The Official paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield.

It is reported here that a severe sandstorm hit Lubbock Monday afternoon, and among other damage, it picked up the Guy that acts as Bull of the Woods at the Hubbock Havalanche-Shurnal sanctum, and hung him up by the seat of his "britches" to a telephone insulator. The hook and ladder company later rescued him. "Was you dere Sharley?"

The Texas Spur came to our desk this week with a 24 page special edition, celebrating the 25th anniversary of that city and paper. It was really a very creditable and interesting paper, with abundance of articles about old times and old timers. The first time the writer passed along where Spur now stands, the stakes for the railroad had just been set. There was a little store up at old Espuela where the old ranch head quarters had been for years, and used by both the Espuela Land & Cattle Co., of London, England, and the S. M. Swenson interests after they bought out the English firm.

The mayor and city council are trying to so arrange things here that we will have a better parking system. They are not, we understand, wanting to be unfair about anything, but are trying to get the system so arranged that long trucks will hereafter park end to end in the middle of the streets, while cars will be parked at the curb. Two long trucks parked at the curb on opposite sides of the street take up so much space as to almost block traffic, and are really endangering lives. Then, too, there is matter of speeding, passing other cars at street crossings, and various and sundry other traffic violations, that are going to be enforced with a will and determination to break it up. There is no earthly use for anyone to run up and down the streets like they were going to a fire or to show some one else how much power, speed or pickup their car has. After all, half the speedsters don't even have any place in view to go. They just want to travel nowhere as soon as possible.

Lots is said about religious intolerance today, but it goes no further than business or social ostracism. In the days when our country was in its infancy, people who disagreed with the clergy was likely to find himself hunting a new colony, or joining up with a friendly tribe of Indians. Many were burned or whipped as being witches or heretics. Those people certainly took their religion seriously, even though a lot of them had to leave the mother country to escape religious intolerance of other sects. Even the boasted tolerance of the Calverts and Lord Baltimores of Maryland was not as simple as history makes it appear. Every time the kings of England would change their religion from Catholic to Protestant, and vice versa, the Maryland rulers would change theirs, and all subjects of the territory also changed their religion, or the rulers would know why.

Senator Hoey Long may be living in a dog house as he boasts in a recent magazine article. He may enjoy it as much as he claims he does, but we doubt it. Now the Supreme Court of the United States says he must stand trial for libel in a District of Columbia court. The great windjammer first claimed immunity because he is a senator, but the claim was denied by the higher court. Scoundrel and Thief are harmless words unless you apply them to some certain individual. Then, however, you may have to prove you are right. And the accused person does not have to prove himself innocent. Senator Long's many acquaintances await eagerly the outcome of the suit.—Ralls Banner.

"HOLD EVERYTHING"

On Tuesday evening, November 6, the Dramatic Club of B. H. S. presented "Hold Everything," a three act comedy drama, to a packed house.

The play seemed to bid fair for a season favorite. From time to time the large audience roared with laughter at the acting of Noobe, the colored maid, and ripples of delight indicated from time to time that other actors were scoring a hit. The applause at the close of each act was expressive of keen appreciation.

"Why... I never knew that before!"

The cast of characters, six men and eight women, was drawn entirely from the Dramatic Club. Each one seemed to have trained himself particularly for the part he was playing.

The play was a story of complications arising when birds not of a feather flock together in the tourist home of Caroline Caruthers, a young widow of considerable charm.

The ticket sale had been conducted through a class contest. The motivating force of the contest was a class campaign for the election of King and Queen of the Cubs.

Sophomores, $21.55; Freshmen, $19.25; Seniors, $19.10.

The auditorium had been divided into sections, each class having roped off seats for its own use.

Several numbers were given between acts. Jeanne Roane gave a tap dance, and Mrs. Roy Herod gave two accordion numbers.

