Just as cold weather season opens,
Seagraves gets their ice plant started—bur-r-r!

A young lady asked her boy friend, who was a blooming poet, if he was always inspired when he wrote. "No, not when I write home for money,"
he replied.

Every time that cotton gets low,
all of us in one big concert begin to inquire why we do not wrap cotton in cheap cotton bagging instead of imported jute. Well, why don't we?

Editor Murray McWhorter of the Brownfield News informed us last week that he had purchased the interest of his partner, Eldon Wade, in that publication, and that he was now sole owner and publisher.

Charley Green of the Austin Statesman got off a good wise crack at an Austin banquet, recently. The president's western trip was under discussion, when Green remarked: "Yes, everybody's against the president
now except the people."

Daily papers generally are greatly disappointed with FDR's western trip. They were in hopes he would have a lot to say about "packing" the supreme court. Even some of the US senators out that way expected to be gouged, but weren't, and are now figuring that Frank is not such a bad guy after all.

A very interesting little publication came to our desk this week, under the title, South Plains Scout News. The News is staffed by some members of almost every scout troop in this section, Harold Simms, being the press club member from Brownfield. The Executive Staff consists of Earl M. McClure, Area Scout Exsistant Executive and Editor. The News is a 4 column, 4 page paper, but while small in size claims a circulation of 3000.

The overwhelming majority of Texans are once and for all against diverting the state highway funds to the general or any other fund. Texas lacks considerable yet having all the paved highways it needs. And whether you want to admit it or not, the Texas highway department is just about the only efficiently conducted branch of the state government we have. Let's keep our highway funds intact. Should the $5-000,000 proposed part of these funds be side tracked, Texas would lose just five million match dollars from the federal government. Tain't good business.

We have at last found out perhaps why Charley Guy is mad at the government. He perhaps had to advertise for a site for them when they built the postoffice in Lubbock. The ad is not so hard, but it would take two Philadelphia lawyers to figure out the bill to be presented for payment.
We figured, filled in, scratched out and refilled until we got "regusted"
and sent the things in. If they pay it, ok, otherwise we'll just donate that much to Uncle Sam. We've spent all the time on the complicated thing we're going to spend. Why must the government always have their application blank so complicated?

Those who gamble on the stock market—or at least many of the gamblers—lost their shirts last week in the biggest crash of the year. The losses were paper losses. The real values are still there, just as they were before the crash. Substantial businesses will continue to make a profit, regardless of the manipulations of the gamblers. A Japanese war scare started the downward swing.

This writer is for the farm class of people, as he was reared on the farm, but he is more for the farmer who works. Our farm was never idle and we never wanted for the necessities of life nor asked aid. Yes, there were men then who whined
about the hard time they were having, but they were people who never made an effort to clean up nor take interest in the community, in school nor church, nor even an election.—

WHAT IS A BOY SCOUT?

Scout? What fun he finds in hiking into the woods! He can tell north from south by the moss on the trees, or east from west by the shadows.

He talks to a brother Scout across a river by signaling. He knows the principal trees and birds and animals that he meets, he knows which are poisonous weeds or reptiles, he can find his way by the stars as did the Indians and pioneers before him.

If matches are forgotten, he laughs and proceeds to kindle a fire by rubbing sticks together or striking flint on steel. The fire once started, what good things he can cook out there in the open. He keeps himself physically fit, he avoids poisons of alcohol or tobacco, he guards his tongue from loose speech or boasting or sacrilege.
When he speaks of anyone, he tries to speak well of him.

one each day make him many friends for the way to have friends is to first BE ONE. His motto is "Be Prepared-ed" and he thinks through in fire or storm. When someone is injured he is "ready" to help him with his First Aid Knowledge.

He always tries to be an useful citizen. He helps his community.

Another big thing a Scout enjoys is CAMPING—there he finds fun in game or swimming— finds new friends in other fellows—and there among the trees, or under God's silent stars, or by the campfire's ruddy embers, he dreams out his great tomorrow.

SAVING THE GAME

DENTON, Oct. 12.—Moans and groans over the fact that the buffalo is gone forever from the Texas range are all very well, but forward-thinking people are doing something more than groan over the gradual demise of other types of Texas wildlife.

The Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, A. & M. College, the American Wildlife Institute, and the United States Biological Survey are now all working together to protect and increase the wildlife resources of Texas.

Methods of such groups include the study of habits and necessities of various birds and animals, a continual restocking of game preserves, and the careful formation of game laws for the mutual benefit of hunter and hunted. These determined workers must have the full support of Texas hunting citizens if this conservation policy is to be effective.

HUNTER vs. HUNTED

Quail meat on the dinner table might well become a delicacy of the golden past were it not for the constant efforts of state game officials to keep such birds evenly distributed over the state.

Last year over 4,375 quail were raised on the game preserves and distributed, 315 wild turkeys and 123 deer. There are 97 state game preserves where this work is carried on, encompassing over 2,699,293 acres.

$200 IN SCHOLARSHIPS FOR TECH JOURNALISTS

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 5.—Three annual cash scholarships amounting to $200 for journalism students of Texas Technological College, offered for the current school year, are announced by Cecil Horne, head of the Journalism department. Awards will be made for high scholastic rating and for excellence in reporting.

The Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson Journalism Scholarship, given by Mrs. J. T.
Hutchinson of Lubbock, is a $100 cash award to the journalism student of sophomore or junior standing who makes the highest scholastic average during the year. The money will be available for college expenses in Tech
the ensuing school year. Mrs. Hutchinson received her B. A. degree in history from Texas Technological College in 1934.

Through the interest of Chas. A.
Guy and Parker F. Prouty, publisher and manager of the Avalanche-
Journal of Lubbock, The Avalanche-Journal Journalism Scholarship of $50 is offered annually. The award will be made for the best work in reporting during the fall semester. Tech journalism students get part of their training as reporters by working on the Avalanche and Journal.

THE SCHOOL OR GANG

If you ask a boy which he would rather have, a school book or an automobile, he will probably choose the automobile. After he grows up and feels handicapped by ignorance,
he may wish he had chosen the book.

