meth, of Tokio. He has received his wings as an aerial gunner at the Harlington, Texas, army air field.

The many friends and boyhood chums of Alton will be glad to know that he is going places in Uncle Sam's army air force, and it might just be possible that he may visit another Tokyo (little different spelling) and not in Texas.

Sullivan Gets Fourth Oak Leaf Cluster

—First Lt. George L. Sullivan, Jr. of Brownfield, Texas, has been decorated with a fourth Oak Leaf Cluster to his Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" on more than 25 combat missions over Europe with the 351st Bombardment Group.

A B-17 Flying Fortress pilot, he has taken part on bombing attacks on Berlin, Soest, Kassel, Rheine, Cologne, Madgeburg, Stargard, Mannheim, Bielefeld, Munster, Frankfurt, Merseburg, Misburg, Sendelfingen and other vital enemy installations.

The citation accompanying the award read in part: "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this officer upon these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Lt. Sullivan, 23 years old, was graduated from high school at Seagraves in 1930 and before entering the army November 20, 1942, worked for the Lockheed Aircraft Company in Burbank, Calif.

His wife, Mrs. Melba M. Sullivan, lives on route 1, Ropesville, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sullivan Sr., on route 2, Brownfield.

Cpl. and Mrs. H. H. Patterson and baby, Buddy, of Randolph Field, San Antonio, are spending a fifteen day furlough with Mrs. Patterson's mother, Ms. O. L. Jones, and Cpl. Patterson's sister, Mrs. Dick Fallis.

YES, HONEY, RUSSIANS HATE GERMANS!

For quite sometime after this war started, some of our army leaders stated that the doughboys just couldn't get going good just because they just did not hate anybody. But after it began to leak out about the death march in the Philippines, and the mass murder of their own captured buddies and civilians of occupied countries, the GI's began to show little mercy to the villains.

For the past four years come this summer, the Russians have been haters of the Nazis. And the further they go toward Germany, the more of their own people, men, women and children, as well as their slave labor captives, as well as Poles and others, they find have been murdered when they were no more as laborers of the "superior" race.

The only wonder is that the Russians have failed to stoop to the low murder and vengeance displayed by their foe. They are just a better and more civilized people, with lots more of the cave stuff bred out of them, is about the only explanation. But

Two Terry County Boys Killed In Pacific War Theatre

The casualty list given out by the war department reports two Terry county men killed, both in the Pacific war area. The list was dated February 5, and given out at Washington.

The two men were Private Allen S. Freeman and Pfc. Phillip J. Ochoa, both giving Brownfield as the address of next of kin.

Local Man's Regiment Takes 3,000-Foot Peak On Italian Front

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY.—Pfc. Lester G. Doss, son of Mr. Thomas G. Doss, Rt. 2, city, is a member of the 337th "Wolverine" regiment which recently took 300-foot Mount Pratone in the Gothic Line, digging German soldiers out of elaborate concrete pillboxes and earthworks on its forested slopes.

The 335th Infantry Regiment is in the 85th "Custer" Division, part of the Fifth Army in Italy.

Its first was its toughest battle. The regiment won all of its objectives when it struck out for Tremensuoli in the Gustav Line Last May 12, but in this battle lost a quarter of all the casualties it has suffered in seven months warfare in Italy. At this time, one company captured a hill and held it against desperate German counterattacks for three days and nights, its numerical strength dwindling in this period to 18.

The 337th fought and won a bloody 72-hour battle before Terracina, playing a key role in rupture of the Hitler Line. They moved on through Rome, across the Tiber river and up to Viterbo.

The "Wolverines" went back into the line to pierce the Gothic Line at one of its most formidable points.

Cpl. John Rhader Killed In Germany

A bit more information than has been received by the public here about the death of Cpl. John C. Rhader, Dec. 5, while in action in Germany, was given us this week. Rhader was the husband of the former Orvalene Price, the daughter of Lense Price of Route 1, city.

Cpl. Rhader had been overseas only a month when he was killed. He went in the service in October, 1943. He was a graduate of the Beaumont high school, and Texas A and M. His wife is home counselor of Orange high school. His mother lives at Wichita, Kan. Two sisters also survive. He was an employee of an oil company before entering the service.

Corporal Lester Jenkins is visiting in the home of his brother, Roy Jenkins, and with his father, following his recent arrival back in the states, after 27 months in Africa and Italy.

Local Soldier and Bazooka Companion Knock Out Germans

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY.—Crawling within 200 yards of a German-held building behind a friendly mortar barrage, the volunteer team of Technical Sergeant Cecil F. Fisher of Brownfield, Texas, and Pvt. Chas. Marques of Pawtucket, Rhode Island, cleared the enemy strong point and permitted Yank rifle companies to move forward on the Fifth Army front in Italy recently.

Their unit in the 362nd Infantry Regiment of the 91st "Powder Rivers" Division had found its way blocked by the Kraut-held building, dominating the route of advance up Highway 66 toward the Po Valley. Fisher, whose home is on Route 1, Brownfield, approached the battalion executive officer and volunteered to clear the house with a bazooka after attempts to divert the enemy so troops could flank the positions were stopped by enemy fire.

"Go to it," said the executive officer to Fisher. We'll give you a mortar concentration to get you within range. The rest is up to you."

Captain and Mrs. A. H. Daniell and children, Scharlene and Ronny, spent a week with her relatives at Rule, coming in home Sunday night. Captain Daniell is being transferred from San Antonio to Pueblo, Colo., and will leave for his new assignment the first of next week.

Local Boy With 12th Air Force Cited

From headquarters of the Twelfth Air Force in Italy comes word that the B-25 Mitchell bombardment group to which Dan L. Wagner, Brownfield, Tex., is serving as a truck driver, has been cited again by the War Department as a Distinguished Unit, this time for the sinking of the Italian cruiser Taranto in La Spezia harbor September 23.

Carried out without loss of aircraft and with no casualties despite a formidable concentration of anti-aircraft guns, the brilliant attack frustrated German attempts to move the Taranto into position to block the entrance of this vital harbor. The group was previously cited as a Distinguished Unit for outstanding close support missions flown in Tunisia and Sicily in favor of the British Eighth and American Fifth and Seventh armies.

Johnny Haynes Tells Some Tall Stories

Johnny Haynes, baker in the USN, who was until a few weeks ago, located at Pearl Harbor, dropped in to have quite a chat with the Old He and wife, as Jack Jr. is located at the Harbor. Johnny stated that it so happened that he and the Junior Editor of this sheet had their liberty days the same day, and always managed to get together.

