Texas Governor Should Be Paid More

In 1876 Texas wrote into its Constitution a salary of Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars for the Governor, Four Thousand ($4,000.00) Dollars each for the Land Commissioner and Twenty-five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars each for the Lan Commissioner, Comptroller, Treasurer and Secretary of State. In those days this might have been an adequate salary, but today those holding these high offices are not paid as well as they were in '76, and no man can carry the burden of the office and justly care for his family during his incumbence. Being Constitutional provisions these salaries have remained the same and I am sure that if the thinking people have the matter called to their attention they will vote for one proposed Constitutional Amendment in the November election of this year raising the salary of the Governor to $12,000 a year, the Attorney General to $10,000, and the other four Constitutional officers to $8,000 each. This will only cost Mr. John Citizen less than a half a cent each to do justice by these leading officials of our great State Government.

Texas is the fastest growing State in the Union, the largest State and the fifth in population and wealth. The demands on State officials are many and we ought to pay our public servants a reasonable living wage while they transact the business of the State. Take the Governor for instance. No Governor can live up to the requirements of the office and raise his family, excepting that he have private means, without having to spend one-half of the month wondering about where he will borrow money at the end of each month to pay the bills for the month. We all admit that this is not good business. The same is true of the other officials. The Attorney General ought to be, and always is an outstanding lawyer, and in the great number of cases in which he appears many lawyers on the other side of the docket from him are often paid more in the one case than the Attorney General earns in two years.

To think of the State Comptroller, responsible for several hundred employees and having to make a State campaign every two years, rearing a family in Austin on the pitiful sum of $2,500 is a crime and ought to be corrected. This is true even if we don't think of the millions of dollars' responsibility he carries for the State. Although fifth in rank in the United States, there are only three other States in the Union, to-wit: North Dakota, South Dakota and Tennessee of the Forty-eight States that pay their Governor as little as we do in Texas. Even Rhode Island, Montana, Idaho and all of these other States recognize the importance of the office and pay in excess of what we do in Texas. Texans, when they think of it, are not adverse to paying a living salary. Take the salaries we pay the Mayors of our larger cities; the $14,000 and $16,000 paid City Managers in some of our larger cities. We pay the Superintendents of Schools in Houston $10,000 a year and that after the depression cut. The Federal Judges in Texas get $10,000 a year and a job for life. Members of Congress are paid $10,000 a year plus allowances. Washington sent a capable engineer to supervise the work on the Colorado River Project at a salary of $20,000 a year and the engineer on the Port Arthur Bridge construction is to receive $12,000 a year.

In private business the smart business institutions like our banks, railroads and other large institutions pay much better salaries than are proposed here, but these are for public service. There is no executive of a private institution in Texas that has the responsibility or duties calling for ability such as do these offices. I am sure that the thinking men and women in Texas, after the matter is put up to them, will see the justice of the proposed amendment and will talk to their neighbors and will talk it at Sunday School, their lodges and at school gatherings and say a good word to the end that the proposed Constitutional Amendment will be overwhelmingly carried at the November election, and in this great Centennial year we can right a wrong that has long existed, and do it to the glory of Texas. If every good Texan will speak his mind upon this worthy Amendment between now and the November election, we have no fear of the final outcome.

Traffic Disrupted By the Heavy Rains

We all enjoy the rains when they come, even sometimes if they are a little too late to do much good for the present crop, it will fit in mighty nice next year as a bottom season. You remember some good rains we had a few years ago (wasn't it 1926) and the next year we had a bumper crop. Of course we can put up with little things like delayed mails and freight for a few days when we have these heavy rains. We can even dispense with a planned visit to the wife's kin folks for a few weeks, and make it okeah. The roads will all dry up some time—very dry—perhaps by next summer.

But with all our little inconveniences out here on the south plains our homes have not been washed away. Our stocks in the stores are still there. Oh! perhaps we had some small leaks in the roofs that made things smell kinder musty. But we did not have to grab a few belongings and out families and skid out for higher grounds. So—what have we to grumble about?

Gulf Announces Ad Schedule to Continue

The Herald received notice recently that the Gulf Refining Co. would continue their advertising schedule this year right on through the winter months. Heretofore they have stopped them in the fall months.

This will be highly appreciated. The so-called "foreign" ads have almost kept the small town papers out of the poor house during the summer months for some years past. Unlike some local advertisers, they believe in punching the board harder as times slow up.

Another thing, possibly, that has decided this big oil company to continue on with their schedule, is the fact that business generally is picking up.

All of us are glad to see the sunshine again.

Some of the boosters for the re-election of Roosevelt and Garner, were out this week, and seemed to be getting good results in raising funds for re-election of the Democratic ticket. J. Cal Bond was the man who called at the Herald, and judging by the short time he had been out, he was doing fairly well.

While he was making a good start, as was perhaps the other solicitors, we are a long way from our share of more than $400 allotted to Terry county to be raised for the campaign. These funds are not to be spent here in Texas—Texas is safe for the New Deal—but are to go to the doubtful states to pay speakers and workers in behalf of the Democratic ticket.

Already Texas has many speakers in the field, among them being Sen. Tom Connally, Marvin Jones and others, and Gov. Allred will take the field if he can get the present called sessions off his hand in time.

If every farmer and other laborer who has been benefitted by the Roosevelt administration would pay $1.00 or even 50c, we would soon be over the top. Some counties have already raised their quota. Some are even doubling up on it. See that old Terry is not behind in the fight for the betterment of the common people.

The Fall Outlook Here is Not Bad

We may be a little too optimistic in our views, but it appears to the writer that the outlook here for fall and winter business is ahead of last year by far. If the county even makes 20,000 or 25,000 bales this year, with the extra boost in price, it will more than even matters over last year with 26,000 bales. Then too, cottonseed will undoubtedly sell for more than they brought last year.

Then, too, most of the county has a good feed crop. By that we mean that most all the farmers will have enough headed stuff to run them and to spare, and there will be a whale of a bundle crop to tide over the extra stock around the farms. Also, there is going to be plenty time before frost for the grass to get up to where there will be good grazing throughout the winter.

Most of the old corn is poor, except in spots where more rain was received. Some of the younger corn fields came out some after the rains of early this month, and while the ears are not large, they are pretty well filled out, and there is not much appearance of smut on it. With the good head crop on hand, most farmers are now putting their old corn and maize on the market, and receiving a good price for it.

The thing that is burning most of us right now is the weather. People are asking one another if we are going to have any open weather to start gathering. As we write today (Tuesday) the clouds look low and another wet spell threatens, but of course they may float away. That is one thing we can't do—control west Texas weather. When it is hot and dry it is about the hottest and driest place on earth, and when it starts raining—well, you just can't stop it.

It might be best all around to let things alone as they are, and perhaps with the opening of October, everything will be fair and serene, and by November the goose will hang high. But we can't believe that with the good price now prevailing for our both cotton and feed that old Prosperity will come slowly around the corner in old Terry.

Raising Our Part of FDR Campaign Funds

Some of the boosters for the re-election of Roosevelt and Garner, were out this week, and seemed to be getting good results in raising funds for re-election of the Democratic ticket. J. Cal Bond was the man who called at the Herald, and judging by the short time he had been out, he was doing fairly well.

While he was making a good start, as was perhaps the other solicitors, we are a long way from our share of more than $400 allotted to Terry county to be raised for the campaign. These funds are not to be spent here in Texas—Texas is safe for the New Deal—but are to go to the doubtful states to pay speakers and workers in behalf of the Democratic ticket.

Already Texas has many speakers in the field, among them being Sen. Tom Connally, Marvin Jones and others, and Gov. Allred will take the field if he can get the present called sessions off his hand in time.

If every farmer and other laborer who has been benefitted by the Roosevelt administration would pay $1.00 or even 50c, we would soon be over the top. Some counties have already raised their quota. Some are even doubling up on it. See that old Terry is not behind in the fight for the betterment of the common people.

How We Finally Got Home From Tennessee

Perhaps there are a few people who are wondering how we finally got home from old Tennessee, and perhaps there are more who don't or didn't give a tinker's dam whether we ever returned or not, but for the benefit of a few of the former readers, we are going to give a brief outline of the return home, as it was a different route from any we had ever taken.

Old Tennessee was kissed farewell on Monday morning, August 31, and the Mississippi state line was crossed very early that morning, as our people only live some 6 miles from the line. The first town we ran into in that state was—Brownfield—think of that. But it was no such town as Brownfield, Texas, as it had only a few hundred souls, and a small business section. But it had a sawmill, something we cannot boast of.

Mississippi county seat towns, and there are many passed through between Tennessee line and Jackson, all have that monument to the Confederate soldier on the public square, and it seemed to us travelers that all of them must have been turned out by the same sculptor, as all had a close resemblance of the other. There were a great many good towns in Mississippi and all seem to have some public aid to their growth, such as state schools or colleges, and factories of one nature and another. But in trading, you must keep in mind that inevitable token that pays your tax on your purchases. It will be required on everything you buy except postage stamps.

Mississippi has poor roads, but the incoming administration promises the people that he will build some good roads, and we were informed that Mississippi has a treasury full of money to do this. Most of the state roads, except through the towns are graveled, but the gravel is coarse, and you have a constant knock-knock over the car as it passes over these roads. Real paving is scarce except through towns and cities. Our mileage was very small through Mississippi compared with mileage elsewhere.

Jackson is a good city, and so is Vicksburg, but when you get down in that state where the moss hangs off the trees, you are liable to see both negroes and whites sitting or laying down on galleries of stores fast asleep, and when you go in a cafe, the waiters or waitresses wait on you like the dead lice were falling off them. If some of these people were transported to central or west Texas and go in a cafe, they would get dizzy watching the help wait on the customers.

