HELP YOUR SELF GROCERY IS OPENING NEW STORE ON EAST SIDE OF SQUARE

This Popular Firm Has Made a Remarkable Growth in the Past Eight Years, Constantly Adding New Goods, New Departments and New Customers.

After enjoying a splendid business here for eight years on the north side of the square, the Help Your Self Grocery and Market is opening in a brand new modern building, fitted especially for a modern grocery store, with new fixtures and furniture, on the east side of the square. This building was built to their specifications by A. M. Brownfield, with Roy Wingerd as contractor. The building, while receiving some finishing touches in the way of lighting and plumbing, was turned over to them this week, and they began moving in.

This business was purchased from J. E. Michie in the fall of 1927 by the late Lawrence Davis. However, he did not get possession till Jan. 1, 1928. Mr. Davis was in charge until his death. One of the present members of the firm, Jeff Medford, came with the Davis family from Red River county, Texas, and worked for the owner until his death. The firm was then re-organized with Mrs. Lawrence Davis and son, James Parker Davis, now a Junior in Tech college, taking a pre-medical course, and Jeff Medford, who is a brother of Mrs. Davis, as owners. Last fall, another brother, Luke Medford, moved here from Red River county, and took a stock in our new arrangement to keep fresh meats and other perishables, in the new place," said one member of the firm, who is under the direction of a person who understands the business from A to Z. We will be prepared firm. The very latest machinery for refrigeration is to be installed and only quality meats, the best that can be bought, will be kept. In this department will be kept at all times, dressed hens and fryers from our poultry department.

To Serve Refreshments Many Demonstrations

Both Saturday and Monday Tradesday, we will serve to our friends and customers who call, coffee and sandwiches. In connection therewith, we will have a number of demonstrators present to explain particular brands of food, coffee and teas, and we want everyone who reads this article or our ad to come in and bring their friends.

150 Baskets of Groceries

No strings on this except the purchase of $3.00 worth of groceries from our stock, which will include bargains, to be sold Saturday and Monday. The first 150 ladies that enter our store these two days and make their week-end purchases to the amount of $3.00, will be given a basket of these groceries absolutely free. No tickets—no drawing. They

Shows Rapid Growth

This popular firm has grown both in the number of customers and volume of business from the very start, as all members of the firm are likable, and just folks, like the rest of us. Speaking of their experience, Mrs. Davis said: "The Medford family for generations back are either doctors or grocerymen. Our father was a grocerymen, and as long back as I can remember, we have all handled and sold groceries as soon as we were old enough to know how to tell the price and quantity of groceries that a customer wanted. We love the business, and we like to talk groceries and explain the merits of each article to customers.

Opening Produce Department

In connection with the grocery business, the firm aims to maintain one of the most up-to-date produce departments in this section. This to buy poultry, eggs, cream and butter, and pay the very highest market price.

Hearst Shipping 2,100 Cattle to Market

W. R. Hearst is shipping 2,100 head of cattle from the Half Circle S ranch to Kansas this week. Frank Corn has had 3,000 of the Hearst cattle on pasture since last fall. About 1,000 head were placed in feeding pens at Brownfield some two months ago. 50 cars will be required to ship the cattle which will be loaded here.—Crosbyton Review.

Outstanding Play is Coming to Brownfield

This is the year for Texas and a time for recognition of the works of Texans. In keeping with the times, the comedy hit of the season, "Widows and What-Nots", written by two native Texans, will be staged for the benefit of the local Boy Scouts one night only—Friday, May 15th. Proceeds from the production will be used to place a National Scout Library in the Brownfield public schools. This set will prove a real help to Scout work and is a worthwhile addition to any school. The cast and ensembles of "Widows and What-Nots" will number more than 50 local persons, both young people and adults. The play will be under special direction with unusual costumes being used and several new "hit" songs that you'll be whistling and humming for days after. Start making your plans now to attend "Widows and What-Nots", the greatest show ever staged in Brownfield.

Officers Arrest 3 Drunks From Hobbs

No little excitement was created in our city Tuesday of this week when three persons drove into our usually quiet and "dry" burg, all gloriously polluted. The party consisted of one man and two women, all from Hobbs. The trio were promptly arrested by the sheriff's department, and a charge of driving while drunk will probably be filed against them.

We were informed that the man was a former clerk in a local store, and asked permission to phone, and being well known to the officers, he was permitted to do so, and while out of sight he took French leave. But if he is charged with the serious offense of driving while intoxicated, which is a criminal offense according to the laws of Texas, he will likely be located and brought back.

It was related to the Herald that Sheriff Smith asked the women what they were drinking, and they informed him, "Sloe Gin." The sheriff is alleged to have replied that it looked to him like it worked "kinda fast." As the women were being carried to jail, and when the steps to the courthouse was reached, a fuss and fight between came up. It is alleged that our gallant sheriff, respecting the rights of women to do as they like, just so they don't damage anything else stepped back and let the knocking biting, and hair pulling proceed until they were satisfied.

Order of Purple Heart Given Ralls Leader

RALLS, April 25.—Order of the Purple Heart has been conferred on J. M. Rankin superintendent of Ralls public schools.

Rankin served in the first sanitary train of the United States forces of the World war, and was cited for "gallantry in action and especially meritorious conduct before the enemy where he was wounded in action July 22, 1918." He has a Victory medal with bars for the Montdidier-Noyon, the Aisne-Marne St. Mihiel, and Meuse Argonne offensives, and for a defensive sector.

His new medal of the recovery conferred order, which was founded by George Washington has a purple heart with a bust of Washington inset on the obverse and the reverse bars the inscription "For Military Merit," and the name of the recipient.

Piggly Wiggly Adds New Display Tables

The local Piggly Wiggly store has recently added some new and latest approved fruit and vegetable display racks and tables, which are more conveniently arranged for their customers to make selection of their purchases. Not only that, but it makes their already pretty store look even better.

A stranger was here not so long ago, and remarked to the editor that Brownfield had some of the prettiest grocery stores of any place in west Texas. In fact he remarked that they compared favorably with grocery stores found in towns from 10,000 to 20,000 inhabitants.

The people of Brownfield and trade territory are proud of their food stores.

Smith to Hold a Summer Revival Here

John T. Smith, regular minister of the Broadway church of Christ at Lubbock, has been engaged to hold the summer revival for the church of Christ here, which will likely be the first part of August. The time has not been definitely set. He is an able preacher, and is equally at home in local work as well as evangelistic. The meeting will no doubt be held outdoors at night on the lawn of the church, which will be seated and well lighted. Other announcements will be made later concerning the meeting.

Sheriff Smith Asks Voters For Re-election

To The Voters of Terry County: After some reconsideration I have decided to make the race for Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector, which will be my third term. Your vote and influence will be appreciated.
J. S. (Jess) Smith.

Interest is High In Pretty Yards

It seems that each resident of this city are vying with each other to see which will have the prettiest yard this year, and we are glad to say that they are not confining their efforts to the front part of the yard alone, but are keeping the back yard as clean as possible. However, some few still persist in turning their waste paper loose to blow over on their neighbors, which is not appreciated in the least.

Many of those whose yards have been built up too high by blowing sand, have taken them down, and this gives employment to many people. After this is done, the ground is leveled, and fertilized, and the grass is once again started to grow. The flower beds have been spaded, and shrubs, flowers and vines are up and growing nicely.

