Well! Well!! Well!!! You can almost recognize K. W. Howell, Ches Gore, C. C. Primm, Herman Heath and other Lions among these other donkeys.

Donkey Baseball Game To Be Staged Here

Have you ever rode a donkey, Did you ever see anyone else ride one? Or at least, have you ever tried to ride one? If so, you found that he is, while quite docile, the most stubborn brute this side of the gates of hades. If you wish to go forward the said burro suddenly decides to reverse. If you should like the starboard, friend donkey will take the larboard or bust a hamstring.

Well, pretty soon, in fact on First Monday night, Sept. 6, a team composed of local Lions will play the winner of the Lubbock-Crosbyton game which is to be played next Wednesday night. The game will be played under lights, probably on the school grounds.

The Ritz Theatre Is Being Remodeled

Mr. Earl Jones informed us this week that he was enlarging the Ritz Theatre. The building is being extended 40 feet and 80 new cushioned seats are being added, making a total seating capacity of 480.

This theatre has enjoyed such a large patronage since its opening, two years ago, that many people have had to wait long periods before getting in. Mr. Jones hopes with the new addition to be able to take care of everybody.

Joint Meeting of Lion And Rotary Clubs

Last Thursday the local Rotary and Lions Clubs decided to hold their weekly meeting jointly at the Wines Hotel, and to discuss various phases of many things concerning the up-building of the city and trade territory.

Many good talks were made, and many things came up in which the city and community are vastly interested in, and especially the discussion of obtaining a federal building for Brownfield.

District Court Off to Four Week Term

The summer term of district court got under way here Monday morning for a four week term. Judge Louis B. Reed of Lamesa, was for the first time since his appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Gordon B. McGuire, able to be on the bench. An operation and complications following, kept him from serving at Lamesa, Seminole and Plains. He is looking well, and reported himself as feeling A-1. District Attorney Truitt Smith of Tahoka, was here and ready for duty.

The grand jury of 12 men was empaneled out of the first thirteen called that were present, and given a charge by the new District Judge. His charge was concise, yet covered the ground thoroughly. He told the 12 men not to waste any time or money on things that to them seemingly were bad or immoral, yet not against the law, but to confine themselves to real law violations, and to eliminate rumors or gossip, or of persons they or their friends might not personally like or have malice against.

Judge Reed stated that this section of Texas was very fortunate that up to this time, no organized crime had invaded us, but that was no reason that we should be diligent and on the lookout for crime of any sort. He did not charge concerning liquor violations, as we understand that is now a misdemeanor, and is handled by the county courts as to sales, and untaxed liquors by Federal courts.

Fred Smith was named foreman of the grand jury, composed of the following: I. V. Pendergrass, C. W. Avery, Willie Winn, J. T. Pippin, W. G. McDonald, B. L. Thompson, A. G. Moore, O. H. Murry, W. H. Ray, J. C. Johnson, Bob Cornelius.

Upon recommendation of Sheriff Ches Gore, the Court appointed the following: Door Baliff, J. D. Balley; Riding Baliffs, Tom Howard, Houston Hamilton and Kellie Sears, all of whom were sworn in.

While the grand jury is deliberating this week, a number of land title and civil cases are being disposed of, which are not jury cases.

Boy Scout News

The Boy Scouts are to have a huge Merit display at the South Plains Panhandle Fair in Lubbock, September 27-October 3. This year one large building 60'x140' will be devoted entirely to Scout, Cub and leaders exhibits.

A complete change of program is planned by the Scouts. Each Troop will depict one or more merit badges; each Cub Pack will enter handicraft materials in Cub section; Scout leaders will display their work in a special section. This year the Council will arrange a special booth of educational materials.

Larger premiums are offered this year. Special recognition is to be given out-of-town Troops who put up exhibits.

An Old Timer Moves Back to Brownfield

Rev. Arthur Sudday of the Nazarene church, who has been living at Tatum and more recent at Capitan, N.M., has moved his family back to Brownfield, and we understand will make this his future headquarters.

Arthur did not state to the Herald just what his intentions were, whether he would take local work out of here, or do evangelistic work for his church.

Fine Crops in Dawson And Howard Counties

The past week end, the writer and family accompanied by Chas. Limer and wife of Long Beach, Calif., made a trip to Coahoma, 10 miles east of Big Spring, to visit relatives of—well just our wives' kin folks. Had a nice time and plenty grub to suit anyone. It had been raining and therefore was cooler than usual, and of course we had no trouble getting good sleep below the cap.

Crops were good in east Terry, west and south Lynn, except a small scope around the lakes south of Tahoka, which looked as if they suffered some before rain came, and in one place, there seemed to have been some hail. From several miles north of O'Donnell to well into Howard county, crops were as fine as we ever saw them, and this goes too, for south Terry.

Beginning near the breaks of the cap in Howard, they are not quite so good, seemingly having suffered some before rain came, but they are coming out fast. In no place, did we see any amount of cotton opening. Feed crops are fine, and in many places head crops seemed to be ready to harvest.

Returned via Midland and Odessa. Not such farming as oil and cattle raising is all the rage in that section. Odessa is making the most rapid growth of any city in that section. Some nice homes, but a great many look "shabby."

Seminole and Seagraves are putting on mild oil booms. Not any too much rain has fallen south of Andrews to Stanton.

City to Have Western Union Time Wire Soon

O. E. Wilcox, representing the Western Union Telegraph and Cable Co., was here Tuesday soliciting the town for time clocks to be installed as soon as Western Union can run a time wire down from Lubbock, which Mr. Wilcox stated would be in the next six weeks, possibly sooner.

When he visited the Herald office, he only lacked three clocks of having the quota sufficient to pay the company to install the clock and run the wire down. He stated also, that he was having no trouble whatever in getting business and professional men to sign up for the clocks.

Quoting him further, he stated that he had been in Borger and a number of other places recently, and he found that Brownfield was the talk of many places, and that oil development in this section seemed to be more talk there than here.

However, he stated, your town is certainly awake and rearing to go, and is building fast, and your business men seem to realize they are right in the middle of fast development.

Williams is Stocking With New Furniture

C. L. Williams called this week and announced that he was again stocking with a nice line of furniture, and that he was putting a special price on for a time in order to show the stock to customers.

Mr. Williams stated that he sold his stock some time ago to the Brownfield Hardware Co., and as that company had sold out, he decided to stock again. He wants you to call and see his stock, whether you buy or not.

Mrs. Pete Marchbanks and Miss Mary Helen Marchbanks left Tuesday for Clarksville, Texas, where they will visit relatives for a month.

Mon Telford Leases Venetian Auditorium

Mon Telford, who is known all over this section, and former sheriff of Terry county, has leased the Venetian Auditorium, and took charge last week, putting on his first dance Saturday night. Mr. Telford stated that he had an excellent turnout Saturday night, especially from Lubbock, Tahoka and Lamesa, there being nearly 100 couples from those places.

The owner, Mr. Cye Tankersley had to return to Rule during the cotton season, and take charge of his gin. He could find a good gin man, but as they have to buy cotton, he had trouble finding a combined gin man and cotton buyer to run the plant, and decided at the last moment that he had better look after matters himself.

Mon stated for the Herald that he would not undertake any fights out there as that was out of his line, and besides, too much red tape to suit him, so he will just jog along with something he understands.

