

GRAHAM CRACKERS

—WHG

Several of our readers have been kind enough to comment with favor regarding our story about a decision on our part to voluntarily double the postage paid to mail the newspaper.

We'd like to add a further comment ourselves, though it can't be classified as favorable. One of those printer miscues that invariably creeps into every newspaper crept into The Star last week.

Our story inadvertently reported that second class mailing losses cost Uncle Sam $218 a year. Actually, the losses are about $218 MILLION per year, as you might have suspected.

The way the post office has been losing money would indeed make $218 look like peanuts.

Another miscue:

Sheriff Chas. Lovelace has pointed out to us that we have erred in referring to Bill Ford, our local law enforcement officer, as city marshal. His title is actually deputy sheriff, and must be so referred to in order to preserve his authority to serve warrants and deal with other technicalities of the law.

The clean-up campaign launched last weekend by the Friona Chamber of Commerce didn't get up a very good head of steam, according to reports we have been receiving.

This is too bad, and The Star would like to join others who have been pointing out that community cleanliness is not only commendable from the standpoint of community pride and attractiveness, but that it actually is a must for minimum standards of public health.

If this sounds like a bunch of bologna, consider for a few moments how many cases of just one disease — encephalitis — were diagnosed as such on the irrigated Plains last year.

Then consider, if you will, how much worse the conditions are scheduled to become for the breeding of mosquitoes—known transmitters of the disease commonly referred to as sleeping sickness. The showers appear to be back with us, and they are promoting a big crop of weeds.

In addition, doubtless they will keep the old cans and other objects that lie around the alleys full of water—a perfect setup for Mama and Papa Mosquito to scatter skeeters.

This is just one of many illustrations on why it makes good hard sense to clean up the town. The Chamber of Commerce this year has made the slickest arrangements we've ever heard of for getting a necessary but nuisance-type job done.

The school seniors are itching (we've been told) to get out and do the job up right — and for a reasonable fee, too. We can't see any good reason why the town of Friona—progressive in so many different ways—should hold back on a project such as this.

This weekend will be "it" for the clean-up workers. It's now or never for this spring. We hope you won't let your family's health and your neighbor's pride go down the drain in this important respect.

Some day, we are going to do a feature on personal signatures.

The other day, as we were perusing a list of several of these modern-day hieroglyphics, we came across one that had us stumped—absolutely. Usually, if the signatures are those of people we know, we can figure out the initials, the crossed 'i's and dotted 'i's, and enough of the ripples and bumps to make out the name.

Not so this particular one. It had us buffaloed.

Finally, though, we discovered that although we couldn't make out the scratches, there are a lot of people in town who can. The marks, which resembled a stepped-on blob of cat hair, belongs to Dan Ethridge.

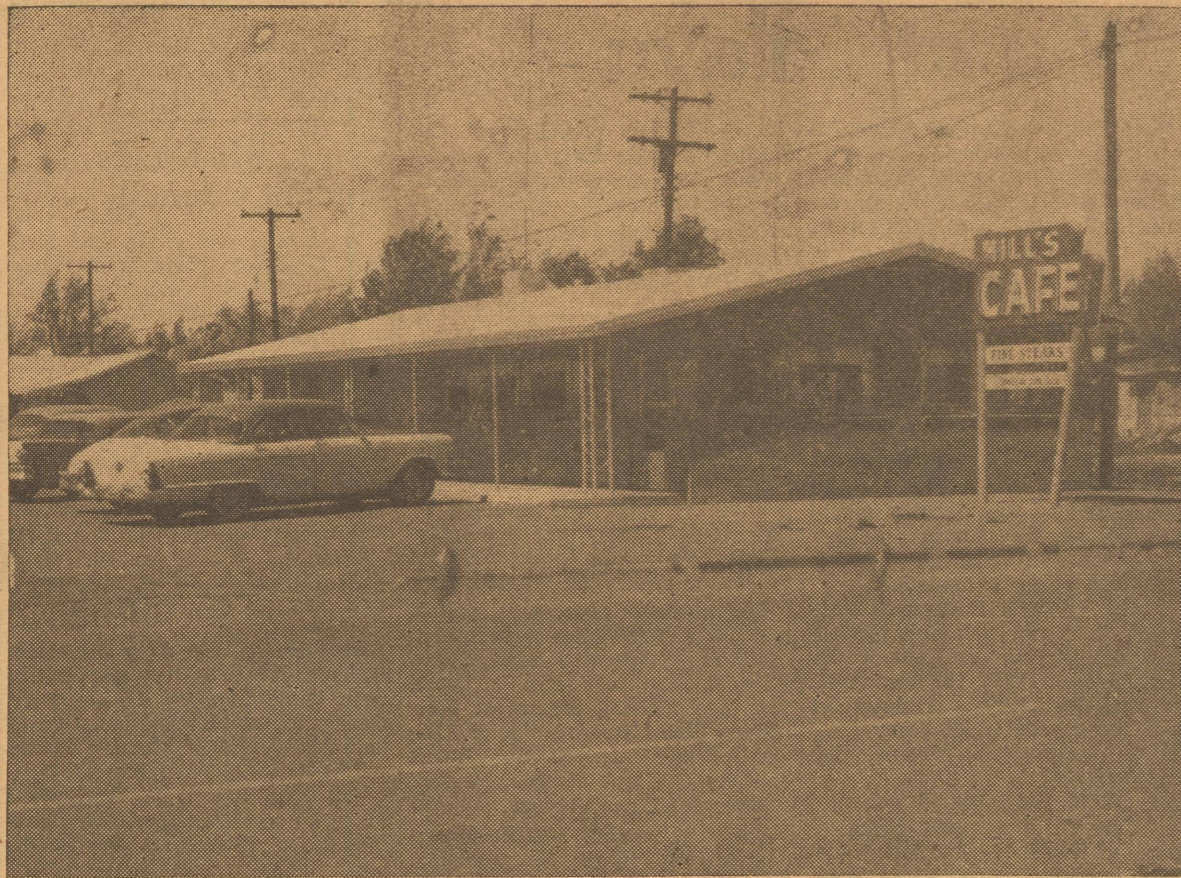

Mention of signatures makes us think about checks, and mention of checks makes us think of something that Walter Loveless, our justice of the peace, was laughing about the other day.

As the story went, a man had been taken before him after being arrested for fighting and otherwise disturbing the peace. The man's understanding wife, who made out the check to pay the fine for the misdemeanor, marked the check so she'd remember what it was for when statement time came around.

Down in the lower left hand corner was written, "For feudin', fussin', and fightin'."

This is fine, but Uncle Sam probably won't allow it as one of those deductible business ex-

Juniors Named Highest

Bringing home five first division ratings in five contests, Friona's junior high band and chorus students received the highest possible rating in the area contests at Plainview last Saturday.