When the school house opened its doors in September, a similar choice was offered before the child. The school offered him the world's wisdom and experience. Meanwhile the street crowd would entice him away to the unclear pleasure of the kid world.

The schools of Texas do not ask him to spend his entire time in study.
Bookworms are a lovely tribe who do not conquer the earth. But the pupil has to choose whether or not study is to be his main aim.

The boy or girl is pretty young for a choice on which the future depends.
Teachers and parents help make that choice right. But the student has to make his own decision. Which is it, boy or girl, high jinks now, or success and prosperity for a life time?

HUMAN BLUE PRINTS

Newspaper jests express profound truths. There is that recent one, about the relief agent who told the wife that he "heard she had a model husband." She said, "He ain't a working model, only a blue print."

Then that one about the husband, who explained the financial situation so well to his wife. She said, "It's wonderful to know so much about money without having any of it."

There are many human blue prints, people with grand plans and great thoughts, who don't seem to be building anything from these ideas.

There are many who have heads stuffed with knowledge, which they are unable to trade for bread and rent money. People better not spend time in dreaming, which gets them no

Meadow News

This cloudy, moist weather is not so good for cotton picking and I am just wondering if farmers wouldn't prefer a sandstorm instead. Anyway I feel sure they are wishing for sunny weather.

Meadow football team, pep squad, teachers and others went to Level-land Thursday night for the game between our boys and Ropes. From some cause Ropes won. It might have been due to the fact our pep squad girls had new dresses they wanted to "strut" instead of yelling for our team. (I don't think.)

Bro. Jno. Burkhardt did not begin the meeting at Bennett last Friday night since there were so many cases of Scarlet Fever there and at Plains. It was postponed until October 29th.

Mrs. Wayne Daniell and children, Billy and Mary Kate, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Daniell.

Miss Bonnie Johnson spent Sunday with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Wheeler attended the Primitive Baptist meeting at Brownfield Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Maddox of Lamesa visited relatives here Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Turnbough and children were in Lubbock on business Saturday afternoon.

Mr. A. L. Hartzog and Noble Harris attended the F. F. A. meeting at Ropes Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Webb and sons, Alton and Oscar returned from Cutler, Calif., recently. We can't find out for sure if they expect to move over there, but we think they still like to live in Terry county.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDonald recently returned from a trip through Oklahoma, and Arkansas. They seemed to have found some desirable places, but no "Fountain of Youth," so I take it they will still reside in Meadow. While away they visited their son, Julian and wife at Pampa, Texas. Julian has a good position fitting shoes in a good store there.

Miss Merle Rickey spent the day with Miss Martha Lou Chesshire.

Mr. Norris Norman, who is attending school at Tech, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Norman.

Mr. Nathan Chesshire, who is attending school at Canyon, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Chesshire over the week end.

Mr. Hartzog's sisters, who are attending school at Tech spent Saturday night and Sunday with the Hartzogs.

Gomez News

Hey! Hey! Look what's here! A three act farce entitled, "Cherio My Deario," will be presented again in the Gomez school auditorium, Friday night, October 15, by the Gomez Ex-Students. If you have seen it, see it. Admission prices are 10c for children and 15c for adults, and 50c for the family.

Rev. Hicks held his regular services Saturday night, Sunday, and Sunday night.

A large number of people attended the Baptist Workers Conference of last Tuesday.

Mrs. Mary Swindle, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Joe Whitley, returned to her home in Cisco, Texas, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lee and children were guests in the W. G. Swain home, Sunday.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

R. T. Breedlove, Pastor

There is no service of the church more impressive, worshipful or helpful than is that of the Lord's Supper administered in the proper manner. A solo by Miss Althea Lundstrum whose singing has been the delight of clubs as well as the church and other assemblies, will be sung at the morning service. The pastor will preach on "The Great Question" at eleven o'clock, and Dr. W. M. Pearce, presiding elder, will deliver the evening sermon at seven forty-five. The fourth session of the quarterly conference will be held following the preaching service. We hope every official will be present.

Mrs. R. T. Breedlove and Miss Althea Lundstrum will meet with the Intermediates in Hi-League at 6:45 and Mr. Emmett Smith will meet the Seniors for another of those fine, democratic discussions of what we believe at seven o'clock. Young people are enjoying those informal discussions very much.

Our Nazarene Brethren, led by Brother Arthur Scudday, are holding a meeting at this church. You are invited to attend all through the week. There is a distinct place for a Nazarene Church in Brownfield, and we bid these brethren God speed.

MEADOW GIRL OFFICER OF GAVEL CLUB

Elizabeth Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nelson of Meadow, is secretary of Gavel Club, forensic organization of Abilene Christian College according to announcement made Monday night following elections.

Miss Nelson is a senior in Abilene Christian college. She lettered last year in debate; and this year is a member of the college a capella chorus; Melpomenean Players, dramatic organization; and a member of the ACC library staff.

October 9, is The Date Set For Roundup

According to announcement reaching us from the head office of the Area Council Boy Scouts, Mr. Earl McClure informs us that the Sustaining Membership Roundup for Brownfield will be on October 29, and will be under the direction of James H. Dallas, chairman of the Roundup.

At that time there will be a heavy drive for membership among our business and professional men, as well as perhaps among prominent farmers and ranchmen who believe strong enough in the Scout movement, to become a sustaining member. So, if it is possible that Mr. Dallas' committee will not be able to find you conveniently, leave word with him at the postoffice how much you will give by the month, or a lump sum for the ensuing year.

There is no use for the Herald to tell you how much scouting is worth to the community in shaping the lives of boys, to make them good, patriotic citizens, as well as helping to prepare them for the battles of life as useful men to the community. You have seen all this yourself; the fruits of scouting gives daily evidence of its worth to the community.