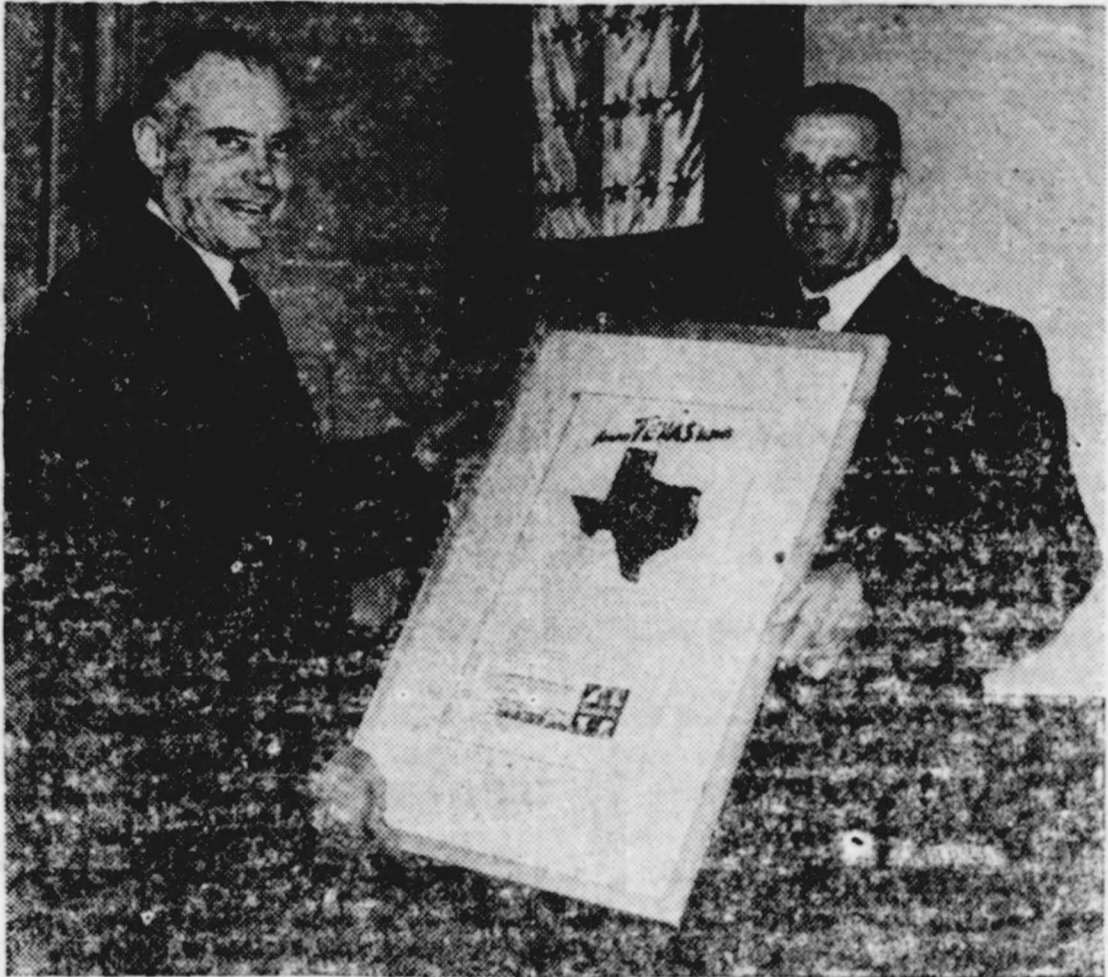

So, they would prow about those islands to see and hear what might be going on, as well as spin yarns, and tell each other the latest they had heard from home. While it is sort of a military secret, Johnny put the point of a pencil down right when both worked, slept and ate. But when Johnny visited in Jr's area, he had to take a bus for several miles and end up by ferry. Jr. just reversed matters when he visited Johnny.

Johnny stated that Jack Jr. was well liked by all the men in the print shop where he worked, as well as the officers, and that most of them referred to him as "Tex." However, his boss is also a Texan, his name being Brooks, and is a nephew of Mrs. M. B. Sawyer. His father once owned one of the papers at Lamesa.

Johnny is being assigned to a new location in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tharp left Monday to go to Abilene to see Mrs. Tharp's mother, who is ill.

Lt. Greenfield Trains To Become Instructor

ELLINGTON FIELD, TEXAS Feb.5.—One of the first veterans of the 20th Air Force to enter the Army Air Forces Navigation Instructors' school at Ellington Field, Texas, is Lt. Keller P. Greenfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greenfield Sr., 315 Powell street, Brownfield, Texas. He was recently returned from the China-Burma-India theater of operations.

Trained by the A. A. F. to serve as both a bombardier and navigator, Lt. Greenfield was assigned to the crew of a B-29 Super-Fortress and sent across the Pacific to India. His hope of aiding in the defeat of Japan was suddenly ended when, after a few trips flying supplies over the "Hump" into southwestern China, Lt. Greenfield was hospitalized as a result of severe arthritis. After extended treatment at an overseas base hospital, he was returned to the United States, and eventually ordered to Ellington Field.

COUNTY COURT CONVENES NEXT TUESDAY

The regular term of County Court convenes here Tuesday the 13th, to try several civil and criminal cases. A jury was summoned.

Uncle Cam, Sears was all a-thrill last week when he got to hear his son talk over radio from France, and of course that went for Mrs. Sears too. Such a thing as that during the other war, just 27 years ago would have been unthinkable to the ordinary; perhaps to people with scientific mind who were then studying the young and crude air transmission of the human voice.

Mrs. Dora M. Howard, former resident here, but now of Hot Springs, N. M., was here early this week attending to business and visiting relatives.

Ted White Receives $50 In Radio Quiz

He called his mother the following day to let her rejoice with him, also the girl friend, Glynna Fay Ross, who is in Texas Tech.

SPREADING THE NET

The stage is being set to put the government into the telephone business with an appropriation of $100,000,000, after the pattern of the Rural Electrification Administration. Public officials are attacking the telephone industry, including thousands of small independent companies, for alleged failure to sufficiently increase the number of rural telephones. In a nation that has more telephones than all the rest of the world put together, it seems a bit ridiculous to start blackening the industry that made this record.

It would be interesting to know whether any of the gentlemen fostering this further step toward socialism, lives on a farm and has tried to get a telephone during the last several years. If he has, he knows that he could not get a phone because of the various war restrictions. He knows that he could not buy telephone wire, and he couldn't buy a telephone.