But say what you will Mississippi is a great state. It has the natural resources, fertile lands and the climate to make it. And if the people would wake up to their possibilities, advertise their scenery and resources, people from all sections of the United States would make tracks to that state. You don't even know that a great Civil War battle ground exists in Vicksburg until you are in the city and at the gate. Here was fought one of the greatest battles of the war, wherein the Confederates were besieged for two months by Grant and his legions, and lived on mule meat and most anything else they could get. But the state as is, may suit them—so be it.

It was our intention to cross on a ferry, but we had a flat in the National Battlefield park, and missed the boat by five minutes. As it was another hour before another ferry, we went to the bridge, which cost you $1.35 and a bunch of tokens. The states of Mississippi and Louisiana are trying to buy this bridge from a syndicate which is in the hands of

Boy Scout Circus Committee Named

The general Boy Scout circus committee under the general chairmanship of Sam A. Henry council field commissioner, has just been announced by Mr. Henry. These members are as follows: K. N. Klapp, chr. Public Welfare and Safety; Morris Levine chr. Publicity; Dr. Bradford Knapp chr. Arrangements; Tom Dugan Jr. chr. Parade; Earl Hunt chr. Ticket sales, C. I. Wall, chr. Program; Carroll Thompson chr. Housing, all of Lubbock, J. Edd McLaughlin chr. Business and finance, Ralls. Members at large are E. L. Reed, Lubbock, W. K. Crawley, Lamesa; W. P. Hartman, Slaton; C. Sowell, Ralls; F. O. Boles, Littlefield; C. C. Coleman, Brownfield; Paul Conner, Floydada; and W. G. McMillan, Lubbock.

receivers at present, and make it a free bridge. The state of Louisiana has good concrete roads for which the state will reverence Houey Long, no matter what you may think of him. In that state, through the Mississippi delta, we saw the best crops on our round. Cotton was shoulder high and hanging full of bolls. The crop was estimated from a bale to a bale and a half per acre, and it will make it. Negroes were strung across those fields for a quarter mile harvesting the staple. Corn looked good for at least 75 bushels per acre. And at least some of you Terryites think those fields were small, let us disillusion you—they were immense, some covering thousands of acres.

The night was spent at Monroe, one of the best cities in northern Louisiana, which is noted for its wood manufacturing and as a railroad center. But we could smell the sloughs all night, and they do not smell like a rose by any means. However, the people looked healthy, as these sloughs are drained or oiled to destroy mosquitos and germs. This is enough for this week.

Cubs to Play Today At Littlefield

The Red and White colors will flash in Littlefield this afternoon.

The same team that licked Leveland will not play the strongest team that Littlefield has ever had. Shepherd, Hill, Warren, Hardin, and Tankersley, all first stringers, will be out again this week. Coach Bost expects all of these men to be ready for service next Friday against the Lubbock Cowhands. He expects to give Lubbock the best game that they have had in a long time. With a fresh team and the reserve strength getting their tough competition early the team should begin to get in trim for the district grind which begins October 23.

The country boys are showing up well. First year men cannot be expected to do too much the first of the season. Tom Rowden, a freshman end, was the outstanding player against Anton last week. It is up to Pharr, Pickett, Chambliss, Smith, Carpenter, Grider, Shelton, Brown, Rowden, and two players not yet chosen to beat Littlefield today.

The season's schedule has been posted and it is as follows: Littlefield, (there ----- Oct. 2 Lubbock Cowhands ----- Oct. 9 Frenship, B'field's B Team -- Oct. 16 Lamesa ----- Oct. 23 Post ----- Oct. 30 Tahoka ----- Nov. 11 Slaton ----- Nov. 20

Two Big Sales On Here This Week

Both the Aryian Dry Goods and Stephens-Latham are out this week with some real money saving prices. So the people that come in this time for Tradesday specials will not hit a blank market as they have for the last two or three months.

What people really want is for merchants to tell them what their goods are going to cost them. They do not want to run all over the store and ask questions. So come on folks, and get some real bargains this week end as well as Monday.

The Midland Fair Opens (Today) Fri.

The Midland fair and races are opening today for an eight day run, and next Thursday, October 8th has been designated as Brownfield day, and the promoters of this great regional fair are in hopes of a good attendance from this city.

Aside from being one of the best fairs in this section, those who like horse racing can see some of the best ponies in the southwest at this fair. Large purses are always put up, and this brings good ones. If you should like to attend, see the Herald for passes.

MEXICO WILL LAUNCH TRAVEL ADVERTISING

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 26.—A publicity campaign designed to make Mexico the greatest tourist country of the world is soon to be launched by the Mexican government, according to Gen. Jose Guadalupe, chief of the Federal Tourist Department. Accompanied by Gen. P. B. Baumeister, in charge of the Texas General Quevedo arrived here Saturday. He said that his visit to this country, he hoped, will result in the elimination of much of the incident to tourist travel in Mexico.

Terry Melons Get Attention of Arizonians

Our good friend, Mumford Smith had the opportunity of carrying two or three of our fine melons home with him this year, as he was not loaded. Mumford, you know, is the city clerk in that fine little city of Glendale, and while here recently, he purchased a few well filled out Terry county melons, and the Herald added one to the collection that Mack Thomason raised, which likely tipped the scales at some 65 pounds.

Mumford has been telling his friends, some of which are city councilmen out there about the fine melons raised here, and two or three of them had handed a banter of "Smith, if they raise such good melons there, why don't you ever bring any back." This year, he did not carry his family back with him, and the melons were the excess baggage, and we hope his friends liked the melons.

Indeed a letter was received from him recently in which he stated that some of his friends had shared two of them with him, but that the big one we sent was still on display at the city hall, with the sign on it. To the best of our remembrance, the sign read about as follows:

"We Texans enjoy your fine grapefruit, oranges and lettuce. Here is a fine juicy melon from Texas. We hope you enjoy it."

May Break 70 Year Record Wednesday

If National Banks of the United States can go until next Wednesday, Sept. 30th, without a failure a 70-year record will have been broken, according to a late news item by Walter Winchell, who refers his readers to Comptroller of the Currency, Jeffrey O'Conner for confirmation.

The last National Bank to fail was in 1935. A year without a major bank failure not only breaks a record but should establish some kind of faith in President Roosevelt and the Democratic party.

It illustrates that prosperity is no longer "just around the corner"—but it is here, as far as banks are concerned.—Spur Times.

CONSTRUCTION STARTED ON TEXAS MEMORIAL MUSEUM

Austin, Sept. 24.—The erection of a permanent museum on the campus of the University of Texas came one step nearer last week when construction on the Texas Memorial Museum got underway. The imposing edifice will house many of the precious relics of Texas and will stand as a tribute to the history-makers of the Lone Star State.

Through a legislative appropriation of $225,000 and a congressional allocation of $300,000 from the federal government the Texas Memorial Museum fund was established. The federal government also authorized the minting and sale of 1,500,000 fifty-cent pieces to be sold at a minimum of one dollar. The profits of these sales, now being conducted by students of the University of Texas, are going into the building fund.

DAMAGE COTTON

SPUR, Texas, Sept. 25.—As a result of eight days' steady rain, 84 per cent of the cotton seed on the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Farm here not already harvested is sprouting. Four per cent is faulty and 12 per cent not damaged.

This means a total loss of cotton that is now open in the field. Ginners are of the opinion that it will be impossible to separate line of a marketable character. In the lower plains, 75 per cent of the cotton is open below the Cap Rock. Above the Cap Rock losses will be lighter.

NEAT LITTLE SCHEME AND IT HAS WORKED

In its statement of Principles to Guide the Business Interests issued August 30, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States came out flatfootedly for: (1) control and restriction of industrial production, and (2) open competition of agricultural production. Bamboo is a grass, distantly related to cereal grains such as corn, rye and barley. Several have asked us if the Bab-cora Development Co. aimed to feed out any cattle here this year. We have not heard.

The Official Paper of Terry County and the City of Brownfield.

The Texas Planning Board informs us that as a result of a recent survey they find that beef cattle can be finished for market in Texas just as well as in the middle-west. Why don't those birds down at Austin tell us something new once in awhile?

The Ralls Banner issued 28 pages last week in celebration of that city's Silver Anniversary. The edition was well patronized by Crosby county folks, and was well filled with interesting reading matter, pertaining to the early history of that county and town.

Sharley Shurnal Guy and his branch of workers presented their readers with a very interesting paper Sunday morning, which of course was a Panhandle South Plains Fair booster edition. It is fine for the reader to have something interesting to read these long, cold Sunday afternoons.

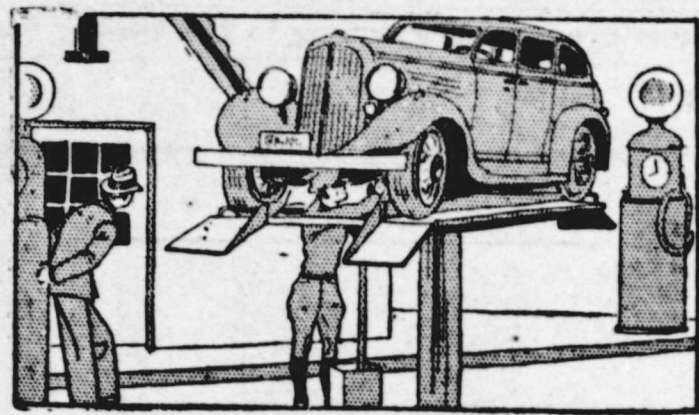

Terry county won fifth place on exhibits at the South Plains Fair. Secretary Shelton stated that he had a hard time getting exhibits that were dry enough. If farm exhibits are wet or moulded, it is just too bad. Judges just don't consider them. However, old Terry, as usual, made a good showing and we are proud of it.

