

The Rodeo And Barbecue Now History

The Rodeo and Barbecue celebrating the 60th anniversary of the creation of Terry County is over. We had a crowd estimated at between 15 and 20 thousand people and fed fully ten thousand at the barbecue Friday. It seemed that most everyone had a big time. Of course we ran up against some opposition on several things, but that was expected.

We tried to map out a program that would find some entertainment for everybody. We did not try to stop on anybody's toes or to pick a fuss. The idea of the whole thing was to create a little more spirit in Brownfield, to advertise our town, invite people to come see us and treat them so nice they will want to come again. We fully realize that for some it was more remunerative and enjoyable to others, but we cannot get around this fact that it was the best advertising Brownfield has put out in a long time.

The General Committee wants to take this means of expressing our appreciation to all those who contributed in any way. Especially do we wish to thank publicly the American Legion for the fine manner in which they fed the crowd. If they had not been so efficient, we would never have had enough to feed the crowd.

We wish to thank Higginbotham Bartlett Lumber Co. for furnishing the tanks for water and furnishing the lumber, applying only the damage for that which could be used no more.

We are grateful to the School Board for letting the crowd be fed on the school grounds, and to the County Judge and Commissioners for letting the people have access to the courtyard during the two days.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Mayor and City Councilmen for the beautiful street lights provided during the course of picnic, and to all the city and county officers for all their favors shown.

Especially do we wish to express our thanks to B. E. Needles, Mr. C. H. Huth, and all those connected with the big sound truck used at the speaking, the rodeo, and the amateur and old fiddlers contests. Of course they are out of town firms, but their services were absolutely free, depending only on the advertising to come out on the deal. One only needed to watch the crowds Friday night standing in the showers that fell, to fully appreciate the way everyone enjoyed the program. The performers in the amateur and old fiddlers contest enjoyed it as much as those listening in. We believe they performed a real service.

We want to thank all of those who made the good will trips to the various towns. We were not large in numbers but we made up for it in noise, and enthusiasm. Our high school band was certainly a credit to us, and we want everybody to get behind them and support them.

Far be it from us to say let's have another one next year, but we do say that we believe in the long run it was good for Brownfield and that if we are going to keep Brownfield a live hustling, wide awake town we must through off shackles once in a while and let people know we are on the map.

Signed: General Committee

Football Boys Off To Post For Camp

More than thirty boys left Brownfield with Coach Bost last Tuesday afternoon to begin pre-season training camp at Post, Texas. Their plans are to remain in camp until September 1, and return to Brownfield in time to enroll on September 3. Coach Bost reports quite favorably concerning his prospective team this year considering the circumstances. He has only three squad men back, but has a great number of fairly large boys coming out for the first time. Coach Bost as well as the entire school, wishes to express his appreciation to the individuals and firms who made it possible for the boys to make this trip.

Smith Has Strange Animal On Hand

Yep, it seems like Jess Smith has gone into the zoo business. Last Thursday afternoon a man came into our town, bringing with him "Bozo" the strangest animal in captivity, and after a few hours here he had indulged in too much "fire water" and landed in the calaboose. Well after spending the remainder of Thursday night there, he awoke Friday morning, none the worse off, except possible for a slight headache, so he made bond Friday. Then starts to work making arrangements for showing Bozo to the public during the picnic. But apparently the hangover didn't leave as fast as he had anticipated, so he takes on another shot of "moose milk" which naturally called for at least six more. Then his bondsmen got wise to it and forfeited their bond, so back to the jail house for Bozo's owner.

As far as we know the only showing poor old Bozo has received since he hit town is on the court house lawn, when Jess goes out to feed and water him. Looks to us like a two for one proposition.

Speaking of Bozo being a strange animal, by the way he is. We have heard at least 50 men make remarks about him, and not a one said he is the same thing. Personally we don't know. He looks like he might be a cross between a hog, mule, dog, bear, leopard, hyena, and what have you. Still on the other hand it might just be another Republican. Anyway it is drawing a large crowd daily, and we don't envy Jess' job a bit, being its caretaker.

Walker Sells Shop To Bert French

M. V. Walker, owner and proprietor of the Walker Barber shop, and Bert French made a deal this week, whereas Mr. French became the owner of the shop. Mr. Walker has been running the shop for something like three years.

Mr. French is an old time Territe, having lived here several years ago, and was engaged in the barbering business. He left here somewhere around 1915. He has lived in Deming, New Mexico for the last several years.

Mr. Walker will remain in the shop along with Lorn Walters, and Mr. French invites all old as well as new customers to pay them a visit, and assures them that they will receive the best of work at all times.

A Light Shower Fell Here Friday Night

Yes sir, about dark Friday night what few clouds that had been floating around gathered, and one clap of thunder came, and brother the heavens opened, up and deposited little drops of water right here in Brownfield. There must have been at least 40 drops fell during the time. Of course they came so fast we could hardly get an official count of them but anyway they came. And believe me they were welcomed with open arms and smiling faces.

If only enough of this moisture would have fallen it would have been worth many thousands of dollars to Terry county. But laying all jokes aside, Terry county people should be very thankful to have such crops as they have. We talked with several people from adjoining counties during the picnic and they all stated that Terry county crops were in much better shape than any they had seen. We talked with a man from Central and south Texas this week, and he said that crops through that area was a 100 per cent failure. Well, we will make some stuff here if we don't get another drop of rain until the middle of "juvember," and with a good rain within the next ten days, we will make plenty.

So after all folks we are in fairly good shape, for there no ifs ands about it, there are plenty in worse shape.

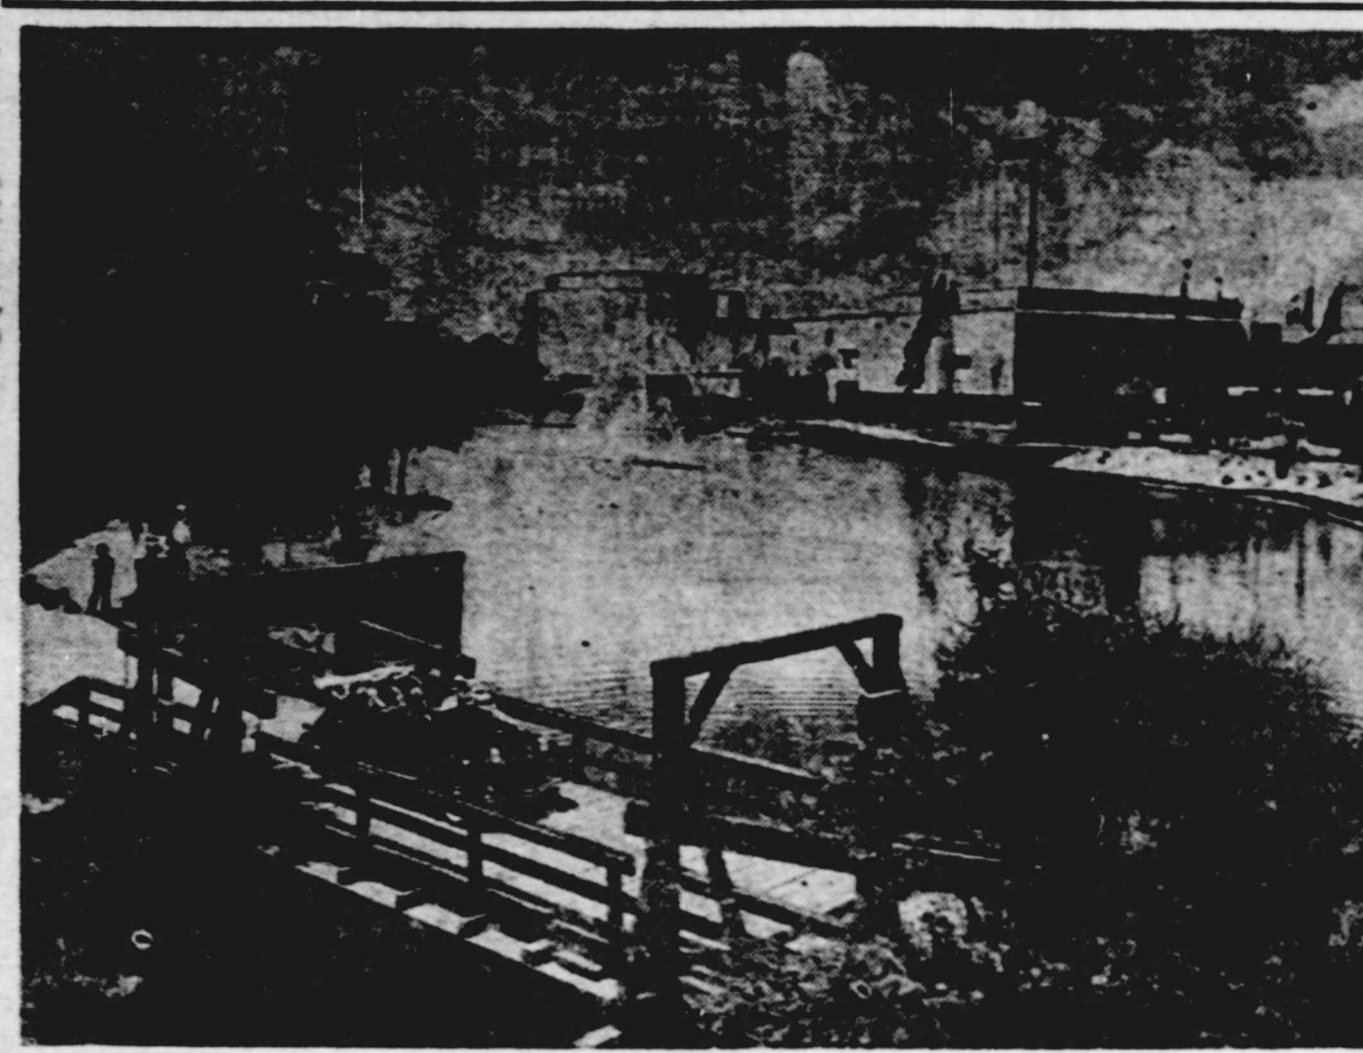

BURNETT THANKS VOTERS

I wish to take this means of thanking the voters of Terry county for their support in the recent election. I will continue to render my very best as a peace officer. If I can be of any service to you at any time, feel free to call on me.