Laymens Meeting Carded For Lubbock

A number of our men of the First Baptist church were in Lubbock Tuesday and Tuesday night at a meeting of laymen of the South Plains in District No. 9, of Texas, Bro. Brien being District Missionary of said District. A working Unit of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

Earl J. Smith of Dallas, Texas, its President of the Baptist Brotherhood, made up of 175 thousand men of Texas. Not preachers, but laymen who have joined hands in a concerted movement for the advancement of Christian Education, Evangelism, and Missions in Texas, and to all parts of the world. A drive is now on for 100 thousand dollars to be in the Church Treasurer by the end of October when the General Convention of Texas will meet at El Paso, Texas. This money will be spent on the urgent causes sponsored by the Baptist of Texas, among which is Evangelism, among our Mexican population, Hospitals and Church schools. The Baptist of Texas own property that run into the millions, that include our hospitals church schools, seven in number. The laymen of Texas have joined hands with the preachers and are taking over in a large way the business affairs of our great co-operative program, the handling of money and the payment of debts against our institutions. Debts are being paid at

AMERICA'S MOST COPIED RADIO... AGAIN A YEAR AHEAD

YOUR WASHINGTON AND MINE

By James E. Pope

Washington, Oct. 11.—Roosevelt bears the historical distinction of being the first occupant of the White House to recognize old-age pensions as a moral obligation of the U. S. Government.

Had his Administration brought into existence nothing constructive besides this, the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt would still go down in history as that of a great President, a far-seeing statesman, an outstanding and friendly helper of mankind. Admitting that the present Social Security law is inadequate and insufficient and not all who need and deserve pensions are getting pensions under it, and that the present set-up is not commensurable and not workable in many of the weaker or more indifferent states, it still stands as a milestone in human progress and social achievement in America.

For one thing—and this is important—it commits the National Government to the principle of old-age protection through pensions without casting upon the beneficiaries thereunder the stigma of charity. But with all that, the status of the program is yet wholly experimental. It is felt that President Roosevelt would gladly welcome a more workable plan, one which might give the country something more desirable than the not altogether workable Social Security law as it now stands. It is sensed that he might revamp the whole pension structure, and in this reconstruction give the people a program that will pay direct Federal pensions of $30 a month, minimum, and make this the sole function of the Government, independent of what the several states may or may not render in the way of co-operative assistance.

All this Black-Klan backfire and bushwhacking—with ammunition supplied by the Administration's lack-friends—would sound more convincing were it not so diaphanously plain that their target is Roosevelt and not Black. At some time Mr. Black may have turned adapter for political expendency—and got caught. Others simply were not caught. But many of us regard his radio talk as a finer showing for tolerance than that exemplified by some of the intolerant ones who cannot tolerate Mr. Justice Black's declamation of intolerance.

This correspondent's ancestors were members of the original Klan in the Old South during the Reconstruction days of another century, yet we hold no brief for nor do we champion the cause of those who today, parading under a similar title, seek to propagate their sweet hells of bigotry. This is no plea for racketeering gangsters who care only for the gate receipts, who preach racial and religious hatreds in furtherance of un-Christian schemes merely for the purpose of collecting enrollment fees.

This is another day. But the dark days following Appomattox and the assassination of the noble Lincoln brought terror to the hearts of Southerners—terror in its most unspeakable form a million times more ghastly than war. It was the terror spread by moral hyenas and jackals, those too cowardly to fight in Grant's army and despised by the North, who, after the bullets stopped flying, swooped down to pillage the helpless Dixieland, and by inciting ignorant blacks to acts of violence on the persons of girl-children and women, brought into being the Ku Klux Klan of that day.

It stands as a lasting tribute to the undying spirit of American manhood that these human skunks made a concerted exodus, a sudden going forth—many of them not more than three jumps ahead of the trigger-finger or the noose!

Perhaps these Southern fathers, brothers and husbands of outraged girls and women not being legal technicians, were technically guilty of ruthless intolerance? If so, the members of that patriotic band known as the Boston Tea Party were equally ruthless and intolerant.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson—soldier and patriot—starts crying out loud in his soup simply because President Roosevelt registers nausea in viewing the brigandish ambitions of lawless and murderous nations. Hearing the General as he emotes choleric and bellicose belligerency with gruesome dictation, in his attempt to administer political adrenalin, one might believe that the President had mobilized the army and navy for the purpose of making a punitive invasion.

Every schoolboy and General Johnson know that Mr. Roosevelt had and has no thought of provoking a fight and that there will be no fights. Official condemnation of wholesale murder, as voiced in Roosevelt's Chicago speech, finds sympathetic sanction in the hearts of millions—but this country is not headed for war!

Eight members of the physical culture class met at the gym Monday night, for their weekly instructions. Miss Althea Lundstrum, who is in charge of this work says her class is getting along nicely. There are still a few vacancies and any one interested in this work is welcome to come. The next meeting will be Monday night, October 18th.

A large crowd attended the dance Saturday night at the Venetian Auditorium. Many people coming from Lubbock, Lamesa and Tahoka.

4 District 5 Teams Remain Undefeated

Four teams came out of last week's play with unblemished records in District 5, Class B.

Two previously unbeaten teams, Littlefield and Crosbyton, tasted defeat for the first time and Olton scored its first victory after receiving 4 straight setbacks in the district chase.

Slaton turned its full steam on in the last half against Littlefield to dampen the Wildcats' hopes of repeating for the conference championship. Littlefield held its own in the first half but with a capacity crowd looking on, the Tigers counted twice in the last two quarters to triumph, 27 to 13.

Brownfield Impressive

Brownfield stepped over Crosbyton, 32 to 6, to gain its third victory in the race. Crosbyton was after its third win.

Tahoka proved to be a trouble maker for another topnotcher by holding Levelland to a 13-6 margin. The Bulldogs have been luckless in four starts. The Lobos remained atop the heap by percentage of points.

The Rails Jackrabbits had evidently lost their left hind leg in their game with Levelland and were unable to get started against Olton. The Longhorns won 13 to 0.

The Golden Tornadoes of Lamesa withstood the threat of the invading gridders from Bowie High school of El Paso to eke out a 7-0 victory in an intersectional game.

Post-Cowhands Game Tie

Post got no better than a scoreless tie with the Lubbock Cowhands.