And now the Manufacturers Association has consorted together to beat President Roosevelt for re-election, by telling employees that they will get better wages and shorter hours under Republican rule. Knowing as the wage earner does that he has been helped in more ways than ever before under the present administration, and that he is more secure in his rights than ever before, we are minded that the GOP high moguls are going to have a hard time making wage earners believe their fishy story.

Anything to win the election, is the motto of the G. O. P. The recent statement of Col. Frank Knox, who wants to be vice-president that the resources of banks and insurance companies were questionable were both untruths as well as startling. Banks and insurance companies have not been in better shape in a decade. Few banks have failed since March 1933, and what have done so, have paid all small depositors, with $5000 or less 100 per cent on the dollar. As for insurance companies, they were just about all the financial institutions during the depression that were able to pay 100 per cent on the dollar, and were able to make loans right along to their policy holders. It is our understanding that Col. Knox has found that he said too much, and is now trying to back up on his assertion. But to our notion, people who will go the length of perjury to win an election, if possible, are unfit subjects to put at the head of this great government.

Editor Van Stewart in a boxed article in his Ochiltree County Herald at Perryton last week, threatened to move a portion of the plant out of town to another location if the retail merchants of that city did not rally to the support of the Herald with additional advertising space. The Herald is one of the very best weekly newspapers in Texas and should receive one hundred per cent patronage from the Perryton merchants.—Miami Chief.

There are many people who go through life acquiring but few of the discipling and cultural habits of life. They shun the things they do not like. The result is they "just grow up." What we are largely what we make of ourselves. Some sit down and cry that they do not have a chance while others with no more chance accomplish much and reach manhood and womanhood trained and well fitted for living. Too many fill all of their lives with the little, and the petty, and inconsequential and unimportant things and attract the unthinking, and have no time for the acquirement of the more substantial values of life. Most persons are to a very large degree what they want to be. If they have the desire they can fill their lives with the worth while things that will make them not only interesting to themselves but to those about them.—Ford County News.

"Since the earliest days of their history," said President Roosevelt in a letter to Senator Bankhead and Congressman Marvin Jones, writing on the farm tenant situation, it has been an ideal of the American should have an ownership interest in land or in some other means of production." The efforts of Roosevelt to solve those problems which have perplexed society for so long, is a very weighty argument for his re-election. What other president was sufficiently interested in the welfare of the poorer people to undertake to remedy the situation? We firmly believe that if the wonderful measures that have been set in motion are carried out, in a few years comparatively speaking, the man who tills a farm will own it. If we ever see that happy day, we shall see a great change take place. The President cited farm conditions in Denmark where every farmer owns his own home.—Anton News

Old age assistance has been bitterly criticized during the past year. Much of the criticism is unjust, and by people who should have known better. Several politicians attempted to make this problem a political issue, and promised all who were 65 years of age a pension. Most of the promising gang failed at the polls. The board which handles these pensions have been unjustly criticized, although many mistakes have been made. But the most serious mistake was made last week when notice was sent to all newspapers that public hearings were to be held in various towns for those who were not satisfied with their assistance. One was advertised to be held in Amarillo. The Amarillo newspapers carried this dispatch, which was also received by the Canyon News and other newspapers of the state. On the day set for the hearing, hundreds of old people flocked to the designated place, but there was no one there to conduct the hearing, and it was stated that only one case was set for the day. The publicity department at Austin was charged with an error in sending out over the state wide publicity that these public hearings would be held. To disappoint the old people who had flocked to Amarillo for this so-called meeting was little less than a crime. Someone at Austin should make better provision for sending out authentic news when such issues are involved.—Canyon News.

ONE THING THOU LACKEST SAID THE GREAT TEACHER

When the greatest of all Teachers told the young ruler, "One thing thou lackest; go thy way sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor." He implied that what the young man lacked was the spirit of charity. It required then and does now, the exercise of this noblest of virtues to qualify a man for "eternal life."

The one thing which if lacking in the practical affairs of this present life must superinduce failure often does—is the courage; determination and persistence that refuses to yield even to a succession of failures. Every young person should have it instilled into him that every failure can be made the forerunner of success.

Lessons are learned from failures that can be acquired in no other way. There are few men whose lives in business or profession have been one unbroken series of successes.

The thing to do is to capitalize on failures. It can be done; it has been done; it IS being done.

The factor or influence bringing failure, if learned from it an used afterwards with the skill that the failure should give, is by this transformed into capital. It furnishes the know-how and skill that experience alone can give. One can be taught theoretically as to the influences precipitating the failure, but since each failure involves peculiar conditions, circumstances and factors not common to all, it requires the addition of experience to prepare one for rebuffs and reverses.

The world's greatest military Generals met with some defeats. It has been the same with great men in the professions and in business.

WHY FORCE GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF RAILROADS

It is safe to say that the American people do not want Federal ownership and operation of the railroad industry. Yet it is possible that such ownership of our principal medium of transport—with all the inefficiency, waste of tax money and demoralization that would result—will be forced on the country, in spite of public disapproval.

The reason for that anomaly is simple, and has been pointed out by a number of observers, including railway officials. If the railroads continue to be stringently regulated and heavily taxed, while their competitors remain free or practically free from comparable burdens, they will be hamstrung in meeting the nation's needs. The lines will find it impossible to attract investors, some will go bankrupt and then the stage will be set for government to step in to keep the trains moving.

In the first seven months of 1936, the railroads had the best operating experience in many years. Yet they earned only 2.3 per cent on their investment, at a time when other industries were earning six, eight, ten per cent and more. What over-optimistic observers call a railroad "boom" brings little profit to the lines' treasuries. Our unreasonable public regulatory policy is largely responsible for that.

The only way out is for government to regulate and tax all carriers alike—to subsidize none and penalize none. Regulation should be such that the railroads can more quickly meet changing conditions. The lines must be freed of the fear of injudicious and unnecessary class legislation, such as "full crew" and "train limit" laws.

Government acquisition of the rails would add billions to the public debt, and impose a terrific drain on the taxpayers. A fair deal for the railroads now will prevent that and enable them to further improve the highest standard of railroad service in the world under our American system of private enterprise, instead of switching to European theories of socialization of industry.—Industrial News Review.

Nearly 70 per cent of the farm houses in New Hampshire are equipped with electricity, making this state the leader in "electrified farms."

NELSON, MULLICAN FORM PARTNERSHIP

Announcement has been made of the forming of a partnership for the practice of law by Judge Clark M. Mullican and Senator G. H. Nelson. The firm will have their offices in the McElory building on Broadway in Lubbock. They will have a suite of three offices, a large library room, a ladies lounge, and a store room.

Until recently, Judge Mullican had been on the bench since 1923. In that year he was appointed by Gov. Pat Neff as judge of the 72nd district court, which then embraced the counties of Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley, Cochran, Garza, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Dawson and Gaines. For a few years therefore, he held court in Tahoka.

After the new 106th district was created, Judge Mullican continued to serve as judge of the 72nd district until the 99th district embracing Lubbock county alone, was created, when he was appointed judge of that district and he continued to serve in that capacity until the first day of the present month when he resigned.

Judge Mullican was generally recognized as one of the ablest district judges in the state. G. H. Nelson came to Tahoka in 1925 as superintendent of the schools here. Three years later he was admitted to the bar to practice law and was elected county attorney. After serving four years in this position he was promoted to the office of district attorney and while serving his second term in this capacity he was elected to the state senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Arthur P. Dugran. He made an enviable record as district attorney and quickly made a reputation as an outstanding member of the Senate.

The law firm of Mullican and Nelson will doubtless prove to be a strong one.—Lynn County News.

ALWAYS MARKETABLE

Life insurance has all the earmarks of a god investment. It frees us from individual selection; it nets a handsome return on the principal; it is non-fluctuating in the sense we buy dollars for dollars, and only in the sense that the dollar itself depreciates does life insurance depreciate. Unlike stocks and bonds, life insurance is always marketable—the cash value is always available after premiums for three years have been paid. Many instances have occurred where the policy holder may have paid a single monthly premium and his death occurs with the face amount of his policy becoming payable immediately to his beneficiary. What investment would guarantee so large a return on the original investment. Even if a man lives his natural life, he will not pay in premiums the amount that his beneficiary will receive. The rest of a man's estate may be tied up in litigation or may have to go through the courts for probate, but life insurance is the only part of a man's estate that is payable immediately to his beneficiary.—The Recorder.

HEALTH EDUCATION IMPORTANT PROGRAM

AUSTIN, Sept. 28.—Assembling of students in the schools of the State this month calls to public attention the definite health responsibility of parents and teachers, as well as health workers, and is the subject of an address from the State Department of Health to the citizenship.

"A public health education program is an outstanding factor in the development of the physical, mental, and social welfare of the school children of today," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer. "Health teaching should be a basic part of every educational program."

"Practically every phase of the school system is related to health. Housing, screening, diet, disposal of wastes, exercise, rest, even the manner of daily contact with others, all have a direct bearing on health. Schools must treat the child as a whole—with his physical condition related definitely to his mental and emotional capacities."

"Prevention is the all important factor in the control of communicable disease. 'Communicable'—as we all know—describes that kind of disease which may be imparted or transmitted from one person to another, either by personal contact or through some other method. One by one, the communicable disease, such as smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, and typhoid fever, are being concerned that the child should be protected from ever taking these diseases, which often leave some condition that will cause trouble later in life."

"Assume your responsibility in the community and work for the development of health education which will pave the way to a better health for the future."

