Brownfield had a real good delegation to the South Plains Bankers Association meet at Plainview, Tuesday, which was a holiday, for Texas bankers generally, being the 100th birthday of freedom for the Lone Star State from Mexican misrule.

From the First National bank were, Cashier W. R. McDuffie and wife, and assistant cashiers, Clovis and Speck Kendrick. From the Brownfield State, were Cashier Leo Holmes, and assistant cashiers, Jas. H. Dallas and Miss Lela Duke.

The delegation reported a great time, lots of entertainment, and some very interesting business sessions. The two main speakers for the day were R. L. (Bob) Thornton of the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas, and Mr. Meeks, of the Citizens National of Abilene.

Free Services Given By the Home Paper

Many people do not stop to calculate the number of real services the county paper renders all the people of the community, whether they take the paper and pay for it, or patronize its advertising columns or not.

From week to week, the county paper renders a free information service to its constituency, that money will not buy. Something for nothing that no self respecting publisher would dare sell as paid advertising.

The circular may never be brought in the house, but you never see the weekly home town paper lay out on the front porch or steps, nor do you ever see one in the waste basket at the post office.

Your home town paper too, usually owns its own building, maintains a residence in the town, owns thousands of dollars worth of machinery, and helps pay the city, county, school and state taxes, as well as helping in every way to put the schools, churches, lodges and civic organizations to the forefront to the very best of their ability.

These are just a few reasons for the home town weekly, and just a few reasons why it deserves your support.

Machinery is Moved From Bennett Well

The past week, the drilling machinery is being moved from the Bennett well 33 miles southwest of Brownfield, to a new location some ten miles northwest of Plains, on the Goggin ranch, which will probably be called the Roosevelt No. 1, after the son of the President, Elliott, who married Miss Goggin.

It is reported here on good authority that the discovery well is satisfactory to the company, and is now making some 250 barrels per day, which is more than is allowable under present proration. It is a good grade of oil. All containers are now full, and it is not known whether more storage tanks will be put down, or a pipe line built.

Oil development is being watched with interest in Yoakum county by local people as well as elsewhere.

Rabbit Drive Next Wed. At Johnson

We are requested to announce that a rabbit drive will be held in the Johnson community next Wednesday, April 29th. The hunt will begin at L. L. Blackstock's, time 9:00 o'clock. The ladies of the community will serve lunch at the Johnson school house, and everyone is invited to come.

MRS. W. J. SMITH PASSES Mrs. W. J. Smith, about 71, passed away last Saturday, after a lengthy siege of illness, followed by complications of flu. Funeral services were held by Rev. Hicks, Baptist minister at the Tokio Baptist church Sunday afternoon, and the body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery, following.

Formal Statement On His Candidacy Given By Carter

Discussing what he said he considered "the major problems," Tom H. Carter of Lubbock, candidate for representative from the 119th district, issued a formal statement "presenting my views on some of the issues confronting the next session of the state legislature and the general public welfare at this time."

"I wish to say in the beginning," explained Carter, "that I am not running against any one for this very important office, but feel that the 119th representative district consisting of the heart of the great South Plains is entitled to better representation and representation that is more in accord with the wishes of the people of the district than we have heretofore received."

"I have been interested in the legislation of laws of our government all of my life and have kept in touch with the proceedings of both state and national legislative bodies for years. I am fully aware that there are 150 members in the house of representatives and due to that fact, I will not be able to do everything that I might have a desire to do, however, I believe with the conscientious efforts that I will put forth if elected, that many things can be accomplished for the good of our great state and especially the South Plains of Texas."

Carter's statement continued: "I favor restricting the state according to constitutional provision which will give West Texas fair representation according to our population. Favors Utilities Control 'I favor strict control and rate regulation for all utilities. 'The people having adopted a constitutional amendment which I supported, instructing the legislature to provide funds to care for the fathers and mothers of yesterday and the 44th legislature failing miserably, after the governor having called two special sessions after the legislature had spent 20 days in regular session to make necessary provisions for funds, it will be my purpose immediately to provide the necessary funds, which can be done without further increasing the taxes on tangible property."

"I favor state monopoly and sale of intoxicants in unbroken packages only. I favor strict regulation of the liquor traffic and full protection for dry territories. Favors Raising Per Capita 'I favor raising the per capita scholastic apportionment from $17.50 as it now is to $25 and basing payment on actual enrollment. The rural schools must not be overlooked in appropriations. 'In Texas Technological college we have one of the finest schools to be found anywhere and its growth and the reputation it enjoys at this time proves beyond a doubt that it has a great future. I am familiar with many of the needs of this great college, especially a library, and I will put forth every effort to see that Tech receives her just share of appropriations in order that the educational needs in higher learning may be cared for in this section of the state. Opposes General Sales Tax 'I am opposed to a general sales tax. 'I am opposed to any increase in the ad valorem tax. 'I favor a selective sales or luxury tax. 'I favor increased tax on natural resources such as sulphur, oil and gas. Texas furnishes a great supply of sulphur and oil out of its boundaries and a small tax on either or both of these would bring in much revenue. For More Taxes On Racing 'I favor increase of tax on horse racing. I'm opposed to the legalized gambling on horse races but if it is to be continued, I would favor

PTA Convention at Spur Ended Saturday

SPUR, April 18.—Mrs. W. R. Weaver of Spur was elected president of the fourteenth district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, in a biennial election held here Saturday. The two-day convention closed at noon.

One hundred and 64 delegates and visitors registered for the conference which was presided over by Mrs. Jas. B. Day of Rotan. Talks were on the theme: "The Home—The Index to National Life." Speakers included Mrs. M. A. Taylor of Bonham, president of the Texas Congress, Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college at Lubbock, and Mrs. Nettie Myers, state child welfare representative.

Help Your Self to Hold House Warming

The Help Your Self Grocery, which for the past several years has done business in the Peebler building on the north side of the square, will move the first of May to the new Brownfield building on the east side of the square, where they will install new fixtures, and have one of the prettiest grocery stores in this section.

For their opening date in the new building, which will include the first Saturday and First Monday Tradesday, they will keep open house, at which all old as well as new customers are requested to call and inspect their new home and their preparation to handle business entrusted to them with dispatch and satisfaction to their customers.

The Herald takes this means of congratulating this popular firm, and insist that you visit them on these two days.

CALLED TO GAINESVILLE TO HOLD FUNERAL

Elder Jas. A. Fry, minister of the church of Christ here, was called to Gainesville, Texas, Saturday to conduct the funeral of a member of the church of Christ at that place, who was the song leader as well as one of the officers.

W. E. Fry of Lovelland, accompanied by his wife, came down Sunday and filled the pulpit of his brother, W. E. (Ed) is county superintendent of schools in Hockley county.

Poverty helps bad people to be good.

