

Lions Minstrel and Musical Show Set For Dec. 7 and 9

Gaity in all its forms—music, bright lights, jokes, smart patter, dancing, colorful costumes—is the word that describes the Brownfield Lions Minstrel and Musical Show that will be the local club's home talent production of 1937. This performance will take place in the Brownfield High School auditorium at 8 o'clock on the nights of December 7 and 9. Reserved seats are on sale now at 50c each. Two full houses are expected, and reservations should be made immediately by contacting either Rex Headstream at the Terry County Abstract or Weldon McBrayer at the high school building. Reservations may be made by telephone if desired.

All proceeds of this show will be placed in the fund for the care of underprivileged children and the blind. Care of the blind and those other people with sight defects is one of the outstanding functions of Lionism the world over. Much money has been spent by the local club in connection with this work and much needs to be spent this year. The members of the local Lions Club have spent much time cheerfully in an unselfish effort to bring this relief to the community of Brownfield and other Terry County communities and they invite every citizen of the county to enjoy an evening of first class entertainment, and at the same time, help in this worthy project.

Every effort is being made to give the public the best in entertainment on these two evenings. The stage will be attractive. The cast will be costumed in full evening dress. Tuxedos have been secured for all of the thirty or thirty five men in the cast, and an equal number of beautiful young ladies will appear in colorful evening attire. There will be no tiresome lagging moments in the show. Those who remember last year's performance may be assured that this year's production is better in every way than the one given last year.

Just either December 7th, Tuesday night, or December 9th., Thursday night, on your calendar of entertainment and make your reservations now.

Banks Have Around $1,300,000 On Deposit

In conversation this week with R. M. Kendrick, President of the First National Bank, he stated that they now have on deposit about $615,000, the highest they have ever been in that bank. He also reports collections good.

The Brownfield State Bank reported that they had about $675,000 on deposit, but at one time ran over $700,000 last year. But we learned that the season now is just in a good way, with the corn season to follow later.

Baptist Church Funds Growing Rapidly

It is the understanding of the Herald that the solicitation of funds to complete the First Baptist church, is going over in a big way. At their big rally last Sunday, it is reported that about $12,000 was raised.

The Herald learned that at least three were in the $1,000 class. We are expecting a full report next week.

Gerald Hopper Injured Tuesday Afternoon

A bale of cotton which he was assisting in loading or unloading at one of the cotton yards, fell on Gerald Hopper late Tuesday afternoon. He was rushed to the hospital for treatment.

At the hospital, it was learned that Gerald had a fractured vertebra which will be rather slow mending, according to his physician.

Historical-Prosperity Edition Going Over

We have never seen a better spirit of co-operation in any undertaking since we have been in Brownfield, or anything in the way of newspapering that struck a more responsive chord, than the Herald Historical-Prosperity Edition, which is scheduled to make its appearance just before the Christmas holidays. Not only have the advertisers co-operated, but the people who have been assigned any angle of writing for the edition, have simply surprised us by prompt response.

In this assertion, we are borne out by L. D. Neal and his corps of workers, who have helped a number of papers put on such an edition. He stated Monday afternoon that he had never had such wholesale and willing response in any city before. More than 70 people will have contributed articles before this issue is put in the mails, and the people have simply overwhelmed us with old pictures of historical interest. The trouble however, with many of the early day pictures, they were taken and finished by amateurs, and are badly faded, and many so dim that an engraving cannot be made from them successfully.

Happily, the Herald had many cuts of old time scenes that were made years ago, but still in fine printing condition, and a few others can be made up very nicely. There will be a riot of pictures of people who came here in the early days and helped to make the country what it is today. We are now taking orders for bound copies which will sell for 50c each. These are being bound in imitation leather boards, which are pliant and durable, and can be filed away in your home for future reference. Regular paper copies will sell for 10c each. Of course every regular reader will get a copy as usual. Better than 1000 extra copies are being printed.

We are getting material from many sources for this edition, mostly from memory of old timers, and of course are drawing much from the files of the Herald which run back 7 months before the county was organized.

Brownfield Cannot Afford Loss of a Gin

Brownfield, for that matter, this entire area, can ill afford the loss of a gin just at this time, when all of them are simply overrun with cotton. However, Lamesa, Anton, and perhaps other places have had the misfortune of losing a gin during this heavy run, but Lamesa is to have a new gin ready to go to cutting away this week.

We understand that the Brownfield Volunteer fire department who are always extremely vigilant, have orders to do double quick time any time there is a fire warning now days, and if those boys get anything like an even break with a fire, they will quinch it so quick it will make your head swim.

But gin fires are always more or less hard to handle. They usually start in lint either in the chutes or in the press, and are always in a big headway generally when discovered. In the old days when rock, matches, etc., were allowed to contact the saws, gin fires were more frequent. Now days, such trucks, along with the burs and other trash are cleaned from the cotton before it gets to the gin saws.

Christmas Goods On Display

Most all stores are now displaying their Christmas goods and the selections show much thought and time in the buying.

The selections are complete and you will find some inexpensive gifts to the most luxurious ones. They are in line with whatever you wish to pay, and a gift for all the family.

It is estimated $230,000,000 will be spent for toys alone in the U. S. A. Try to make some child happy this Christmas, that otherwise wouldn't know the joys of Santa Claus. You will not only make some one happy, but will receive a real thrill yourself in seeing a little face brighten up. You won't have to hunt for a child, just walk down the streets and see the little undernourished and thinly clad, looking in the windows so wistfully. It takes so little to make a child happy and you will have one of the happiest Christmas's ever spent.

John Scudday and family of Forsham were guests in the R. M. Kendrick home Sunday.

Architect's Drawing of New Tech Library

LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov.—The illustration is from the architect's drawing of the new $250,000 library building now under construction at Texas Technological College. Plans call for its completion for the opening of the fall semester in 1938. The new structure is in the Spanish renaissance style, three stories with a four-story tower, of steel and reinforced concrete, brick walls, limestone trim and tile roof.

Pictures of Checks At Local Bank

The Herald man was in the Brownfield State Bank last Friday admiring their new fixtures, which would be a credit to a city of 20,000 people, when he happened to ask Bruce Zorn how they were getting their building heated. He took time and pleasure in showing us their fine new heating system, which is automatically controlled at all times, and absolutely out of the way and out of sight. It keeps the building at a desired heat by simply setting a thermostat.

He then asked us if we had ever seen their "moving picture show." Thinking he wished us to bite, we took it under, hoow, line and sinker. But it was no joke. There sat a Recordak machine, put out by the Eastman Kodak Co., as real as you please, into which Bruce fed checks as fast as he could put them in a slot. Back in that box was a motion picture camera, which with all the other machinery in the easement was moved by a small motor. That machine took a picture of all checks both on their bank as well as other banks passing through their hands, and then were turned over and the picture of the endorsement was taken. Notes can be taken the same way.

These small films, no wider or larger than your little finger nail are wound on a spool not unlike the theatre films, and sent to Dallas for development, which gives them a three day service. When they are returned, they are put into a projection machine, a motor is started, and low and behold, there are your checks, full sized passing in review. They may be stopped at any one of them for examination, as all checks of the same date are run together with the endorsements.

In that way, us fellows who are ready to swear by all that is good and bad that we gave no check for any amount on a certain date, are carried back into the "picture show" and shown. There are said to be many other ways in which this machine may be used, not only for the protection of customers, but the bank as well.

Being held back so long, when she did come it was with a vengeance but it was not invited to make Brownfield its terminal for a week or two. Why couldn't it go on through, and let a hot mott come back from the south? Well, Old Winter just unloaded, bag and baggage and seems to like Brownfield, and may be here for several months.

Anyway, his reception seems to be quite cool, for the people have all put on thicker stuff than they have been wearing we notice. Many of the old long-handles have come out of drawers and closets, and the wraps and overcoats are in use with the collars turned up and our blood thinners had church social soup.

Yep! Old Winter is our guest this week.

W. E. Latham and family were Lubbock visitors Sunday.

Brownfield Future Cubs Defeat Eunice, N. Mex.

In one of the most pleasant contests of the season the future Cubs and those who have been warming the bench most of the season, together with Odys Pharr, Welton Noble, and Raymond Fore defeated the Eunice, N. M., high school team last Friday night by a score of 12 to 6. Passes from Pharr to McLeroy and Morton accounted for the advances and eventually the scores. Pharr passed to Morton for one touchdown and another pass by this combination placed the ball on the one-yard line from which position Pharr carried over for the touchdown. Eunice scored on an intercepted pass, running some fifty yards for the score. McCraw at center proved that the Brownfield high school will have a good center to follow the fine work of Noble this year. The weather was very cold, but the pass receivers did not seem to be bothered in the least but managed to catch them from every direction and angle.