A New Industry For Terry County

A lot of people overlook the things at Home. Right here in Brownfield the White Grain Co. is completely equipped to turn out a complete line of poultry and Dairy Feeds.

Many farmers overlook the fact that much of the prepared feeds they are now using is grown in their own locality, hauled to town, shipped away, milled into a finished product and reshipped back to that section. All this handling and freight, cost plenty of money.

The White Grain Co. points out that as much as $10.00 per ton can be saved the farmer on his poultry and Dairy Feeds by Manufacturing it right here at home.

He is manufacturing the Sun-Ray Brand Feeds which have been thoroughly tested and proven, and invites you to drop around and see just what can be done at home and the saving that can be made.

Hi-School Enrollment September 2nd-3rd

Enrollment in the Brownfield High School will start at 9:00 o'clock on the morning of September 2nd, and will continue through September 3rd. All students who intend to enroll are asked to please follow this schedule: Freshman, Sept. 2nd, 9:00-12:00; Sophomores, Sept. 2nd, 1:00-4:00; Juniors, Sept. 3rd, 9:00-12:00; Seniors, Sept. 3rd, 1:00-4:00.

Arrangements will be made to accommodate the enrollment of all students regardless of their classification who reside in the rural districts at anytime during the two days. In other words all bus students may enroll at any time during either September 2nd or 3rd. Mr. Smith, the principal, would appreciate a notification from the bus driver concerning the day that his bus is to run.

It is very important that all enrollment be completed by 4:00, Sept. 3rd. Any student who registers later than that hour will be counted absent two days in any event, and without logical reason will be charged the regular late registration fee. All students should bring book cards, for text books will be issued as they enroll. Every effort is being made to complete all details of enrollment in order that regular class work may begin on Monday, September 6th.

Mrs. Nannie Noel of Dublin is here for an indefinite visit in the home of her sons Troy and W. J. Noel.

Brownfield Pretty Certain of PO Building

Postmaster James Harley Dallas received the following telegram from Congressman George Mahon Sunday morning:

"I believe we are going to get the new Post Office building for Brownfield, but cannot be positive until official release, which should be made next week. Stop. Brownfield had the highest postal receipts last year of any town in the district not having a building. Stop. Please advise Shelton of Chamber of Commerce, Stricklin and others who have written me. Stop. Am mighty glad things look favorable. Best Regards."

George Mahon

Those who know George Mahon are too well acquainted with his methods to suspect that if he did not know what he was talking about he would be the last person on earth to try to leave his friends up in the air on a "snipe hunt." Evidently Mr. Mahon who has not become so wrought up and hot that he had to go home immediately to cool off, is still up there on the job for his constituents, and will return to Texas, when he has accomplished his purpose.

It is a well known fact that Brownfield will not have the usual trouble of getting a site for the building. They are not going to have to get out and look for a lot, whose owner will nose the price to the sky when approached by buyers. Two years ago when the subject was up, the Commissioners' Court offered the Federal Government all the land they wanted either on the southwest or southeast corner of the court house park.

It is also our understanding that when the subject was up recently, that the Court was kind enough to renew the offer. This land will not cost the government one penny. An inspector here two years ago said he was very favorably impressed with either site.

School Per Capita to Remain at $22.00

The most thunderous political battle of the summer season has been the wordy scrap over next year's educational apportionment.

The Board of Education, thinking it was stealing a march, met July 6 and promptly set an apportionment figure of $22.

This action angered members of the Automatic Tax Board because they thought the Education Board was trying to force their hand. So the Automatic Tax Board balked, and cut the ad valorem tax rate for educational purposes to a new low of 7 cents.

"There, we've shewn you," was their attitude. Then a majority of the Education Board tried to back up, but the recalcitrant minority simply refused to attend, and the majority could never get the quorum necessary to transact business.

And, as always, the dispute between two state bodies got into the courts. First one side and then another tried to stay the hand of the other with court decrees.

But this week the dispute, which had dragged on through seven sultry summer weeks, came to a quiet and happy ending.

The comic opera was over, all factions were beaming with happiness, and each side got everything it wanted.

These were the results of the word-war:

1. The schools will get $22 per capita next year, which is all they wanted.
2. The Automatic Tax Board—at least members James V. Allred and

Federal Building and Other Things Discuss'd

Back in February 1935, the chamber of commerce commenced its active work toward procuring a Federal Building for Brownfield, to be used for Post Office purposes and after considerable preliminary work in the assembling of informational data, concerning the need of such a building for our town, which of course included its constant growth in population as well as Post Office receipts, we took the matter up with Senators Sheppard and Connally and Representatives Mahon and Marvin Jones. Receiving encouraging replies from some of them and not too much from others, but we kept hammering away and finally through the efforts of Congressman Mahon and Senator Connally, we were accorded consideration by the Treasury and Post Office Department, which afterward resulted in a special visit of an inspector for the department and a tentative selection by him of a site for the building. The matter continued to progress and we finally, by reason of increased postal sales, landed in second place, being exceeded by Littlefield, but in 1936, our sales exceeded Littlefield by over $300.00, and our Postmaster, has just been advised by Mr. Mahon that an appropriation for the construction of a building will probably be made within the next few days. Brownfield standing first in postal sales of any town in Mr. Mahon's district, that does not now contain a federal building. We hope to see the building under construction within the next few months.

Another activity that was undertaken by the chamber of commerce, was a County-City Recreational Center, or park, and it is possible that we will undertake to show the present status of it, in an early issue of this paper.

The chamber of commerce and the county agent have concluded that we will undertake to place a county exhibit at the South Plains Fair and as it is an absolute impossibility to cover the 1,600 farms of the territory, it would be appreciated if farmers who are interested in exhibits would advise us as to what they have in the way of the following crops that are so necessary in order for us to complete what is termed, "the score card":

Cotton bales, ear corn, popcorn, broomcorn, maize heads, white and red sudan seed, sunflower heads, threshed millet, dried beans, different varieties, dried peas, different varieties, turnips, bell peppers, egg plant, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, soy beans, shelled and vine, watermelons, cashaw, pumpkin, field and sweet. We of course will need other vegetable crops but they are easily found. We should be able to locate a larger pumpkin, cashaw and watermelon, than we have been able to find within the last few years, still at the same time we have always managed to make a good showing against other melons and cashaws that have been exhibited at the Fair. Everyone is assured that Mr. McClain, Bill McKinney and the writer, will appreciate information as to where the above list might be procured and better still, we would like to have some of the stuff delivered.

Totals Are Announced

Totals complied up to noon today by the Texas Election Bureau were announced as follows:

From 99 out of 254 counties, including 18 complete, accounting for 79,114 votes: Bank stock liability, for 50,655, against 25,360; aid for destitute children, for 55,393, against 23,357; abolishing salary system, for 32,870, against 44,901; tax discount for 58,619, against 19,228; Harris county road plan, for 42,031, against 28,980; aid for blind, for 59,566, against 19,548.

Terry county turned thumbs down on two of the amendments, and put its OK on four, as follows:

Salaries, for 77, against 94.

Taxes, for 92, against 86.

Harris county roads, for 75, against 77.

Blind, 113, against 67.

About 180 votes were cast, or about one-ninth of the qualified votes of the county.

New Newspaper to Go in Here Soon

After 33 years of non-competition in the city in the way of a newspaper the Herald is at last to have one, and what promises to be a good paper, as we believe it has some real good, hustling men behind it. The first issue will appear early in September, according to the management.