An amendment providing for the legalization and regulation of bookie shops so that one might place his bet without being required to attend some race track meet. This would bring the bookie shop out in the open and secure, for the state, taxes on the wagers now being made tax free. As long as it is legal to place bets on horse races in Tarrant county, it will take the whole law enforcement personnel to prevent the placing of the same bet in other counties; so, I say abolish it or fix it so the state will get all the taxes. 'I favor submission to the people for their approval or disapproval a constitutional amendment upon a unicameral legislature. 'I favor one cent of our gasoline tax going to pay off county bonds. Had Experience On Farm 'I have had several years of actual experience on the farm and feel that I know the farmers' problems and I will lend all efforts toward legislation which will be of benefit to them. 'I favor reduction of taxes on home-owners and farmers by placing taxation on property, bonds, and other securities, and by strict economy in government. 'I am in favor of the enactment of fewer laws and the repeal of many useless laws on the statutes and the enforcement of those retained. 'I am 38 years of age—born in Callahan county. I served three years and one month in the United States navy during the World war, conveying troop ships to France. I am a member of the American Legion, Veteran of Foreign wars, and the First Baptist church. I am president of the Central Labor council in Lubbock and was president of the Lubbock County Young Democrats club last year. I am a home-owner and tax-payer in Lubbock county."

The Meadow School Makes a Good Record

In spite of the fact that Meadow High School did not win the County Championship in Interscholastic League Events she made a splendid record at the District Meet held in Lubbock on the 17th and 18th of April, by placing fourth. Lockney students placed first with 45 points; Lubbock second with 42 points; Littlefield third with 40 points; and Meadow and Lamesa tied for fourth with 35 points each.

The number of points given for first, second or third place in each event is determined by the state Interscholastic League headquarters. The number of points for each school competing Friday and Saturday was determined by counting all points made in both athletic and literary events.

Olton placed fifth with 25 points; Levelland sixth with 22 points; Justiceburg seventh with 20 points; Union (Lubbock Co.) and Spur tied for eighth with 17 points. Other placings were as follows: Fifteen points each: Southland, Crosbyton, Tahoka, Sundown, Spade and Sudan. Twelve points: Dumont; ten points: Cotton Center, Brownfield, O'Donnell, New Lynn, Petersburg, Lou, Pride, Wilson and Whitharral. Five points: Slaton, Dickens, Post, Grass Burr, Allmon, Needmore, Sterley, Pleasant Valley, Edith, Floydada and Morgan. Two points each were Posey, McCarty, Scudday, Idalou, and some other Terry county school.

Meadow winners were: Neil Turnbough, second in extemporaneous speech, boy's division, 10 points; Othelia Franklin, first in tennis, girl's singles, 10 points; Mary and Jamie Ruth Deckard, first in tennis, girl's doubles, 10 points; volley ball team, third place, 5 points.

The tennis players will represent District No. 2 at the Regional Meet in Canyon on Friday and Saturday. —Contributed.

Just Sight Seeing in "Hubbuck" Saturday

The editor and wife and junior editor were visitors in Lubbock last Saturday afternoon, mainly to see the Tech College Engineering show. Those boys certainly know their okra in putting on a great show. This was our first time to visit it, although this was their 8th annual show.

The show was scattered from basement to third story of five large buildings, and he that thinks he can do justice to the show in one afternoon is badly cracked. To do the thing right, he should spend all of both days there. That is our aim for next year.

The students are the soul of politeness, and take extra pains in showing the uninitiated the intricacies of engineering and chemistry. The printing plant was the only place we found with doors barred—no welcome sign there. But graphic arts may not have been included in the show.

Being 55, fat and stiff, the many flights of stairs ascended and descended, just about took all the pep out of us but we came home well pleased with the trip, and needed no cradle to get to sleep that night.

Bill Gore Leaves For Elec. Eng'ing School

Bill Gore son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Gore, of the Johnson community, left this week for Chicago, where he will take a course in Electrical Engineering in the Coyne School of Engineering. Bill will be gone from six to nine months.

Bill has been in the dairy business here for some time, in fact almost since he graduated from high school. He has always taken a great interest in stock raising, and has shown some prize winning baby beeves while a 4-H club boy. He is a general favorite among old and young people of this section, who wish him every success in life.

Sanitary Barber Shop Changes Hands

Luke Harrell has sold the Sanitary Barber shop to an old friend of his from Brownwood, Texas, we understand, who will take charge of the shop May 1st. We understand that Guy T. Nelson and Gay Price will remain with this shop. Luke is adding another chair to the Hotel Barber Shop, and will be there after May 1st. Jack Holt and Bill Allmon will assist Luke in the new shop.

Four 1-Act Plays Next Tuesday Night

On next Tuesday night, April 28, at the high school auditorium a program of one-act plays will be presented under the sponsorship of the debate club and the senior class. Part of the proceeds of the program will go to finance a trip to the state meet at Austin for the members of the Brownfield High School debate teams who worked so faithfully this year and who won both county debates for the first time in three years. The members of these teams were Sam Chisholm, Wendell Smith, Mildred Adams and Thelma Fern Harris. The boys team also won 3rd place out of eleven teams at the district meet last week-end. A percent of the proceeds will go to the seniors, who are helping advertise the program, selling tickets, etc.

There will be four short plays presented. These plays are under the direction of Mrs. M. L. Penn and many of the parts are being played by members and former members of her expression classes. The program will be as follows:

DANGER AT THE DOOR is a very clever mystery-comedy which will be played by six members of the seventh grade and five underclassmen in high school. According to the director this little play alone is worth the price of admission.

WHEN THE WIFE'S AWAY is a comedy-farce which will be given by six high school students. There is a laugh in every line.

THE TELEGRAM is one of those pleasing little comedies of everyday life which we all like. You will laugh at and thoroughly enjoy the seventeen-year-old twins.

IN DOUBT ABOUT DAISY is another comedy which almost turns out to be tragic but which is finally worked out so that they all live happily ever after—even to mother and dad.

Prices of admission will be fifteen cents for adults and high school students and ten cents for all other school children. Come and bring the entire family and enjoy this clean wholesome program. The first play will go on at eight o'clock.

"Country Doctor" Was a Good Show

A lot of people including the writer were somewhat skeptical of "The County Doctor" in which the Dionne Quintuplets starred, thinking that the use of the names and a few scenes of the famous five daughters of the north woods Canadian couple would be filmed, and a sorry story and acting written around the matter to "fill out"

But the first people who saw the show came out praising it, and hundreds saw it as a result. Not only was there much filming of the five babies at play, asleep, having their food and baths, but there was a whole of a good story written around them, and well acted by some of the best stars on the screen.

The scenes portrayed pathos, humor and daring and when the show was over one felt that his time spent at the show was well worth the cost.

Tom F. Hunter in Race For Governor

AUSTIN, April 18.—Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls announced his candidacy for governor today, bringing a total of candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for that office to nine.

Hunter, twice previously a candidate for the governorship, launched his campaign with a sharp criticism of what he said was James V. Allred's "callous neglect of the old people of Texas." He referred to the administration of the old age pension law.

TRI-STATE SINGERS TO SHREVEPORT, LA.

Judges on the street corners seem to have more assurance than those on the bench.—Gilmer Morror.

Preparing For Spring Gardening in Yoakum

By Lilith Boyd, C. H. D. A. Plains, Texas

Even though it seems a little early for gardening in this section, Mrs. A. G. Mabry of the Moreland Home Demonstration Club has done a great deal already.

From her spring garden she has had carrots, asparagus, onions, lettuce and rhubarb. She is sending six containers of rhubarb canned this year to the Centennial Exhibit at Dallas.

"Some of my rhubarb grew from roots and some from seeds. I have a regular bed in the garden and some on the tank dam," said Mrs. Mabry.