No other school equaled Friona in the ratings, as the local students participated in only the five contests and ranked at the top in each.

The band received first division ratings in both concert and sight reading and the entire choir also received the top rating. Individuals who received the first division rankings were Sharon Reeves, flute solo, and the clarinet quartet, comprised of Jimmet McLean, Pamela Sue Roden, Peggy Holcomb, and Mikie Welch.

Directing the students at the contests was J. D. Fry, Friona band instructor.

Heart Attack Claims Henry Lee Stanley

Henry Lee Stanley, oldest son of Mrs. A. E. Stanley of Friona, died following a heart attack Monday, May 6, at Thermopolis, Wyoming. Stanley, who was in the well drilling business here a number of years, moved with his family to Thermopolis in 1934. He continued in the same business there for a number of years, but due to failing health has served as jailer for the past few years.

Survivors include his wife, Mary; two sons, M. Sgt. James W. Stanley of Camp Ellington, Texas, and Paul Henry Stanley of Bay Center, Washington. Also, four daughters, Mrs. Bill Purvis of Vancouver, Washington, Mrs. Eddie Tudorvitch, Mrs. Richard Schroek, and Mrs. Robert Kovak, all of Thermopolis; his mother, Mrs. A. E. Stanley of Friona; and two sisters, Mrs. Bill McGlothlin of Friona; Mrs. Arthur Hughes of Cortez, Colorado; and three brothers, Bill of Lamar, Colorado, Frank of Howell, New York, and Jack of Lubbock; and 11 grandchildren.

Those from this area who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stanley of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McGlothlin of Friona, and Bill Stanley of Lamar, Colorado. Burial was in Riverside cemetery at Thermopolis.

Fields Resigns Position At Friona School

Kenneth Fields, elementary principal at Friona for the past two years, and his wife, Francis, fourth grade teacher, have resigned their positions here to accept similar ones at Monahans.

Fields will take an administrative job in the Monahans elementary school and Mrs. Fields will be a teacher in the system. The two came to Friona in 1955, following four years of teaching at Farwell. Prior to going to Farwell they taught two years at Sudan.

Fields is an Air Force veteran, having served four years in the service, before receiving his bachelor's degree at Howard Payne in Brownwood. He received his master's degree in education at West Texas State.

Mrs. Fields was graduated from West Texas State with a Bachelor of Science degree and is presently working toward her master's.

Mr. and Mrs. Fields will leave Friona after this term and take over their duties at Monahans next fall.

Eighth Graduation Set For May 24

Friona eighth graders will receive their diplomas next Friday night, May 24, beginning at 7:30 in the school auditorium. Presentation of the diplomas will be made by Kenneth Fields, elementary principal.

Seventy-three eighth graders will be graduated into high school and heading the class is Bob Sanders, valedictorian; and Kitty Black and Kay Strive, salutatorians.

Color scheme for the commencement will be gold and white, and immediately following the activities will be a reception for the class at the school cafeteria.

Class sponsors are Mrs. Monte Thibodeaux, Wayne Hodgson, and Don Duby.

Pool Election To Be June 4

Citizens of Friona will vote "for" or "against" $55,000 worth of "permanent improvements," on Tuesday, June 4, and upon the outcome of that vote will hinge the success or failure of a local group pushing for a community swimming pool.

The $55,000 earmarked for the pool is the maximum recommended by bondsmen for the city to underwrite and stay within 10 per cent of valuation for bonded indebtedness.

CLEAN-UP EFFORT TO TRY ONCE MORE

Light and disappointing response was had to the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored clean-up drive last weekend, reports J. C. Claborn, president, but another effort to get community-wide participation will be made this weekend.

Dillie Kelley, chairman of a committee in charge of the work, says the main drive will take place Saturday, and that an effort will be made to generate more interest.

Friona seniors are furnishing the elbow grease for this "operation clean-up." For a fee of $3, they will clean alleys and sidewalks of debris and weeds, and also will paint one garbage can. "Even if some people think they don't want to pay the $3 to have their places cleaned up, we'd sure like to see them have their trash barrels painted, for $1 each," says Kelley.

Means of diminishing the threat of encephalitis has been on the minds of the residents of the community in recent weeks, and better response to the clean-up call is hoped for this weekend.

Businesses will be asked to close from 8 until 9 Saturday morning to clean up their premises and dramatize the community-wide project.

Band Concert Is Tomorrow Night

The annual spring concert will be presented at the Friona School auditorium tomorrow night, beginning at 8 p. m. The musical program will be presented by the junior and senior bands, the junior choir and the senior girls ensemble, under the direction of J. D. Fry, band instructor.

There will be no admission charge to the concert and Fry invites all area residents to be on hand for the final program of the year.

Opening the program will be the junior choir, singing "Some Folks," "Comfort Ye My People," and "This Is My Country." The clarinet quartet, composed of Jimmet McLean, Pamela Sue Roden, Mikie Welch, and Peggy Holcomb, will play, "To A Wild Rose."

There will be a flute solo by Sharon Reeve before the senior girls ensemble does "Too Young," "Changing Partners," and "True Love." Numbers by the junior band will be a march, "Challenger," a choral, "Consolation," and an overture, "Medallion."

Following intermission the senior band will play "The Liberty Bell," "Tiara" Larghetto from Concerto Grosso — Opus 6, No. 12, "The Golden Eagle," "Allegheny Moon," and "The Ivory Towers of Xandu." Student conductor will be Pat Cranfill.

Phyllis Treider will play a flute solo, "Minuet from L'Arlésienne Suite," and the band will wind up the concert with a popular number, "Giant (This Then Is Texas)," and a concert march, "Charter Oak."

The accident occurred in the fourth inning of the game as Wood was covering third base. Phillip Berry, Farwell second baseman, slid into the base, catching Wood's leg as he attempted to tag the runner out.

Wood's condition is termed as satisfactory. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noyle Wood.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Another Viewpoint

As any regular reader of The Star knows, this newspaper doesn't make a habit of clipping editorials from other publications. Local conditions are important enough, we feel, to warrant weekly comment by The Star itself.

However, every once in a while something comes along from outside that has special meaning to local conditions. Just such a something is an article written recently by L. B. Smith and published in his newspaper, The Brady Standard.

Because of Friona boosters' preoccupation with the subject of industry, this has special meaning here, we feel. See if you don't agree with Smith that, when you stop to think about it, "Expansion of Home Grown Businesses is Just as Good as Attracting New Industry to a Town."

The Pattern for Progress series of articles being featured in The Standard and The Herald during the last few months has created a lot of comment, not only from our local citizens but from "outsiders" as well.

Many thought-provoking points have been brought out, and many new ideas and channels of pursuit for bringing industry to Brady have been listed by the various writers.