The owners and managers are Mr. M. L. McWhorter, of Lamesa, and Mr. Eldon Wade of Jbyton. Mr. McWhorter has for several years been connected with the agricultural department, but has had no newspaper experience to speak of. Mr. Wade comes from a long line of newspaper men, his father being Editor and Publisher of the Jayton Chronicle.

We welcome these men to Brownfield, believing they will be a decided asset to our little city. The name chosen is the Brownfield News.

South Plains Honors R. R. Commissioner

The editors of the south Plains were together with business and professional men of Lubbock, invited to attend a banquet at the Hilton Hotel at Lubbock, Wednesday night, honoring Hon. Earnest O. Thompson, State Railroad Commissioner. Every plate was taken and a large crowd enjoyed not only the opportunity of renewing old acquaintances, and making new ones, but also the talk of Col. Thompson.

Walter Posey presided at the banquet, and ably presented Col. Thompson, closing with an introduction of Thompson, as the next governor of Texas, which was received with hearty cheers. However, Col. Thompson certainly did not accept the challenge, by laying off politics throughout his address.

His address covered his recent trip to Europe, with a description as he understood it of the many complications, political cliques and what not on that unfortunate continent. But remarked Col. Thompson, we have them hog tied, as no modern warfare can be carried on without oil, and we have the oil.

He also described the Texas National Guard, which recently trained at Palacios, Texas, and of which he is a colonel. "We have," he said "8,000 highly trained men, not to mention a full troop of cavalry, which trained at Mineral Wells, which a regular army officer described as the best trained in the United States."

He then got off on his duty as an officer in the oil field, and covered the ground of proration better than we had ever understood. In fact, many, just like the writer, had never fully understood just what proration means in the conservation of our wonderful natural resources, oil and gas.

5 Amendments OK'D —Five Get the Ax

DALLAS, Aug. 24.—Five of the six proposed amendments to the state constitution, laid before the Texas electorate yesterday and receiving only a hatfull of votes as compared with full strength, today definitely were given the "go" sign.

Only amendment to fall by the wayside was that which would have given the legislature right to abolish the salary system of paying various district, county and precinct officials. Opponents had contended it would merely pave the way to a return of the fee system, abolished several years ago after long agitation and a legislative investigation.

Totals complied up to noon today by the Texas Election Bureau were announced as follows:

Turnip and mustard planting time is at hand, and from what grocery-men tell us, plenty seed have gone in the ground the past week. There is nothing that so well balances the ration of winter months as either turnip or mustard greens which can be canned during the fall months. Turnips themselves hilled up to sweeten for winter, and cooked with a good chunk of fat pork or jowl is hard to beat of a cold winter day when you really have to have something to stick to your side.

Most of the west Texas dailies not only write anti-Roosevelt editorials in almost every issue, but they have a damyankee, standpat Republican way up north to draw their cartoons, and each and all of them, day by day and in every way take the Roosevelt administration to task. In fact, we have never seen a cartoon in any of these papers that had one compliment for anything that Roosevelt has ever done. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram is just about the only Democrat daily we get, and it seems to be slipping. Come on you Democratic weeklies, and let's show those GOP dailies that all the people are not with them.

Texas are certainly easy going people, apparently. When a special election rolls around, if they are in the right mood, or happen to be over about the polling places, they will vote, and on constitutional amendments, most of them as well have a hunch over their eyes. Probably they never took the trouble to read them, and vote for or against them with about as much intelligence as a horse. Probably that is one reason no more turn out to such an election. But just let an amendment or law get by in such an election that don't meet their approval in the days to come, and their easy going ways cease, and they can raise more billyhell to the acre than a cyclone. But wait till the candidates begin to pour in on each other next summer, and then they'll wake up and every mothers son and daughter of them will vote, vote, vote. Boy! you couldn't tie them away from the polls.

J. L. Suits of the Lockney Beacon recently visited Washington and observed that the Republicans were making monkeys out of the would-be Democratic leaders:

The shrewdest politicians in the world are in Washington. The "outs" are trying to get in and the "ins" are trying to stay in. You take the high-pressure politicians in the Republican ranks. They are afraid to tackle the President and his administration open-handed. So what do they do. Coddle the high-powered Democratic leaders along and get them to prod the lion in his den so to speak. Then if there is not a vicious growl forth coming they step right in and help with the prodding. If a blood curdling groan goes up they slip out of the way and let the Democrats do the prodding. It is pretty easy to get a Democrat to stick his neck out. The reason for that is that all Democrats want to be the ring leader, the big shot, the all-powerful leader of his party. Not so with the Republicans. They let leaders be leaders and then the rank and file sit behind the scene and furnish the ammunition to back them up. It seems to us that these Republicans are making monkeys out of our Democratic leaders. They, the Republicans, are working night and day trying to cause a split in the ranks of the Democratic party, and they are making pretty good progress, too, if you ask us. Right now the Republican party is the minority party, but they are plenty smart. We must watch our step very closely lest we stumble.

New Deal foes are "rejecting the principal of the greater good for the greater number which is the cornerstone of Democratic government." President Roosevelt said recently, "Yes, there are plenty of big men who have shown little consideration for the masses. That's why they oppose the New Deal which is attempting to benefit the majority. And if the truth were available we have an idea that many of those who have bitterly fought the New Deal have little regard for true Democratic government."—Cleburne Times-Review.

"The court is now one-ninth packed," Said Former President Herbert Hoover when he was informed that the Senate had confirmed Hugo Black as a member of the Supreme judicial body." If the court is now "one-ninth" packed we wonder how Mister Hoover would describe the condition of the supreme body during the Republican period from 1921 to 1932 when SIX justices were named by THREE Republican presidents.—Cleburne Times-Review.

Our guess is that the Hon. "Hoiburt" knows his figures, being a great engineer, and therefore it was two-thirds packed then.

GOOD PRICES EXPECTED FROM EARLY FEED CATTLE

COLLEGE STATION—Texas feeders have prospects of an exceptional market for such heaves as they can finish out by the end of the year and the first two months of 1938, according to G. W. Barnes, animal husbandman of the Texas A. and M. Extension Service.

Barnes, who has recently completed a tour of the major grain and livestock areas of the State, reports that the grain crop is good over a major portion of Texas.

"The good grain crop over a large part of the State, in combination with the shortage of grain for early feeding in the corn belt, makes this an ideal year for Texas feeders," Barnes said. He warned however, that feeders should start their operations at once in order to get their animals well finished and on the market before corn belt heaves begin to move.

The excellent grain prospects in the corn belt have strengthened demand for feeder and stocker animals, Barnes pointed out. Texas normally sells about two million feeders and stockers each year, he said and feeds out around 150,000 heaves.

If heaves are placed on feed as soon as the grain supply warrants, so that the animals can be marketed before early April of 1938, Barnes believes that Texas feeders could profitably finish out from 300,000 to 500,000 animals.

It was also pointed out that twenty-four members of various groups engaged in this fraud against the public have been brought to trial and convicted.

When Big Spring secured the prize he was elated and sent us congratulatory letters. We started to draw on him for $1000 to help purchase the land but feared he would "pass out." Then when he heard we were to vote on a bond issue to purchase the site he was "fit to be tied" and threw a terrible tantrum. He wanted the hospital alright, but wanted George to foot the bill. —Big Spring News.