Quicker Oiling - Quicker Starting with WINTER OIL-PLATING

You know that your engine must be oiled instantly throughout, or be tortured at every cold start.

You can imagine trying to rush cold oil everywhere at once, through scores of tiny oil-holes and passages.

How long before lubricant gets to where it is badly needed?

Less than no time at all! . . . with Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented.

This is the Winter oil that gives you far greater surety than mere fast flow. It OIL-PLATES your engine.

Before any other oils can even start to go where needed, exclusive OIL-PLATING has already arrived! In fact, it's been there all the time, because Germ Process action on all moving parts leaves them lastingly OIL-PLATED.

OIL-PLATING cannot drain down. It smooths and speeds the first turn of your ice-cold engine. Saves battery juice. And you save quarts of oil this Winter, by changing now to Germ Processed at your Conoco Mileage Merchant's.

SCREEN STARS AT HOME: A five o'clock invitation to Andy Clyde's New England Colonial brick house found him still in the garden, clad only in bathing trunks, watering the purple lantana he'd just set in. Told me he was going to tear out a long strawberry bed to make a nine hole putting green. Golf is a great hobby with both he and Mrs. Clyde, and he explained "it's the three hole putts you need to practice on." At dusk we went to see the gorgeous color pictures he filmed near Mt. Baker, Washington, while making "The Barrier" with Leo Carrillo and Jean Parker. The opening title of the 300 foot reel read: Producer—Andy Clyde.

Director—Andy Clyde, Cameraman—Andy Clyde, Film Cutter—Andy Clyde. And last, swelling out in letters a foot high: Scenarist—Andy Clyde!

The blue sky, pine clad hills, and snow-drifted rock mountains surrounding an azure blue mountain lake were in magnificent color. There were delightful shots of Carrillo lazing in the sun, of Jean Parker making faces when Clyde moved into a close-up, and lastly a foursome of Carrillo, Clyde, Otto Kruger and the director harmonizing in a "Sweet Adeline" quartet out under the pine trees.

It's Not All Fun Being An Actor! Returning today from a week's location with the company shooting "Springtime in the Rockies" Smiley Burnette reported that he lost eight pounds working in the heat. Further, with one morning during the entire week in which he had a chance to sleep until noon, a lumber truck started at five a. m., dumping loads of lumber alongside his hot!

"They were going to build an addition," Smiley explained, "but it might just as well have been an all-day earthquake for me. About once an hour all morning a truck hauled up under my window, dumped several tons of lumber with a crash, and instead of sleeping I jumped as though the hotel were falling down. Such a life!"

There is widespread and pleased talk about the new energy and ambition being displayed by 55 year old John Barrymore. For the past two years he has done little on the screen, while recently he completed his fourth film in a row for one studio. He very frankly declares that his reunion with "my Elaine" has done wonders for him. Says she has taken control of his diet, his sleeping hours, and even his recreation, which used to be chiefly of the alcoholic type.

ON THE SETS: Director Joe Kane making his fourteenth consecutive western starring the music and comedy team of one Autry and Smiley Burnette, was taking a razing this week. He had four college girls playing an important part in the story and shot several scenes of them in their banner-decorated dormitory room. Cast and crew alike kidded him for going "effeminate," or of losing his hard boiled western style. And Kane, a real outdoors boss of screen cowboys, went red from his collar up. Blonde Miriam Hopkins is doing a terrific burn. The day after her recent sudden marriage to Anton Litvak one of the newspapers printed a picture which it stated was of the actress and her newest husband. Litvak being her third. But instead the picture was an old one showing Miss Hopkins and her last previous male friend.

Which reminds me of the true story about a studio publicity man who very suddenly lost his job for a similar error. One of the studio's lesser directors was sued for divorce. In a hurried effort to grab a bit of newspaper space the publicity man tried to find pictures of the director and his suing wife. Instead he found only some negatives, picked out one he thought was the director, and rushed it downtown. It got prominent space the next day, but the studio was in a turmoil. The picture was not of the director, but of his brother, one of the studio producers. And that brother and his wife, whose picture carried the caption that she was suing him for divorce, were instead very happily married!

To pay for the explaining the producer had to do to both his wife and all his Hollywood friends, the publicity agent lost his job!

Not long ago pretty Andrea Leeds walked out of a role she had been assigned to do under her contract to Samuel Goldwyn. Most of Hollywood condemned her—called her swell-headed! Now that she has practically stolen the picture "Stage Door" from Katherine Hepburn and Ginger Rogers, everyone is praising her.

Greta Garbo is preparing to do a comedy picture which for the present has a working title called: "Love is Not So Simple." With all the notoriety she has had over her real and reputed love affairs it would seem she ought to know!

Seeing that terrific tear-jerking "Stella Dallas" recalled an incident about the child who plays Barbara Stanwyck's infant daughter in the early scenes. Youngsters of that age do not always take readily to a director's instructions when making a movie. So three different little girls were brought to the set for try-outs. While they were waiting they were given a doll as big as themselves with which to play. At once the trio of three-year olds began battling desperately for the doll. Thus do embryo actresses display their temperament even at three years of age! Incidentally the one who got the doll was Milla Sarnich who also got the coveted child role in the picture. Apparently temperament pays!

And another potential actress arrived in Hollywood on Thursday. She's the first daughter of Virginia Carroll Byrd, actress and Ralph Byrd serial star. The infant weighed only five pounds, but with two talented dramatic parents she should reach the top in time.

AUSTIN.—Taking the economy bull by the horns, the Texas senate this week defied Gov. Allred in his refusal to permit it to consider reduction of appropriations, and took up consideration of Grady Woodruff's economy bill, which would slice $4,000,000 off departmental appropriations for the next two fiscal years. Much of the reduction would come from reduction of salaries of state employees drawing over $1500 a year, and from abolition of the jobs of the departmental press agents, who have sprung up all over Austin like a crop of broomweeds. There is no authority in law for the employment of press agents to "sell" the departments and the political-minded department heads to the legislature and the newspaper readers of the state, but they are carried on the payrolls by subterfuge, as "educational directors," "information directors," and "statistical experts." The senate by a decisive vote of 20 to 6 overruled Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul, who held that the reduction bill did not come within the governor's call, and permitted introduction of the measure. The vote would indicate the senate will vote decisively to cut the expenditures. Then if Gov. Allred, whose forces dominate the house should block it there, or if he should veto it, the senate apparently has the governor in a "spot" where they can place the onus for failure to enact new tax bills squarely upon Allred.

