CRACKERS

Charles Allen says that it was Mrs. Stella Anthony, bookkeeper for West Texas Construction Company, who decided that Friona ranks second in the state in paving, based on population.

That firm, with offices at Lubbock, wound up Friona's last paving job, you may recall, and perhaps their figures were right, since they're comparatively recent.

Also, Wright Williams believes it's the same folks who got the idea out that Friona is near the top, and it turns up that Andrews is supposed to be the only town that beats Friona on paving, per capita.

We'll get in touch with Mrs. Anthony to see if she has any 1957 figures on this subject, as it's an intriguing one.

Meanwhile, we'll say that it'd be pretty hard for Friona—or any other city for that matter—to beat Andrews, Texas, in anything. We happen to know a little bit about that town because we've always had an interest in it.

It was at Andrews that our late father, Hop, got his start in newspapering. At least, that was the first place he lit with a paper of his own. Hop and Mrs. Graham started out, and moved on, and things remained plenty rugged for that little trading center in the sandy ranchland country of West Texas.

Then, in the late 30's the tremendous petroleum reserves were tapped that started Andrews on a boom. Today, Andrews isn't the place that the Grahams remember.

The James Robertses, who own the paper there, tell us that Andrews pulled some "fast ones" to get so much paving. Although the county and school district are fabulously rich, the town was actually having a hard time keeping up with its growing pains.

Paving was a particularly worrisome situation, since bond election after bond election had been required to keep pace with other needs, and so the town boosters hit on the novel—though legal—idea of using county money to do the job.

The county, as we understand it, wasn't supposed to be able to pay for street paving in town, but this was niftily avoided by building a big county highway around the city limits, and calling it a "butane by-pass." (Actually, since so many LPG trucks were on the road, this made sense.)

Then, it was found to be legal for the county to build "connecting roads" to already established butane by-passes, so the next thing to do was to designate most of the city streets that were inside the loop as connecting roads. These were paved with county money. Pretty slick, huh?

We may have the story garbled, as it's been a couple of years since we heard the details, but something or another like this was worked out. We have since then been quite impressed with the ingenuity of the people of Andrews. "Natural resources" don't always mean oilfields, it seems.

If Friona is proud of its paved streets, it doesn't have much to brag about in another respect: sidewalks.

Now, as anybody knows, walking is getting to be such a rarity these days that it does seem foolish to spend money on concrete walks, which are somewhat expensive. In fact, the principal users of these walks are kids and their tricycles, little cars, and roller skates. (This makes it even more dangerous for pedestrians—small wonder they're so few.)

Fact is, Leo McLellan tells us that Friona could actually qualify for city delivery of mail—if it wasn't so deficient on sidewalks. Postmen, it seems, don't like the idea of taking out across town, cutting over lawns, through hedges, and other obstructions.

If sidewalks are tantamount to local mail delivery, we imagine that Friona had just about as well kiss this fond hope goodbye.

We have found out that Friona is being eyed favorably by at least one concrete irrigation pipe manufacturer. It doesn't appear, however, that anything will happen this year. Keep on your toes, though. Friona is getting looked at more often than most of us realize.

GOC ON STORM ALERT

The Friona Ground Observers Corps has been alerted recently to help watch for tornadoes. Ralph Shirley, chief observer, says he local unit was on duty from 1 until 9 on Saturday and Monday. No funnels were spotted, however.

Lions Club Follies, Talent Show Friday Night at School

One of the leading entertainment events of the season will take place Friday night. Although some of the program will probably be beyond description, members of the Friona Lions Club, who are ramrodding the project, have settled on the title, "Lions Club Follies and Talent Show."

It will begin at 8 o'clock, and will feature talented young men and women of Friona and the trade area. The winner of the show will be scheduled for a television performance on KGNC-TV, Amarillo.

An admission of $1 for adults, 50 cents for children will be charged, and advance tickets are being handled by the Friona seniors. They are receiving a commission on sales to help build up a senior trip fund.

However, the main purpose of the show is to raise money for the Lions, who have obligated themselves to the Parmer County Hospital to the tune of over $1,000—besides what they have already raised—to pay for new equipment.

To emcee the show will be Andy

Hurst and Bill Wooley. However, it is probable that other members of the club will be just as prominent. For one thing, the Boopsy Daisy Girls, who drew much applause in "Law West of the Pecos," held last year, will be back for a return engagement.

In the dainty lineup are such cuties as Granville McFarland, Elvie Jennings, Dan Ethridge, Bob Ginsburg, Steve Bavousett, Preach Edelman, Kenneth Williams, Frank Spring, and Dalton Caffey.

As an indication of the variety offered, the Lions will also have a "mountaineer" family on stage, starring Eric Rushing, Charles Scales, and Bill Stewart; Hugh Blaylock and his golfing act, also; "Paging Dr. Anthony," starring Dr. Paul Spring and Weldon Dickson; Bill Nunn's law suit; Floyd Crume and Newman Jarrell will sing "Banana Boat," W. H. Graham Jr. will take photographs, and Charles Allen will offer something for the teenage girls as he portrays Elvis Presley singing, "Love Me Tender."

Clowns to keep the show alive will be Wes Long, John Lamb, Hank Outland, Leonard Coffey, Pete Buske, and Hollis Horton. Wes Foster will be Friona's answer to Liberace.

J. C. Claborn will have a flower that grows like nobody's business, and on an "I've Got a Secret" panel will be Charles Osborn, Dr. Lee Spring, Wes Foster, G. A. Jones, and Chester Fleming.

Other Lions will have charge of costuming, props, ticket sales, and other activities.

At intermission time, candy will be sold to the audience, and in many of the boxes will be certificates for prizes which have been donated by Friona merchants.

The prize list is sizeable, and Lions boosters estimate the total value may exceed $300.

Here are the donors and their prizes:

- Friona State Bank—$15 cash
- Villa Cafe—two sirloin steaks
- Maurer Machinery—$10 cash
- Bill Sheehan—$2 cash

LIONS IN READINESS — This act isn't on the program Friday night, but it was part of the fun the Friona Lions have had getting ready for their Follies and Talent Show. George and Don Green are seated, and Bill Wooley is mimicking an artist as he sings. Leonard Coffey is enjoying the music.

