-defense.

The negro was brought to Lovington and placed in jail but was later moved to some other place by the sheriff's force for safe keeping when rumors of mob violence were circulated.—Lovington Leader.

Schools to Get Federal Aid if Necessary

Austin, Texas, Dec. 2.—That Texas schools will be kept open on Federal funds if necessary was assured members of the Texas State Teachers' Association at their fifty-fifth annual convention Saturday by Maury Hughes, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Hughes said he had been advised in a telegram from Harry L. Hopkins, Federal relief administrator, and that every school in the State would be kept open this year as long as they were last year. He also announced that unemployed Texas teachers would be taken-off relief rolls either in regular schools or schools maintained by Federal funds.

"If we can't get the money to support our schools through ad valorem taxes," said Hughes, "we will get it from the gasoline tax, from the highway fund or from some other project that can wait."

Elder Wood of Post To Preach Here Sun.

Guy N. Wood, of Post, Texas, one of the younger preachers of the church of Christ, will fill the pulpit here Sunday morning and night. People who have heard him say that he is an excellent speaker, and is equally good as an evangelist and local man.

A fine crowd was on hand both morning and evening last Sunday to hear Elder Liff Sanders of Lubbock, including many of his old friends of other churches, who wanted an opportunity to hear him, and to renew his acquaintance.—Committee.

Who Pays the Taxes On Hog-Corn Program

College Station—A few simple rules as to who must pay the processing tax on hogs and corn in the new A. A. corn-hog program are given by E. M. Regenbrecht, swine specialist in the Extension Service, Texas A and M College. These taxes are payable to the U. S. collectors of internal revenue stationed at Austin and at Dallas who are sending forms and blanks to county agents in order that information on the subject may be available locally.

Everyone who slaughters hogs and sells must pay the processing tax, Mr. Regenbrecht explains. The party owning the hog at the time of slaughter is the one to pay the tax. A man may kill a hog produced by himself for consumption in his own household and not be subject to the tax, but if he sells a portion of the hog, either fresh or canned or cured, he must pay the processing tax on the part he sells. In this case he makes out the form for the entire hog and claims exemption for the portion consumed at home.

A restaurant or hotel that slaughters its own hogs and feeds the pork to boarders must pay the processing tax.

The tax is 50 cents per hundred pounds until November 30th when it becomes $1 per hundred during December, and $1.50 per hundred during January. After February 1st the tax will be $2 per hundred pounds.

Regarding the processing tax on corn, Mr. Regenbrecht explains that corn may be sold or traded at will without being subject to the tax. It can be shucked, shelled, cleaned or even cracked or ground into coarse corn chops without paying a tax. If corn is ground into meal or flour, it must pay the tax regardless of whether it is fed to animals or used for human consumption. The portion consumed by the farm household is exempt from the tax, however. The tax is always payable by the party owning the corn at the time it is processed into meal or flour.

Renewals Are Still Rolling in Briskly

Despite the fact that half of our county scarcely will make their seed back, the renewals to the Herald keep rolling in. We know that there are some in the dry belt that are really making a sacrifice to renew for the Herald, but it is their home paper they say and they know we cannot publish a paper long without someone paying for it.

We appreciate this, and while we have made no money in three years, we are doing our best to issue a creditable paper while waiting for times to change, and they are getting better. Since the last issue, the following have renewed from Brownfield and its rural routes:

Anton Hansen, West Texas Gas, J. W. Spear, A. C. Ragsdill, J. L. Hyman, J. A. Jones, J. M. Jones, J. H. Fisher, G. G. Gore, Ed Evans, J. M. Johnston, Mrs. W. D. Winn, B. B. Brown, R. I. Pickett, E. G. Alexander, Plainview; G. G. McKie, Corlith, Miss. by son, J. E.; R. H. Timmons, Meadow; West Texas Gas Co. offices at Amarillo and Lubbock by Herman Heath; Mrs. Geo. W. Strubling, Point Pleasant, W. Va.; T. B. Moorhead, El Morro, N. M.; Mrs. Joe Penny, Tokio; P. L. Richardson, Austin; Roy Fitzgerald, Plains; R. L. Duckett, Wellman; and Mrs. R. C. Graves, Roswell, N. Hit-Run Driver Runs Over Littlefield Boy

Henry Schlottman, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Schlottman, sustained a broken and crushed leg shortly after midnight Saturday, when he was hit by an automobile, when making his way across highway No. 7 from a dance hall to Garland & White garage. The driver of the car, according to officers, did not stop, and up until a late hour Wed. night the identity of the driver was not known.