The cast of characters was as follows: Caroline Caruthers, a proprietress, Ima George Warren; Niobe, a colored servant, Irene Adams; Christopher Morgan, a banker, Bill Savage; Connie Morgan, his daughter, Margene Griffin; Bee Williams, Connie's friend, Kathy Hunter; Courtney Barret, Jr., Connie's pet aversion, Bill Childress; Mrs. Julia Gibbs, an ambitious mother, Mattie Jo Gracey; Lottie Gibbs, Virginia May; Wanda Gibbs, her daughter, Maxine Hardin; Daisy Gibbs, Gwendolyn Baker; Andy and Steve, crooks en route, Roy Chambliss and Logan Redford; Tim Macauley, a detective, Vernon Pharr; the milkman, ———? The stage manager was Clifton Jones.

The total receipts for the play was $101.65. There were approximately 500 people present.

SOBSTERS ALWAYS PLAY SAFE

An article by one Oswald Garrison Villard in the Amarillo News Monday attempted to make a strong protest against the method of taking outlaws out of circulation.

Quoting from this copyrighted article: "Is it not time to call a halt upon the Department of Justice's cold-blooded murder of gangsters?"

How any writer can find a newspaper market for such rot is a mystery. Reading farther: Even worse, it seems to me, was the case of the desperado and his girl who were, without warning whatever, shot to death last summer."

Pretty Boy Floyd's name is written in the book of the dead, but not before he had killed and robbed helpless victims without a chance to defend their lives. In our heart we might wish that there was some other remedy other than to hand right back to the "killer" his own medicine—shoot on sight.

Gangster press agents will be breaking into print more and more as the gangsters meet their just dues at the hands of official marksmen who brook no foolishness and take no chances.

Locally, within a week after County Attorney R. Y. King withheld bullets that would have sent Virgil Stalcup on to where he belongs, this outlaw killed Bill Arthur, sheriff of Dickens county without cause other than to gain his freedom.

Juries had more than one opportunity to save the life of Bill Arthur by giving Stalcup the death penalty as provided by law.

Every juror who refused to give Stalcup the death penalty when he could have done so, should be made to face the saddened widow and orphans left by Bill Arthur down at Dickens that it might be a lasting lesson to them and others that gangsters deserve no mercy.

Should officers shoot to kill when facing an outlaw? Let the widows of slain officers answer the question.

Bill Arthur was a kind-hearted officer attempting to make his prisoners comfortable at their request when he was shot down without any more mercy or consideration than a cowboy would show a mangy coyote.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ledbetter came up Sunday from Abilene to visit their son, Loyd and wife, members of the local school faculty. They brought the following A. C. C. students to visit home folks: Misses Marian Chisholm, Kathleen Hardin, Louise White of Brownfield, and Miss Nora Grigg of Wellman.

C. N. Bingham informed us this week that he and family were leaving right away to try their fortune in the Quemado valley section. We hate to lose this old time family.

BORDEN MAN FINDS COTTON WORK PAYS

"It pays to work your cotton land whether it rains or not," A. N. Surratt, Borden County farmer, told Ralph Howe, farm demonstration agent.

Mr. Surratt has produced 1,540 pounds of net lint from 12 acres of cotton and expects to get about one-half bale more from the same acreage.

He summer farrowed his land and worked it four times before planting his certified seed.

He made a large yield in spite of the fact that less than one-fourth inch of rain was received on this crop from the time it was planted until it was harvested.

Dr. Moorhead and son, were down from Meadow, Wed.

CORONER'S INQUEST

Perhaps the Republican party is not yet dead but it is near death at least and the Coroner, in the person of Postmaster Farley has already given his verdict, aided and abetted by other distinguished politicians.

Farley asserts that the opposition party is already through and that the Democrats will win a practically unanimous victory two years from now. Senator Borah is not so sure that the party is really dead and think that a generous dose of liberalism might restore life.

Even Hamilton Fish, who re-enters the House as a successful candidate, is of the opinion that the party must assume more human and liberal political Democratic landslide andies. The sleepy American Liberty League, perhaps more Republican than Democratic, has apparently had its nap disturbed by the noise of the Democratic landslide and announce a huge mass meeting at Chicago two weeks hence, so as to see to it that the constitution is safeguarded and property rights protected.