VALUES COW MORE THAN HUMAN BEING

"They are tried like criminals, placed in jail like criminals—and some of them have to stay in jail for weeks before they can be placed in a hospital for treatment—simply because the pinheaded Legislature thinks more of a cow than a human being."

Thus does Dr. H. E. Rosser, Scurry County health officer and veteran Snyder physician, tell of Texas' attitude toward her unfortunate citizens, in an article prepared for publication in The Times.

Quoting facts and figures, Dr.

Rosser says:

"It has been said that the value of a human life is $10,000. If this is true then Texas suffered an economic loss of $175,670,000 in 1934 through unnecessary deaths from preventable diseases."

Texas Loses Millions.

"Estimating the average cost of each funeral at $200, the 17,567 preventable deaths in 1934 represent an actual expenditure of $3,513,400 by the relatives of the deceased."

"The state of Texas appropriated 10.73 cents per capita for the current fiscal year to protect the domestic animals of the state from all malignant contagious or infectious diseases affecting the lives of the citizens of Texas, however, received only one-third of this amount or 3.68 cents per capita for the fiscal year ending August 31, 1936."

"Only three other states have per capita public health appropriations as low as Texas. Strenuous efforts have been made to increase the appropriation for public health to $500,000 yearly with little success; however, the federal government, realizing the urgent need for improved health conditions has matched dollar for dollar with state funds for public health activities.—Snyder Times.

MEADOW HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

A good beginning was made last year in the Home Economics Department. Evidently the vocation of homemaking as a profession made quite an impression on girls who were enrolled last year. Twelve of the fifty-one girls have entered the field of matrimony. Three other members of our family are beginning college careers this fall. About twenty members of our group are back with us again. In addition we have thirty new members.

Only Home Economics I. was offered last year. This work was affiliated, and both Home Economics I. and II. are being offered this year.

Twenty-two girls took summer project work, and most of this group received the extra one half unit credit.

The Home Economic I. girls have been studying personal relationships. Each girl is striving to make herself a more desirable person by overcoming some of her weaknesses through practice of good character traits.

The Home Economic II. classes have been studying ways of making the income go farther.

Commendable work was done by the classes last year. We hope to be among the schools to receive recognition in the State Home Economics Rally again this year.

Another goal for the year is to improve the appearance of the department by addition of personal touches and the maintenance of good housekeeping standards.

The Excelsior Club will meet this week for election of officers and to approve a plan for the year's program.

A. D. Repp, manager of the local compress, informed us that he would not start operation until he had a thousand bale run.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

Seems to be moonlight, but it's sunlight. A snapshot with a small lens opening, preferably when the sun is low, will get pictures like this.

Do you know that— Slight overexposure is always preferable to underexposure?

A small stop opening must be used when both nearby and distant objects are to be sharply defined at the same time?

For good composition, the object of principal interest should never be placed in the center of a picture?

In striving for pictorial effect, it is best not to hurry in making the exposure unless moving objects demand immediate action, as a little time spent in selecting the viewpoint proves a good investment?

Highlights are the portions of a picture upon which the greatest amount of light is centered and reflected—the densest portion of the negative and the lightest portion of the print?

Enlarging from sections of your choice negatives is a source of great satisfaction, and that many exhibition prints are prepared in this way from negatives which, taken as a whole, lack just the right spacing or arrangement?

A diagonal rather than a full face-on view of a building is usually more pleasing, particularly if a portion of the building is in shadow?

If, when making portraits, a hand, arm or leg of the subject is extended much beyond the body toward the camera, it will appear abnormally large in the picture?

In using a portrait attachment for close-ups, a piece of string knotted at determined distances and kept in the box with the attachment, is more convenient than looking for a yardstick or tape measure to fix the distance between camera and subject?

Most so-called moonlight pictures are made in the daytime and that a snapshot exposure, with a comparatively small lens opening, when the sun is near the horizon will produce such a picture?

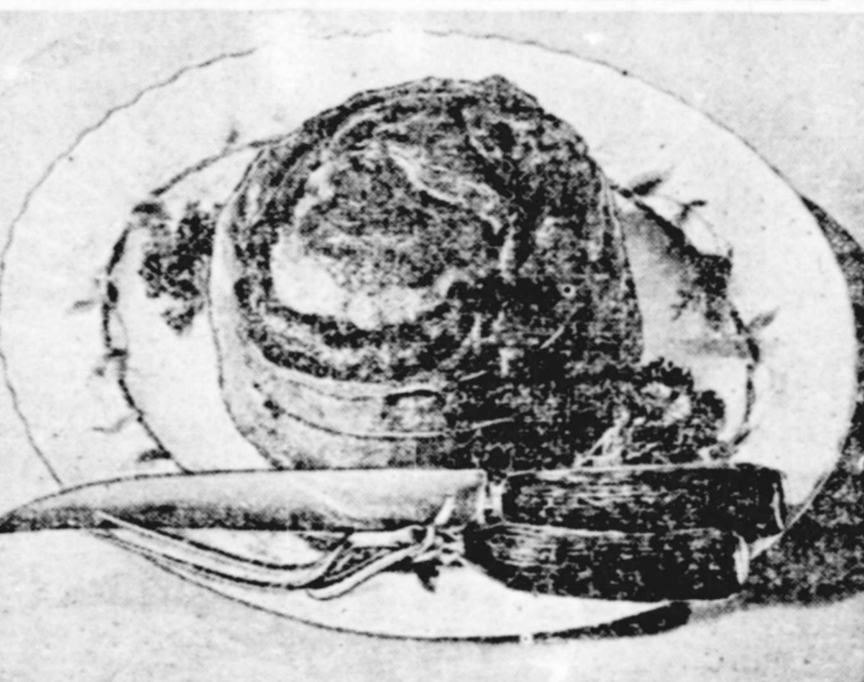

It is best to have film developed promptly after the last exposure is made?

More pleasure comes from keeping your prints mounted in an album than keeping them loosely anywhere, perhaps to be lost or damaged?

Regrets and annoyance come from not keeping your negatives in orderly fashion in a negative album so that, when you want new prints of any picture, you know where the negative is?

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

America's Back To Roast Beef

PROSPEROUS days are here again and that means America's favorite—roast beef—appears more often on the family table. Do you know how to roast the meat to achieve the utmost in fine flavor and appetizing juiciness? Season the meat and place fat side up in an uncovered pan without a drop of moisture. Set the dial of your modern automatic gas range to 500 degrees Fahrenheit and preheat the oven; sear the meat at this temperature for 20 minutes, then reduce the heat to 350 degrees and finish the roasting. Or, you can roast the beef at a constant low one-temperature of 350 degrees for the entire period. Either way, you will have the most delicious roast beef you ever tasted.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Make Your Own Exposure Guide

Pictures like this usually need an exposure different from that required for a landscape. It's better to know than to guess.

THE trouble with a good many amateurs is that they never get beyond the stage of happy-go-lucky shutter clicking. They keep on making haphazard guesses at exposures notwithstanding the indistinct pictures that too often result. They would be surprised as a regular thing if they really knew just what stop and shutter speed are needed with the type of camera they use for the existing light conditions each time they take a picture.

To be sure, exposure is a bit of a bugaboo even to the most experienced, which is why so many "advanced amateurs" use exposure meters. But, if you are still a guesser, nothing prevents you from learning to be a good one. Here is a suggestion to help you lick the problem.

Take the time some day soon to make an experiment with different stops and shutter speeds on the same subject. Have a pad of paper with you on which you have written the date, time of day and light conditions and the type of film. Then for every shot you make, put down the exposure data, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, etc. Make two series of experiments like this, first with a group of persons, then with a landscape.

For the first experiment, why not get the cooperation of your family? Get them out on the lawn some afternoon and start shooting. Suppose it is not less than an hour before sunset and the sky is bright. Yours is a folding camera, with anastigmat lens, shutter speeds from 1/10 second to 1/100, and stops from f.8.3 to f.32. You have the family in the shade of a tree on a bright sunny day. An exposure of 1/25 second at f.8 seems right. Make that exposure No. 1 and carefully put down the data. Then make three other snapshots at f.8, No. 2 at 1/10, No. 3 at 1/50 and No. 4 at 1/100. Then make four more at f.6.3 and four more at f.11 at the same shutter speeds. This assortment has provided you with overexposures and underexposures of the same subject but surely several correctly exposed negatives at different stop openings under the same conditions.

Now get your photo finisher to make you the best possible prints of each negative. Then ask him to print all the negatives, in groups of four, on one sheet of paper, using the grade that will give the best print for the best negative of all. Result: you have learned something! And you will have a record to refer to of what different exposures will do to a picture and among them a correct one to emulate.

JOHN VAN GUILDER

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
Good Photographs Are Worth Taking Care Of

Pictures like this you don't want to lose. The place for them is in an album.

POSSESSING the picture, turning it to repeatedly and showing it to friends are the chief delights of photography. Making the exposure is, to be sure, exciting. But the process is momentary whereas the product lasts.

Each print is proof of your handiwork with a camera, plus a graphic reminder of some incident that thrilled you, occasions that you enjoyed, or places that you visited, plus an expression of what you saw in the subject at the time. Thus a picture can furnish permanent pleasure, a pleasure that may be shared with other people.

To be fully enjoyed, however, pictures must be treated like the valuable possessions that they really are. Soiled or broken prints, astray in boxes and drawers, can hardly be a source of pleasure to their owner. They deserve the care. Are your photographs a peck now and then without apology.

Give yourself a photographic evening, devoted to organizing your pictures into a collection that you may be proud to show.

Assemble all your old negatives and pick out those for which prints are lacking. Some of the best may be missing. Almost everyone gives prints away and a collection that is planned without consulting old negatives is likely to be short of many fine specimens.