GREAT KILLER

Dr. Cox ranked syphilis as one of the "great killers" of the age, along with heart disease, cancer, tuberculosis, pneumonia and nephritis.

Researches show that it causes 15 per cent of organic heart disease deaths, one-fifth of those from the nervous system, many during infancy and from diseases of the kidneys, liver and stomach. Many of these deaths are not blamed on syphilis in mortality tables. Thus syphilis wins its rank among the Great Public Killers.

The actual gonorrhea toll is incalculable. But this disease, too, often is masked as another disease, such as prostate gland trouble and rheumat-

HOW NEW YORK FAIR MOVES BIG TREES BY HUNDREDS

NEW YORK (Special).—As the housewife reports geraniums or the gardener moves berry bushes, so does the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation transplant stately trees from five states to the 1216 1/2-acre exposition site. The Fair's landscape engineers explain that the moving of the big trees differs from the replanting of small shrubs only in the matter of size, and that modern mechanical aids make possible the creation of a mature-looking park on the newly made land of Flushing Meadow.

Shown at the top of accompanying photographs is a grown maple that has just been restored to upright position after a 120-mile ride on a specially-built truck.

Note truck's winch and the secure balling of earth about the tree roots. In the center is a 35-foot Norway maple, 12 tons weight, moving the last few yards to its new home by means of the forward gear of a modern tree mover. All trees shown, a number of the 474 veterans moved this spring, are new to the great expanse of filled land. The Fair will move 10,000 trees and 250,000 shrubs.

The Rest of the Record

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

This week demonstrated again the wisdom of taking the unrestrained power of pardon out of the hands of the Governor and placing it in the hands of a nonpolitical board.

Upon my return from Mexico I found four men condemned to die in the electric chair. Under the old system the Governor, with all his other cares and responsibilities, would have had to pass on these cases. It simply wasn't fair to compel him to submit to the tearful appeals of wives, mothers, relatives and friends. Although he might have a Legislature on his hands, although he might have sickness in his home or several other trying ordeals, he was placed in the position of weighing the life of a man and almost standing outside the death chamber watching the condemned man pace back and forth waiting for the deadly hour of twelve o'clock and the last walk to the little green chamber. I don't think I ever slept a wink on the night any man was compelled to pay the penalty.

Now it's different. Before the Governor can commute a death penalty, or grant any other kind of clemency, it has to be recommended by the Board of Pardons. The Governor can refuse to follow the Board if it recommends clemency, but cannot grant any whatever unless the Board recommends it.

There are three members of the Board. One only is appointed by the Governor, and the others by the Supreme Court and Court of Criminal Appeals. The members of the Board have several investigators and, of course, no other responsibilities than looking into clemency cases. In this manner both the convict and the public get a better deal than under the old system where the Governor was charged with all the responsibility in addition to his other duties.

I am proud of this great reform. We are not having any complaints about wholesale abuse of the pardon power. It is all based now on merit, and unquestionably everyone is much better satisfied.

Naturally I have been quite busy catching up with my correspondence after a two weeks vacation. However, on Friday of last week I flew down to Palacios on the Gulf Coast to review the 36th Division of the Texas National Guard in camp there. Texans generally probably do not realize what a wonderful organization of fine young men this is. Unquestionably we have one of the best National Guard units in the nation. Nearly 8,000 men train intensively at Palacios each summer for two weeks. This is in addition to their regular drills and parades back home. They are well equipped, well officered, and as fine soldiers as any I saw during the World War.

The total cost of military defense in Texas which is borne by the Federal government approximates more than a million dollars annually. The National Guard has in its possession more than four and a half million dollars of Federal property, guns, uniforms and equipments. Its payroll, including both men and officers from the highest to the lowest military grade while large in the aggregate averages only $83.50 per capita per year. Their time is given free as a patriotic duty.

In addition to the 36th Division, we have what is known as the 56th Cavalry Brigade, about 1100 in number who train for two weeks each year at Mineral Wells. As Commander-in-Chief of the Texas militia I always visit these two camps. It was a great joy to me upon my recent visit to Mineral Wells to hear one of the Federal army officers praise the cavalry brigade. He said that we had as good, if not the best, in the nation.

Of course, we don't want war, and I pray God we may always be spared what is going on in Europe. It has been the policy of the State, however, to maintain a regular militia from the beginning. The wisdom of this was demonstrated in the World War when our National Guard was the first nucleus around which our defense was built.

It is heartening to know that if a war emergency should arise, our guard is manned, officered, equipped, trained and ready for immediate service.

Of course, as most everyone knows soldiers don't have much use for a sailor. I was in the Navy during the World War and I had quite a bit of fun out of some of the National Guard officers by reminding them that their Commander-in-Chief was once a sailor!

I wasn't greatly surprised to find upon my return from Mexico that the politicians have been "buzzing" quite a bit. It is my understanding that State Superintendent of education L. A. Woods has been running around over the State making speeches condemning me for cutting the ad valorem property tax rate to the lowest it has been in some twenty years. I think this gentleman will find out next summer that the public won't approve of his making political speeches on State traveling expense.

Mr. J. L. Hyman, father of Mrs. Henry Chisholm is quite ill this week.

More About California

Just before leaving California the two boys and I drove down and went through the California Fruit Growers Products Co. Plant in Corona where I worked for two years, leaving there nine years ago.

Lemons that cannot be graded and packed are worked up in this plant. I have seen as many as 60 carloads of lemons on the track at once, waiting to be worked up. The Fruit Growers have a similar plant in Ontario for working up oranges. We used to get shipments of products from Italy to be finished in the plant at Corona. The lemon juice is made into citrate, citric acid, or concentrated and canned. The white substance between the peeling and the meat of the lemon is made into pectin for making fruit juices jell. The oil is pressed out of the rind, run through separators just large cream separators, some of it distilled, some not, then put in containers ready for shipment. I remember one ignorant man thinking if it was distilled it was what he wanted to drink, tried it and very nearly choked to death. The pulp from the lemon can successfully be made into feed, fertilizer, rope, or soap, but cost more than it is worth so it is destroyed.

We packed up, loaded in and pulled out from Corona to Tokio by way of Riverside, San Bernardino, and out to Barstow on the edge of the desert. Between San Bernardino and Barstow is Cajon Pass, a steady climb of 15 miles. Yes it was a Chevy, but the water boiled.

From Barstow we turned off to come by Las Vegas and Boulder, Nevada, to see Boulder Dam on the Colorado river. We came within a few miles of Death Valley, the lowest point in the U. S. and it is within 160 miles of the highest point in the U. S.

Between Boulder City and Boulder Dam is small Look Out Park, overlooking Lake Mead, which was created by backing the water up. The little park is on a mountain and gives a good view of the lake, public bathing and boating resort, and surrounding country. A railroad tunnel goes right through the mountain under the park. Lake Mead was named in honor of Dr. Elwood Mead, who was commissioner of the bureau of Reclamation in the Department of Interior, from 1924 to 1936, and was very instrumental in getting Boulder Dam project through. A statue of him is in the park.

The dam is 660 feet thick at the base, below it the water is 60 feet deep, above it is the lake. The lake has been filling two years and is now about half full, at present rate, it will take five years to fill. Near the dam the water is 461 feet deep and is 108 miles long. The largest artificial lake in the world. It would furnish drinking water for all the people in the world for 28 years.

