Colorado Town Gets Next Highway Meet

Judge R. A. Simms reports that they had a very interesting session of the International Parks Highway Association at Loveland this week. Lamar, Colorado gets the next annual session, and H. A. Guinn of Odesa heads the organization for the coming year.

Mr. Simms stated that action was being had on the construction of the highway in sections where it is only a dirt road. Hockley county is now surveying its section, and Terry will follow suit as soon as the Hockley survey is finished. Lamb county is also working a section of their part.

Other officers are, John Honts, Dalhart, first vice-president, and Mayor Clyde C. Coleman, this city, H. R. Richberg of Iraan, and C. G. Forrester of McCamey, other vice-presidents. About 75 delegates from Iraan to Dalhart were in attendance.

Those attending from Brownfield were, Judge Simms, Mayor Coleman, J. E. Shelton, secretary chamber of commerce, and County Commissioners Lee Lyon, J. F. Malcolm and L. C. Green.

Sen. Connally May Visit Brownfield

We had a letter from Senator Tom Connally in which he stated that he would get into the Brownfield section if he possibly could during the recess, and would like to meet all his friends here.

Senator Connally, along with our splendid congressman, Geo. Mahon, have done a lot for this section, one thing in particular, a Federal building for Brownfield, has made him hundreds of staunch friends here that will not forget him when he offers for re-election two years from now.

We certainly hope that he will be able to get here.

C. F. Hefner, of Wellman, was in this week to renew.

RAIN!

Rain began falling here at about 2:30 Thursday P. M., and continued for about one hour about as hard comdown as you ever see.

The government gauge at the courthouse registered one and 75-100 inch. The rain was heavy all over west, north and east Terry, but light in the south portion.

Scientists Find Desert Heat is Shallow

TUCSON, Ariz., July 7.—The desert is shallow, says a study made public here today at the desert laboratory of the Carnegie institution of Washington.

The study gives a new point of view on the possibility for more pleasant living conditions in arid areas of the American Southwest. It was made by William V. Turnage.

In midsummer desert ground may heat to 160 degrees or more. But this heat does not go even two inches deep. At six feet the ground is always cool.

Cooler Above Always
The surface air is a hundred degrees or more. But a short distance above the desert, the air is as cool, and often cooler, than at similar heights above temperature regions.

At present human ingenuity is unable to tap the cool upper air, but already one of the peculiarities of the "shallow desert" has been turned to comfort.

Inexpensive Cooling Possible
This is use of an inexpensive type of air conditioning. Everywhere in the Southwest are road signs advertising "air-cooling." Many auto camps are cooled.

Much of this is done by blowing air through dripping water. A box of excelsior with water trickling through it and a fan blowing across the mixture produces cool air.

In the Southwest the air is capable of absorbing far more water, and this gives it a great advantage for economical air-cooling.

Wife of N. Y. Newspaperman Visits Here

Mrs. Garner Roney, and son Peter, of Troy, N. Y., are here the guests of her aunt, Mrs. T. J. Price and family. Mrs. Roney will be remembered by the old timers as Miss Lucile Souter, who left here some 17 years ago. She later married Mr. Roney, and lived in New York City for eight years, where he worked on one of the large papers. By the way, Mr. Roney is a cousin to our Vice-President, John Garner.

She was accompanied by her father, Mr. Walter Souter, who will be remembered by the old timers. At the Herald office, Mr. Souter gave us some good stories of his visit last summer to New York and the New England states. He says that contrary to the general idea in the south, he found the people up there very courteous and friendly, and anxious to talk to a man wearing a big hat, whom they always designate as "Texas" right away.

Thompson Welcomes FDR to Amarillo

AUSTIN, July.—Signally honored by his home town, Amarillo, and his home section, the Panhandle, during the past-week-end, Earnest Thompson this week continued his campaign for governor with renewed confidence.

After turning out 12,000 strong to hear his red headed favorite son deliver a campaign address Saturday night, Amarillo further honored Thompson by designating him as its "first citizen" to welcome President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the city Monday.

It was not the first time Thompson had had direct dealings with the president. Last year Roosevelt selected the Texas railroad commissioner to represent the United States at the world oil conference in Europe.

R. C. Cox was in this week from Yoakum county, and called to renew for two years and got two sets of pens and pencils.

Com. J. F. Malcolm was in to renew this week. He is one of the old faithfuls.

Enjoy Picnic at The Money Price Farm

Why is it, that the lowly onion, the burning sensation of the radish, or the perfume of cooking bacon and hot dogs, which seem so very ordinary on the table in the dining room, seem like food for the gods out in the back yard, cooking in a skillet on a corn cob fire? Well, you can ask us one, when you answer our question.

Last Friday night the old he and wife, Jack Jr., wife and son, Jack Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Trigg of Pampa, were invited out to the Money Price farm for just such a feed. Dr. and Mrs. Davis were also offered a stool at the feed, but a badly burned man came in for treatment, and their part of the program was out.

Before anything but the ice cream, made the old time way with old time implements and materials, a visit was made to the large barns and tool shed of the Price farm. While he runs a tractor, cleaning four rows of cotton or feed at one through, he has several saddle horses around, perhaps a dozen milk cows, chickens by the droves, and hogs by the herd. They even have turkeys, goats, geese and up to a week ago, a monkey—got rid of it.

Money is stocking his barn yard with the best money can buy. He has a 11 blood Poland China boar, weighing around 400 and three sows that will perhaps tip the scales at around 300. Then there are shoats from 75 pounds up. He is crossing his jersey and milk durhams with a registered herford bull in order that the calves make better beef.

This farm is equipped with modern plumbing, and sewerage disposal, with carbide lights all over the place, even in the well house and barn, ready for the touch of a match the darkest night. He has a place for everything, and seems to keep it there, and the same thing goes for the department of the home under Mrs. Prices' jurisdiction. It is no rudger to live on a farm equipped as this one is.

About dark, the hired man dumped a large basket of cobs between the well and the milk house, and the barn, and tables, chairs, cooking utensils, plates, glasses, knives, forks and spoons were moved to the scene, and the cold hot dogs were strung on wires, and soon turned into hot puppies. Meantime the bacon was sizzling in the pan, and here comes Money with a half bushel basket of fresh hen eggs to scramble. Onions and radishes were brought from the garden, and with "tater chips and bread, the feast was ready, and boy did we eat!