Shortly after the accident Mr. Schlottman notified police, and an effort was made by Sheriff Len Irvin, Deputy Sheriff Walraven, and City Marshall Ab Anderson, to make an arrest.

H. C. Zorn of the Fairview section was down Wed. He failed on crop this year, except a little feed.

FATHER COUGHLIN'S ATTACK

The downfall of Bishop Cannon as political monitor to the American people was due to the abiding conviction of the unchurched—as well as many of the churched—that a bishop has something tremendously more important to do.

The fact that the Journal is not in agreement with Governor Smith has nothing to do with it. The further fact that Father Coughlin sought to defend a policy which the Journal would be glad to see succeed is equally beside the point.

Al Smith ought not to be subject to rebuke by the clergy because he says his mind on the monetary question any more than he ought to be a candidate for the following of the clergy for that reason.

Clergymen are citizens—though formerly in Texas they were citizens of limited privileges in politics—and have the full right to voice their opinions as citizens.

But when their political views lose their persuasive tone and trend toward the polemic, the loss is practically total. The cloth demands a little more of its wearers than we expect to find in ordinary soap-box orators.—Dallas Journal.

MR. SMITH AGAIN

It is now clear that Al Smith is not merely a dear friend who reluctantly disagrees with a single detail of the New Deal. His more recently publicized attack upon the President's efforts to relieve the economic distress of the country shows that the sidewalk hero is definitely a foe of the President and that he is out with his tomahawk to do all the damage he can.

There is an element of truth in the Smith charge that the Civilian Works Administration is partly to effect results not obtained from the Public Works Administration. But, to The Journal's way of thinking, Mr. Smith is really attacking the administration at its strongest point—and with poor luck.

The reason the Public Works Administration has not gone faster is, first, that Secretary Ickes has been determined that there should be no graft. Mr. Ickes, in other words, is about as far from the traditional attitude of Tammany Hall as it is possible to find in American politics.

If repeal does not come until December 7th there will be still time enough to do your Christmas shopping early.—Corsicana Daily Sun.

ible. CWA, then, really is something of a desperate effort to tide the unemployed over this winter until PWA has a fair chance to operate. But if there be any evil intent in that, The Journal can't see it.

Bankers are getting ready to come under the new guaranty system to be established on the first of January. All national banks must come under the national guaranty provision, while in Texas state banks have the choice between the national system or the new state system.

YOU OWE $2,000

You, the average citizen, are in debt $2,000. So is your wife. So are each of your children and all other relatives. So is everyone else in the country.

A part of this debt you know about. You contracted it as personal obligation. It's entirely your responsibility. But another—and larger part—was contracted for you. The chances are that you don't even realize you owe it—no one is dunning you for payment, and you aren't so much as paying the interest directly.

This latter is the public debt, which comprises a substantial proportion of a total national debt in excess of $200,000,000. It's been growing at an accelerated rate during and since the war. You've permitted it to grow. You and your fellow citizens weren't sufficiently interested in government to work for policies standing for economy and efficiency.

As a result we are paying one of the highest tax rates in history. Millions of our dollars go yearly to meet the interest on debts we permitted the government to contract for us. Billions will be required to retire the public bonds we gave our debtors in exchange for their money. And every business, every individual, feels the burden.—Clarendon News.

THAT BIG BAD WOLF

The height of something or other was achieved Tuesday, when the imposing United States Navy Band interrupted its radio rendition of classical selections to play "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf?"

That simple little melody bids fair to become the swan song of the depression. America got tired of the complacent optimism of "Happy Days Are Here Again," and decided to see what could be done about the wolf at the door.

When you are making out your list of Christmas gifts, don't forget to include Christmas seals. They not only help the unfortunate, but they pay for community health, which benefits the giver, too.

A TASK THE EDITOR SHRINKS FROM

By Verlin L. Sweely
Editor, Lenox (Iowa) Time-Table

I dislike writing the obituary of an old lady. It seems so futile trying to set down in writing the things she did. She was born, she grew up, joined a church, was married, became a mother, and passed to her reward.

We cannot tell, in writing the obituary of a woman, of all the triumphs and disasters of her life. They would sound petty. When as a bride she and her husband set up a home she assumed responsibilities that she had never known before.