We think of industry as being factories, textile mills and various plants where hundreds and even thousands of people are employed. Webster defines industry as "habitual diligence in any employment or pursuit; steady attention to business; any department or branch of art or business."

So, the question comes into my mind, why look outside for prospects?

Instead of going all-out to move some factory or industry to Brady, why don't we offer encouragement and cooperation in every way possible in developing and expanding our own? I suppose everything was started with a wish. But wishing alone will get us nowhere. We must follow up our wish with action.

Any business in Brady may be termed an industry. Suppose each business added an employee this year. What would that mean? And let's assume that next year, the same thing would occur. It wouldn't take long for Brady to be in the 10-15- to 20-thousand bracket.

But a business man, before expanding, must have faith in the future and faith in his fellowman. He must have the ability to manage and produce and sell. He must have all these qualities and more to show a profit that will justify him in his program of expansion.

We've heard it said, and we say it ourselves over and over, that every businessman is entitled to a just and legitimate profit. The surplus over and above his expenses at the end of the year determines whether or not he expands his business; whether or not he buys a new automobile; whether or not he builds a new home or remodels his old one. It determines to a great extent whether or not he will again be back in business the following year.

How can we encourage our prospects for industry? In many ways, but I'd say principally by trading at home. Buy everything you can from your local merchant, even though it costs a few cents more. That brings to mind a conversation a businessman had here a few months ago.

One asked another if he couldn't sell him his supplies, naming one small item in particular.

"Oh," he said, "I can get it cheaper out-of-town."

Pressed with "How much?" he added: "You charge me $3 and I can get it for $2.85."

"Then you save 15 cents by purchasing it out-of-town. Over a year's time that would amount to a total of $3."

Then he tried to explain to him that the $3 would have been profit to the seller, and this, together with other legitimate profits he had made, if any, would determine his future course in Brady. Fifteen cents on an item seems infinitesimal, but enough will mean the difference between success and failure of a business or industry.

I am not implying that we should trade at home regardless of the price. But I do say buy it at home if the quality is comparable, and the cost is "in line." I'd much rather see a friend or business associate make the profit than to see it go out of town where it will help build a larger Fort Worth or Dallas or Austin.

If business is good, we at The Standard might even buy a new piece of printing equipment to serve our community with a better and more modern newspaper. If business is good, we might even add one or two new employees. But regardless of how much profit we make, we're not going to take it with us when we die. We're going to spend it somewhere, sometime, and usually it's right after we get our hands on it.

Another angle to the question is typified in the latest example of why look outside for prospects is Roddie Wool Scouring Co. The Roddie brothers had an idea, and they followed it through with positive action. If we can offer them community cooperation and work with them in every manner possible, there's no reason why this firm shouldn't grow and prosper and expand and who knows, it might mean the bringing in of other businesses allied to the wool industry.

One cannot separate industry and people. They go together, and certainly are a vital cog to a community. Industry makes jobs for people, who in turn build a community.

In Brady we have a number of fine and deserving industries... businesses, you might say. They are large and small, and after several years of devastating drought, we have been shown how they contribute to a community's economy.

We should all take time out and commend them for what they have done to Brady, and what they are doing now. What they will do toward the future development of Brady and McCulloch County depends in a great measure on the service they render, or our reaction toward patronizing them and lending them our utmost support and cooperation.

There's no getting around the fact that "what Brady makes, makes Brady."

WINS AWARD — Gerald Daniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daniel of Friona, stands by the two awards he recently won in public speaking contests. This past Saturday he won second in the area contest and several weeks ago he topped first place in the district.

Gerald Daniel Places Second In Public Speaking

Gerald Daniel, Friona freshman, won second place in the Area 1 FFA public speaking contest at Amarillo Saturday. He was the only freshman to be entered in the contest and was runnerup to John Garmon, a senior from Groom.

Daniel won the right to participate in the area meet by winning first place in the district contest at Farwell recently. There were seven district winners participating and all were juniors and seniors except for the local contestant.

He used as his speech title, "Practical Skills and Technical Training the Modern Farmer Need." Gerald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daniel. He was a member of the greenhand farm skill team which won first place in a state contest last year.

Accompanying Gerald to the area meeting Saturday were J. T. Gee, agriculture instructor; and Gerald Floyd, who was Friona's voting delegate for the election of officers.

Crippled Children's Clinic Is Saturday

Featuring an outstanding list of specialists, the second annual free clinic for handicapped children will be Saturday in Hereford. The Clinic is sponsored by the Oasis Shrine Club and assisting with it this year is the Scottish Rite Masons.

Object of the clinic is the free examination and diagnosis of handicapped children of all races, colors, creeds and economic status in Castro, Deaf Smith, Parmer, and Oldham Counties.

The day's session will be conducted at the Hereford Clinic Saturday, beginning at 9 a. m. Doctors and physicians donate their time to help the Shrine Club in carrying on the project.

Lewis B. Barnett, M. D., president of the Oasis Shrine Club, asks that anyone knowing of a handicapped child that they might be able to help at the clinic, to try and have him on hand for the registration at 9 o'clock.

Ten phases which will be covered at this year's clinic include general physics; orthopedic surgery; neuro-surgery; plastic surgery (cleft palate, hair lip, etc.); ear, nose, and throat; eye; speech therapy; consultation; heart; and dental.

Only NEW Refrigeration Advance in Years

... and GAS refrigerators have it!

Gone are the spill, muss and fuss that go with the too familiar ice cube tray. Now, as if by magic, a GAS refrigerator serves generous-size "half moons" of ice, in a basket — all automatically! You always have a supply of ice — with no trays to fill or pry loose. As the basket is emptied, the Ice Server refills itself, and serves a fresh supply of loose, dry cubes.

As for other convenience features... a GAS refrigerator has them all! And when you consider the ten-year warranty (no other refrigerator has it) and amazing economy of operation... it's small wonder that the really Smart Moderns choose GAS for refrigeration.

3 OUTSTANDING GAS REFRIGERATOR ADVANTAGES

Jet cycle freezing enables your gas refrigerator to operate silently. Just a tiny gas flame does all the work, with no buzz, hum, or rattle. And of course with gas, there's no danger, ever, of food spoilage from power failure.

No moving parts in its freezing system guarantee longer life for your gas refrigerator. Because there is no motor to wear out, you are assured years of carefree, repair-free service.

Your gas refrigerator is the most dependable refrigerator known. Its exclusive 10-year warranty as compared with the 5-year warranty offered by other refrigerators, is your proof of performance.

Never any ice trays to fuss with when you use the modern, fully-automatic SERVEL with its magic Ice-maker, says lovely Julia Meado, hostess on Pioneer's TV series, "PLAYHOUSE 90." See your newspaper for time and station.