Thanking you again,
J. R. (Jim) Burnett

Man-Made and Nature's Beauty at Work Here

This excellent sample of photographic art shows the stately white walls of the Ford Exposition building against a backdrop of fleecy clouds at the Texas Centennial in Dallas. The pontoon bridge in the foreground is part of the winding "Roads of the Southwest," nine reproduced sections of famous highways and cattle trails. Ford V-8 cars transport thousands of visitors over the roads daily.

Bowers Sells His Milling And Feed Dept.

A deal was closed last week between Bob Bowers and C. A. White, whereas Mr. White became the owner of the milling and feed department formerly run by Mr. Bowers. This is one of the oldest establishments in the city, in fact Bob remarked to us that exactly to a day it had been 19 years ago since he first opened the doors of this business to the public, until he sold it to Mr. White. That's quite a record for one man. During those years Mr. Bowers has built one of the most complete plants to be found. He started out, as most everyone did in those days, with only a few sacks of this and a few sacks of that, in a small two by four building, but kept building to his plant each year until today he carries a big supply of wholesale feeds and grocery products, and also has installed in recent years a complete milling plant and mixes his own feed from Terry county products.

Mr. Bowers retained his Case Implement and Gulf Products Agencies, and will spend all his time from now on attending to these lines.

Mr. White comes here from Memphis, Texas, and having had several years experience in the feed business, he will move his family here as soon as arrangements can be made for a house to stay in.

The Herald is of the opinion that Mr. White will find it an easy matter to get acquainted here, as we found him to be a very pleasant and likeable man. He is in very high spirits about Brownfield and the future it holds. He stated to us that he had already found it to be one of the best towns he has seen in a long time.

Mr. White invites everyone to pay him a call and get acquainted, and promises to carry on the business to the very best of his ability. See his ad elsewhere in this issue.

Second Primary Much Lighter Than First

The second primary, held last Saturday, was a much lighter vote in Terry county, than the first primary. The vote fell about 1000 short of the first. Of course there not being many candidates in the run off, and we think possible a number of people came to the picnic in preference of going to their country boxes to vote. Below is an un-official count of last Saturday's vote:

- For State Railroad Commissioner: Ernest O. Thompson 597
- Frank S. Morris 655
- For Commissioner of Agriculture: George B. Terrell 449
- J. E. McDonald 764
- For State Representative, District No. 119th: J. Doyle Settle 793
- Hop Halsey 485
- For Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Tax Collector: C. D. (Ches) Gore 1296
- For County Attorney: Burton G. Hackney 1308
- For Constable, Justice Precinct No. 1: J. R. Burnett 592
- Luther Jones 525
- For County Commissioner, Precinct No. 3: J. F. Malcom 273
- W. G. McDonald 195

The Rodeo Was Put Over In Grand Style

The rodeo staged by Ernie Greenfield, Charley Copeland and Mays Jenkins was put over in big style. These boys although only amateurs last week, now rank among professionals, as far as promoting is concerned. We heard some complaint about it being slow the first day, but let us tell you something those boys had a job on their hands, for they put on one of the biggest shows that has been staged in West Texas this year, and we think they did a mighty good job of it.

Although we only saw the first days performance, we saw some of the best roping and riding this writer has ever seen. And another thing, some of those old boys that were out there performing were shooting right around records that have been set by the "big shots"

Bud Spillsbury, of Garden City was high point man of the rodeo and was presented with a $100 saddle after Sunday's performance.

Other Winners
Bull-dogging—Spillsbury 14 3-5 sec; Shorty Matlock, Broadview, N. M., 23 1-5 sec; Hugh Posey, Hobbs N. M., 75 1-5 sec.
Calf roping—Curley Daugherty, Olton, 15 1-5 sec; Matlock, 15 3-5 sec; Buster Lee, Hobbs, N. M., 18 4-5 sec.

Steer riding—Fred Daugherty, 262 pts. P. Patterson 259 pts; R. L. Hunt 243 pts.

Bronc riding—Blanket Sims, Vernon Paschal, and Bill Taylor.

Several thousand persons were on hand for each day's performance, also for the dance each night which was held on a platform erected on the rodeo grounds. The crowds expressed their appreciations to Buster and Raymond Brown of Spur for presenting music during the rodeo. They were assisted in filling up the necessary pauses between some events by the rodeo clowns who furnished the crowd several good laughs. Tom Moore and his trained mule put on a nice performance also the twins, whose names we failed to get and their mule.

The only woman performer was Mrs. Dodgin who rode a bronc each day and did a through job of it.

There was a total of $940 cash prizes given away to the contestants.

District Court In Session This Week

District Court was called to order here Monday morning, with Judge Gordon B. McGuire on the bench. The grand jury was put to work, with J. L. Milsap as foreman. Judge McGuire gave the grand jury special instruction to have no mercy in charges of driving while intoxicated. County Attorney, Joe J. McGowan turned in twenty some odd cases to the grand jury. Of course all of these are of various offenses.

This week they are trying nothing but non-jury cases, but have a full docket, which will keep the court busy all week.

Next week criminal cases will be started and will continue through the next week. They have something like fifteen cases carried over from last term of court, and of course with what bills the grand jury turns in this time, promises to keep the court busy for the next three weeks.

Right Kind Of Food Important To Health

AUSTIN, August 25.—That vigorous good health depends not alone upon freedom from disease, but upon the proper amounts and kinds of foods eaten is stressed in a statement from Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

"The human body," he said "may be compared to a steam-engine burning fuel for the steam, which furnishes power. The food we eat is fuel and when digested and absorbed gives the energy necessary to live and go about our daily activities.

"In considering the proper amount of food for our individual needs, we should take into consideration the kind of work our body will be called upon to perform during the days. When more food is taken into the body than is needed to carry on its activities, extra work is thrown on the organs that carry off waste. This is especially true of the kidneys, and often results in serious after effects.

"The growing child will need more tissue building food than older people but must also have the foods which supply heat and energy, and minerals to regulate the body. The foods which contain vitamins, such as fruits, vegetables, and milk are necessary to old and young alike.

"The various kinds of foods needed by the body are:

Tissue building foods—meat, fish, milk, beans, and nuts. Energy and heat giving foods—bread and cereals, fats, and all sweets. Foods containing minerals—vegetables, fruits and whole wheat. Foods rich in vitamins—milk, vegetables, and fruits.

"An important thing to remember in our food problem is the fact that it is not necessary to eat until we feel 'filled up.' Take plenty of time eating and do not follow foods fads or eat certain things because they agree with some friend who has recommended them to you. If your food does not agree with you, go to your physician and let him find out what is causing the trouble."

Local Baseball Team Wins Tournament

The Brownfield baseball team won the tournament held at Wilson last week. But pray tell us who the Brownfield baseball team is. Never in our lives have we ever seen any ball club, show, play or what have you that didn't try to get as much publicity through the local paper as it could. It beats us. We have been to two county fairs in our lives, but never have we ever seen anything like it. Maybe we are just slow catching on. But we have asked at least two dozen men and get the same reply "Didn't even know we had a ball club."

Well anyway the boys must have something, for the Lubbock paper gave them quite a bit of publicity during the tournament. Let us ask one thing of you boys. If you should happen to win any brass buttons or the like during the season, come around during the Christmas holidays and let us have a peek at them. Will you please?

Mrs. Molly Zeigler of Gatesville is visiting in Brownfield this week, the guest of her brother, Sam Daugherty and her cousins Mesdames W. G. and A. R. Smith and other relatives.

Local Scouts Carry Off Honors At Lub. Meet

Bud Enderens of Boy Scout Troop 44, of Brownfield, was high point contestant in the first annual council championship swimming contest held at Lubbock last Friday night. Brownfield won third place in this district meet. Those entering in the senior division from Brownfield were: Bud Enderens, Claude Jr. Hudgens, and Henry Foster. In the Intermediates were: Charles Boyce Rambo, Buddy Rambo and Ulee McPherson. And in the Juniors: Bobby Lewis and Charlie Enderens.

All of these boys made good showings in the meet, and most of them winning from 1 to 5 blue ribbons and several red ribbons. The Herald congratulates these boys on the high ranking they made at this meet.

Celebration A Quite One For Peace Officers

Maybe we thought people were worse than they really are. But we were rather astonished when Sheriff Jess Smith reported only 12 had gone beyond the bounds of law during the celebration of Terry County's 60th anniversary birthday. Hardly a week end passes in the large cities without Sunday's paper having a list of from 20 to 25 being jailed for disturbance and the like. Brownfield was host to some 20,000 people during the three days and nights celebration, and we consider this a very small per cent to be jailed out of such a large number. Some ten of these were taken in for drunkenness, and one or two for fighting. The Herald wishes to state right here that it was one of the most orderly groups of people it has ever seen, and is appreciated as such.

May we also hand City Marshal Gene Brown a bouquet for conducting such heavy traffic as we had, without a single accident or any jams whatsoever. We really believe Gene deserves praise, for every time someone was as busy as a hummer, he was as busy as a hummer. So again we congratulate our orderly crowd as we had, and Sheriff Smith and his fine selected deputies, Gene Brown, and other city officers for helping stage a great celebration in a quiet, far as law and order was concerned.

Fire Dept. Makes To Put Out Water

The fire department was busy last week to put out a fire. Yes, we mean water was used. There is an old dug well on the King Nursery place, and someone was making repairs on some burning trash bin. We understand the fire had started when the truck arrived the first time we have seen a water well catching

Chamber of Commerce

Of course the Birthday party that was pulled off in Brownfield last week needs some comment, but I will be darned if I can work myself up to writing spirit that it takes to describe it and while I am going to make a stab at it, am of the opinion that the article will not be so hot.