Two Charged with Local Theft

John Miller, 26, Friona, and Robert Spencer, 20, an Arizona youth, have been charged in connection with a theft at Parmer County Implement Company in Friona. The two were charged with the offense at Farwell Monday.

Fronans Attend District Meeting

Twelve persons from Friona attended a district meeting of Reddy Kilowatt dealers, salesmen, newspaper and radio personnel and wives at the Jim Hill Hotel in Hereford Tuesday evening, which was sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company.

After dinner, which was served in the ballroom, a program was presented and talks were given by representatives of the company. Those going from Friona were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reeve Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brummett, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Outland, Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Carlton, Loyde Brewer, and Mrs. Pat Fallwell.

Other towns represented at the meeting were Canyon, Hereford, Vega, and Amarillo.

NP's Must File For Commissions

Parmer County notaries public were reminded this week by Hugh Moseley, county clerk, that they must re-qualify themselves between June 1 and June 10th if they want to keep their commissions.

Secretary of State Zollie Steakley has announced that he will reappoint persons now holding commissions, but they must file a new oath and bond with the county clerk in that period.

Steakley emphasized that notaries should not send requests directly to him. The law requires the county clerks to approve notary bonds.

Any Parmer County person not now a notary who desires appointment should apply to Moseley. Prospective notaries must be at least 21, and a resident of the county in which he is appointed.

day by J. G. McFarland, owner of the firm. Miller was picked up in Friona Monday morning by Parmer County deputy, Jim Roberts, and was taken to Farwell where he and Spencer are presently in custody. Spencer was already in the county jail, facing a kidnapping charge.

Man Is Fined For Drunkenness

Vernon R. Wooddell, stationed at Clovis Air Force Base, was fined $25 when he pled guilty to a charge of drunkenness, in corporation court Friday afternoon.

The man was picked up by Marshall Howard Mayfield last Tuesday night about 10:30 as he was sitting in his car near a local cafe. He was released to AFB military police, and required to return for trial.

PAVE PARKING AREA

The parking area west of the Friona State Bank is being paved by that firm this week. The 105x100-foot area, which is open to public parking, is being paved by K. L. Dodson Company of Clovis.

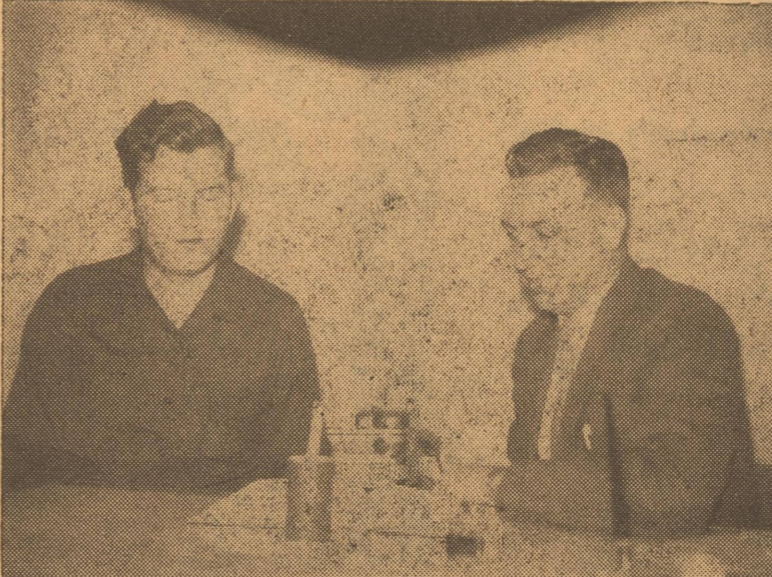

Investment Club Begins Operation

If you see a man on the street mumbling to himself one of these days, don't be too surprised. It's liable to become a common sight in the near future. Chances are, he's one of 15 local men who got together recently and organized Friona's first "investment club."

Charles Allen, treasury agent for the group, says that the organization is for the man who wants to invest a little and yet rest reasonably assured that he has made a solid investment. Stock is bought by the group on the New York and American exchange.

The procedure goes something like this: Each member of the group puts a moderate sum into the "kitty." When each member has contributed his share, two representatives study market information and advise the group as

A GOOD INVESTMENT? — Charles Osborn and Bill Sheehan carefully eye some investment literature as they consider a likely company for investment by a club to which they belong.

PERMITS ISSUED

Several building permits were issued by the city during the past week. Most went for constructing driveways. Those included Elroy Wilson at 401 and 405 West 5th, Bill Stewart at 903 West 5th, and George Treider at 901 West 5th. Lupe Vera obtained a permit to build a $1500 garage at 312 Woodland, and Genardo Gonzales was issued a permit to build a storm cellar to cost $100, at 310 Woodland.

43 Take Part In FHA Blood Typing

Forty-three persons turned out for the blood tests at the Friona State Bank Saturday afternoon. The blood-typing was sponsored by the Friona FHA and the tests were administered by Mike Pavalus of the Parmer County Community Hospital. Also assisting with the work was Kenneth Thompson, hospital manager.

Thompson says the turnout was "not too good." Of the 43 who participated in the program, 40 were women.

"We need the blood types of the women, but we also need some of the men," Thompson says.

The names of those who participated will be kept on file at the hospital as possible donors. In case of an emergency, where a certain type blood is needed, a donor can be easily contacted.

The Saturday event was sponsored by the local FHA Chapter as part of its Civil Defense program. It is not known whether a similar project will be attempted in the future.

Sunrise Service Without Any Sunrise

The Easter Sunrise Service, which was held at 6:05 on the Running Water Draw south of town, was attended by about 100 persons, according to a spokesman for the sponsors of the program. Following the program, which consisted of hymns, special music, and orations, those participating met at the Congregational Church for refreshments.

The sponsors, the MYF of the Methodist Church and the PF of the Congregational Church, report that the only thing about the program that didn't work out according to plans was that the sun failed to rise. It was cloudy.