BRAIN TRUSTERS RUN WILD

Over on the house side, spectators were treated to a strange sight. Dominated by Allred's ring of youthful brain-trusters—the majority of them kids just out of their teens, some still studying law—a subcommittee of the taxation and revenue committee sat for a continuous 13-hour hearing. They banded figures running into the millions of dollars about like pennies, defied a large delegation of solid citizens who came to protect higher taxes by granting them a scant 45 minutes in the wee hours of Thursday morning to voice their protest, and came out with a $10,000,000 omnibus tax bill that will hike taxes on the oil industry, sulphur, public utilities, cement, and amusements, including movie admissions—from 30 to 50 per cent and more. The bright young minds on the taxation committee—to some of whom the $10 a day they get as legislators represents the maximum earning capacity to date—bated witnesses representing billions of dollars of capital investment in Texas business, and many years of accumulated business wisdom and experience, with obvious delight.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER

With the session half gone, it is becoming increasingly obvious that the Allred program of $15,000,000 of new taxes is sunk without a trace. Whether increased levies amounting to $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 will get through depends largely upon the governor's co-operation with the senate. If Allred clings stubbornly to his determination not to permit reduction of governmental expense, it seems a good bet that the senate will not levy a dime of new taxes. If Allred surrenders, the senate may give him some tax increase.

SLAP AT LOAN SHARK

Lieut. Gov. Walter Woodul broke one of the rare tie votes in the senate this week to vote in favor of state employees who are being victimized by Austin loan sharks. Sen. Joe Hill offered a resolution asking state department heads to cooperate with their workers in escaping from the clutches of the sharks, who, the resolution said, charged 100 to 300 per cent interest, and terrorized employees by threats to report them to their chiefs, when they get behind on payments. The tie vote came on a motion to send the resolution to committee (where it probably would have died). Woodul voted "no," and the senate promptly passed the resolution. The Austin Times, a weekly newspaper, has been exposing and campaigning against the loan sharks, of whom about a dozen have been fattening off low-salaried state employees for months.

NAMES AND NEWS

Curtis Hill, formerly a district attorney in East Texas, and one of the ablest assistants attorney general, has registered to enter private law practice with a Dallas law firm. Hill, holding down the transportation desk has won high regard the past three years for his able handling of the state truck and bus legal problems. Gov. Allred, whose close friends Speaker Bob Calvert, Judge Ralph Yarbough, and Gerald Mann are all rumored candidates against Lieut.

Gov. Walter Woodul for attorney general, issued a formal statement of a "hands-off" policy in this race. Calvert's friends are reported to have been putting considerable pressure on the governor to aid the speaker, but with Woodul presiding in the recalcitrant senate, and far out in the lead in the political race, it was no time for Allred to endorse any of his prospective rivals. . . Emmett Morse's bill to permit local option on sale by the drink in the 44 "wettest" counties in Texas was sent back to the liquor control committee for a hearing, and report. Morse claims it will yield about $2,000,000 new revenue and simplify enforcement problems. . . One of the queer features of the pending bill to increase franchise taxes is the fact that it would heavily penalize folks who are trying to accumulate by buying life insurance, so they won't be on the old age pension rolls later on, by taxing them to pay pensions to those who didn't save anything. . . The senate at the week end was ready to pass a resolution asking the attorney general to transfer venue in suits filed by advocacy hunters against 250 Polk county farmers from Austin to Polk county district courts. Gordon Burns, Tom Holbrook and Clint Small led the floor fight for the resolution and Burns announced the attorney general had agreed to shift the suits to the home county of the land-owners, if the resolution passed. The vacancy hunters have been one of the bitterest controversial elements in Texas for 20 years—ever since oil development began—and Small has led the fight to curb them for years. The Polk county farmers and their ancestors, are said to have lived on the land to which title is now disputed, for over 100 years, in some cases.

Why Fire Prevention?

Once each year under the sponsorship of the Fire Insurance Commission, seven days are set aside for the observance of Fire Prevention Week in Texas. During this week, civic groups, individuals, city officials and innumerable other organizations of every description throughout the State are actively engaged in spreading the "new gospel" of fire prevention. And why?

Because fire prevention is a vital part of our every-day lives. It affects our homes, our loved ones, our pocketbooks. When it is practiced, and practiced effectively, fire prevention becomes one of the most practical modern methods for saving and conserving life and property.

The people of Texas realize this constant need for conservation, careful preservation, and protection from loss. The people of Texas, just as you and I, realize how important it is to eliminate waste, destruction, hardship and death. So, during a single week, the need for and the result of prevention is spotlighted; I am thankful that we have 51 other weeks to carry out what we learned, what we have this week resolved to do.

It would be futile for me or for anyone else to stand before this microphone and preach about the value of fire prevention. We all know that. We Texans have a natural heritage of conservation of the good, elimination of the bad. It is born in us to want to protect and care for that which we hold dear—whether it be our children, our homes, our store buildings, our furniture, or any of our valued goods. It is because of this natural inclination that a system has grown up whereby fire losses, unbearable for the individual, may be equitably distributed to a group. That system we know as fire insurance.

Let me repeat that once more. Fire insurance is the system whereby fire losses, unbearable for the individual may be equitably distributed to a group. Does not that simple statement imply that when the individual's loss is reduced, the loss borne by the group is likewise lessened? Every property owner carrying insurance helps pay the cost of the fires. The man with a $1,000 policy on his household goods helps pay the loss the merchant sustains when his store burns, or the loss of the factory owner when his plant is destroyed by fire. The farmer with a policy of $1,500 on his home helps pay the $250,000 loss sustained when a big manufacturing plant burns. There is no escaping the cost of fire. We pay for our losses in the form of higher insurance rates. It is included in everything we buy, from food and clothing to machinery and fixtures. By allowing fires, we tax ourselves and our neighbors. The fact that fire cost is a preventable "tax" makes fire prevention both a duty and an obligation. It means saying—saying in dollars and cents, as well as in lives and property—to us all.