Anyway the barbecue, rodeo and other events were presented with clocklike precision, the whole affair being managed in the smoothest manner and every one appeared to be happy and enjoying to the fullest extent.

The success of the event was made possible by the wholehearted cooperation of the citizenship of the county and the perfect team work of the committees connected with it. Fact is, the writer personally did not have very much to do with it, just looking after the loose ends, while the balance of the bunch got in there and pitched. The County Judge and Commissioners granted concessions on the use of the lawn that resulted in providing comfort for the visitors. The school board granted the use of the school grounds for the barbecue, and Mayor Wines and the other city officials granted every request that was made of them, and added a lot to it, all of which resulted in a perfect celebration. The finance, advertising, entertainment, food, and other committees worked earnestly at their jobs. And if we had searched for a year, we would not have found a more efficient General committee.

It being composed of James H. Dallas, Sam Murphy, L. C. Heath and Dr. Royal Parish, the other committees being appointed by them: Tom May, Mon Telford and Lee O. Allen, led the finance committee, and they really got the job done, and of course Homer Winston was right in there "pitching" as he has always done everything that has been put over by his town and county. One of these boys, is one that I have never worked with before, Lee O. Allen. And I want to say that he is a wheel-horse, was right on the job from start to finish and when he saw that anything was needed to be done, he just went right in and got it attended to.

The Legion, had charge of serving the meal on Friday, and put it over with their usual efficiency. The High School Band was on the job and those boys certainly have improved on their music, and put out some good concerts. Mrs. Bulah May Andrus had charge of the Pageant and she certainly did furnish a good show, and am sure that a lot of hard work was necessary upon her part in order to make the showing.

The rodeo was under the direction of Ernie Greenfield, Charlie Copeland, and Mays Jenkins. And while the writer did not get out to the grounds he has had a number of comments concerning the excellent program. The Needles Sound Truck from Lubbock, under the direction of Mr. C. H. Netto, furnished some very excellent programs, both at the rodeo and in town, and their very willing assistance resulted in making a well rounded out show.

As stated in the beginning, the writer just can't get into the subject, maybe because it is too big for him, but we have undertaken to give mention to everything or everyone who was actively concerned with the program, yes, we must include the Boy Scouts, who were on the job at all times, working wherever they were needed and maintaining a very interesting exhibit of their work, and probably opening the eyes of a number of our people as to the real purpose of their organization. Sheriff Smith is also to be commended for the efficient work of himself and his deputies, assisted by the Highway Patrol, in keeping the streets from being congested and preventing accidents, as well as preserving order. We are informed that there was not a single automobile collision, very few cases of drunkenness and only one fight. That is some record, when you figure that more than 18,000 people were present. Cris Quante and Jim Miller say that we fed that number and I expect that there was a lot of people who did not visit the barbecue grounds.

Chester Gore, Lence Price, Tom Howard, Sam Pyeatt and Elbert Proctor, prepared the meat, coffee and other things that went with it. In fact Ches has been pretty busy on this job for the last several weeks, as it was up to him to see that a plentiful supply of meat was procured and cooked and I personally know that he exerted himself to get the very best animals available for the purpose, using only young stuff.

Mrs. Ola Tinkler and girls, Mary and Ruth, returned home Tuesday afternoon. They have been spending the summer in Houston.

What a heading! It seems like even an amateur, such as we are, could think of something better, but we didn't. You know we have often thought, while we were in the back office up to our elbows in ink and grease, that we would give two brass buttons and a one blade Boy Scout knife, to be up in the front, in the place of the old "He". And really lots of times we thought we could do a much better job of editing a paper but boy, oh boy! where he finds enough bull to fill it up with is beyond us. So after two days of this news seeking we are going around singing "Give Me Back My Lino."

And did we do some tall cussing (under our breath, of course) this morning. We gathered up all of the exchanges, some 30 or 40, and had a smile from ear to ear, for boy, we had a pair of sissors that wouldn't stop. And what did we find? Nothing, absolutely nothing but editors telling their dear readers to go to the polls Saturday and vote. Now of course we couldn't use that. Why in the world didn't some of you "old heads" of the fraternity get all stirred up and write some hot "editorials" last week, so this poor printers devil could use them this week? Of course we got an idea from you and even set down and wrote 3 or 4 columns about elections before we happened to think that the dern election was over. So all we can say now about it is that we heard one man was elected to every office, we'll bet those that weren't elected thinks there are more liars in the world than he had ever dreamed of. In case some of you didn't know, Terry hasn't received any rain yet. What do you folks think about these operations they are performing, turning women into men? Well we have said all along that women were taking the place of men, you know, women officers, governors, business women and the like.

In one way we are kinda following his honor (the Honorable Andrew Jackson Stricklin, who fit the battle at New Orleans, or some foreign sea port). Yep, we mean about Charley Guy. In his editorial column on Monday, about his prediction of the out come of President Roosevelt and Alf Landon's get-together to be held some time in September. We think he was sorta in the same spot we are right now, and just wanted to fill up space. In other words we think he was just day dreaming. And we are really surprised in Charley for this writer is one of his fondest readers. But maybe so we are wrong and he is right. For right now we are not sure we know right from wrong.

You can't fool an ole hoss fly about some things though, this summer heat has really got a lot of people. The very idea of grown people going around playing such games as "Knock Knock" and "Hello, Oscar." Looks bad to this scribe, with winter just around the corner. I wouldn't be surprised if some of those people don't have to be "tailed up" during some cold spell. Now we know that the boss wouldn't print this, but with him way back in the hills of Tennessee and with us out here trying to get this sheet out, we are going to act a dern fool and let her go. Besides look at the space we have taken up.

Jack Stricklin of the Terry County Herald wonders how there can be a second primary when the word "primary" means first. Well Jack, you know ordinary language and ordinary logic, do not apply in politics. If our farmers and business men were as optimistic as the candidates are (outwardly) the wheels of commerce would roll in real progress.—Anton News.

TRUE AMERICANISM

In these days, when such a large number of our people seem to have lost their self-reliance, and are looking to the government for everything it would be well to consider the words of Henry W. Grady, the great Southern editor, who once wrote:

Exalt the citizen. As the state is the unit of government, he is the unit of the state. Teach him that his home is his castle, and his sovereignty rests beneath his hat. Make him self-respecting, self-reliant and responsible. Let him lean on the state for nothing that his own arms can do and on the government for nothing that his state can do. Let him cultivate independence to the point of sacrifice, and learn that humble things with unbartered liberty are better than splendors bought with its price.

Let him neither surrender his individuality to government nor merge it with the mob.

Let him stand upright and fearless—a freeman born of freeman, sturdy in his own strength, dowering his family in the sweat of his brow, loving to his state, loyal to his republic, earnest in its allegiance wherever it rests, but building his altar in the midst of his household goods and shrining in his own heart the uttermost temple of liberty.—Post Dispatch.

FAITH! KEEP YOUR CHIN UP!

While newspapers convey reports that the worst drought in the history of the United States is on, the same presses print humorous stories of the temperature climbing—illustrating that American people are no longer the type to cry over spilt milk. A housekeeper in Wichita Falls had to cool a freshly cooked cherry pie in the oven before it could be eaten, after it had been left in a west window for a few minutes. A wife cook in the same city put a boiler of beans on the shelf to soak over night but returned in half hour to find them well cooked by the heat, but not burned. A farmer placed a cake of ice in a drum on his truck and started home. Before he had gotten half way the drum was blown to smithereens by the steam created within it by the sun as it melted the ice.

Right here in Dickens county it is said that farmers have to leave their fields and go to the barn or house

Freight trains nowadays act like express specials. New freight schedules are so fast, I sometimes wonder if everything has to be delivered day before yesterday.

Many of our passenger trains are running faster schedules, too. Well, one thing is sure. We make faster runs, but the first railroad commandment is still "Safety First." That's one rule they won't change.

Western railroads and allied industries provided jobs for 750,000 workers last year. Some of them live in our town. Good neighbors.

Passenger fares are now the lowest in history with substantial reductions on round trips. And no more surcharge for riding in sleeping cars.

This new Free pick-up-and-delivery of less than carload freight—I heard some traveling salesmen talking about it on the train yesterday. They said it saves shippers a lot of money and centers all responsibility on the railroad. The railroad picks up the freight at shipper's door and delivers to receiver's door. Of course, local delivery men get the haul from door-to-car and car-to-door at both ends. The railroad handles the whole transaction.

When railroads are busy, I notice towns along the railroad are prosperous. The merchants put more ads in the newspapers.

Wear proud of railroad achievements, appreciate the public's good will and increased patronage, and pledge continued progress.

to smoke because of the danger of fires in the dry cotton patches. It is even said that one farmer became alarmed over the condition and came to town to obtain "No Smoking" signs.

Even though conditions are serious, Aemica has learned through years of experiencing failures that after all little is to be done about controlling rains or drought periods. Little is to be gained through low spirits while nothing is to be lost by the act of keeping the chin up. Make the best of what comes and what goes and what it to be will be is the physiology to which America is fast turning.

That may not be the religion of the early pioneers, but it is not bad philosophy. God is the supreme ruler today as he was yesterday and since the beginning of time. He alone controls the crop yield, the weather and life in general. Even a drought should not destroy that faith, and humor goes a long way toward keeping the chin up.—Dickens County Times.

CENTENNIAL SWELLS GASOLINE TAX TILL

AUSTIN, Aug. 24.—Sponsors of the bill passed in the state legislature to appropriate $3,000,000 for the celebration of Texas' 100th anniversary pointed out in their fight for the bill's passage that the state treasury would be reimbursed that amount with increased taxes during 1936. Their promise has been more than fulfilled during the first seven months of the Centennial year.

From January 1 through July 31 the state gasoline tax till has been swelled by $3,148,749 over and above the amount collected for the same period last year. Taxes from the sale of gasoline to residents and visitors to Texas have already shown a profit of $148,749 to the state on its appropriation of $3,000,000 for the first seven months of 1936 and fall tourist travel promises to add substantially to the tax revenue by the end of the year.