Bonds Sold at 4.4418

School bonds totaling $300,000, which were approved last month by the voters of the district for the purpose of additional buildings were sold to Municipal Securities Co., Eddlemen Pollock Co., and Thornton & McMahon, Inc., Tuesday evening.

The bids which were accepted averaged 4.4418 per cent interest. Of the six companies which submitted bids, five sent representatives to the meeting. Bids ranged from 4.4418 to 4.78442.

Local men who attended the special called meeting were board members Cordie Poots, F. W. Barnett, Arthur Drake, Hoyt Smith, Paul Fortenberry, and D. C. Herring, and Superintendent Dillie M. Kelley.

According to a statement made by Kelley, the sale was routine and the results were about what had been anticipated.

Texas Tech Day Program Planned

The Parmer, Castro, and Deaf Smith County members of the Texas Tech ex-students organization will meet for an informal get-together at the Friendship Room of the Hereford State Bank at 7:30 p. m. Saturday.

An informal program has been planned for the evening and all exes are invited to bring their husbands, wives, and children, by Marshall Formby, who is in charge of arrangements.

At 2, the Auxiliary will hold a workshop for a two-hour period and will be followed by a meeting of the "40 & 8," which is the fun loving organization of the Legion. The annual banquet will be staged at 7:30 p. m. At 9 p. m. a dance will be held for all registered delegates and Auxiliary members.

Sunday afternoon the Legion and Auxiliary will hold their separate business meetings. The Legion session will be presided over by 18th District Commander Dow Stevens of Borger. Delegates and alternates to the national convention, to be held in Atlantic City, on September 16-19, will be elected.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Postal Deficit

National attention has been focused upon Uncle Sam's money-losing post office in recent weeks. The action of Postmaster Summerfield has brought widespread condemnation, but we cannot help but notice that those who have hollered loudest for his head have been those who have benefited commercially by the services of the post office.

This is characteristic, it would seem, of the trend of modern thought. We cry for economy in government, then piously call for the firing of anybody in the government who tries to save money for us. Postmaster Summerfield, like Secretary of Defense Wilson, is tactless. He could have made his feelings known in a less dramatic way, but then, maybe he didn't care whether he got the axe or not. He's probably sick and tired of trying to reason with special interest groups, including the users of most classes of mail, who prey on the mails for business interests, letting the taxpayers foot the postal operating deficits.

The truth of the matter is that the postal system is using bookkeeping procedures so antiquated that it doesn't know really where it's losing money. But indications are that second and third class users are responsible for the biggest losses.

The magazines, newspapers, and other periodicals that you subscribe to — the "junk mail" advertisements that are sent indiscriminately to postal patrons whether they want them or not — the parcel post packages that big mail order houses thrive upon — these are the chief boogie men in the postal red ink column.

We are old fashioned enough to think that the post office ought to take in enough money to pay for the services it performs. We support Summerfield and other exponents of government economy. As regards the second class losses, these are principally the result of large circulation newspapers and slick paper magazines.

Come on, you big shots—let's get off the government gravy train! The Star is ready to start next week (and we will, if we can hack through the red tape), to paying two or three times what we are now paying to mail our papers.

Paying a fair rate won't bankrupt anybody. We dare some of our bloodsucking big brothers in the publishing world to show enough spine to take the dive with us. They're great ones to champion good causes; why don't they wash some of their own dirty laundry?

The BIBLE Says

"ALL THINGS THEREFORE WHATSOEVER YE WOULD THAT MEN SHOULD DO UNTO YOU, EVEN SO DO YE ALSO UNTO THEM: FOR THIS IS THE LAW AND THE PROPHETS." (Matthew 7:12). This has often been referred to as the Golden Rule and is used by many as the basis for their conduct with their fellow man.

There is, however, a negative counterpart that guides many and is not equal to this wonderful teaching. It is often referred to as the silver rule. It says, "Do not unto others as you would have them not do unto you." This rule is good as far as it goes but it is very evident that it does not go far enough. It is not enough to abstain from hurting anyone. We are taught to do good to all men (Galations 6:10).

When we learn to live by the teaching of Jesus with regard to our fellow man we will seek opportunities to do something uplifting for him. We will seek welfare; to promote his interests. We will not desire his injury or hurt. We will shield him and protect him. We will speak kindly of and to him. We will do him good all of our days because that is the way we would like to be treated.

It is not justifiable to say, "He will not be kind to me nor do me good, therefore I will do him no good deed." We must keep the law regardless.

Well, now, those are pretty harsh words. We don't mean you're getting gyped. But robbing is a good word to use when describing the profits that go up in smoke in old-fashioned tractor engines these days. Pig Parlor Is Factor In Swine Production

By Fred Reagan

At least in the business of swine production, Melvin Sachs is a pioneer in his own right. Sachs is the possessor of something comparatively new in this section of the country, a "pig parlor."

A few years ago, perhaps, not a person in this area, or elsewhere for that matter, would have conceived the thought of associating the two words "pig" and "parlor." Nowadays, however, it's a different story. In fact, as far as Sachs is concerned, the two words go together as well as "ham and eggs."

The pig parlor is "the latest thing in raising swine" and Sachs is one of the first farmers in this area to give it a try. And now, after marketing six of his parlor productions at a favorable price, he isn't in the least sorry that he tried it.

Probably the most notable factor in Sachs' parlor is the absence of the old ankle-deep "hog wallow," which people used to think was the very thing on which pigs thrived. Research, however, has proved that the filth and mud in which pigs have lived is conducive to disease. And disease is conducive to red ink in the money column. Thus the pig parlor.

Now the pigs never see the wallow. They are raised on hard, clean concrete. In fact, the whole plant at Sachs' farm is as unlike the old pig-producing facilities as anyone could imagine.

The plant looks something like this: It's about 20 by 40 feet with a roof, and a semi-wall on the lower half. The floor is concrete. In this "house" Sachs' pigs spend their lives.

Last week, six of the animals were marketed at a nearby livestock market at a favorable price. According to Sachs, the plant is yet incomplete. Improvements are needed and will be made soon. When it is complete, the parlor will be "a saver of time, effort, and money."