This was topped off with some mighty good cake and ice cream, and then the pipes and cigars came, and conversations just naturally turned to the by-gone days of yore starting some 30 years ago, and to war times, when Money, along with other unders like Sheriff Gore and Jewell Bell were sent to a Plain-view college for military instruction pending the time when they were ready to go after the Kaiser.

The only thing to mar the night, was that little Jack Taylor in his efforts to cover as much ground as possible, stubbed his toe and sprawled out with one tiny hand into the coals of cob fire. Yep, we had fun.

Banks Show Unusually Good Statements

The Brownfield State Bank and the First National Bank, of this city, are showing unusually good statements for this season of the year. In fact, the statements are much better than at the same time last year, by referring back to the statements printed in the Herald at that time. The combined statements are as follows:

Loans and discounts ..... $332,766.75
Cash and exchange ..... 477,593.69
Deposits ..... 1,095,800.07
Resources ..... 1,242,538.82

SIDEWALK NOTICE

CONSIDERABLE COMPLAINT HAVING BEEN MADE regarding the displaying of goods for sale upon the sidewalks of the City and thereby obstructing free passage thereon and making it dangerous for older people to have free passage thereon. Notice is hereby given that it is a violation of the City Ordinance to obstruct free passage of the sidewalks, and in the future it is hoped that the Citizens will be more careful and not display goods for sale or signs upon the sidewalks, or place thereon any obstruction whatsoever.
EARL WILSON, City Marshal.

Brownfield Road Being Pushed Rapidly Forw'd

The realization of a long cherished dream of a direct road northwest from Lamesa to Brownfield, is rapidly coming to be a fact. Announcement is made this week that the survey from Lamesa to Punkin Center has been completed and field notes have been turned over to the Commissioners' Court. Deeds are now being drawn and signatures will be secured on right-of-way deeds as quickly as possible.

State highway engineers are now surveying the route from Punkin Center to Welch. When this is completed field notes will be turned over to the Dawson county commissioners' and deeds for right-of-way will be secured with as much speed as possible.

Where there has been enough right-of-way secured from Lamesa north to justify it, the county will immediately begin construction of grade and drainage. The Court promises to finish this work with as much rapidity as possible.

The completion of this road will give Lamesa another outlet direct with Brownfield and at the same time furnish a more direct farm to market route for Dawson county citizens in the northwest section of the county.—Lamesa Courier.

Herald Failed to Connect With Some Readers

By some mysterious turn of fate, the Herald failed to reach a number of readers last week, especially in part of the "C" and all the "D" and part of the "E's." The best way we can figure it, the man that operates the mailing machine failed to get one galley of names.

Anyway, by ten o'clock Saturday they began coming to the office for their papers, saying that they were not at the post office. Several were supplied that way, and some 50 or 60 copies were hurried up to the office the obliging mail clerks were instructed to hand all those who had missed their paper a copy.

We are sure that the mistake, the first of the kind, was made in the Herald office, and was no fault of the postoffice. Hope it don't happen again folks. However, it had one result. Some thought we had stopped their paper and called to renew.

So, while it might not have been pleasant to us or our customers, we are reminded that "all things work together for good".

A Price For District Judge Club Organized

A number of staunch friends and supporters of Judge W. W. Price met this week, organized and rolled up their sleeves in a supreme effort to put this popular man in as the next District Judge of the 106 judicial district.

They say that Terry County has never been honored with a resident officer of the district, and they feel that it is time to pass the plums around. We call your attention to their ad in this issue of the Herald.

County Singing Convention at Wellman

Next Sunday, July 17, the Terry County Singing Convention, will meet with the Wellman Community, in the high school auditorium, for an all day occasion, according to G. M. Thomason, president.

Mr. Thomason asks that all come with well filled baskets, as he expects a large crowd of visitors from adjoining counties to be in attendance. So you are expected to bring enough for your crowd, and have plenty for visitors.

Mrs. Buster Ray, from El Centro, California is here visiting her uncle J. R. Burnett and family.

Local Man Committed Suicide Last Friday

Grover Howe, who has lived here most of the time for the past several years, generally employed as a cafe cook, took an ounce of carbolic acid last Friday afternoon about six, and after calling his land lady, Mrs. Sawyer at the Commerce Hotel, expired before medical aid arrived.

Mr. Howe has been in poor health for some time, and often remarked to confidants that he had nothing to live for, as his wife and children were dead. He was around 50 years of age, and had been cooking for the Oyster Bay Cafe until recently.

He left a note for a brother at Abilene, in which he asked their forget him as soon as possible. He also asked his sister in that city to pray for him.

The body was prepared by the Brownfield Funeral Home, and sent to Abilene, where it was buried in the family plot. Grover had many friends here who sincerely regret that he took the fatal steps to end his life.

Other Town Banks Copy Local Bank Ads

We have noted in several of our exchanges that banks in other towns are copying the series of Educational Advertisements underwritten by the Brownfield State and the First National banks of this city. Of course they are free to copy them, as they are not copyrighted ads.

In fact the boys that get up the ads feel quite a bit chesty about the matter, that their ads are attractive enough and sensible enough, and educational enough for others to want to copy.

Another good point we can see, is that the management of the two banks here have enough sense to work together instead of cutting prices until neither can make money.

By paying their stockholder some dividends, they are able to employ enough help that you do not have to stand at a window an hour or even a minute before being waited on.

Terry County Beer Election Set For Aug. 1

In conversation with Judge Simms, he informed us that the Commissioners Court had ordered a county wide election for August 1, which happens to be the first Monday. It had been reported that the election would be held on primary election day to save expenses, but that would have been illegal, as the primary is just a party nomination, and not really an election, although equivalent to election in Texas.

The petition, we understand bore 341 signatures of qualified voters; 164 being the required number to order the election, as it is based on 10 percent of the voters in the last general election.

The last county wide election held something more than two years ago, the county went dry by a considerable majority. The petitioners states that they wish only 4 per cent be and wine legalized.

U. S. Army Resumes Recruiting at Lubbock

After having been closed for the past six months, the Regular Army is once again taking recruits, it was reported in this newspaper.

The Army wants and will accept only recruits of the highest type. Applicants must be unmarried and between 18 and 35, American citizens, of excellent character and reputation, have the required educational knowledge, and be in sound physical condition.

The majority of the vacancies are in the Cavalry and Field Artillery at Fort Bliss, Texas. Young men who are interested in enlistment should write or call at the Army Recruiting Station at Lubbock without delay, as the vacancies are being rapidly filled.