Rhubarb is classified as a fruit, and it will add variety to the 150 containers of fruit necessary in your canning budget. To can rhubarb cut it into 1/2-inch lengths, pack into the containers and cover with boiling hot syrup (1 cup sugar to 1 cup water). Process quart and pint glass jars for 20 minutes in boiling water and No. 2 and No. 3 sanitary or re-named tin cans for 15 minutes.

The subject, "press liberty" seems to be up before the meeting of The American Society of Newspaper Editors at their meeting in New York. From extracts of speeches and general maneuvers at the convention, one can easily guess that some of them at least are members of the Liberty League, a subsidiary of the GOP. There is little danger of the liberties of the American press being abridged.

"The American Liberty League is fighting President Roosevelt with every weapon it can muster, because Roosevelt sets human rights above property rights. Sush opposition is natural; those who defend human progress must ever slash their way through ignorance, superstition, intolerance and greed and avarice, injustice and power. Human progress is slow; it comes only through the leadership of men such as Roosevelt. The government reforms we adopt today act as a stimulant. The good people of this country are on their way. They cannot be stopped by the Duponts and Hoovers."—Portland, Ore., Journal. (Ind. Rep.)

April 21, or San Jacinto day in Texas corresponds nicely to the Yorktown day of the nation. As liberty was finally won for the 13 colonies at Yorktown, and later the entire 48 states, so was liberty and the pursuit of happiness won by the arms of Texas patriots at San Jacinto. Thus, July 4th and March 2nd; Yorktown 1781, and San Jacinto 1836 are forever linked. Not only does April 21 mean much to Texans, but it was the opening wedge driven by Gen. Sam Houston and his Anglo-American fighters that finally paved the way for New Mexico, Arizona and California to become American states. Is it possible that the immortal army at San Jacinto could have possibly envisioned the great Texas empire of wealth and culture of 100 years later?

A penciled note on some Abilene barber shop supply company stationery was found last week floating near where the body of W. O. Pinson was found three weeks ago. The writing was Pinson's, it was said, thus substantiating the suicide theory.

Grandma Bragg, of Lamesa, was a visitor here Sunday.

IN MEMORY OF MOTHER HOWARD

Once more, on April 8, the grim reaper has descended among us and has wafted from our midst one of the most adored sweethearts of whole Terry county.

Despite unbounding medical attention and all that loving care could do, the sinister figure of death stole in and spirited away to her heavenly home, Grandmother Howard age 87.

Years cannot dim the memory of the sweetest little grandmother of the ages. Always in the years to come there will remain the picture of a motherly figure as she rocked and whittled; not forgetting to smile at everyone as they chanced to pass her way. Now, her whittling is still; and the smile is gone! Never again will loving hands gather the small shavings from around her feet, or stack in neat piles the whittling material that she kept in a special rack. Never again will her winsome smile brighten our daily existence and make our troubles seem smaller.

Many are the hearts that will miss her cheery greetings. Many that have mourned her passing with grief laden hearts. There is an empty chair in that home tonight that cannot ever be filled. Surely, our sympathy goes out to those that will miss her most; those back on the little homestead that are left to carry on without her. Every morning that vacant chair will sound a hollow chord on their heart string. Every evening at dusk the same little chair will be there to echo that lonely note.

Somewhere in God's beautiful garden he needed a special flower and he chose our precious mother. Knowing He is her pilot and guardian, we feel she is happy—and are comforted.

Takes Course in Latest Photographic Work

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lowe, local photographers, have just returned from the east where they took a short course in the latest styles of posing, lighting and chemistry.

They studied lighting and posing under Harry B. Wells, who has taught extensively in Europe, and whose work is so outstanding that he is considered to be the best in the profession.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe also studied new movie styles in lighting and posing under Mr. Max Autrey of Hollywood, whose work in that field made him the favorite photographer of Janet Gaynor, Helen Twelvetrees, Joan Crawford and others.

Mrs. Lowe took a series of lessons under one of the leading colorists of the southwest.

They report a very pleasant as well as profitable trip and believe now they can make as good work as can be had in the larger places

TRAILING CLOUDS OF GLORY

On September 10, 1936 the Senior class started off the school year with a bang. We were an adventurous, fun-loving group of boys and girls and we have had a successful year of zealous work and play.

As we look back on the past four years, we note many achievements and we are justly proud of them. But this year stands out more vividly of our high school life. We have attained the high-spot of our lives and naturally we are proud of this achievement.

Though the years we will attain happiness and success but this year will stand out greater than any other. Parents, teachers, friends, all, have been interested in our attainments. And we feel they shall continue to be. They shall help us mold our life in a way that will find favor with God and our fellow-citizens.

With this point in view we thank each and everyone for their words and acts of encouragement and truly hope that there will be many from this graduating class obtain a position in the world that they well deserve.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Spring football is well underway and Coach Best informs us that 30 boys are coming out.

The faculty and student body backs these boys in this early training. For the training they get now will help in a big way toward making a successful football squad of 36-37. Football is a sport we all enjoy, so let's encourage them in their effort to make a squad that B. H. S. will be proud to boost!

It is not the purpose of this Spring Training just to get out of P. T. but to really show Lamesa what defeat really is! So push 'em, gang, push 'em!

SENIOR LIVES

Iris Deanne Lewis.

Iris Lewis was born near Brownfield, September 6, 1918. She remained here until the ripe old age of two, when she moved to Gallup, N. M., where she lived for about one year. The next few months were spent in Texas. Her next move was to Phoenix, Ariz. From there she moved to Little Rock, Ark., and then to Tucson, Ariz. In 1928 Iris returned to Brownfield and started to school here. She has made no further moves. Her hobby is kodaking (on a large scale) and her favorite sport is tennis. Iris wishes to become a commercial artist and plans to go to a business college next year. Of course Iris is a home loving type of girl and will probably let her conscience (?) be her guide.

Helen Maxine Green.

Helen Maxine was born at Temple, Okla., September 12, 1918. She lived there three years then moved to Brownfield. She began her education at the age of eight. Helen thinks being a charter member of this Senior class is something to be proud of and so do we. At least it shows that she has not failed a term.

Helen's ambition is to become a commercial artist and she hopes to attend C. I. A. where she will major in art. She has that widespread disease—the kodaking fever. Her favorite sport is volley ball.

PROJECTS

Students of B.H.S. taking Economics and English III and IV have found working up their "required projects" is not as dreafal as they had feared. There are various projects underway.

Interesting discussions of the TVA, WBPA, NYA and PVA, and other governmental functions are being prepared by the ever-industrious group of Economic students. But the fortunate students not taking Economics have even more interesting units to prepare. Some of them are: The Centennial, Aviation, Texas History and The Movie Industry.

These projects will be valuable source of information when completed, and they shall be justly pointed out as "one achievement of high school days."

CUB COMMENT

Final examinations are gradually creeping upon the student body of B. H. S. Six more weeks to go and this school year will be history. Beware of this fact and begin to prepare now for what is to come.

We students of BHS often wonder if ex-teachers ever think of us. We have so many things to remember them by!

We hear, as we go to press, that Mrs. M. L. Penn is presenting four one-act plays next Tuesday night, April 28. Don't forget the date and come!