This was the third field that has been dedicated during the last three football seasons. The other two fields—Hobbs and Slaton—were dedicated with a tie game. Elaborate ceremonies were held at each place. The one at Eunice slowed down the game and delayed to a late hour the return of the team to Brownfield.

The starting line-up was as follows: Nagley and K. Hill, tackles; Gracey and McLeroy, ends; Lewis and Greenfield, guards; McCraw, center; Decker and Fulton, halves; Pharr, quarter; Morton, full. Burnett, Noble, and Fore played part of the game, and last two being in the game only a few minutes.

The next question at this writing is: Can the Cubs defeat the Lobos of Levelland and therefore be still in the running for the district championship?

Trying to Figure The S. P. Cotton Crop

Everybody knows that the 17 counties of the South Plains almost literally have turned to cotton and that, according to the best posted cotton men here, the 1937 total will pass the 750,000-bale mark.

But what everyone cannot picture in his mind's eye is just how much cotton is included in 750,000—three quarters of a million—bales So-o-o. If the entire crop were laid, bale-by-bale and end-to-end, from the Lubbock county courthouse southward on Highway 9 toward Tahoka and Lamesa, it eventually would reach seven miles out into the Gulf of Mexico off Galveston, along the route through Big Spring, San Angelo, Brady, Fredericksburg, Austin, Bastrop, Sugarland and Houston! Mileage from Lubbock to Galveston that way is 656. The 750,000 bales, laid end-to-end, would reach 663 miles!

Crop, Stacked on Broadway, Would Make Some Pile!
Moving closer home, if the 1937 crop were piled bale-on-bale along Broadway, from the west side of Texas avenue to the east side of Avenue Q, the 100-foot-wide, 2,818-foot-long stack would be 94.2 feet high—or higher by almost three stories than the six-story Myrick building!

Eleven-story Hotel Lubbock building, largest and tallest from sidewalk to roof—in the city, has a base of 9,750 square feet. If the 750,000-bale crop were piled upon a base exactly the same size as that of the hotel, it would tower into the clouds for a total of 2,762 feet! Or, in other words, the crop would make 27 stacks the

FIGHTING CUBS WIN DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

By Brownfield winning over Levelland on Turkey Day 19 to 7, and Littlefield cleaning Lamesa to the tune of 7 to 0, the Cubs are 1937 Champions of this Class B District No. 5.

This was made possible by Lamesa playing an ineligible man against Tahoka earlier in the season, which they forfeited. Had Lamesa won from Littlefield yesterday, there would likely have been a playoff between Brownfield and Lamesa.

Carpenter Putting Paper House in Lubbock

One of the few things that has happened of late to the advantage of the newspaper plants, is the announcement that the Carpenter Paper Co., of Texas, is to have a full stock of the newspaper, as well as Job plant needs in Lubbock by December 1, with Frank Phillips, who has represented the Fort Worth house for several years in charge.

This will make it possible for us to get an order for a customer for something we do not carry in stock in the next few hours instead of a three days service out of Fort Worth and Dallas. A letter of congratulation from the Herald to this big firm which has houses in most of the principal cities west of the Mississippi, was answered recently from the Fort Worth house by the Vice-President of the company, Mr. R. C. Clark, of Omaha, Neb., who happened to be in Fort Worth. Mr. Clark stated among other things:

"Your letter was shown me by Mr. Evans. It makes us feel good in our decision to back Frank Phillips up in his ambitious plan for Lubbock. I understand that our branch in Lubbock will be open for business, December 1st."

Collision at Highway And Hill Street Tradesday to Be Continued in Brownfield

A car driven by a white man and another by a negro, featured in a collision at the junction of Hill street and Highway 51, Tuesday afternoon, which wrecked both cars but happily no one was badly injured, thought it was stated a negro woman was thrown through the windshield.

Witnesses stated that it seemed the white driver was to blame as he failed to stop at the highway, which is a state law. Perhaps all the intersections with highway should be marked, on all streets. It might be the means of saving some lives.

size and height of the hostelry and have a leave-over of dimensions greater than those of the Avalanche-Journal building!

Estimate Is Increased On Saturday
A check of cotton offices late Saturday disclosed that the 700,000-bale estimate compiled on Friday was "way behind the times and in its place stands the new estimate of 750,000 bales. Some cotton men believe the final total will be in the neighborhood of 800,000, surpassing by 174,000 bales the estimate made in early September.

Any way you take it, it's a whale of a lot of cotton—Lubbock Avalanche.

Premium Offer Ends Saturday

With next Saturday, November 27, set as the final day of the Herald's great subscription premium offer, there is quite a rush on the part of citizens from all parts of this section to take advantage of this offer and obtain the free gifts. A great many have already come in and obtained sets. Indications are that many more will grasp the opportunity during the final days of this week.

Everybody Pleased
So well pleased have been the many who have viewed and examined the handsome display of sets at the Herald office that several have secured more than one set. This can be easily done by paying more than one year's subscription. A set is given with each $1.50 paid subscription in the trade area, or $2.00 elsewhere. Enclose 5c for mailing and packing.

Readers have the privilege of paying their own subscription for two or more years or paying for relatives and friends. In this way as many sets may be obtained as the need may be.

Herald Force Elated, Too
The Herald force is well pleased, also, with this splendid premium we have found it possible to award to our subscribers. Pleased not only because it is bringing in many needed subscriptions, but also because it is placing into the hands of several hundreds a gift that is so highly useful, attractive and durable and will give daily use about the home, in the school, around the office or store, everywhere writing equipment is needed. Never before have we been able to offer such a fine premium absolutely free and one that was so adapted to universal use.

Sets Ideal for School
Children and parents are finding these sets ideal for school requirements and that is one reason why so many of these premiums are moving out. Parents can make a substantial saving by getting these sets for their children. More than one set easily obtainable, simply by paying for additional subscriptions for yourself, relatives or friends.

Offer Expires Saturday
Like all good things, an offer of this kind must come to an end. This one expires next Saturday, Nov. 27, a matter of only two or three days, but there is yet time for every reader to obtain one or more sets. Those who are unable to call at the office or have someone call, can mail their order in and if 5c additional is added for postage the set will be mailed to them or to any address specified.

Still Time for Distant Subscribers
All letters postmarked Nov. 27 will be accepted, and so there is yet time for every Herald reader, even the most distant subscriber, to obtain a set or two. However, action must be taken immediately. Saturday is the final day.

Four Badly Hurt In Wreck Monday
Mrs. Raymond Adams, two children, and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Williams of Tahoka, were more or less badly bruised and cut Monday morning on the Seagraves highway, when their car ran into a truck. They were brought to the local hospital for treatment, or hospitalization.

Mr. Williams had slight bruises on the neck and face, and a badly bruised right shoulder, and a lacerated right hand. Admitted for treatment. Mrs. Williams had slight bruises and scratches; treated and dismissed.

Mrs. Raymond Adams, two bad cuts in the forehead; bad cut below right knee, and small stab, probably from windshield glass in right ankle, which was also badly bruised and sprained. Her little son, Odell, 2½ years old, had two cuts on temple, nose and lips. Admitted for treatment. Also, her son, Mack, 5 years of age, bruises in forehead. Admitted for treatment.

While most of them received quite painful wounds, none are thought to be serious, and all are expected to be up and about soon.

Supt. M. H. Baze on Reservation Committee

The Alumni Association of Tech College, plan a reception and dinner at the Lamar Hotel, Houston, during the State Teachers Association this week end.

Supt. M. L. H. Baze of the local schools, was named one of the reservation committeemen from this section of the state.

Mesdames Irene Black, Frank Wier and Miss Ethel Hunter were Lubbock visitors Tuesday.

THE HERALD

Brownfield, Texas

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Brownfield, Texas, under the act of March 3, 1879. A. J. Stricklin & Son Owners and Publishers...

The Herald acknowledges receipt from the Salvation Army headquarters in Lubbock to attend the dedication of their new Army Community Home, at 7:30 p. m., Thanksgiving.

Editor E. I. Hill of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, howls loud and long because we put old Lynn's cotton way down about 80,000 bales.

The American Railroads are asking for increased rates, and cite: "Prosperous railroads are essential to a prosperous nation."

Texas usually ships 1600 cars of turkeys to the Thanksgiving tables of the nation, worth $8,000,000.