Orphan Home Singers Coming to Gomez

According to W. E. Winn of Gomez the Tipton Orphan Home Singers will be with them the 4th Sunday in this month, which is the 24th, or Sunday week, and under the direction of their leader, G. W. Butler, will render a program in the afternoon at the Gomez Church of Christ.

The revival meeting will be going on at that time, starting on Friday night before, the preaching being done by James F. Black, of Del Rio. Every one is cordially invited.

Crops Coming Along Nicely, Shower Needed

We saw a small portion of Terry county last Sunday afternoon when we drove out to the Ed Thomson farm a mile north of Gomez, and will say, that despite the fact that a good shower would help out wonderfully, we saw many fields of fine young stuff growing off rapidly, on the route there and back to town, having gone and returned by different routes.

Ed. is on the old Ben Broughton homestead, which seems to have had little or no cultivation the past few years, but Ed is getting this fine farm, one of the oldest in the county, back into a high state of cultivation. Ed remarked that he would take the rain as it came, but that he would just love to get in about five more days with his go-devil knives and hoes.

He has about 40 odd acres in cotton, the rest of 120 acres in corn, maize, higeria, cane and sudan, all growing nicely. He has four good mules with which to work the place, a good milk cow and plenty of chickens.

Borrowing a thought from a friend, who recently said, "Well, anyway, if we make a crop at all this year, it will be about the cheapest, as there was practically no replanting, and being dry early, there was not as many weeds or grass." Another stated: "Well, Terry always makes more than we expect, but I do not expect any bumper crop like we had last year, but do expect that we will make as much as local hands will be able to harvest."

However, little grain is needing a shower much more than cotton, the later plant seeming to thrive on dry, hot weather, as it begins when very young to send down tap roots to moisture.

Cong. Mahon Coming To Brownfield Soon

The writer had a letter the past week from our Congressman, Hon. George Mahon, of Colorado, who stated that he would soon visit Brownfield, at which time he hoped to meet as many of his friends and constituents as possible.

Having no opposition this year, Mr. Mahon can leisurely cover his district, talk to the people, and find out just what they have on their minds, and if they wish him to take the matter up at the next session.

Even though he has no opposition, we hope the people of Brownfield and Terry county give him a 100 per cent of confidence on July 23.

Fire Destroys Home Of Carl Lewis Family

Fire destroyed the home of Carl Lewis and family late Tuesday, including all contents. A run was made by the fire department, but as his home is across the draw and out of the city limits, there was not a barrel of water on hand, and too much head-way for chemicals.

It seems that an oil lamp was burning too high, and before it could be cut down, exploded, scattering oil and flames over the house. Insurance of about $1,000, was carried, we understand, but not enough to cover household goods, not to mention the home.

Mrs. J. C. Bond presented the Herald with a nice mess of Kentucky Wonder beans, Wednesday. Had that old time bean flavor that the shipped in variety don't have. Thanks a lot.

Miss Eloise Cabler was a visitor in Abilene, Monday.

Mrs. J. E. Shelton in company with her son, Joe Shelton and family, visited her sister in Waco last week.

Many Expected To Attend Short Course

COLLEGE STATION—More than 2,500 adults are expected to attend the Texas A. & M. College Short Course, scheduled for 13 and 14 according to Roy Snider of the extension service, who is general chairman of the session.

Advance Registration indicates that all rooms would be filled, he said. This means that approximately 1,450 women, 1,250 of them Home demonstration club members, would be here.

About 1,050 men are expected. In addition to the farmers and ranchmen who will attend the special meetings on cotton improvement, soil conservation, and economic conditions, a number of special groups will make the Short Course the occasion for meetings.

Such groups include the Cooperative Institute, which will hold its fourth annual meeting for representatives of farmers' cooperatives; the Texas Agricultural Writers; the Texas Cotton Improvement Committee of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce; Texas Agricultural Association; and county agricultural and home demonstration agents.

Approximately 2,300 club boys and girls, representatives of the 50,000 Texas 4-H club members, attended the July 6-7-8 Junior Short Course.

THE CAGE

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held by the Lions club last Wednesday noon. The club is sponsoring a drive to enlarge Troop 45, by bringing in new members. This is one of the biggest undertakings the club has sponsored, as a number of these boys do not know the first step in Scouting; also a part of the boys are of the underprivileged class each member will be assigned a boy to look after. That is to help him get started, help him with his ups and downs, and to make a real Scout out of the boy. This is going to be a responsible assignment on the part of the members and they are all going to have to work hard, as well as work together, to make a go of it. Scoutmaster Walker will work in union with each member as well as boy to iron out all problems that might arise. So here's a prediction that within twelve months time the Lions club can point to Troop 45 with pride and say: "We sponsor that Troop."

Lion Boy Tarpley had charge of the entertainment of the luncheon, and presented three lovely young ladies, namely, Misses Jaunice Thompson, Wanda Ruth Turner and Christine McDuffie.

Misses Thompson and Turner presented a piano selection first, then with Miss Turner at the piano, Misses Turner and McDuffie sang. Miss Thompson also rendered a song and piano number. The program was enjoyed by all members of the club very much and invite these young ladies back again.

C. P. OBAR DOWN FOR TREATMENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Obar and two little daughters, who live eight miles east of Meadow, were down Friday. Mr. Obar had been having trouble with ear ache, and was having them treated by a local physician.

Mr. Obar stated that he had not irrigated much this year, but that since the sand had stopped blowing his crop was moving along at a satisfactory rate. Mr. Obar has one of the largest irrigation systems in this section, large enough to take care of 160 acres, ordinarily.

Talking about a business proposition, we had one put up to us this week. One of the state candidates sent us an ad, and said we could take it or leave it. We left it. The proposition was that we take our pay on the installment of the first three salary checks he drew, and we might add, if and when he got the office. No wonder all the country weekly owners are in the millionaire class.

against FDR. If that is true, he is not a very good democrat, and should have come out on the republican ticket in the general election.

Editorial writers for the big dailies and some of the little dailies, together with the syndicate writers, are so fearful that the country will recover from the last flaccid, that they fill their allotted space with mournful articles asserting that the recovery is only a flurry in the stock market. Further, they assert that the people are jittery and sitting on top of a volcano. If these writers would get up some morning without a dark brown taste in their mouths from a previous night hangover, perhaps they might see many millions of happy, care-free people. True we have many poor people, and always will have them. The Saviour says we will have them always.

