The postoffice department has ruled that mail boxes either in post-offices or on rural routes cannot longer be used to put circulars and other stuff in that is not mailed in the regular way. It is said that boxes cluttered up with such rubbish delays the handling and sorting of real mail. If possible the order should have been extended to include the front yards of postal patrons.

All the gold in the United States now belongs to the government instead of the banks and some of the big rascals of wall street are rendering their garments. Voting against the government taking over the gold supply were Senators Glass, Gore and McAdoo, democrats, and several standpat republicans. The gold taken over was then worth about four billion, and is now worth more than six and a half billion dollars. It will weigh about 7000 tons and would load 200 ordinary freight cars.

Does the fact that a country does not have any groundhogs count in the contest of whether we are going to have no more winter or a six weeks seige? If so, we are blown up, and we never saw a cloud all day last Friday. Maybe groundpork would act as a substitute out here, in which case, winter is all over. Plant your gardens.

Chas. H. Ripley of Pecos, Texas, is out for the United States Senate, but in his literature, he does not tell us whether he is any kin to "Believe It or Not" Ripley. Anyway, the Pecos Ripley believes in repudiation of debts, and is therefore kin in principle to the other, whether kin under the skin or not, for the Texas Ripley believes in "now you have a debt—now you don't." A sort of sleight of hand performer.

When the Texas legislature failed to give more time, the pink on white auto tags faded out and black on orange appeared in about three days. One can always figure the legislature will do the unexpected.

Terry county sent no representatives to the Young Democratic League convention at Lubbock, but it is not too late to form a local league and get in the grind. The charter members can help the party in many ways, and some day may have something to boast of to posterity.

His fellow editors in Texas will be proud that Editor L. P. Loomis, of the Telegram, Torrington, Wyo., who formerly edited papers at Slaton and Cadadian, has been chosen as having the most popular and well edited paper in the west by some of his fellow editors up there. Loomis is a great newspaper man, the only failing being that he was a Republican, and he left the other three Republicans that lived in west Texas to hold the fort while he sought easier sailing in the northwest. But evidently those Wyoming editors have never seen a copy of the Terry County Herald. A copy will be sent them on application accompanied by 5.

Aimee Semple McPherson is to have a debate with an atheist, Charles L. Smith, founder of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism on Friday of this week at Abilene. Why should any Christian minister debate with an atheist? Ninety-nine people out of very hundred in this country doubtless believe that there is a God. No atheist could get more than a handful of people in Abilene or any other Texas city to hear him argue against the existence of a God were there not some other attraction. Aimee Semple McPherson is merely furnishing to this atheist an audience. She will convert no atheist, but on the other hand this atheist may raise doubts in the minds of many young people that will be a handicap and a source of unhappiness to them through life. Wise and good people sometimes do foolish and hurtful things. In fact, we think that Mrs. McPherson has already done the Christian religion much more injury than she has ever done good. Radicalism and sensationalism and theatrical performances by notoriety-seeking evangelists have done more to discredit Christianity in the minds of thoughtful young people than the arguments of all the atheists.—Tahoka News.

Colonel Lawrence Westbrook, who has been director of relief work in Texas, has undoubtedly been the most important political figure in Texas the past few months. Now he has been promoted to head a great new project of the national government. This project will undertake to purchase millions of acres of America's poorest farm land, and establish homeless unemployed on the land. These people will come mainly from such regions as the coal and copper mines where present conditions offer no prospect of re-employment in the future. Col. Westbrook has been doing a big job, and has been assigned a bigger one.—Ralls Banner.

They don't have to. But why break up a grand old custom? Why not secede from the Union and let the workers starve? Unless there is a change made, we will change our voting plans. We know practically every politician in that state—a very few are real gentlemen.—Clarendon Leader.