We hear that the Juniors of Brownfield High School will present their play Friday evening, May 5. There is a strange cast of characters and they hope to pack the auditorium. The Seniors hope so, too—for after all, they like to eat and it all depends!

Be true, if you would be trusted.

A peal of old-time thunder sent a thrill through many students of BHS Monday afternoon. Yeah—what is rain anyway?

The Seniors are beginning to wonder if they will be glad when time drops the curtain on high school life.

We are wondering if the "Ex-stu" All the teachers report that they had a good time in Lubbock, Friday and Saturday but would have had a better one if we had won the District Meet.

dents Association" can take care of the 63 Seniors who are about to leave the place of their achievements.

The Juniors will entertain the Seniors with a formal banquet March 12.

W. T. Clements is back in school after several weeks illness.

The cast for the Junior play is working hard and expecting quite a crowd out. Are you coming?

Fern Sawyer visited in Brownfield over the week-end.

A number of high school students plan to go to Lubbock this week-end as guests of Texas Tech.

There's quite a few new faces out for spring football training.

ELECTS DUCHESS

The Senior Class met Friday morning April 17, for the sole purpose of electing a Duchess to represent BHS at Lubbock this week-end when Texas Tech entertains the various schools in this district.

They chose Erray Lewis. Erray is the type of representative BHS should have. She has the traits of a good student and a good sport. We feel confident that Erray will represent our school as it should be represented, and we are indeed fortunate in having so fine a representative for B. H. S.

SENIORS MEET

The Seniors met in home room Tuesday morning. Various business matters were discussed and it was decided, that if possible, they would go as a group to Lubbock this week-end. They also were informed that the aptist ladies would compliment them with a tea in the near future.

JUNIOR HIGH NOTES

Junior High has started spring football training. A large number of boys have reported for training and prospects are bright for a good team next fall. The boys will have a new set of equipment next year and will be in the fighting from the first. A number of the Junior High boys who will be in High School next year are training with the high school team. We are expecting them to make good there.

N. H. Lovelace and family have moved back to Terry county from Quemado, Texas, and will cultivate the farm where Tom T. Thompson was last year.

Ed Aryain and family were Lubbock visitors, Sunday.

Chamber of Commerce

By J. E. Shelton, Sec.

The Open Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to which all citizens were invited whether members or not, could be figured two ways, either a complete flop or 125 percent attendance, as three members of the organization were in attendance and two of our leading farmers who are interested in the chamber of commerce and its efforts to develop the town and county. Several of the members informed me the next day, that they either forgot the meeting or that their wives had accepted an invitation to a bridge party and that they naturally had to attend. I don't blame them in the least for this, because if a woman arranges for her husband to attend a social function with her, he had better do it, provided he desires to keep on peaceable terms. I know what I am talking about as I have one of them. However, we are going to make another stab at an open meeting but are going to use a different method of notifying our people and we have hopes that it will do the job.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is going to place an exhibit at the Frontier Celebration, which is being staged by Fort Worth, for the edification of Centennial visitors and we have been requested to contribute to it, both in money and material. But our directors, have after due consideration, rejected the proposal and have adopted one that they believe will be of more direct benefit to us. However we have had another proposal of a different nature put up to us which embraces the South Plains only and we might join in on it, but it has not yet been put up to our directors and we don't know what action will be taken upon it.

We have been busy for the last several days undertaking to secure a lot of information not in our files, that is necessary in our effort to secure an appropriation for the construction of a federal post office building and also in connection with a Resettlement designation and are now about ready to assemble it in approved form for consideration of various departments. The Federal building is something that we have been working on for more than a year but we will have to keep hammering on it if we ever get it over. The resettlement proposal is of recent origin and we hope that it will not take so long to put it over.

Cleve Holden of Sudan, and sister, Mrs. Stricklin Sr. of this city left Sunday for Hot Springs, Ark., and other points in that state. Mrs. Holden and daughter are now living at Hot Springs. Mrs. Jack Stricklin Jr. accompanied them as far as Denison, Texas, where she will visit her parents.

H. H. Copeland and W. O. Howell, of Abilene, were here this week hunting for life insurance business. Mr. Copeland was formerly in the dry goods business here.

Talks Railroad For South Plains Country

W. O. Thomas, who is now down at Aransas Pass enjoying a vacation, wrote the News last week enclosing from the Corpus Christi Caller-Times of Sunday, April 5, giving an account of plans that have been formulated for the building of a new railway from Corpus Christi to Roswell, New Mexico. The purported route is via San Angelo, Big Spring, and Brownfield, passing through Howard, Lynn and Terry counties.

The promoter of the road is Captain Ed Kennedy, who will be remembered as the same man who was here several years ago promoting the building of such a road. The matter was dropped, however, when the depression came on, but it seems that it has been revived and that the promoter is receiving considerable encouragement. In fact, the clipping referred to states that work has already begun on one sector of the proposed line. Below we publish a few paragraphs from the clipping:

"Actual work on the preliminary construction work of the Corpus Christi, San Angelo and Roswell Railway, which will shorten the distance between here and Roswell approximately 186 miles is slated to start within the next few days it was announced yesterday by Captain Ed. Kennedy chairman of the board of directors.

A contract for the engineering work on the line between San Diego and Freer a distance of about 30 miles, was awarded to V. L. Conrad of Brownsville and Cleveland, Ohio, the past week, Captain Kennedy said.

Work of running the survey lines between here and San Angelo also will be undertaken at once by the engineering firm.

The proposed railway will traverse a rich agricultural and oil area between here and Roswell, N. M., affording farmers and others to take advantage of the shorter distance to the deep water port here, with lower freight rates, Captain Kennedy pointed out.

The railroad company will use the tracks of the Tex-Mex from San Diego into Corpus Christi, but beyond San Diego to Roswell it will build its own line, by units the Captain said.

"Among the counties to be served in Texas by the new railroad will be Nueces, McMullen, Rio, Uvalde, Real, Kimble, Menard, Tom Green, Duval, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Howard, Dimmitt and La Salle."—Tahoka News.

Let's All Patronize The Peddlers—(?)

"I understand quite a few of our citizens lately had the great good fortune of having some pictures enlarged for the amazingly low price of $1.98, and just to introduce their work of art to the most prominent citizens of McLean these enlargements were to be expensively hand tinted free; however only a few would be allowed this wonderful opportunity. But when the second gentleman came back with these wonderful works of art the expensive hand tinting could not be had unless they bought a nice frame to cost not less than eight dollars or more than twenty-five dollars. These wonderful enlargements could have been had from most any legitimate photo developing firm for fifty cents.

"And I understand our housewives can purchase a nice piece of hand painted china for two bucks and by purchasing twenty dollars worth of macaroni or noodle soup your two dollars will be refunded at the rate of ten cents on the dollar. Of course you can't buy macaroni or noodle soup from your grocery stores in McLean and there are no business firms that handle hand painted china either. I suppose it's all right to buy from these peddlers as they are heavy tax payers and every time the collection plates are passed they donate handsomely toward supporting our churches and other worth while purposes.

"I want to know why all of us don't patronize these peddlers and solicitors for everything we use and close up all our business houses of every kind. What in the heck do we need business houses and merchants for anyway? Let them go to peddling."—D. A. Davis in McLean News.