In just a month or so now, it will be a real pleasure to drive up the streets of Brownfield, and view the pretty lawns. Truly our folks have caught the Texas Centennial spirit, and are prepared for the many thousands of visitors who will pass through here beginning about June 1.

There has been no concerted action that we know of, nor prizes offered for pretty premises. However, the newspapers and magazines have been pretty liberal with space this year adjutting well painted homes, and flowers and vines about the premises.

South Plains I. O. O. F. Meets Here Tuesday

We would like to give notice that there will be a meeting of the South Plains I. O. O. F. Association in Brownfield, Texas, on the 5th of May, 1936. The same to be held in the First Baptist Church. The meeting will be called to order at 10:30 A. M. at which time we hope to have a very interesting program. We will have with us a number of visiting lodges and we hope that all the members of our lodge will be present with their families to welcome our guests. We also invite all our friends of either the Rebekah or I. O. O. F. lodges.

It is expected that there will be served at the noon hour an old fashioned barbeque in which the I. O. O. F. Lodge will furnish the meat. Other things such as coffee, bread, pickles etc., are being donated by the business men of the town. If our Rebekah ladies and wives of Odd Fellows can arrange to bring a few pies and cakes or some kind of salad the same would add greatly to our noon lunch. We hope you will arrange now to be in the meeting so that this lodge and our city can take care of the convention in proper shape.
R. A. SIMMS.

Scout Training School Graduates Announced

During the past three months 171 men have qualified for training certificates in the South Plains Council. 85 certificates were issued to those attending the Scouters University and 86 are now to be issued to the following men in Brownfield who have completed their work in the elements of Scoutmastership:

Dr. R. B. Parish, L. A. Greenfield, M. L. H. Baze, Burton G. Hackney, Otis Moore, J. M. Teague, L. C. Heath, C. L. Aven, Lee Brownfield, Howard Scott, Don King, Judge R. A. Simms, Kyle Adams, Robert Griffith, and James Harley Dallas.

One course in Principles of Scoutmastership and one Standard course in First Aid have just been completed at Texas Technological College.

Training Courses are now being conducted in Tahoka Lamesa and Littlefield.

Fearless Dare-Devil To Walk High Wire

Among the other stunts here for Tradesday, will be one put on by Lillard Sanders, high wire walker, and a dare-devil Slide and a Gateway to Hell. This will be under the auspices of local merchants, and an added attraction.

According to the Morton paper, where he recently put on his daring stunts, the crowd was well pleased. Among his most amazing stunts is to walk a high wire with boots on and blindfolded. His part of the program will take place early in the afternoon.

The Panhandle Refining Co., is closing their stock of Federal tires out at bargain prices.

One Killed and Two Hurt in Car Wreck

Miss Oleta Jenkins, 21, was fatally injured and died an hour later here early last Friday morning, in a car wreck a half mile north of the city on the Lubbock highway. She died without regaining consciousness and therefore made no statement. Miss Marjorie McDonnell was bruised about the head and lower limbs, and is doing nicely at this writing. Vernon Abbott, third person of the party, and driver of the car, was considerably shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

The party was returning from Lubbock, and according to Miss McDonnell, they pulled over to let another car pass, when the car may have hit a soft shoulder. This is all she remembers for some time. The two girls were beauty operators here, being employed by Mrs. Buck Andrews. Mr. Abbott was demonstrator for Oldsmobile cars and was driving their demonstration car, which was badly wrecked. All parties were well thought of here, and the accident was very regrettable.

Funeral services for Miss Jenkins were held at the Baptist church Friday afternoon, by Rev. Joe Patterson, assisted by Rev. Jack Thompson, of the Brownfield Methodist circuit. The body was laid to rest in the Brownfield cemetery. Deceased leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Jenkins, two brothers and two sisters to mourn her sudden departure. One brother lives at Anton, and a sister at Jayton, but all were here for the funeral.

Quante to Feature Coolerators in Ads

In conjunction with the People Ice Co., of Lubbock, C. B. Quante, local ice dealer, recently purchased a car load of Coolerators, the perfect ice refrigerator, made by The Coolerator Co., of Duluth, Minn. Their boxes are just as nice as any of the electric refrigerator models, and are easy to get to by the iceman.

Mr. Quante informed us that his models would be on display at the ice plant for the present, but as soon as possible, he would open a display window up town. A test was made here the three hottest months last year, with an ordinary sized family. During these months, June, July and August, the cost per day was less than 8c.

Some of the outstanding features of the Coolerator, are: Patented air conditioning chamber; constant removal of excess food odor; freedom from covered dishes; and with slight additional cost, 5 minute ice cubes, and frozen desserts in 45 minutes. The average delivery price of the big family size is $74.25.

Clarendon Publisher to Head Panhandle Press

J. C. Estlack of Clarendon, publisher of The Donley County Leader, was named president of the Panhandle Press Association at the association convention in Amarillo last Saturday.

Other officers for the coming year are Albert Cooper, editor of the Shamrock Texan, vice-president, and Clyde Warwick, editor of The Canyon News, secretary-treasurer. Douglas Meador, editor of The Matador Tribune, and author of the famous "Trail Dust" column, and Jess Mitchell, editor of The Muleshoe Journal, were named directors.

The convention, one of the most successful in the history of the association, was well attended, and a series of debates on varied topics of interest to publishers was a feature of the session.

The convention was held at the Harring Hotel Friday and Saturday. Amarillo was selected as the convention city next year.

Lubbock Minister to Preach Here Sunday

The Pulpit Committee of the First Baptist church announce that Rev. J. H. Garrett of Lubbock, will fill the pulpit at that church Sunday at both the morning and evening hours. They are anxious for a good crowd to hear this able minister.

The regular pastor, Rev. Forrest G. Rodgers is at Houston, Texas, in a revival meeting for one of the churches of that city, and Rev. Garrett is taking his place Sunday.

Prof. and Mrs. Wilhite of the Wellman high school, were in shopping, Saturday.

A GREAT CROWD IS EXPECTED HERE MONDAY FOR MONTHLY TRADESDAY

The Bargain Hunter Will Have a Regular Paradise to Work On Here Monday, as the Merchans Have Them by the Hundreds. Usual Program on East Side.

That great day of all days in the Brownfield trade territory is again at hand, and we don't believe that our merchants have ever had such an array of bargains for the trade as they will have next Monday. These bargains are not confined to one line either. The dry goods man, the groceryman-butcher, the druggist, hardware man, and all will have real bargains.

And in view of the fact that perhaps a very small area of the county has had sufficient rain to plant, and the fact that from now on, most of the sandstorms are perhaps things of the past, and Monday will be a lovely day, a bumper crowd is expected to visit the city on that day, and lay in supplies to last for weeks, and be ready for planting when the good rain does arrive.

So-o-o-o, as Ed Wynn says, we are expecting you and yours to meet us and we'll see here next Monday. Remember the regular program on the east side of the square in the afternoon.

Newcomer Counts New Homes Built Recently

We were informed this week that last Sunday, a lady who it seems moved here about the first part of September 1935, took the trouble to drive up and down every street within the corporate limits of the city and counted the homes that she knew had been built in that time. She made a count of 49.

And despite the fact that a half hundred homes have been built here, not to mention apartments and stores in the past eight months, that many more would be occupied by newcomers today if the homes were available for them.