With your complete lot of pictures before you, classify them by topics or dates and put them into an album. Put them into an album—that's the remedy. They will be safe from such sufferings as broken edges, curled corners, thumb brands and other afflictions which range among prints that do not get proper care. Then you'll have your pictures in such shape that you can find them without delay—and give your friends a peek now and then without apology.

PEP RALLY

Despite the fact that there happened to be a little rain falling last Friday night, the Brownfield Pep Squad and the High School Band created quite a bit of noise on the Court House Square. Seeping shelter in the band stand, they gave some real rousing yells and sang songs that had a real fighting sound, while the band accompanied them, but, the thing that was missing most was the tooting of the old family car's H-O-R-N. You dads and mothers ought to give the kids a cheer or whistle; once in awhile. You do nothing but press a horn button. With the support of the citizens of Brownfield all put into one great force there is nothing to keep the cubs from being champions. We are expecting in further pep meetings to see more B. H. S. students, old home town folks and every body that can make some kind of a racket.

B. H. S. PEP SQUAD

B. H. S. has the greatest pep squad it has had in the history of the school. The greatest per cent of the girls are new but are putting out the yells like they were old backers of the cubs. They have spunk to stay in there and yell their heads off if necessary. It is raining like Hail Columbia, they stick to their bench and the yells go on. Nothing can stop this B. H. S. Pep Squad. The rest of the schools will sit up and take notice when our girls don their new suits.

BROWNFIELD VS ANTON

The football game between Brownfield and Anton which upset Brownfield's good start of the season, came as a great surprise to the whole of us. It was just a bit slick and slightly rough. One thing that was noticeable in the game, was the way the Brownfield boys fought hard from the beginning to the end, and in a clean and sportsmanship manner. We take great pride and honor in saying that our boys played a clean heads-up game. Stay in there and fight cubs we are backing you.

DID YOU KNOW?

Lucian Greenfield got shot on the car and his temperature went up to 10 degrees.
 Brownfield High School had a detention.
 Buddy Rambo's real name is Gerald Glen.
 Bud Endersen has dark white hair.

JUST IMAGINE

Mr. Baze telling a lie.
 Coach not saying see.
 Moody not flirting with the girls.
 Bud Endersen shooting a paper wad.
 Twilla Graham having a funny laugh.
 Gene Green being bashful.

SENIORS

At the Senior class meeting, Wednesday, September 23, D. Stewart was elected President; Sam Chisholm, Vice-President; La Verne Mullins, Treasurer, Thelma Lee, Secretary and Lucille McSpadden, Class Reporter. This was the first meeting of the Senior class, but on the first day of school the Student Council representatives were elected and Sam Chisholm and La Verne Mullins were put to this office. There are fifty-three seniors this year and Brownfield as B. H. S. will certainly hear from them.

JUNIOR REPORT

When the classes held meetings, Thursday, September 24 to organize classes, the Juniors certainly were ahead of the remainder of the school. They organized their class the first day of school, and so the meeting was spent discussing class pins and plans of raising money needed during this eventful school year.

Did I remember to tell you that—Doris Lee Gore and Darlene Tankersley, our pep leaders, are both Juniors.
 A boy of the Junior class, Mack Pickett, is our football captain.
 The Juniors are going to lead the school this year.
 Keller Greenfield and Henry Foster know geometry very well.
 Vondee went to bed early the other night and we were really surprised.

Shirley watched those "Red Raiders," Lubbock, defeat the "Frogs" from Fort Worth.

Henry had a grand time at Lubbock, Saturday night.

Vondee was also in Lubbock, Saturday night.

Jack Shepherd is absent this week on account of a badly hurt leg. We hope he will be back in school soon.

Katherine Tapp: "Boo, Mr. Trigg. Mr. Trigg: "Do you know what causes anyone to say that, Katherine? Katherine: "Why no." Mr. Trigg: "A sudden gush of wind through the empty brain cells of the caranium."

El Ray Lewis, Jim Neill, and Pete Owens, ex-students of B. H. S., were down from Lubbock last week end.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

The Sophomore class elected officers, Wednesday. The officers are: J. W. Chambliss, President; Geraldene Helms, Vice-President; Joe Brown, Secretary and Treasurer; Alma Fae Ballard, Reporter; Dorothy Stewart and Elwood Carruth were elected to the student council.

Mr. Redford and Miss Wilson were elected sponsor of the Sophomore class.

The Sophomore's plan to do big things this year, and are backing the Cubs to the minute.

THE STUDENT ACTIVITY TICKET

This year, as perhaps you have heard, the Brownfield High School Student Council sponsored an Activity Ticket. When school started, the pupils heard about it and have been hearing about it off and on since. But this is as it could be, for an Activity Ticket is a very nice thing to have. Perhaps some of you do not know what an Activity Ticket is. It is a ticket admitting the owner into five home football games, plays and a number other interesting school activities of the year. This year being the first time that anything of exactly this nature has been sold, we think we did very well. Eighty-two tickets were sold in all to the students. Next year we hope to at least double the amount sold, and believe we shall, for by that time everyone will have learned the many advantages of the Student Activity Ticket.

PEP RALLY

Friday morning, September 25, the High School met for a pep rally in the auditorium. The pep squad marched in, and the program began with everyone singing our school song "The School With The Spirit." Yells were given and songs sung by the Pep Squad and the student body. Remarks were made about the football game by members of the faculty and pep squad leaders. After the pep squad had left, Miss Maize talked to the student body a few minutes on etiquette at pep rallies. We hope to have more pep at the next rally. New students, learn our school songs, and yells, so you can join in. The cubs need your backing.

Soap dispensers and paper towels are being placed in all three schools. They are already in at grade school, and will soon be in at Junior High and High School.