WHY STINSON IS A TOWNSENDITE

Seven Reasons Why I Favor the Townsend Old Age Pension Plan:

First—Because the dilemma in which we are plunged is not a depression, it is a collapse. Our social and industrial system has collapsed because economists have failed to keep step with the new method of mass production. We are operating on a 20th Century machine plan of mass production and on a 19th Century plan of distribution. The Townsend Plan, is the only Plan so far set forth that will solve the problem of unemployment and distribution, the only plan that will overcome the fundamental weakness in the administrative affairs of men.

Second, because the Townsend Plan concerns itself with the want, penury and destitution that exists in the midst of plenty. This condition is unpardonable under any system of human relationship. The second reason why there is no substitute for the Townsend Plan is, that it places human souls above stock dividends.

Third, because the Townsend Plan is vastly more than a pension, vastly more than a relief measure or a recovery program. It is a program of permanent adjustment to the new epoch in social and industrial development that the 20th Century has ushered into the world.

Fourth, because the Townsend Plan will bring justice and economic redemption to the average man or woman. All history will bear witness to the statement that if a program of public relief is allowed to perpetuate itself, the character and morale of the men and women on that relief will be reduced to pauperism.

Fifth, because the Townsend Plan is concerned with the welfare of youth, because it seeks to keep faith with youth, because it seeks to keep faith with the founders of our fatherland, because it will not allow the Declaration of Independence, or the Constitution of the United States or the Monroe Doctrine to become scraps of paper. It is a patriotic American Movement.

Sixth, because it is an idea sponsored by intelligent, worthy and law abiding citizens who uphold law and order, men and women who do not defy constituted authority, men and women who condemn mob violence and rioting, men and women who represent the best fabric of society.

And the Seventh reason sets forth the major purpose of the Townsend Plan, which is its moral and spiritual value. Our civilization is in the balance. The soul of America is at stake.

Very truly yours
B. W. Stinson

Terry Co. Hens Going In For Marble Eggs

Hens in Terry county have gone in for the finer things of life, or may be they were just preparing for Easter.

H. W. (Puny) Moore, Lubbock salesman, Saturday displayed an egg in town that resembled solid marble. The egg, laid by a hen on a Terry county farm has been on display in a store there the past week.

The egg was of a grayish color pattered after natural marble. The covering was hard and could be scratched only with a knife blade.—Lubbock Avalanche.

NEW METHODIST CHURCH (Colored)

We have a $25.00 donation for drilling a well of water on our campus. We have set pegs marking off space for the building of two pit-type sanitary toilets, according to government regulations and inspection.

We have communication from the Board of Home Missions and church extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Philadelphia, Pa., heartily endorsing this community project which will mean a neat sum of a few hundreds of dollars coming here to be spent in helping to make Brownfield a beauty spot. We have arranged with Mr. King, by helping him at his nursery, that we can get trees and shrubbery to help beautify our campus.

We will build the toilets with board screens each for the men and the women, and we will see to it that they are kept neat and clean, and

It is worse than deplorable that the present conditions for public and school must use one toilet for both men and women and school girls and boys, an open dry toilet unsanitary and filthy, a breeding place for hookworm, flies, and various communicable disease.

Now we as thinking colored people are doing our best to try to keep pace relatively with our great advancing white people of West Texas. We come among you poor and to work for you, and since you have accepted us, please help us improve our condition. And be it understood that the colored children who must face such conditions mentioned above, if among them there should break out an epidemic of disease, there is no guarantee that it will remain among the negro children. We are happy to know that we are with great and good white people who, when they see the negro trying to struggle upward, they not only get behind him to push him up, but take the lead and point the way for his good, just as you have done in helping to build this neat church for a community center for educational and religious purposes.

I am sure that every white person or colored who has given any amount on this building would feel that it was fully justifiable to see the fine group of young colored people attending the church and hear them talk and lay plans for the ongoing of the work, and you can well judge the people who want to move up by their cooperation in this great work, and you can also judge the element who boasts that they "ain't never put their foot in it and ain't gonna."

But we are assuring the good white people that there is a new day on for the Negro here, and am asking you to help see that it is done, for the good of all. Ignorance, drunkenness, lasciviousness unbridled are unsafe in any community.

Week of April 19.

1835—The legislature of Coahuila and Texas closed forever on April 21.

1836—The decisive battle of San Jacinto was fought April 21, and Santa Anna was taken prisoner. April 22 was the first real free day in Texas. Before that time her people had merely declared their independence.

1844—Former president Van Buren states in a letter that he regarded the annexation of Texas without the consent of Mexico dishonorable. The letter was published and cost his renomination for the presidency.

1882—An act was passed April 22 repealing all laws granting lands to persons for construction of railroads, canals and ditches, and the policy of entending public aid to railway constructions came to an end.—Texas State College for Women (CIA).

OUR Texas, A Big Institution Needing Business Management

By Julian Capers, Jr.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Julian Capers Jr., writer of the accompanying article, is the writer of "Nobody's Business," a weekly column of political and legislative discussion, issued from Austin, which is widely syndicated to more than 100 leading Texas weekly newspapers. He is a veteran newspaperman, with 20 years experience as a reporter, editor, Washington and Austin correspondent.)

"There never was a time in the history of these States that all the people expected so much from the Government and felt so helpless in themselves. Too much dependence on public help leads to decadence, and decadence to chaos. The Government can have only what it takes from those it governs."

Thus commented J. Taylor, "State Press" of the Dallas News recently, in connection with an editorial which appeared in the Celina Record, in which Editor C. C. Andrews warned his readers: "Better beware of the candidate who is going to give this class and that class a dip into the public treasury, and at the same time reduce taxes. It is silly to believe they are sincere when they promise a thing that cannot be done."

These quotations indicate that some Texas newspaper editors have sensed one of the greatest opportunities that has ever existed to render a public service in 1936 to their communities and their State. This opportunity is peculiarly that of weekly newspaper editors, because the weekly newspaper in Texas today represents the last stronghold of a free press. Its readers, constituting 50 per cent of the voting population of the State, are far more intelligent politically, and far better informed and more interested in matters political and governmental, than are the readers of the larger dailies in the metropolitan population centers. The influence of the weekly newspaper upon its readers is far more potent than that of the metropolitan daily, because it speaks less frequently, and because of the growing tendency toward machine political control in the cities.

Great Political Year

This year, the largest poll-tax payments in history in Texas approximating 1,250,000 qualified voters, and a crop of about 20,000 national, state and local candidates, Texas faces one of its greatest political years. The figures indicate that the people are evidencing the interest; the number and type of candidates indicates that the politicians are preparing to capitalize upon that interest. If the weekly newspapers of Texas can inform the voters to a point where their interest may be intelligently manifested, can disseminate the facts that will enable the voter to discriminate between the intelligent, capable, honest man or woman who seeks to render a service to his State or his community, and the political racketeer who seeks to obtain sufficient votes to get or remain on a public payroll regardless of the method he must adopt to achieve that end, then it will have justified again its enviable position as the bulwark of free Government.