THE FINE IS $50

During recent weeks a number of mocking birds have been found dead or maimed around town. It is evidently the work of mischievous or thoughtless youngsters. The kids do not realize the seriousness of the offense nor the injury suffered by the bird lovers. There are, unfortunately, too few of these joy-giving birds in this section and losing them is indeed a sorrowful experience. There is a law in this state which provides for a fine of $50 for the killing or maiming of song birds. The alternative for nonpayment of the fine is a prison or reformatory term. We have been entirely too lax in the enforcement of this law and now something very unpleasant is going to happen to the little fellows with the singing throats and air rifles.

Littlefield home owners are trying very hard to landscape their places and surround their homes with shrubbery, plants and flowers so that the songsters may be tempted to migrate to our back yards or front lawns and bring us cheer and beauty. We are not going to stand idly by and see these welcome visitors maimed or crippled. We are putting all law enforcement officers on notice that we shall expect them to do their full duty in the matter of apprehending young or old offenders. This notice goes—One Hundred Per Cent—before, during and after the election.

Very few—if any, sling-shooting kids read editorials. But quite a few parents and law enforcers do. It is to the responsible elders that this warning is directed. By the way—ignorance of the law is no defense and minors are not exempt from full punishment.

If there is any more killing of mocking birds around this part of the country somebody is going to jail or lose $50. We very sincerely hope that folks around here will show the youngsters the errors of their ways before it is too late and they will have made crime a habit.—DAVE SCHEIN, in Littlefield Leader.

O'Daniel did not pay his poll tax, therefore cannot vote for himself, but asks other people to elect him as head of the state government. Furthermore, by refusing to pay a poll tax he assumed the attitude of total indifference to the welfare of the children of Texas over whom he is making so much fuss at this time and urging them to attend his medicine show. A few months ago he was totally immune in interest as to who would be elected to any office in Texas. In the course of a few short weeks he believes that he has worked out and is ready to solve all of the perplexing problems of this great state. What a man! What a showman! What a tragedy should he be elected. A happy thought in the whole situation is that perhaps thousands of those flocking out to hear O'Daniel and are whooping it up for him are likewise without poll tax receipts.—Canyon News.

Texas is in the midst of a red hot political campaign. It is estimated by the would-be experts that the cost of the campaign will run in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. That is a whole of a lot of money. But the money is well distributed among many, many classes of people. Thousands of men and women are employed in the campaign, who might otherwise be on relief. The candidates figured before they started the campaign that they had either the money to make the gamble, or that their friends would put it up. This being the case, the distribution of four millions for this time is a very good thing for business in Texas, and affords all the price of Democracy is not too high.—Canyon News.

Congress passed a law giving life time jobs to postmasters now in office. That is okay for the present Democratic liethern. But when the Republicans or some other party get back into office you will see this law repealed in order that the faithful may be rewarded. Patronage is one of the main things which keeps any political party alive. When patronage runs low, political faith dwindles. Of course the Democratic postmasters will not object to holding their jobs during the balance of their lives, or during good behavior, but to expect another political party to allow such a thing to continue is hardly to be expected.—Canyon News.

W. LEE O'DANIEL MAY WISH HE HAD PAID POLL TAX

Failure of a reputed rich man to pay a measly $1.75 which the State asks its able-bodied citizens to pay to help keep elections clean, and aid our common schools, may cost W. Lee O'Daniel the governorship. More and more folks who had planned to vote for him, changed their mind when they found a man worth an estimated $700,000 to $1,000,000 wouldn't dig up a measly $1.75 a year. How he paid other taxes without paying a poll tax is at a loss to understand as our tax collector demands the payment of the poll tax before he will permit you to pay property tax.

They say Mr. O'Daniel, a strong advocate of the Golden Rule, is certainly not practicing what he preaches, and his refusal to help the common schools for the common people

BEAUTIFUL PAINTING OF JORDAN CHURCH

Mrs. Edna Cobb of Brownfield, daughter of the late Dan Cobb of Seminole has recently furnished the river Jordan scene and had it placed the First Baptist Church of Seminole. Her father was a loved and faithful member of this church and principal mechanic during the construction of the Church building. He looked forward to the time when the church would have a baptistry. This being realized during the past year, Mrs. Edna Cobb wishing to do something for the church and in memory of her dear father, decided that she would paint the picture and present to the church, this she did having completed the painting by Father's Day and delivered it to the church the Saturday before.

The pastor and the entire membership have a feeling of great gratitude to Mrs. Cobb for this beautiful picture. — Seminole Sentinel.

SHALL WE LIVE AGAIN?

Victor Hugo's great soul found utterance in his later years for these thoughts, which will find an echo in many hearts:

"I feel in myself the future life. I am like a forest once cut down; the new shoots are stronger and livelier than ever. I am rising, I know, toward the sky. The sunshine is on my head. The earth gives me its generous sap, but heaven lights me with the reflection of unknown worlds.

"You say the soul is nothing but the resultant of the bodily powers. Why, then is my soul more luminous when my bodily powers begin to fail? Winter is in my heart but eternal spring is in my head. I breathe at this hour the fragrance of the lilacs, the violets and the roses, as at twenty years. The nearer I approach the end the plainer I hear around me the immortal symphonies

TERRY COUNTY HERALD

BROWNFIELD

HAS SERVED TERRY COUNTY FOR MORE THAN 35 YEARS.

TEXAS

TO ADD FEW MORE COUNTIES TO F. S. A.

AMARILLO—With Congress having appropriated $25,000,000 to make tenant purchase loans for the second year's operation of the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act, the two advisory committees serving Region XII of the Farm Security Administration are planning to meet early this month and make recommendations to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace of a few additional counties in which the program should be administered during the next fiscal year.

This announcement was made this week by L.H. Hauter, regional director of the Farm Security Administration, Serving New Mexico, West Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, Western Kansas and South-eastern Colorado.

Twenty-three former tenant families in the above areas have become home owners since the program was inaugurated last year. This number is expected to be increased two and a half times as a result of increased funds.

Counties in Region XII where farm tenant loans were made the first year are Bent in Colorado; Wallace in Kansas; Roosevelt in New Mexico; Floyd, Randal and Wheeler in Texas.

Congress has recognized the rapidly growing menace of tenancy in the United States, and a condition where more than one-third of all tenants move on to a new farm every year. They have little incentive to keep up fences, repair houses, plan soil-building crops, or check erosion. They have every reason to move the soil for all they can get out of it, without thought of the future; they know some other tenant will have the farm next year.

HIT-RUN TRUCK DRIVER IS SOUGHT

Police Wednesday were seeking a hit-run driver whose speeding truck injured a San Antonio mother and her two children.