Last year 519 people were killed by fire in Texas. Last year the fire loss amounted to approximately $8,000,000. 519 lives—$8,000,000—there we have the answer to "why fire prevention?"

The Rest of The Record

JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

I regret that the first ten days of the special session wound up in a bitter personal attack upon me. I have been called so many mean things that I just decided I couldn't possibly be as bad as I was painted.

Anyway, the people are not interested in what the legislature does. The revenue-raising situation is more acute than even I had suspected.

This week the entire membership of the Board of Control issued a written statement that unless additional money was raised by the legislature at once for old age assistance the board will have to suspend payments for two or three months after November 1st. They pointed out to the legislature, as I had done, that the old age assistance funds owes $1,627,000 to Dallas banks on past due warrants. This money has been due nearly a year and the banks have demanded payment.

The Board stated they felt as I do—that more money should be paid to the old folks so as to increase the amount of payments and add more people to the old age assistance rolls through the coming winter months.

They said the present grants average $14 a month, but unless the legislature provides more money the Board will have to reduce these payments. That puts it squarely up to the legislature! I have called them in special session and have made my recommendations. As yet no bill has been passed, but I hope by the time you read this column that the lower house will have sent a tax bill to the Senate. You see, under the Constitution, tax bills first originate in the House; and the Senate has been marking time while some members were talking about the vast sums of money they could save by economics if appropriations were submitted. Last week a majority of the Senate ruled that I did submit appropriations and economies. It is up to them now to demonstrate to the tax-payer show the Senate can save all these millions they talk about cutting down the very appropriations voted by them in the regular session against my recommendations. We shall see.

One fact remains: if they make any economies it will only help the general fund, which is more than fifteen million dollars overdrawn. We still must have more money for old age assistance and we can't economize there. We must have some money for aid to the blind and to dependent children; we have got to carry out our contract with the teachers.

Remember—unless some money is raised for these purposes by this legislature the old folks are going to suffer even more and we will have failed to carry out the President's program for the blind and for underprivileged children which was voted by the people. Those of you who are interested should let your senators and representatives know how you feel about the matter.

I was very happy last week when Senator Clay Cotten of Palestine made a speech on the Senate floor in defense of the President and his program. He said in part:

"In reply to a statement by the Governor of Texas that the issue now drawn before this Senate is one of human rights against property rights the Senator from Galveston is quoted as having said: 'Every tyrant from Nero to Franklin D. Roosevelt has used that argument.'

"I am indeed sorry for him or any other man who becomes so wrapped up and warped in his own opinions that he would reach the point where he would brand not only the governor of this state, but our beloved President, as a tyrant comparable to Nero.

"I want and I think this Senate wants the people of the country to know that in his vicious assaults upon President Roosevelt the Senator from Galveston does not speak for the great masses of the people. . . . He does not voice even the sentiments of the people of his own district.

" . . . Franklin D. Roosevelt has not only brought back prosperity to the captains of industry, but through his social security program he has ministered to the aged needy and his provided funds which, if Texas will but do its part, will feed the hungry and clothe the naked throughout our borders.

"It is not going to be any pleasure to me to have to vote for taxes . . . but we have no option. The people have spoken at the ballot box. They told this legislature to provide for the needy old people . . . for aid to the blind . . . to help unfortunate children.

"This state is rich in resources. We can provide these funds without substantial injury to anyone by taking only a small portion of the vast profits being made in this state . . . I would respect the wishes of my people by voting for adequate tax revenues at this special session."

FORRESTER

Mrs. Dave Mathis of the Forrester community was in town to see the doctor in regards to her health, this Saturday.

Well, this is Sunday morning and raining of which if the rain continues will make it hard on the ones that have cotton and feed stuff out to gather.

Mrs. D. F. Mathis was over Wednesday to see Mrs. W. J. Baldwin, who has been under the weather, but is much improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Duncan of the Forrester community got word that Mr. Duncan's father that lives in Coleman county was not expected to live. Mr. Duncan went to see his father, but as yet has not returned home.

Mrs. Bulia Atkins of El Paso is returning home this Thursday. She takes the two smaller children of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Baldwin of which has been on a visit with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baldwin and aunt, Mrs. D. F. Mathis. Mrs. Atkins goes to care for Mrs. T. D. Baldwin and Mrs. R. M. Finley's children, while Mrs. Finley is taking a beauty course and Mrs. Baldwin is running a beauty parlor in connection to her husband's barber shop.

Mr. G. E. Zachary is home on a vacation from California, where he has been working in the lettuce fields.

Mrs. G. M. Thomason came to see Mrs. D. F. Mathis a few minutes this Tuesday and to bring little Genette Baldwin to her aunt.

Feed cutting seems to be the order of the day. All feed stuff is good with a fine prospect for a bumper cotton crop if nothing hinders.

BEAUTY'S DAUGHTER
By Kathleen Norris

CHAPTER XIV—Continued

"I was pretty near done for—did he tell you?" Spencer whispered, holding to Vicky's hand. He ignored Serena, looking away from her with a frown.

"You had a bad upset," Vicky said, looking down at him, trusting her face did not betray her appalled thoughts.

"I'll get through this, won't I, Doctor?" the sick man whispered. "I would be wrong to deceive you, Mr. Morrison," the old doctor said solemnly. "You're already sinking, sir. The absence of pain and the pulse both show it. It's no time for me to say anything else to you. If there are affairs for you to settle—"

"Vicky, can't you get hold of Quentin?" Spencer gasped.

"He's coming, Spencer. He was at the hospital, but I left word. What did you take?" Vicky demanded, in a sort of wail.