The task year is going to be an easy one. All of the old familiar political rackets, and some new ones recently perfected for the occasion are due to be tried in Texas before the dog days of August bring us respite from the howlings of the candidates on the hustings and over the raido. The depression is gradually lifting, but there are still a large number of politicians who seek lucrative public berths, with good pay and little work. Some are already "ins", while others seek to get in. There are worthy public servants, some of them seeking re-election for the traditional Democratic second term, or for additional terms, who have rendered careful, honest, intelligent public service, and deserve re-election. There are unworthy office holders, who by reason of political machines built up at public expense, should be defeated and replaced with honest, capable men or women seeking to succeed them.

Public Interest High

The public is interested in governmental matters now, as never before. Encouraged by the expanding functions of the Federal government during the depression period, the State legislators have created new functions of State government, along with the machinery to administer them. No longer is the State government something remote from our daily lives down at Austin, which we man one each two years by casting our ballots for or against some individual that we scarcely ever heard of before the campaigns began, and then forget for another two years. Today, we have branches of the Highway Department, the State School organization, the Comptroller's office of the Old Age Pension Bureau, the Liquor Control Board, and many other State Departments, scattered throughout the length and breadth of the State. Thousands of State employees travel millions of miles annually, into every remote corner of Texas on their official duties. The State government touches, intimately and directly, the lives of every citizen of Texas many times every day.

Study Those Promises

It is going to be a good year to weigh and analyze the pledges and promises of the candidates. The minds of the people have been inflamed by the "something for nothing" philosophy until it borders upon insanity. There are candidates for Governor of Texas already on the hustings this year whose all-embracing promises of pensions and tax-relief, uttered in the same breath are so wholly incompatible as to brand their authors unworthy of consideration by an intelligent voter.

But the people, engrossed as they are with the business of keeping the wolf from the door, are without facilities to analyze the proposals of the "promissory candidates". They are unfamiliar with the records in public office of many candidates who have previously served them, either illy or well. They are unfamiliar to a large extent, with the duties, even, and with the relative importance of the various State offices.

They may hear a candidate for Governor this summer, singing over the radio or on the stump, a siren's song of larger pensions for more people, and lower taxes for everybody, if only they will elect him Governor, and adopt his taxation scheme. But many of them do not know that the Governor of Texas is powerless to do more than recommend to the Legislature any scheme of taxation, and that the most brilliant plan of tax relief ever conceived by the greatest Governor Texas ever had, can be—and frequently has been—utterly nullified by a Legislature that refused to adopt his suggestions.

It is a striking fact that when the candidates gather for a rally, the candidates for the Legislature invariably are assigned the least desirable place at the end of the list, and they are generally limited to two to five minutes, while the would-be Sheriffs and District Attorneys are given the best spot on the speaking and the lion's share of the time. And yet, there is no more important office, so far as the people are concerned than the members of the Legislature, who last year cost taxpayers around $1,000,000 for regular and special sessions alone, and only some higher power can compute how much by reason of some of the laws they passed.

Get The Facts

Take another example: The Texas Railroad Commission. The name is a misnomer to begin with, because half a dozen employes handle what railroad regulation the Commission has left. But few voters realize that the Railroad Commission exercises almost the power of life and death over the State's billion dollar oil industry. Oil is now produced in more than half the counties of Texas, but the industry now far outranks agriculture, long the leading business of Texas, in economic importance. Its prosperity affects the prosperity of every citizen, just as surely as the price of cotton used to energize or paralyze every business in the State. Few voters not in the oil know that the Chairman of the Commission up for re-election this year, is paid $375 per month, and that during the last two years, because of his expert knowledge of the oil business, he has succeeded in obtaining from Federal authorities, official sanction for the production of $50,000,000 worth of oil annually more than they originally had fixed as the maximum of Texas' allowable production. But that $50,000,000 of additional money flowing into Texas has profoundly affected the lives and pocketbooks of millions of Texas men and women who never saw a producing oil well. The facts are available. They can be obtained. They can be communicated to the men and women who will accept or reject the candidates. The opportunity presents a constructive challenge to the editors of the newspapers of Texas to assume again, at a critical time in the life of our Government, a responsibility they have never evaded as militant, intelligent leaders of their people and their communities.

LET'S TALK CLOTHES

DENTON, April 20.—Everyone's rushing into prints for dinner these days. Be-flowered printed silk dresses and two-piece get-togethers are the last word in dinner suits, and they're as gay and cheerful as only prints can be.

Printed suits begin with a sleeveless dress that has a high tailored neckline—usually made with a tiny pointed collar. Then comes the quaint little fitted jacket, showing a narrow waistline accented with a flashing bright-colored patent leather belt or a trick belt of the silk laced with spaghetti-thin string. The collar of the dress finishes the jacket, and tiny matching cuff sleeves give the frock a tailored look.

These suits are trim little teasers after weeks of rather mysterious dark things that clung revealingly around the figure. The ankle length variety is by far the most popular. It shows short, fine plaiting around the lower edge of the slightly flared skirt and around the plenum of the jacket.

While you're emphasizing prints, girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) suggest that you try your luck with an emerald green vivid red, or lemon yellow crackling silk taffeta undershirt that will show a good inch below the colorful skirt of the dress itself. You'll be pleased with the effect.

When buying a dinner dress, it's versatility is often a purchasing point. Let's take those prints, for instance. You can wear a variety of jackets with the dress of the suit. Silver and gold lame would certainly add something to the appearance, and you can't deny the beauty of chiffon over printed silk. Try these suggestions to make that "one" dress serve for two or three. —Texas State College for Women (CIA).

Old City Tabernacle Passes From Scene

The old city tabernacle that stood at the corner of south Fifth and Tate streets is no more. Passing along that way, there is a void there that looks strange after years and years, in which the old tabernacle stood as a place for the summer meetings of all the denominations of the city. It was built by public subscription back in the later part of the 'teens.

If our memory is not at fault, Rev. Lockett Adair was the first preacher-evangelist to hold a meeting under the tabernacle. This was a union meeting, and most all the churches here enjoyed a great ingathering of communicants. Many of the most able preachers of the nation, including many from other states have held meetings there.

But for the last several years, it has been allowed to run down. The lots were never paid for, and the owners demanded a settlement which was not made. Also, as it had been used for camping purposes for people too poor or too trifling to rent a place, some of which no doubt were displaced, it had not only become smothered up and an eyesore, but was perhaps dangerous from a sanitary viewpoint.

So, no one that we know of shed any tears when the owners of the lots, tore it down and used what they could of it in some useful buildings.

Liquor Control Board Collects Much Money

AUSTIN, April 20.—Difficult though the task is in a state the size of Texas, regulation of the liquor industry brought in gross revenue amounting to almost $2,500,000 during the five months since the Liquor Control Board began operating last November 15.

"The board has encountered many problems of administration and enforcement that other license-system states, which are smaller, may not have been troubled with," said Administrator Charles R. Miller. "Experiences of other states have been a benefit, of course, but there are some phases of liquor control peculiar to Texas which the board has had to work out by itself, through trial and error. If mistakes have been made, they are the mistakes natural to any sort of pioneering."

Actual gross revenue collected under the Liquor Control act Administrator Miller revealed was $2,401,851.37, a figure including all permit fees and excise taxes. This does not take into consideration, however, the approximately $25,000 paid in fines from criminal cases, which goes to the counties where the cases are disposed of, he pointed out.