Of course some of these 49 homes are humble places of abode, but a family of people live in them. Some of them are really pretentious, and it would be safe to say that the average cost would range around $1,000, making at least $50,000 spent for homes here in the last eight months.

Taking five for the average family occupying them, would make around 250 new people who have come to make Brownfield their home in that short time. There are several new homes under construction at present.

Want Early Day Texas College Diplomas

DALLAS, April 25.—Diplomas from educational institutions in the early days of Texas are being sought by Prof. Herbert Gambrell for the historical exhibit in the million dollar State of Texas building at the Texas Centennial Exposition, which opens here June 6 and continues through November.

"Early day diplomas," says Prof. Gambrell, director of historical exhibits at the $25,000,000 World's Fair, "were couched in quaint phraseology that will be enormously interesting to modern Texans. The early educational institutions in Texas had teachers with classical training from universities throughout America. The quaint Latin and English phrases of early Texas diplomas probably is due to that."

"A majority of the people of the state do not realize that Texas had a great number of chartered educational institutions in the early days. Five were chartered by the first Congress of the Republic in 1836-37 and 19 were chartered before annexation. Nearly 200 had been chartered prior to 1873. We want diplomas from all of them."

Allred Wants Statute For Job Insurance

WACO, April 23.—Gov. James V. Allred today told the legislative representatives in session here that he would propose Texas unemployment insurance legislation at the next session of the legislature.

The governor said: "We must take another important step toward providing social security for our citizens. Texas should be prepared to establish a system of unemployment insurance in accordance with the national security act."

Palo Duro State Park Prepares For Crowds

With the opening of spring picnicking weather, hundreds of car loads of people are visiting the Palo Duro State Park each week. The attendance so far this spring has greatly surpassed that of last spring. 65,000 people visited the Palo Duro State Park during 1935, and it anticipated that fully 100,000 people will visit the Park during 1936.

One CCC company is located at the Park with work mapped out for two years in advance.

Four rock cabins are finished and fully equipped, and another double cabin is nearly completed. It is planned to construct 20 additional rock cabins in the Park.

125 picnicking units are constructed along the eight mile drive on the floor of the canyon, so that thousands of people can be accommodated at one time with the greatest of comfort. The 15,500 acre Park is rapidly assuming shape for a great gathering center for Northwest Texas.

The first big gathering of the year comes early in May when several hundred Boy Scouts will camp in the Park for three days. Other large gatherings are being planned during the summer.

The National Park Service calls the Palo Duro the greatest Regional Park in the Southwest, and everything constructed must be according to the high standards of this organization.

A paved highway from Canyon, and hard surfaced roads in the Park make this play ground accessible to the people of this section throughout the year. The entrance to the Park is 12 miles east of the Museum of the Panhandle - Plains Historical Society, another great attraction to the people of Northwest Texas.

Remodeling Building For a New Business

The Peebler building on the north side of the square, just vacated by the Help Your Self grocery and market, is undergoing a general overhauling and renovating to be used as a Variety Store. A new front is being built, and the woodwork and ceiling will be painted and the walls recalcimined.

The proprietor of the new store, Mr. L. L. St. Clair, of Muleshoe, Texas informed us that it would be at least two weeks before he would be able to open the store, but that much of his stock and fixtures were already here. Mr. St. Clair may himself move to Brownfield and hire a manager for the Muleshoe store.

DALLAS.—A steer weighing more than a ton and a half will be exhibited at the $25,000,000 Texas Centennial Exposition which opens here June 6. "Big Jim," once owned by the late Will Rogers, is said to be the biggest steer in the world. He weighs 3100 pounds, stands five feet four inches at the withers and is ten feet long from head to tail.

Forty-nine new homes built in Brownfield since September is perhaps a record for this section of same sized cities.

Our junior editor says the reason he did not try to name that conglomeration of the modernistic art at the Tech Engineers Show, was that he was afraid the darn picture was the prize and he would win it.

In 1932 and again in 1934 the Herald supported the candidacy of Tom Hunter for governor. We believe that while Jimmie Allred's administration has not been sensational it has been up to the average for the past few years and we believe in giving such a one a second term.

Brownfield, Texas
Conservative—Accommodative—Appreciative

out one somewhere that is managed by a set of city officials that wouldn't know a utility from a unicorn. Why don't they sometimes pick out a plant that is without competition like the local plant and others we could name?

Much discussion pro and con of civil service has been in the press of late, and there is good argument on both sides. If a servant of the people knows they are his boss, he generally walks the straight and narrow. On the other hand, if he is fitted up on Civil Service, he can be just as impudent, argumentative and unconvincing in Service as you please, and thinks, perhaps correctly that he can't be fired. But there is a way, we understand to get such birds transferred or wished off on some other community. However, a majority of folks under civil service are both polite and accommodating. They are that way because they are made up that way.

Herr Hitler has all the advantages of the little boy who played with the pole kitty—nothing else that might happen to him can possibly matter much.—Dallas Journal.

If you desire to retain your right to drive a motor vehicle you had better fight shy of alcohol. Under the rule which became effective in connection with the driver's license law on April 1, the right to drive a motor vehicle is removed for at least six months in case of conviction.—Big Spring News.

Down in Jack County last summer the hill folks were having a wonderful revival. The preacher was of the "powerful movin'" type. One of the sisters overcome by "the power" flung her self sprawling into the aisle. One of the men started to pick her up but the old preacher exclaimed, "Don't tech her! don't tech her! Leave her lay where Jesus "thowed her".—Clarendon Leader.

If ever we visioned the likeness of a human skunk it was the photo of Vance Muse of Houston, Texas, which appeared in many daily newspapers Thursday of last week in connection with the investigation of lobbyists at Washington, D. C. Muse testified that John Raskob, renegade Republican and Pierre S. du Pont contributed $5000 each to the anti-new Deal convention at Macon, Ga., and it is supposed some of the funds were used to pay for the photographs of Mrs. Roosevelt with negro escorts. Muse and his Republican negro lovers were circulating in the South to injure the Roosevelts and leave the impression they favored social equality.—Big Spring News.

Note to Andrew Jackson Stricklin, the old lone wolf of the Terry County Herald, of Brownfield: I am sore at you—you old so-and-so. You overlooked me last week so you must be throwing in with J. W. Smith down on the Lamesa Reporter to bury me under the "curtain of silence." I wouldn't do you that way—not even to help J. W.'s mental tummyache!—Hubbuck Shurnal.

O. K. Charlie Armour (Packing House) Guy, you asked for it, and here it comes. When you say nothing, you leave no loopholes, but as soon as you open that mouth of yours, you let down the bars. You had been away a week, and therefore made no mistakes—in print. We are herewith registering five complaints as follows, to-wit—yeh, even six of them:
1st. We have not "jined" JWS to silent contempt you. Our mother was a woman.

2nd. You say Mother's and Father's days leave 363 vacancies. What about fire prevention week, dog catcher week, blind mice week, last year's wasp nest week, and a jillion other weeks? Don't weeks consist of days?

3rd. Why don't you have the powers behind the throne of your nine o'clock town put up some markers so that strangers in your burg can tell whether they are on Fifth Avenue or 42nd Street?

4th. Why call in question Dallas' right to take the Key quartette to Canada to invite the Dionne litter to come to the Centennial? Don't your village send a brass band, a "monkey shiner" or two, and a car load of whistles, rulers and rubber bladders down here each year inviting up to the South Plains Fair?