There were two elevators to carry people from the top of the dam to the river bed where the power plant is below the dam. The elevator shaft is 528 feet down. There was enough cement used in the construction of the dam to build a pavement across the continent from Miami, Fla., to Seattle, Wash., making it a foot thick and 30 feet wide. We saw a truck loaded with gravel let down from the top to the bottom of the dam by means of 6 3/4 inch steel cables. The city of Los Angeles is transmitting electricity from the power plant to them by means of hollow copper tubing, costing 22 1/2 million dollars.

From there we came to Kingman, Ariz., and on to Flagstaff through the pines and the mountains on out across New Mexico by way of the petrified forest, and from Socorro down to Carrizozo, Roswell, near the bottomless lakes and onto Tokio and home. The mileage being 1227 miles while the Southern route is 1297 miles but is by far the best road, best and cheapest accommodations. Would advise anyone making the trip to go the southern route.

Have been to Lubbock since returning home and find Brownfield and Tokio have the best crops between Lubbock and California. Would to God our entire country was as well off spiritually as it is materially.

Yours truly,
Otto C. Perry

South Plains Cotton Placed at 595,000 Bales

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

First cotton bale estimate for 1937 to be made by a Lubbock cotton man was prepared the past week by V. O. Jennings, local buyer, who places his estimate for 18 counties at 595,000 bales.

"This estimate is made on the basis of no serious trouble from worms and other pests," Jennings explained. "Of course, if we get a lot of wet weather, there may be more trouble than there has been."

Lubbock county was placed first, with a production of 94,000 bales. This figure has only been exceeded once, in 1932 when 94,921 bales were ginned.

Dawson Ranked Second

Dawson county is second with 85,000 bales; Lynn, third with 81,000 bales and Lamb and Terry tied for fourth with 57,000 bales each. Terry, however, has included in its total Yoakum county. That county has no gin, its cotton all being ginned in Terry county. Production, however, is generally small, as the county has as a rule less than 10,000 acres in crop.

Crosby ranks sixth with 48,000 bales. Hockley is next with 40,000 bales. Hale, Garza and Floyd follow rapidly.

Jennings included only counties on top of the Cap Rock. He did not include Dickens, Motley and Scurry counties, cotton from which areas come into Lubbock.

Rains May Be Factor

The estimates were based on conditions as they existed the first part of the week. Rains since then may change the aspects to some extent.

Including the three counties partly on the Cap Rock, the area should gin about 667,000 bales. This is by far the largest in the history of the area, exceeding the 1932 and 1933 seasons by more than 150,000 bales.

Estimates are as follows, compared with 1936 production:

County	1937	1936
Bailey	15,000	16,511
Briscoe	8,000	2,731
Borden	2,000	NONE
Cochran	10,000	5,750
Castro	4,000	2,445
Crosby	48,000	22,897
Dawson	85,000	46,802
Floyd	22,000	11,127
Gaines	7,000	4,382
Hale	30,000	19,089
Hockley	40,000	37,766
Lamb	57,000	47,116
Lubbock	94,000	58,717
Lynn	81,000	46,767
Parmer	7,000	4,881
Swisher	3,000	NONE
*Terry	57,000	24,043
Total	595,000	348,202

*Including Yoakum.
Dickens is estimated by some to have a 21,000-bale prospect; Motley 16,000 bales and Scurry 35,000 bales. These counties last year ginned 9,802, 7,271 and 15,186 bales respectively.

J. M. HARRIS PASSES

Mr. J. M. Harris, age 64, passed away Monday, August 23, at his home, 6 miles north of Plains.

Funeral services were held at the ranch home Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with Rev. R. T. Breedlove of Brownfield in charge of the service. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maude Harris, a daughter, Mrs. McCargo, a son, Alvin of Brady, and an adopted son, Bill.

Atty. E. G. Moorhead of Austin, district attorney of Travis county, and Loomis Moorhead, policeman of that city and his two daughters, were up the past week end visiting their parents and grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Moorhead of Meadow, brother, and Rudolph Moorhead and family of this city.

J. H. Rowden of this city is a new reader of the Herald.

Around and Inch of Rain Received Here

While only two inches of rain has fallen in Terry county or rather in the government gauge in Brownfield up to this time during the month of August, it has been plenty for all present needs, as we started this crop with one of the best bottom seasons in the history of the county.

The rains of the past week end amounted to 95-100, 30-100 falling Thursday, and 65-100 Friday. The showers have been well distributed during the month as follows:

Aug. 5th, .55; Aug. 13, .15; Aug. 17, .65; Aug. 20, .30; Aug. 21, .65.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith and children, Jimmie and Monte Lee, and Miss Bettie Berryhill, of Kansas City, Mo., are guests of Mrs. G. W. Graves and family.

The combination we made with the Semi-Weekly Farm News last week was a misprint. It should have been $1.95 instead of $1.75.

Spring-Air

Here is the Most important Fact about Mattresses . . .

All Other Testimonials Are Trilling by Comparison!

There are two types of modern mattresses—Inner-spring and Outer-spring—each having advantages that can be explained to you by your dealer—without prejudice.

The right to make both types is shared by over three thousand bedding manufacturers in North America, many of whom do make the two types. Yet, of all Outer-spring mattresses in use throughout the continent, over 90% are Spring-Air!

WHY?

Because the records made by all competing spring units in this direct, out-in-the-open comparison show the unquestioned superiority of Spring-Air's guaranteed Karr Spring Unit!

Important as it is that the vital spring element in an Outer-spring mattress be right, it is even more important in the Inner-spring type the spring unit is buried inside and hidden from inspection.

Every Spring-Air Mattress—Inner-spring or Outer-spring—contains a genuine Karr Spring Unit, fully guaranteed to you in writing. The only way to get this guarantee is to insist on buying a mattress with the Spring-Air label,—priced from $24.50 to $45.00.

YOUR GUARANTEE

A vital part of the Spring-Air mattress is the guaranteed KARR Spring Unit—famous for Graduated Resiliency and body-conforming elasticity.