Nearly $100,000 of the gross revenue coming from beer licenses is assigned to the state's general fund, but three-fourths of the balance is earmarked for the old-age pension funds and the schools, after expenses are deducted.

"Of first importance in this work" Miller declared, "is fair but firm enforcement of the law. When that is attained, with the assistance of local officers and the enforcement of the public, then maximum collection of revenues will follow benefitting both the old-age pensioners and the schools. It is this thought that is uppermost in the minds of those men connected with liquor regulation."

Besides bulging revenues, Miller reported the enforcement campaign had been speeded up with definitely successful results. Already on record were 709 criminal cases against liquor law violators, with many others filed but not yet reported by inspectors in the field. Of 328 cases disposed of, eight resulted in jail terms and only nine ended in acquittals.

The administrator said the law-abiding public was increasingly giving its approval to the state's efforts toward stricter enforcement, especially in the larger centers of population where the campaign have been widely publicized in the local press.

"When the people come to recognize definitely and finally that success of the liquor control act—and by the same token the success of the old-age pension system—depends to a large extent upon themselves, our job will be more than half done," Miller predicted.

Early Spring Time That Snakes Bite

Spring fever, that seasonal malady which accompanies the first warm days and early blossoms, has become more or less of an epidemic, Dr. John W. Brown State Health Officer reminds the citizens of Texas with some suggested precautions.

"Some of the glamour has been taken from the swimming hole by the modern pools," Dr. Brown said, "but it is more than offset by the sanitation and safety devices which promote health and save lives. Swimming now can be learned by everyone, without the needless sacrifice of lives and without the constant threat of typhoid fever which is a hazard of every out-of-the-way swimming place."

"With the first excursions into woods and fields in quest of wild flowers, everybody should remember that about 75 per cent of snake bites occur on the lower extremities. Snake bites could be prevented to a large extent by wearing boots or heavy leggings and being cautious.

"If one should be bitten by a rattlesnake, prompt action is necessary and a physician should be obtained as soon as possible. No time should be lost in removing the poison by suction. Apply a tourniquet above the wound and make cross-cut incisions over the fang marks. Suction should be applied for at least an hour. The most dangerous fluid is farthest away from the wound; its absorption must be prevented as it is the source of the systemic poisoning. Release tourniquet every 10 or 15 minutes for about a minute at a time.

"Obtain the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment."

W. R. Patterson was over from Yoakum county Monday, and reported that they were moving the rig and machinery from the Bennett well, which is near his farm.

CHAPTER VI—Kerry decides to ask Nan for work. While shaving he discovers he is being spied upon by "breed." Jim comes to Kerry with a warning to clear out, backing it with a threat. Kerry tells Jim that he has hired Kerry as a draftsman. Kerry rescues Jim's daughter from drowning. While in the water, Frank Bluejay, "breed" who had spied on Kerry, had tried to drown Kerry. Young settles with him.

CHAPTER VII—Kerry sees that Holt loves Nan. Jim meets Kerry, and after thanking him for rescuing his child, confesses he is being spied upon by "breed." Jim tells Kerry of the night Downer was slain. Earlier in the day he had had trouble with Downer and threatened him. Then Tod found him wandering, armed, near the murder scene, too drunk to know where he had been. Tod had alibied for him and had since forced Jim to do his bidding.

CHAPTER VIII—Kerry takes a free in Tod's house and the excitement gets Tod's gun. Nan has several opportunities to sell tracts of land but cannot deliver title until she has negotiated a payment on her contract with West. Kerry tells Ezra of the latest developments. The coroner sends Tod's gun and the murder bullet to a ballistic expert. Bluejay hears part of their conversation and informs West, who plots murder.

CHAPTER IX—Kerry is to make a cruise of Nan's holdings. The ballistic expert reports that the murder bullet was fired from West's pistol. West visits Nan and, when repulsed, attempts to take her by force. Holt rescues her. Nan tells Ezra of her fears for Holt's safety and speaks of love. Ezra tells Kerry Nan loves Holt. Kerry, realizing his own love for Nan, is miserable. Tod bargains with the "breed" to slay Kerry and frame Holt.

CHAPTER X—Kerry camps at Townline Lake. While canoeing Kerry is fired on by Bluejay and topples into the lake. His canoe upturns. The "breed" certain Kerry is dead, leaves. Kerry, unhurt, has thrown himself into the water, coming up under his canoe.

CHAPTER XI—Tod informs Sheriff Bridger that Bluejay has seen Holt taking money from a box which had been buried under the Downer cabin floor. A prisoner overhears and tells Ezra. Tod sees Kerry in town and engages at Bluejay, who already has collected his blood money. Bridger, his deputy, and Tod set out to take Holt. Young comes upon Bluejay, who is panic-stricken. After choking the Indian, Kerry orders him to leave the country. Ezra tells Kerry of the frame-up on Stuart. They take a short cut to the cabin and dig up the planted box. The sheriff's party arrives and demands the box. Kerry refuses. They leave, and Kerry finds fingerprints and traces of honey. West's face was swollen from bee stings.

"That's where it'd've been," he muttered, glancing at the one window. "Bluejay said he looked through the window. It's the only corner he could see handy."

"And he said he saw Holt in here about sun-down, Thursday?" "As I recollect it."

"A plant for sure! I was in here about then, Thursday. The floor was clean, Ezra. But today . . . this stuff was here. Let's go!"

He was on his knees beside the two short sections of flooring, eyeing them closely.

"See? Here's where they were pried up with something," he said excitedly. "Then they dug a hole for the box and carried the dirt out; maybe in a bucket or a newspaper . . . anything. But they were either careless or what they used leaked. That's why they dirtied the floor. . . Now!"

He reached for an ax leaning against the wall, inserted the bit in a crack between boards and pried carefully.

"Ah!" The nails gave readily. "Careful of these boards now. They

"Official business, Nat. I got a tip this afternoon that, mebbe, there'd be somethin' of interest to the coroner of this county in this camp. 'Nd I guess, mebbe, the tip wasn't so far wrong."

At that point Tod West showed himself in the doorway. He halted there and his eyes rested an instant on the old physician. Then, as if he forced himself to an ordeal, they swung to Kerry. But if he expected to find challenge or accusation on Young's face he was wrong.

"They heard it too, Tod," said Bridger and in his voice was an appeal for guidance, perhaps.

But West's mind was not simple. He was thinking things, many things, trying, in his swift reasoning, to encompass all the elements possible to this situation.

"Frank probably peddled his story," West said.

Bridger now moved closer to Young and his deputy followed.

"So that's where he had it cached, eh?"—stopping and peering down at the hole. "Let's see the box, Young."

Kerry pivoted on one foot, smuggling the box against his side, swinging it away from the outstretched hand.

"Not just yet, sheriff," he said. Bridger gawped.

"Not just . . . Say,"—straightening and whirling on Ezra—"just what comes off here?"

The coroner's face showed bewilderment.

Kerry spoke quietly: "What's coming off, Bridger, is a coroner's investigation."

"Well,"—harshly—"it's a sheriff's investigation, now. Give me that box!" Young rose, then.

"No, Bridger. When the coroner has finished, then it'll be time for you."

"Who the hell are you to be buttin' into a murder case?" Kerry shrugged.