The parlor necessitates cleaning twice a day, in the mornings and evenings. This presents a relatively simple problem. The concrete floor is sloped. Refuse is pushed in the bottom of the slope and disposed of from there.

"All in all," Sachs says, "it's a real improvement on the old method. The diet of the pigs is not changed. They require even less care. Figuring the investment and the cost involved, comparative profit is more."

This is the first year for Sachs with the pig parlor. In previous years, he has raised swine on a moderately small scale. Now he is expanding and plans to continue to do so.

He adopted the plan due to the dropping of various grain prices. He feels that many farmers will be forced into the meat producing business if grain prices continue to remain low. "I look for a lot more cattle to be raised this year than last," he says.

As to the pig parlor idea, Sachs is noncommittal. "It is only a year or two old," he says. "People won't go into it on a large scale until it has been tried and found successful."

Brown patch is a rather common lawn disease in Texas. Extension Plant Pathologist Harlan Smith says most lawn grasses are susceptible, but that San Augustine lawns are more often attacked. The disease first appears as small brown spots in the lawn but spread rapidly. Smith says avoid over-watering of the lawn and should a serious outbreak occur, fungicides should be applied.

FANCY PIGHOUSE — Doyle Cummings shows what a modern-day "pig parlor" looks like from the outside. The open construction provides good ventilation, yet the pigs are protected from the weather.

Cotton's Problems To Be Discussed

The total market for U. S. cotton can dwindle to eight million bales or grow to 16 million bales in four or five years.

Facts supporting this statement will be discussed at a special meeting of cotton industry members at Bovina School Auditorium Monday, May 6, and at Friona School Auditorium Friday, May 10. Both meetings will be at 8 p.m.

The meetings are of a series being held in the major cotton growing counties of West Texas. It follows a recent meeting at Bovina where a representative group of Parmer County cotton farmers, ginners, and others listened to basic information on cotton's problem program, and potential presented by staff members of National Cotton Council. It was recommended by the group at Bovina that the information be taken to a wider cross-section of the cotton industry through similar county meetings.

The local planning committees for the meetings are headed by Ovid Lawlis, Leo Ruzicka, Joe M. Brown, and Earl Chester. Speakers at the meetings will include Earl W. Lean, Robert Love, and Dale Anderson.

County farmers are invited to attend their choice of the two meetings.

Careful Attention To All Details.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Cotton socks are being used in a new way by Gilbert Kaltwasser in his irrigation plan. He says they work real good as suppressors on his aluminum outlet ports to prevent erosion where the water comes out. The cost is no higher than some other things such as sacks, and they last longer and are less bulky, he says. Now you may want to try this trick.

We have a few good quality canes on hand. We had one to begin with, which was given to us at a Farm Bureau meeting in Fort Worth a few months ago. An elderly gentleman tried it one day, and it was so superior to the one he had that he kept it and threw the old one away. They are light but strong. So if you know anyone who needs a good cane, we will furnish it, free of charge.

Senate Bill S. 646, by Mundt of South Dakota and HR 5244 by Poage of Texas need the voice of opposition from ranchers and farmers we believe. It is known as a livestock "check-off" system to provide funds for promoting sale of livestock of all kinds. The check-off fee would be up to 10c for cattle or calves, 5c for sheep or lambs and 5c for swine. The charge would be made to every producer, but those who did not wish to contribute in the first place would be allowed a period of 30 days to request a refund. The request would have to be made after each sale.

There are several objectionable features to the bills, but here are the principle ones: They would cause auction barns and other such agencies to have to set up expensive bookkeeping extensions, the cost of which would naturally be passed on to the livestock producer. Also there is the possibility that the cost of present retailer's and processor's advertising, which amounts to more than a hundred million dollars per year would be transferred to the producer. It would also jeopardize the continuation of the National Livestock and Meat Board's program, which has been doing an outstanding job in the field for 33 years. So Farm Bureau recommends that you join them in writing to Congressman Poage and Rogers in opposition to the bills. Where freedom or dollars are concerned, it is hard to gain a man's favor in giving freedom precedence.

Parker County Has 17,230 Acres in Bank

With the sign-up deadlines for the 1957 reserve agreements past, a report from the Parker County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office shows that 17,230 acres of cropland have been placed in the soil bank for this year.

County farmers have placed the largest number of acres in the 5 and 10 year conservation reserve programs. A total of 65 farms have acreage in the conservation reserve, totaling 10,483.4 acres. Rental payments for the year at $10 per acre will give county farmers an income of $104,834.

Practice payments for 1957, to help get the land in grass, will be $47,173. The total practice payments for this year and next, which should be all that is required to get the land in grass, are $83,864, says Prentice Mills, local ASC manager.

Placed in the wheat acreage reserve this year are 6,133.5 acres under 73 contracts. Payments for placing wheat acreage in the soil bank will be $59,949.85.

There are 30 contracts in the cotton acreage reserve program, tying up 613.5 acres. Total payments to farmers in this program will be $34,145.50. The reason for the small number of acres in the cotton reserve, is that most farmers believe they can make more money by raising the cotton, Mills says.

In all three of the practices put into effect in Parker County, total payments will be $282,793.35.

THE PARKER FARMER

A sight to sicken the heart of any irrigation farmer is one that you can see most any day you want to tour the country around Lubbock. Take a look at the wells. See how they're producing. Rather, see how they're NOT producing.

Just a week ago, we drove from Lubbock north through New Deal, Abernathy, and Hale Center. New Deal farms used to have what people called "the finest irrigated country in the world." Eight and ten inch wells were commonplace.

Matter of fact, there are still quite a few eight inch wells. But the eight inch streams of water are about done for. It chills the spine to drive up to a well, hear the motor laboring away, and watch the discharge pipe dribbling out less than half the pump's capacity.

The open space from the water to the top of the pipe looks like a yawning cavern whenever the water drops to less than half a pipe. If they can't get any more water than this to start off the season, what will be the yield of these wells when the summer sun burns down and everybody is on the pump as hard as they can go?