TO THE MEN WHO ARE REJECTED

The following note is handed each man rejected by the armed services because of physical defect. It should be interesting to everyone.

If every male in America of military age joined the armed forces, our war effort would collapse. It takes millions serving on the home front to keep the fighting front functioning.

Though no fault of yours, you are now on your way back to the home front instead of to the fighting front. But you have a duty to your country just the same as the man in uniform. You are a soldier of the home front.

So return home with your head high. Give your job the best that's in you, and buy all the War Bonds you can. With you on the home front doing your best in support of the fighting front, victory will soon be ours!

A peanut thresher, pulled by a tractor driven by C. L. Buchner, was almost wrecked, when hit from the rear by a passenger automobile driven by C. C. Merritt.

He arrived here the 10th of January to spend 20 days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Townsend of south Terry, also his new bride, whom he married while here, the former Miss Irene Roe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Roe, Route 5, Brownfield, Texas.

Roy says it's pretty interesting over there in places and his experience has been worth the time, but he greatly prefers to be at home. He and an older brother, James, are both in the 13 Division and have been together a lot. James is also home visiting.

Mrs. Townsend will remain at Brownfield for the time being.

At least we are about back to where we were when the Japs struck in 1941, and the going is considerably better than in 1942-43. While we probably still have a hard row to hoe, we have more tools and hands to use them, over in the Pacific area.

It will take no amount of prejudice on our part to keep us from buying "made in Japan" merchandise after the war. We tried out a few of their items back a few years before the war, notably light bulbs, and as our Mexican friends say, they were no wanna.

Some of the metropolitan papers are skipping Lincoln and Washington's birthday editions in order to save paper. While paper rationing has not greatly disturbed the country weekly or small town daily so far, it is becoming quite an item with the big city dailies, using more than 25 tons per quarter.

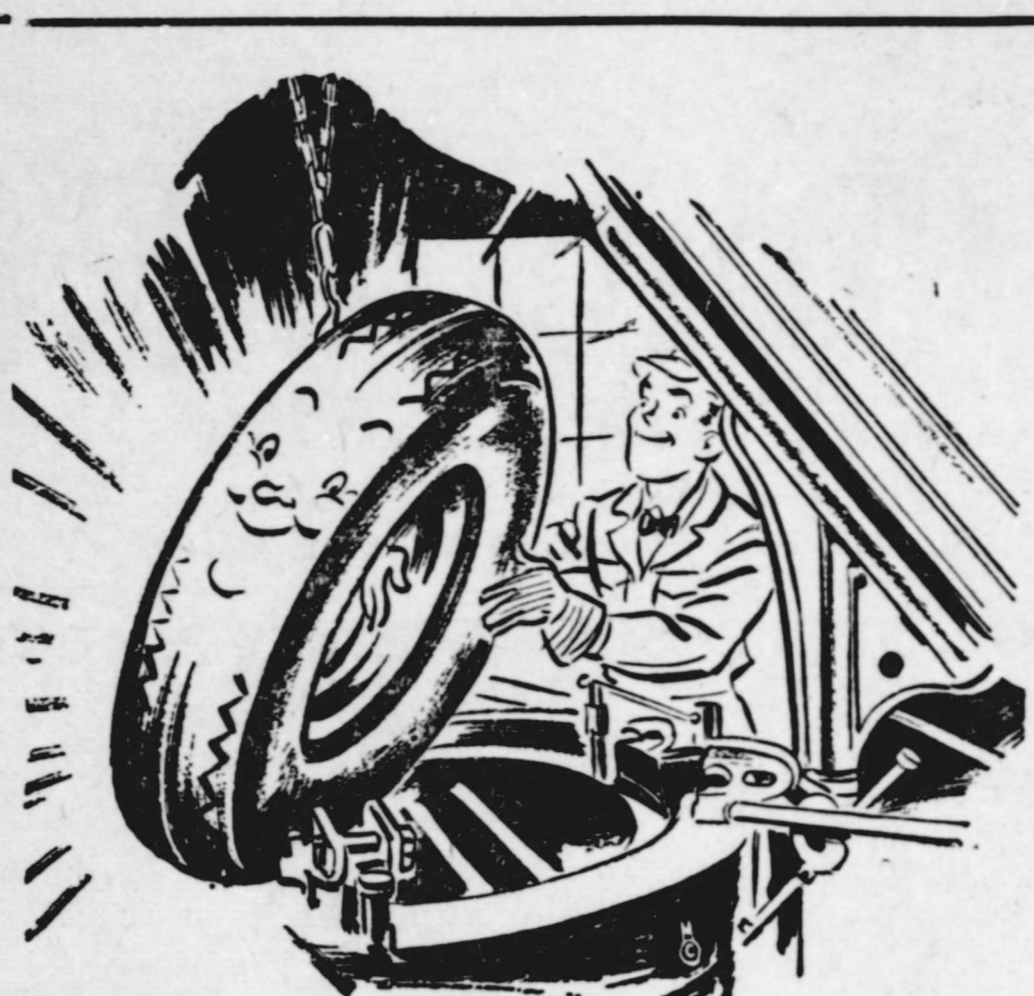

The railroad management and their faithful employees deserves a big hand by the general public for the way they have kept civilian as well as war supplies and fighting men rolling during this conflict. And along with them, we can also give a big hand to our farmers and ranchmen for furnishing the makings of food and raiment for them to haul.

Like father, like son, may be true in some instances, but Booker T. Washington, jr., who recently died in Chicago, never reached the heights of his father, founder and president of the nation's most famous negro school, Tuskegee Institute, in Alabama. The younger Washington was quite an adulator, as far as that goes, but even with the prestige of a famous father, he could never have rose to the heights of his pater.

Let's all try to be consistent if it does inconvenience us a bit. There is now a bill in the Texas legislature for wet counties to keep all their liquor money, aside from that the state gets, for their aged. As dry counties do not contribute to this fund, we believe it nothing but right for the wet counties to have credit for all these funds. We dry county folks maintain that we do not wish grandma and grandpa to have any of this "blood money," anyway. But the dailies say that the dry representatives from the dry areas are fighting the bill teeth and toenail. Let's try to be consistent if it kills us, and even if we have to vote extra taxes to pay pensioners.