5th. And why does your city authorities keep raiding your poor "humbrew" makers of their drinks, when they are unable to purchase drug store liquor? Remember the Bible says, blessed are the poor.

6th. The biggest bust of all you have made recently is when you state that Pope Pool is a "straight thinking young man." We did not suspect that Pope had a brain cell working.

All for this week.

Monte Bridges went on trial at Lamesa this week for the alleged murder of Jay McDonald of Post, in 1934.

A CHARMING PERSONALITY

To be friendly and companionable is desirable and aids greatly in winning the battle of life. A winning smile, a beaming countenance, a feeling of friendliness toward all, are essentials if one desires to attract and retain a charming personality. The face records one's inner character. One who is mean and resentful will acquire lines that clearly betray these unpleasant characteristics. One cannot continuously wear a mask. To be charming one has to be kind. There must be a certain amount of benevolence in one's nature, a desire to be amiable and tolerant and a pleasing countenance to express the kindness that is part of your nature. An uncompromising spirit may be hidden for a time but to attain the friendship and good will of your associates you must avoid this characteristic. There are some with kindly souls who desire to attract others, but one unable to express themselves. These faults are easily remedied. Be natural. Be true to your natural gifts.

BAND NEWS

B. H. S. is fortunate in having a well-organized band this year—the first in the history of the school. We believe every school should have a period devoted to music. For music is adapted to every mood and feeling of humanity. When rightly employed, it is a precious gift designed to uplift our thought to high and noble themes, to inspire and to elevate the soul.

Our band went to Lubbock this week-end and participated in the band concerts and it is of our opinion that they are just as good as any represented. From now on B. H. S. will be represented in Band at various times of the year. So why don't our Band students suit out? We believe this is an essential if B. H. S. continues to progress as it should in

DRAMATIC CLUB

The dramatic club has begun a new and different program. This program will be entertaining as well as educational: Entertaining in that a one-act play will be presented each week until school is out; educational in that the plays will be presented and directed by members of the dramatic club.

AS USUAL

You may think that all you have to do is whistle and I'll run to you. You think that if you wave your hand I'll come or go as you command. Being a man, you think that all you ever have to do is call. And I, as if I had no pride, will hasten quickly to your side. You may be wrong; you may be right. I'm home in case you call tonight.

HOME LOANER

The Boy Friend who uses your front porch as a rest cure and your pantry as a free lunch—and then invites some other girl to the prom.

JOKES

Podge: Papa, I ain't got no butter. Papa: Shirley, correct your sister. Shirley: (looking over into Podge's plate): Yes, you is.

Mr. Smith: Did you like the cigar I gave you? For 500 coupons of that brand you get a banjo.

Mr. Penn: If I smoked 500 of those cigars, I'd want a harp.

Mrs. Teague: What do we call a man who keeps on talking when people are no longer interested?

R. V. Moreman: A teacher.

Even his best friends wouldn't tell him so he flunked the exam.

Sallie (proudly showing one of her artistic creations) "I'd like to exhibit this. Could you suggest a title?"

Mr. Trigg: "Hm— why not call it home?"

Sallie: "Why call it home? It's a landscape."

Mr. Trigg: "Because there's no place like it."

Mr. Scott: When was the revival of learning?

Mary Helen: Just before exams.

And the above joke is a hint to the wise. The finals are coming!

HONEST ABE

Mr. Penn allowed his Spanish students to grade him on his traits of character. They were to give him the grade that in all fairness they thought he deserved. Mac stood the test very well. He rated highest in honesty; for "Honesty is the best policy" is his slogan. His second highest grade was in loyalty. Mr. Penn received his lowest grade in voice and next to the lowest grade was in personality. All in all his record was good. We wonder how the rest of the teachers would rate in such a test.

After the test Maxey asked Mr. Penn—"Teacher, why do you always tell the truth?"

And Mr. Penn answered, "Well, it's hard for me to remember things so I always tell the truth an' then I don't have to remember what I've told before."

SOBER SAM SAYS

Been wonderin' a lot 'bout them annuals. Reckon as how we'll get 'em, seein' as how it takes so long.

Us Seniors shure had a fine time at Lubbock last Friday night. 'Pears as how it 'ul be a good idee to write Tech a line o' gratitude, or sumpin'.

As for the band we figger as how we might could get caps 'n coats and let band members wear white duck pants for uniforms, be a good idee also to see some feller learn to be a drum major.

Figure as how congrats are in order for James Burnett for showin' his heels to the best in the region last week at Canyon.

Green trees aroun' the campus makes us appreciate the Legion boys. They wuz doin' a great community service an' easin' things up on the nerves o' teachers 'n pupils when they planted them trees.

Wonderin' why our school couldn't go on an' make a purty campus. No better educatin' in the world than comes from the beauties o' natural growin' grass 'n flowers 'n things.

Read a story other night 'bout "Life in the Old Dog Yet". Maybe so, maybe so, but these old dogs shure do get tired sometimes when teachers want so many things done all at once.

WHO IS IT?

It is a girl with a pleasing personality. Not bad to look at and dresses well. Very studious and seems to be the "home-loving" type. She is a favorite among the teachers as well as the pupils because of her willingness to help. She is one of the Sophomore leaders and is often chosen to represent that class. You will often find her working in the office.

This one is a boy—a Junior boy. His personality rates fairly high and you will know him by his "baby pink" complexion. He often represents the Junior class—especially in dramatics. He can be and often is—a pest. He is also found in the office a lot—working you know. He is good at answering telephone calls.

Wendell is fond of golf and likes swimming. He plans to study chemical engineering at T. C. U. next year.

CUB COMMENT

Our Editor-in-chief, Jeannette Hancock, is on the sick list. We miss her, especially as the paper goes to press. James Burnett entered the Regional Meet at Canyon last week-end and we are proud to report that he won first place in the 440 yard dash and fourth place in 100 yard dash. He broke the record—hitch-hiking home. He will go to the State Meet in the near future and we are expecting him to win there.

We are glad to report that Miss Maize is back in school after being rushed to the hospital in Amarillo Thursday evening. An operation was not necessary, so she is back sooner than expected.

Mr. Scott went to Carlsbad Caverns with the Boy Scouts last week-end. He seemed to enjoy the trip.

The Home Economics girls and Mrs. Parish have reported a grand time during their stay in San Angelo.

The Seniors (and all others who attended the Tech-Sul Ross Game Friday night) have reported an enjoyable evening.

Texas Centennial First Air Cooled World's Fair

DALLAS, Texas, April 28.—The Texas Centennial Exposition will be the first air-conditioned World's Fair in history.

"For the first time, an exposition has been designed and is being built with the comfort of its visitors primarily in mind," said William A. Webb, general manager of the $25,000,000 show which opens in Dallas June 6.

"More than $1,000,000 is being spent to provide fresh air throughout every major building. The temperature and humidity of the atmosphere will be kept constant over more than ten acres of floor space in twenty-nine buildings. This is 60 per cent of our floor space. The air over all other floor space will be changed completely every eight minutes or less, thus lowering the temperature ten degrees or more and insuring fresh clean air at all times.

"With two exceptions our exhibit buildings have been erected without windows. This makes it much easier to control the temperature.

"There were a few air-conditioned spots at the Century of Progress in Chicago," Mr. Webb continued, "but this is the first time an entire world's fair has been air-conditioned. We feel sure, however that in future all big expositions will be equipped in this way."