She risked her life each time a child was born, and perhaps once or twice ventured so far into the valley of the shadow that she almost slipped away, and it was only by fighting with every iota of her strength that she was able to pull through.

She brought her children into the world, and she washed them and dressed them and loved them and kissed their tears away.

At last she comes to the end of the toilsome journey and she is laid to rest. Her funeral is attended by many who did not know her but who came out of respect to her husband or her children who are her friends.

They wanted to pick some cotton. Fort Worth, Nov.—What would a person from the far northern part of the United States, who had never been south of Omaha, Neb., most want to do on his first trip to Texas?

Fort Worth, Nov.—What would a person from the far northern part of the United States, who had never been south of Omaha, Neb., most want to do on his first trip to Texas? The answer is—Pick Cotton!

Wall street is opposed to the gold control plan. It must be a better plan than it seemed at first glance.—Olin Hinkle in Pampa Daily News.

A POSSIBILITY

A tabloid newspaper offering $1. cash for "embarrassed moment" letters, received the following epistle: "I work on an early night shift in a steel plant. I got home an hour early last night and there I found another man with his wife. I was very embarrassed. Please send me $2 as my wife was also embarrassed." The editor, so we are told, sent a check for $3, admitting the possibility that the stranger, too, might have been embarrassed.—Bindery Talk.

A man is as good as a goner when he refuses to give conscience an audition.

The double-barred cross on the Christmas Seal is double-barreled, too. One barrel shoots a message of cheer for the friend who gets the letter or package. The other shoots definite aid toward somebody who is in danger from tuberculosis.

We will be a long time paying for the depression in terms of added health hazards. Recent figures show that illness has been greater among the unemployed than among the general population. The danger of tuberculosis is increased when people are destitute. Buy Christmas Seals, they fight tuberculosis.

Barney Oldfield Sets A.A.A. Tractor Record of 39.045 m.p.h. at Indianapolis

Roaring around the track at Indianapolis State Fair the old "master driver of the world," Barney Oldfield, recently set a new world's tractor record of 39.045 miles per hour, handling the wheel of this "iron plowhorse" with all the skill and daring that has made his name the synonym for speed. He drove an Allis-Chalmers standard farm tractor with high speed gears and Firestone pneumatic tractor tires. It was an amazing race—amid a strange scene, for the driver who pressed him closest all the way, and the A.A.A. timer who scored the event were sons of two great rivals of Oldfield's racing career.

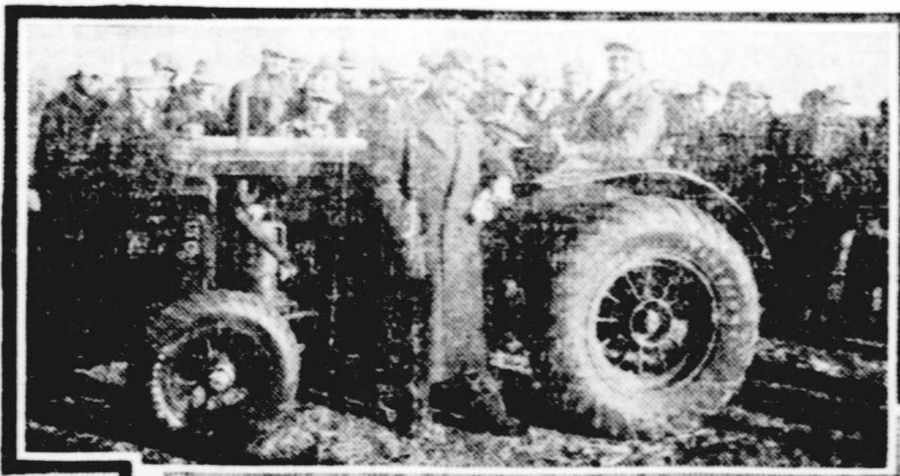

The lad on the tractor was Denny Duesenberg, who is already a shrewd racing head and has entered cars in the Indianapolis 500-Mile Classic several years. His father, the late Fred Duesenberg, automobile manufacturer and famous builder of racing creations, raced against Barney in the days when they were bicycle champions—then on through the pioneer racing days that brought on such amazing advancement in automobiles, dating back from Barney's first race in 1902. The A.A.A. official was Charles Louis Chevrolet, Indianapolis engineer and son of Louis Chevrolet, of General Motors, whose name is among the foremost in the history of the automobile. He was probably Barney's greatest rival on the tracks—and as his son describes it "If Barney didn't win a race in those days Dad did win it." Gaston Chevrolet, Louis' brother, was another great hero of the speedways, and won the Indianapolis Race of 1920.