"I'm only a deputy coroner," he said. "Deputy cor— Since when?" Ezra grabbed the cue.

"For a couple of weeks now, Nat. I appointed Young as my deputy so's to have another pair of eyes and ears in this country."

The sheriff scratched his head and grunted. Tod West took a step or two which put him close to the table and leaned against it, watching, listening. A tin cup was there; he picked it up and twirled it in his hands. His heart was pelting his ribs, now, but it was no moment to make a move, to say a word. Things had been happening of which he had been ignorant. His play was to learn as much as possible.

"Well, even so," began Bridger and scratched his head again. He hazarded a course:

"But you had your inquest; you got nowhere. Now, seems to me, we got a hot lead on this case. I guess it's up to my office to go through with it and make the pinch. We've got to have evidence, so I guess I'll demand what you two have found here."

"Demand away!" snapped Kerry. "Demand and be damned to you, Bridger. Your authority isn't one, two, three with a coroner's. Go read your law."

need of this. Bridger knew that much, but on the rebuff he flushed hotly. Before he could speak, how-

"What's that?" he asked, encouragingly, and looked covertly at Tod West, who was retrieving the tin cup, twirling it with apparent casualness in his fingers again. The hands, however, were trembling.

"What'd you think, Tod?" Nat asked. "Why, that's up to you. Me, I'd take Stuart if you've got anything on him. First, though, I'd look this lay-out over pretty careful."

"And Ezra and I," said Young, "we'd probably better be heading for town."

"I think so, too," said the old man, but his eyes were mystified; he was following his deputy's lead.

"Better bring along those boards," Young suggested. "We've got that tire to change."

They went outside, then, leaving the other three within, and Kerry put the box carefully on the seat cushion.

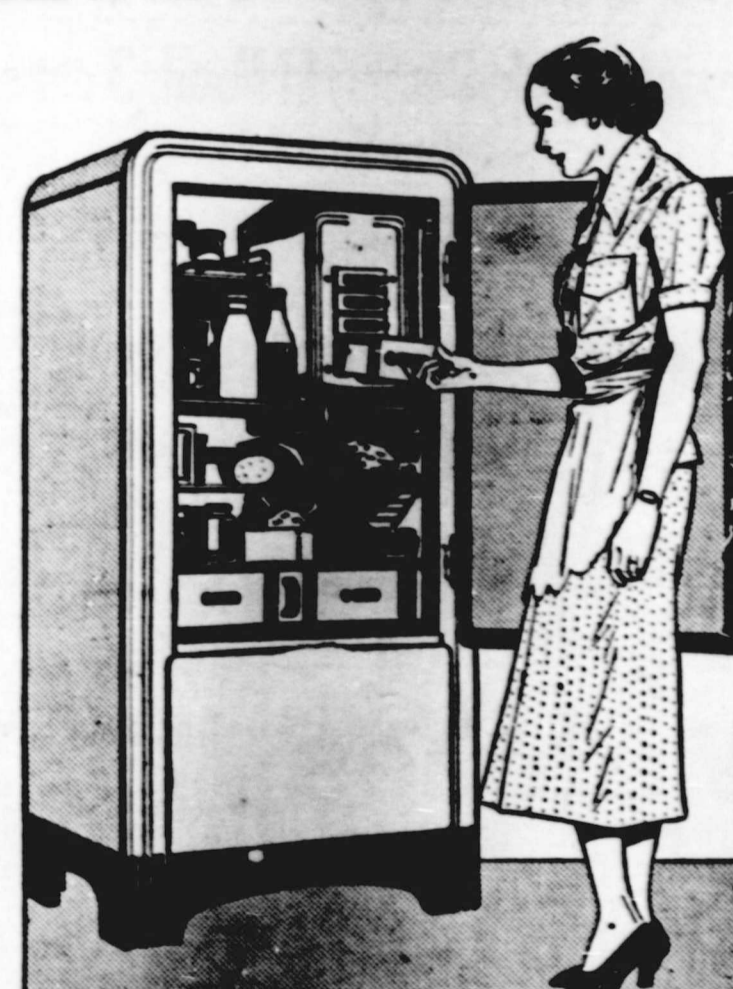

"Stall," he whispered. "Let 'em clear out!"

Much rain had fallen since the last paper, finishing up with a real gully washer on Tuesday night. The wind had been in the southeast several days before the rain started. C. S. Cardwell, telephone proprietor had asked the people to refrain from calling up neighbors on the telephone during the night "just for fun" as the operator would be in no condition to give prompt service in case you urgently needed a doctor during the night. Yes, this was a nine o'clock town 23 years ago. We had just turned out 100 telephone directories for the 97 subscribers. The streets had to be ditched with plows after the rain to drain them. U. S. LAWYERS SEEK TO SIMPLIFY THE LAW

GOVERNOR'S SECRETARY WILL PUBLISH BOOK

DALLAS, Tex. Mar. 20.—"Seven Song," a book of verse by Pat Moreland, secretary to Governor James V. Allred, will be issued in April by Doubleday-Doran, New York. Contents of the book will extoll the beauties of Texas, as they will be depicted in exhibits of the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens here June 6.

The volume will contain collected works of Moreland that have appeared in Harper's Magazine, the New York Times, Literary Digest, Kaledidograph, Carillon, Dallas Morning News and in various anthologies.

Moreland, who spent his boyhood in Claremore, Oklahoma, home town of the late Will Rogers, first gained literary prominence when he won the 1931 award of the Poetry Society of Texas for his book of verse, "Arrow Upsent." In 1934, he won the Kaledidograph book publication award with his "Slumber at Noon."

He is co-author of a book, "Six of One," and in 1933 was awarded the Old South prize for his poem, "Bathsheba."

U. S. LAWYERS SEEK TO SIMPLIFY THE LAW

Hope for untangling the maze of law is in sight. Quietly, for more than ten years, a group of America's most distinguished jurists have been simmering laws and decisions down to essential principles which are being restated in simple terms for the benefit of lawyer and layman alike. The story of this effort is told in the current Rotarian Magazine in what is probably the last magazine article written by the late George W. Wickersham, Attorney General in the Taft administration.

Colonists settling in New England brought to this country English law, which has been added to by enactments of congress, 48 state legislatures, and countless court decisions. "It has been said with some truth" to quote Mr. Wickersham, "that if all the law books printed in English were laid end to end, they would

GOVERNMENT LOAN COTTON STARTS MOVING

NEW ORLEANS, April 14.—One million bales of cotton starts moving to market tomorrow from the government's holdings, and in the opinion of the cotton trade here, it will meet an eager world demand.

Spinners, both her and abroad, have been unable to get good grades of cotton for some time. Many of them have stayed out of the market, waiting for the expected sale of loan cotton which begins tomorrow.

Approval Is Given
The plan for disposing of this portion of the government's stock of 4,500,000 bales acquired under the 10 and 12-cent loans has received almost unanimous approval by the trade.

For many months the spectre of this huge hoard of cotton has hovered over world cotton markets, restricting purchases by spinners and keeping spot buying to minimum requirements.

We note that C. B. McCormack, editor Hope (N. M.) News and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McCormack of this city, was elected mayor of his city.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Treadaway and children of Athen, Texas visited in the home of his mother, Mrs. T. L. Treadaway and with other relatives here last week-end.