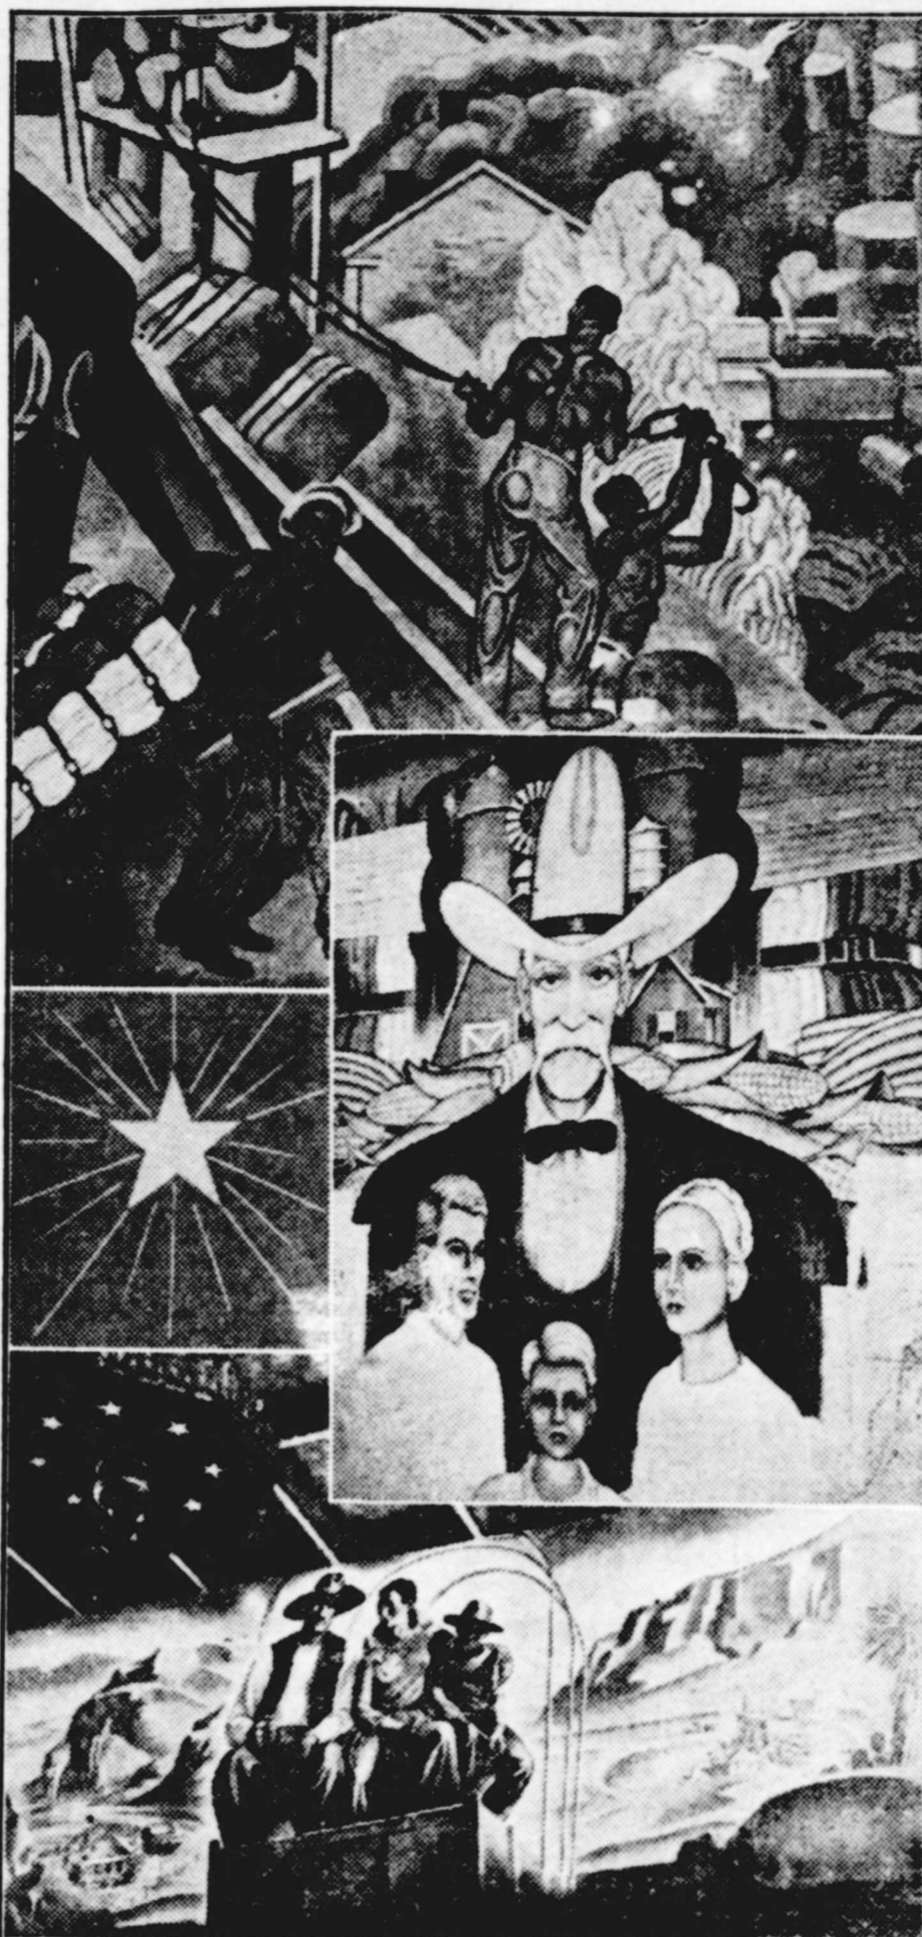

M. Q. MARTIN PLAYS SANTA CLAUS TO CANDIDATES

Although there are some sceptical folks, and even a few Democrats who do not believe there is a Santa Claus—it would be hard to convince the Dawson County candidates of the recent primaries that he is not real. And M. Q. Martin should get him a set of whiskers as he is a special representative of old Saint Nick himself. All of which is caused from the fact that Mr. Martin has been busy this week passing out checks to these candidates as a refund on the assessments for expense of holding the election. The total refund amounted to $202.40 which is about 17 per cent of the original assessments. Individual amounts range from $8.80 returned to public weigher candidates to $2.50 to justice of the peace aspirants. Those whom Mr. Martin has not seen can get their refund by applying to him, as is anxious to finish this job up.—Lamesa Courier.

A MAN'S CREED

Let me live, O Mighty Master.
 Such a life as men should know;
 Tasting triumph and disaster—
 Joy—but not too much of woe.
 Let me run the gamut over.
 Let me fight and love and laugh.
 And when I'm beneath the clover,
 Let this be my epitaph.
 Here lies one who took his chances
 In this busy world of men;
 Battled luck and circumstances;
 Fought and fell and fought again
 Won sometimes but no crowing
 Lost sometimes but did not wail;
 Took his beating but kept going;
 Never let his courage fail.
 —Anom.
 Better walk ahead of yourself than run after another.

Murals Portray Texas Life

Expressive of the four sections of Texas, their bountiful natural resources and historical background are the elaborate murals which adorn the walls of the $1,200,000 Hall of State, the dominating building of the Texas Centennial Exposition at Dallas. At the top a section of one of the giant murals found in the great hall portray two of Texas' foremost natural resources, oil and cotton. On the extreme left may be seen the prow of a sea-going freighter, representing the vast shipping industry of East Texas and the lower Gulf Coast. In the center mural, which hangs in the North Texas room, Old Man Texas is the predominant figure. The lower is unmistakably typical of the hearty West. The paintings adorning the walls of the Texas Building's great hall are reputed to be the largest in the world. They portray the story of Texas, both in the days of the republic and after statehood. Although opened but a few weeks ago, the magnificent Hall of State has won a place as one of the nation's foremost memorial edifices.

MISNOMERS

Every once in a while we come across terms that we use in connection with foods which are not correct, either in definition or in spelling. Yet, by habit, we have made them acceptable in some cases. For example, we call a tomato a vegetable, and yet, botanically speaking it is a fruit. Perhaps that is why it is so generally accepted as an alternate for orange juice as a meal beverage. Very casually we speak of garnishing a salad with "pimiento" and yet how surprised we would be if we were taken at our word and the salad appeared with a dark powdering over it or with little dark seeds throughout. Pimento is the berry of the allspice and its simply the technical name for the spice. Add one more "i" to make it pimiento, and you have the sweet Spanish red pepper used as a garnish.

When we commonly speak of tuna without other qualification, we ordinarily think of a canned fish because that it the term by which we are accustomed to buy and speak of that popular Western sea food. However, this fish is truly tunny. Tuna, according to the dictionary, is the prickly pear, which is a common plant of the subtropical parts of the Southwest. This plant belongs to the cactus family and is mentioned by an English writer as the Indian fig. The French sometimes refer to it as the Barbary fig, the Spaniards know it as higos chumbres, and the Mexican peon calls it tuna. Its pulp is sweet and juicy, suggestively like cucumber, in flavor, and the juice will ferment to make a beverage. Nutritively tuna is comparative to fresh figs, oranges or cherries.

Food Facts.

A town in tropical Africa has written to the University of California to know how to use electrical-charged light traps in killing malaria mosquitoes.

Studying death rates for representative states in the past 20 years, doctors find that scarlet fever has declined to a greater extent in the north than in the south.

Tests show that an automobile that can travel 18 miles on a gallon of gasoline at a speed of 30 miles an hour, will travel only 12 or 13 miles on a gallon at 60 miles.

Gridiron Hero Now a Film Comedian

At the wheel of a 1903 model Ford is Andy Devine, Hollywood comedian, who stopped in Dallas to visit the Texas Centennial and inspected the Ford Exposition. Devine's companion is Ann Gordon, an information girl in the Ford building. Devine is on his way to New Orleans to appear in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi."

Andy Devine, Universal Pictures comedian, who is kept very busy in Hollywood appearing in featured roles, visited the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas and attracted considerable attention in the Ford building, where he autographed everything that the fans offered him. Devine entered motion pictures several years ago after making a name for himself in one of the larger universities as a football player. His peculiar voice attracted immediate attention and shortly he had parts in many prominent productions. His last part was that of Peter in the Romeo and Juliet version starring Norma Shearer and Leslie Howard. From Dallas Devine goes to New Orleans to be featured in a new picture, "Murder on the Mississippi." "I visited the Ford exhibits in Chicago and at San Diego, California," Devine said, "and it seems the building here is up to par with anything the Ford Company has done to date."

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR ROOSEVELT FUND BEING RECEIVED

W. S. Amend, member of the City Commission walked into the News office Tuesday morning with a contribution, and said:

"Here is a little Republican donation to help re-elect the only man who has tried to do anything for the common people of this nation. He saved the homes of the people. He saved the farms and the farmers."

While I have always been a Republican, I feel that should I vote against President Roosevelt, some one ought to kick me over the fence," was the characteristic statement of the City Commissioner.—Canyon News.

It is found that one chief reason for white and pale-colored paints losing color or chalking in exposed places is the transmission of ultraviolet light.

OUR 23 YEAR COLUMN

Last week we failed to copy from the old time column, so this week we are giving you two, the issue of September 26 and October 3. First the Sept. issue: A Mothers Club was advocated to do some needed work on our school buildings. The Brownfield Merc. was to have its grand opening October 4th. Miss Webble Hargett left for Canyon to enter school. Mr. Love of Tullis, Texas, was working for H. T. Brooks. Judge Neill carried a fine exhibit to the Panhandle Fair at Amarillo. Joe DeShazo of Lubbock was here visiting his children. Gomez: Lorraine Brannon got his collar bone broken in a ball game. Mr. Edgar Stapp moved his family to Lockney for school purposes. Miss Willis Black also aimed to attend Lockney college. A. P. Moore was leaving for Memphis, Texas, to see a brother he had not seen in 15 years. Tokio: H. L. Ware had sold his crop to Mr. Lovelace and was going to prospect in New Mexico. A. V. Taylor was preparing to move to Fluvanna. The community had purchased an organ for the J-Cross school house. Primrose: Miss Clara Cowan had left for Denton to enter college. The school children and teacher were helping farmers pick cotton after school afternoons. G. M. Ellington was building a new barn. A fine boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ote Copeland. Hershell and Hope Timmons had branded their cattle.

October 3, 1913: District Judge W. R. Spencer opened court at Lamesa. The first college daily in the south had made its appearance, the Daily Texan by the University of Texas. H. B. Murray of Post, was a candidate for representative of this district. About 2 1/2 inches of rain had fallen this section. E. M. Hicks had returned from a visit to Virginia. Bell Burleson of Tahoka was painting the Hotel. I. C. Burgess of Arkansas had bought a half section of land from J. R. Hill. Uncle George Wilkins brought in a sample of his fall peaches which were fine. Mrs. Chas. Randal of Seymour was visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Randal. Miss Orell Harris of Roswell was visiting her sister, Mrs. Dee Brownfield. Miss Clemmie Adams was attending school at Brownwood. W. D. Winn reported that he was picking his 3rd bale of cotton. W. R. Slaughter and family of Loop, were moving to Byers, Texas. Lynn Adams left for Ranger Lake, N. M., to make his home. Rev. M. D. Williams had repurchased his old place from Mrs. Ben Glazier. Wilbur F. Fauley, staff writer of the New York Times, had been down to Texas to see his fine section of land in north Terry. John B. Slaughter had leased the Dooley place. Mr. Curlin of Montague county had purchased the old Morris homestead. All for this week.