Oldfield, with his familiar cigar, powerful in build, clear eyed and rich in racing strategy, fought his way to victory. The tractor race, he says, was just as thrilling as a racing car event, as the big machines flashed around the curves hub to hub in a cloud of dust.

The tractor which set this record is capable of plowing and doing all the other farm operations at increased speed and with new comfort and fuel economy. This is made possible by the new Firestone tire development, the tires requiring only 12 pounds air pressure to operate successfully at the plow or on the highway.

Tractor Speed On Air Tires Thrills Thousands At National Corn Husking Contest

Seated on the air-tired tractor is Sherman Henriksen, winner of National Corn Husking Contest, with Barney Oldfield, tractor speed champion, standing in front.

At the National Corn Husking Contest at West Point, Neb., Nov. 9, the most spectacular feature was the demonstration of air-tired tractors. The climax of the day's events was the record of 65 m.p.h. by a Firestone equipped Allis-Chalmers tractor driven by Barney

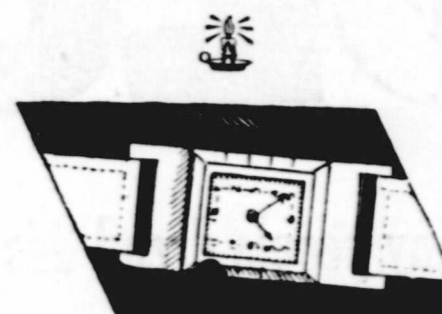

Oldfield, veteran race driver. The thrilling speed demonstration showed the practical value of these tires for highway use in addition to their advantages for all farm operations. The 25,000 spectators, who crowded the sides of the gravel road a half hour before the speed event started, went wild as the tractor roared past. Sherman Henriksen, of Lincoln Nebraska, shown seated on the tractor, was the Nebraska entrant in the National Contest. He husked 27,624 bushels from standing corn in 80 minutes.

HELP! HELP! HELP!

The distribution of toxoid and typhoid serum for charity cases costs the state a large amount each year. For the most part this money is well spent, but in many instances it has been used in treating persons who are able to pay their physician for this service.

We are struggling to maintain our former scale of service under greatly reduced appropriation. It is therefore imperative that every health officer use toxoid and serum only for strictly charity patients who are unable to pay for medical service.

All of County Needy Are to Be Put to Work

It seems that with the help of Sen. Arthur P. Duggan and Cong. Marvin Jones, they have finally made them understand at Austin that Terry county really is in the drouth belt, and that many of its people are in urgent need. Judge Jay Barret showed us a letter this week from Mr. Duggan, which also contained a wire from Lawrence Westbrook, confirming the matter. The county committee has been informed that every needy family in the county can have at least one member working, or perhaps two where the family is large.

The county committee met Tuesday night in the courthouse and formulated plans to put all the actual needy to work at once. It was stated that Commissioner Hinson would have some 140 in his precinct; with Commissioners Cook and Thomason still less, but about the same each, and Commissioner Brock would only have 30 that actually needed aid, as his precinct made a good crop except a few who were hailed out.

The setup at Austin never has seemed to have gotten straightened out with their plans. For instance, originally they gave both Lynn and Fisher counties funds to employ more men than they did Terry, and both these counties have bumper crops. Indeed, we understand that the County Judge of Lynn county says there are only about 35 or 40 needy in Lynn county, and they are mostly single men, or men without teams, and they cannot use them on the road work.

Maybe we are fixed to go now without further interruption of different orders every few days from Austin.

R. L. Duckett of Wellman, wants us to fire a few more broadsides at the setup in Dallas that is supposed to make loans to farmers and small home owners in cities and towns who are in danger of losing their homes.

Religious and Secular Stories That Parallel

All the great religions have stories that parallel each other in some degree. For instance, Jephthah, one of the Judges of Israel, made a remarkable vow before he marched against the Ammonites, that if he proved victorious he would offer to the Lord the first living thing which should come to meet him on his return. This happened to be his only daughter, whom he sacrificed to fulfill his rash vow. The history of Jephthah is contained in the second book of Judges. Idomeneus, in Homeric legend, king of Crete, succeeded his father Deucalion on the throne, and accompanied the Greeks to the Trojan war with a fleet of 90 ships. During this war he rendered himself famous by his valor. While returning, he made a vow to Neptune in a dangerous tempest that if he escaped he would offer to the god whatever living creature first presented itself to his eye on the Cretan shore. This was his son, who came to congratulate him on his safe return. Idomeneus redeemed his promise, but the inhumanity of this sacrifice rendered him so odious to his subjects that he was exiled from his country.—Montreal Family Herald.