The aftermath of the election finds Democrats jubilant over the results and Roosevelt wearing a broad smile. The Republicans, on the other hand, are definitely out from under Hoovers leadership and turning doubtfully to Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, wondering whether by chance he is the Moses who will lead them out of the wilderness.

It is, of course, not likely that the Republican party will really die. It must reorganize, free itself from its extreme conservatism, and turn toward a liberalism that will tend more and more to progressivism—Dallas News

THE THIRTY-HOUR WEEK

We do not quite see how the proposal, which has lately been revived and doubtless will be fought out in the next Congress, to limit the labor of every wage-earner to thirty hours a week, can be carried out without further and more serious dislocation of the nation's economic system than any we have yet experienced.

It certainly could not be carried out in agriculture; though we understand that is not the intention. The farmer's idea of an eight-hour day is "eight hours before dinner and eight hours after dinner."

We do not see how it could work out in the retail and service businesses either, without greatly adding to the cost of things their customers buy. A store can keep open for eight or nine hours a day without putting too heavy a burden on a single shift of salespeople.

What the proponents of this measure have in mind, doubtless, is factories. The theory behind it is that it will "spread the work" and take unemployed factory workers off the relief rolls. We doubt whether it would do that.

It was not very long ago, only 20 years, that Henry Ford startled the industrial world by adopting the eight-hour day. The standard practice up to then had been nine hours of work, six days a week.

C. J. McLeroy also produced two crops of peaches from one tree this year. He had a fine crop of Elbertas off the tree in July. A sprout came out below the bug, and are a small white peach, which in Tennessee we usually called a ditch bank peach.

G. I. Nelson, father of Homer and Lynn of the Corner Drug came in this week for a visit from his home at Prescott, Ark. He reports conditions getting gradually better back that way.

HOW DID WE GET THIS WAY?

Why have we drifted? How did we get this way?

When we were tiny pupils how we planned! The ambition that filled our hearts made our young lives happier. For, were we not looking forward to the time when we would do the "big things" that our upper classmen were then doing?

Each of us yearned for honor, praise and responsibility, but all of this would eventually come about when our grammar school days ended and we became Freshmen in High School! Thus, we made our first and great mistake, "Waiting." We should have started our work then toward these ideals, for now we are unable to compete with those who early learned the value of dependability.

Don't you remember how, on graduation night from Grammar School, we faithfully renewed our vows to do the "big things." In the presence of that vast number we congratulated ourselves and whispered to our inner voices, "Now, for the 'big things!'"

But where are we today? Still drifting! We were unable to stand the competition offered us as Freshmen. We allowed our upper classmen to shatter our dreams, to crash "our castles in Spain." We rushed through Sophomore and Junior year, making excuses for our weakness and negligence. We have good intentions, but we did not have the "get up and go" spirit.

At last this is our Senior year. We have no doubt about our capability of being a winner. The Seniors all ways do the "big things." But somehow we fail. When our Senior year is ended, and we are out on our own initiative shall we still be drifting along, waiting, yearning, but never accomplishing anything?

This year we must strengthen ourselves in "Knowledge, Skill and Capability." These are fundamental factors in our success in later life. We will strive to do those things we have dreamed of; we shall try to be students who are worthy of recognition, both as students and athletes. Our lower classmen must recognize our ability as leaders, and rejoice with us at our successful attempts. We must win contests, we must excel, if we are going to make our dreams a reality.

Manana! Manana! How did we get this way? Can't we overcome this habit of drifting and waiting for tomorrow to hand us good gifts on a silver platter?

Monday night, Nov. 13, were entertained with a very interesting program. The program was opened with a song and the pledge of allegiance to our flag. The American Legion Quartet and Mrs. Dallas' Tiny Tot Choral Club gave several numbers. The principle number of the evening was given by Dr. Holden, instructor in history and anthropology at Texas Tech. This talk was very interesting indeed, as it was concerned about the recent discoveries that have thrown light on the men and animals of prehistoric times.

Quite a few of B. H. S. young girls have turned into Chorus Girls. They didn't go to Hollywood or to New York to "get that way." But the girls have been working very hard on the dance charades in 'Oh, Professor.'