For your own personal demonstration of the greatest refrigeration advance of the decade, visit us or see your gas appliance dealer.

HE THAT BELIEVETH ON HIM IS NOT JUDGED: HE THAT BELIEVETH NOT HATH BEEN JUDGED ALREADY, BECAUSE HE HATH NOT BELIEVED ON THE NAME OF THE ONLY BEGOTTEN SON OF GOD." (John 3:16-18)

The heart and core of God's plan of salvation is Jesus Christ, his son. God sent him into the world to die for man's sins. Jesus, through his death, did atone for man's guilt. By this means he provided the only avenue of escape for man. He is the only Savior. If one refuses salvation through Christ his condemnation is certain.

Should one unable to swim find himself in deep water with no means of rescue at hand he will surely drown. If a lifeboat is dispatched to save him and he refuses its help he will die. Why? Because he did not get in the boat? No! Because he was in the water and no other means was at hand to save him.

The gospel is the good news story of salvation in Christ. If man refuses it he is doomed for there is salvation in none other (Acts 4:12). Faith in the gospel; hence, faith in Christ, comes by hearing the word of God (Romans 10:17) The Bible is God's word. Study it. Believe it. Obey its commands. Enjoy its promises and . . .

penses when it comes time to settle with him.

A request from George Forney of Cherokee, Oklahoma, is the most recent one we've had concerning the publication in The Star of local markets. In compliance with his suggestion, we have contacted the local elevators and buyers of other farm commodities to see if this information cannot be regularly obtained and published.

We are pleased to report a favorable response from the businessmen contacted, and now it will be a policy of ours to each week report the local markets. Although weekly reports will be less desirable, naturally, than daily ones, perhaps people will be able to get an idea of how things are going. We're glad to cooperate.

Something else we're starting this week is the reporting of transactions of real estate, as turned in by local dealers. We have made an attempt to contact every dealer and suggest that he cooperate with us by reporting his sales.

Depending on the amount of cooperation given us, The Star will be able to report with reasonable accuracy each week the sales that so many people are interested in.

With June

If you are one of the persons who has noticed the unusually broad smile H. T. "Tiny" Magness has been wearing the past two weeks, you will be interested in the following information. In addition to having a new grandson, Tiny has a namesake. Then in addition to that, the little fellow just lacked one day being born on his granddaddy's birthday.

The baby, who was born to Marjore Magness of Lubbock, is the son of the late Tim Magness. He was born on one of his great-grandfather's birthdays.

Judging from outside appearances, Bill and Edith Hannold are going in for collecting rocks and antiques. When they returned home from Alpine recently, the Hannolds brought a large number of interesting rocks which are now in their front yard.

They also brought back a large collection of furniture, household articles, books, and guns. Several of the books were real old and were borrowed one of the oldest cookbooks in the collection. From it a lot of things can be learned about the way of life of people who lived several generations ago.

One whole section of the book was devoted to hints for persons who were ill. Some of the suggestions failed to list any specific illness the particular concoction was to be given for, but each one was highly recommended.

One paragraph which was extremely interesting was headed, GROWING PAINS CURED. It read, "Following in our mother's footsteps, we have been routed night after night from our warm quarters, in the dead of winter, to kindle fires and fill frosty kettles from water-pails thickly crusted with ice, that we might get the writhing pedal extremities of our little heir into a tub of water as quickly as possible."

"But lately we have learned that all this work and exposure is needless. We simply wring a towel from salted water—a bowl of it standing in our sleeping room, ready for such an emergency—wrap the limb in it from the ankle to knee, without taking the child from his bed, and then swathe with dry flannels, thick and warm, tucking the blankets about him a little closer, and relief is sure."

Credit for this bit of information was given to Good Housekeeping. Another thing which attracted our attention was a list of nine things which a person was to do in order to keep well. They were: Don't sleep in a draft.

Don't go to bed with cold feet. Don't stand over hot air registers. Don't eat what you do not need, just to save it.

Don't try to get cool too quickly after exercising. Don't sleep in a room without ventilation of some kind.

Don't stuff a cold lest you should be obliged to starve a fever. Don't sit in a damp or chilly room without a fire.

Don't try to get along without flannel underclothing in winter. For some very interesting reading just spend a few hours browsing through an old book.

Once again our area has received rain. Prospects for wheat have been very good this season. Several fields we have observed are headed out and the stalks are already taller than they have been in several years. Rain is always welcomed by West Texas farmers, but some of the spring planting is being delayed by the moisture we have received.

One of the sure signs of graduation being near is the clock in the window at Allen's Jewelry. This year the face of the clock has pictures of 34 members of the graduating class on its face. The eight day clock has been wound and when it runs down the person to whom the hand is pointing will receive a $50 gift certificate.

Someone has defined success as, "The ability to make more money to meet obligations you wouldn't have if you didn't have so much money." The best we have been able to figure it out is that it is a circle any way you look at it.

For many years we had lived under the impression that people who lived in East Texas were not as progressive as people who lived in our section of the country. As we drove along in Central Texas last weekend things kept popping up to disprove this theory. There may be some who would say,

SECTION II THE FRIONA STAR

"Well, you just didn't go far enough east."

That may be true, but at least as far as Bryan and College Station, the new buildings that have been erected in the past few years indicated that the builders were modernistic. Two of the buildings which we observed that were ultra modern were the Brazos County Courthouse at Bryan and a church at College Station.

Both of these buildings looked like a picture someone had clipped out of the latest issue of some architectural publication. We didn't go inside either of these buildings, but the exterior was built of brick, steel, and glass, with the brick looking very decorative. The courthouses, when compared to ours, really made ours look its age.

At least two Frionans feel that the statement, "Wherever you go, you will meet someone from Friona," is true. Dr. Loyd Shackelford, who was in Houston last weekend attending a dental convention, and M. C. Osborn, local boy who is a student at A & M and was there on an inspection tour, met while walking down a street. Of course, each was surprised to see the other.

Chiefs Drop Game To Farwell, 13-2; Morton Wins Title

The Friona Chiefs closed out their 1957 baseball season last Friday afternoon, dropping a 13-2 decision to the Farwell Steers and paving the way for Morton to win the District championship.

Prior to the game, Friona and Morton were tied for the league lead, but after the Chiefs bowed to Farwell, Morton defeated the Steers 7-2 Friday to finish on top of the heap.

The Chiefs gave Farwell a 3-0 lead in the first inning and from that point the Steers walked away. Friona batsmen connected for only five hits at the plate and committed numerous errors to give Farwell the win.

Farwell picked up five runs in both the fourth and fifth innings and added one more in the sixth. The Chiefs got one run each in the second and seventh innings.

Friona finished with a 3-3 record for the season to give them a second place tie with Springlake in the district. Morton finished with 4-2 and Farwell was 2-4.