Not all the bragging about the State of Texas is done by Texans. The current issue of the National Geographic contains an article by an outsider, which he designates, "The Yield of Texas," which is a humdinger, is well illustrated, with some of the illustrations in colors. In this article, the writer tells some things that probably many natives don't know about our state, as Texas is so large, that many know little about what is going on in their state 600 to 700 miles away. While the writer gives a lot of Texas "firsts," he goes on and enumerates a lot of others that we stand high in production, many of them new, like synthetic rubber, as well as rubber or tire manufacturing plants. The writer says that sections of Texas are simply dripping with money, and uses the thoughts of the old darkey, who remarked: "there aint lots of anything but money."

"ODD-Lot" SHOES TO BE RATION FREE

OPA has authorized a ration-free "odd-lot" sale of men's and women's shoes, beginning February 19 and ending March 3.

The temporary holiday, OPA said, is to give consumers benefit of extra shoe mileage that otherwise might remain on dealers shelves, and to help dealers clear their stocks of the normal accumulation of odds and ends and broken sizes. Before rationing, such shoes were customarily disposed of in seasonal clearance sales, but under the ration program it has been found that this odd lot merchandise does not sell for stamps, even at reduced prices. Therefore it has been OPA's policy to declare stamp free periods from time to time.

The sale price for shoes from a retailer's stock must be at least 25 percent below the regular price. The retailer's mark up on shoes purchased from another dealer must not exceed 33 1-3 percent.

SCUDDAY HD CLUB

The Scudday Home Demonstration club met January 17th in spite of the downpour of rain. There were only three members present: the hostess, Mrs. Victor Herring, Mrs. Olan Herring and Mrs. Walter Lemon.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. R. E. Faught. All members are urged to be present.—Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Stacey and Perry, of Rising Star, were guests in the Dr. E. C. Davis and Money Price home, over the weekend.

Mrs. C. O. Huber and daughter, Kathleen, returned to Brownfield from Pampa, Monday night, where Mrs. Huber will resume her duties as public school music teacher in the Brownfield schools. Mrs. O. W. Huber returned with her daughter-in-law to make her home here. Mrs. Huber's sister, Mrs. Billy Evans of Panhandle accompanied the ladies here and visited Monday night.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Usually, we think of poets as dreamers—but they can be men of action, too. Rupert Brooke anticipated his own death in battle on a foreign field in World War I and, writing of his grave, penned, "Think only this of me—that there's a spot that is forever England."

Joyce Kilmer, who wrote "Trees," gave his life in that war. His battle poem, "Rouge Bouquet," is very beautiful.

Alan Seegar forshadowed his own going in the poem that begins, "I have a rendezvous with death."

And the stirring lyric, "In Flanders Field," was written by Col. McCrae of the Canadian army only a short time before he fell in battle.

C. L. Douglas, news editor of the Fort Worth Press, is the author of several books, among them, "Cattle Kings of Texas" and "James Bowie."

It was many years ago when we first met. A committee of ministers were waging a campaign to clean up conditions in Fort Worth and I was assigned to cover a meeting of the committee, having joined the news staff of the Star-Telegram a short time before. The session was not public but I arrived early and pointed out that the hall outside was wide open to the bitterly cold north wind, so the ministers agreed to allow me to "sit in" on the meeting.

Soon after the conference began, Douglas, then a reporter for the Press, arrived, but, having already been told it was a closed meeting, he remained outside for an hour. (I recognized him from his daily "column," which carried his picture.)

I volunteered to act as typist when a set of resolutions was to be prepared and took a copy out to the waiting journalist. In a very respectful tone, he asked, "Will that be all?" and I realized he did not know I was a rival reporter but thought I was one of the preachers? The temptation was irresistible. In the most solemn voice at my command, I replied, "No, Brother Douglas, that will be all."

It was not until the next day that he learned the difference.

AN ASININE PROPOSAL

Legislative attack on chain stores was scant for the past several years, but open season seems to be here again. On the first day Congress convened, House Resolution 132 was introduced to provide an excise tax on retail stores, starting at $25 dollars on all stores over ten in any one company, and graduated up to $500 dollars for each store in excess of 500, the maximum tax per store to be multiplied by the number of states in which the company owning the stores operates. The bill provides certain exemptions for old, as compared with new stores, but would limit the number of stores within one state, or within a specified number of miles from the principal business office of the company owning the stores.

At a time when postwar production is essential to furnish jobs, it is asinine to propose legislation which would limit the means of distribution, for when distribution slows down, production slows down.

This is no time for Congress to throw prohibitions and confusion around the legitimate expansion plans of private citizens. Proposals to limit opportunity and penalize success make a mockery of everything for which American youth is fighting the Second World War.

Why should any citizen of the United States be told how many stores he can operate, or in what territory,

Class taxation and legislation which destroy the savings and businesses of any group of citizens, are a curse in any country, particularly our own, which is supposed to stand as a model of freedom of opportunity for the rest of the world. It is a sorry spectacle to see the time of Congress taken up debating measures to limit, rather than promote postwar production, distribution and employment.

Mr. and Mrs. Slick Collins and Richard Lee, visited Mr. Collins' parents in Lamesa, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Vance Sibley and son, Tommy, of Odessa, visited with friends here Saturday.

On an average, the Santa Fe is moving a bit more freight over their lines this year, compared to the same week in 1944. Last week the comparison was 35,840 in '44 as against 37,936 in the same week of 1945.

Well, Maybe the War Worker Has A Gripe

Last week, we had a remittance from J. R. Kee, over at Roswell, and he had seen a piece in this paper from some guy he said lived at Levelland, that got J. R. a bit "ringy." Kee says, "if he thinks it is so easy, and the check so d--n big and fat, I want him to ask some one who went off on a war job, how much he has saved from his wages. I admit it does not look like the GI's are getting enough compared to the laborers, but there is not many laborers getting $50 per month above expenses. So I don't think a letter like that helps the morale of our boys any more than picking up a paper and reading where some prominent business man has just got home from a deer hunt, or spent a lot of money for building material that is very vital to fight with, while on the same front page, we see where some fine young boy has been killed in action." Let us state here that J. R. has a boy in the service.

Then to quote further: "I imagine the boys wonder where they got the gas to make those out of state trips with, just like I do. All this while their planes are grounded, and their tanks in snowdrifts, while they hide in frozen trenches, waiting for the gas truck. I am not in favor of a strike at any time, especially the present, but there is always two sides to everything. I know in some places everything is so high that a working man cannot feed and clothe a small family of four or five. So, to h--l with the striker and the man that goes on those pre-war sprees. They may have to account for these deeds after the war is over.