Insignia of Royalty in Ancient Egyptian Tomb

A tomb discovered near Cairo, by Prof. Sellm Hassan, containing a mummy adorned with a gold crown and a complete set of jewelry, is perhaps the only tomb in this area untouched by thieves. The gold crown was 24 inches in circumference. It was kept in position by two gold lotus flowers, joined by a chalcidony. Each flower was topped by a bird with a long beak, named in hieroglyphics "Yakhu." In the middle of the crown in front was a disk studded with colored stones set in another lotus flower. The large necklace was composed of 50 pieces of gold in the shape of some insects threaded on a gold string. Gold bracelets having the form of the hieroglyphic letter "N"; a number of silver bracelets—it is believed that this is the first time silver bracelets have been discovered in a tomb of the fourth dynasty—and two pure gold anklets also were found.

Curiosity From the Bog

Uncovering the bog at Balaghan, in the county of Sheroock, Ireland, a curious bit of wood carving was brought to light which is perplexing the archeologists and scientists of Ireland and England. The specimen is evidently of great age, 500 years at least, and probably much more. It is about 3 feet in length and represents a woman, but the arms are missing, and it is the work of a skilled carver. There are some curious inscriptions upon it which are legible. The specimen has been placed on exhibition at the Dublin museum with the hope that some student may offer some explanation of the origin and use.

No Tennessee Pygmies

The existence of a pygmy race in Tennessee is believed to be a fallacy by modern ethnologists. The story owes its origin to the discovery in the early half of the Nineteenth century of numerous small stone coffins containing skeletons, the largest of which measured 24 inches in length and 9 inches in depth. These were assumed to be the remains of a race of pygmies. However, they have proved to be in many cases the skeletons of children. Those of adults were deprived of flesh according to the common custom in the mound region, then disjuncted and the bones packed into a very small space.

Hens Busy

The treasurer of the Ladies Aid society of a Greensburg church made a deposit for her organization in a Greensburg bank recently. At the deposit window she spoke to the teller, whom she knew.

The deposit was a considerable one for a church organization and as she passed in the money she said: "Here's the aid money."

The teller understood her to say, "Here's the egg money." Then came the break.

"Well, it looks as though the old hens have been laying pretty good lately," was his comment.—Indianapolis News.

Matching Shade

At a soiree Dumas was wearing the ribbon of a certain order, having recently been made a commandant, and an envious friend remarked upon it. "My dear fellow," he said, "that cord is a wretched color! One would think it was your woolen vest that was showing!"

"Oh, no, my dear fellow," replied Dumas with a smile, "you're mistaken; it's not a bad color; it is exactly the shade of the sour grapes in the fable."—Golden Book.

Houses Like Towns

One of those great dwelling houses which are like small towns has been opened in Vienna. It is built round grassy courtyards set with trees, and will house 5,000 people in 1,282 flats. It has cost $4,000,000. In the building are two electric laundries, two bathing establishments, two kindergartens, a dental clinic, a "mother's advice center," a library, a post office, a chemist's, and 25 other shops. The baths are heated by the steam which is electrically generated for the laundries.

Emory Longbrake and J. W. McPherson visited home folks Thanksgiving. These boys with several others in and around Brownfield joined the Forest Reserve Brownfield jointed ago and are stationed now at Boyd, Oklahoma.

Too many people who have nothing to say lack the courage to keep still about it.

Here is Billie Mace, sister of Clyde Barrows "molli," Bonnie Parker, who has been questioned in Dallas in an effort to learn something of the whereabouts of Clyde, the nation's most sought-after desperado. Billie talks freely, telling all about the youthful killer's escapades, but as to where he and her sister can be found now, that's a different story. Her husband, Fred Mace, is now in the semiretirement.

Pecan Shellers Should Have Health Certificate

Austin, Texas.—Pecans, the favorite nut of thousands of people, may be a source for the spread of disease, according to E. C. Koerth, director, Bureau of Food and Drugs. The pecan itself is not to blame, but the manner in which it is shelled and later handled is the cause for this warning.