A SLASH IN TARIFFS, as a means of ending the depression, was advocated by Ogden L. Mills, former Secretary of the Treasury, in an address at Topeka, Kansas, on last Monday night. It is an extraordinary spectacle, to be sure, almost like the devil quoting scripture—this one of an outstanding Republican leader advocating revision of the tariff downward. But, believe it or not, former Secretary Mills did that very thing. "We will have to abandon the present policy of isolation and intense nationalism," he declared, "and to some extent modify recent tariff policies." Mr. Mills said that he recognized that his words might sound strange "coming from an orthodox republican" and then proceeded in an attempt to square his view with the doctrine of protection. "I have never understood," he said, "that a sound system of protection, based on the differences of the cost of production at home and abroad, if intelligently applied, means the erection of impassable tariff barriers, the destruction of our commerce with the rest of the world and the sacrifice of the efficient farmer to save the inefficient manufacturer. I am prepared to take my stand with a great Republican President, President McKinley, who in his last speech, delivered in Buffalo just before his assassination, said: 'A system which provides a mutual exchange of commodities is manifestly essential to the continued and healthful growth of our export trade. We must not repose in the fancied security that we can forever sell everything and buy little or nothing.'" Mr. Mills made this reference to the tariff at the tail end of a long address, much of which was devoted to criticism of the policies of the Roosevelt administration. But its significance is no less on that account.—The Texas Weekly.

THE WAY OF THE TRANSGRESSOR IS HARD

Samuel Insul, formerly head of the great power trust is now in Greece, an old, sick and broken hearted man—a man without a country, seeking a place of refuge from the hands of officers of the law. Mr. Insul was once one of the richest and most powerful of the big business men of this country. Magazine writers delighted to refer to him as an example of success. But he was not content with the advantages given big business by the law. He could accumulate and did accumulate millions of dollars by questionable means which were still "within the law." But he was not content with all this ill gotten gain. His greedy, grasping spirit caused him to go beyond the law and appropriate to his own use the property of others.

And now he languishes upon a bed of sickness brought on by worry and remorse. His ill gotten gains are now worthless to him. His family is suffering from the stigma upon his name. Death will probably come to his relief before his country can inflict legal punishment upon him. A sad end of a man who could have enjoyed an honorable and comfortable old age.

The County Clerk in an adjoining county in New Mexico is under arrest for misappropriation of funds. He is charged with having warrants issued to fictitious people from the road fund and converting them to his own use. This man received one of the highest salaries paid any official in the county. A salary which was sufficiently large to have kept him and his family in comfort. But a grasping spirit caused him to convert to his own use public funds. From a responsible and honorable position, he has been plunged into shame and misery, and regret for a lifetime his folly.

Even a man with the disposition of a crook ought to have sense enough to go straight because it pays.—Lovington (N. M.) Leader.

Com. and Mrs. Mack Thomason presented the Herald with a big sack of real cured country sausage this week. The cloth around the sausage had been covered with paste to exclude the air, and the sausage was in as fine condition almost as the day it was sacked. It was sure fine and highly appreciated.

Chamber of Commerce

—By J. E. Shelton, Secretary

If there is any farmer in Terry county, who resided in any of the West Texas Counties that was effected by the Pink Boll Worm Quarantine during the years of 1929 and 1930 and has not yet received reimbursement for expenses incurred nor received blanks for the purpose of establishing his claim, we will be glad to have them call at the chamber of commerce office and will be glad to place him in communication with the Pink Boll Worm Claim Board and assist him in preparing his papers, if he so desires.

An article appearing in the Lubbock Avalanche concerning the President's Ball, would lead one who did not know, that the writer had a very considerable part in putting the affair over, when as a matter of fact, all that he did was to put up $1.50 for himself and wife and "tripped the light fantastic toe," several times.

Credit for putting over the most successful affair is due to Dick McDuffie, who was ably assisted by the Rotary, Lions and Womans Civic organizations. The writer was not asked to assist and naturally did not "butt in." Mr. Lewis of the Avalanche, was undertaking to secure information of a highway meeting that had just adjourned and trying to get a line on the President's Ball at the same time, and just got his "trollies" crossed on the story.

We are also in a position to furnish information concerning the Hog Processing Tax as it concerns our farmers and offer our services in making returns to the Internal Revenue Department, covering on hogs that have been slaughtered and sold.