"I don't think the boys give a darn whether we have more or less money, but they will want to know how we behaved, and what we did to help win this war. And they know it takes more than just buying war bonds, which is better than just storing money in the bank, as bonds pay a nice interest to the holder. They don't care how much money we have. What they want to know is what we're doing to help them in the battles.

"One thing, we can't win standing at the OPA begging for extra gas and priorities. So, with the best of wishes, I am,"

Yours truly
J. R. Kee

HE BUYS A PROMISE

The Index, publication of the New York Trust Company, states clearly why the insurance industry should not, in spite of the recent Supreme Court decision to the contrary, be subject to the anti-trust laws. It says:

"The buyer of insurance is not primarily interested in today's delivery of a tangible article. He is merely beginning a transaction when he receives his policy, and not concluding it as when he buys a commodity that is immediately delivered intact. In paying for an insurance policy, he buys a promise of the company to indemnify him against possible loss of property by fire or other perils within a fixed future period, one, two, three or five years.

"One of the insurance buyer's main interests always is that the company will not make other attractive promises at lower rates under stress of competition, but will charge everybody an equal rate for equal danger and remain solvent and able to fulfill its promise to him and all others at any time disaster strikes and loss comes. In case of future misfortune, the buyer wants back from the company not the dollar he pays as premium, but perhaps more than 150 times that much, up to the full value of his lost property, less depreciation, if he is fully insured and its loss is complete.

"Therefore, his chief interest is in solvency, and the preservation of solvency is not in price competition but in concerted action on rates and standards in a way not compatible with the Federal anti-trust acts."

C. L. Harrie and G. H. Nelson, attorneys from Lubbock, were here Monday, attending county court. Nelson reported that Burton G. Hackney, who recently suffered a breakdown while attending military court at Colorado Springs, Colo., is still in critical condition.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. E. C. Edwards of Austin, visited with friends here Friday and Saturday night.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

Would you like to read Abraham Lincoln's biography, written by himself? It was penned a year before he was elected President and, only slightly abridged, follows:

I was born Feb. 12, 1809 in Hardin county, Ky. My parents were both born in Virginia, of undistinguished families—second families, perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham County, Va., to Kentucky about 1781 or 1782, where a year or two later, where he was killed by the Indians, not in battle but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks County, Pa.

My father, at the death of his father, was but six years of age and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, in my eighth about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I grew up.

There were some schools, so called, but no qualifications were ever required of a school teacher beyond "readin', writin' and cipherin'" to the rule of three. If a straggler supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood, he was looked upon as a wizard. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education. Of course, when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three, but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have upon this store of education, I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity.

I was raised to farm work, which I continued until I was 22. At 21, I came to Macon County, Illinois. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now in Menard County, where I remained a year as sort of clerk in a store. Then came the Black Hawk war and I was elected captain of volunteers, a success, which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since. I went the campaign, was elected, ran for the legislature the same year (1832) and was beaten—the only time I have ever been beaten by the people.

The next and three succeeding biennial elections, I was elected to the legislature. I was not a candidate afterward. During this legislative period I had studied law and removed to Springfield to practice it. In 1846 I was once elected to the lower House of Congress. Was not a candidate for re-election. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law more assiduously than ever before. Always a Whig in politics; and generally on the Whig electoral tickets, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known.

If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said that I am, in height, 6 feet 4 inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average of 180 pounds, dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected.