Club Members Display Hobbies

The Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Friona Woman's Club featured a hobby display in addition to the fine arts program. The program was built around the quotation, "He who works with his hands is a laborer. He who works with his hands and head is a craftsman. He who works with his hands and his head and his heart is an artist."—Father Matthew Record.

"Music in Texas" was discussed by Mrs. F. W. Reeve, "Artists of the Southwest" was the topic chosen by Mrs. R. N. Gore, and Jon Reeve sang "Bluebonnets of Texas" accompanied by his grandmother, Mrs. F. W. Reeve, at the piano.

Plans were discussed for the mobile clinic for tuberculosis tests which will be here June 28. The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. W. Dixon and Mrs. W. L. Edelman served as acting secretary. More information on the tuberculosis test will be given later.

The largest crowd ever to attend a band banquet was on hand at the Friona School Cafeteria Saturday night to hear Dr. John Freeman, of the Wayland Music Department. Present were 168 persons, including band students, guests and faculty, reports J. D. Fry, band instructor.

Other than Dr. Freeman's address the program included a vocal solo by Kim Caffey and several numbers by the Trebellaires.

The banquet is an annual affair and it is made possible by the band mothers, Fry says. The instructor expressed his appreciation to the mothers who worked at preparing the feed this year. "Not only did they prepare the banquet, but they have been a big help in other activities all year," Fry says.

C. H. Janeway, field representative for the Station, introduced the director, Dr. T. C. Longnecker, who presented colored slides, handed out literature, and talked of the work done at Renner and being planned on the High Plains.

Dr. Longnecker pointed out that although there are many workers in the field of agricultural research, the Texas Research Foundation is the only one of its kind in that it is financed by private enterprise.

The work was first begun at Renner because of the interest of Dallas business and professional men, who were concerned with the depletion of the Texas Blacklands, once one of America's greatest farming areas.

The director compared the lush Blacklands with the rich Plains irrigated country, and predicted that unless modern and scientific farming practices are maintained, the fertility of the Plains will decline in the same way as did the Blacklands under heavy cropping conditions.

Dr. Longnecker says that Plains farmers have a great opportunity to increase yields with fertilizer, but that he feels much fertilizer is being improperly used at the present time.

In outlining the purposes of a station on the Plains, the ag expert emphasized, "We're not coming here to take over the functions of any state or federal agency—we want to cooperate with those already established in farming research."

The station at Renner pioneered in research work for sesame, which will occupy about 12,000 acres on the Plains this year, and perhaps 2,500 acres in Parmer County.

Also at the Lions meeting, Albert Maxwell of Hereford presented the Boy Scout charter for a new year to the Club, and it was accepted by President Charles Allen.

Allen reported that the Lions ended up making about $620 on the variety show held three weeks ago.

Friona Growers To Try Carrots

A decision made last week by a group of Friona area farmers will be the first major step in Parmer County in two years in the commercial vegetable production outlook.

Owners of Friona Growers and Shippers, which previously had been a shed exclusively for the processing and handling of potatoes, decided to invest an additional $16,000 in equipment to make it possible to handle carrots this year.

Kenneth Neil, manager of the firm, says that the company has purchased a washer, grader, and cello pack unit from the Tri-Pak Machinery Company of Harlingen. The equipment is all-new.

It will be housed in the building now referred to as the potato shed, alongside a siding on Santa Fe trackage in southeastern Friona.

The capacity of the equipment will enable Friona Growers and Shippers to roll out three cars of cello packed carrots per day, "and as many bulk carrots as we can handle."

This equipment will be installed within the next 60 days, and will be ready for use late this summer and fall when the first carrot crops will be coming off.

Roughly 100 laborers will be required to take care of this size operation, Neil says. Forty-five will be needed for work inside the shed, and from 50 to 60 will be needed in the fields as the harvest progresses. Housing for this labor is yet to be built.

Owners of Friona Growers and Shippers are figuring on about 400 acres of carrots to make their operation efficient. They already have decided to grow about 300 acres themselves, and are looking for additional farmers who may want to grow up to another 100 acres. "If anybody wants to grow carrots this year, we're ready to help them do it," says Neil. "We don't have a 'deal' on financing or buying seed or anything like that, but we will help them, and agree to handle and pack the crop."

Neil compares this with the prevailing practice on potato production, which amounts to a custom packing situation.

Sharing the acreage so far are Neil with 30 acres, Hardy May, 50 acres; A. L. Black, 60 acres; J. R. Euler, 30 acres; J. E. Stengall, 20 acres; Roy Botkin, 25 acres; and Kenneth Christi, 25 acres.

Planting time will be from now until July 10 so that the carrots will mature for harvest at different times, and be easier to process, and possibly have better marketing conditions.

Packing operations are expected to continue through December.

Carrots were a "pretty fair" crop in the area last year, reports Neil. They brought about $30 a ton, and the average yield was about eight tons per acre.

Sorghum Research Begun at Halfway

Research on one of Parmer County's major crops — grain sorghum — will start this year at the High Plains Research Station at Halfway, it was announced this week.

Elbert Harp, secretary-treasurer of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association, in presenting a $3,000 check to the High Plains Station said, "We appreciate the opportunity offered by this station to have grain sorghum studies carried on under our own soil, moisture and climatic conditions, and are glad to support it with our funds. Research is one phase of the activities of the Association."

R. G. Peeler, Hereford, president of the Association which includes grain sorghum producers throughout the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico, said, "We are glad our Association was among the first to urge the establishment of the High Plains Station. Research conducted here will be of benefit to all grain sorghum producing areas. We are expecting large numbers of visitors not only from the High Plains, but also from 300 to 400 miles around to come to the station to observe and study the experiments."

Grain sorghum research will include fertilizer with time, rate and method of application, and irrigation studies. The crop research will include 49 varieties in four row plots 100 feet long replicated four times and 101 experimental strains for observation in single row plots. In addition, the general crop will consist of large acreages of several different varieties.

Peeler said, "The Association hopes to be able to furnish support for additional research on problems of grain sorghum production, consumption and marketing."

Over 50 per cent of veterinary calls on dairy farms in one state with large numbers of dairy cattle last year were for noninfectious diseases such as ketosis, breeding problems, retained fetal membranes, weak calves, traumatic gastritis and bloat. Many of these problems could be prevented by better feeds and feeding methods.

Kaltwasser Says We Need Choice In Referendum

Gilbert Kaltwasser, president of Parmer County Farm Bureau, presents the following report on the cotton production and marketing situation "for the consideration of everyone interested in the future of cotton."

Acting on recommendations of a special conference of cotton state Farm Bureau leaders, the American Farm Bureau board called a series of four area meetings in the cotton belt to consider the possibility of offering producers a choice of alternate programs in the referendum to be held this fall on marketing quotas for the 1958 crop.