Several weeks ago and prior to the convening of Congress, several of the small chambers of commerce, your local organization among them, undertook to have bills introduced calling for a continuation of what is known to us as the "Feed and Seed Loan." As a result of our efforts, bills were introduced in both houses, asking for continuation, but in the rush of passing other very important legislation, the bills got stuck in the "hopper" and were not being pushed, so the writer wrote to Messrs. Jones and Connally and requested that they take time out and undertake to push them on their way, as if they were to be of benefit to our farmers who were not going to be able to qualify on the other government lending agencies, something would have to be done pretty shortly.

As a result of this I received a telegram from Senator Connally that the bill passed the Senate last Friday and notice in the papers today (Tuesday) that Marvin Jones had it passed in the House on Monday of this week.

The only difference is, that the Senate Bill called for $50,000,000, and the House Bill for $35,000,000, but that can be ironed out easily and the loan should be ready to go within the next few days as we have been advised by Mr. Sherrill's office at Dallas that they are lined up, ready and waiting.

The time for signing Cotton Reduction Contracts has been extended to February 15 and the lowest lint production is now 75 pounds instead of 100 as was the case until January 31. This should enable a number of farmers to qualify who were barred under the other regulation. However they are not signing very rapidly and it has been decided to call off all community committees with the exception of the Brownfield committee, who will accept applications for all portions of the county.

So, if any farmer was not able to sign up under the old plan and desires to co-operate under the new one, he can find the Brownfield committee located in the cream station just two doors east of the First National Bank. Around 900 contracts have been signed up to date, covering about 35,000 acres of land. Some few people are refusing to sign and others are not able to do so on account of being unable to arrive at an agreement with the owners and from all signs at Washington, some legislation covering their production will probably be passed and they will not receive the benefits being afforded the signers.

Just about the last of this week, a meeting of the Directors of the chamber of commerce will be had, and among other matters to come up, will be decided, if, where and when an annual banquet will be had. The writer is very anxious to pull one off and thinks that a mistake was made in skipping the last year or two. However, that is "water over the bridge" and we have to look to the future.

The writer was in attendance upon a highway meeting of the South Plains Division of the Texas Good Roads Association that was held at Lubbock last Friday which was called for the purpose of discussing our highway problems and to arrange to join other movements in a program of undertaking to secure an additional appropriation from Congress in order that an enlarged program of highway development could be inaugurated.

The last congress appropriated $400,000,000 for highways, of which Texas was awarded about $24,000,000, and with the building of highways and lateral roads, it appears that this will be exhausted within a very short time and we are going to need more money if the bill is kept rolling. Another thing that occupied the attention of the association, was a special appropriation of something like $8,000,000, that was supposed to be expended on the roads of the drouth stricken portions of the state and the information received by those at the meeting, was that no part of this had been used and no one, even with the assistance of our congressmen and senators, was able to discover what disposition had been made of the appropriation, if any, but the leaders of the good roads organization advised that they expected to keep hammering away until they got some action. If and when this is done, our county will come in for its part.

Willie Winn was over last Friday from the farm. He's still sailing as if it were raining every day. But Willie is an old timer, and never loses faith that it will rain when the time comes.