Air-conditioning engineers said 6,000,000 gallons of water will be used daily in cooling the atmosphere at the Dallas exposition. As an economy measure, this water will be used over and over again, only enough being added to take care of evaporation.

"This volume of water, of course, does not include that used in the many fountains, reflecting basins and the lagoon," Mr. Webb explained, "although they also will help cool the air. Indeed, engineers tell us they will take a considerable load off the air-conditioning equipment."

LOCAL GIRL WINS RECOGNITION AT BAYLOR

BELTON, Texas, April 28.—Miss Irene Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Adams of Brownfield, won recognition for her unusual scholastic record last week, when Dean E. G. Townsend announced his list of those who had made no grade below B- for the winter term. These girls are allowed special privileges because of their high grades. Irene was also named on the Dean's honor roll last term.

Irene achieved another honor when her name appeared on the Student Government Honor Roll. This list is compiled of those who not only have high scholastic rating but have been in complete accord with the Student Government Association through the term.

THE HUMAN PINCUSHION

Until a cussword in his native language trapped him, the Human Pincushion outwitted the best medical and legal brains on both sides of the Atlantic. For years, under a number of various aliases, chiefly as Arturo Castella, he tricked unsuspecting citizens into paying heavy damages for his trick back. Authorities estimated that by the time he arrived in Sing Sing his loot had exceeded $50,000.

Before coming to the United States Castella had been a field hospital attendant in the Italian army. He learned to use a subtle drug which, when introduced at the base of the spine, paralyzed the subject from the waist down for a limited time.

Castella stole the formula for the drug, and decided to use it to advantage in winning an easy living in the United States. His practice was to dope himself with the serum and then, just as it took effect step

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Jennings of Amherst visited their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Bynum, Monday.

Troy Noel, manager of the City Tailor Shop, is recovering from a tough seige of the flu.

THEY CAN'T SPELL

It is reported that among 298 young men and women who took a civil service examination in New York recently all but three failed in spelling.

This is not surprising to those who have had occasion to observe the spelling of the average high school graduate or even that of some college men and women.

Why our schools do not give more attention to spelling is an unsolved mystery. Hundreds of hours are devoted to subjects which a pupil never thinks of after leaving school yet the art of spelling, which must be practiced every day of his life, is given scanty attention.

Perhaps it is thought that everyone should be permitted to develop originality. If so, the plan works well. Few show greater originality in any respect than in spelling.

HUNTING A DEAD TOWN

A country editor told me of one of his recent experiences. A man came to his town and asked him what sort of a place it was. This is the liveliest town in the Panhandle, he was informed. The prospective merchant looked disappointed. "Well," he said, "I was hunting for a dead town, but I will go out and look around anyway."

He did and a few hours later he came back to the newspaper office with his eyes shining. "This town is plenty dead and I am going to start a store."

Naturally the editor wanted to know why, since he considered the town dead. He was told that such a place presented a golden opportunity for modern merchandising methods. The man started the store. He bought new merchandise. He advertised every week. He bought the new merchandise to town as soon as larger cities, and he turned his stock every ninety days and a majority of it every sixty days. That was over a year ago and he is still going strong, but the average business of that town which is not too far from Wellington has decreased.

This is a lesson not only for individual merchants—but for towns as a whole. A whole town could practice with profit the methods used by this merchant.—H. D. W. in Wellington Leader.

History of Unicameral Legislature

Editors Note: This is the first of a series of articles on the History of Unicameral Legislature, written by Sen. G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka.

The Unicameral Legislature simply means One House. The question in Texas is not whether we shall abolish the House of Representatives or the Senate, retaining the other, but shall we abolish both of such houses and create one new house of a given number of men and women as Representatives of the people, elected from the various districts of Texas in proportion to the population within each such district.

The one house Legislature is not a new idea. The nations of Switzerland, Australia, Ireland, Finland, and the Philippine Islands operate under a one house representative body.

overwhelming majority of the people of that State in 1934.

England, the mother country from which we of America took our ideas in formulating our democracy, does, in fact, have a one house system of Legislation.

In the second called session of the Legislature I introduced in the Senate of Texas a resolution calling for the adoption of such a system in this State.

In recent months, bills for establishment of the Unicameral Legislature have been introduced in seventeen States other than Texas, the most recent of which has come from the Legislature of Massachusetts, to whom Governor Curley of that, the most conservative of the States of the union, urged the adoption of such a system modeled after that which Senator Norris of Nebraska succeeded in having the voters of his State put into effect.

In 1642 in England the masses of the people demanded of their ruler that they be given some recognition into carrying on of their Governmental affairs.

There were those known as lords and Peers, they being the property taxpayers and landed estate owners of the nation. This class soon recognized that too much power had been placed in the hands of the common people, and that if some action were not taken on their part, their interests would not be safeguarded.

It will be observed that the members of these two houses were selected from different classes of people to serve the best interests of a particular group of people, to wit, the masses on the one hand and the land owners on the other; the members of the House of Commons were elected for a short term whereas the Lords were appointed for life; they received different compensation for their services; they had different functions to perform; they were required to have different qualifications for membership in their respective assemblies.

Today, in Texas, both houses are elected by direct vote of the people they are elected for identical purpose and to perform identical functions; they are paid exactly the same salary; and both the members of the House of Representatives and the Senate are elected for the purpose of serving the best interests, not of a particular class, but of all the people of this State.

We do not recognize different classes in Texas, hence, we should admit either that different classes do exist and that therefore, we should elect our Representatives in the house to represent one class and admit that the aristocracy of this State, if there be such, or we should abolish both of such houses and form one, the members of which can be forced by the people of this State to actually represent their best interests.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD DON'T FORGET THE BABY

IT isn't necessary to check back over vital statistics or do any research work to know that thousands of new babies made their debut into this world during the past few months.

How many parents have taken snapshots of their new arrivals? The chances are that the majority have been so busy watching the antics of the little rascals that they have completely overlooked the fact that babies have a habit of growing up and changing right before parents' fond eyes without their seeing the change—in size, disposition, looks or actions.

Cute things the baby may do today may be completely forgotten by him tomorrow. A snapshot would preserve that little baby gesture for years to come. Of course you want many so-called "record" pictures of the youngster but for the most part make an effort to snap the baby when he is doing something.

New Zephyrs to Make Overnight Runs

THIS summer will see light-weight, stainless steel, Diesel-powered Zephyr type trains running 1,000 miles between Chicago and Denver on an overnight schedule that takes about ten hours, or one-third, off the running time of the fastest steam trains. Two trains of ten cars each, not including two cars containing the power plants, are being built here by the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Company, pioneer in the development of light-weight, stainless steel construction. Known as the Denver Zephyrs, they will be operated by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad between Chicago and Denver on a schedule that calls for leaving Chicago late in the afternoon and arriving in Denver in time for breakfast next morning. Like previous Zephyrs, the new trains will weigh only half as much as comparable conventional trains and hence will be less expensive to operate. The first Zephyr, a four-car train running between Lincoln, Omaha and Kansas City, reduced operating and maintenance costs $45,000 in its first year of service and at the same time increased revenue $75,000. "Trains capable of covering 1,000 miles overnight have been inevitable ever since the first Zephyr demonstrated its ability to replace two conventional trains on a day-time run," Edward G. Budd, president of the company, said. "One of these light-weight trains could easily make an overnight run between New York and Chicago, New York and St. Louis, New York and Florida, Cincinnati and New Orleans or between many other points that are 1,000 miles or so apart."