"I didn't take anything! She gave it to me. I want you both," Spencer said panting. "to remember what I said! She tried—a week ago she tried to double my sleeping stuff, she brought it to me. I've been taking it lately; I've been sleeping better. She told me I'd better make sure. She knew I was going back to England; she didn't want to go, and I told her she'd take care of herself if she didn't come! That drove her crazy. I saw it—she's been half crazy anyway, lately. I told Amah to watch everything I ate, and she did, but today I was asleep when she brought me up my lemonade. It was there when I woke up; I ought to have thought that Serena'd been at it—"

Serena, whose face was ghastly, looked from one to the other.

"That's not true!" she whispered sharply in the silence. And abruptly she left the room. Spencer struggled to speak.

Quite suddenly, out of the nightmare, Vicky was awakened by a step she knew sounding on the stairs; a voice out in the hallway. "Quentin's here!" she said. Dr. Cudworth turned quickly.

"You stay right here, Amah," he said. "You watch master!" He and Vicky went out into the hall, and when she saw Quentin, pale and shocked, but strong and big and adequate and infinitely comforting, Vicky experienced one of the good moments of life; fear turned to confidence, peril to safety, and the horrors of the black night seemed less bleak.

"What's the matter with him?" Quentin asked. Serena began a frantic explanation; the other doctor brushed her aside.

"He's taken poison," he said bluntly.

Quentin, evidently trying to grasp the situation, looked from face to face.

"Who suggested poison?" he asked sharply.

"No one!" Serena said, on a passionate breath.

"Doctor, the man himself told me," the village doctor said, his forehead shining with sweat. "I saw him Sunday in good health. He was talking then of going back to England. He didn't say when; he tells me tonight that it was to be at once, and that he was leaving his wife. I tipped off the Chinese woman—I told her to watch him. I knew something was wrong! He told me that she, the amah, often brought him up lemonade in the afternoon and that this afternoon it was there when he awakened.

"Ah, but that's nonsense!" Quentin said in his honest, troubled voice.

"Of course it is!" Serena said. She went over and clung to Quentin's arm. He disengaged her hand without seeming conscious of her presence and turned to Victoria.

"Why did you come here, dear?" he asked in a concerned, tender voice. "It will only distress you horribly. You don't belong in this!"

"Spencer asked for me, Quent," Vic raised her eyes to his and saw Serena, pale and tense and watching, looking at them. And she felt an odd twist of something like pity in her heart.

"Nonsense or not," little Dr. Cudworth said inflexibly. "I couldn't—professionally I could not ascribe this to a natural illness."

Serena faced him down.

"You could mind your own business!" she said with a hiss on the last word. "If you don't want to do it, knowing, as I told you when you got here, as everyone knows, that he's been a sick man for years. I say that if you don't believe that a man who takes no exercise, and is not strong, could eat something, or take an opiate, that would make him desperately ill, you're a fool! You oughtn't to be practicing medicine. It happens all the time! Men die every day of acute indigestion coupled with heart failure, and if you won't take the responsibility of saying so, Dr. Hardisty will!"

"That couldn't be done, Serena," Quentin said quietly. "I have never had this case. But I'm positive—I don't believe—I know—Dr. Cudworth isn't seriously suggesting—"

"You may do as you think best, Doctor," the other doctor said abruptly. "I would have entire faith in anything you saw fit to do. But I personally must decline the responsibility."

"I have nothing to do with it," Quentin said briefly. Serena turned on him.

"Spencer had acute indigestion, and he's got a bad heart," she said.

"But believe me, if there's any investigation, if there's one word of talk, you're in this, too. Quentin Hardisty! I'll not stand it! I'll not face a coroner and be questioned, while you are quietly enjoying yourself over there on the lawn with your wife, laughing and carrying the children into the house!"

"I don't think that'll happen," Quentin said. But Vicky saw that his face was pale. "I wish you'd called me earlier!"

"How do you know what'll happen?" Serena said. "I know. I can tell you! We had a coroner's investigation when Gita's father died. I know what it means! You'll have to sign that death warrant. Quentin, or I'll have to drag your name into it. You and I've talked of what we'd do if he died; you can't deny that, if they put you on oath! Everyone knows what we've been to each other; you had a motive for giving me something that would put him to sleep. He told Dr. Cudworth here that I wanted to get rid of him."

"Vic, do you want to stay?" Quentin asked in an undertone, as the breathless voice died to silence. "This isn't your sort of thing."

"No, Vic won't go," Serena said at white heat. "You don't think Vic doesn't know that you love me, that you've been following me, making me presents, writing me letters."

Quentin looked at Vicky, looked away; he spoke quietly.

"Vicky knows just how badly I've treated her, Serena," he said. "She's always known, from the beginning, I'm not trying to wriggle out of that. If you were really fool enough to give Spencer sleeping powders or anything else, I'm in it with you. There's no question that you can drag my name and my children's names in the mud, if you want to. You can take those letters into court—"

"Letters saying, 'If it weren't for Spencer . . .'" Serena interrupted him.

"Letters saying everything," Quentin said in a low voice, with a level glance at her. "Letters saying everything!" he repeated. "But one thing isn't true," he went on slowly. "I've never loved but one woman in all my life; never, no matter what I said or wrote or did. I've always loved my wife, always, always held her in a place by herself!"

Vicky went over to him and dropped her hand into his, but he did not glance at her or seem to know that she was there.

"How nice!" Serena said. "So I pay the bill alone. How very nice!"

"No, you and I'll both pay!" Quentin said. "And she'll pay, too. It means disgrace for us all."

BAPTIST CHURCH

There was a good attendance at the services last Sunday in spite of weather conditions. The best of a man's religion is not how he acts when every thing is easy, but how he acts when things are difficult.

Regular services of Baptist church are at the following hours: Sunday School 9:45; Preaching at 11 o'clock and 7:45; B. T. U. at 7 o'clock.

There is a place in these services for each and every one. Why not every man in his own place? Attend church services Sunday.