Mrs. A. J. Stricklin, 35, 446 Kirk

place, was driving at Lubbock and Cordero streets Tuesday afternoon when the truck struck her car. Mrs. Stricklin was bruised about the head and body as were Nancy Jo, 9, and A. J. Stricklin Jr., 7. They were treated at the Robert B. Green hospital.

The truck driver sped away after the crash.

The above clipping from the San Antonio Light of May 4, was evidently sent us by Mrs. Ben Hilyard, former employee of the Herald. While it looks like our wreck on the face of it, we were far, far from the Alamo city on that date the madam was even farther, in California. Further the kids are all too young.

Mrs. Hilyard adds: "They say old news is no news at all, but maybe 'tis."

BRIGHT CHAPTER

The Metropolitan Cooperative Milk Producers Bargaining Agency of New York, recently made this interesting statement: "No marketing agreement or price order has ever been successful in any market except where it had the backing of sound cooperatives."

History affords proof of that. Responsibility is vital to carrying out any agreement—and the sound cooperatives have proven themselves to be as responsible as any business. Loyal backed by their members, and staffed by experts, they agree on no policy that is not generally beneficial—and when they do agree they carry it through.

This history of farm marketing cooperation in the United States affords one of the brightest chapters in the age-old story of agricultural change and development.

PLAINS

The Baptist meeting is in progress. Rev. Hicks is doing the singing and Rev. W. K. Horn of Post is doing the preaching. We are having some real good sermons.

Mrs. John Camp and Jimmie Lee spent Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Morris.

Mr. and Mrs. Quincy McDonald and children, Mr. and Mrs. Mutt McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey McKee spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. McDonald.

Mr. Jaberson and Miss Imogene Jolley were married Saturday night by the Rev. McGraw. We wish this couple lots of happiness.

Mrs. McGraw of Brownfield is visiting her son, Rev. McGraw and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Anderson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Casey Jones of Tahoka are visiting her sister, Mrs. D. B. McGinty and family.

Townpeople passing by dormitories gasp when they see a horde of boys swarming in and out of one residence hall. High school boys and teachers are allowed to attend the six-week's Speech Conference, but they are quite a shock to visitors expecting a strictly feminine campus population.

CREEP FEEDING, PRO AND CON

By T. C. Richardson, Secretary Feeders-Breeders Ass'n

Suckling calves grow faster, weigh heavier at weaning time, shrink less from weaning, and are worth more per pound, when they have access to a grain ration while running on pasture with their dams. The grain is placed in a self-feeder fenced to exclude the cows and permit the calves to eat at will. Known as "creep-feeding," this practice has become quite common in the Southwest, and is generally profitable. Now that oats and barley are in the bin creep-feeding can start; corn and grain sorghums will also soon be available.

Both Texas and Oklahoma experiment station have done research work on creep feeding, and will send their bulletins explaining the procedures and the results in detail on request. Since the farmer or ranchman is interested only in selling his crops and livestock to the best advantage, his own circumstances must decide whether creep feeding is a desirable practice.

In general terms it may be said that creep feeding is always profitable if the grain feed is home grown, and especially so if the calves are to be sold as feeders. In Bee county, Texas, the creep feeder calves sold in the fall of 1937 weighed an average of 100 pounds more than other calves under the same range conditions, and sold at a better price per hundred, paying handsomely for the grain consumed. On good pastures the contrast is not so great, one Oklahoma experiment showing a difference of only 39 pounds. The difference in price, in favor of the creep fed calves, however, would have still paid for the grain at market prices.

The true cost of meat production by the farmer who grows both grain and livestock is not the "market price" of the grain, but the cost of producing the grain and turning it into meat. This may be higher, but is more likely to be lower than the "market price" formula would indicate; the farmer who feeds his own grain at least cuts out the cost of hauling to town and the costs of extra handling which all grain must bear if it goes through commercial channels. For this reason the "profit and loss" data in experiment station reports should not be literally applied to farm-feeding operations, either creep-feeding or finishing, where the farmer produces both the feed and the animals to consume it.

Creep-fed calves take to the dry lot finishing rations with less loss of weight at weaning than non creep-fed calves, but the latter tend to gain more rapidly in the finishing period. As a rule creep-fed calves will finish ahead of those not creep-fed, though there may be little difference in the final weights, if both are fed for the same length of time.

The greatest benefits from creep-feeding will be shown in calves to be sold as feeders at or soon after weaning. The greatest gains occur when pastures are short. In a Texas range experiment in Webb county creep fed suckling calves gained 114 pounds more in 160 days than those not creep fed, and ate an average of 7 pounds of feed per day (4 parts ground milo heads, 1 part cottonseed meal). This included what the cows ate while the calves were learning, which was for 43 days, enough to make them gain 50 pounds more than their less fortunate sisters on the range.

Threshed grains are recommended for young calves, while older calves will handle ground ear corn or grain sorghum heads to advantage. Unless pastures are unusually green and abundant cotton seed meal or pea-size cake should compose one-seventh to one-fifth of the ration. A small amount of limestone flour or finely ground oyster shell in the ration is advisable, and bone meal may be mixed with the salt in equal parts to advantage. The self-feeder should be placed near the watering place.

Those not familiar with self-feeders and creep-feeding practices can get helpful bulletins through county agents.

Do Bank Examiners Examine Your Bank?

Yes, bank examiners visit our banks periodically and go over our records.

These government officials are representatives of the State or Federal banking authorities. Every incorporated bank in the United States chartered to conduct a banking business is thus examined.

They are visited without advance warning and the examiners have immediate access to all of the bank's cash, securities, books and records. They report at considerable length on the bank's assets, liabilities, methods, policies, loans, investments and other factors which determine its soundness.

On the basis of the reports of these examiners banking authorities are able to make any suggestions or recommendations they feel are necessary or desirable.

Bank examiners are an added safeguard for depositors' money—in addition to competent and sound banking practices.

Speaking of the Governor's Job....

TEXAS NEEDS A LEADER

ERNEST THOMPSON

Trained...Talented...Tested

Qualified for the Governor's Job by a Sound Record of Public Service

WHAT HE HAS DONE!

As Mayor of Amarillo, he saved citizens nearly a million dollars a year by cutting every utility rate in the city and lowering the tax levy.

As Texas Railroad Commissioner, he assisted the farmer through lower freight rates and the livestock industry with emergency drought rates; brought many millions of dollars to the school fund by sensible supervision of the Texas oil industry; helped lower the gas rates in scores of Texas towns.