TEXAS INCOME HIGHER THAN IN 1943

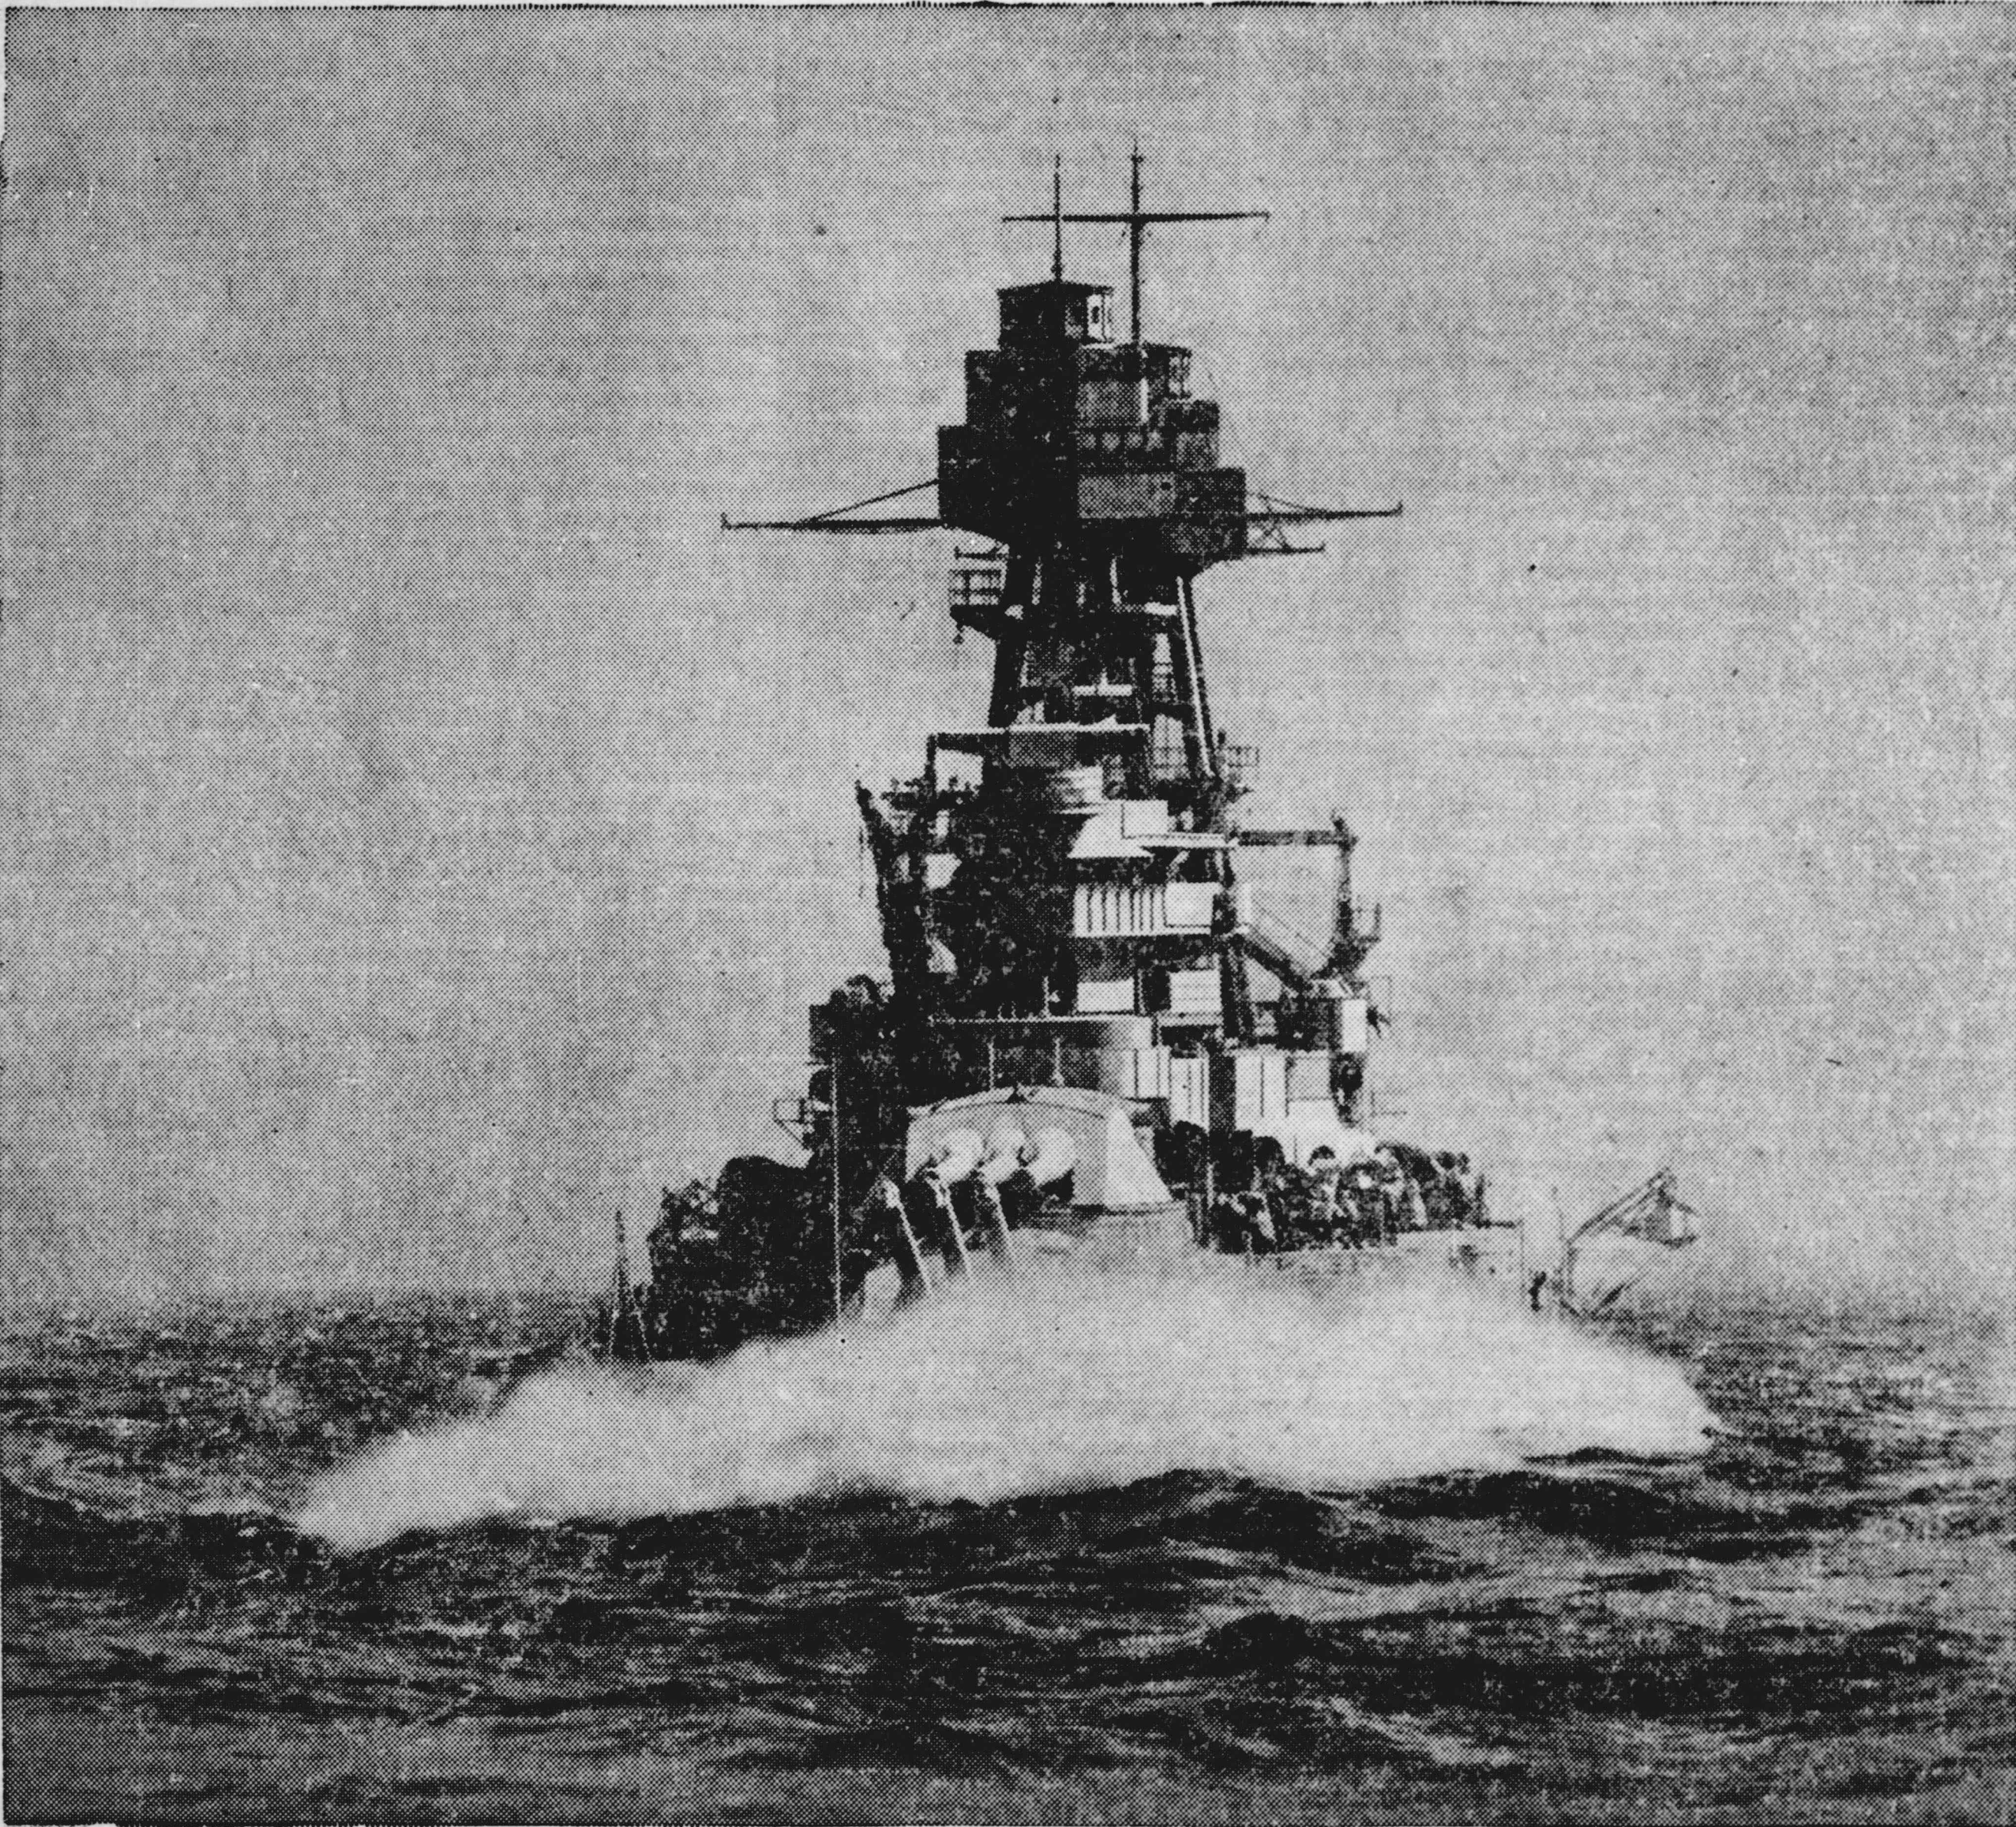

Austin, Texas, Feb. 7.—Farm cash income in Texas was about 5 per cent higher in 1944 than in 1943, according to Dr. F. A. Buechel, economic analyst for the University of Texas Business Research.

Income was $1,143,425,000, Dr. Buechel reported. Increase in income over 1943 was derived almost entirely from greater production and moderately higher price of wheat in the northern section of the Texas plains.

The moderate increase in production and sharp increase in price of fruits and vegetables in the citrus area of the Lower Rio Grande Valley were also partly responsible for the gain.

Mrs. A. B. Mosley of Winters, Texas, came last Friday to visit with her daughter, Sue, for the weekend, and Miss Mosley returned home with her mother. Miss Mosley was employed with Hamilton-Lewis auto supply store.

National Social Hygiene Week Feb. 7

Austin, Texas, Jan. 30.—National Social Hygiene Day will be observed on Wednesday, February 7, and in Texas, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, all local health agencies are planning to participate.

Throughout the past year the Texas State Department of Health has carried on a large-scale persistent and effective campaign against syphilis and gonorrhea, the venereal disease enemies of national health.

These campaigns, Dr. Cox declared, have helped to keep venereal disease infections from spreading and have played a major part in aiding servicemen and industrial workers to stay on the job. In fact, man days lost through such infections, in the armed forces and industry, have been brought to an all time low and Texas can list this gratifying results among its contributions to the nation's military and industrial achievements.

"Even though medical science has produced new drugs and medical research has found new methods to combat these diseases," Dr. Cox stated, "they are still formidable enemies. Fortunately, we now have facilities available for diagnosis and treatment of venereal diseases for all citizens of Texas who cannot afford private care."

Through new awareness among community and health leaders and law enforcement authorities, there has been tremendous progress made in the control of venereal diseases in Texas, but it must be remembered that in our democracy a community will

BEHIND THE GLAMOUR

Government agencies by the score are planning how the people of the United States are to live when peace returns. The inference is that the people are incapable of planning on their own hook. Whole industries are threatened with having their future laid out for them by public officials who have striven to create the impression that they are endowed with a degree of competence not possessed by the ordinary citizen.