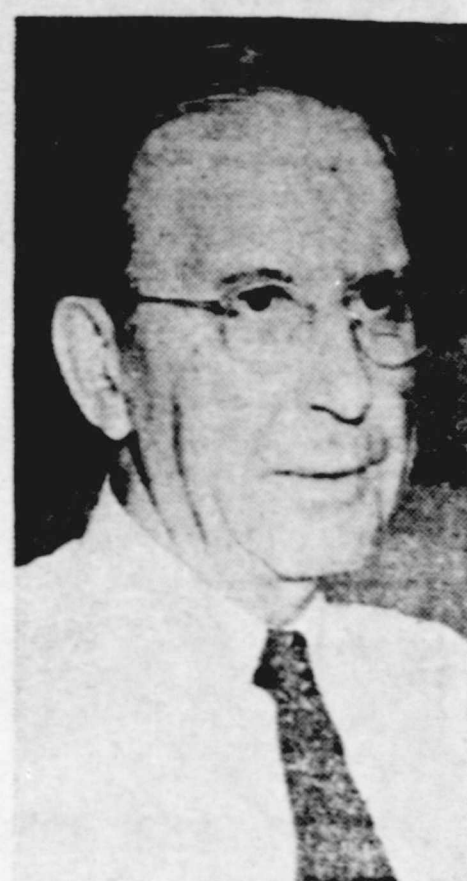

Centennial officials anticipate increased travel into Texas from out-of-state during fall months and if such is true revenue provided by gasoline tax will run the amount past the $6,000,000 mark for 1936, thereby showing a profit of $3,000,000 to the taxpayers of Texas on their Centennial investment.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ballard and Murpha Deene are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Tom May.

PRUNE YOUR TOMATOE

"By pruning my tomatoes I expect to receive a larger increase in production, my plants are heavily loaded with green tomatoes. I have my tomatoes over 400 feet of tile and this has been the means of keeping them supplied with plenty of water," said Mrs. H. Duncan cooperator in the Stanford Valley H. D. club of Yoakum county to the County Home Demonstration Agent. "Without the tile I feel that my garden would not have been productive at all because we haven't had enough rain to raise a garden."

Directs Exposition

Harry Olmsted, one of the best known business men and civic leaders in the Southwest, is the new Director General of the Texas Centennial Exposition. He is at the helm of the $25,000,000 World's Fair at Dallas following the death of William A. Webb, general manager, on August 9. Mr. Olmsted for twenty years has been a director of the State Fair of Texas and for five years its president.

LIME AND SULPHUR FOR INSECTS

Three parts of lime to one part of sulphur dusted on my tomatoes and cucumber vines destroyed the beetles and grass hoppers, said Mrs. H. Bural a Farm Food Supply demonstrator in the Westward H. D. club in Yoakum county to a group of women in her home August 14. "I have found that dusting lime over all the plants in the garden has helped to keep all insects off my plants."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gracy and family left this week for Fort Worth and Dallas to take in the Centennial.

HARMONY SOMETIMES MORE IMPORTANT THAN CENSURE

Hardly a week passes in the life of a country editor that someone, disgruntled or otherwise doesn't come into our office and suggest that we raise hob, with someone, this that or the other.

And we'll have to admit that sometimes it is necessary and we do. We'll have to secretly admit that there are many many other times when the urge within is very strong to do that very thing—and we don't.

During the last campaign, opportunities were often suggested to us to do that very thing, and in all future campaigns, the same thing will re-occur.

A community rocks along, and if it's a normal community, continues to thrive and grow, not because all of the people are bad—not because all of the people are good, but because we're just all people—humans.

Many a man will bow his neck, fight and resent public criticism, that is amenable to kindly suggestion to the extreme, and it isn't always public suggestion that works to the best advantage either.

Reading this probably leads you to the thought that there is a specific reason or this article—and you're right because there is. The past week we turned down a request to make publication of a signed attack on individuals, for the reason that while the facts may have been true, the publication of them would have done good for no one, and might have worked harm on and to others.

Newspapers that cater to the whims and dictation of cliques and individuals may profit immediately, but in the end the loss is counted in lost friendships, lost prestige and lost confidence of their readers.

Less criticism, more praise, teamwork will work wonders which censure never can even help attain.—County Wide News.

BUMBLEBEE USEFUL

One of the least appreciated but nevertheless useful members of the insect tribe is the common bumblebee. While his usefulness is the same as that of other bees—carrying pollen from one flower to another—the bumblebee is the main factor in clover pollination. The common honeybee does not visit the clover field of the red clover type because she cannot reach the nectar with her short tongue

SCOUT MASTERS FROM FOREIGN COUNTRIES TO BE AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 24.—Five Scoutmasters of the Boy Scouts of Poland will come from Europe to officiate in Polish Day ceremonies at the Texas Centennial Exposition August 17.

Polish Day, which will be celebrated by Poles from all parts of the United States, has been dedicated to Felix Wardzinski, the Polish soldier who was one of the heroes of the battle of San Jacinto and who is revered by all Poles in Texas as their contribution to Texas' struggle for independence.

Frank V. Zintak, of Chicago, honorary chairman of the Polish-American Organization, will head a delegation of presidents of Polish organizations of Chicago to the $25,000,000 world's fair.

An oil portrait of Wardzinski, painted by Alexander Hareski, Polish artist of Buffalo, N. Y., will be presented by Mr. Zintak to the Exposition to be hung in the Hall of State.

"Scout officers of Dallas will greet the scoutmasters from Poland and offer congratulations for the fine scout work accomplished in that country," said W. A. Webb, general manager of the Centennial. "Poland was one of the first European countries to organize a Boy Scout movement, and it is one of the most influential organizations now in the country."

Polish folk dances and songs will be presented by men and women in Polish national costumes at a opening program.