A good business man of Lubbock sent us an ad last week to run in the Herald, which he stated was his part of our hire to try to keep Charley Guy of the Lubbock Ambulance-Shurnal straight.

Willard Bright in his Gaines County News, Seagraves, tells us that a local beauty shop in that city opened last May and catered to manuring for men, but only four have had a setin so far.

An Austin correspondent, Mr. M. H. Crockett (don't state whether he is a relation of David or not) tells us that the midnigh howling of the radio, is a close rival of two old Thomas Cats in the back yard for dispelling any inclination of sleep in the neighborhood.

Miss Jean Suits, conductor of Chat-tergram Column in the Lockney Beacon, has been promising her readers a surprise. It appeared last week, being a monogrammed, dodged-spoked word, "Chattergrams."

DID YOU KNOW--

Taken from the files of Gomez Voice and Terry County Herald. Gomez Voice; a few days before Xmas Dec. 1903.

Some joker. (it must have been Walter Gainer) put out a report that the town committee was offering a building with a good house on it as a prize to the parents of the first pair of twins born in Gomez.

Willie Florence kept the road warm in every direction until no matrimonial fish-pond was left unseined; and left post-haste to seek consolation at the side the block 20 girl who used to receive his kind attention and his caramels before these bewitching Gomez girls so ruthlessly stole her out.

The irrepressible Gomez lawyer wisely deciding that it was vain to bring suit in courts where he had pleaded with tearful eyes and had never gained a case, threw down his blackstone and briefs and hid him away to the girl he had left behind him (at her request) and to plead for a new hearing and another trial.

Even the Gomez purveyor of horse feed on east side of the square was seen to step sprier for a few days when it was discovered that the Gomez joker had got in his joke and they had got it where the Christmas turkey got the hatchet.

Mr. R. W. Glover is an old cotton raiser and he said that Terry County dirt would raise the fleecy staple in "Great Gobs." He will put in a big patch and will do some business with the cotton buyers next fall.

Freighters claim that the roads to the railroads are getting worse all the time, and getting longer every time some-one fences. There seems to be no remedy for it under present conditions.

The McPherson boys got in from Light with cottonseed the first of the week. Jan. 1904 Terry County Voice: Elzie Groves came in Tuesday to have his hand dressed by the doctor. Mr. Groves got his hand badly cut with an ax in the hands of his father while cutting up a beef. He will lose the use of one finger on the right hand as the result of the accident.

This paper is the only published in the group of counties made up of Martin, Terry, Gaines, Yoakum and Andrews, and hence is entitled, by law, to the public printing for these five counties. Dec. 1903. Miss Allie Sawyer, who is attending the school here spent Saturday and Sunday at her home about 15 miles in the country. Oct. 1904. Geo. E. Tiernan comes forward in this issue of the Voice as a candidate for Sheriff and Tax-Collector of Terry County at the November election.

Lester McPherson returned from Comanche County last Sunday, where he had been for the last two months at work.

The Anti-New Dealers of this district threaten to put out a high powered corporation lawyer to oppose Congressman Marvin Jones in the Democratic primaries next year. The question is whether or not those who are seeking to run against Jones may truly be termed Democrats.

We have been wondering if some of the "Jeffersonian" crowd down here on the south Plains didn't try to get George Mahon's place next year, supported by the dailies and a very few of the country weeklies.

ADVISES FARMERS TO 'BRAND' THEIR SEED COTTON Where they formerly branded cattle in this section of the old west they now may mark their cotton--to protect it from thieves. Sheriff Tom Abel of Lubbock Saturday made the following announcement: "A bale of seed cotton was trucked out of the J. E. Shaw field near Midway gin, serving territory near McClung community, one night this week. There will be more, since seed cotton is piled in nearly every field, unless something is done."

The sheriff said law infractions in the cotton season, which is expected to reach a peak in approximately six weeks, has been relatively light as compared with other years.

BRIGHT GETS "BRIGHT" In his reply to a nice notice the Terry County Herald gave Willard Bright of the Seagraves 'print shop' Bright says, "About shooting the bull--Terry is pretty good at that 'alright' (note that word), but we usually have to look at the mast head to see whether we are reading the editorial column of Terry County Herald or of the Yoakum County Review."

At last Willard T. gets something in his paper that his people will read. Upon reflection, we remember there are just lots of "big-little" things in the world--and there is a reason?--Yoakum County Review.

Fast drivers get lots of criticism, but the highway department says that slow drivers are a menace on the highway, and are breaking state laws when they force traffic to constantly pass around them.

paper is almost as large as a saddle blanket. The business men of Brownfield made the big issue possible. A few weeks before that, Joe Alexander of the Dawson County Courier issued a special edition of that paper containing fifty-six pages. It was said to be the largest edition of a country weekly ever issued on the Plains. And it was the progressive business men of Lamesa who made this mammoth edition possible.

M. and 4 P. M., by virtue of said levy and said judgement I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said W. J. Renfro.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Terry County Herald newspaper published in Terry County. Witness my hand, this 3rd day of November, 1937. C. D. Gore, Sheriff Terry County, Texas. By S. C. White, Deputy.

WALTER GAINER PASSES It is with regrets by many of the old timers who were here from 25 to 35 years ago to learn of the passing of Walter Gainer of Tatum, New Mexico. Walter was highly respected by all who knew him, and was always in a jolly mood. He had a flow of natural wit not unlike the late Will Rogers. The body was laid to rest in the Plains cemetery Tuesday afternoon, following funeral services. Among those attending from here besides relatives, were Will Adams, Simon Holgate and Gay Price. Mrs. Hugh Snodgrass of Plains was over shopping Tuesday, and called at the Herald office to put her subscription up, and get pen and pencil set.

THE METHODIST CHURCH
The pastor has been assigned to Brownfield for the year 1937-'38, and confidently looks forward to a better year than the last conference year. He hopes for a great congregation next Sunday to hear a sermon on "The Great Value of Small Things" for the morning hour and on an evangelistic theme for the evening hour.

Twenty-four of our young people attended the Wesley Union meeting at Meadow last Tuesday evening. With the exception of the Meadow young people, we had the greatest number present, which is a very good record. Our young people's work is growing fast.
The local church probably had the greatest number of additions to the church during the last conference year of any small town in the conference, a record for which we thank God and take courage to go forward. Our school has long outgrown the rooms we have and the demand for more room is absolutely imperative. The public is always welcomed to the services of this church. The services are religiously planned for the benefit of all our people and their friends. Church going is a good habit for any and all persons.

Meadow News

The freeze and continued cold weather last week has hindered cotton picking considerably. Perhaps the rains will catch up with the ginning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Donawho has rooms with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Settles at Mrs. Gafford's house.

Miss Marcella Burleson spent the week end with homefolks.

Mr. Edgar Mackey has been quite ill but reported to be some better.

Miss Bonzie Johnson, who is working at Lubbock, spent Sunday with homefolks.

Mr. Caskey Livingstone and Misses Louise and Elizabeth Nelson spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Nelson.

The teachers at Meadow are putting on a play Tuesday night, Green Light.

The new beauty operator, Miss Ada Settles, offered a $5 permanent for the lady who suggested the best name for her shop. Mrs. Jack Lusk was the lucky one according to the judges decision. LaAda is the name.

The ladies from the Baptist church are sending a fine collection of cookies to Buckners Orphan home. The ladies from the Church of Christ will send a box of cookies to the Tipton's Orphan home.

Mrs. Johnny Bingham of the Needmore community was in town Monday.

Mrs. Roscoe Morhead and Mrs. Jim Jones were in town on business Monday.

Bro. Stanford from Lubbock preached at the Church of Christ Sunday.

Mrs. Lee Rice Sr. and Miss Mary Inez of Levelland were in town visiting Miss Dorothy and Lee Rice Jr. Monday.

Mrs. Houston Hamilton and Retha Bell were in the beauty parlor Monday.

Mrs. Roscoe Moorehead expects to leave Tuesday for Austin to bring the boys from Meadow home for Thanksgiving.

Miss Gervus Nettles was in a beauty parlor getting a wave set Monday.

Forrester Items

Mrs. Charles Warren was hurt while driving in their car Sunday.

One of the Mexican women was hurt Monday while going to the cottonfield to pick cotton. She fell out of the back end of the truck on her head and shoulders. She was taken to town to the doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mathis of Arizona are still here visiting Mr. Mathis' folks, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mathis and other relatives on account of Frank's wife of which they thought might have to have an operation performed for appendicitis.

As I see so much in the Herald about Treadaway and Daniel sanatorium I would like to add my appreciation to the list as one who is highly elated that we can have an institution of this kind in Brownfield, and on behalf of our efficient doctors and their staff of nurses, and their building of which is a credit to a town of its size.