My Trip Through The Panama Canal

On July the 24th, 1937 Captain Nehls invited me to make the trip through the Canal on the Nueva Panama, a banana boat, the night before I did not sleep very much for fear I would be too late to catch the boat. The night reminded me of when I was a boy and the Circus was coming to town and we wanted to get to town to see them unload and to be ready for the parade. About five o'clock Mary called me to know if I were awake and I had been for over an hour. She and Lela got me some breakfast while I got ready. Mary drove me to the pier about 5:30 a. m. and we found out that we were about one and a half hours before the boat would come. Captain Nehls phoned to us that he had not left home yet. Mary stayed with me for nearly an hour and found out exactly what I had to do and where I had to go. She then went home. The negro boss who had charge of everything at the pier took me under his care. About 7 a. m. he sent myself and about 12 negro workers who were going to help guide the ship. All hands managing the boat while going through the canal are local hands. He put us in a row boat and sent us out to meet the ship. We met two ships. Part of the hands got off on one ship and the other part got on another ship. These ships were in deep ocean. The negroes helped me to get on the ship and showed me every courtesy while in the row boat and helping me get aboard the ship. When aboard the ship, the Captain helped to the bridge. He had told me to be sure to bring my hat as I would need it, but he did not tell me to bring an overcoat. He introduced me to the young Captain of the boat, who kindly offered me his overcoat. We were going north and facing a stiff breeze. His overcoat was very acceptable. I wore it all day and felt very pleasant under it. This young Captain Christendon, a Swede, and had been here about four months. He could speak English well and was very nice to me in every way. In fact he went out of his way to be nice to me. We went about eight miles until we came to the first locks which were open but we were signaled from the Control tower to wait. This we did until another ship going the same way that we were going caught up with us. Then we entered the locks. There were three ships in the same lock at the same time. When all the ships were in the Control Tower gave the signal and the gates behind us were closed. In the adjoining locks was another ship going in the opposite direction. The man in the Control Tower turned a lever and opened up the valves in the conduits by our sides and the water under the force of gravity began to enter one hundred and twenty openings in the distance of a thousand feet. You can see the water boiling up as in a tea kettle and you can feel the ship rising by the pressure of the water until the ship is raised 28 1/2 feet. Then the Captain gives the signal and our boat went forward. In the second lock our boat was lifted another 28 1/2 feet. When the chamber was full, Captain Nehls gave the whistle and the gates in front of us were opened, the ropes from the shore were pulled in and we sailed into the Miraflores Lake, which is 56 feet above the sea level and is about two miles long. We sailed in the canal through this lake until we came to the next locks, the Pedro Miguel, the gates are open and we enter this lock. After the three ships have entered the gates behind are closed and the water is permitted to enter the chamber and to raise the boats another 28 1/2 feet. When the chamber is full Captain Nehls gives the signal, the ropes are pulled to the shore and the ship sails into Gatun Lake which is 85 feet above sea level, and was the largest man made lake in the world until the one made by the Boulder Dam. We entered the Culebra Cut which is an arm of the lake and is nine miles long. Here is where nearly all the digging was done. We go through or between the hills 312 feet high which was dug to 49 feet of the bottom of the Canal. We passed by Old Empire where Beverley used to live and where we sent his mail. Now nearly all of the town is under water and the rest of it is deserted. Captain Nehls showed me where a premature explosion took place and where over one hundred men were killed. No one knows the cause of the explosion. On leaving the Culebra Cut, we came to the town of Gamboa, 16 miles from Balboa and is the head of the Dredging Division. This is a new town and most of it has been built since we came here. Two immense Cranes, the Hercules and the Ajax, are here and all the shops necessary for repairs. The streets are large and the houses are beautiful and comfortable. The lake widens out here and the ship goes through the marked channel about 34 miles until we come to the Gatun Locks. The locks here are three in number. In passing through the Gatun Lake we met eight ships going to the Pacific. One an English ship going to Australia. One an American ship, the Nebraskan, one a Greek ship headed with Greek letters. On coming to the Gatun Locks the gates are opened and we sail into the lock chamber. Then the gates behind are closed the boats are fastened to the sides and the water is permitted to flow from the lock chamber until we are 28 1/2 feet lower than when we entered. The gates in front are opened and we enter the second lock. Here the same thing occurs in this as in the first lock. We go down 28 1/2 feet. Then we enter the third lock where we are lowered 28 1/2 feet. Then we sail out into the dredged channel of the Atlantic ocean. It is 8 miles from here to the dock at Christobal. It takes us about forty minutes to make this trip. Our boat does not dock at Christobal but a launch comes to take Captain Nehls and the negroes and myself to shore. The launch is fastened to the ship and we back ourselves into it. Everyone as well as myself is careful that I do not fall into the sea. We reach the docks and then go to the City of Christobal where I remain until 5 p. m. when I board the train for Panama. It takes me an hour and ten minutes to reach home. Mary is there with her car to take me to home. I have been across the continent twice in one day, have had a dinner on the ship, and a pass on the train and it has not cost me a cent. —W. B. TOONE

SIDELIGHTS

By Marvin Jones, Congressman 18th District of Texas

The session of the Congress which is nearing its close has enacted more major farm legislation than any other session of Congress in the history of the government. Among the more important ones are:

1. Extending the operation of the present Soil Conservation Act to 1942.
2. Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act. This probably affects more farm products, in value, than any other measure that has been passed.
3. Farm Tenant Act.
4. Reduction of interest on Land Bank Loans.
5. Perishable Agricultural Commodities Act.
6. Great Plains Drought Act.
7. Farm Credit Act of 1937.
8. Crop Loans for 1937.
9. Cotton Classification.
10. Provision to destroy grasshoppers.
11. Extension of Commodity Credit Corporation.

The agricultural production of America is vast and far-reaching. More than 200 different agricultural commodities are produced in this country. The total income from the sale of these commodities is about $9,500,000,000 per year.

We are now endeavoring to work out general farm legislation. It is difficult for this to be done in a way that is fair to all sections.

For instance, the Farm Bureau presented a bill which on its face sounds well, but in reality it would be utterly unfair to our section. Under its terms, the corn growers would receive nearly as much in total payments as would the producers of wheat, cotton, rice and tobacco combined. This hardly seems fair to some of the Representatives from these latter areas.

Contrary to some reports, the President has not endorsed the Farm Bureau bill.

The President and the Director of the Budget have indicated that the most the farmers could hope to have appropriation for a farm program would be about $500,000,000 per year. This would mean if this bill were enacted that farmers could not hope to receive more than half the amount they would be promised, or 50c on the $1.00. I agree with most of those who have studied this question that any promise made by the government should be lived up to.

Then, too, the Farm Bureau would be very unfair to our country in that it would allot production on the basis of the ten-year average of the years 1937-1936, inclusive. As these years include the great drought years, it would be unjust to the Great Plains area.

Another provision that would have to be greatly changed in order to be practical is the provision in the Farm Bureau bill for so-called production "control." As a practical matter it is no control at all. It provides an allotment to farmers; then permits the farmers to sell any amount in excess which they pro-

GAS IS ENCOUNTERED IN TEST OIL WELL

A small amount of gas at the shallow depth of only 52 feet was encountered Sunday in the shallow oil test fifteen miles west of Tahoka on the Terry-Lynn county line it is said by local men who witnessed the phenomenon.

Gas emitted from the hole in sufficient quantity to cause a small explosion or "puff" when lighted matches were dropped into the hole. —Tahoka News.

A visiting teacher in Canyon points out the deplorable fact that there are more school trustees in the nation than there are school teachers. A large per cent of the trustees have no special qualifications to serve in the important place to which they are elected. Many of them are definitely unqualified, and are a great hindrance to the schools which they represent. The school business is the third largest function of the government. Perhaps more money has been wasted under the guise of education than through any other duce, but requires the United States District Attorney to file suit in the federal court for approximately $40.00 per bale on cotton, 50c per bushel on wheat, and 40c per bushel on corn as a penalty for the sale of the excess production.

In many parts of the Old South where there is a high percentage of tenancy and about one-half the farmers are colored, and also in certain other sections of the United States where there is a high percentage of tenancy, many feel that these suits could not be collected and that therefore the "control" would break down. It would be particularly hard on our country because judgements could be collected against a much larger number of farmers in our section than could be collected in many other areas.

These are just a few of the objections to that measure. I have found that we must be particularly careful to see that our section is not discriminated against. Many will remember the tremendous amount of work that we had to do a few years ago to get a proper allotment of wheat production in our section.