CENTENNIAL CITIES BOOSTING COMFORT

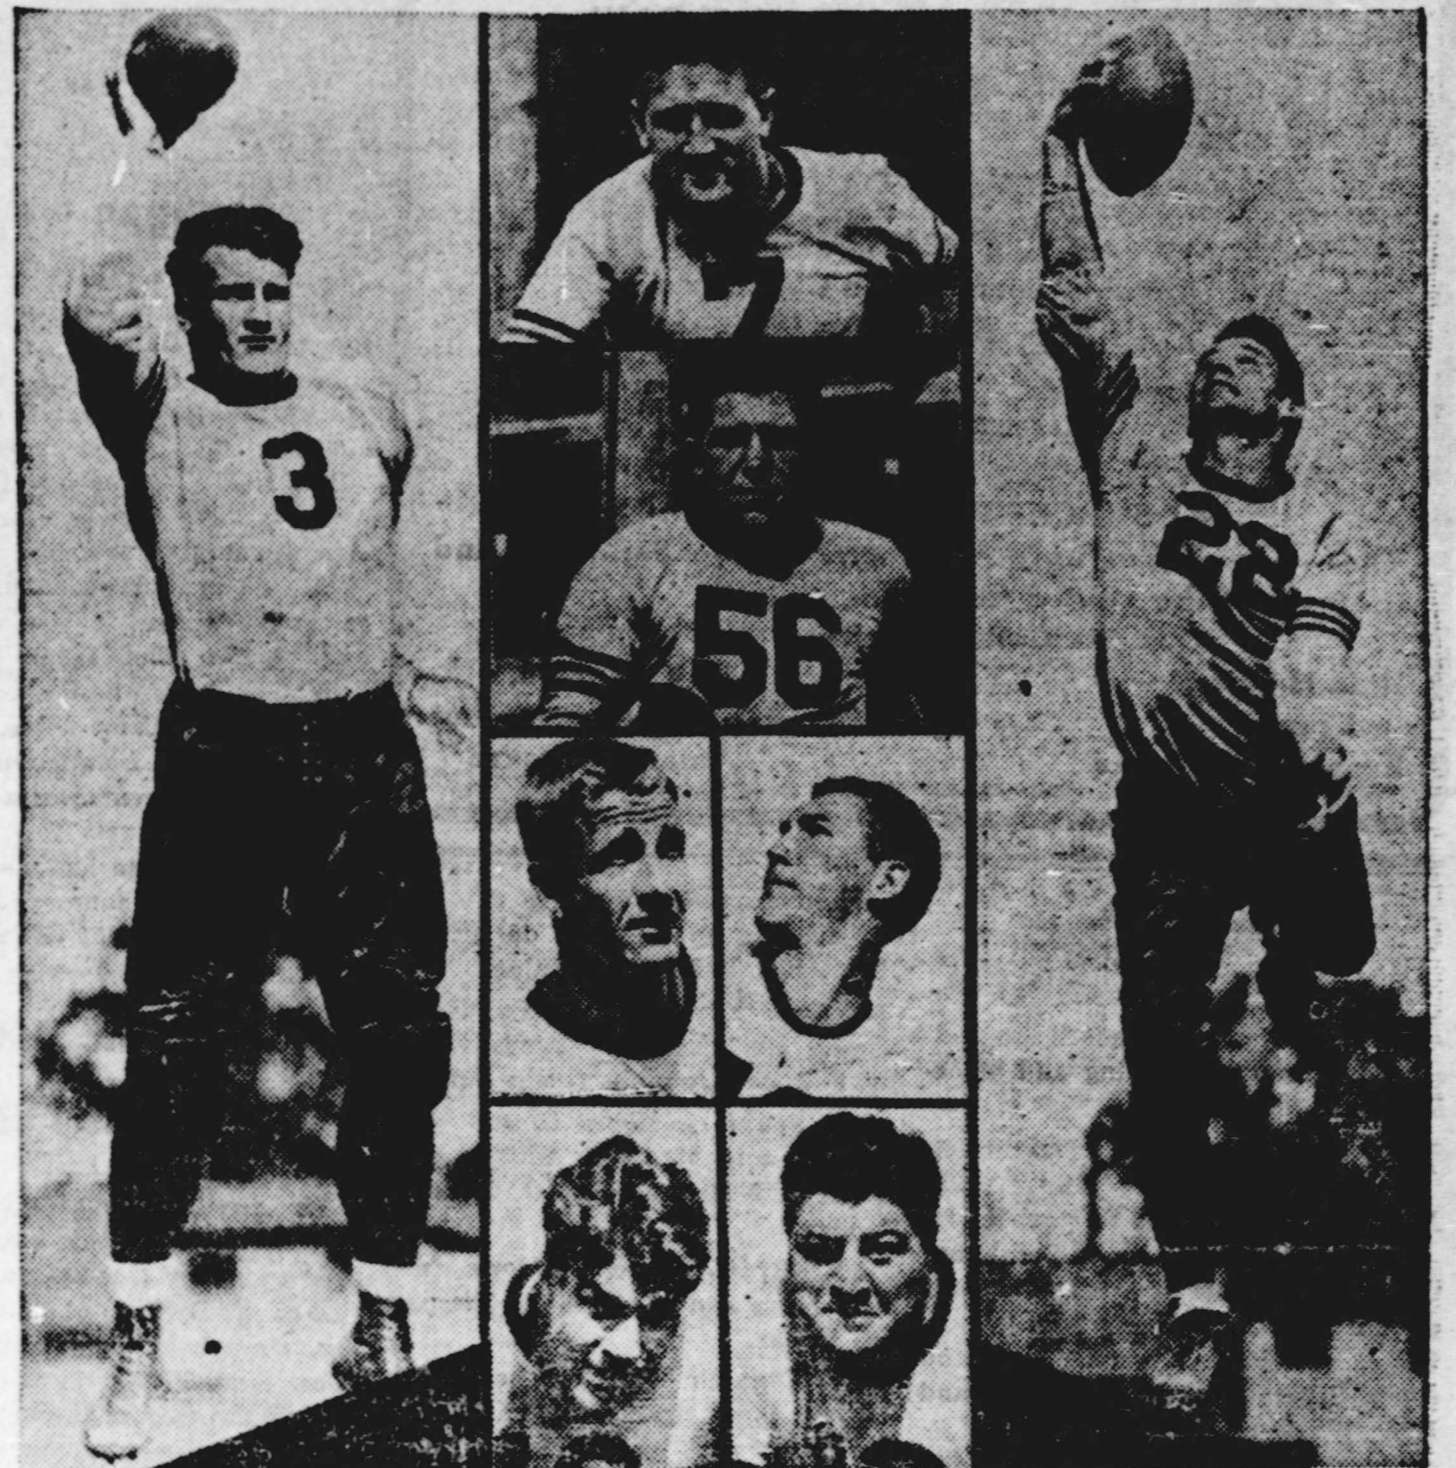

DALLAS, August 24. — Wooing gate attendance with comfort, the two major Texas Centennial celebrations at Dallas and Fort Worth are attracting their share of visitors with two distinct features. Dallas with its Centennial Exposition, is playing up its spacious air-conditioned buildings. It is estimated that seventy-five per cent of all its buildings are equipped with mechanical atmosphere. Fort Worth, with its Frontier Centennial, boasts of a show that "you can sit down and enjoy."

The three main attractions at Fort Worth—Casa Manana, The Last Frontier and Jumbo were planned with the idea of making comfort foremost and with that in mind sponsors of Frontier Centennial have made it possible for visitors to see its various attractions "sitting down."

Both Fort Worth and Dallas continue to enjoy an increase in gate attendance. Apparently one is equally as alluring as the other.

J. S. Brock, daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Bertran, spent Monday night with their sister and niece, Mrs. Cousineau.

your engine by Conoco Germ Processed oil. The Conoco Germ Process scientifically combines a most carefully refined mineral oil with an extra, exclusive "concentrated oily essence"—fully guarded by patents. And this invention enables your Conoco Germ Processed oil to combine with all engine parts so that they become literally Oil-Plated. Oil-Plating does not depend on constant pumping up, because it does not rapidly drain down, but stays put—fixed—Plated. You can see that this firmly fixed, slippery Oil-Plating leaves no un-oiled bare spots in your engine. And that leaves least chance of wear . . . And the less wear, the more oil you save . . . FARMER EXPOSES FARM JOURNAL IN ITS STRAW VOTE

The true political position of the Farm Journal, which is conducting a supposedly non-partisan Presidential poll of American farmers, was brought to light in an article in The New York Post. It develops now that the poll conducted by the farm paper is non partisan only in a Pickwickian sense.

This interesting revelation was made to The Post by Walter A. Hoenes, thirty-two, a farmer of Cologne, N. J. Mr. Hoenes is a Democrat, in fact, a blatant Democrat. He subscribed for the Farm Journal in October, 1935. When he read about the publication's poll of its readers, he naturally expected to receive a ballot. When he didn't he was chagrined. He wanted his vote for President Roosevelt to count in the poll, so he drew up his own ballot. He sent it to the Farm Journal with a letter freely expersing his pro-Roosevelt sentiment. Shortly thereafter he received the following letter from the Farm Journal, bearing the editor's signature:

"Dear Mr. Hoenes: You seem to believe very thoroughly in Mr. Roosevelt and his methods and if so, I am sure you are going to be very unhappy if you continue to read the Farm Journal. We expect to do our best to stop Mr. Roosevelt's borrowing, spending, budget deficits and increasing taxes, which is about the only contribution that Mr. Roosevelt has made to returning prosperity.

"Would you not be happier reading some other farm magazine which supports Mr. Roosevelt if you can find one? Very truly yours, Arthur H. Jenkins, Editor."

In addition to suffering this affront to his political sentiments, Mr. Hoenes complains that he has received no more copies of the magazine, though, he asserts his subscription had three months to run.

Altogether Mr. Hoenes is somewhat skeptical of the "fair and impartial" character of the Farm Journal's poll, especially as he since has learned that control of the Farm Journal recently passed to Joseph N. Pew, Jr., who is one of the three Republican bosses in Pennsylvania and a financial angel of the party in that state.

"HELLO OSCAR" TAKES TEXAS LIKE EPIDEMIC

AUSTIN, August 24. — "Hello, Oscar," the fascinating new game that originated in the minds of Texas Centennial Department of Information heads has spread over Texas like an epidemic almost over night.

The prime purpose of the new game is to make Texans conscious of the great number of out-of-state cars traveling over Texas during Centennial year. The novel pastime is similar to the game children play known as "stamping horses." The rules are not compulsory but may be altered according to the wishes of the players.

"Hello, Oscar" is a derivation of "Hello, Out-State-Car." As many persons as care may play. The first to spy a car bearing an out-of-state license shouts "Hello, Oscar" and thereby gains one point. If the driver of the car answers his greeting he gains another point. Should a player see two out-of-state cars pass each other he is given five points. Of course, there is a penalty of one point when a player cries "Hello, Oscar" when there is no out-of-state car in sight.

Some opine "Hello, Oscar" is another step toward insanity, but everybody's playing it. It's surprising the number of out-of-state cars to be seen in Texas everyday.

Commercialization

IF YOU are one of those who deplore "the commercial spirit of the present age," because you are charged a fee for visiting some historic shrine or have your view of scenic beauties obstructed by billboards, don't declare "They didn't do such things in the good old days!" Witness this protest uttered by an historian some 75 years ago:

When, in 1838, the remains of Washington were removed from the old vault into the new, at Mount Vernon, the coffin was placed in a beautiful sarcophagus of white marble, from a quarry in Chester county, Pennsylvania, and prepared in Philadelphia by the gentleman who presented it. The lid is wrought with arms of the country and the inscription here appended. Incidentally of other considerations, it is desirable, for the honor of the nation so largely indebted to Washington, that his grave should be something more than an advertising medium for a marble-mason. But the faithful chronicler must take things as he finds them, not always as they should be—

WASHINGTON By the permission of Lawrence Lewis, The surviving executor of George Washington this sarcophagus was presented by John Struthers, of Philadelphia, Marble Mason, A. D. 1837. Western Newspaper Union.

Cotton Grade And Staple For Texas

The first cotton grade and staple report for Texas this season was issued today by the Austin, Texas office of the Division of Cotton Marketing, Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Similar reports will be issued weekly throughout the active ginning season, copies being available for distribution upon request.

Grades reported for the week are slightly higher than those shown for the season to date. This week about 25 per cent is reported a Strict Middling and above, 50 per cent Middling, and approximately 17 per cent Strict Low Middling and Low Middling. Only 5 per cent of the cotton this week is Strict Middling Spotted as compared with 15 per cent to date this season. Less than 2 per cent is reported as being Middling Spotted with negligible amount shows for grades below Middling in this color group.

Only about one per cent of the cotton this week and to date is reported as being shorter than 7-8 inch, and nearly 14 per cent being 7-8 inch for the week as compared with 19 per cent to date. A decrease is shown in the proportion of 15-16 inch cotton for the week to 42 per cent from 52 per cent this season, while 1 inch cotton shows an increase to 38 per cent about 26 per cent. The proportion of 1-16 inches and longer staples this week represents slightly less than 5 per cent against only half this amount to date.

School Opening To Be Changed This Year

Instead of having a general school opening program this year, the plan calls for a separate program for each school. This is to be given during the week of September 7. All schools will register and get under way Thursday and Friday, September 3 and 4. The following week, each school will have an assembly program, at which time an effort will be made to get as many patrons as possible to attend. The high school will have assembly on Monday at 9:00, September 7; the junior high school will have its first assembly at 9:00 on Tuesday; West ward will have its opening program at assembly on Wednesday. Pupils and patrons are requested to distinguish between the opening of school and the formal opening the following week. Remember, all schools open Thursday, September 3.

All beginners registering for the first time must have birth certificates. All pupils that have been in school previously must present a report card, provided that they attended some other school last year, and should have their report cards from the local schools if they attended these schools last year. In addition, each pupil must present a book card, showing that all state text books have been returned to the school where he last attended.