Under the present law, if producers vote for quotas, they get a price support of 75 percent to 90 percent of parity. If they vote against quotas, they get price support of 50 percent of parity. No matter how the grower votes, he will be subjected to acreage limitations. Producers have no real choice under the present law except to settle the rather foolish question of whether he prefers a minimum support price of 50 percent or 75 percent of parity for the same limited production.

If cotton producers are given a choice of alternate programs, one of them will almost certainly be the program that is now authorized by law. For 1958, this means a national allotment of about 17.6 million acres and a price support of 75 percent to 90 percent of parity, with a probability that the actual support level may be around 85 percent.

As an alternative, producers might be offered increased acreage allotments with a slightly lower level of price support.

At competitive prices, we should be able to market at least 14 million bales in 1957 and 1958, and again in 1959. If this much cotton can be marketed, then it might be practical to raise the national allotment from 17.6 million acres to 21 million acres for 1958.

It is estimated that under the proposed alternate program the support level should be reduced at the rate of one percent of parity for each two percent of increase in the national allotment above 17.6 million acres in 1958, as shown below:

Price Support Middling 1" Basis
17.6 million acres 34.48 per pound
18.94 million acres 33.01 per pound
21.33 million acres 30.82 per pound

A referendum such as this would give the producer a real choice. He could vote for a program with emphasis on cutting acreage to maintain a unit price, or he could vote to maintain volume at a slightly lower unit price, building marketing by making cotton competitive with man-made fibers and foreign cotton production.

If congress will give the cotton producer a reasonable choice in the fall referendum, the farmer himself can vote on a program that will help decide whether domestic and foreign outlets for U. S. cotton will shrink to less than ten million bales, or expand in the direction of a 16 to 18 million bale total within the next ten years.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Now that planting time is upon us and many of the farmers in the Parmer County Soil Conservation District already have planted cotton, it seems wise to begin now to make plans for irrigating these fields.

Generally, in the summers, runs cannot be as long as they were for pre-irrigation without a considerably greater water loss to evaporation. Watering time also should be decreased for greater efficiency from seepage.

How can we do this? We all realize that one field will not water the same as another, thus we must look at each field separately for the maximum results. Some ways to accomplish greater efficiency in the use of water are to shorten length of runs so water will not be held on the land over 20 hours on our tighter soils and 8 to 12 hours on our sandy soils.

Also, we may need to cut our furrow stream size down on our tight land. This can be done by using smaller tubes, spreading water out over a wider area, though shorter in length, and get the same number of acres watered with much less wasted water.

As we have already stated, each field will need to be considered individually. For assistance on your irrigation problems, contact your local district supervisor or drop by the Soil Conservation Service office in Friona.

New cooperators with the District are Bert Williams of Farwell and A. L. Bolton of Oklahoma Lane.

We have noticed that there is a large amount of tail water going down the barrow ditches in the area where most of the wells are six inches or smaller. A known fact is that there is not enough water in this area anyway, so why let it water the barrow ditches? Wouldn't it be more profitable to put it in the ground for crop production? All it can do in the barrow ditch is grow weeds and insects.

Plan "One Price"

A one-price cotton legislative program proposed by the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. won industry-wide support from representatives attending a meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, recently, James Mabry, Parmer County director of the PCG, has reported.

Geo. W. Pfeifferberger, executive vice-president of the PCG, attended the meeting as did representatives from the American Cotton Producers Association, The American Cotton Manufacturers Institute, National Cottonseed Crushers Assn., National Compress and Warehouse Association, and the New York, New Orleans and Memphis cotton exchanges.

Six producer groups earlier had met and drafted the program. These included the Louisiana Council, Mississippi Delta Council, Tennessee Agricultural Council, Arkansas Agricultural Council, Missouri Cotton Producers Association, and the PCG.

Representatives of the industry-wide meeting this week are presenting the revised program to their individual groups for approval. After another industry-wide meeting of all segments of the industry the ACPA hopes to present the program to congress, sometime next month.

Pfeifferberger listed the long range program containing these points:

1. Cotton to seek its own competitive price level, both domestic and abroad.
2. Protect producers income through (a) Acreage increase, (b) Compliance payments.
3. Loan program at a stated percentage under world price for orderly marketing.
4. Continue production controls to prevent huge surpluses from again accumulating.
5. Revision to be made in Soil Bank Act to provide a cotton acreage reserve option whereby individual cotton farmers could elect to participate in the acreage reserve section with increased rates of payment as now provided, or receive additional cotton acreage. Farmers who elect to receive additional cotton acreage would not be permitted to place cotton acreage in soil bank.
6. Intensified research and quality improvement programs as absolutely essential parts of any long term program.
7. We oppose any limitation of participation within the framework of any farm program.
8. We oppose any form of cross-compliance or of total farm compliance in any program.
9. We continue to urge passage of the Smith bill or textile labeling act.
10. Producer objectives are to make United States cottons competitive. All segments between the producer and the mill are urged to work towards optimum efficiency and economy to stabilize charges.
11. The influx of cheap foreign textiles would seriously disrupt American mills. We urge their curtailment thru either import quotas or agreements.

"I understand your husband has been ill. What's he doing for his condition?"

"Well, his doctor prescribed a shot of rye whiskey and two aspirins every four hours."

"Oh, really, how is he?"

"Ten weeks behind on the aspirin and two years ahead on the rye."

Mosquito Control Studied

The countywide meeting in the interest of the control of mosquitoes at the Friona High School auditorium Monday evening was well attended. Dr. Paul L. Spring, county health officer, spoke and Friona Superintendent Dillie M. Kelley showed two educational films.

Representatives were present from every religious, civic, cultural, and educational group in the county. HD Agent Jimmie Lou Wainscott presided over the meeting, and offered the cooperation of the 11 home demonstration clubs in the county.

Plans are being made for each community to work out its own campaign for the elimination of breeding places for mosquitoes. A study will be made concerning the most practical method of controlling the insect on a large scale basis.

Dr. Spring pointed out that August and September are the peak months for sleeping sickness. He also stressed the importance of control measures before an epidemic occurs. Statistics on the increase of the disease in Texas were given by Dr. Spring and a list of suggestions offered by the State Department of Health was read.

Says Dr. Spring, "I will be more than glad to assist in any way possible in the problem of mosquito control, and until a vaccine is developed for encephalitis, this is the best we can do."

It may have ruffled his feelings in the armed forces, but a salesman likes to hear it in peace time: "That's an order."

Continuing Rains Green Up Pastures

Recent rains over this part of the High Plains have greened up pastures considerably, and this week Joe Jones, Parmer County agent, made a report on grass conditions in this respect.

Jones says the grass is responding, "but in too many instances, we see broken turf and a lot of the green showing up is weeds that have invaded our range land. This has been caused by over grazing during the drouth."