Well the cotton pulling is practically over for the first time over the field. Will be some couple of weeks before the next time over. Most of the cotton turned out better than expected for the first time over. Then there will be the corn crop, of which is good in our community.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McLaren spent a few days last week with their daughter, Mrs. Olan Cox.

Judge Cotten is having a four-room apartment built just south of his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Larey and son is visiting his sister, Mrs. M. A. Huffines and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack White of Ropes visited in the W. H. Hogue home last Sunday.

Mrs. Charlie Duncan of Oklahoma has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Story.

D. T. Cates and family of Hobbs, N. M., had business in Plains Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McClellan and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson visited last week end in Carlsbad, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Kit Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Warner Hayhurst attended the show in Brownfield Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bartlett spent Sunday with their son, Bert Bartlett and family.

J. V. O'Neal and family visited in the J. S. Webber home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey McKee and children of Rotan is here visiting Mrs. McKee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. McDonald.

Miss Gertrude Rasco is leaving Wednesday to spend Thanksgiving with her parents at Memphis, Texas.

Miss Ruby Nell Smith of Texas Tech, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Smith.

to enliven it with comedy makes the show even more disappointing.

ON THE SETS: All Hollywood is chuckling over a brief announcement due to its unintended connection with that easy going screen character Mae West. Her current director, Eddie Sutherland, declared that as soon as he finishes the picture in which he is now directing the wise-cracking gal he will take a trip around the world "because I'm bored with Hollywood!"

That excellent actor Walter Huston, in a picture called "Benefits Forged," has to make a heroic leap to stop a runaway horse. For the sake of realism of course the horse is in a heavy lather, but not from running. That could be called cruelty to animals by the society which keeps an eagle eye on such matters. So one of Hollywood's old and ingenious tricks is used... plastering the supposedly sweating horse with thick suds worked up from harness soap. And it's that particular kind of soap because harness soap makes a lather which stands up much longer than ordinary kinds. If you have ever cleaned and oiled harness... as I did in my early Vermont farm days... you'll know the difference.

On a Republic Pictures set an extra girl commented about leading lady June Lang that "She had a model husband and now she wants another model!"

And cute little Sonja Henie was thrown into a bad burn by a prankster. It resulted from her romance with Tyrone Power having publicly cooled. While she was out of her dressing room the ribber plastered its walls with photographs of her ex-lover!

The famous Hollywood Bowl is being used for some scenes in Dick Powell's current picture. With Rosemary Lane he was sitting in a front row box when he said to her: "It's grand in the moonlight." And looking up at the sky she replied: "Yes, up there are the only stars in Hollywood which never fade!"

This moonlight scene, being filmed in broad daylight, reminded me of a bit of Hollywood art which is little appreciated. Such night scenes can be, and are, made in the daytime by the use of filters on the camera lens. These are made of various materials, such as slightly tinted glass, thin silk, gauze, and even fine wire. Jack Marta, one of the most ingenious camera men, explained it to me while he was shooting "Manhattan Merry-go-Round." He disclosed that he owned nearly three hundred different kinds of filters, many of which he designed and made himself. Filters are one of the personal secret arts of cameramen and each jealously guards his own. As the result the smart cameramen can get effects impossible to others, which causes a scramble by rivals to learn the secret or try to duplicate the achievement. Incidentally it was Camera-man Marta who a year ago was the first to photograph successfully a circle of Indian bonfires at night in full color.

"And Here's Hollywood," says Wendy Barrie. "Where sound stages have high roofs so temperamental actors and directors won't 'hit the ceiling' so often!"

MAY MAKE PAPER FROM THE HUMBLE TUMBLEWEED

LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov. — Use of thistle fiber in manufacture of high grade paper may result from tumbleweeds blowing across Texas Tech campus, under observation of a speculative college president and an experimental chemistry professor.

Noticing this natural phenomenon one day this fall, President Bradford Knapp called Dr. W. M. Craig of the chemistry department, and together they theorized on commercial possibilities of the weed.

Crushing a bowlful of Russian thistle twigs, Dr. Craig boiled them for several hours, then treated the mass with sodium sulfide and sodium hydroxide, and washed it, obtaining a straw-colored fiber of unusual strength.

"I make no predictions about this experiment," Dr. Craig says. "My methods were too crude; but I see no reason why high-grade paper cannot be manufactured from tumbleweed fibers."

Mrs. J. C. Green will enter the local hospital this week for an operation.

I SURE WOULD Appreciate filling your car with Prestone Anti-Freeze. Also furnish you your auto parts and Mechanical Service.

LECTURES ON "WHY CRIME DOES NOT PAY"

This lecture is to be delivered next Monday, Nov. 29th, 9:45 at the high school auditorium, by an ex-convict, who has actually seen what crime will do. He will show you that crime is not only swiftly punished by law, but that the life of a criminal is short — you are soon in the grave yard.

Everyone invited to come. No admission charges, but a free will offering will be made. The speaker has spent more than five years lecturing in schools, churches, on streets and in orphan homes, and is endorsed by many schools some of which are in this section.

PINK BOLL WORM STILL A THREAT TO COTTON OF TERRITORY

Recently three pink boll worms were found at one of the Lamesa girls. The first reaction to that statement will be to wonder what harm three little worms can do. The danger lies in damage which can start from one or more such little worms as those. The damage can quickly become as serious as that witnessed by D. L. Adcock when he made a trip to Presidio a few days ago. Adcock returned with several jars of bolls and worms which he gathered while there from fields which should have yielded in excess of one and one-half bales per acre and which will yield practically nothing.

Dawson county is still in the Pink Boll worm control quarantine area and all cotton producers are cautioned against hauling seed cotton to points east for ginning. The roads are being patrolled by Federal Inspectors and violators will be prosecuted.—Lamesa Courier.

Well, Dawson, Terry and a number of other counties in this area have shown up a few dead pink boll worms for the last dozen years with no harm from that source. To our notion the flea-hopper, and the boll worm (old fashion kind) not to mention leaf worm are 100 percent worse enemies to cotton than all the pink boll worms from here to the Rio Grande.

there is always something new on the fashion horizon. A new style of the revival of an old one somehow makes womanhood blossom forth anew.

Those who have legs approaching the Marlene Dietrich calibre should hail stylists for this season's short skirts, and the dancing younger generation have already voiced their satisfaction with the convenience of the brighter mode.

Though some may find it a bit difficult to see anything for which to be thankful in the way of millinery, we Pollyannas say that hats could be much crazier. And girls at Texas State College for Women find that if one desires to be dashing, stunning, attention-compelling in every way, nothing will achieve the desired effect more quickly than one of this year's chapeaux.

Perfectly sensible gratitude should be accorded to cloth manufacturers for the new synthetic materials they've given us this winter. Wool combined with silk so it doesn't scratch, rayon spun into smooth but heavy fabrics, uncrushable velvets, duveteen and others all help to make this a more comfortably warm season than ever before.

COLLEGE STATION. — Cattle numbers and the purchasing power of cattle follow cycles varying from 14 to 16 years in length, according to W. E. Morgan, economist of the Extension Service division of Texas A. and M. College.

When the purchasing power of cattle is high, production is stimulated, and cattle numbers increase, Morgan points out. On the other hand, when purchasing power is low, production is curtailed.

In 1920, there were about 49 million head of cattle in the U. S., Morgan says. In that year a steer was worth, in terms of what the ranchman could buy with the proceeds of the sale, 79 percent as much as it was in the years 1910 to 1914. In 1930, 10 years later, there were 38 million head of cattle in the country and a steer was worth 34 percent more in buying power than it was in 1910-14.

GRASS AND FINANCE

DENVER, Nov. 17. — "Stay off the grass" would be a hard rule for Texans to follow consistently, since the state is literally over-run with it. Half as many species are to be found here as can be discovered all over the United States. Thirteen of the fourteen great American grass tribes have representatives on Texas land.

The Old Home Town

There's a kind of kindred feeling
In the nature of us all;
With a sympathy appealing
Though our fortunes rise or fall.

And it breathed its fearless spirit
In the hearts of pioneers
Who left home and friends to bear it;
To this land then fraught with fears.

Bearing hardships facing dangers;
And a heritage so free;
In a land where none are strangers;
They bequeath to you and me.

And the fruits of all their labors
With their often menial rounds
We may share now with our neighbors,
In the old home town.

Some cities may be greater
Than our cities in the west;
They may boast their tall skyscrapers,
And their factories and the rest.