The southeastern parts of the irrigated district are running out of water. This is a stark fact which has become impossible to ignore. Our irrigation water resources are not "unlimited"—far from it!

Why then, do we waste our water so willfully? We cannot understand it.

It's hard to believe, but planting time is here again. Some corn and sudan, and even some grain sorghum, is already in the ground, and a little bit is even up.

The big push is weeks away, of course, but it's amazing how time can slip by. Before we know it, it'll be time to cultivate that crop—and here we haven't even planted it yet!

Even at this late date, some farmers are still "on the fence" about what to plant some of their acres to. Sesame and hybrid corn are being eyed by many. C. M. Henderson says that from 2,000 to 2,500 acres of sesame appear likely to be planted in the Texico-Farwell area.

Doyle Cummings at Friona reports that from 1,200 to 1,500 acres may go in the northeastern part of the county. That'll be considerable acreage, compared to last year. Corn acreage is anybody's guess, apparently. There was probably around 8,000 to 10,000 irrigated acres last year.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

In a recent issue of a Santa Fe magazine we read a recipe that sounded very appetizing; however, we would never have thought of combining sweet potatoes and crushed pineapple. The name of the dish is somewhat unusual, too.

DISTAFF DIVERSION SWEET POTATOES, TROPICAL STYLE—Mix together in a 1½ quart casserole, 4 cups of mashed cooked sweet potatoes, 1 cup of drained crushed pineapple (14-oz. can), ½ cup of brown sugar, and three tablespoons butter. Add a dash of ground cloves. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 25 minutes or until bubbly hot. Makes 6 to 8 servings, and is a flavorful accompaniment to most any meal, especially ham, pork, or chicken.

Whether the wheat had advanced too rapidly and consequently was "nipped in the bud" by the cold weather is problematical. Greenbugs, which were a threat for a while, appear to be through for this year.

Farmers apparently figure warm weather is on the way once more. Some are already planting cotton, says Jones.

One expert put it this way, "Reasonable worry is fine and good if it is constructive, but needless worry can make a wreck out of a person quicker than most of us realize." The only effective way to overcome any undesirable habit is to recognize that you have the habit, then constantly work to overcome it.

Homemakers should be the happiest persons in the world and should never allow themselves to develop any habits which will cause them unhappiness. There are so many interesting things to do and to learn that we should be constantly doing and learning.

Why don't some of you promote the idea of having baby showers after the baby is born rather than before? The difference in the apparel of boys and girls is growing wider with each season. If the shower came after the baby, the person buying the gift would have the added pleasure of buying a gift for "him" or "her" instead of for "it." Then in the event of twins, gifts could be duplicated so that each baby would have an identical wardrobe.

The days of dressing infants in whatever clothes you happen to have are rapidly fading into history. No well dressed baby boy wears clothing designed for girls and vice versa. Within the next few years even the diapers, knit undershirts, and socks will be different.

We really don't have to do things in a certain manner just because they have always been done that way, but it seems our methods of doing things are always slower to change than those of the promoters of ideas for commercial reasons. We aren't slow to change once the pattern of doing a certain thing is changed, so why don't you plan the next baby shower you are helping with after the baby's arrival?

Of course, this has been done occasionally for a number of years. The mothers we know who have been thus honored have been very appreciative of the thoughtfulness of the hostesses, so maybe it is time to start a new custom.

If you dislike rolling pie crust, try this No-Roll Crust. It can be used for any kind of pie but is suggested for a pie which you bake in the shell.
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
½ cup butter
1 egg slightly beaten
Sift dry ingredients into bowl. Cut in butter with pastry blender. Blend in beaten egg. Pat mixture evenly over bottom and on sides of pie pan. Set aside until filling is prepared.

An unusual filling called Golden Gate Pie may be made by using the following recipe:

GOLDEN GATE PIE
1 cup sugar
4 egg yolks, slightly beaten
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons butter
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 cups flaked coconut
Gradually blend sugar into beaten egg yolks. Stir in orange juice, butter, and grated rind. Cook in heavy saucepan over low heat. Sprinkle 1 cup of the coconut over prepared crust. Pour orange filling evenly over coconut. Sprinkle with remaining cup of coconut. Bake in moderate oven 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in rack. To serve, garnish with orange slices.

Significant reduction in the spread of bovine mastitis infections should follow if the udders are regularly washed with 890 parts of sodium hypochlorite solution to a million parts of water, followed by drying, and by immersion of the tips of the teats in a 5 per cent iodine tincture for 20 seconds.

Wheat Damage Possible

April freezes which accompanied unusual weather that brought even snow to some parts two weeks ago may possibly have injured the tender irrigated wheat, agricultural observers believe.

However, to what extent the damage—if any at all—will go, leaves farmers and observers alike scratching their heads. "I don't know of any way to tell whether the wheat is hurt, yet," says County Agent Joe Jones.

"We'll just have to wait until the heads come out and see if they fill with grain—or if they don't." Irrigated wheat has been making excellent progress this year, as farmers concentrate on increasing yields with fertilizer, better watering methods, and other beneficial practices.

Whether the wheat had advanced too rapidly and consequently was "nipped in the bud" by the cold weather is problematical. Greenbugs, which were a threat for a while, appear to be through for this year.

Farmers apparently figure warm weather is on the way once more. Some are already planting cotton, says Jones.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

As some of the area weather news forecasters say, "we have been having some real fine type weather lately." We have checked the soil temperature in several places in the district lately and it was around 54 degrees F. This tells us that it won't be long until planting time. In fact some have already started planting corn and spuds. Grain sorghum won't be too far behind. Farmers we have talked to have really got the planting fever.

The district supervisors held their regular monthly meeting in Farwell last week. The essays were received from Friona, Bovina, and Farwell that the district is sponsoring. Outside judges have been selected to judge these and place them in order of first, second and third. We should know the results in a couple of weeks.

Also on the supervisors' agenda was making final plans and preparations to observe Soil Stewardship Week which will be the week of May 26 through June 2. The district is making available without cost to the churches in the county covers for church bulletins. Most of the churches have already informed the district how many they are going to need.