THE STORY

CHAPTER XI.—Tod informs Sheriff Bridger that Bluejay has seen Holt taking money from a box which had been buried under the Downer cabin floor. A prisoner overhears and tells Ezra. Tod sees Kerry in town and is enraged at Bluejay, who already has collected his blood money. Bridger, his deputy, and Tod set out to take Holt. Young comes upon Bluejay, who is panic-stricken. After checking the Indian, Kerry orders him to leave the country. Ezra tells Kerry of the frame-up on Stuart. They take a short cut to the cabin and dig up the buried box. The sheriff's party arrives and demands the box. Kerry refuses. They leave, and Kerry finds a faint smudge on the edge of the box and then buried himself with Jack and wheel wrench.

around Tod west and to uncover the remainder of the money that rightfully belonged to Nan were their major objectives.

In the car which preceded them had been intent talk, as well. West had had little enough to say at the cabin but once on the homeward way, with new fears, fresh doubts, even greater misgivings stirring within him, he had talked. Talked into Bridger's ear, playing on the man's vanity, his jealousy of his authority, his regard for his political fences.

And after those first minutes at Downer's, with their confusion and excitement and triumph, Tod West, drawing Bridger aside, talked further. What had transpired in Mel Knight's store between Young and Bluejay had come to his ears and he passed it on to Bridger and made deductions and, in a fever of relief, let his suggestions run into demands.

As they rounded the bend and came into view of the Downer buildings, Ezra leaned suddenly forward.

"What goes on here?" he asked, staring at the group clustered before headquarters. "That's Nat's car. . . . Do you s'pose . . ."

Kerry speeded up and when he drew close to the cluster of men about the sheriff's car it gave way and there, white of face, his hands manacled before him, they saw Holt Stuart!

Bridger pushed his way toward Young as he opened the door of Ezra's car. The sheriff tore himself with a new importance.

"Well, I guess you'll have to admit I was lookin' a little further ahead 'n you were, Young," he cried, waving a sheet of paper triumphantly.

"I guess, mebbe, the sheriff's office can still be depended on to follow its best judgment for the people of this county."

"Yeah? Just what do you mean?" Kerry asked, evenly.

"Mean? I mean I am right all alone! This Holt Stuart is the man we want, Young, and I wasn't a second too soon, either. I guess mebbe there's be'n things goin' on about this case that nobody but you 'nd him understood! I'll count Ezra out because he's . . . he's an old man.

"I don't s'pose you knew he was packed up, ready to haul, did you?" Holt, you mean?"

"Yes, Holt? Tod West was edging up behind Bridger, frowning, nudging the sheriff. "Yes, Holt Stuart! Pack sack 'nd suit cases all strapped up. 'Nd I come on him writin' this . . . writin' it to Nan Downer, who's be'n away today. Listen to this!"

He read: "Dear Nan: It looks as if I'd stayed on here too long, now, and, by staying, risked all kinds of disaster. . . ."

"He'd got just that far when I busted in on him. Now, you got any cock-'nd-bull story to explain that?"

"Why should I have an explanation?"

"I wondered!"—edging closer with an expression of craft which Kerry, in that moment of confused thought, did not detect—"I wondered, Young, after I heard you done your best to drive the state's chief witness out of the country this—"

"Here! What the devil!" Young granted as he began to struggle behind. Bridger had grasped one wrist in both his hands; Tod West stepped in to secure him, to help hold him despite his first amazed struggles.

"What comes off?" Kerry demanded. "What's the big idea, Bridger?"

The sheriff was reaching for handcuffs. A leer came about his mouth. "I've got Stuart as a suspect in a murder case," he said loudly, " 'nd I'm takin' you, Young, for interferin' with a witness in that very self-same case!"

Cool steel encircled Kerry's wrists; the ratchets clicked.

"Why, this is the damndest, most far fetched outrage—"

"You tell all that to the judge," snapped Bridger. "Here, you boys, get back, now! Stand away. Butch 'nd me, we got to get these two into a cell. . . . Stand back, boys!"

He whirled to Kerry.

"You got th' guts to deny that you drove Frank Bluejay out of town this afternoon? Have you even got th' brass to explain that?"

Young was breathing hard. Confusion and dismay lay heavily upon him. He looked from Bridger to Tod West and his lip curled. The man, with his swollen face, was glaring at him, triumphant for the moment, because his agile mind had turned events off that course which, had it been followed, might have overwhelmed him.

"Yes, try to explain that, if you can," West growled.

Kerry squared his shoulders. "Perhaps I can, Tod West," he said lowly. "Perhaps I can! Tomorrow's another day, remember."

And handcuffed, with Bridger jerking him toward the open touring car in which he was to ride, a prisoner, in to the county seat, he laughed bitterly, defiantly. . . .

Old Ezra, nervous fingers twisting strands of beard, came close as Stuart was helped into the back seat, and Young ordered in beside the driver.

"Hold everything, Ezra!" Kerry said. "You sleep on that stuff! Understand? Guard it with your life, if necessary. See me in the morning and . . . and take care of Nan!"

His voice dropped on this last and he averted his eyes from the doctor's face.

Tip, still sitting on the seat of Ezra's car, watched with stiff ears as this other automobile moved away. The crowd, after that departure, began to buzz loudly. Doctor Adams carefully gathered the pieces of material evidence they had found and carried them into Nan's office.

The dog whined a little, staring at the way his master had taken. Slowly, almost tentatively at first, he took the road; stopped once and sniffed the air. Then, at a rolling lope, he disappeared beyond the sawmill, headed for Shoe-string.

The ride into town was one long succession of unsuccessful attempts on the part of Bridger to make one or the other of his prisoners talk.

"Just where were you all day Thursday, Holt?" he asked in a patent attempt at ingratitude.

"Go to blazes!"

"Now, that ain't no way. Mebbe I'll be best for you to tell me. I could do a lot of good if—"

"Oh, shut up!"

Bridger shrugged and smiled to himself. Car tools, loose on the floorboards at Kerry's feet, clanked and rattled as they took the bumps.

"Now, Young, you'd ought to come clean for Holt's sake, about why you run this 'breed—"

"Tell him to go to hell, Holt," Kerry chuckled.

Again and again as they progressed through the dusk, Nat made his ineffectual attempts to worm information from the two. After a time when ever he opened his lips, the two chanted in solemn measure:

"Go to hell!"

"Well then," Bridger finally snapped, "if there's any goin' to hell to be done by this gang I'll leave it to anybody with eyes to see who's on the road!"

They swung through town, around to the rear of the jail and entered by a side door.

Butch and Bridger took their possessions from the prisoners and ushered them into the bull-pen.

"Pick out your own beds," the sheriff jeered unpleasantly.

"You'll have the place to yourselves, likely. And I hope you like it, both of you!"

It was not long before excited citizens commenced to arrive. They clomped up the front steps and through the corridor and cast self-conscious glances into the dimly lit apartment behind the bars; went into the sheriff's office and congratulated him boisterously and came out more boldly and hung against the steel door of the bull-pen and peered through. But they were a mass of men and Stuart was kept out of sight and made no response to the advances.

Bridger was in fine spirits. His talk rose high and higher. He became almost hysterical in this, his moment of largest triumph.