That may go to make a city,
But they lack that beaming smile;
And the element of pity;
That makes western life worth while.

And the handclasp, warm and tender;
That regard for one and all;
With the love that they engender;
Making neighbors of us all.

And the pioneering spirit
That in all these lands abound;
Soon will raise to all thy merit
Thee my old home town.

We together here have labored.
Seen our babes to manhood grown.
There were times when fortune favored
We again defeat have known.

Then again, we've watched together
When a love done passed away
When our eyes in pity rather looked Looked the words we could not say.

And together we have missed them;
Where the bright light loves to shine;
And to gether we have missed them;
They were yours dear friend, and mine.

And a tie no fates can sever;
Has been formed by this we've found;
Makes us citizens forever,
Of the old home town.

—Mrs. W. G. Hardin.

The Rest of The Record

JAMES V. ALLRED Governor of Texas

AUSTIN.—In issuing the annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, I did so this year with the feeling that a white-haired old lady of some seventy years had really written it. Out of the heavy mail on my desk, I found last week a penciled letter with the writing shaken by the palsied hand of age. Its message typified the real spirit of the Pilgrim Mother of 1621 when the first day of Thanksgiving in America was observed. I felt humble in the presence of that letter for in it I could see the reason why this State of Texas has become so great. Back of it, I could see the pioneer mothers whose love and faith gave the steel to the courage of their men that enabled them to overcome hardships and built the mighty empire of Texas.

The dear old lady wrote that she only wanted to express appreciation for her monthly pension check. She added "while some people might think my room too bare and poorly furnished for comfort still to me it is home and for the pension check which makes this possible, I am thankful. My children are all gone and I would be lonely except for the memories of a long life which God has blessed with many friends and much happiness. To Him I shall give thanks on this Thanksgiving Day."

What a lesson to those of us more fortunate! From that letter I gained a feeling of humanity, grateful that she should write me at this time.

I don't know how other governors feel about the penciled, often poorly written letters which we receive, but to me these are just as important if not more so, than the neatly typed, embossed letters from lawyers and bankers. These letters are from poor people who travel on a three-cent postage stamp to ask the governor of their state for help or advice. The least a governor can do is to read them and help in every way possible.

In many instances the letters are written in Czech or Spanish, or German and often illegible. These I have translated and returned to me promptly.

Yes, we have much for which to be thankful on this Thanksgiving Day. In contrast to war-torn and war-fearing countries, America will observe its day of Thanksgiving in security and peace confident that our ideals of democracy, the industry of our people, and the vast resources of our nation will enable these United States to meet crises under which other nations might crumble.

As Governor I feel grateful to the kind Providence that has guided this state and nation out of the depths of depression into an era of comparative prosperity. True there are many families whose tables will be pitifully bare on this Thanksgiving Day unless charitable organizations and kindly neighbors help them. But the bread lines which have threatened the nation in past years will not be as long nor will the suffering be as great—thanks to the humanitarian program of the President.

In our state there are still too many unfortunates for whom aid has been denied or for whom the aid given has not been sufficient to relieve their pain and need. Many aged, blind, and unemployables on the relief rolls will face a cheerless Thanksgiving Day.

As we who are more fortunate share the bounties of Thanksgiving dinner, let us remember that the obligation to our unfortunate neighbors has not been filled by partial payment. Let us remember the happiness and comfort brought to the old lady by the pension check and whose brave attitude so typifies the real Thanksgiving Day spirit. Let us resolve that others like her but who are not being aided shall receive help. There can be no turning back or any detour made from the humanitarian highway that we have traveled as an aftermath of the depression.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Cupers, Jr.

AUSTIN.—Politics and the problems of state were given a vacation this week in Texas, as state officials welcomed the opening of the deer hunting season by departing en masse for the deer country. Headed by Gov. Allred, who "jumped the gun" a week by going to Mexico, and then returned for a few days hunting in Texas when the state season opened, with the Governor of Colorado as his guest, virtually everybody in Austin who owns or could borrow or rent a rifle, was afield. With 25 percent more hunting licenses issued this year than ever before, and a plentiful supply of bucks reported through the deer country, a most successful season was assured. Many lucky hunters were returning by the week-end, with huge bucks proudly draped over the motor-car fenders, having gotten their Thanksgiving trophy within 24 hours.

Politics on Their Mark The holiday interlude, ending January 2, however, will find the politicians all set and ready for the six-months dash that will bring them up to the July primaries. The "unofficial" campaigns which have been under way for months, will come out into the open. Developments of the last few weeks indicate that reform and economy in state government will be one of the leading issues in both the governor's and the legislative races. Another special session, despite denials by Governor Allred, may be staged in March, in the opinion of the best information observers here, to raise some additional money for old age pensions, the teachers' retirement fund, needy blind and dependent children. Best indication from the last special session is that the goal of new revenue will be from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000, instead of the $15,000,000 demanded by the governor in the last fruitless session.

Legal developments which have occurred since the special session ended however, may make considerable difference in the state's financial setup. Upholding by the higher federal courts of the state's intangible tax on pipelines apparently has put an end to this 5-year old litigation, and, if the pipeline companies pay off, as several have indicated, it is estimated the general fund will receive $2,000,000 immediately, and several hundred thousand additional annually hereafter. Counties in which the pipelines are located will profit by substantial sums, also.

The possibility that the Supreme Court may rule finally upon the litigation involving the inheritance taxes on the E. H. R. Green estate within the next few months, may, if the decision is favorable to Texas, bring in another estimated $5,000,000 to the state treasury.

A third factor affecting revenue is the court decision ending the practice of oil companies of paying for only 99 percent of oil in tanks and pipelines, deducting 1 percent for "shrinkage." The Texas Railroad Commission ordered this practice halted, and the courts upheld the order. The additional 1 percent will substantially increase the state's tax revenue on crude oil production.

15 Senators Face Test

Issues are in the making now for the 150 legislative places in the house, and 15 senatorial posts to be filled at next July's primaries. In the Senate, especially, there is great interest, since the terms of some of the upper house's outstanding members expire, including T. J. Holbrook, who may not stand for re-election; Grady Woodruff of Decatur, dry leader; Weaver Moore of Houston, wet leader; Frank Rawlings, of Fort Worth, the senate's best parliamentary expert; Ben O'Neal of Wichita Falls, administration floor leader and former law partner of Gov. Allred; G. H. Nelson, of Tahoka, who may run for Lieutenant Governor on a unicameral legislative platform; Clay Cotton, of Palestine; Olan Van Zandt of Tioga; Claude Isbell of Rockwall; Jim Neal of Miranda City, the man who broke the long reign of Archie Parr in the Valley; Allan Shivers, the youthful Port Arthur friend of labor; L. J. Sulak of LaGrange; R. A. Weinert of Seguin; Claude Westerfield, the radical leader from Dallas; and E. M. Davis of Brownwood, farm bloc spokesman.

Mann Will Run

Part of the speculation as to who will be opponents of Lt. Gov. Walter Woodruff for Attorney General was Above, Marshall is pictured with two of his favorite products, a sailor dummy and a Hindu marionette. At the right, he is seen carving a head from a block of wood.

Not Even Ventriloquist Can "Throw" His Voice

THE old idea that a ventriloquist can "throw" his voice, making it come from a shoe box, from behind a chair across the room or from the basement stairway, is a hoax in the strictest sense of the word.

To make it appear that his voice is emanating from some place other than his mouth, the performer needs a "prop," usually a dummy with movable lips and eyes. He produces sounds by taking a deep inhalation of breath and allowing it to escape slowly, the sounds of the voice being modified by the muscles of the throat and palate. The illusion that he is not speaking at all is heightened by immobility, achieved through practice, of the visible muscles concerned in speech, as well as by gestures and glances which suggest a false source of the sound.

Frank Marshall often enjoys a friendly little "chat" with his children. He says they don't talk back, if they know what's good for them. Two of his marionettes can be seen here, also.

JOKE ALMOST TOO PRACTICAL

CLINTON, Okla.—R. H. Williamson, who played a practical joke on 3 hunting friends, rubbed a knot on his head the other day and vowed: "Never again."

The four men stopped at a farmhouse and Williamson requested permission to hunt on the place. The farmer said he would give his permission if Williamson would shoot a horse he wanted killed.

"The horse has been in the family a long time," he explained, "and I haven't got the heart to kill it."

Williamson agreed but did not tell his companions. When the group came upon the animal while walking toward the field, Williamson said:

"I believe I will shoot this horse." His friends tried to dissuade him but Williamson fired three times and the horse fell dead.