He adds, "Anyone living here through the drouth years can understand how and why abuse of our range land has occurred. The important thing now is to give the native grasses a chance to recover."

Jones says that once that is done, the native grasses will crowd out the weeds and return to their once productive state. To enable the desirable grasses to do this job, proper management practices must be followed.

"The one most important thing that can be done is to let ranges rest during the season rains are most likely to occur, to give the grasses a chance to develop their root systems and make seed.

"This," admits the county agent, "is always a hard thing to do when grazing is needed so badly, but one month's rest during a favorable growing season can do more than resting range land during the entire winter months when grass isn't growing anyway."

The best time to rest range land is during a period when desirable grasses will have the most favorable growing conditions. One thing that might help farmers and ranchers do this would be providing temporary pasture such as sudan pasture so livestock can be kept off native grass during the growing season as much as possible. Mowing spots where weeds are heavy will also help conserve moisture and help grasses get started again.

"Don't expect your range land to make a very satisfactory recovery from the effect of over grazing and drouth if the grass is eaten off as soon as it greens up. If you cannot defer grazing on all your pasture land perhaps you can select a portion of it and let it rest during this spring and summer. Just keep in mind the one most important thing is to defer your range land during the favorable growing season if you expect much improvement in range condition. When we speak of deferred grazing we mean defer during the growing season and not during the months when the grass will be dormant anyway," is Jones' emphatic point.

THE PARMER FARMER

An interesting person to pass the time of day with is Kenneth Neil, who with several others, has bought the Friona potato shed, and now is making plans for getting into the carrot business on a pretty good scale.

Kenneth has done what most farmers only talk about doing, and that is getting out on the highways and bidways and searching out markets for his crops.

We suspect that instead of going fishing, a farmer like Kenneth is usually occupied with making plans for the coming year and what it might mean in the way of vegetable sales. At least, that's our impression.

Kenneth and John O'Haugherty (who'll be their vegetable salesman this year) took a flying trip a couple of weeks ago to get first-hand information on what's ahead.

They made calls at Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Beaumont, Lake Charles, New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Alexandria, Shreveport, and Dallas and Fort Worth—as formidable a list of stops as we've ever seen on any traveling salesman's itinerary.

The two men called on vegetable brokers, supermarket chain managers, and other large buyers of truck produce. It was a very educational trip, Kenneth says, and helped the area men to understand a lot about the vegetable business.

In such a fast-moving, "dog-eat-dog" business as the vegetable industry, it is a fairly common notion that the industry is full of big shots who, with their millions in buying power, carry a lot of weight at the bargaining table. Kenneth says they didn't run into any of these big shots. In fact, he says he was surprised to find that most of the buyers were just "country boys," like you and me, trying to get along and make a living.

Kenneth says he has always felt that farmers have to work hard for what they make, but he has found some other people who have to hit a few licks, too.

Those people are the vegetable brokers, who are down to the market by 4 o'clock every morning, scrapping with one another. There aren't any friends in this kind of trading, and it's every man for himself.

This is the touted Americanized brand of pressurized living at its ultimate. We bet that heart failures and stomach ulcers are the rule rather than the exception among these fellows.

HD Show Success

The HD Silver Tea and style show, which was held at the Friona Club House Friday, was well attended. Representatives were present from each of the home demonstration clubs in the county.

Several visitors were also present. Hostesses were members of the HD Council of Parmer County.

In addition to the style show in which persons who had completed the advanced tailoring class modeled garments they had made, there were displays of handwork done by members of the different clubs. Some of the displays included Dresden painting, children's garments, copper paintings and the making of tiered candy dishes.

Those who modeled were Doris Hall, Mildred Mingus, Emma Elmore, Cherry Mingus, Dorothy Bauer, Ona Patterson, Blanche Woody, Billie Long, Genny Bingham, Mildred Walters, Sarah Dean, Olive Massie, Lois Whitaker, Pat Spring, Jerry Bernard, Lauretta Brookfield, Vuthil Loafman, Gertrude Renner, and Tress Tannahill.

Also, Neoma Oldham, Mary Gibson and daughter, Jean Cox, Sue Smith, Glindeen Bailey, Lois Latham, Helen Potts, Altha Presley, Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Elizabeth Kaltwasser, Katherine White, Velma Magness, Gladys Kaltwasser, Elzada Gully, Dixie Johnson, Mrs. Stone and Mrs. Allen Bingham.

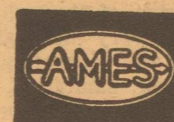

Refreshments of eclairs and punch were served. The centerpiece was formed of three rows of pink and white carnations. Spring flowers were used as decorations on the mantel.

Mr. Businessman, when sales don't add up, it may be time to up the ads.

Mr. Businessman, advertise and discover for yourself how good business really is.

Farmers Considering Sorghum Almum

Sorghum almum, a highly publicized grass that is a natural cross of sudan and Johnson grass, appears due for some acreage in Parmer County this year.

Only three or four farmers tried the grass out last year — producing it for seed purposes — but it appears that more than a handful may give it a whirl in 1957.

A big demand for the grass, which is billed as a drought-resistant plant, has driven the price of the seed to a high level, but to those who plan to grow the grass for seed again this year, County Agent Joe Jones warns, "Don't look for the seed to be as high this year as it was last year."

Sorghum almum was first described in literature from Argentina where according to available evidence, it originated as a hybrid between Johnson grass and a sorghum. In Argentina it is known as sorgo negro, sudan negro and sorghum almum and as Columbus grass in South Africa. It has been introduced into the United States from Argentina, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Nigeria and Algeria. It has been grown on the Chillicothe and Lubbock Experiment Stations for about 12 years.

E. M. Trew, extension agronomist, describes sorghum almum as a perennial very similar to Johnson grass in appearance. Generally it produces wider leaves, larger stems, longer and more spreading heads and usually grows taller than Johnson and sudan grasses. The underground stems or rhizomes are short, thick and turn up close to the crown.

New growth comes primarily from buds at nodes or joints just above the ground with relatively few new shoots coming from rhizomes. It is not uniform and the types vary as to stalk size and height, leafiness and degree of tillering. The stalk, generally, is pithy and non-sweet.

The seed shatter when mature.

They generally are larger than those of Johnsongrass but seed coverings of both grasses are the same color and shape. Sorghum almum does not appear to cross readily with sudan grass and other cultivated sorghums but some types apparently cross freely with Johnson grass.

In clipping tests at Denton, Temple and in the Brazos River Bottom near College Station, it produced about the same or slightly more hay than did sweet and common sudan grass. Greater yield differences, based on observations, have been reported from the Rolling Plains area. On the lighter soils of that area, it seems to be more drought tolerant than either Johnson or sudan grass.