At late evening the stream of callers had petered out. Butch had been called out to a country dance where bad whisky had caused trouble and when no one appeared for a quarter of an hour, Bridger stalked down the corridor and called through an open doorway:

"I'll be over at the pool hall, Ma! If anybody calls, or you hear anything, just ring me. Them boys'll be all right. . . ."

They'd be all right!

As soon as the sound of his footsteps had died away Young was out of his cell, across the bull-pen and sitting on the edge of Holt's cot where the boy lay, face in his arms.

"Buck up, son!" he whispered, a hand on the lad's shoulder. "It looks like a kind of a mess, but we'll clear it up."

A shudder traveled the lithe frame beneath his touch.

"What happened?" And when the other made no move: "Won't you tell me?"

Slowly Stuart rolled over, and the faint light from above showed his face white and drawn.

"Dammed if I know!" he muttered. "I'd packed up this afternoon. I was on my way. I didn't want to leave without some word for Nan. I'd just started to write a note when in busted Bridger, grabbed it off the desk and—"

"That's all; except that I lost my head and tried to take 'em all on."

"Then you were actually hauling?"

"Yes,"—bitterly.

"Why?" No answer. Stuart continued to stare at the latticed bars above him. "What was the big idea, Holt? You don't mean . . . It can't be,"—tensely—"that this yarn Bluejay told

"Certainly not!"

Stuart sat up quickly and drew both hands across his eyes.

"Hell, no! What this is all about, I can't tell you. I got enough from Bridger's boasting to see what they're driving at. And I was off alone all day Thursday and I was leaving and I did start a note to Nan with a couple of sentences that, maybe, will make it look a little tough in the beginning. But I didn't kill Cash and I didn't bury anything at Towaline and I wasn't there Thursday! Somebody's trying to frame me but it's . . . That's a detail, now."

WASHINGTON, April 11.—A 60,000,000 bushel jump in the winter wheat crop as compared to last year was forecast today as the AAA planned benefits for farmers who complied with 1936 adjustment contracts in the planting days. The agriculture department estimated that this year's winter crop would be 493,166,000 bushels, adding that the crop prospects on April 1 were better than on that date in any of the last three years, but still were "not particularly bright" because of weather conditions. SPRING IN THE ATTIC—WATCH FOR FIRES

Spring is here! And it's about time for householders to start their semi-annual house-cleaning. While doing that, they should keep a weather eye out for the common fire hazards that multiply in homes during the winter season.

Dangerous hazards can be found on every floor of the average home. Start in the attic—look at those dog-eared magazines, books, battered furniture. By disposing of such junk, the chance of fire can be greatly reduced.

Then come downstairs and go through the closets. There you'll find clothes of the 1920 vintage—worn-out dust mops and cleaning rags and paraphernalia—waste matter of a dozen different kinds. Fire lies nothing better as a starting point.

The cellar probably resembles the attic—plus a few special hazards of its own. Paints and varnishes, often found in topless cans, are usually inflammable and some are actually explosive. Gasoline benzine and solvents have caused many a big fire—store them properly, if you don't want your house added to the destroyed list.

Now go outside. Is the grass yellowing, are there piles of twigs and boughs in the yard? If so, the fire demon is lurking just around the corner, waiting to get to work.

And so it goes, in homes and places of business and abandoned houses and uncut fields. A relatively small number of ordinary hazards are responsible for the great majority of all fires. Make your spring "house cleaning" a personal fire prevention campaign as well.

PERPETUAL MOTION

Lewisville Enterprise: There is one provision of the Townsend plan with which many wage earners will have no difficulty in complying, that is, the provision that requires that all of the last check must be spent before the next month's check will be given out. That, by the way, is one of the things that has made the depression hang on so long. Too many people in the past have lived it up as they went along.

The pension plan which proposes to compel the pensioners to spend all they get as soon as they get it would be popular with those who enjoy spending. But no country, no family, ever got rich by spending. Wealth is the accumulation of values, not the dissipation of same. The Townsenders have never been able to show any profit from their plan. They have conceived a perpetual motion machine which shall give out and take in without creating anything. Nobody believes in perpetual motion, not even Dr. Townsend, who appears to be of the highly credulous type. If perpetual motion can't be made to work in mechanics it can't be made to work in economics. The entire psychology, the thinking apparatus, of the American people seems to have undergone a change almost overnight. Nobody is conserving, everybody for splurging. Nobody favors saving, everybody favors spending. Imagine what kind of a country we would have today if that philosophy had been established when this Republic was. However, the Townsend scheme, like some others of lesser proportions, might be a good thing—in a certain way. It would bankrupt the whole Nation and the whole population the first year, after which everybody would have to go to the land and raise turkeys or starve to death. It would teach the survivors a lesson.—State Press in Dallas News.

SANTA FE PURCHASE

The Fort Worth & Rio Grande Railroad, purchase of which has just been authorized by stockholders in the Santa Fe, runs from Fort Worth to Menard via Stephenville, Brownwood and Brady. The economies in freight movement by the Santa Fe lines, which the purchase will afford, are achieved by using the hypotenuse of a triangle instead of the two legs, as on the present Temple route.

There are other distinct advantages from the Santa Fe viewpoint. Additional passenger facilities to the Southwest are opened up there is new territory to serve both in passenger and freight lines out of Dallas and Fort Worth.

The move opens up considerable speculation, too, as to the future. The Fort Worth & Rio Grande line stops at Menard. The Santa Fe runs directly west from Temple via Brady to Eden in Concho County. At both Menard and Eden the system will be within connecting reach of others of its lines reaching down into rapidly developing Southwest Texas. An extension of the line south from San Angelo via Sonora, where it now stops, to Del Rio, and a connecting line from Menard to Sonora would furnish direct accessibility that does not now exist from North and East Texas to the central Rio Grande country.

There is no intimation that this is in the minds of the Santa Fe directors but it is a distinct possibility; it would aid in developing Dallas and Fort Worth markets in a wide area not now served by rail.—Dallas News.

Miss Mattie Lou Hayhurst, who teaches in the Roosevelt school in Lubbock county, was down over the week-end visiting with her brother, Supt. Warner Hayhurst and wife, of the Plains schools.

After May first, Arnet Bynum will take a position with the Herald as ad and job work man. Any work given him will be appreciated by the Herald.

IN MEMORY OF OLETA JENKINS

On Thursday night, April 23, the Death Angel called and took away our precious Oleta, and her going leaves a vacant place in our hearts. Her life was spared just 21 years, in which she made a host of friends everywhere she went. She always had a smile and a kind word for everyone, always willing to do her part, and help a friend or anyone in need. Even though her going leaves a vacant chair in the home, we feel that it will be a means of drawing parents, relatives, and friends into a higher and nobler way of living.

During her brief stay she always seemed to be so happy, and her songs, smiles and winsome ways will be greatly missed. Oleta had woven herself into the meshes of our hearts in such a way, that we scarcely knew how dear she was until her form lay still before us.

—Friends,
Jewell and Beulah Mae.

SOME BIBLE FACTS

Of the 66 books of the Bible 39 are in the Old Testament and 27 in the New, the former containing 929 chapters and the latter 260. Combined they have a total of 773,746 words.

The word "Lord" occurs 1,855 times, "reverend," "girl," and "everlasting punishment" but once each, and "everlasting fire" but twice.

The longest verse is Ester 8:9, of 90 words, and the shortest is John 11:36, consisting of two words.