Parade Last Friday Attracts Large Crowd

One of the biggest parades that was ever staged in the history of the town was staged here last Friday. And believe me it was no two-bit affair either. We believe most every business house and civic club in the city was represented in it. We also saw some of the best decorated floats we have seen in a long long time.

We take our hats off to the sponsor of this parade, Mrs. Andrus. The success of her efforts stood out with the many floats in the parade.

First place went to Stephens-Latham Dry Goods, Co. for having the prettiest float; second place to the Lions club, and third place to the Cinderella Beauty Shop, Wards Shoe Service also made quite a hit with the crowd and it was duly worthy of honorable mention.

Those who missed this parade, will wait many moons before they will see its equal again.

"Outfitters for Men, Women and Children"

ANOTHER PIONEER PASSES

Once more on August 23 the grim reaper of death descended among us and took away one of the most lovable persons in our midst in the person of Mrs. F. J. Headstream.

Mrs. Headstream was born June 25, 1868 in North Carolina. She was married to F. J. Headstream, November 14, 1889, at Graham Arkansas, who departed from this life November 22, 1924.

To this union were born eight children, six of whom are still living.

Mrs. Headstream moved from Alabama to Arkansas in 1874; from Arkansas to Lamar county Texas in 1903; from Lamar county to Roby, Texas in 1906, and from Roby to Brownfield in November 1916.

She leaves her six living children fourteen grandchildren and one great grandchild to mourn her death.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon, August 23, at the First Methodist church, Brownfield, interment followed in the Meadow cemetery. Paul Bearns; A. E. Brownfield, Tom May, L. L. Brock, Will Fitzgerald, Spencer Kendrick and James H. Dallas.

The so-called Constitutional Democrats who predict the defeat of President Roosevelt, have been guilty of defaming the constitution as often as any body of individuals. Most of them are dyed in the wool Republicans but assume the Democratic role for political expediency. They are the guys who were shading copious tears four years ago when everything had gone to smash, and wept on the shoulder of Roosevelt to save them. Now that they are saved, they have no gratitude for the friend they ever had.—C. W. Brown.

Mrs. Wilkins died here last week. She has occupied position in the Clyde school for many fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Phippin and little Betty, of Brownfield, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bandy, Tuesday afternoon.

As soon as the finished Farmer Beeton moved to his household that he was tired of eating badly made meals that he would make the supply himself.

"Good idea," agreed a visitor.

"I'll lend you a hand if you like."

It was past midnight and still the amateur bakers were hard at work. The farmer's wife ventured to ask whether the bread was in the oven.

"In the oven?" cried Beeton. "We can't keep it in the kitchen, let alone the oven."

CONTRADICTORY

Dr. Abrams was called to a barber shop, where Sam, the negro porter, was lying unconscious. Dr. Abrams worked on him for a long time, and finally revived the man.

"How did you happen to drink that stuff?" he asked the patient. "didn't you see the label on the bottle? It said 'poison'."

Sam: "Yes, doctor, but I didn't believe it."

Dr. Abrams: "Why Not?"
Sam: "Because right under that it said 'Lye'."

GO AND DO LIKEWISE

Temperance Advocate: "I strongly object to the custom of christening ships with champagne."

The other man: "I don't; I think there's a temperance lesson in it."

Temperance Advocate: "How can that be?"

The Other Man: "Well, directly after her first taste of wine the ship takes to water and sticks to it."

JUST PLAIN JOHN

DALLAS—The rugged men of the Southwest refused to observe the amenities when Vice President Garner visited the Texas Centennial Exposition. They had been warned the correct address was "Mr. Vice President." One glance at the ruddy features of the sage of Uvalde made him just plain "John" to the thousands.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Self and son are attending the Centennial this week.

DALLAS—Ticket prices for games in the Cotton Bowl, Texas Centennial Exposition, will be in line with the Exposition's general "reasonable price" program. Seats for major games would sell for $2.50.

HORTICULTURIST GIVES TIPS ON PREPARING GARDEN SOIL

College Station—"Fall gardening is a waste of time and effort unless the soil is thoroughly prepared," J. F. Rosborough, Extension horticulturist, said recently.

"Most gardeners go wrong in turning under a growth of weeds and dried up spring vegetables. Cutting the weeds and throwing them over the fence before plowing is the first step toward a successful garden," he added. "Turned-under weeds heat and dry out the soil above and prevent thorough cultivation.
"In most barn lots at this time of the year there is a layer of tramped manure that has dried out, losing the acids that burns plants. After the garden has been plowed, spread a coating of one to three inches of this 'summer manure' over the surface, then rebreak the ground or disc and harrow it until it is well mixed into the soil. This 'spongy' material will greatly increase the water-holding capacity of the soil and prevent it from packing. When fall rains come, the garden soil handled in this way will be ready for planting.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED AT TECH COLLEGE AGAIN

LUBBOCK, Texas, August 25.—American Legion members, their sons and daughters are eligible for twenty scholarships at Texas Technological College again this fall, President Bradford Knapp has announced.
The scholarships, granted to Tech by the La Verne Noyes estate of Chicago, amount to $50 each, sufficient to pay the annual tuition of ex-soldiers of the World War, whether in the navy, army or marine corps, or their sons and daughters. Application for these scholarships should be made to President Knapp.

Curiosa Americana

By Elmo Scott Watson

Epitaph
PERHAPS the most famous epitaph in American history is this:

The Body of Benjamin Franklin, Printer, (Like the cover of an old book, Its contents torn out, And strip of its lettering and gilding.) Lies food for worms; Yet the work itself shall not be lost, For it will (as he believed) appear once more, In a new and more beautiful edition, Corrected and Amended by The Author.

Franklin at the age of twenty-three wrote that for his own gravestone. But the idea wasn't original with him. He "borrowed" it from one of two sources. In 1681 Rev. Joseph Capen suggested as an appropriate epitaph for John Foster, who had set up the first printing press in Massachusetts, one which likened the printer's body to "an old almanac, for the present only's out of date" and predicted "at the resurrection we shall see a fair edition . . . free from errata, new in Heaven set forth."
But the one which Franklin more likely copied was written by Benjamin Woodbridge, a member of the first graduating class of Harvard college. It was for some unknown friend in which he was compared to "a living, breathing Bible" and declared that:

When in a new edition, he comes forth: Without errata may we think he'll be, In leaves and covers of eternity!

This was printed in Cotton Mather's "Magnalia Christi Americana" and Franklin's early life was greatly influenced by the writings of that famous Puritan clergyman.
As a matter of fact neither Capen's nor Woodbridge's idea was original. Both probably "borrowed" from a still earlier epitaph which was engraved on the tomb of Jacob Tonsen, a London bookseller and which contained references to "the original text" in his life and "a new edition" in the future.

supplied to them during their direct needs the stupendous sum of $323,227,304, of which $136,019,144 was under the Agricultural Adjustment Act and $187,208,160 under the Farm Credit Act. What the Texas farmers and ranchers would have done, how they could have lived without this helping had furnished food for serious thought, with another national campaign in progress.
The above figures were prepared by the National Emergency Council, at Washington, and are indisputable, but the survey recently received reveals a still more important fact; how the Administration saved Texas. For the Council's report discloses, for the first time, that under Roosevelt the people of Texas received in all classes of benefits, loans, grants, relief, bonuses, etc., over one billion dollars, this gigantic amount being spread among all groups, keeping up purchasing power and markets. The $1,000,000,000 was used to purchase groceries, clothing, household supplies, ice, medicines, all forms of other merchandise, oil gasoline, radios and what not; and Democratic leaders, including Governor Allred, Vice President Garner, Senators Sheppard and Connally, Mayor Blacklock and Congressman Rayburn, State Campaign Chairman, and Roy Miller, Director of Organization and Finance, say this saved Texas.

It first appeared in a Philadelphia newspaper in 1776 thus:
Mark! hark! the trumpet sounds, the din of war's alarms,
O'er seas and solid grounds, doth call us all to arms;
Who for King George doth stand, their honors soon shall shine;
Their ruin is at hand, who with the Congress join,
The acts of Parliament, in them I much delight,
I hate their cursed intent, who for the Congress fight,
The Tories of the day, they are my daily toast,
They soon will sneak away, who independence boast;
Who non-resistance hold, they have my hand and heart,
May they for slaves be sold, who act a Whiggish part;
On Mansfield, North, and Bute, may daily blessings pour,
Confusion and dispute; on Congress evermore;
To North and British lord, may honors still be done,
I wish a block or cord, to General Washington.

It was reprinted in many other Colonial newspapers. "That's fine," said British army officers and Tory officials. "The man who wrote that is certainly loyal to His Majesty and he has very wisely condemned this foolish Revolution."
If any Patriot heard one of them say that, he must have smiled to himself. For if he was "in on the know," he didn't read the poem as it is printed above. He read each line as far as the comma in the middle, then he read the next line the same way and so on. Or he began reading at the comma in the first line, then dropped down to the comma in the next and so on.
That gave the poem a very different meaning indeed. Try it and see for yourself why the Patriots read it that way!

There Will Be Plenty Of "Straw Votes"

From now on we may expect the newspapers to be filled with straw votes, sample balloting and other attempts to forecast the result of the Presidential election. In addition various agencies have announced their purpose of telling the trend of public opinion over the radio.

That is all right provided the methods of making these alleged tests are of such a character as to indicate an honest purpose of forecasting the election even though the cross-section theory of arriving at a conclusion by no means gives a certain augury of the outcome.

When, however the auspices under which the polls are being conducted are analyzed—as is the case of some already published or in prospect—these must be looked on with some suspicion at least. For example, there is the Farm Journal poll, which purports to give a survey of the sentiment of the farmers throughout the country. The Farm Journal happens to be the property of Mr. Joseph N. Pew, head of the Sun Oil Company. The Pew family was a heavy contributing member of the duPont Liberty League.

The Farm Journal was having financial troubles and was hawked about for sale. It was offered to Secretary Wallace, for example, at the outset of the campaign, as Secretary Wallace told the newspaper men at one of his conferences. It was finally bought by Mr. Pew.