Behind this official glamour there is nothing to inspire the belief that government officials are super-beings. For instance, they did not make it possible for this country to produce five times as much coal per man per day as do the miners of Britain. They did not make it possible for the coal industry to turn out a record 625,000,000 tons of coal during 1944 with 200,000 fewer workers than in 1918. Machinery made this record possible, machinery installed by the coal mining industry over a period of many years.

It would be hard to find a politician who encouraged the mechanized mining that has saved the United States from a tragic coal famine. And yet these same politicians who know nothing about coal mining, and a few years ago have no better control of venereal diseases and the repression of prostitution, than the citizens of that community want and are willing to support.

"Let us make Wednesday, February 7, V-day in the war on venereal diseases," Dr. Cox urged. "It can be done if we want it done badly enough."

GRAHAM, TEX.—Fifth place winner in the 1944 National Duroc Ton Litter Contest was the above litter of 12 pigs owned and raised by Bobbie Joe Shepard of Graham. The 12 pigs weighed a total of 3,292 pounds at 180 days of age, an average of 274.33 pounds per pig at 6 months. One pig from the litter was grand champion of the local county fair.

The litter was raised on wheat and sudan pasture and was farrowed in a Texas A. & M. College type house. The feeding ration included ground wheat and oats, shelled corn, protein supplement, alfalfa leaf meal and skimmilk. During hot weather the pigs had access to a cement wallow. The raising of this winning ton litter climaxed 4 years of successful 4-H Club work for Bobbie Joe.

STILL GUARDING PRISONERS OF WAR

Had a letter and remittance this week to keep the Herald headed his way for another year, and stated that he was still guarding, or as he put it in old time Texas style, herding German prisoners. Like everyone, he will be glad when this old war is over and all can come home and live like humans ought to live.

He asked us to give his regards to all the old time Terryites, including Uncle Cam Sears.

Moved again. Yep, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowers are now back at Long Beach, and have purchased a home. But they will have to live at another address until they can get possession, so we don't anticipate but one more change in their address until they get ready to return to Terry.