The Committee on Agriculture is endeavoring to work out a real farmers bill taking the best provisions of the Farm Bureau bill and eliminating the objectionable ones. Then, too, we have added a number of new features. These included:

1. A reduction in payment to the larger farmers on a graduated scale so as to make larger payments available for the small individual farmers.
2. Provision for research laboratories in each of the major agricultural producing areas.
3. A provision authorizing the Secretary of Agriculture to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for reduction in freight rates on farm products.

The President of the United States has done much for the farmers of America, and the Committee is working out a measure in harmony with his views. It will be truly a farmer's bill.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"H'm!" Quentin said noncommittally. Victoria, made vaguely uneasy by his tone, sent him another questioning glance. Quentin wasn't quite like himself on this hot still Sunday.

"The other doctors are going. Quent? You're to have your golf in the morning?"

"I don't know," he said irresolutely. "I thought I might telephone Johnny. We might have our golf right here. You'll get over there and see her, won't you, Vic?"

"Get—?" She was completely at sea, untying Susan's bib, as Susan bunted into her. "Take your cooky and run, darling," she said to the child, "and don't wake Baby—she's out on the side porch!"

"Get over and see the Morrisons," Quent completed it.

"Oh? Oh, yes!"

Somehow—somehow, something was wrong. Through the familiar scene a chill faint wind seemed to blow; a faint apprehension of trouble—of change. Vicky couldn't analyze it, it was only vaguely conscious that she felt it, but it was there.

"I'll walk over to the Morrisons' this afternoon for a few minutes, if you like, Quent," she said, on an impulse, after luncheon.

Quentin was stuffing his pipe; he did not look up. In their more than seven years of marriage he had never made a call that Vicky could remember. Now, sauntering forth into the garden in search of dogs, children, his favorite chair under the oaks on the long terrace, he spoke carelessly over his shoulder.

"Oh, don't you bother," he said, "you've got enough to do! I'll wander over there, later, and afterward I can give you some idea what sort of an outfit it is."

"You'd be a darling to do that!" Victoria said. But oddly she did not feel happy about it, and it was from that Sunday that she dated the change in Quent. Not understanding why, she nevertheless was conscious of the fact that life somehow didn't go back, after that Sunday, to what it had been before.

Just two weeks after the day when Vicky and Quent had first met their lovely neighbor, her eyes were suddenly opened, and after that Victoria understood.

that divided the Hardisty property from the small but exquisitely groomed estate of the Morrisons next door. There was a small strip of lane there, and in the lane Vic saw a white figure, with the level light of the setting sun shining bright on pale gold hair and illuminating the white parasol as if it were a lantern lighted against the dusky shadows of the lane.

Mrs. Morrison, of course. She was talking to someone, apparently; she had the air of a person talking. But her companion was quite invisible against the hedge; it was tall enough to hide anyone who was close to it on the other side. Victoria stood watching her and reflecting upon the inescapable power of the beauty that had been so suddenly introduced into their compact little group.

Mrs. Morrison continued talking in the lane; the revolving frills of the parasol tumbling, tumbling. Dusk was falling fast now; Anna, coming upstairs, touched the switch that lighted the hall behind Victoria. How many would there be for supper, please? Victoria turned about; considered. The Keates had there.

She Was Talking to Someone, Apparently.

Quentin had said that he thought he would go over to the club, might play another eighteen if it got cooler, might watch the polo. Vicky saw him off, had a cloud-clearing talk with Mollie, who since her marine was in port was given the rest of the afternoon and the evening as a special concession; helped Nurse to the extent of opening all the little beds, laying out night apparel, putting away various books and toys in the nursery.

Finally they were all in bed, with books, and Victoria's head and hair jerked into a hundred agonizing directions by warm good-night kisses and embraces. Five minutes past seven, and supper due within the hour—oh, dear, not much room for rest in there! Her chignon was at the cleaner's. Perhaps that white one that she had worn this morning.

There was a wide upper hallway in the house, filled now with a pleasant half-light, like the light under water. Victoria, closing the nursery door behind her, lingered for a moment at its big open window, looking out at the cooling and softening day, breathing the freshened air, resting her eyes on the greenness of the great trees.

So standing, she could look down at the drying yard, and the berry vines, and the flat stretch of neglected lawn where a cow grazed, and the gate in the evergreen hedge out of the upper hall window, she was talking to someone—gardener, maybe—but no, it's Sunday night. Maybe it was a lover." Vic said, trying a heel, scowling, taking up the slipper to flex it vigorously. "She's having a terribly dull time, poor soul, with a sick husband and no friends here."

Quentin was pulling his face about with hard fingers, testing his shave. He was non-committal.

When he and she were going to bed after the bridge game, quite suddenly Quent said:

"How about asking them to dinner?"

"Who?"

"The Morrisons."

"Oh? Oh, d'you suppose he'd come? He seems so cross. I can't imagine him social and agreeable."

"Sure he'd come. She said today he would."

A second's electrical pause. Then Vicky said without volition exactly what she did not want to say, in exactly the tone she did not want to use—silly suspicious words in a wife's light suspicious tone:

"Oh? I didn't know you'd seen her today?"

"I met her, coming back from my walk," Quent answered, wondering at the same instant why he hadn't said that he had seen her for a moment at the club.

"In the lane?"

"Yep."

Vicky was silent a moment. When she spoke, it was to say amiably that she would go over to see Serena in a day or two to arrange the dinner. But under her surface serenity she felt a little sick from the sudden jarring awakening, sudden vague fears. So-o-o—that was it, was it? It was Quent to whom Serena had been talking in the lane.

Quent kissed her good-night—a careless kiss on the top of her head—went to his own sleeping porch. Almost immediately she heard him snoring. But Vicky lay awake for nervous, restless, unreasoning hours.

CHAPTER IX

Vicky made a point of calling upon her neighbors a day or two later, to invite them to dinner.

Feeling oddly formal in her silk gown, with calling cards in her purse and white gloves carried as a final touch, Vicky sat in the patio of the Morrison house with the injured man and his lovely wife, and talked somewhat stiltedly and constrainedly. She and Dr. Hardisty lived very quietly, she explained: "as indeed a doctor has to do when he is building up his practice, and has six small children!" Vicky ended, with a little laugh.

"Oh, yes, you poor thing!" Serena said so heartily that Spencer Morrison laughed his sinister laugh, and Vicky hated her.

"I didn't know whether coming to dine with us would give Mr. Morrison any pleasure or not," Vicky said later, when she was walking home, and Serena had volunteered to accompany her.

"I beg pardon?"

"I was wondering if Mr. Morrison would think it more bother than it was worth?"

"Oh, he can walk that far," Serena said vaguely.

Victoria did not pursue the subject. They were in the little lane that separated the two properties now, and suddenly she stooped and picked up a small bright object. And as she did so she felt her heart begin to beat faster, and the blood in her face.

"Quent's cigarette lighter!" she said. "He's been looking for it everywhere."

"Imagine," Serena commented, undisturbed.

"He probably dropped it," Vicky said, suddenly trembling. "When you and he were talking here in the lane last Sunday."

Half an hour later Quent came upstairs to find Vicky changing her gown for dinner.

Gene Autry and his cowboy comedy partner Smiley Burnette this week entertained 200 "Movieland Tour" guests brought here from all over the country by Fawcett's movie magazines. The western stars were guests of honor at a dinner for the visitors in a swanky night club. Gene delighted them by singing cowboy songs to the accompaniment of his guitar, and Smiley rendered comedy songs with accordion aid.