The shelled pecan industry has assumed large proportions in the last few years and the shellers in other states have attacked the Texas product on the ground that the shelled nuts are not handled in a sanitary manner. The large packing houses that have the nuts shelled in their own packing plants maintain a satisfactory standard of sanitation. The evil of the shelled pecan industry is where the pecans are taken into individual homes where no supervision is possible.

Many Mexicans, Negroes, and a few whites do this work at home, with at times the neighbors coming in to help them out it is possible for the communicable diseases to spread by shelled pecans, and for that reason it will be to the public's advantage to ask where the pecans were shelled and under what conditions. The food inspectors of the State Department of health have investigated the home shelling of pecans for hire and report that many homes where this work is done are most unsanitary.

All persons engaged in shelling pecans should have a health certificate the same as any other food handler. The purchaser should demand that the pecans they buy shall have been shelled by such a person and handled in a sanitary manner and under supervision to lessen the chances for the spread of tuberculosis, colds, dysentery, typhoid, and other diseases.

Mrs. Judge Garland of Lamesa and Mrs. Floyd Stark, of Seminole, were here this week end visiting their brother, Ralph Bynum who has been very ill, but is now convalescing, it is thought.

'HE WHO LAUGHS LAST LAUGHS BEST'

Judge Samuel Seabury of New York sponsored the LaGuardia movement. Judge Seabury, born in 1873, is an independent Democrat. He has been the inveterate foe of the Tammany Tiger. There is a reason for it. He was the Democratic nominee for governor of New York in bygone years. Well, the Tiger sharpened its claws. It scalped the judge. He lost the election. A native born New Yorker, he was ambitious to be chief magistrate of the empire commonwealth of the East. He has been on the trail of the Tiger ever since. As tenacious as a bulldog, the director of the LaGuardia winning campaign pursued the jungle animal for 20 years. Now the man who lost a governorship is the political cock-of-the-walk of Greater New York. A spell-binder who never knows when he is whipped is a very dangerous individual in the political walks of life.—Cleburne Times.

Tuberculosis costs the people of the United States more than a billion dollars a year. That's about $8 each for every man, woman and child. How much do you pay for your Christmas seals to fight tuberculosis?

It is reported to us that one of our citizens got kinder polluted one evening this week, and rode his horse into two places of business. He spent the rest of the night in jail trying to remember how it all happened.

An Indian Story for Boys and Girls

By Carlyle Emery

Along about the end of the winter, Red Goose and Little Beaver set out on snowshoes to set snares for rabbits on the other side of the river. They met Red Eagle, who warned them that it would soon be warm and that the ice would break up and go down the river. But Red Goose assured his playmate that the ice was thick and strong, and together they crossed the river safely—now go on with the story.

Red Goose and Little Beaver were now on the other side of the river, having crossed safely on the ice, which of course was covered with snow.

"Plenty rabbits here," chuckled the Ojibwa boy joyfully. "Come—we will set snares quickly."

"Red Goose knows how to set snares, but Little Beaver doesn't know."

"Then watch and you will know, too. Here, this tree is about the right size."

Little Beaver thought Red Goose was teasing her, but she took it good-naturedly and said:

"Red Goose is making fun. Rabbits do not go in trees."

Then it was her friend's turn to laugh, but he was laughing at Little Beaver's ignorance.

"No. Rabbit does not go in tree, but tree is bent over for snare—like this." As he spoke, Red Goose bent quite a tall young tree 'way over until the top of it was on the ground, making a sort of half circle. Even though the tree was young, it was sturdy and tough, and it took a lot of strength to bend it 'way over.

"Why do you use such a big tree?" asked Little Beaver. "Small tree would not be such hard work."

Red Goose set his snare, got his breath, and answered, "When rabbit gets in snare, the tree will fly back. If we use small tree, wolf can come and get rabbit before we get back tomorrow. But when we use tall tree, rabbit too high up for wild beast to reach. Does Little Beaver understand?"

"Yes. Little Beaver thinks Red Goose is wise to fool hungry wolf."

Then Red Goose explained that the knot of the snare must be tied very tightly so that it would hold when the rabbit was caught, and would not come loose when the tree flew back up straight again.

"Maybe we will catch many rabbits," said his companion, with admiration. "Then Little Beaver will make nice rabbit-skin coat for Red Goose."