The people who live in subdivision 5, which is the Lazbuddie community, have a new supervisor in the place of Matt Jesko who recently moved to Hereford. The new supervisor is George Crane. We want to welcome him to the board and know that he will be able to contribute much to the big job of getting conservation on the ground in the Parker SCD.

We can't help but observe as we travel over the district the great improvements that have been made in the past several years in the delivery systems on a large number of the irrigated farms. We have also made great strides in utilizing crop residues and the use of fertilizers.

When we look at the lower ends of many of the fields, however, we lose all joy we had over the progress we have made in these things. We are still many years behind in the important job of water control. We just haven't seemed to make much progress here. Wasted water runs down the barrow ditches more than it ever has. There is nothing to point to here with pride and say, "Look at the progress we have made."

We have said a lot about this in the past and will have more to say in the future. We don't have a thing to brag about until we have done and are doing a complete job of conserving our most precious natural resources.

Green Thumb Corner

By Sally Whitesides

Guess we are all apt to pull at least one "boo boo" a week, but when your attention is called to two, in one column, it makes the world seem a little dimmer. At least for a little while.

First off, the "little brick wall" around the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Rhinehart turned out to be a concrete edging and sidewalk. Another was the mowing of the green grass in Bovina. Had we more than completed last week's column than we were informed that Glen Hromas mowed his lawn week before last and Joe Moore tells me the lawn over at Shirley Elevator is due "any day."

Spring slipped us a couple of nice days last week and we were among many people in town that got busy with transplanting of volunteer flowers. Petunias, verbenas, holly hocks and dragon heads were all on our list.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Trisch spent several evenings of last week working in their strawberry patch.

The Trisches also have a very fascinating sprinkler. Seen from our dining room window, it turns

Silver Tea Is May 10

Friday, May 10, has been set as the date for the annual Silver Tea of the Parker County Home Demonstration Council and will be held at the Friona Club House.

Plans were completed for the date and place of the tea at a meeting of the council on Monday, April 22, at the Home Demonstration Agent's office at the courthouse in Farwell.

Six clubs were represented at the meeting with eight members of the council present. Mrs. Dee Chitwood, president, called the meeting to order and the reading of the minutes was given by Mrs. Floyd Rector who presided in the absence of Mrs. Walter Kaltwasser.

A discussion on a county-wide mosquito control program was held and it was decided that the council would sponsor the project and "get the ball rolling." Everyone is urged to check local newspapers for dates of various activities and reports that will be given by the council on this project.

Mrs. Joe Brummett reported on the recent district meeting which was held in Amarillo. Following the report of the council, given by Mrs. Gertrude Renner, the meeting was adjourned.

Control Insects Early, Cotton Meet Theme

In an effort to coordinate the work toward controlling cotton insects, a meeting of Parmer County bankers, ginners and a few farmers was conducted Thursday night of last week in a Bovina restaurant.

Raymond King, who is now with Lubbock Cotton Oil Co. and is a former county agent of Castro County, presented the program.

The importance of early season control of cotton insects was stressed by King. In explaining the economy of early season control, King told the "nucleus of Parmer County farmers' informants" that one boll saved every 10 feet by early season control will pay the cost of spraying.

Also, he pointed out that the only way to determine if cotton is being damaged by insects is to inspect the plants. "And that can't be done from the seat of a pickup," King said.

"If a farmer isn't going to inspect his cotton for insects, he'd better hire someone to do it for him," King went on. "If a farmer is smart enough to irrigate, he's smart enough to learn about cotton insects."

Slides were shown as King discussed early season control of the flea hopper, thrip and plant lice. Too, he discussed late season insects and diseases but his main point was early season control.

Early season control will enable beneficial insects to get off to a better start and they will play a major role in protecting against late season insects, he said. "A rule of thumb is to practice early season control the last three weeks in June," King said.

Too, he discussed proper methods of applying insecticides and hauling cotton to the gin.

All county farmers are scheduled to have an opportunity to hear sends up that many more sprouts—and then you ARE in for trouble. Watch your iris plants for miniature green bugs and lice. "An ounce of spray can prevent a pound of damage;" to quote an old adage loosely.

Don't cut off the leaves of your tulips until they are completely dead, says Mrs. Elsie Block. The leaves are feeding the bulbs for next year's blooms. Also, there is no need to transplant and divide the bulbs for at least the first three years.

Wilbur Charles was out in his yard the other day killing weeds the novel way. He was using a "poison gun" that, when pressed into the center of the weed crown, squirted out a mixture of 2, 4-D. The poison is one that will kill only wide leaved plants and he reports good luck with it. He says it has also slowed the dandelions down around his house.

The Charleses front lawn is very smooth and pretty, and the big surprise to us was that it is completely native grass. After living on the farm for many years, Mr. and Mrs. Charles' opinion of other (domestic) grasses falls far short of the native. He says it doesn't take as much care, or water, as other types popular here.

Now that most of your flowering shrubs are just about through for the season, take time out to prune them back. Usually, pruning out one-fourth to one-third of the older growth keeps the shrubs not only neater and more attractive, but will make them grow more and bloom heavier next spring.

A hint for your plants indoors: Coat inside of pottery vases and plant containers with melted paraffin wax to prevent moisture seepage onto window sills and furniture tops. Have the container perfectly clean and dry; heat wax until thoroughly melted, but not hot, and pour into pot and turn from side to side for complete coverage of sides and bottom.

Newspaper advertising is still best.

Plains Cotton Men Affiliate with ACPA

LUBBOCK — Directors of the Plains Cotton Growers, April 16 voted to affiliate with the American Cotton Producers Association of Memphis, Woodrow Fleming, Parmer County director, reported this week.

Fifty-three directors and guests heard proposed plans of the ACPA explained by George Pfeifferberger, executive vice-president, and W. L. Edelman, Friona, who attended a recent meeting of the ACPA in Memphis.

The directors also voted to send Pfeifferberger, Edelman, and Ben Dopson, Lamesa, to Memphis again to an ACPA meeting which was held April 18.

Twelve principals of the ACPA cotton program that were adopted by the Plains growers were to be presented to representatives of all segments of the cotton industry for approval at the April 18 meeting.