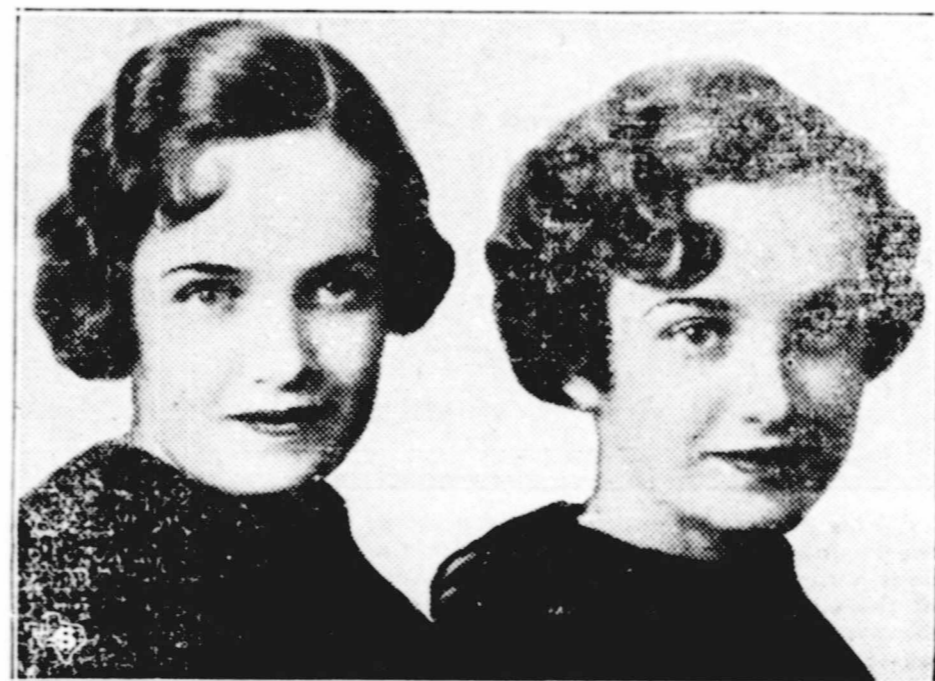

Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Taylor were in Tuesday of this week from the Tokio community. Mrs. Taylor has been kindly under the weather for the past few months, and is under treatment of her physician.

Ambulance Plane Crash Kills Three

Here is the gaunt remains of the ambulance plane in which Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Smith and Pilot Paul Powell crashed to their deaths on the Smith ranch near Childress, Texas. Powell was stunting, spectators said, and a piece of the wing fell off. The ship immediately burst into flames and the three occupants were badly charred. A fourth victim was "Baron Munchausen," the Smith's pet dog.

Baylor Twins Are Technically One Girl

The two most beautiful girls in school are pictured each year on two pages of the student annual at Baylor college, Belton, Texas. Misses Eleanor and Eloise Southern (above) ran a dead heat for one of the places this year. As a result they will be known officially as one girl. A picture of the two of them together will be placed on one page, while another beauty will grace the other. Being thought of as one girl is nothing new for the Misses Southern. They are twins.

Year-Round Culling Brings Chicken Profits

Culling the hens four times a year should be done regularly by poultrymen, if star boarders who eat up profits are to be eliminated. In November, February, May and August, poultrymen should determine if each hen is laying. Those laying in November are excellent hens. Those not laying in February or May should be sold or eaten. Hens laying at all four cullings should be kept for breeders as well as layers. Above is a typical Texas culling scene. The looters go to market in the crate.

Fred Brown (The Grocer)

Says...

'The Same Principles Apply to Both Groceries and Gas!'

FRED BROWN, the grocer, heard the other day that the average family spends 10 times as much for groceries as for gas. It brought to his mind another comparison—that both businesses must operate on the same fundamental principles. In selling a dozen oranges, Fred's retail price covers their cost, his expenses in handling them and a small profit. If his customers demanded oranges at a price each thought he should pay, the grocer often would lose money, because many would not appreciate all the costs involved in selling oranges, or other food items. As it is, people buy oranges on their value to the customer and both buyer and seller benefit. Fred favors gas rates being controlled by law, but believes all factors of expense to The Gas Company should be considered in arriving at these rates, and some thought should be given to the value of gas.

The Browns are typical of families in your neighborhood who operate their own businesses. They are familiar with the many costs involved in selling the products in which they are interested, and appreciate the fact that their customers buy goods for their value rather than on price alone.

Considering the value of gas, the small place it holds in the family budget, and the fact that good service depends upon sound business principles—you will appreciate gas for the bargain it is.

Conoco Broadcasts Aid Local Tourists

General business in Brownfield should benefit this year from an increase in tourist traffic which is expected to result from a series of unusual radio broadcasts by Continental Oil Company.

Figures just released show that the Conoco Travel Bureau during 1933 routed a total of 48,775 tourist groups to and through Texas.

Conoco's radio programs this year, while including some comedy and a wide variety of music, both vocal and instrumental.

The February 14th program, 9:30 to 10, Central Standard Time, will enact a thrilling trip from Wichita, Kansas, to the Southern Colorado Rockies.

In promoting vacation travel the Conoco Travel Bureau is making a definite contribution to improvement of general business conditions.

Attention Turkey Raisers of Terry Co.

We have been requested to announce that those interested in the program of promoting the value of their flocks this year, will meet Saturday afternoon.