As a man, whose boyhood was spent at hard work, he has achieved a brilliant record of private and public service, fought for his country with high honors during the World War, is chairman of the Oil States Compact Commission, has earned the respect and admiration of straight-thinking people all over the nation.

WHAT HE WILL DO!

Tackle the farm problem with both fists and help the farmer and rancher work out a solution that will take the penalty off owning or working a farm or ranch—his belief being that the farmer is entitled to a fair profit, the same as any other man.

Urge the legislature to change the old age assistance law so that no needy old person will be denied a pension merely because a son or daughter happens to have a job.

Actively encourage industrial expansion to relieve unemployment; wage war on governmental waste and fight new taxes; and advocate state control and regulation of all utilities.

ERNEST THOMPSON
for GOVERNOR

(Political advertisement paid for by friends of Ernest Thompson)

Col. E. O. Thompson A Good Campaigner

AUSTIN, July 6.—Ernest Thompson isn't superstitious—just careful. That's why he is wearing his "luck shoes" during his current campaign for the governorship of Texas.

The genial, red-headed West Texan pointed to his well-worn, comfortable looking footwear, "wore 'em while running for railroad commissioner in '32—got elected. Wore 'em again in '36—got re-elected."

"Now I'm running for governor. Well—they sure are comfortable shoes!"

Ernest Thompson, according to political observers who have heard him make campaign speeches, has developed an entirely new type of campaign speech.

One newspaper correspondent called it "a success story." Thompson tells the people what he did as mayor of Amarillo and as state railroad commissioner—of his activities in utility and oil regulation, tax reduction, an so on.

"Now," he says, "I tell you this to show you that I can do things, and that I will do what I promise as governor."

His speeches are embellished with many intimate details and humorous twists that seem to entertain the crowd. Consensus is that Thompson, whose speaking ability was depreciated as the start of the campaign, is holding his own with more polished stumpsters among the opposition.

Thompson, an energetic, hard-driving 200 pounder, is conducting one of the most strenuous campaigns a Texas political candidate ever undertook. Last week he made more than 30 speeches from Brownsville to Aspermont.

His stamina amazes and sometimes horrifies his traveling companions. Thompson and his driver turned in at Brownsville the other night, after the candidate had made 23 public addresses in two days. The driver went to sleep with rosy dreams of a 9 a. m. awakening.

At 5:45 a. m. a bugle blew at nearby Fort Brown.

"Well," came Thompson's voice, smiting upon the sleepy ear of the unfortunate driver, "guess we might as well be on our way, eh?"

The sound of a bugle at dawn is not strange to Ernest Thompson's ear, as he served with the American army from the outbreak of the World War until the Army of Occupation left Germany. He became, at 26, the youngest lieutenant-colonel in the A. E. F.

Recently when he spoke near Schulenburg, one of his former machine gunners, John Hanacek of La Grange, came over to renew acquaintance. "I remember one time," said Hanacek, "when we were in the front trenches. Col. Thompson came along and I started to salute him. 'To hell with the saluting,' he said to me. 'Better keep your arm down or you'll get it shot off.' He sure took good care of his men."

Everywhere he goes Thompson strikes old war buddies—some of them who realize for the first time, on seeing him, that Ernest Thompson, Texas railroad commissioner and candidate for governor, is the same "Booger Red" Thompson who led them on the battlefields of France.

Many and varied are the experiences of an unorthodox campaigner like Thompson. His motto is: "Ask 'em quick and ask 'em often." When his car is stopped at a red light, he offens hops out and shakes hands with the traffic cop and asks his support. A San Antonio newsman reported that Thompson was the only candidate he had interviewed who asked him for his vote. "By golly, I'll do it," declared the scribe.

Driving into Dallas one night after seven or eight speeches during the day, Thompson saw about 4,000 people crowded around a store where a public wedding was about to be performed. He stopped and made a campaign speech while they were waiting for the wedding.

In Palestine he spied, a postman trudging along the street, jumped out of the car and overtook the man to ask him to vote for Ernest Thompson for governor.

In Blossom Vice President John Nance Garner's sister heard him speak and liked it so well she drove over to Clarksville to hear him again. "I wrote John a month ago you were going to be elected, and I'm going to write him again," she told Thompson.

At Daingerfield one morning he was getting a shave when a big bell started ringing. "What's that?" he asked the barber. "The town bell, calling all the people together," the barber answered. "Soon's I get through shaving you, I'm going to close up this shop and go hear Ernest Thompson speak." The candidate found that Former Senator J. M. Henderson had arranged the surprise welcome.

Even his rivals admit the "Fighting Colonel" is making a good campaign. A politically unfriendly newsman, after traveling with him a couple of days, wrote: "His speeches have a ring of sincerity which seems to impress his audiences."

Dispelling the Fog

The minority party spokesman has been doing a lot of talking about the gains they expect to make in the next congress, with the grave prophecy that in 1940 the G. O. P. would have command of the House of Representatives. Now we have the withdrawal from Congress of Bert Snell, who is the nearest thing to a leader his party has had in Congress during the past seven years. Mr. Snell's ambition has been to become Speaker of the House—that position which has been frequently described as the second great office in the government.

His determination to retire from Congress after twenty-five years of service is perhaps the only commentary necessary in regard to Republican prospects.

As a good seasoned member of the Old Guard, Mr. Snell indicted his disgust at the present political management of his party, which doesn't know whether to be liberal or conservative and keeps on dancing between these two political poles with the hope that somehow, sometime, the dilemma will decide itself. However, the fading away of all chances of a Republican resurrection, which would in the nature of things realize his Speakership ambitions, beyond doubt was the predominant motive of his notice that he would not be a candidate for re-election. In other words, though Bert Snell might have hoped to preside over a Congress with a reactionary Republican majority, he would have been content, if not satisfied, to preside over a Republican Congress of any type.

Mr. Snell's Swan Song

His swan song was an arraignment of the prospective anti-monopoly investigation, in which he expressed the fear that it would be a "white hunt" against business.