The Dramatic Club has secured a picture show which they are delighted to sponsor. The name of this picture is "The House of Rothschild." The club will get a percentage from the ticket-sales, so, when a member of this club asks you to buy a ticket to this show—buy it! The picture certainly is a good show which you can not afford to miss.

The President of the Senior Class and several other members of the class decided that the students of B. H. S. should have a holiday Monday afternoon to celebrate the close of the Great War. The faculty members were very considerate and B. H. S. had her holiday. Three cheers for the Seniors!

The Rialto is proving to be a loyal friend to B. H. S.—the kind of friend that helps you along.

Well—we must admit that the show of class spirit in assembly is something to be proud of.

CUB CHAPEL

On Wednesday morning Nov. 7, the student body of B. H. S. assembled for the regular chapel program. A very interesting program was given. A piano solo "The Doll Dance" Mary Louise Tinkler; a reading by Doris Lee Gore—"Jimmie Entertains Mr. Brown." Mrs. Dallas' Glee Club sang several numbers and the girls quartette sang two numbers which were of particular interest to Mr. Wester and Mr. Daniels. The program was very well given and was enjoyed by all who were present.

Again on Friday morning the students of B. H. S. assembled and a real pep rally was the chief item of the program. B. H. S. believes in boosting the Cubs.

This talk concluded the program, and the president turned the floor over to Miss Winston, who, after a discussion of the aims of our club, dismissed the club.

PEP SQUAD

The Pep Squad was backing the boys 100% Friday in the game with Tahoka. At the end of the first half, the score was 0 and 0.

The visiting Pep Squad gave their stunt first then B. H. S. squad gave a vivid performance of the figure eight holding streamers of crepe paper in Tahoka's and Brownfield's colors.
 The Pep Squad never lost pep, so at the end of the last half the score was 20 to 6 in Cubs favor.
 The Pep Squad will be behind the boys in the game with Meadow Friday, Nov. 16.

DRAMATIC CLUB

A play, "The Great Pajama Case," was presented before the Dramatic Club Thursday, Nov. 5, by members of the club. This play showed an improvement over the last play because more time was spent preparing the parts.
 The play was a mock court scene, with only women participating. It ran for about ten minutes, and fulfilled its purpose of detecting the culprit in the theft of a pair of pajamas. The court was conducted by Judge Lucille McSpadden. Attorney for the defense, ably manipulating the testimony to protect Doy Murphy, the defendant, was Mary Louise Tinkler. Ora Dee Eicke represented the state in the prosecution.

After several witnesses had been called the case went to the jury, who immediately decided in favor of the prosecution, due to an incriminating incident which displayed the "guilt" of the accused. The judge, however, proved to be lenient, and since it was the first offense, permitted the defendant to go free after singing a song (in which she was assisted by Helen Quante) and returning the purloined property. The play was ably directed by Sallie Stricklin. The cast of characters was as follows: Judge—Lucille McSpadden
 Madge Brown, a witness
 Evelyn White
 Doris Prim, the plaintiff
 Imogene Wall
 Jennie Olson, a witness
 Helen Quante
 Ella Greer, attorney for plaintiff
 Ora Dee Eicke
 Nora McCarty, defense atty.
 Mary Louise Tinkler
 Court Clerk—Evelyn Walls
 Maud Scrimm, the defendant
 Doy Murphy
 Jurors: Ona Fae Tittle, Lorene White, Kathrine Graham, Donnie Mae Smith and Ruby Triplet.

Our 23 Year Column—

According to our issue of Friday, November 17, 1911, the Commissioners court was in session, and was trying to provide the most feasible way to construct and make the Tahoka road a real good one. Several bidders were here from Lynn county, as well as Terry. The famous sheep case had been settled. It was styled First National Bank of Portales, N. M., vs. Roy Beal, et al, and had been in the courts here for some time. It seems that Powell & Walker had bought the sheep from Beal on which the New Mexico bank had a mortgage. After the compromise, Jno. S. Powell set up cigars to the court and all the jurors and others present. A former Minnesota man, living near Canyon, Texas, was experimenting with flax culture. He had grown 15 bushels per acre worth $3 per bushel. Will Adams moved his large grist mill from Gomez to Brownfield. Judge Spencer had been sustained by the higher courts in the suit of Emma to prevent the county seat moving to Crosbyton.