"I never did kill a horse," he announced. Then, with a wild look in the direction of his friends, he added: "And I never did kill a man, either!"

Alarmed, his companions waded into him, one of them striking him on the head with the butt of his gun, before he could explain his little joke.

Williamson was knocked "out" for 15 minutes. Above sent in by J. E. Michie, McAllester, Okla.

10,000 CHEVROLET SCHOOLS

Special supplementary training schools will be held the week of November 22 throughout nearly 10,000 Chevrolet dealerships in all parts of the United States, it was announced this week by C. W. Wood, manager of the Chevrolet service and mechanical department.

The schools are designed to supplement the training received by dealers' service and mechanical managers in the new Chevrolet models for 1938. Mr. Wood explained. Every dealer's service men will be schooled to give full and complete service on the 1938 cars at the conclusion of the training week, he said.

HISTORY THROUGH TITLES

Among the titles of early newspapers can be found an indirect history of Texas. First comes "El Mexicano" in 1813 at Nacogdoches, and after several other papers with a Mexican touch "The Constitutional Advocate and Public Advertiser" was issued in Brazoria in 1833. "Advocate of the People's Rights" was another step up and in 1934 the "Texas Republican" appeared.

Another Brazoria paper, "The Single Star," reflects the period of statehood, and in 1839 one finds the annexation problem mirrored in the title, "National Intelligencer," a Houston paper. A still later publication, begun in Austin in 1846, looks to the future as the "New Era."

THE BRONCHO'S CORRAL

VOICE OF MEADOW HIGH SCHOOL

We are leaving out the Nosey Notes in the Broncho department this week, as it very near approaches scandal it appears to us, and we have no way knowing just what is meant, or whether the truth. Anyway, people can give newspapers a lot of trouble in court for things published in their columns. In the first place, we want the ill will of no one, and second, we want no cases in court. So, if the editors of the Broncho's Corral want Nosey Notes in The Herald, they must be toned down.—Editor Herald.

The Value of Typewriting
The ability to use the typewriter is of value to people of all ages and occupations. Why all this demand for typewriting? The question is easily answered—legibility in the written message and the duplicate carbon copy that can be retained by the writer—two copies with no more effort than is required to write one. Typewriting conserves time, and also conserves physical and mental energy. Today the handwritten business letter is almost obsolete.

The aims of Commercial Teaching are as follows: Knowledge, Habits, Ideals, Powers, and to solve Business Problems. By Knowledge we mean the sum total of acquired information or ascertained facts. By Habits we mean the tendency to acquire fixed ways of reacting to particular situations. By Ideals we mean an individual or group characteristic which is an "object of desire." Only when one sets a trait apart and makes it an object which he desires to possess, does it become to him an ideal. By Power we mean the ability to do, the ability to control the circumstance of life, the ability to apply knowledge, habits, and ideals to the effective solution of problems. To develop the power to solve business problems the student must be able successfully to adapt the information he learns, the skill he acquires, and the ideals he cherishes to the problems which he encounters. The value of what a student learns in the class room is determined by how well he can adapt what he learns to what he thinks and does.

Learning to typewrite is an example of the development of a sensory motor habit or skill. Since the psychology of skill is the psychology of habit, it is to be expected that learning to typewrite can be accomplished only by a large amount of continuous practice to acquire the habits of response.

Learning to type write consists of:

1. Learning the mechanical operation of the machine.
2. Reading the copy.
3. Acquiring correct rapid finger operation.

The objectives then in this type of learning are:

1. Development of correct neuromuscular habits.
 2. Development of automatic response to sensory or ideational stimuli.
- The typewriter promotes self-criticism on the part of pupils, good working habits and attitudes, attitude of responsibility, self-confidence in slower pupils, cooperativeness and mutual helpfulness, and independence; it creates felt-need for spelling; make drill and practice exercises more effective; provides clear images of words; facilitates perception and correction of mistakes. It helps teach language and writing form and to establish clear images of numbers. It reduces the amount of immature and hasty practice in handwriting. It is an incentive to good handwriting; improves correlation of art and language work; increases interest in drawing; and awakens the sense of design.

Bronchettes Win Third Victory Over Frenship

The girls won their third game with Frenship Friday night. Frenship's players were really "working" and gave the girls some real competition.

The girls are in the South Plains Basketball League, and will begin the first games the first week in December.

Back these girls and let's have a championship team.

Bronchos

The Broncho's clashed with Seagraves Friday, and the game ended with neither team scoring. This was really a good game.

Although the season is nearly over, and then basket ball will head our list. We have certainly enjoyed the football season, and know that we will enjoy basket ball as well.

Annual Accomplishments

- "You help me, and I'll help you" seems to be the cooperative spirit the Seniors have adopted in publishing their High School Annual.
- Speaking from a political, economical, and social sense, this will be the best annual ever published by Meadow High School.
- A few of the better qualities of this annual are:
1. Better binding.
 2. Nicer paper.
 3. Better type.
 4. Pictures stamped on not pasted.
 5. More economically priced.

would be better to extend the regular six weeks examinations through a seven weeks period. As there will be only three days of school this week, students will not have much time to catch up with their back work in such a short length of time, but it will help considerably toward that point.

Who's Who in the Junior Class

Charles Poole, our Junior class president, was born June 13, 1921, at San Angelo, Tex. He is 5 feet and 10 inches tall, weighs 130 pounds, has light brown hair and ocean gray eyes, is very intelligent, favorite color is blue, likes most anything to eat and plenty of it, dislikes class salads and inappropriate clothing. His hobbies are aviation, radio and science. He has lived at Meadow for the last four years. His dream girl is a brunette with large dark eyes, very intelligent, medium sized, the "You Big Hero," kind. He plans to choose his vocation from the fields of aviation or radio.

J. W. Smith, our vice president, was born June 7, 1919, at Bonham, Tex. He is 6 feet and 1 inch tall, weighs 158, is a good athlete, has dark wavy hair, brown eyes, and a few freckles. He is very popular. His favorite color is blue, likes milk, ham, eggs, and "Evelyn." Dislikes neckties and girls that wear too much lipstick. His dream girl has light brown hair, blue eyes, and is fat. He states that his hobby is collecting girls. He has lived at Meadow practically all of his life. He plans to be a farmer.

Who's Who in the Freshman Class

One of our favorite classmates is our president, known as Louise Heme. It is often said that "cabbage" could be her favorite dish. "Gosh" is an outstanding saying of hers and it seems that she has a tender liking for Mr. Ledbetter and Mrs. Burlison. As a sport she turns toward basketball. And her song is that melodious one that goes by the name of "The Marry-go-round Broke Down." Louise is outstanding in all of her literary work. Always remember her as the "Outstanding Blond."

Another outstanding person in the Freshman class is a favorite among girls known as D. J. Yowell. His favorites are:

- Sport ----- Tennis
- Dish ----- Ice Cream
- Saying ----- "Golly"
- Teacher ----- Mr. Hartzog
- Song ----- Yankee Doodle

Who's Who in the Sophomore Class

Sport ----- Pulling up beans

Who's Who in the Senior Class

Lee Ric, president of our class, first came to Meadow in the year of 1932. He has been one of our faithful class workers and athletes since then. He dearly loves to play football, but he spends most of his time doing artistic work. He says he hopes to be a great artist some day. We wonder!

Lee's favorite dish is ice cream and his favorite teacher is Mr. Culp. (And we don't blame him). He tells us that he likes brown eyed blonds, because they look so innocent. You brown-eyed blonds had better look out for Lee is a heart breaker—especially when he says his favorite by-word "Ah fiddlesticks," right sweetly.

Francil Henson, vice president of our class, came to Meadow in 1933. She is well liked by everyone, and is a faithful class worker. She was chosen queen of the Senior class this year, and was crowned queen of the carnival.

Francil likes to play basket ball, but she had much rather go kodaking with some tall, dark, and handsome young gentleman. She likes bookkeeping under Mr. Hartzog all right, but she likes cream of pea soup much better. She pleads for us not to mention her most used expression, for it's something seldom used by queens.

State Director Praises Local School

Examination Period Extended

As many know the short schedule has caused everyone to have shorter time to study and meet classes in time. So as a benefit to the students there has been a decision that it quality of the F. F. A. projects visited, which he characterized as being "largely typical of the way in which West Texas boys do things."

In his talk he drew a clear picture of "what vocational education holds for those boys and girls who now are students of Vocational Agriculture and Home Making, will in the near future choose to share their problems and travel down the road of life together."