In fact quite a number of newspapers throughout the country in the same situation have been acquired by the high Republican financial command in the same manner and for kindred reasons. The protagonist of Governor Land feel as a primary necessity the creation of an impression that there is a general sentiment for the Republican candidate. This they deem requisite not only for the attraction of what politicians call the "band wagon vote" but to give to their local organizations something on which they can erect a structure of confidence. So Mr. Pew issued his poll and gave as a result a considerable predominance of sentiment for Landon over Roosevelt among the farmers.

To do this he had to omit from his questionnaire seven Southern states. In the report made public he only canvassed 91 farmers in Arkansas, though that state has more than a quarter of a million farmers. The Farm Journal polled nearly 4,000 in New York, which has 177,000 farms; and only 155 farmers in Texas which has half a million farms. There are numerous discrepancies which indicate how this poll was engineered to get a certain result. In addition to that, there is the circumstance that various farmers wrote in to the Farm Journal asking for ballots, and stating that they were for Roosevelt, but instead of a ballot they received a note from the editor, of the paper, of which the following is a sample:

"You seem to believe very thoroughly in Mr. Roosevelt and his methods and, if so, I am sure you are going to be very unhappy if you continue to read the Farm Journal. We expect to do our best to stop Mr. Roosevelt's borrowing, spending, budget deficits and increasing taxes, which is about the only contribution that Mr. Roosevelt has made to returning prosperity."

"Would you not be happier reading some other farm magazine which supports Mr. Roosevelt, if you can find one?"

This particular letter was sent to Walter A. Hoenes at Cologne, New Jersey. The New York Evening Post and Philadelphia Record hunted up Hoenes and checked the whole incident.

SLOW DOWN AT NIGHT

Here is some worth-while advice to motorists: As soon as darkness descends, slow down pronto!

In spite of the fact that the bulk of cars are operated almost entirely during the day, well over half of all the fatal accidents last year occurred at night. Sixty-nine per cent of the victims were pedestrians. And the death rate for the evening rush hours was over 100 per cent greater in winter than in summer, due to darkness.

Unconsciously or otherwise, many motorists chronically "overdrive their headlights"—that is, they could not bring their cars to a stop within the illuminated distance before them. And more powerful lights are no cure for this—they produce glare, a potent cause of head-on car crashes, and are justly illegal in most states.

The pedestrian, of course, is not wholly free from blame. It has been extensively publicized that one should always walk on the left side of the highway, facing oncoming traffic—but a great many night-walkers apparently haven't heard the news yet. And many of them also don't seem to realize that to walk on a dark highway wearing dark clothes is an invitation to the coroner. Light refraction is an eccentric thing—and a darkly-dressed pedestrian often can't be seen by the motorist until it is too late.

Thus, we need education for pedestrian as well as for the auto driver. But in the meantime, the driver should take every precaution—and even go to what may seem ridiculous lengths—to operate his car safely. After all, he is in command of a potentially lethal vehicle that literally kills more men than does war. Don't take a chance!

THE FOOL AND HIS MONEY

"A fool and his money are soon parted," says the old adage. That was true a thousand years ago—and it is just as true today.

The habit of the fool, be he investing his money in securities or chancing it on a race horse, is to rush in blindly and take a chance, whether or not he has sufficient knowledge and information to justify his venture.

Gambling will always be extremely hazardous. But in the field of investment, the wise citizen has a fine opportunity to spend his money intelligently. Not so long ago, it was next to impossible for any one save a financial wizard to find out anything definite about the condition of a corporation. Today an entirely different situation obtains. Corporations have found that it pays excellent dividends, in the form of public good will, to make their reports simple, complete and easily understandable. The Securities and Exchange Commission has promulgated rules under which any corporation offering securities for sale must make available to the public exhaustive information concerning its condition. And the nation's leading stock exchanges have gone to great lengths on their own account to eliminate abuses and questionable practices, and to aid the investor who is foresighted enough to investigate before he buys.

Whether you purchase five shares of stock or ten thousand, obtain all the information you can concerning the company in which you are interested, and analyze it. Remember the fool and his money!

WHAT ARE THEY HOWLING ABOUT?

It was Jay Franklin, in his column in the New York Post the other day, who hit the nail on the head when he said that investors of the nation "are making more money than ever and yet they howl."

Mr. Franklin pointed out that the Republican gospel of material prosperity alone, the country is far advanced on the up-grade and the G. O. P. had nothing to do with it, except as members of Congress voted for the New Deal measures which started recovery.

"In this connection," wrote Mr. Franklin, "it is important to point out that net farm income for 1935 was higher than for 1930, that bank deposits are higher than at the beginning of 1930, that kilowatt-hour production and assets of life insurance companies are at all-time highs, that 5,000,000 of Hoover's unemployed have been absorbed into private industry, etc.

In fact, reserve requirements have had to be increased to prevent an un-governable boom and even the Wall Street Journal declares that 'Pessimism becomes difficult.'

"What, then, are the Tories hollering about? Why do they rush, with every sign of panic, to Landon and the G. O. P. as the one hope of survival in what they announce is a terrible crisis? Where is the fire?"

"The profit system and their own profits seem to be unimpaired and the nation has been rescued from disaster . . . Why all this bitterness, this meanness, this fury, this malice? . . . What, then, are they howling about now? Surely not that they, as well as their poorer neighbors, must help pay the price of recovery? Or did they really expect to pass on to the masses of the people the cost of the depression as completely as they unloaded their inflated securities on the public in the years before the crash?"

Fifteen 4-H boys and girls of Yoacum county enjoyed a trip to the Texas Centennial August 20th through August 23rd.

Jim Smith, old time Terryite, but now living at Tatum, N. M., was ever mingling with old timers during the picnic.

DON'T INCLUDE TOO MUCH IN ONE PICTURE

This picture, while striking, is really two pictures in one.

ONE of the faults often seen in the work of an amateur photographer, especially of a beginner, is the inclusion of too much in one picture. He tries to "hog the whole show," as it were, with results that are uninteresting or distracting.

For example, from the top of a mountain or other eminence, he is impressed by a vast panorama of country—several hundred square miles of it spreading to the horizon in a great semi-circle—and promptly tries to compress it into a few square inches of film. The result on the film is little more than a wavy or jagged line—the horizon line—separating a white space from a dark space. He failed to note how all the interesting detail was swallowed up in the vastness of the scene.

Such a panorama may be saved by beautiful cloud effects obtained by using a color filter and, of course, it can serve, and may well be treasured, as a "record" picture of a visit, but vastness unrelieved by nearby detail generally makes a poor picture. Better to let the panorama be a background for something worth looking at in the foreground. A foreground object—a single tree, a human being, a grazing cow, a nearby cottage on the mountain slope, often will make all the difference in a scenic picture between something interesting to look at and little or nothing.

Again, in nearby scenes, there is frequently material for two or even more complete pictures that the picture taker has crowded into one, with the result that the eye wanders from one point to another, producing a sense of irritation rather than of pleasure. All right in a three-ring circus, if you like, but not for a good photograph. Selection, leaving out what is not really required, is a lesson to be learned. The viewpoint should be chosen carefully, remembering that much that is extraneous may be eliminated, or at least made unobtrusive, by moving the camera to the right or left, up or down, nearer or farther away, by focusing from different planes, or by using different diaphragm openings in the lens.

But sometimes, you say, how can you help getting in several objects of competing interest when Nature or circumstance has them in the picture you want to take. It is true that this situation cannot always be easily avoided but, when you are confronted with it, you may find yourself lucky after all. Go ahead and shoot and then examine your print. Imagine a scene on a river. Your point of interest is a girl in a bathing suit about to dive from a row-boat in mid-stream. You have to snap the picture from the river bank fifty feet distant. You find when the print is finished that interest in the girl is rivaled by that in a small boy in the foreground at the right, fishing from the bank. Beyond, diagonally across the river on the left is a dam and picturesque old mill in a setting of willows. You have three pictures in one. What do you do? You take your print and mark each one of these interesting pictures from the two others, mark them and have the corresponding sections on the negative separately enlarged.

Many a fine picture is made by enlarging a selected portion of a miscellaneous composition.

"19 Days Hath September . . ."

THIRTY days hath September . . . Thus runs the familiar jingle but it wasn't true in the year 1752 when Great Britain (and her American colonies) adopted the Gregorian calendar. In that year, the month had only nineteen days. But let James Franklin in his "Poor Job's Almanac" (an imitation of his brother, Benjamin Franklin's "Poor Richard's Almanac"), published at Newport "at the Printing Office under the Town School House," tell about it. He said:

Kind Reader: You have now such a year as you never saw before, nor will see hereafter, the King and Parliament of Great Britain having thought proper to enact that the month of September, 1752, shall contain but nineteen days, which will shorten this year eleven days, and have extended the same throughout the British dominions; so that we are not to have two beginnings to our years, but the first of January is to be the first day and the first month of the year 1752. Eleven days are taken from September, and begin 1, 2, 14, 15, etc. Be not astonished, nor look with concern, Dear Reader, at such a deduction of days, nor regret as for the loss of so much time; but take this for your consolation, that your expenses will perhaps appear lighter, and your mind be more at ease. And what an indulgence is here for those who love their pillows, to lie down in peace on the second of this month, and not perhaps awake or be disturbed till the fourteenth, in the morning!

And, Reader, this is not to hasten the payment of debts, freedom of apprentices or servants, or the coming to age of minors; but the number of natural days in all agreements are to be fulfilled. All Church Holidays and Courts are to be on the same nominal days they were before; but fairs, after the second of September, alter the nominal days, and so deemed to be held eleven days later. Now, Reader, since tis likely you may never have such another year nor such another almanac, I would advise you to improve the one for your own sake, and I recommend the other for the sake of your friend, Poor Job.

