AUSTIN—Split by the rock of internal dissension among its members, the Senate investigating committee, which has held the political spotlight in Texas these past two weeks, was out of action, probably for the duration of the summer campaigns this week.

LAND PROBE ABOUT DONE The committee did a fairly effective job of investigating the Land Commissioner—the job it originally began. The adjournment will probably have little effect upon that phase of its work, since the record already compiled about the Land Office is sufficiently complete to effect changes in Land Office procedure by the next session of the Legislature, most observers here believe.

BUDGET TASK STARTS

QUESTIONS ON NEW FARM ACT ANSWERED

College Station—Many questions dealing with the new farm act, and especially with the cotton marketing quota, were recently answered by Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, in the course of a radio talk over WTAW of the Texas A. and M. College.

Q. Among the questions which have been bothering producers and which were answered by Slaughter were: "If marketing quotas are approved on cotton, how will they be put into effect on individual farms?" and "Will farms producing cotton in 1938 for the first time in recent years receive allotments?"

Q. Under the new farm act, each cotton farm will receive an acreage allotment and all cotton produced on these acres may be sold without penalty. In other words the marketing quota places a premium on efficient production, while the Bankhead Act, in effect, penalized it.

Q. What are the commodities of which direct control is contemplated? A. Cotton, tobacco, rice, corn, and wheat. Because of minimum production requirements, corn quotas will probably not apply to Texas.

Q. How does the act provide control of these crops? A. After supplies reach certain levels, marketing of the crops is regulated through the imposition of quotas. While the act puts the quotas into effect, they are subject to rejection by a one-third vote of a producers' referendum.

Q. How will this control surplusage? A. By providing penalties on sales in excess of farm quotas.

Q. Will the marketing quotas be put into effect each year? They are put into effect whenever the supply of cotton exceeds the normal supply by more than seven per cent, unless quotas are opposed by more than one-third of the producers.

Q. If marketing quotas are approved, how will they be put into effect on individual farms? A. The national cotton allotment of 26,300,000 acres will be allocated to the cotton growing states on the basis of the production of cotton in each state during the preceding five years, and the acres diverted from cotton under previous programs will be taken into consideration. Each state's allotment will be divided among counties on the same basis, but no county will receive less than 60 per cent of the sum of the acreage planted in 1937 and the acreage diverted from cotton under the 1937 program.

QUESTIONS ON NEW FARM ACT ANSWERED

Q. Will farms producing cotton in 1938, but which did not produce cotton during the past three years, receive allotments? A. Yes: a reserve acreage will be available in each state to be divided among these farms.

Q. Is there a limit to the acreage that may be allotted to a farm? A. No farm will be allotted an acreage greater than the cotton acreage planted and diverted during the past three years except in the case of new cotton producers.

Q. What is the marketing quota of the individual cotton farmer? A. It is the cotton produced on his allotted acres, or the normal production on his allotted acres, whichever is greater. This means that he can sell without penalty all the cotton he produces if he does not exceed his allotted acres.

Q. Who divides the county allotment among the farmers in a county? A. Community and county committees who have been elected by the farmers.

Q. When will farmers vote on the 1938 cotton quotas? A. March 12, when the county committees will select a voting place in each community where cotton is grown and will select three local farmers to hold the referendum.

Q. If the quotas are in effect as the result of the referendum, what happens to a farmer if he knowingly overplants his acreage allotment? A. He loses all soil conservation payments, his cotton price adjustment payments, and the opportunity to obtain a loan on the marketing quota for the farm. However, he may receive a loan on cotton produced in excess of his marketing quota of 60 per cent of the rate available to farmers who stayed within their allotment. In addition, he must pay a penalty of two cents a pound on the excess production sold, which will be collected by the buyer. This penalty does not apply to cotton produced on any farm which has received a cotton acreage allotment and on which the production is 1,000 pounds of lint cotton or less.

Q. Will cotton loans be available under the new act? A. The new act provides for loans at the rate of between 52 to 75 per cent of the parity price for cotton on the basis of 7-8 inch middling cotton. However, the loans will be available only if the market agreement is declared in effect as a result of the referendum.

The Boy Scouts chapter is sponsoring the "Cat and the Canary" which will be presented March 14 and 15 and will be a grand show, well worth the time and price.

THESE COMMENTARIES ON PEOPLE AND PLACES . . . GENTLE ICONOCLASM WITH POLITICS ESCHEWED

To the casual thinker the overflow of money in the banks may seem a sure sign of prosperity. Incongruous as this may seem, it is just as harmful as too much wheat in the elevators, or too much pork in the storage plants.

People to whom bankers would willingly make loans are, broadly speaking, persons who do not need the money. Those who would gladly accept loans, and who could do more constructive expanding on a little borrowed capital, are, mainly, persons classified by the bankers as

DON'T SLEEP WHEN GAS PRESSES HEART

If you can't eat or sleep because gas bloats you up try Adlerika. One dose usually relieves stomach gas pressing on the heart.