We heard Sunday that Wayland, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Draper of Gomez community, was getting along pretty well, and was recovering from wounds he received back in December, in France or Belgium.

Ben D. Whitley, who with his sister, Mrs. W. E. Parnell, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Whitley and other relatives here, dropped in with his dad this week to shake hands, being the first time we have seen him in moons. Wants the old home town paper to visit them weekly.

were far too busy with other matters to suggest ways of stimulating coal production, to say presume to know more about its future than the coal mine operators. They sit in Washington and compile figures based on current industrial performance while out in the field industry is relentlessly searching for new methods, for short-cuts, for greater efficiency; things that make hash of statistics. The history of the coal industry is typical of American initiative.

The only way central government can blueprint the future is to freeze industry to present standards and prohibit further invention. This could work providing the people can be convinced that government planning is more important than production. But God help us if we ever get into another war.—Industrial News.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

In this hour when the shadow of death is falling across so many homes, the man (or woman) who has nothing more serious to worry about than the cigaret shortage has nothing to worry about.

And another thing that puzzles me is, if there is a paper shortage in this country (and I'm sure there is) then why do the big metropolitan papers devote so much space to the Chaplin case and other Hollywood filth?

And why couldn't they cut down on the size of those enormous pictures on the Sunday society page?

County Clerk Dush Shaw of Gregg county has begun his 24th term, ranking him as one of the oldest public officials, in point of service, in the United States. The Longview Lens comments that the popular county clerk has "worn out" two courthouses and is serving in the third.

One of the most interesting lawsuits in the history of Eastland County wasn't tried in the courthouse at Eastland but in justice court in Cisco back in the '20's. A one-eyed mule and a 1912 model Brush automobile collided on the main street. (Can you remember the Brush? It had a door at the back and cranked on the side, like a phonograph, and you steered it with a stick instead of a wheel.)

The case drew such a big crowd that the 'squire moved from his little courtroom over to the city hall auditorium. The trial took all day and then every body went home for supper and then came back that night for the argument.

W. J. Barnes (now a prominent Houston attorney) represented the defendant and he brought out that the value of the mule was only $50, yet the owner was claiming $150 damages to the animal! In fact, Barnes made such a convincing speech that the jury decided that the auto didn't hit the mule at all but that the mule jumped in front of the auto—and so the owner of the Brush was awarded damages.

Rev. Dock Brian of Plainview, preached at the Gomez Baptist church Sunday morning and at the evening service.

Behind the Scenes In American Business

New York, Jan., 22.—When a hundred Superfortresses bomb Tokyo, it's front page news. We rejoice that America has such intrepid airmen and an aircraft industry able to develop long range bombers far superior to those of any other country, friend or foe.

When the name Wall Street is mentioned, however, there's usually someone who questions its value in the nation's economy. Far from rejoicing a good many don't even know that the investment banking business and the facilities of a stock exchange enabled the company which developed and now makes the Superfortresses to obtain the necessary capatat for building up its plant and its engineering know-how in the decade before the war when aviation was just an infant, starving industry.

In most cities and towns there are dealers who serve as retail outlets for new stocks and bonds of companies wishing to expand, to develop a new product, or to create new markets. These securities are wholesaled, so to speak, by investment banking firms located in New York, Cleveland, Chicago, San Francisco and other large cities. Since the bankers must buy the securities from corporations in the first place, they need vision to analyze properly a corporation's prospects for future growth and the courage of their convictions.

By maintaining an active market for securities at all times, the nation's stock exchanges also serve a very useful function. Located in Detroit, Boston, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Cleveland and Chicago, they assure the ultimate individual investor who buys securities from a retail dealer the means of disposing of his investment readily and at a fairly determined price, whenever he needs the money for another purpose.

THINGS TO COME—Automobile steering wheels covered with synthetic rubber. The underlying metal of the wheel will be dipped in a latex solution, the way rubber is adhered to wire dish drainers. . . . "Dishes" that can be eaten instead of having to be washed. Made of high grade pastry, they're a de luxe development of the chicken pattie idea. . . . For tomorrow's merchant showrooms on wheels, loaded with frozen foods, dry goods, household furnishings, etc., which will circulate in rural areas, permitting housewives to stay home and do their shopping at the same time.

A local colored man who had a MD after serving three months in the Navy last summer, and who entertained quite a few on the streets here, Friday evening by much myrth and telling them "he needed no money as he was full of sunshine," was carried Tuesday to Veteran's Hospital for such cases at Waco, following a trial in county court Saturday.

Sgt. Bill Gore is now at the Blackland Army Air Base near Waco. Bill spent several months at Garden City, Kansas at a base.

Misses Patsy Carter and Jean Knight of Texas Tech, visited in their homes here last weekend.

Modern Gas Service

Many women, working long hours to feed their sons and husbands on America's production lines, are also keeping things humming at home. Meals must be cooked. Food must be purchased and preserved. There must be hot water for baths. Modern gas engineering is keeping these women on the job, both at home and at defense work. Research carried on years before the war has put such outstanding gas appliances as the automatic water heater, kitchen range and automatic gas heaters in millions of American homes... homes that today are operated by these defense working women... and they are the people who can truly appreciate every little convenience that Natural Gas is giving to them now.

YOAKUM COUNTY LINE HD CLUB REPORT

The County Line Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Geo. Alexander Friday, Feb. 2, with the vice-president, Mrs. Meeks, presiding in the absence of our president. Members answered roll call by reciting their favorite verses of scripture. After the formal opening, the program was turned over to the recreation leader, Mrs. Brantley. We had fun with a cracker-eating, whistling game, and then got the low down on our neighbors with the help of the "Truthful (?) Battle." This was followed by a talk by Mrs. Brantley on the subject, "Be Useful." Some very good ideas were presented. Mrs. Suddeth then talked on "Widening Your Friendship To Include People Young and Old." She concluded with the reading, "Purpose of Life," which was fine. Then we sang "Faith of Our Fathers," and some of the other old land marks of music. Even those of use who aren't singers enjoyed lifting our voices and making a joyful noise. Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames Meeks, Ellington, Brantley, Elmore, Barker, Suddeth, and the hostess, Mrs. Alexander. The time when all the country neighbors met at the school house each Sunday has passed. At this critical time, when every one is working, visiting is neglected, and about the only time we get together is at club meetings. It is here that we learn to know our neighbors and a finer feeling of respect and sympathy is developed. The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Brantley on the usual first Friday, March the 2nd. Be with us.—Reporter.