Mr. Manire, was accompanied by O. T. Ryane, supervisor of Vocational Agriculture in area 1. They spent several hours visiting in the V. A. and Home making departments of the school, and looking at some of the outstanding F. F. A. feeding projects being conducted by local boys, after which they were luncheon guests of A. L. Hartzog, local V. A. instructor.

Mr. Manire's visit was a compliment to our community. We hope he and Mr. Ryan are able to visit with us again in the near future.

TEXAS FAST ELIMINATING GRADE CROSSINGS

HOUSTON, Nov.—The old adage that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure is being applied by the Texas Highway Department and the Federal Bureau of Public Roads to make highways safer for the traveling public, according to an article, "Toward Greater Safety," contributed by Charles E. Simons to the November issue of Texas Parade.

"Figures compiled by a national safety organization disclose that approximately 2,500 persons lost their lives in collisions at railroad grade crossings last year. A like or perhaps larger number will lose their lives under similar circumstances in 1937, due to increased motor travel and faster train schedules. This does not take into consideration the thousands that were permanently crippled or injured and the additional thousands that suffered only temporary hurts. The property damage, both real and human, caused in these scores of needless "accidents" will off-set many times the cost of providing grade separations at the most dangerous crossings.

"During each of the next two years the federal government has made an extra allocation of $2,724,825 to Texas to finance railroad grade separations and install warning and other preventive devices at railroad grade crossings having a bad accident record. The Texas Highway Department will furnish the plans, specifications, award the contracts and supervise their construction and installation.

"The ordinary practice followed in eliminating grade separations is to construct either an overpass or an underpass. In the main, this procedure will be followed in Texas, although there will be an important variation in that, for the first time in the history of the relationship between the two departments. Texas has been granted permission in a few instances to relocate railroads to eliminate the necessity for a crossing at grade.

COLOR BLINDNESS IS RARE AMONG WOMEN

LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov.—Color blindness among women is very rare, but a young woman who is color blind has been found at Texas Technological College. She is Miss Mary White, freshman journalism student from Tahoka.

Biologists say that color blindness is determined by genes, and they are the inheritance carriers in the human body. All possibilities of inheritable traits are dependent upon genes. There are dominant genes and recessive genes. A dominant gene shows up by itself, but a recessive gene cannot of itself transmit a trait, but requires the cooperation of a dominant gene.

Color blindness is dominant in men and recessive in women. A man can transmit color blindness to his son but in order for his daughter to be color blind her grandfather on her mother's side must also have been color blind. This is a very rare combination, but that is exactly what happened in Miss White's case. Her father is color blind and her mother's father was color blind. However, all such cases do not result in color blindness.

Thus nature favors women who delight in colors by ordaining that few be color blind. And for the same reason very few women are bald. Baldness, according to biologists, is regulated by genes just as is color blindness, and so baldness among women is just as rare as color blindness.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

The librarian in charge of the book conservatory in a neighboring town asks State Press will he be so kind, please, sir, as to tell why the newspapers are often referred to as "the fourth estate." The pundit of this podium never expected the day when a librarian would ask him to explain something. Librarians know in the large more than State Press knows in the small. But there may be minor fractions of information, fragments of learning, known to some members of the fourth estate and not known to members of the librarians' union. So, it happens that S. P. can tell why journalism is called the fourth estate. It was given that name by Edmund Burke in an address in the House of Commons.

Pointing to the press gallery he warned some of the shellbacks to take note of the fourth estate, the journalists there assembled. It was called the fourth estate because the nobles, the clergy and the commons, were the first, second and third estates. In other words, the newspapers were free to criticize and condemn the work of the three preceding estates. The press in England was free in Edmund Burk's day. It is free now. Some have wondered how it came to be that a relatively small island, settled originally by a nondescript population of sea rovers, with an occasional infusion of other strains, became the seat and director of the world's greatest empire, the mistress of the seas and the richest of European nations. One answer is that the press found an early foothold on that island, that it was a free press, after its first feeble efforts at speech. England has long been a synonym for freedom, and for a century a synonym for honest government and invariable justice. The fourth estate, a free press, is one of the reasons why, one of the answers to how. No country with a muzzled press is free. No country without a fourth estate is happy. Free speech ends when the free press is jailed.—State Press in Dallas News.

MRS. HERMAN TRIGG HONORED WITH PARTY

Mrs. Herman Trigg, of Pampa, Texas, was honored Tuesday afternoon with a small bridge party given her by her mother, Mrs. Jack Stricklin, Sr. The high scorer, Mrs. Jim Graves, received a large cookie jar. Other guests were Mesdames Sawyer Graham, R. L. Bandy, Clovis Kendrick, John L. Cruce, and Jack Stricklin, Jr.

Miss Mildred Adams who is attending Baylor College at Belton, spent Thanksgiving with her friends at El Campo, Texas.

Miss Elsie Tarpley of Lubbock spent the week end at home.

COUNTY CHORAL CLUB

The Texas Federation of Music Clubs will have a county wide meeting at the Methodist Church Sunday afternoon, Nov. 28th, at 3 o'clock, for the purpose of organizing a County Choral Club.

The plans will be discussed and formulated, officers elected and all committees appointed.

Other Counties in Texas and in other states are offering this to broaden Musical Knowledge and appreciation. Our County can have a wonderful organization. All school districts are invited to get behind this movement and bring your singers and musicians to this meeting. We will need a number of leaders and directors. You can vitally make Terry County a music section, equal to any.

Remember, everybody is urged to attend and be on time, please.

MRS. W. E. LATHAM HONORS HUSBANDS BIRTHDAY

Mrs. W. E. Latham honored her husband's birthday Tuesday evening with an informal party in their home. A very pleasant evening was spent. Delightful refreshments were enjoyed throughout the evening. Guests present were Messrs. and Mmes. Jim Graves, Guthrie Allen, Alexander, W. R. McDuffey, Clovis Kendrick, Jack Stricklin, Jr., Mrs. Herman Trigg; Misses Doris Lee Gore, Jerry Youngblood, Janet Youngblood, Louise Hall, Bugs Tarpley; Messrs. Boy Tarpley, Wayne Tipton, Jim St. Clair, James Youngblood, and Jack Bailey.

MARRIED

Mr. O. D. Austin, and Miss Edith Donnell were married Tuesday morning at the Methodist parsonage, and will make their home in Seagraves.

Both the young people were from Saint Jo, Texas, and were former members of Dean Breedlove's church, there.

WEDDING

Mr. McDaniel Currie and Miss Lorene King of Seagraves, Tex., were united in marriage at the Church of Christ on Nov. 19th. They were accompanied by Miss Jean King, a sister of the bride, and Miss Flora Nell Kim of Seagraves, Texas.

TITLE-LOWRIMORE

On Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, Miss Lola Mae Tittle became the bride of Mr. Arlie Lowrimore, at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Tittle is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tittle, the county clerk and wife. She is a graduate of the local high school and attended Hardin-Simmons university and a much admired young lady. She is employed as stenographer in the Farm Credit Administration office.

Mr. Lowrimore is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lowrimore of Lamesa but is employed here at the Star Tire Store. He is a promising young business man and has many friends here. He received his education at Lamesa High School and Wayton at Lamesa High School and Wayland Junior College.

Rev. Avery Rogers read the double-ring ceremony beneath the archway of chrysanthemums. The couple were unattended except for little Billie Jo Tittle, niece of the bride who carried the rings upon a white satin pillow. She was dressed in yellow taffeta.

The bride wore a becoming frock of black velvet caught at the throat with rhinestone clips. After the ceremony, an informal reception was held for the group of friends and relatives. A three tiered wedding cake was served with coffee from a table laid in Normandy. White tapers burned in pairs.

The couple left after the reception for a short wedding trip but will be at home to their many friends at the Cruce apartments on East Broadway.

TEA ANNOUNCING MARRIAGE OF MISS LENORE BROWN. FIELD GIVEN TUESDAY

One of the largest teas of the fall season was the one given Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Roy Wingerd by Mrs. Wingerd, Mrs. I. M. Bailey and Mrs. Joe Bailey of 1411 18th St., Lubbock, Texas. The occasion was the announce-

Sufferers of STOMACH ULCERS HYPERACIDITY. DEFINITE RELIEF OR MONEY BACK. THE WILLARD TREATMENT has brought prompt, definite relief in thousands of cases of Stomach and Duodenal Ulcers, due to Hyperacidity, and other forms of Stomach Distress due to Excess Acid. ment of the approaching marriage of their sister, Miss Lenore Brownfield to Mr. Lal Copeland of Seagraves on December 5.