Some plan must be worked out to aid both the banker with his too much money and the plain honest citizen with his need for money. Since the two are seemingly unable to match demand with supply, someone else must turn the trick.

Roosevelt bears the historical distinction of being the first occupant of the White House to recognize old-age pensions as a moral obligation of the U. S. Government.

Had his administration brought into existence nothing constructive besides this, the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt would still go down in history as that of a great President, a far-seeing statesman, an outstanding and friendly helper of mankind.

For one thing—and this is important—it commits the National Government to the principle of old-age protection through pensions without casting upon the beneficiaries thereunder the stigma of charity.

all that, the status of the program is yet wholly experimental. It is felt that President Roosevelt would welcome a more workable plan, one which might give the country something more desirable than the not altogether workable Social Security law as it now stands.

No other unelected high official retains such a hold upon the respect of members of all political parties as Tennessee's own Cordell Hull, Secretary of State; no other cabinet officer is so universally esteemed.

Mr. Hull, it seems, combines diplomacy with statesmanship and devotion to duty, and it is said of him that he cannot distinguish a Republican from a Democrat. He spurs the pomp and headily of vainglorious publicity—just keeps busy doing a good job of keeping us out of war.

1938 Agricultural Conservation Program

The National cotton goal for 1938 is approximately 26,500,000 acres and is to be divided among the states in the proportion that each state's total base acres are to the whole.

The State Committee will furnish each county with two factors, cotton and general (corn, wheat, grain sorghum), these factors will be applied to the tilled acres in each farm, subject to adjustment as to land, labor and equipment, but the cotton acreage cannot exceed the largest acreage planted to cotton in any one of the years, 1935, 1936 or 1937.

The following are Soil Depleting crops: Corn, Grain Sorghum, Cotton, Peanuts harvested for nuts or hay, Broomcorn, Truck and Vegetable crops (including starburries, melons, and sweet potatoes) Canning Peas, Wheat, Land planted in 1938 to Buckwheat, Sweet Sorghums, Sudan Grass or Millet, harvested for grain, seed, syrup silage. Land planted in 1938 to Soy Beans harvested for seed for harvest for crushing.

Soil Building Practices: The soil-building practices listed in the following schedule shall count toward the achievement of the soil-building goal to the extent indicated, when such practices are carried out in 1938 in accordance with specifications issued by the regional director, or by the State Committee with the approval of the regional director.

A. Each of the following practices in the amounts specified shall be counted as one unit.

- 1. Construction of 200 linear feet of standard terrace for which proper outlets are provided.
2. Contour ridging of non-crop open pasture land—750 linear feet of ridge or terrace.
3. Seeding biennial legumes, perennial legumes, perennial grasses.
4. Seeding winter legumes, annual lespedeza, annual rye grass, or annual sweet clover.
5. Summer legumes not classified as soil-depleting (inter-planted or grown in combination with soil-depleting crops) of which a good stand and a good growth is left or turned under (but not hogged off) provided the summer legume occupies at least one third of the land.
6. Contour listing or furrowing non-crop land.
7. Strip cropping other than for protection of summer fallow land.

achieving soil building goals in an amount which shall be the sum of the following: A. Soil Depleting acreage allotments: 1. Cotton, 24 cents per pound of the normal yield per acre of cotton for the farm for each acre in the cotton acreage allotment, or, if the acreage planted to cotton is less than 80 per cent of the cotton acreage allotment and the county committee finds that the failure to plant 80 per cent of such cotton acreage allotment was not due to floods or drought, for 125 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton.

2. General soil-depleting crops, $1.25 per acre, adjusted for productivity, for each acre in the general crop acreage allotment in excess of one-half of the cotton acreage allotment established for the farm.

B. Payments in connection with soil building practices: 1. 50c per acre of cropland in the farm in excess of the total soil-depleting acreage allotment for the farm.

Deductions for excess acreage in soil depleting crops. 1. Cotton, 5 cents per pound of the normal yield for the farm for each acre of cotton in excess of the cotton acreage allotment.

2. General, 8 times of pay with respect to the general soil-depleting acreage allotment if the farm is a class A farm and a wheat acreage is not established therefor.

3. Deductions for failure to carry out soil-building practices and conservation measures, $1.50 for each unit by which the soil-building goal is not reached.

4. Deductions for breaking out native sod, $3.00 for each acre of native sod or any other land which was cropped but is not classified as cropland or pasture land which, in areas designated by the AAA as being subject to serious wind erosion or areas containing large acreage unsuited to continuing production of cultivated crops, is broken out during the period Nov. 1, 1937 to Oct. 31, 1938, inclusive, unless the breaking out of such land is approved by the County Committee as a good farming practice and an equal acreage of cropland on the same farm is restored to permanent vegetative cover, such acreage of cropland to be in addition to that designated as restoration land.

Payments will be divided between interested parties in such proportion as the crop is divided.

According to Mr. McClain County Agent this is very incomplete but is all the information that he has on the program at this time.

The new school house and gym building at Wellman are going up. The school building is of light faced brick and will be quite pretty when completed.