They Know the Answers at Ford Expo

Among the 44 young people returning to colleges and universities after a busy summer working in the Ford Exposition building at the Texas Centennial is Carol Fritz (right), who is pictured here as she turned over the duties of her job as an information girl to Edna Mae Frey, Miss Fritz is a junior at Southern Methodist University, where she was a Rotunda beauty in 1935 and a Sweetheart at the Texas Roundup in Austin.

Meadow News

We are so glad to have the sun shining this week. The norther that came up Saturday, together with the continued rain made us hunt up our old coats, or buy new ones. Many of us put up our heater stoves, whether they were polished or not.

Alton Webb, Ford Hawkins, Viola Connor and Elsie Della White have all enrolled in college for this term. They were in the class of graduates last year. Success to you boys and girls.

Mrs. Brown (Ma Brown as those of us who knew her, liked to call her) passed away, Wednesday, and was buried Friday. She was the mother of Messrs. Leslie and Herschal Brooks, who have lived here many years. She was a refined and amiable elderly lady and loved by all who knew her.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks of Berger, Texas, and Mr. Tom Brooks of Denton, Texas attended the funeral of their mother. Sympathy is extended to the relatives.

The Methodist Charge of the Methodist church met in a joint conference at Ropesville, unday night, September 20.

Fourteen Baptist ladies met recently and enjoyed a Royal Service program at the church, at three o'clock. The topic for the day was, "School and the Kingdom".

A number from Meadow went to Ropes for service Sunday afternoon. Bro. Shropshire is making an effort to start worship for the church of Christ there.

Miss Bauchmore, teacher of the First grade, visited relatives in Brownfield over the week end. She is a cousin of Miss Dumas who taught here several years ago.

Last Wednesday afternoon Meadow School went to Ropes for a football game. The score was 0-0.

ADVERTISING INDUSTRIAL OPPORTUNITIES

The spending of $200,000 each year for five years "to tell the world" about the advantages offered by Texas to industry is part of the proposal of Lieutenant Governor Woodul explains the Henderson News, which reminds its readers that it recently "published in full a signed article from Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul, advocating the expenditure of $1,000,000 a year for five years to advertise Texas. In this article," the News continues, "as it appeared in The Texas Weekly, Lieutenant Governor Woodul designated a sum of $200,000 a year to exploit Texas' industrial advantages. Following this article, . . . The Texas Weekly printed, with comment, excerpts from an article by Matthew S. Sloan, advocating definite action on the part of the State to bring new industries to Texas and to create new industries."

The Henderson paper then reproduces excerpts from the article in The Weekly, which, it will be recalled quoted from and commented on a "guest column" written by Mr. Sloan for the Dallas Times-Herald.

Another paper expressing approval of the proposals of these two distinguished Texans is the Cleburne Times-Review, which discusses the matter in this fashion: "Two recent statements have caused the eyes of Texans to turn directly to the possibilities of bringing more industries to Texas. One such statement came from Lieutenant Governor Walter Woodul, in which he advocated the spending of $200,000 annually for five years to tell the world about the advantages that the Lone Star State offers to industry. Mr. Woodul pointed out that Texas offers low cost fuel, moderate climate, cheaper living conditions, cheap power, water cotton and wool for millions of spindles, livestock for processing, vegetables and fruits for canning, wood for pulp, and many rare chemicals, as well as adequate labor supply and rail facilities.

"A more recent statement was made by Matthew S. Sloan, who . . . declared that Texas should establish a State department 'concerned with bringing new industries into being, with finding ways for putting more and more of the State's natural production and with focusing attention of the industrial world upon Texas.'"—Texas Weekly.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Grandmother Rose was the recipient of a surprise covered dish birthday dinner given Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lee, in honor of her seventy-ninth milestone in life.

Grandmother is still very active for one of her age and was able to join in the fun of the day. The guests who enjoyed the occasion with the honoree and wished her many more as happy birthdays were:

Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Fike, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Downing, and Syble Rogers of Brownfield Messrs. and Mesdames Lee Fulton, W. E. Winn, W. H. and George Black, Gordon Newsum, J. W. Rose, Kenneth Furr, Alson Black, E. E. Trolinger, R. A. Whitley, Elmer Lee and families; Misses Gladys Black, Lillian Lee, Rena and Nellie McLeroy and Messrs. Tress Key and Cecil Rose.

BRANDING DANGEROUS CARS

In a European country, the cars of motorists convicted of flagrant violation of traffic laws are painted with an emblem as a warning to other drivers. It is said that this practice, newly started, has caused an appreciable decline in dangerous driving, as motorists naturally want to avoid the embarrassment and publicity the emblem gives them.

A great many thousand American motorists should have their cars so branded.

The worst of offenders consist of those who push the throttles to the floor-board as soon as they get out of sight of a traffic officer. Excessive speed—and there are times when 15 miles per hour is excessive—is responsible for more deaths than any other driving violation.

Passing on hills and curves and "meandering" through traffic are also potent causes of death, injury and destruction. On a myriad tragic occasion, a driver has tried to save a needless minute—at the cost of a life. Driving on the wrong side of the road, jumping traffic lights, passing at intersections—are practices dear to the heart of the Dark Angel. They help keep our morgues and hospitals full to capacity.

Yes, it might be a good idea to adopt the branding practice in this country. A suitable emblem would be a skull and crossbones.—Exchange.

MANY TEXANS PAY LIQUOR PERMITS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15. — The bureau of internal revenue reported today that 17,240 Texas persons and establishments paid government taxes to deal in distilled liquors and malt beverages.

The records of Texans who paid occupational taxes to the federal government this year showed 8,635 paid to retail liquor and 6,983 to retail malt beverages.

Rose surprised her with a covered dish birthday dinner in honor of her 79th birthday, Sunday, at the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lee. Grandmother is very active for one of her age and was able to join in the afternoon of fun. Many friends and relatives called during the day, brought gifts of appreciation and expressed wishes for many more such happy birthdays for the honoree.

We join with the community in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kyle, good wishes for their marital happiness. Mrs. Kyle was Miss Leona Lee, before her recent marriage.

Mesdames Denver Kelley and Johnnie Baggett were honored with a surprise shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Key on Thursday afternoon. Many lovely gifts were presented the honorees during the evening of quilting, games and refreshments. Some fifteen ladies attended besides the honorees.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Melton made a business trip to New Mexico last week end.

Miss Myrtle Simmons spent Friday night with Eric Mae Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Henderson and children of Wellman spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Rosson.

Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Black and family were guests in the H. N. Key home, Sunday.

Miss Thelma Jean Moore spent Sunday afternoon with Agnes Rosson.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Condra and little son visited in the Lee Walker home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Harkins, Jr. and children visited with relatives at Ropesville during the week end.

Naymon Landress spent Saturday night with J. D. Kee of Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore and small son made a business trip to Hall county last week.

A CORRECTION: Last week we stated that Mr and Mrs. Thomas Doss returned from El Paso. It should have read: The young Thomas Doss returned from El Paso. Mr Doss is a single man.

DROWNED DOLLARS

Army engineers have recommended the immediate expenditure of $17,000,000 for deepening and widening the New York State Barge Canal. This would not cover the cost of all proposed work but would simply mark a start in creating a 14-foot depth from Troy to Tree Rivers and thence to Lake Ontario. Other towns, not in this area, also want the channel improved to include them, and if that is done many more millions will be required.

In commenting on the situation, the Rochester, New York, Times-Union said: "Why all this extra money should be expended on the Barge Canal is hard to understand. Neither shallow inland canals nor shallow rivers are worth their cost as waterways. The freight offered might be handled by the railroads, which pay taxes instead of eating up tax money."

The whole history of inland waterway navigation in this country in recent years has been marked by waste by costly and useless spending of the taxpayers' money, and by the development of projects which are as futile as they are visionary. Every citizen must chip in to pay for freight moved on a government-owned waterway—toll charges do not equal operating and upkeep cost. And survey after survey has demonstrated that if all costs are considered, railroads provide cheaper, as well as much more efficient and certain transportation of goods.

Canals were necessary once, before rail transport reached its present high standards of efficiency and service. Today canals serve few useful purposes, and constitute a political extravagance for which the taxpayers must pay through the nose.—Industrial News Review.

Gomez News

We have begun to think that maybe history will repeat itself in that it may "rain upon the earth for forty days and forty nights." This communities portion of the terrestrial sphere is well soaked now after about two weeks of rain and mist.

The local P-TA is getting off to a good start this term with Mrs. Elmer Lee as our president. We have set a goal of at least fifty paid up members within the next month. We plan to devote one Friday evening of each month to studying problems of current interest to the group. One other Friday evening of each month will be devoted to entertainments of various kinds in which the school children will participate mainly. Patrons, if you have not as yet enrolled, please plan to do so within the next thirty days. Let's do some bigger and better things this year than we have ever done before.

All former students of the Gomez school are urged to meet at the auditorium, Friday night, for the purpose of organizing an ex-student dramatic club.

Many from this community are attending the Panhandle South Plains Fair at Lubbock, this week.

COLLEGE HEAD SENT TO JAIL

LAS VEGAS, Sept. 21.—Judge Luis E. Armijo found President B. C. Evans of Montezuma College guilty of contempt of court Monday in connection with the re-opening of the school which had been closed on order of the court.

President Evans was sentenced to serve 24 hours in the county jail and was ordered to close the school. District Judge Armijo issued an order in August closing the school, after a complaint by the district health department alleging unsanitary conditions.

Don't Burn Stomach With Soda!

Use the Modern Anti-Acid.

So many medicines are mostly baking soda—just the kind you buy at the grocery store. But do you know that soda is a caustic—and that its continued use tends to burn the stomach?