BANKING SYSTEM SHOWS PROGRESS

State Bank Resources Grow More Than Three Billion Dollars in a Year

NATIONAL BANKS GAIN American Bankers Association Gives Details of Banking Institutions and Notes Stronger Condition

NEW YORK.—Continued improvement in the condition of state chartered banking institutions, with an increase of more than three billion dollars in a year in total resources, is shown in a report just issued by the State Bank Division of the American Bankers Association. The report was prepared by the division's Committee on State Bank Research from data furnished by state banking departments and parallels data issued by the Comptroller of the Currency for national banks which show similar improvements. "The combined resources of 10,473 state supervised banks were $35,724,723,000 as of December 31, 1935," the state bank report says. "Total deposits amounted to $30,526,920,000. Total loans and discounts stood at $12,430,404,000 and total investments were $14,170,421,000."

A year previous, tables in the report show, there were 10,644 state supervised banks, with combined resources of $32,650,203,000, total deposits $27,297,959,000, loans and discounts $13,060,033,000 and investments $12,582,325,000.

Classes of Institutions Of the reporting state banking institutions on December 31, 1935, 82% were commercial banks, the report states, 9% trust companies, almost 9% stock and mutual savings banks and less than 1% were private banks. The report adds:

"The parallel upward movements of deposits and total invested funds of total state supervised banks during the years 1934 and 1935, after declines in these items in 1932 and 1933, are indications of definite steps toward recovery in banking."

"Based on figures assembled for total state supervised banks on resources and liabilities as of December 31, 1931 to 1935, it is noted: (1) that deposits in 1935 rose approximately 12 per cent over the previous year, as compared with an increase of about 9 per cent in 1934 over the year 1933, and declines of 7 per cent and 12 per cent in 1933 and 1932, respectively, from the preceding years of 1932 and 1931; and (2) that total invested funds increased by approximately 2 per cent in 1935 and also in 1934, while they had decreased by 9 per cent in 1933 and by 11 per cent in 1932."

Analysis Shows Stronger Positions In a survey and analysis of earnings and expenses of state banks doing a commercial business, it is brought out that in a majority of states they have increased their earnings ability during 1935. On the basis of data covering 7,925 banks in 42 states, the report says:

"The most significant fact to be pointed out is that new profits of state banks—after deducting charge-offs on loans, investments, etc. and adding recoveries—were shown to 37 of the 42 states which reported in 1935, in comparison with net profits in only 11 of the 35 states reporting in 1934. Measured in terms of dollars per each $100 of invested funds, net profits in 1935 ranged between $2.40 and $1.10 per $100, with 19 states showing profits of $1.00 or over, per $100; while in 1934 net profits did not exceed $1.20 per $100 and only three states showed profits of $1.00, or over."

The report contains voluminous tables showing the resources and liabilities of all classes of state chartered institutions and detailed analyses of earnings and expenses by states and of insured commercial state banks grouped by size of banks.

Bankers Help Farmers The conviction that 4-H Club work lays the foundation for sound citizenship and intelligent farming influenced a New York City bank executive to contribute $500 to the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers Association, to further 4-H Club activities in the state. "I am convinced that the work is so worthy, and is being so well handled that it should interest those who believe in building sound citizenship, as well as intelligent farming for the future," he said.

STATE RANGERS ARREST A. M. JOHNSTON, OF SUDAN

A. M. Johnston of near Sudan was taken into custody by State Rangers and Sheriff Loyd late Tuesday afternoon and may be charged with the murder of A. E. (Ace) Russ, who was mysteriously shot to death, on the night of July 11th, 1932, a little more than four years ago.

The Johnston and Russ homes are about one and a half miles distant from each other, which may or may not have special significance. Johnston is approximately 47 years old, while Russ was 60 when he was killed.

The prisoner was immediately taken away by the rangers to an unnamed jail, where he is undoubtedly being held for questioning. Efforts of relatives to find out where he had been taken, had been unavailing at a late hour Wednesday evening.

At the time of the murder, which occurred when Russ went to the door of his home thinking he heard someone prowling about the place at night and was shot down as he opened the door.

No reason for the murder was ever given, excepting robbery, as it was generally believed that he carried considerable money on his person and at some, though no move toward robbery was ever made, as his assailant fled, immediately after the shot was fired.

Johnston is well known in the county having lived near Sudan for the past twelve years, and his arrest came as a surprise and shock to his friends. He was engaged in a home game of croquet when arrested.

It is reported that new evidence has been uncovered in the case, by his son and members of the family who have constantly sought a solution of the case, and the arrest of the guilty party.—County Wide News

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Numerous prognosticators are of the opinion that the old bogey of an election year being a bad business year has been at least temporarily outlawed. They feel that the 1936 political campaign will have little effect on the recovery movement.

Even so, it must not be forgotten that governmental action cannot help but affect business, for good or ill, in the long run. When the public feels that official policies are inimical to the great industries that provide jobs and opportunities, it becomes difficult to get necessary money to venture into those channels—and, as a consequence, industrial development lags. But when the public feels that official policies encourage lawful and legitimate industrial operations, money flows freely, men are put to work, and real prosperity follows.

This is not a partisan matter. Neither the Republican nor Democratic parties can justly claim a corner on statesmanship. It is the Six Texas Flags? Here Are Ten More.

Many believe that Texas had only six flags flown over her borders in the four centuries of her history, but in reality there were battle flags from seventeen different states flown during the Texas Revolution. Jan Fortune, author of Cavalcade of Texas, has gotten together all these historic banners for use in the Cavalcade at the Texas Centennial Exposition. These include flags from Ohio, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, South Carolina, Alabama, and some half dozen flags fashioned by Texas men and women patriots. Ten of the flags are shown above held by actors on the Cavalcade set.

Curiosa Americana
By Elmo Scott Watson

President-Maker

HIS name may have been Jonathan Robins, American, or it may have been Thomas Nash, Englishman—which, history has never decided for sure. But it is certain that his death kept John Adams from serving a second term in the White House and sent Thomas Jefferson there instead.

Robins, according to his story, was a Danbury, Conn., boy attending school in England when he was seized by a British "press gang" and forced to serve in the British navy. Off the coast of Spain he struck down and killed the brutal captain of his ship, leaped overboard and swam safely to shore. Making his way to Paris, he presented himself to the American minister who believed his story and obtained passage for him on an American schooner bound for Charleston, S. C.

When he reached Charleston, the British consul there demanded his surrender, under the terms of the Jay treaty, and his return to England to stand trial for murder. Despite Robins' protest that he was an American, the consul declared that he was in reality Thomas Nash, a British citizen.

Robins-Nash became an international figure—the symbol of a dispute between two nations. Finally John Adams settled it by ordering the boy to be surrendered. He was taken to England, tried and hanged. Then the storm broke. The Republicans, who had repeatedly denounced the treaty made by John Jay, the Federalists, seized upon the incident for political ammunition. The Republican papers kept it hot in the minds of the public and heaped abuse on Adams' head for "servile truckling to Great Britain." When the next election came, he was eliminated from the race which lay between Jefferson and Aaron Burr. The election went to the house of representatives. Jefferson was chosen President and Burr Vice President.

FARM ACCOUNTING REVEALS LESSONS

Principles of Sound Business Management That Apply to All Farms

An analysis made of detailed records kept by a group of Wisconsin farms revealed several important lessons and the principles of sound business management derived from them apply equally well to other farms, says an article in the Bulletin of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association. The article says: "Investment costs, including interest, depreciation, repairs, taxes and insurance, are approximately two-thirds of all farm costs. Furthermore, these costs are largely independent of the production program of the farm."

"This means that if a farmer cuts his production of crops or livestock, he increases his investment costs per unit of product produced, as a smaller number of units must then carry as large an expense load as before. This illustrates the importance, from the standpoint of costs, of operating a farm at or near capacity."

"Investment mistakes are more costly than many others because they can not easily be corrected. If a farmer pays too much for his farm, his investment costs will be abnormally high as long as he owns it. If he constructs a $4,000 barn, when a $2,000 barn would have served his purpose, he will have excessive barn costs, year after year during the entire service life of the structure."

"This emphasizes the importance of a knowledge of investment values and the specific investment requirements of individual farms."

Determining Real or False Economies
"In working for greater economy, it is essential that the farm manager be able to distinguish between a real and a false saving. This can be done only through a careful estimate of the contribution to income, over a period of time, of each item of expenditure. Only if more is saved in expense than will be lost in income, can a contemplated cut in expense be designated as a real saving."

"For example, dropping dairy herd improvement work may result in a yearly expense reduction. The question to decide is what effect the dropping of this work will have on the present and future income from the dairy herd. If the estimated loss in live stock receipts due to a lowered efficiency in feeding and breeding is greater than the original saving, then it would obviously be a false economy."

"Substantial savings can be effected on many farms through the use of more home grown garden produce and farm cured meats. Why pay out money for products of this kind that can be produced much cheaper at home? The money saved from the family food budget can be used for the purchase of many things that will make the farm home a more comfortable and pleasant place to live."

LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

DENTON, August 24.—If you're going to college, your chief interest at the present time is a suitable wardrobe. Stores all over the country are cooperating to show the most suitable and smartest fashions that will find their way to colleges and universities this fall.

Suppose we look first at the street and sports clothes. Sweaters, jackets and blouses are tops on any campus—they are your first prerequisite. There are plain boyish models that can be slipped on and then forgotten, or you can select one of the twin sweater combinations with the new interesting belted back. For dress-up occasions there are boucle sweater suits that will find their way to many informal open house receptions.

Skirts should be just as plentiful and varied as the sweaters. They can be plaids, checks, or solids, and you can make interesting combinations by wearing a contrasting jacket.

You'll certainly want a suit. The new town models have a short fitted coat over which is worn a tweed top-coat trimmed in a large fur collar. They are especially adaptable to the needs of college girls. Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) find them excellent for week-end football games. In addition, you should have a sport coat for classes—something casual in camel hair or the like.

An afternoon dress that can be worn to teas, college functions, or for dinner in town is a necessary item, and some of the well shirt-waist dresses are especially nice for dates and classes. Get them in bright colors and they'll look very nice under a neutral tone sport coat.