Mrs. W. N. Copeland was down from Lubbock, visiting her son, Chas. and family. M. V. Brownfield and daughter, Miss Effic, attending the wedding of Miss Flora Robinson, at Lubbock. Misses Hettie Moore and Jessie Nichols of Gomez were visiting Mrs. Alvin Duke. Sam Biggers of Wichita Falls, was visiting his father, Neil H. Bigger of Plains. Lester McPherson and family had moved over from Gomez. He was to assist Uncle Billie Byrd in the carpenter business. Mr. Harper wanted to move his family down from Lubbock but no vacant houses. Same condition obtains today. C. H. Hester, of Frost, was up looking after his interests. He was talking of moving here. There was to be union Thanksgiving services at the Baptist church. The Methodist pastor was to deliver the sermon. Mrs. Manion Cosby of Lubbock, was visiting her brother, Chas Copeland and family. Two families were looking for rent houses here. Mr. Jonah Hamlet of Meadow moved his family down for school purposes.

Miss Ruby Bynum was teaching the Dumas school. Miss Maynie Powell was teaching the Harris school. J. H. James of Madisonville, Texas, had arrived with their household goods, to make this home. He was the father of Howard James, of this city, and Mrs. Walter Gainer of Gomez. Gomez News: Mrs. J. E. Woodard was marketing sweet potatoes in Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. Grey from Borden county had leased the Ray Brownfield ranch southwest of the city. W. A. Shepherd and family had moved to San Patricio county. Prof. Robert James was the principal of the Plains schools. Miss Kate Copeland visited in Lubbock. D. B. Watson had moved into the Watson house for school purposes. Prof. Harrison was conducting a night school for boys who had to work in daytime. Fine grass was reported in south and southeast Terry. The weather was said to be warm and balmy. All for this week.

A blind man and his wife, we guess, hit the city Tuesday afternoon. He played a French harp and guitar—he led him about. They made more money slowly marching up and down the streets that afternoon than most of us. Still, we prefer our eyes and no musical talent.

E. H. Green has handed in the coin for another year of the Herald.

THE ENEMY

(By Benjamin Russell)

A friend and I were hustling along a city street in one of the bitterest rainstorms of the season. It was a driving rain and the day was cold and raw. Taxicabs were at a premium, and such unlucky people as were out afoot hurried along the sidewalks with collars turned up or trying to ward off the driving rain with umbrellas.

Above the roaring of the wind and the spattering of the raindrops came the sound of music. Wondering, my friend and I pushed around a corner—and there stood a little band of Salvation Army workers, blowing their horns and pounding their drum. Occasionally a pedestrian would hurry past, but none stopped on that wet, chilly corner to listen—none, that is, except my friend and I.

The music came to an end, and the leader of the band began to speak about the Kingdom of Heaven. My friend and I listened for a few moments getting wetter and colder all the time, and then moved on. The speaker's voice followed us until we were out of hearing.

"A strange performance," I said. "Yes," said my friend, "Did you ever hear the story of Napoleon's cannoner?"

I shook my head. "One day," said my friend, "—a day much like this one—Napoleon went out alone to look over his lines and came up on a cannoner with a squad of men, shooting off a big gun at regular intervals. He seemed to be shooting at nothing at all. At least, there was no enemy in sight. Napoleon asked him why he was doing it."

"Orders from headquarters, sir," said the cannoner. "And besides, the enemy might be there."

Futile efforts? Miscredited? Maybe. But it's easy enough to cease firing—to give up the task you're working on—when conditions get disagreeable and you can't see that you're making any headway. It's easy to argue with yourself that the effort is in vain—particularly when there's comfort and rest waiting somewhere. It takes indomitable spirit to keep on firing because the enemy might be there.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation to our many friends for their kind deeds and words of sympathy extended us during our hour of sadness in the death of our beloved son. We also thank the people for the beautiful floral offerings. May God's richest blessings be yours until we meet each of you in a brighter and more noble day. J. E. Patterson and family.