Scientists have found a NEW WAY to take care of excess acid—by ABSORPTION. GASA Tablets have a remarkable medicament that ABSORBS the acid in your stomach—instead of a caustic to neutralize it.

Is eating a torture for you—painful, bloating gas? So many people have trouble with bread, potatoes and pie—because starches take so long to digest. But GASA Tablets contain an enzyme (digestive juice) that actually digests your starches for you.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO EAT ANY LONGER! Just make this test. Try a GASA Tablet tonight right after your dinner. You will feel its soothing juices mixing with your food, sweetening your stomach, leaving your mouth cool and refreshed. GASA Tablets are sold in this city exclusively by the Corner Drug Store. Go there today and get your bottle of GASA Tablets (they cost surprisingly little). They will give you complete relief from any after-dinner distress—or your druggist pays your money back! Start with GASA Tablets today.

NO DIFFERENCE

"But," said the would-be-son-in-law to the girl's father, "what is your objection to me as a suitor for your daughter's hand?"

"My chief objection is that you cannot keep her in the style in which she has been brought up," replied the irate father.

"At any rate," said the enamored youth, "I can start her on bread and milk, the same as you did."

DEMOCRATS ACT WISELY

The Democrats, in recent convention at Fort Worth, acted wisely when they dropped the matter pertaining to censorship of the daily newspaper at Texas University. It seems that those who argued over the issue at the convention were squabbling, not over the question of censorship, but over the contents of an editorial containing comment on taxing natural resources in the state, with particular reference to sulphur.

The University of Texas newspaper is maintained for fledgling journalists to use in obtaining their education. The paper would not even exist if there were no university. Those students who sulked because their writings were censored are not responsible. In case they were permitted a free pen and they got into trouble, the university would be blamed and he held responsible.

A little learning is a dangerous thing and the Democrats certainly voted intelligently when they decided by dropping the matter, to let the young journalists remain students, at least while in the university.—Cleburne Times-Review

BOB BURNS STORY

Bob Burns, the radio humorist from Van Buren, Ark., tells some tall ones. Here is his story about a dog.

"My uncle, Phil Perkins, owns a mighty smart dog. One day he came home and found the dog lying on the sofa, so he gave him a scolding. Next time he came home the dog was on the floor, but on finding the sofa warm my uncle gave him another scolding."

"But that didn't cure him."

"No sir, that dog just loved to lie there on the sofa. The next time Uncle came home the dog was standing by the sofa, blowing on it to cool it."

FIND EXPO CLEAN

DALLAS, Texas—A group of Mexican army doctors recently visited the Texas Centennial Exposition, and left declaring it the most sanitary fair they had ever visited. They complimented the wholesome food served and the reasonableness of prices.

CLEAN SWEEP

The Sunday drivers had been all over the farmer's place, had picked his fruit and his flowers, and their car was full of plunder. Pointing to an unexplored highway they inquired of the farmer:

"Shall we take this road back to the city?"

HONEST, SAYS THE LAW

The man applied for a position in a banking establishment. His appearance did not impress the president and references were demanded. After some hesitation, the man gave the name of a teller in the bank. This teller, he thought, would vouch for him.

The president sought out the teller and asked him whether the applicant was honest.

"Honest?" the teller asked. "Well, I'd rather leave that to you. To my certain knowledge he's been arrested 10 times for embezzlement and every time he was acquitted."

BOUNCED OFF

A bricklayer working on top of a high building accidentally dropped a brick which landed on the head of his negro helper below.

"Be careful up dar, big boy," the negro remonstrated. "Yo's done made me bite mah tongue."

TWO TEXAS BAD MEN ARRESTED AT LOVINGTON

The sheriff of Cochran county, Texas, recently arrested two men in this city upon a charge of robbery in connection with the hold-up of Claude Rayborne, a Clovis cattle buyer, on September 10. It is also said that the two men are wanted at Lubbock on a charge of robbery with firearms, a crime punishable by death in Texas. They are accused of robbing an elderly couple not long ago.

The accused are said to have approached Rayborne and offered to sell him some cattle. After going down town and getting a check for $50 cashed in order to have money with which to make payment on the cattle, Rayborne was taken by the men out into the country about three miles where he was robbed and then dumped out of the automobile.—Lovington (N. M.) Leader.

MUCH CREAM BEING SOLD AT PLAINS

It will be surprising to many who do not know this county that cream is a main stay for the farmers here. In all probability this is the reason we have no people on relief in the county except two or three very aged people. In conversation with Mr. Denny, proprietor of Denny & Son grocery store, we too, were surprised that he buys as much as $600 worth of cream a month, this is in addition to that shipped by individuals, and other produce enough to run his produce business to about $700 a month. Cream is the big item and one that the farmers are using to make a get by when there are no crops or calves ready for shipping.

Every week we want to carry an article similar to this giving the special achievements of some individual or merchant.—Plains Review.

DALLAS, Texas.—A 17 year-old Lubbock high school football star, who weighs 209 pounds and stands six feet four inches, today was the new amateur heavyweight boxing champion of Texas.

He is "Babe" Ritchie who came to the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation tournament at the Texas Centennial Exposition, firmly believing he could lick any heavy to face him, and did.

He knocked out his first opponent and decided the other.

He has two more years of football at Lubbock high. In 1935 he drew honorable mention as an All State tackle.

GRANDMOTHER BROWN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Mera Brown, better known as Grandmother Brown, died in Meadow at the home of her son, Leslie Brooks, Thursday at 12:30 A. M. and was laid to rest in the Meadow cemetery at three o'clock Friday afternoon, September 25, 1936.

Grandmother Brown was born August 19, 1860, in Alabama. She was married in 1878 to T. W. Brooks, who died in 1892. To this union were born seven sons and one daughter, of which number, five sons survive, Leslie of Meadow; Tom of Denton; Ewell of Borger; Herschel of Tokio; and Sam of Needles, Calif. All of these except the later were present for the funeral.

Mrs. Brown was married to W. B. Brown in 1896, and to this union was born one daughter, Willie B., who died at the age of eight years. W. B. Brown died in 1921 in Denton, and two years later Mrs. Brown moved to Meadow, at which place she had since continuously lived. She was converted and joined the Methodist church at the age of sixteen, but upon moving to Denton in 1896, she united with the First Presbyterian Church, of which she was a member at her death.

Words fail to express the love and respect which the people of Meadow held for Grandmother Brown. To know her was to love her. Her beautiful Christian life was an incentive for good for young and old. She remained young in spirit and until the last evidenced an interest in the religious and educational life of her community. It may be truly said of her that her consecrated life will live on and on in the hearts of those who knew and loved her.

MRS. MOON RESIGNS AS GAINES COUNTY TREASURER

At the recent regular session of the Gaines County Commissioners Court, Mrs. T. L. Moon tendered her resignation as County Treasurer, to take effect, October 10, 1936.

To fill this vacancy Miss Mattie Sue Elder, Democratic nominee, was appointed to this position.

Mrs. Moon has served continuously in this office for the past 14 years, has made Gaines County a very efficient officer, one worthy of every cent she has received as compensation, and it was only through health reasons that she was forced to resign.—Seminole Sentinel.

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 15.—There is to be an invasion of Red Men at the Texas Centennial Exposition during Sept. and Oct. This was announced recently by Walter Matson of the tribal council of the Osages, who served as an advance agent. The Osages are the Nation's wealthiest Indians.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SNAPSHOTS FROM THE AIR

When you say, "We went 'way above the clouds," why not have a snapshot to prove it?

THOSE who make air voyages without a camera miss a part of the thrill. You do not need an especially designed camera to obtain photographs from airplanes. An ordinary camera will get interesting pictures right through the window which you look through as you fly, and make you a picture story of your trip that no end of verbal description can tell so vividly.

Make a few snaps about the airport before boarding your 'plane and then, unless you have very fast shutter speeds, wait before you shoot again till you are up at least 1,000 feet. Naturally the higher the 'plane is traveling the less rapidly will the earth slip by and snapshots showing the land can be made more easily. The most interesting views are taken when there are definite contrasts in the landscape, as when flying over lakes, rivers and towns.

If your camera is of the focusing type, set it at the "infinity" mark, and, on a clear, brilliant day, stop f.22 should produce good negatives at a reasonably rapid shutter speed. When the sun is not so bright, stop 16 will yield satisfactory results. The fastest shutter speed should be employed with the average camera; this will be 1/50 or 1/100 of a second.

With faster shutter speeds pictures from airplanes can be made at less than the 1,000 foot height. With single lens folding cameras and those of the box type, the second or smaller diaphragm stop should be used. Surprisingly good pictures can be made with box cameras on a clear day at 1,500 to 2,000 feet.

If you are fortunate enough to be flying on a brilliant day when there are groups of those light, cottony, cumulus clouds, and are gliding along well above them, make snapshots when you pass over rifts through which the landscape can be seen. To include a wheel of the 'plane, as in the picture above, adds realism and enhances the feeling of height. It identifies the picture at once as having been made from the air.

Altogether, as on the ground, a color filter helps in bringing out clouds and details in the distant landscape. Larger stop openings will then be required—the size of the opening depending upon the depth of the color of the filter.

Yes, you can take pictures through the glass in the windows all right. It is especially clear, safety glass, and on commercial planes is kept clean; but don't rest your camera on the window ledge or any part of the 'plane, since even slight vibration will affect the sharpness of the pictures. Also, don't shoot across the rear of the conical housing of the side motors, as the heat waves may register on the film and blur the picture.

And don't forget to take plenty of film because there is nothing so provoking as to find yourself out of ammunition and helpless as some unexpectedly interesting picture goes slipping by beneath you.