The dining table was covered with a normandy lace cloth, and centered with a cut glass bowl filled with Godetia and stock in pink and white. The two silver services were presided over by aunts of the bride-elect, Mrs. Redford Smith and Mrs. Ray Brownfield.

The buffet featured an enormous tray on which stood two large dolls dressed as a bride and groom, and about their feet were the scroll announcements tied with pink and blue ribbons. On either side of the dolls were large blue fustoria vases filled with the Godetia and Stock. Mrs. W. A. Bell, and Mrs. Basil Webb, a cousin, presided here.

In the receiving line were the hostesses, the bride-elect, her sister Miss Jane Brownfield, Mrs. Lee Brownfield, and Mrs. M. V. Brownfield, who registered the arriving guests. All members of the house party were relatives of the bride-elect with the exception of Mrs. Bell in whose home she now lives.

Mrs. Eli Perkins of Lubbock was an out of town visitor for the occasion.

About two hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Miss Coyla Prosser of Slaton, was the guest of Miss Ola Belle Brown, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Kendrick spent Sunday in Midland with Mr. and Mrs. Orb Stice.

Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Treadaway had as their guest Dr. R. L. Marrett of El Paso, Thanksgiving.

Mr. Lawrence Stewart of Abilene, came up Tuesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his sister, Mrs. Claude Hudgens.

Miss Irene Adams, student of Baylor University, Waco, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with one of her classmates in San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. W. G. Hardin has been awarded a scholarship by the U. S. School of Writing. This is based on a test sent her recently in which she made a 96 per cent average.

But your engine's oil-lines are

LONGER YET!

Long risky delay for old-style oils. Change to

WINTER OIL-PLATING

His whole windpipe isn't half as long and slim as the oil-passages in your engine. And after winding all through tiny tubes, your oil must still spread out over much more surface than there is on this sheet!

Badly needed everywhere at once, how fast must any Winter oil flow to get there the instant you start up cold?

Supposing that some other oil did flow as fast as your correct Winter grade of Conoco Germ Processed oil, this patented oil would still "get there" far ahead.

Not mere split-seconds ahead. But hours ahead!

For Germ Processing not only means record fast flow, but the only OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING "magnetizes" on to metal. Never drains down despite all-day ice-cold parking, or heatless nights in your garage,

You merely hop the starter and slip away, with your engine unfailingly oiled in advance by exclusive OIL-PLATING. Saves engine and battery. Saves many a quart. Only your Conoco Mileage Merchant has Germ Processed oil that OIL-PLATES your engine.

Write for "The Story of Oil-Plating"....Dept. 7, Conoco, Ponca City, Okla.

WEST WARD SCHOOL NEWS

We were delighted with the attendance of so many mothers at our Book Week Program last Friday afternoon. The prizes went to Miss Shepherd's first grade and Miss Jones' fourth grade. They pantomimed "Little Miss Muffet," and a scene from "Tom Sawyer."

Bennie Ruth Wartes of the fourth grade fell and broke her left arm Monday.

Interesting Thanksgiving posters are displayed in our school.

Mesdames Bruce's, Rentfro's and Miss Jones' fourth grades are having Thanksgiving parties on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Smith's first grade pupils are collecting a Thanksgiving basket for presentation.

We shall have Thursday and Friday for Thanksgiving Holidays.

COUNTY AGENTS FROM OVER AREA WATCH MEAT CUTTING

Roy W. Snyder, meat specialist of the Texas A. & M. college extension department, introduced a beef and hog cutting demonstration Friday morning at the C. M. Doyle farm in the Shallowater community. Two hogs and two calves were used for the demonstration.

The following county agents were present: Grady Lane, Dickens county; Mack Woodrum, Kent county; V. F. Jones and C. A. Lawrence, assistant, Lynn county; D. W. Sherrill, Hoekley county; Ralph Howe and Davis Pounds, assistant, Crosby county; R. N. McClain and W. T. McKinney, Terry county; H. B. Horne, Yoakum county; J. W. Potts, Garza county; C. T. Johnson and Homer Thompson and W. F. Johnson, assistants, Lubbock.

SCOUT TROOP INSPECTION —EXPERT AN IMPROVEMENT

Boy Scouts and Leaders are better informed now than they were a month ago as to what they can do to raise the standards of their troops. The last two weeks have been set aside for Troop Inspection Round-ups and most every Troop in the Council has been visited by the District and Neighborhood Commissioners.

As a result of the Inspection report a number of new Scouts were enrolled and plans made with the committee for purchasing Camping equipment, record books, reading material, and other things necessary for the successful operation of a Boy Scout Troop.

Another inspection will be made in February or March. Each Troop will receive a certificate at the Council-wide Court of Honor on December 3 in recognition of their rating determined by the Inspection.

I am a firm believer in charity. I think that those who have in abundance should assist their more unfortunate neighbors. I believe that the state has a duty to perform in caring for the aged, the sick, the blind, and other unfortunate. But the idea that the government owes every man a living is fundamentally wrong. No man has the right to squander all his income during the productive years of his life and then expect those who have been saving and thrifty in their habits support him in his old age.—Lovington (New Mex.) Leader.

CONTROL OF MEASLES NEAR?

Measles, commonly but quite erroneously considered a mild disease, something not to fear a great deal but to be taken as a mere incident of childhood, is about to come under control.

A woman bacteriologist, Professor Jean Broadhurst of Columbia University, has succeeded in isolating the virus that causes measles. Scientists hailed her achievement as another milestone on the road to control or eradication of another highly communicable disease. They hope, in the near future, to be able to devise a test that will determine measles carriers—persons who transmit the disease to others without having it themselves—and to develop a vaccine conferring immunity upon all who use it.

Measles and its train of complications may well be driven from the world if Professor Broadhurst's pioneer work pans out as expected. If so, she will have served humanity in no small degree.—Abilene News.

Memories of the First Auto Show

Photos courtesy Socoy-Vacuum Oil Company

Automobiles were not always the fine streamlined small palaces that we know today, as you will note in some of the now ancient 1900 models on display at the Automobile Show at Madison Square Garden, New York. Look them over and see if you can pick one that you would like to try an overland trip, say to Fort Worth or Dallas some night, when it was foggy or raining.

You will note one being towed in by old Dobbin. It was common in those days for your friends to advise you to get a horse if you wanted to get where you are going. Now, we have no fear of getting anywhere in an automobile.

Where Charlie McCarthy Was Born

Dummies Live in PICTURE PARADE

CHARLIE MCCARTHY, the sassy little dummy of the ether waves, may owe his articulation to Ventriloquist Edgar Bergen, but he owes his life to Frank Marshall of Chicago. That's a debt he owes in common with many others of his race, for Marshall is the only known manufacturer of these queer beings in America.

Frank comes by his trade through inheritance. Since 1890 his family has made dummies for ventriloquists, including the famed Voxor Walter and "the Great" Lester. Charlie McCarthy occasionally is sent back to Marshall's workshop to be "hospitalized."

Mrs. R. M. Moorhead and her sister, Mrs. Gladys Moorhead, motored to Austin Tuesday after Mrs. Gladys' Moorhead's son, who is attending the State University, to spend the Thanksgiving with his parents.

Mrs. A. H. Daniell was determined

Here you see the "works" of a ventriloquist's dummy: Manipulating the cords causes the mouth and eyes to open and shut.

to have a Herald of her own, as they often got lost at the hospital, and so a new reader, regularly.

Teacher: "Can you give me an example of wasted energy, Bertram?"
Bertram: "Yes, sir. Telling a hair-raising story to a bald-headed man."

BAND MOTHERS CLUB

The Band Mothers Club met in regular session Thursday night, Nov. 18th, at 7 o'clock with 8 present. Quite an interesting discussion on color, and if the girls should be dressed like the boys or should they use divided skirts or just plain skirts. It was agreed each mother should vote and then let majority rule. There were several communities appointed such as membership, Mrs. Mullin, chairman; Mrs. Arch Fowler, Mrs. Pound, suit; Mrs. Miller, chairman; Mrs. Green, Mrs. Thompson. Publicity—Mrs. Renfro, chairman; Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Leonard. Constitution and By-Laws, Mrs. Auburg, Mrs. Brown, finance; Mrs. McPherson, chairman; Mrs. Barnwell, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Brownfield, Mrs. Word, Mrs. Lowe, Mrs. Simms.

It was decided we would meet only on first Thursday night in December. Mothers these are interesting meetings and each mother who has a child in band is urged to come and let all put our shoulder to the wheel and suit our band. Our boys will be proud and our entire community will be proud of our band.

Mrs. Will Linville arrived home Monday night after attending the Methodist Conference at Quannah. She also visited her daughter while there.