Acting on the broad theory that anything proposed by President Roosevelt must have a nefarious purpose, all of the Republican propaganda columnists and editors took that same view of the President's message to Congress on the subject. I note this claim, unbiased recital of the situation in the column of Mr. Frank Kent of June 12, for example: "The President himself is in a continuously suspicious and vindictive frame of mind toward business. The belief is strong that at least some of his advisers do not really want business to recover. There is not better evidence of this than the glee with which they are preparing for the 'Devil Hunt' which it is proposed to conduct this summer under the guise of an anti-monopoly investigation." Then the appointments of the members of the investigating committee were announced. There was but a single New Dealer, a member of the House, in the Congressional six, who were naturally selected by Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead. The non-Congressional six are practically all economists and fiscal experts from the government departments. There followed certain statements by Chairman O'Mahoney and others outlining the serious purpose of the commission to gather facts and not to make a crusade against anybody. "Bosh," exclaimed Mr. Kent, on June 30th, "all that is as false as it is belated. The strategists have backed away from their original idea on the surface because the reaction was unfavorable, but they haven't given it up."

The "strategists" referred to above are some more of the creations of the anti-administration tom-tom beaters and have no more substance as guides of legislation or Presidential action than Mr. Kent's famous "presidential confidant," who was always whispering into the columnist's ear not only the intimate details of White House conversations but even the unspoken utterances of the President himself.

The theme that the President is against speedy economic recovery was elaborated in the Magazine of Wall Street, under the name of another columnist. Rectifying that writer's ideas of the Roosevelt psychology, he says: "Under such circumstances it is quite understandable why the President should be willing to prolong the depression for a while—or to refrain from action that might cause it to disappear."

Now, isn't that a brilliant thought? Almost up to the standard of a statement further along in the article which states that "in order to effectuate further reforms the President is willing to destroy the Democratic party."

Statement Contradict Themselves

At times, his critics have insisted that, while Franklin D. Roosevelt was wrong in his economic ideas, he was an astute and subtle politician. They saw in every move in the direction of curbing individual and corporate privilege only the wiles of a political manipulator appealing to the mob. How far would that purpose be served by keeping the country broke and destroying his own party? I suppose it is too much to expect the boosters of the Liberty League stripe to feel any compulsion to consistency, but who is there in all our population who could reconcile such an absurdity as the foregoing with the statement, alternating with it, that the administration is using the relief funds in order to effect a Democratic victory in the coming Congressional election or in the election of 1940?

Both of these contentions obviously cannot be true, but they can be, and are, both untrue. The President has stated publicly that his ambition is to turn his desk over to his successor with the country content and prosperous. Can even the authors of such statements as are quoted in this article conceive of a country contented and prosperous when the country itself is busted—as they appear to think he wishes to have it for some ulterior purpose?

There are some millions of voters on relief—Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, Communists and Independents. Isn't it pretty childish to assume that these would all vote Democratic because Harry Hopkins favored a special candidate for Senatorial nomination, or Aubrey Williams indicated his own political preference? Incidentally, is it likely that these two lieutenants of the President would strive to effect the victory of a party which, according to the authorities cited here, he is bent on destroying?

J. Q. ROBINSON

On June 27, 1938, at 9:30 p. m., after an illness of only 2 weeks, God called from the walks of life, the spirit of J. Q. Robinson, known to most people as "Uncle Quitman".

He departed this life at the age of 83 years, 5 months and 22 days. Uncle Quitman came to Lynn county from Randall county in 1906, where he resided until 1922, when he moved to Ropes.

He and daughter have been operating a service station there for the past few years.

Around the Clock

In town and roundabout . . . candidates making house to house calls . . . sprinklers working overtime and generously washing off heated sidewalks . . . giant watermelons being brought in by truck loads . . . picnic "habitués" in their glory . . . long moonlight nights for those interested in such things . . . bespectacled tourists coming from or going to vacation destinations . . . bathing suits and coolish clothes vying for first place in window displays.

From conversations with those of the Brownfield populace who were fortunate in being able to see and hear the President, Monday night, it seems that his personal magnetism is really "something" for though his speeches are always to the point and intelligently delivered, reference is always made to his personality . . . he will go down in history, surely, as the President with a glowing philosophy of Life and People.

In spite of late rains, crop conditions are coming along fine and the little poem by V. Merrill struck a responsive note:

Father is plowing today;
The earth curls row on row;
I trudge along behind him
To watch the plowshare go.

The smell of earthiness rolls up.
I hunt for treasures rare;
I squinch my toes and turn my heels
To make strange printings there.

While father's feet march steadily
To end the row and back;
Then after him I go
Leaping from track to track.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—Whether or not Pappy's biscuit's are really cooling off in the Governor's race was the focus of attention in the capital this week end, as W. Lee O'Daniel, the Pied Piper of Fort Worth, continued his unique campaign. O'Daniel adherents, who have sprung up in force, derided the attacks on the flour broker as only serving to solidify his support, while the experts were interestedly watching the strategy of the other two top candidates, McCraw and Thompson. The attorney general opened up vigorously on O'Daniel, attacked his lack of experience and his hill-billy music. Thompson did not alter his policy of attacking nobody, but consistently held to his plan of urging his "constructive program for Texas."

Some analysts contended McCraw's fire on O'Daniel was a clear indication that the McCraw board of strategy was desperately afraid O'Daniel had nosed their man out of the runoff.

had nothing to lose by sailing into the bill-billy candidate. Others claimed McCraw forces felt sure the runoff would be between their man and O'Daniel, and they might as well start the war now.

Thompson's forces apparently were skeptical of O'Daniel's strength proving enough in the actual voting to get the flour man into the runoff. So they put Myron Blalock, chairman of the Democratic State executive committee on the radio to fire a few mild blasts of ridicule at McCraw. Thompson, himself, has attacked no other candidate so far, thus getting the double benefit of winning considerable support for a clean campaign, and maintaining an excellent position to bid for everybody's support in a runoff.

School Fund Row

The annual row over the apportionment of the per capita school apportionment, and the tax rate necessary to finance it, broke out here this week. It attracted a large delegation of teachers, school officials, taxpayers, representatives, text-book salesmen, and others who profit by the "big business" of the public schools.

The Board of Education after long argument adopted a resolution advising the Automatic Tax Board that $37,829.161 from the available school fund, will be needed to guarantee a six months term next year. This represents a per capita apportionment of about $24-$2 higher than the present $22 highest-in-history apportionment. It also recommended $2,000,000 for text-books. This would require upping the present State ad valorem levy from 17 cents to somewhere between 21 and 32 cents. The usual arguments about whether the board should fix the apportionment in advance of the Automatic Tax Board's action, or wait until the tax rate is fixed and then apportion available money to conform, broke out. Conflicting laws make even the lawyers doubtful about the proper procedure. Gov. Allred contends the Legislature never intended a rate higher than one required to pay a $17.50 apportionment should be levied. The State school fund now receives substantially more than the constitutional allocation of certain special taxes, including gross production tax on oil, and sales tax on cigarettes. Increasing revenue from these levies is certain to bring a movement from economy advocates in the next Legislature to cut the school's share of these special taxes back to the minimum provided in the Constitution.