For an hour or more the two Indian children kept busy setting snares, and then started back home across the river.

About halfway across, Little Beaver said, "Look! Red Goose—Big crack in ice was not here before!"

Red Goose was about to answer, when a loud noise something like a pistol shot. At the same moment, Little Beaver screamed—

"Red Goose! The ice is breaking!" As she spoke she found herself all alone on a huge cake of ice that had

Donald: "But, mother, nearly all the other boys who were absent could come in cars but their folks don't even try to use them in cold weather—'cause they can't get them started." Mother: "Maybe, dear, they don't use the right gas and oil—that's practically the only difference between our car and many others. Understand, Donald, people are careless—they fail to get penetrative oil—found only in Germ Processed Motor Oil made by Conoco. Cold oil, even winter grade, unless it is right, makes it hard for the starter to revolve the motor. Conoco Oil helps motors turn over easily and then the Conoco Bronze Gasoline acts at the first spark and the motor starts at once."

Donald: "Mother, I should think the school board would make all parents use Conoco." Mother: "They couldn't do that, Donald, but it would be a good idea if the parents themselves would find out why their cars wouldn't start and buy Conoco. And I imagine they would if they knew it would save them money also."

HE WHO LAUGHS LAST LAUGHS BEST

Judge Samuel Seabury of New York sponsored the LaGuardia movement. Judge Seabury, born in 1873, is an independent Democrat. He has been the inveterate foe of the Tammany Tiger. There is a reason for it. He was the Democratic nominee for governor of New York in bygone years. Well, the Tiger sharpened its claws. It scalped the judge. He lost the election. A native born New Yorker, he was ambitious to be chief magistrate of the empire commonwealth of the East. He has been on the trail of the Tiger ever since. As tenacious as a bulldog, the director of the LaGuardia winning campaign pursued the jungle animal for 20 years. Now the man who lost a governorship is the political cock-of-the-walk of Greater New York. A spell-binder who never knows when he is whipped is a very dangerous individual in the political walks of life.—Cleburne Times.

Tuberculosis costs the people of the United States more than a billion dollars a year. That's about $8 each for every man, woman and child. How much do you pay for your Christmas seals to fight tuberculosis?

Dyphtheria Epidemic Threatened in Texas

Dyphtheria is increasing in Texas and strenuous efforts must be made to combat it or there will be an epidemic and this would be a terrible blow to the public health movement in Texas.

In September 498 cases were reported, in October this had climbed to 701, and by the 10th of November 542 cases had been reported. It this rate holds true for the rest of the month, November will have a record of 1,500 cases—an average of 6 cases to the county. Now we feel as though all the cases are not being reported, and if they were the picture would be much worse.

It would help wonderfully if all the health officers would urge parents to have their children immunized at once. This program can be accomplished by news items, radio and talks to various groups. We realize that it takes time for immunity to be established, but we are working for other winters as well as the present one.

The death rate for diphtheria for the past five years has been, 1928, 7.3 per 100,000; 1929, 7.8; 1930, 6.0; 1931, 9.3; 1932, 13.4. Last year the neighboring states of Arkansas and Louisiana had rates 9.9 and 6.7 respectively. Just think, Texas had a death rate from this disease exactly twice that of Louisiana.

We know that the death rate and the morbidity of diphtheria can be lowered, and we will appreciate your assistance. After your community has been thoroughly immunized, a Schick testing campaign might not be amiss to pick up the few that did not receive an immunity.

Every health officer can help by:

1. Urging through the newspapers that all parents take their children to their family doctor and have them protected for life against diphtheria.
2. Establishing some day in the week for a free clinic to the unfortunate poor parents who cannot pay for this protection. Free toxoid will be furnished you for such work.

Are you doing your part? Do not forget the preschool child.

MURPHY BROS.

Northeast Corner Square BROWNFIELD

One Crime Begets Next in Queer Case

A chain of events, each the motive of the one that followed, has resulted in two murders in San Antonio. To begin the weird series, Miss Mary Doolittle charged that Jimmy McCoy had attacked her. McCoy was no-billed by a grand jury. Shortly afterward Mimos Doolittle, Mary's brother, shot McCoy to death. Claiming that he avenged his sister's honor, Doolittle was set free. Now Mrs. A. H. Bailey, McCoy's mother, has killed Doolittle with a shotgun, re-vengeing her son's murder. She is held in the Bexar county jail, where the photo was taken.