The pair became the talk of Hollywood last week when 20th Century-Fox Studios tried to buy their contract from Republic Pictures. From reliable sources your columnist learned that half a million dollars had been offered for the pair and their director, Joe Kane, Republic, however, refused even that.

Errol Flynn, vacationing off Mexico in his fishing cruiser, discovered that tennis shorts may be all right in Hollywood but now below the border. He came ashore in them; was flagged down by a gaudily uniformed Mexican cop, and the ensuing heated argument ended in the star buying a pair of Mexican pants before he could do his errands.

Leo Carrillo, Otto Kruger, Jean Parker and Andy Clyde and the rest of "The Barrier" cast returned from the snows of Mt. Baker, Washington growling about the heat. When told they looked like they had been living "the life of Riley" Carrillo declared it was because "that clown Clyde was out at dawn nearly every-day trout fishing. It was no trick for him to bring in a limit before breakfast so most of the time we all felt like a stuffed fish."

Clyde, a 16 millimeter camera hound, also brought several hundred feet of beautiful mountain scenery filmed in exquisite color. He cuts and titles his film himself—has it to entertain with his home projection machine.

ON THE SETS: Buck Spencer, blacksnake whip artist who was on the vaudeville stage for years, got a bloody nose during an odd accident filming "Boots and Saddles" with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette. To show a bomb being exploded in the front parade ground a charge of powder was buried in the gravel, exploded by an offstage battery wired to it. Buck was struck in the nose by a stone hurled in the cloud of dust.

James Cagney, perched on the back of an open touring car, sings a love song to the world as he is motored about town at midnight. But the scene was being made on a sound stage, with the "street" moving away from the stationary car on a movie screen behind him. Between takes a secretary brought out checks, which Jimmy signed by using his top hat for a desk. After four takes of the song Cagney said: "A little flat at the end, I think." So they did it twice more.

Claudette Colbert, after being out four days with a bad cold, found the cold useful when she had to do a crying scene, in a little Paris bedroom set. It was easy for her to sniffle and weep as Charles Boyer pleaded with her not to cry.

Stuart Erwin, doing the comedy role in "I'll Take Romance" for the past ten weeks, rushed out of his dressing room, to find his director had ordered "Roll 'Em" without having him before the camera. "You did not even miss me" Stu kidded.

WISECRACKS: Max Terhune says the Hollywood idea is that "It's better to have been loved and divorced than never to have had any publicity at all!" And Ralph Byrd defines a press agent as "the guy who cackles when the star lays an egg."

ODD FACTS: Jack Holt holds the record for steady stardom—twenty-two years—and started by doing the stunt of jumping a horse 35 feet into the Russian river for the movies. His handsome 18 year old son, Tim, recently was given a screen contract and his first role in "Stella Dallas."

ILLINOIS FENCE FOR NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—Illinois-made fencing is being shipped to the New York World Fair for enclosure of the 393.8 acres comprising the central exhibit area. This was learned when Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, announced the award of a first fencing contract to the Cyclone Fence Company, whose New York offices are at 370 Lexington Avenue.

Officials of the manufacturing firm announced that its Waukegan plant was shipping the fencing and that installation would start as soon as the first steel reached the 1216 1/2-acre exposition site on Flushing Meadow.

The contract price of the nine-foot steel fence installed, complete with gates and concrete footings at ten-foot centres, as derived from figures submitted by pre-qualified bidders, is $32,812. About three miles of fence are required to enclose the central exhibit area along three sides and down to the Flushing river.

Immediate enclosure of the tract was made necessary, Mr. Whalen said, by the great and varied construction work that is already taking place on the site two years in advance of the Fair's opening date. The Illinois-made fence will enclose all of the Transportation Zone of the exposition and the area that will be dominated by the two Theme Centre wonders, the Perisphere and Trylon.

BUILDING TESTS WALLS FOR FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—Although the opening date of the New York World's Fair is still almost two years away, the Fair site already has one building that mystifies all persons who pass that way and one that is of great interest to the contractors and builders of the whole country. The big sign says it is the "best building."

The building can be made to do a lot of things just short of a late dance step. It can be made to twist, heave, buckle, sag or otherwise contort, all at the will of the Fair's engineers. It has a sawed-off tower arrangement on one end. Some sections of its walls are dazzling under the sun and are, obviously, encrusted with bits of broken glass. Its four walls, in fact, comprise 43 different set-ups of material, supports and surface coatings. When its day is done it will be made to collapse by the turn of a screw.

The unique building is typical of nothing other than itself, say Fair officials, since it is just a set of walls, upon which to try out the merits of various types of wall coating and stucco treatments.

The durability, appearance and structural peculiarities of walls are of great importance to the Fair, since its 300 buildings will require around 15,000,000 square feet of such enclosures.

The interior of this "wall laboratory" is given over to the Corporation's illumination engineers and their experimentation with new lighting devices.

BE QUIET

There is a proverb which runs, "When you're rattled don't rush." When you don't know what to do, do nothing. When a dense fog settles upon a harbor full of ships, the only wise course is for each to cast anchor and stand still. If one persists in going ahead, it is likely to ram another, and send both to the bottom. The fog will lift and if we have patience; it is locally temporary.

When we are utterly confused, a quiet talk with a friend, or a good night's rest and sleep will often restore good judgment and clear purpose. Isaiah says: "He that walketh in darkness and hath no light let him trust in the name of Jehovah, and rely upon his God."

When we are rattled, we forget that the area of confusion is within us. If we can look out upon the universe and up to God, we find that law and order prevails; the cosmos is not tumbling into ruins and God is upon His throne. Here is the advantage of prayer, it takes us away from ourselves into a vaster surrounding area the region of God's love and power undisturbed by the convulsions which upheave and dis-may our little souls.—Plainview Community Weekly.

"The problem of personal finance is the problem of getting dollars ready to put to work when death or old age destroys earning power," wrote a life insurance expert.

The world is full of tragic examples of people who didn't have those dollars to put to work—old men and women, living on charity or the bounty of relatives.

Many of them purchased what they thought were secure savings plans—only to see their investments swept away.

Today the life insurance sales show that millions of our citizens have decided that this isn't going to happen to them.

LITTLE POLAND

Panna Maria, the oldest Polish settlement in the United States was established near San Antonio in 1853 by a group of immigrants who had been practically driven out of their native land. Penniless and disheartened, the settlers were aided by nearby ranchers and more fortunate colonists until they could support themselves.

With thrift, persistence and work the group soon developed into a thriving community. Many of the original homes built of hand-quarried stone because there was no wood, still remain in the modern Panna Maria.

Give little Jim Allred a place among the elocutionists or expressionists. Irvin S. Cobb once described the effect of drinking squirrel whiskey by saying it gave all the sensations of swallowing a lighted kerosene lamp. Now young Mimmie in Mexico with his father tastes maguay,

LAW PROHIBITS RIDING WITH DRUNKEN DRIVER

Riding in cars operated by drunken drivers is against the new traffic law in Minnesota. The New Ulm Journal says, "Even if you are sufficiently foolish to risk your life with a drunken driver, you will not be permitted to do so under the Minnesota statute."

If the operator of a tavern should, in an exasperated moment advise one of his patrons, who has imbibed well but not too wisely, to "get in his car and drive home," he also is subject to arrest under the new law.