The ACPA has obtained a hearing in Washington May 7 for presentation of this industry-wide program to congress.

The principals are:

1. Prepare the 1956 loan stocks for sale as soon as possible after August 1, 1957.
2. Adjust the export program after August 1, 1958 to improve marketing and still keep it competitive.
3. Curtail the soil bank program drastically.
4. Permit a reasonable increase in acreage annually for the next five years.
5. Continue acreage allotments and marketing quotas for the purpose of preventing unlimited acreage increases but adequate to provide for demand.

6. Continue a loan program for orderly marketing thus giving stability to the price structure.

7. Extension of Public Law 480, which provides for sales of surplus stocks for foreign currency or trade.

8. Intensified research and quality improvement program be an essential part of any long-term program.

9. Opposition to any form of discrimination within the framework of any farm program.

10. Opposition to any form of cross-compliance or of total compliance in any farm program.

11. Urge passage of the Smith bill or textile labeling act.

12. Support of the Stennis bill, which re-defines the original intent of Congress of the wage and hour bill concerning agricultural workers.

Spring-like Flavor for Prunes
Cook dried prunes until tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Give them a spring-lake flavor by adding a few mint sprigs to the hot prunes. Cover closely and let stand overnight. Wonderful to use in salads and for garnishes.

Rice Pudding Gone Modern

Try this easy apricot version. Heat to full boil a 12-ounce can apricot whole fruit nectar mixed with 1 tablespoon lime juice and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Stir in 1 1/3 cups quick cooking rice. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Stir in ¼ cup sugar, cover and let stand until cold. Fold in stiffly beaten sweetened whipped cream and serve in sherbet dishes.

Fish Stick Sandwiches

Fish stick sandwiches make a satisfying luncheon when you put 2 hot fish sticks inside a long hot dog roll. Dress with mayonnaise mixed with chopped fresh tomato, green pepper, sliced onion and chopped ripe olives. Garnish with whole ripe olives.

Dress Up Broccoli

Dress up frozen chopped broccoli with sour cream and slivered toasted almonds. Cook the broccoli until barely tender, drain and stir in a little sour cream. Sprinkle with almonds. Makes a pretty, easy-to-serve vegetable for a buffet supper.

Interfacing can help give a more professional look to your home sewing, according to extension clothing specialists. It gives additional body to fabric and is a "must" with many pattern designs. The secret is in knowing where to use it, and what kind of interfacing to use.

Interfacing is most likely to be needed at edges where buttons and buttonholes are to be placed, according to the specialists. Collars, cuffs and pocket flaps often need interfacing to give them body and the crisp, perky look that adds style to a garment. Peplums, yokes and the lower portion of fitted jackets also are in need of some additional body for a professional look.

Skirt waistbands may need a single thickness of interfacing to prevent the waistband from stretching. It also helps to keep the waistband from rolling or wrinkling.

There is no hard and fast rule to follow in the selection of interfacing fabric. It should blend in weight and texture with the outer fabric to give the amount of stiffness or softness desired.

If you expect to wash the garment be sure to choose an interfacing that is washable. For the quick drying synthetics, use an interfacing that has similar properties so that all sections of the garment will dry equally fast.

Psittacosis (Parrot fever) occurred 90 per cent more frequently in man during 1956 as compared to the incidence in 1955.

GOING UP — Construction is ahead of schedule on the addition to the Friona Methodist Church. Scaffolding is rising with the brickwork in the above picture, with the back of the church proper appearing in the background.

Work Progresses On Church Building

A building program at the Friona Methodist Church is progressing ahead of schedule, says a construction head of the G. A. Jones Company, Lamesa. Two parts of a long-range building program by the local church, are in progress and work should be completed sometime in June.

Presently, brick-laying is being done on the addition to the east of the present sanctuary, and on the second story of the basement. The brick-laying and masonry work should be completed in about two weeks.

Even though work is progressing ahead of schedule, according to the superintendent of the contracting firm, some work has been delayed because of the late arrival of steel. However, steel is now beginning to roll in and progress should be steady in the future, he says. The present improvement program includes the construction of the 50x75-foot building on the east and the 74x42 structure above the basement on the north. Also, the basement is being remodeled.

The bid on the improvements was $72,490, and the architects fee runs the total to $76,115 on the entire project. Butler and Kimmel of Lubbock are the architects.

The construction project was started on February 19.

in & around FRIONA

With June

The Easter weekend in Friona was very quiet. A lot of people took advantage of the "four days in a row" holiday from school and went visiting. Then, too, a number of out-of-town people visited relatives in Friona. Most of the college students were home for at least part of their holiday.

Spring improvements are under way at several places of business in town this week. The front of the Crawford building on Main Street has been repainted, the Friona State Bank parking lot has a new coat of gravel, and extensive repairs have been made at Bainum Butane Company. The office has a new front and the grounds have been covered with gravel.

It is interesting to watch the crews at work on the parking lots. The machines with which they work have all been designed for a specific purpose and do their jobs well. The odor of the tar is rather unpleasant for a few days, but when the jobs are completed, everyone who uses the lots appreciates the improvement.

Everyone should see the Lions Club Talent Show and Follies program which will be at the auditorium Saturday evening. A lot of work is being put into the numbers and the best amateur talent of the community will be seen on the stage.

For an evening of fun and amusement, take the whole family and invite your friends and neighbors to be present for the opening number and all those that will follow. We know from past experience that when the evening is over you will be glad that you were present.

Residents of the Hub community are working hard finishing the inside of their Community Center. The outside walls, windows, doors, etc., were contracted, but men of the community are cooperating in the project of finishing the inside.

Within a very short time, that community will have a building which will serve the residents well and of which they can be very proud. The entire community is to be congratulated upon a job well done.

The judges of the Rural Neighborhood Progress contest were at Black Wednesday evening to check over the community and make an inspection tour. The results of their inspection are not known yet, but we are confident that a good showing was made.

Weekend Guests

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. Mayme Adams were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Barnes of Bremer-ton, Washington, and Mr. and Mrs. Chet Mattox and Linda Mattox of Oklahoma City. Mrs. Barnes and Mrs. Mattox are nieces of Mrs. Adams.