Trew observes that best use of the grass appears to be for grazing purposes and perhaps soil conservation. Nutritive value should be about the same as for Johnson and sudan grasses. It has survived the winter and acted as a perennial in the Rolling Plains area since 1854 but has winter killed some years at the Lubbock Experiment Station.

The specialist says the grass should be planted in 36 to 42-inch rows on a seedbed prepared as for sudan or grain sorghum. Row planting permits cultivating for weed control. He suggests using three to five pounds of seed an acre to insure a good stand and small stalk size. Planting depths of one to two inches are suggested.

Fertilizer should be applied at or before planting time wherever needed. And Trew advises a soil test for determining this need.

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

We have put in several enjoyable hours the past few days reading in a book entitled, "Practical Home Economics." On the front cover the following notation has been made: "For member's use only." There are so many things in it that are interesting that it is difficult to find a stopping place.

The book was published about 30 years ago and in addition to recipes, it contains numerous suggestions on homemaking. The first paragraph in the preface reads, "A home properly kept now-a-days must be on a scientific, economical, and good business basis. The home-keeper must adopt the new ways of doing things in order to live most comfortably on the least amount of money." The expression "home-keeper" was one we had never heard used.

Some of the subjects which are given very thorough treatment are interior decorating, home budget system, sanitation, buying, how to read meters, proper food for children, the fine art of cookery, and entertaining.

All of the recipes for yeast breads and rolls call for "everlasting" yeast. If we had a recipe for making this type yeast, we would make some of the rolls for which recipes are given. Do some of you readers know how to make "everlasting" yeast? If so, we would surely appreciate receiving a recipe.

One of the recipes is for "Drop Dumplings" and is very similar to present day recipes. The ingredients are 2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons baking powder, and 1 scant cup milk. Mix the flour, salt and baking powder; stir in the milk and drop the batter by spoonfuls into the boiling stew. Cover and cook ten minutes. If the container isn't covered, the dumplings will have a tendency to toughen.

Several paragraphs were devoted to the cooking of terrapins, frogs, squirrels, and other things that most of us never think of cooking. A lot of the recipes for cakes, and candy look very interesting. After we have tried some of them out, we will pass them along with our opinion of them.

When preparing deviled eggs, the left over fillings may be spread between crackers and used as an in between meal snack for children.

In an article we read recently the author stated that the reason so many homemakers were overweight was that so many chores were done by electricity. In the writer's opinion, homemakers become overweight because of idleness.

If that be true, and it may be, perhaps some of us should get busy and take up some hobby that will lead us to exerting more energy. Of all the household chores which we are called upon to do, ironing is rated as the highest consumer of energy and is one of the least liked.

If not, why not? A lot of it is seen growing along the roadsides this time of year and it compares favorably with spinach, mustard and other garden grown greens.

The homemakers of the county who took part in the THDA style show at the club house Thursday afternoon are certainly to be congratulated on their dress making ability. Some of the very latest styles, materials, and color combinations were on display and a large number of homemakers participated in the show.

Check Labels For Washability
Much of the success or failure in laundering synthetic fibers lies in following directions given by manufacturers, extension clothing specialists remind us. Read your label carefully before buying if you want to be sure you can launder the fabric at home. Follow directions given. Your label may say something like this:

"Hand wash." Specific directions may be given. In this case, the fabric cannot be handled carelessly or washed in a tub with strong soap and very hot water.

"Wash at home or in commercial laundry with careful methods."

"Can be washed in commercial laundry with ordinary methods."

"Color fast." Homemakers should be able to wash this with regular laundry if she is sure of the reputation of her dealer and manufacturer.

Labels should tell you what the fabric is, how to handle it, and what you can expect from it in the way of service. Look for a good descriptive label when you buy.

Home Care of Uncooked Chicken
May be bringing a good supply of broilers and fryers to market. Housewives can look for low prices.

Uncooked chicken needs to be carefully refrigerated and stored to guard against spoilage, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists.

Buy fresh chickens only from markets where it is carefully handled and held under ice or refrigeration. Get it home and into the refrigerator as soon as you can. If you buy dressed chickens, draw it and clean giblets promptly. You can expect fresh chickens placed in a refrigerator just below the freezing unit (35-40 degrees) to keep for two or three days. Giblets will keep one or more days if you place them near the freezing compartment. Cover loosely with waxed paper or aluminum foil before storing in refrigerator.

Frozen chicken keeps well for six to 12 months stored at zero temperature—at higher temperatures, enzymes become active and hasten the development of off flavor and color. In the ice cube or freezer section of a refrigerator (15-20 degrees) frozen chicken may keep two to four weeks.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU
By RAYMOND EULER

Kenneth Rudd, director, and Ed Dzuick, president of Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau, were in attendance at PCFB's regular directors meeting a week ago last Monday night. Your directors are always glad to have visitors from anywhere attend their meetings on the first Monday night of each month in the Farm Bureau office in Friona. You will not be requested to keep quiet, but will be asked to say whatever you may desire to say regarding farm problems or relative problems.

The cotton meetings held at Lazbuddie, Bovina and Friona were pretty well attended, and interest was shown in the facts presented by the Cotton Council representatives. Gilbert Kaltwasser is submitting a report regarding these problems and possible solutions to Parmer County newspapers. We believe you will find it good reading.

The weed committee met last week to complete plans for a county survey of bindweed plots in Parmer County. The ASO office staff is cooperating in this survey, with Farm Bureau furnishing necessary postage for return information that is not allowable from ASC. Chairman Raymond Schueler and his committee are hopeful that the majority of these plots will be treated this season. Donald Christian and Billy Joe Foster were the boys who brought bedding for the recent stock show. The truck and labor were their contributions to the success of the show, as co-workers with Farm Bureau. The Fair Association pays for the bedding.

The Grain Dealers Association which met in Amarillo a week or so ago was good on some points. One resolution they voted on causes us to question their interest in their farmer benefactors, however. They voted to request the redemption date of farm-stored grains to be changed to coincide with that of commercial warehouses "because farmers are able to hold their grain until commercial warehouses have had to turn their commodities to CCC and the farmer is thus able to get better prices for his farm-stored commodities on the free market." Though there is some question about this supposition, we thought the program was instituted for the benefit of producers rather than warehouse men.

ELECTRIC COOKING IS AS CLEAN AS A PIECE OF Copper Wire!

You've seen a shining piece of smooth copper wire. It looks so clean and, of course, electric cooking is just as clean. For shining copper wires bring the power to run your electric range. There's simply no way for dirt to be carried into your beautiful electric range. And the range itself . . . so clean to use. Electric elements clean themselves and drip pans wash easy as a saucer. Ask your neighbor about the cleanliness of electric cooking . . . she'll agree — it's as clean as a piece of shining copper wire.