"Oh Professor"

Tuesday night of this week, "Oh Professor," sponsored by the Methodist Church of Brownfield, was presented to a large audience at the high school auditorium.

The play was put over in grand style according to those who saw it. Besides the feature play, many musical numbers were presented by local girls, who displayed real musical talent. It seemed that the Butterfly dance, presented by men such as James H. Dallas, and others made the biggest hit with the audience, when they made their appearance on the stage dressed to resemble Butterflies.

In connection with the play was held a child popularity contest, which created much excitement and some keen competition. The little girls and boys, with their sponsor, marched across the stage and were introduced to the audience. After which the winners were announced, who were little Miss Mary Edna Tankersley, with Miss Darline Tankersley her sponsor; and Master Odell Quant with Miss Sally Ruth Cox his sponsor, receiving the prizes for the contest.

In conversation with Miss Sue Lamb, director of the play, she seemed to be very much pleased with the outcome of the play, and says she has enjoyed her work here very much. She thanks those who helped her to make the play a success.

George Mahon, of Colorado, congressman from the new 19th district, will not serve Scurry county as district attorney during the fall term, which opens Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Regis Quinlan, were here during the Armistice Holiday, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bell.

Elder O. M. Reynolds informed us this week that he was teaching a ten day singing school at the church of Christ at Wellman. There will be an all day session Sunday with dinner on the ground. A sermon at 11 'clock and a short talk in the afternoon. All the rest of the time will be devoted to singing.

J. W. Renfro, gin man of Meadow, had business here Wednesday.

Jim Neill, sophomore in Texas Tech, and graduate of the Brownfield high school, and a star in the Fighting Cubs teams of 1931-32 seasons, was down Sunday visiting friends. Jim was battered up in the Tech-Simmons fracas last week, receiving a broken thumb and nose.

Douglas Jones and wife of Amarillo, were down over Sunday visiting with his mother, Mrs. Sam Jones and took in the Amarillo-Lubbock football game Monday.

Our nephew, Neal Stricklin, where we visited in the summer, sent us a box of real old Tennessee chestnuts and scalley-bark hickory nuts one day last week, and did we enjoy them. On account of scanty rainfall the hickory nuts were not up to regular size, but those that were good had the old time flavor. The chestnut tree is a little more selfish, and gets off kindly to itself, where it gets all the moisture, and the nuts were about the average, and sweet as honey. He sent one Chestnut burr with the nuts inside so the Texas cousins and aunt could see how they grew on the trees. Neal's a great lad.

Among those on the list of honor students in A. C. C. is Marion Chisholm of Brownfield who is listed for honors in English education and public speaking; Howard Davis of Brownfield is listed in business administration; and Kathleen Hardin of Brownfield is listed in home economics.

Mrs. Addie Isbell of Jacksboro, is visiting her mother, Mrs. J. T. Hamilton.

ROOSEVELTS PAY TRIBUTES TO SOLDIER DEAD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—Armistice day—16 years after—moved President and Mrs. Roosevelt to pay tribute to the soldier dead. It prompted the first lady, too, to say word of the miseries of war.

The president, leading thousands on the pilgrimage to the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, carried a wreath in remembrance. The first lady added a white chrysanthemum.

In a radio speech last night, Mrs. Roosevelt urged that youth be trained to amity and understanding for other countries.

"The glory of war," she said, "has been constantly emphasized and rarely sordidized. The filth, the cold, the horror of wounds and of slow death—these are all hidden behind a veil of comradeship and patriotism."

DO YOU KNOW THAT

There are 3,000,000 masons in the United States. An acre of corn in the silo will winter 50 per cent more cattle than the same acre fed as fodder. There are now more than 2,000,000,000 (two billion) human beings on this earth. Hiawatha was a real Indian; he had two wives, but neither of them was Minnehaha. England has highest per capita tax burden of all nations, with the United States second, France third and Germany 4th—$93, $64, $54, and $37 respectively. Of the more than 3,000 known varieties of fish in the United States only 160 varieties are edible.