Friona HD Club Meets Wednesday

The Friona Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Marlene Drake. Each member answered roll call by quoting a verse of scripture. A spot removing demonstration was given by Mary Bandy, and Blanch Woody gave a hemming demonstration.

Refreshments of strawberry cake and punch were served to Christine Williams, Phyllis Sanders, Joyce Wilkins, Stella Varner, Martha Roff, Jonell Sims, Blanch Woody, and Katy Stowers.

The next meeting will be in the home of Katy Stowers and the feature of the afternoon will be a white elephant sale.

Missionary Society In Massey Home

The missionary society of the United Pentecostal Church met Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ed Massey. In the absence of Mrs. Frank Griffith, president, Mrs. Arthur Lutz presided over the business meeting.

The meeting was opened with prayer in unison and Mrs. Lutz read the opening scripture. A reading entitled, "Lord Help Me To Be Obedient" was read by Mrs. Massey and Mrs. Lutz read "Personal Work" and "A Visit." The closing prayer was led by Mrs. P. W. Hughes.

Refreshments of strawberry shortcake and whipped cream were served by the hostess to Mesdames Lutz, Massey, Sam Rule, J. V. Riley, Kenneth Houlette, J. B. Buske, and P. W. Hughes. The next meeting will be in the Kenneth Houlette home April 30.

Sunday Dinner Guests

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O'Brian were Mr. and Mrs. T. A. O'Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Tom O'Brian and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Russel O'Brian and daughters of Friona, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Welch and Dolores of Pettit, Bobby Lynn Price of TCU at Fort Worth, and Shirley Hogue of Friona. Afternoon callers were Mrs. James W. Cunningham and Janice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mr. Graham:

In answer to your editorial about "teachers" hours being so short and actually are not underpaid."

I beg to disagree with you on several issues. First, let me state I like teaching school. . . . If I didn't, I would find a job I did like because paramount is the importance of having a job you like then you will do it to the best of your ability.

My hours of teaching have never been short. I have taught first, second, fourth, seventh, and eighth grade classes. I have also taught science, mathematics, English, and homemaking in high school. My longest hours at school have been with homemaking, but even when teaching the other grades and classes, I never left school for home without a stack of papers to grade, reports to be made, or plans to be made.

This meant long hours at night, many Saturdays and Sundays were spent getting this work done. If a student desired to call or come by my home for help, I have always welcomed him and helped him. As long as I teach, this is my policy.

In homemaking my hours are not from 8:30 to 4:00 but rather from 8:00 until —. I cannot put a specific hour as I have had calls from girls on problems as late as 10:00 p. m. This is not a usual day. I spend 3 Saturdays per school year in "In Service Teacher Groups." I spend Saturdays working with FHA activities.

I'm not complaining. I like it, but if you will figure the hours I spend you will readily see the hired hand on our farm gets better wages than I do. However, I have the benefits of 12 years increments, where some teachers do not.

Since your work is public, you know the criticisms that are leveled at you, but you have no idea of the difference this criticism would be if you were dealing with the same people's children; children who at home are not made to realize that authority and discipline are necessary when dealing with a group. Children who are taught to resent teachers are not in the minority by any means, because we do still have parents who are willing to cooperate with the school, but it is the minority who are never taught at home that discipline is necessary, and parents who laugh at rules and regulations as stupid, silly, and unnecessary.

It's a shame they can't deal with over 200 teenagers in one group. The majority of our students are courteous, cooperative, and pleasant, but it's again the minority that makes teaching a task.

Have you heard of any ordinary citizen or working man in Friona going out to his car and finding two flats, having his house or fence plastered with eggs, or having knives stuck in his tires, or giant firecrackers thrown in his yard, house pelted with rocks, or having any number of insults which have happened to teachers in this and other communities?

With your attitude and hundreds of others like you in Friona, how could we expect to attract and hold good teachers in Friona? My hopes are that by the time your children are old enough to enter school, your attitude has changed so we can attract and hold teachers in the teaching profession . . . if not, you may have the joy of teaching them.

Sincerely,
ESTELLE CAFFEY
P. S. I had planned not to write this even though I felt I should resent the implications in your article. Then Monday afternoon at least five girls asked me why I didn't write you as even they resented what you had said.
E. C.

8 1/2-Hour Day To Continue At Post Office

The 8 1/2-hour day which went into effect at the Friona Post Office during the recent cut backs in service, will stay in effect, says Leo McLellan, local postmaster. The shortened window service is the only shortened service to remain on since the appropriation of more funds in the postal department, McLellan says.

As to how long the shortened day will continue, the postmaster says, "I think it's here to stay." Presently the windows are open from 8.30 a. m. to 5 p. m., but there is a possibility that this will change.

No complaints have been heard about the hours, but some have expressed a desire to have the windows open by 8 a. m., to enable them to have window service on their way to work, says the local postmaster. This can be changed by approval from the district office, he says.

Even though the window service has been shortened, it has made no difference in the handling of mail. "We're still down here putting up mail at 7 a. m. and local residents who have boxes may get their mail by eight o'clock," says McLellan.

During the week of tightened service the local post office was closed only one Saturday. It was opened this past Saturday and will be open on Saturdays in the future. Being closed on Saturday, April 13, was the only part of the postmaster general's instructions to the nation's offices that went into effect locally.

The rural mail went out as usual on that day, as all of Friona's routes are star. The star routes are operated on a contract basis. "Only the rural routes which involved hourly carriers, were stopped on that one Saturday, McLellan says.

THE BULWARK OF A COMMUNITY IS ITS CHURCHES

you'll find a Faith
to live by...

It's quiet inside. Quiet with the peace of centuries, for this is God's House.

Within these walls, the worries which loomed so large outside become less fearsome... for the first time perhaps you see them in their true perspective. If this alone were the reward of Faith, it would be enough. But there is more.

Faith is a source of strength, a reservoir of power that helps you meet the needs of every day. By worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue, you're giving them a measure of security no amount of money could buy. The Faith to hope... to grow... to live by.