Move To Save Lives

Seeking to cut the heavy toll of traffic deaths and injuries on Texas highways, the Texas Traffic Safety Council met here with representatives of other interested groups and laid plans for a three-year coordinated program of engineering, education and enforcement. C. J. Rutland of Dallas, president of the Council, presided, and cooperation of the Texas Good Roads Association, Public Safety Department, Highway Department, League of Texas Municipalities and Texas Safety Executives Association was pledged by spokesmen for these groups.

Austin Notes

Members of the board of control are engaged in their biennial task of compiling budget recommendations for the various State departments, to be submitted to the lawmakers in January. The Railroad Commission and the Seven State Teachers Colleges presented their estimates this week. The Board of Control, the largest spending agency in the State government, makes the budget estimates for all other departments—but the Legislature usually scraps the recommendations and rewrites the budgets, anyway . . . Mrs. Louise Snow Phinney, who has been chief clerk of the House of Representatives for several terms, will not be a candidate for re-election by the 46th Legislature. She has reserved a room at a maternity hospital for sometime this autumn. Her husband is Carl Phinney, an able and popular young Dallas barrister. . . The sudden death of Jeff Strickland, ex-Senator and Secretary of State under Gov. P. Neff, brought sorrow to a large circle of friends throughout Texas. Strickland was known as one of the most effective lobbyists in Austin, representing theatre, sulphur and insurance interests . . . Lynn Landrum, former editor of the recently merged Dallas Journal, and a first class writing man (whether you agree with him or not) devoted his column in the Dallas News last Saturday to rebuking gubernatorial candidate who has attacked and maligned newspaper reporters who don't think this candidate will win (and no one seems to think he will), Landrum's defense of Walter Horady, the News' able political commentator, is worth reading.

HIGHWAY OF 1958 WILL BE DIFFERENT

AUSTIN, Texas, July 11.—"The highways of 1958 will be as different from the highways of 1938 as are the supposedly modern roads we now travel from the routes of 1918 when highway construction was in its swaddling clothes," writes Charles E. Simons, editor, in the July issue of Texas Parade.

"Highway engineers are not prone to indulge in the ancient art of crystal gazing, but, figuratively speaking, they have been looking down the road and projecting in the mind's eye the type of roads that the traffic of tomorrow will demand for adequate service. The prospect are

Wm. H. McDONALD
Candidate for Commissioner General Land Office

W. LEE O'DANIEL
of Fort Worth
Candidate for Governor of Texas

that their ultimate idea of a completed highway system never will be reached owing to the inadequacy of funds available for construction. Given a free hand and sufficient funds, the highway engineers could do a job on the Nation's highway system that would be a remarkable transformation.

"Traffic arteries could be so constructed that vehicles could move at their present rate of speed with comparative safety and with a minimum of wear and tear on the nerves of the driver. Highways could be made safe for nearly everyone but the fool and most accidents would be, in truth, 'accidents,' except for errors in human judgement. Such a system of highways, however, would be an engineering and motoring Utopia.

"It does, nevertheless, have some practical values. It gives the average citizen an insight into the inadequacy of the present system of national, state and local highways; it provides the public with a long range perspective of the highway program; it offers something for the engineer and the public to 'shoot at.'

"The term 'automobile' is significant when its parts are analyzed. It is composed of two parts; 'auto' and 'mobile.' The 'auto' part results from the fact that it is capable of moving itself; the 'mobile' portion of the word connotes swift movement. Both fit snugly into the American conception of life and America is the world's leading nation in the perfection of automatic device and nobility.

"Thus, the chief aim of the highway engineer is designing the roads of tomorrow to be safely provide mobility, to remove as many hazards and obstacles and mental burdens as possible from the path of the motorists, to eliminate physical conditions that contribute to collisions. Any condition that tends to reduce mobility and that increases the urge of the individual driver to take chances to preserve his speed of movement, measured in the terms of miles traveled and time consumed, is a potential breeder of traffic mishaps.

"The ideal highway system would permit the free and swift movement of traffic (within reasonable bounds, of course) from one point to another with a minimum of acceleration and deceleration and with a minimum of intersections, either with railroad or other highways. It would include divided lanes on major highways so there would be no friction between opposing lines of traffic. It would provide travel surfaces of a width sufficient to permit the easy passage of vehicles traveling in the same or opposite direction. The right-of-way would be free of useless and meaningless signs to distract the driver's attention. Roadside advertising would be eliminated entirely or so controlled that it no longer would be forced on the motorists' attention. Adequate provision would be made to handle any necessary cross traffic. Likewise, traffic from the side roads seeking to join the main traffic flow would be so controlled and handled that it would not interfere with mobility of the major stream of vehicles.

"This Utopian highway would have super-elevated curves so that drivers would not be forced to hug the inside of curves to obtain a feeling of security. Fixed objects, such as culverts and small bridgeheads would be eliminated or so placed or constructed that they would not give the driver the feeling that his travel area was being restricted. The sight distance or verticle and horizontal curves would be increased so the driver would have ample space in which to observe the movement of traffic in front of him and to make allowances for any unusual or emergency condition that arose.

"The weak spot in the traffic safety chain has been the highway. And for this, there's a good reason. Automotive improvements, because of the flexibility of production, change with each yearly mode. It is impossible, however, for an engineer to rebuild a section of road every year to accommodate an increasing flow of faster vehicles. Road construction not stand the heavy drain of frequent expensive and the public could highway replacements. Then, too, substantial diversion of highway income in Texas and other states has been a major contributing factor in the failure of the highway engineer to give the public a better road system. Since it requires such heavy capital outlays for highway construction and since the demand for improved highway facilities is growing daily, instead of diminishing, every available dollar collected in taxes from the user of the highway should be returned to highway improvement.

"Given the funds the highway engineer could materially increase his already substantial contribution to the cause of highway safety."

Toward the MORE ABUNDANT LIFE

Wheatamin

Waking Lazy Nerves and Muscles

The most dramatic thing about Wheatamin is the way it wakes up strayed nerves and lazy muscles—the way it whets the appetite, the way it restores easy, normal elimination. When loss of appetite or constipation are due to Vitamin B Complex deficiency, Wheatamin supplies the missing factors needed for the return to normal functioning. This is the most important effect of Wheatamin, because endless ills are due to faulty elimination or poor digestion.