The 19th chapter of Second Kings and the 37th chapter of Isaiah are alike. The 8th, 15th, 21st, and 31st verses of the 107 Psalm are alike, and each of the 26 verses of the 136 Psalm ends alike, with the words "for his mercy endureth forever."

Ezra 7:21 contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter "J."

The books of Obadiah, Philemon, Second John, Third John and Jude contains only one chapter each.—Ex.

BINDING BEATITUDE

Some editors are born philanthropists. They dispense good cheer and boost without hope of reward. The Butler Herald, published at Butler, Georgia ran the following editorial last week.

Local merchants have filled their shelves with new and modish spring fabrics, and as usual, the buying public in this trade territory can have their wants gratified in Butler. Good and well, Mr. Georgia Publisher. But on looking through your publication that stands out as one of the very best of your state, not a single dry goods advertisement is found. You may be proud of the "modish spring fabrics" but your merchants evidently didn't thing so much of them.

On the same page of this publication, a story relates how a Butler man has been wearing the same overcoat for 40 years. Perhaps that is the whole story. When he wears out that overcoat, the dry goods merchants will begin advertising overcoats. On the other hand, we might inquire if the Butler section is inhabited by nudists. Surely not. Then they must want to know where they can buy dry goods, the cost, the kind and quality and other information similar to people of other sections where the dry goods men are merchants rather than storekeepers.

This information is given here with comment simply because it fits into the general scheme of numerous towns of many, many states. Merchants often expect the newspaper man to carry all the load, while the storekeeper pays him in ingratitude.—Donley County Leader.

TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

DENTON, April 25.—At this time of the year, mothers and daughters everywhere are planning graduation clothes. The round of activities surrounding this all-important occasion requires a wardrobe of both sport dresses and evening frocks, and no matter how much or how little money is spent, the clothes must be kept simple.

Let's discuss the sport clothes now. On Class Day the high school girl will be anxious to look her nicest, for it's the last informal frolic of the whole class. Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) suggest silk linen in two-piece sport frocks with dotted crepe trim. Make a tucked shirtwaist front with a high collared neckline, and fasten it with three-color buttons. Very attractive color combinations can be worked out.

You'll want a "dressy" frock for the baccalaureate sermon, and this is a good time to make use of prints. Small designs that will not give the effect of spreading are best, and both light and dark backgrounds boast lots of blazing color. Cut-outs from the print, applied along the edges of collars and cuffs, make unusual and interesting borders.

Pastel frocks in Easter egg colors are especially good for afternoon parties and luncheons, and can also be worn to tea dances. Be sure to add a feminine touch—some bit of lace or an organdie bow will do wonders to a tailored frock. Cotton laces, trimmed in linen, topped with pert little bolero jackets make excellent morning frocks, and of course, the knits come in for their share of popularity. Pastel linens are seen with touches of embroidery in wool yarn, and are gaily trimmed with pearl buttons.

TEXAS HISTORY—WEEK OF APRIL 26TH

1718—Because of the scarcity of water at the Rio Grande, the San Jose Mission was removed on May 1 to the west bank of the San Pedro about three-fourths of a mile northwest of the present parish church of San Antonio.

1822—On April 29 Stephen F. Austin arrived in Mexico to obtain confirmation of his land grant in Texas from the Congress. He remained there a year.

1832—The state legislature made an entire change in the colonization law on April 28. They repealed the general colonization law of 1825 and modified the terms of sale to Mexicans, extending the rights of colonists and excluding natives of the United States.

1846—The inauguration of the first state government took place on May 2 in the House of Representatives at Austin. President Anson Jones retired, and J. Pinckney Henderson was installed as first governor.—T. S. C. W. (CIA) News Bureau.

The street paving crew started the ditching of east Cardwell this week, getting it in shape for a coat of caliche.

The U. S. Supreme Court has ruled that N. C. Outlaw, Post, Texas attorney will have to serve his 15 months prison sentence and pay a fine of $2500 for alleged conspiracy to influence a Federal juror.

John Chisholm of the Chisholm Hardware and Hatchery, was a business visitor in Fort Worth last week.

Two groups of local fishermen have indulged in that sport recently, one going as far as Sabinas river down 150 miles in the interior of old Mexico and the other choosing the place where the Concho empties into the Llano. The former caught fish by the hundreds of pounds they report, and the latter caught all they could eat.

Bill Gore returned this week from Chicago. Bill went up without making an appointment to enter the Electrical Engineering school and could not get in. He will go back June 1.

V. B. Ward of the Ward Shoe Service, attended the old pioneer's reunion at Crowell Monday and Tuesday. He reports that most of the male population of that city had let their whiskers grow since Jan. 1, and looked real pioneerish. Some 20,000 people milled the streets for the 2 days and everyone had a great time.

Mrs. Ben Hilyard who has worked for the Herald since 1924, is preparing to move to Lubbock after the first of May, to be with her husband, who is head of the liquor enforcement of this district, with headquarters in that city.

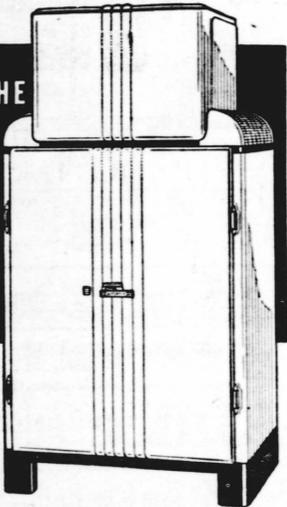

Being short a hand at the depot, Mrs. Bob Harris, wife of the agent, is pinch hitting by helping out with the clerical work.

KEEPS THE EXTRA FOODS THAT RURAL FAMILIES NEED

SUPERFEX OPERATES ON KEROSENE

WHEN you live far away from the markets you must buy a lot of supplies at one time. You need a refrigerator that holds plenty of food and keeps it plenty cold. Superfex is famous for doing that. Furthermore, you can have Superfex no matter where you live. It requires no electricity. It operates on economical kerosene, and very little of that.

ing fuel nor throwing out heat. Another Superfex boon to home-makers is the large storage capacity and flexibility of interior arrangement. Superfex shelves may be adjusted to any household food storage need. On the refrigerator door are additional racks for those small miscellaneous things that you want to keep handy, but which often waste space on the larger shelves.

Just light the burners All you have to do is light the burners. The rest is automatic. About two hours after they have been lighted, the burners go out, but Superfex keeps right on working. You get twenty-four hours or more of refrigeration from one lighting. This means that for twenty-two hours out of twenty-four the burners are neither burn-

OBITUARY

Oleta Jenkins was born December 4, 1914 at Comanche, Texas. At the age of six weeks she moved with her parents to Kent County, Texas, later to Lubbock County, and four years ago moved to Terry County, where she made her home until her tragic death.
She became a christian when about 15 years of age, which spirit she showed until the hour of her death.
She was married on February 14, 1931 to Mr. Arvil Kirk, who together with her parents, three brothers and three sisters and a number of other relatives mourn her passing. She will be remembered by her ceaseless smile and lovely deeds with which she greeted one and all. Her friends were numbered to the fullest extent of her acquaintances, yet God in His great wisdom saw fit to pluck from earth this lovely flower to be transplanted in Heaven's garden, there to await the coming of loved ones left behind.
There is a voice that is stilled on earth, and a smile is faded too, yet loving words and Christ like deeds, will live the ages through. To join the heavenly chorus a friend of ours has gone to that great city above, Arvil Kirk.