—Avery Rodgers

MISS MYRL SAWYER WINS IN NEW MEXICO STYLE REVIEW

The many friends here of Miss Myrl Sawyer will be pleased to know she won a free trip to Chicago and other places of interest when she placed first in the New Mexico State Style Review. She made and modeled a suit, of black and white combination.

Miss Myrl will be accompanied on this trip by her sister, Miss Fern, and will be in Chicago by November 22nd. They will go from there to Philadelphia to see the Army and Navy football game on November 27th at which place they will be met by Virgil Lusk, student of Annapolis and his brother, Eugene Lusk of Harvard, who will accompany them on to New York.

VISITS IN EL PASO

Mesdames Money Price, E. C. Davis, M. E. Jacobson and A. J. Stricklin left Saturday afternoon for El Paso. They saw an Indian ceremonial dance at Mescalero, New Mexico, in the Apache Indian Reservation. Spent the night at Almogorda. Next went out to the white sands area a national monument, now considered one of the wonders of the world; then on to El Paso.

After breakfast and a short visit with Mrs. Bill Burson, sister-in-law of Mrs. Money Price the ladies went over to historical Juarez, where with a guide, went through Guadalupe Mission, built in 1533. Their bels and statures brought over from Toledo, Spain met of the way on burro backs. They were also shown from Mission Belfrey, a high wall on a hill overlooking the city where they place their criminals for the firing squad. After going through their jail, it was decided ours was the best. Sunday night was spent in El Paso.

The return was made by a side trip down in the beautiful Davis mountains to the Ft. Davis observatory, but found it would not be opened to visitors until next year and were told to watch papers for announcement of opening.

Col. and Mrs. H. Smith of Eastland accompanied by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan, of Dallas, passed through from a business visit to Yoakum county, for a short stay with their old friend, Mrs. J. T. Gainer, Mrs. Smith extended her visit several days with Mrs. Gainer.

Mrs. J. M. Rumph, wife of the late Dr. Rumph of Tatum N. M., is a guest in the home of her old friend, Mrs. J. T. Gainer. Mrs. Rumph has just returned from an extended visit with relatives and friends at Waco, Dallas, Stephenville and Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Brownlee returned Wednesday from Fort Worth, where his mother is very ill in a hospital.

BOB LOVELACE PASSED MONDAY

Bob Lovelace, who has been in poor health for some time, was discovered to be dead early Monday morning. Physicians who examined the body pronounced that death was caused by heart failure. Bob had been in poor health for some time, and had been treated for that disease.

Funeral was conducted Tuesday afternoon by Rev. Ike Breedlove, Methodist pastor, assisted by Rev. Avery Rodgers, Baptist pastor, at the Baptist church. Burial, in charge of Brownfield Funeral Home, followed immediately in the Brownfield cemetery.

He was survived by his wife and 2 children by his first wife, one being dead, his aged mother, two brothers. The deceased had many friends around Brownfield and Tokio communities, where he had lived most of the time since he came here from Parker county some 20 years ago.

LOCAL BOY DIED IN WYOMING

Word was received by Mrs. Hopson, Monday by wire that her son, Earl, had died at Grayson, Wyoming, and would be buried there. He was around 21 years of age.

From what could be gathered from the wire, he seems to have been killed by escaping gas in a tourist camp.

Mrs. G. G. Gore of the Johnson community had a major surgery at the Treadaway-Daniell hospital. Her children out of town here to be with her are, Mrs. Lala Shaw and Miss Minnie Hazel Gore and Mrs. Cecil Casey of Lubbock and her sister, Mrs. Bertha Gore of Hall county.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Greenfield went to Lovington, Monday night to visit his sister.

Greetings

After several weeks of labor we have finished the White Way Courts and are now ready to serve you.

There are eleven nice sized houses in the Courts that are made into seventeen, one, two and three room apartments and seven sleeping rooms.

The White Way Courts are conveniently located, only two blocks west of the square on the Seminole highway.

Each apartment is modern with private bath and furnished with good servicable furniture. Simmons beds and springs; three hundred coil inner-spring mattress, sisal covered, felted cotton, taped and vented. Made by Burns Mattress Factory of Lubbock. They are equipped with three burner and oven cook stove, dresser, clothes cabinet, sink, and drain board and china cabinet; nice heater, table, rocker, best linolium rugs cover the floor and also throw rugs.

All have hot and cold water furnished by four heating systems. Service plugs for radios, irons, sweeper, etc. Some equipped with Frigidaire, telephone service. Fully equipped with dishes and cooking utensils; Garza sheets and cases; nice feather pillows and good quality blankets and spreads.

All gas, light, water and phone bills paid. No deposit required.

The wood work is finished in white enamel, the bath in mason tile and ivory enameled. The wall paper is a pretty light pattern and in all the apartments are light and cheerful.

We have been planning the White Way Courts for more than a year and have inspected the best in several states and believe that for the price you will have to go a long way to find a nicer, more comfortable and better place to stay.

Practically all the material and furnishings were bought at wholesale and near wholesale prices. They could hardly be built cheaper for cash was paid for all bills, and that is the reason the rates are so reasonable.

Mr. Oscar Mills was foreman of construction and took pride in seeing that the workmanship was the best.

Mr. Frank Ballard did the plumbing and lighting and you know that insures sanitation and comfort.

Jack Brock did the decorating and you never saw better workmanship.—Jack knows how to make an apartment attractive.

The old reliable firm of Hudgens & Knight supplied the furnishings and Frigidaires, and that guarantees service and quality for years to come.

You can live in these courts and enjoy the comforts of a modern home cheaper than you can own a home.

The driveways will be graveled and many trees, shrubs and flowers will adorn the grounds in due time.

We will be glad for you to visit the White Way Courts, at any time and you can feel safe in recommending them to anyone wishing a nice, reasonable place to stay over night or longer. We have a good place for nice people and will not tolerate conduct unbecoming to a lady or gentleman.

Mr. Ed. Wallin and wife, who have had much experience in conducting one of the best courts in the state, are in charge and will be glad to serve you.

The many complimentary things you have said about the White Way Courts, please us and go a long way in making our effort a pleasure.

Thank You,

Raymond Barrier
