

Well, Howdy Do To The Home Folks

Glendale, Ariz., Oct. 7 — This finds us in the home of two of the relatives, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Smith, Mrs. Smith being a sister of Mrs. Stricklin, and also Walter Holden, a brother of Mrs. Stricklin. Most of yesterday was spent in seeing the sights of the Salt River valley irrigated area, which is an eye opener itself and alone deserves an article, which will be forthcoming. This one will be confined to the trip to Coolidge, Ariz.

We left our fine little home city Thursday, about 11 a. m., just in time to get out of the grind of press day, and hit the breeze toward Roswell, where we lunched not too late after adopting New Mexico time. We found the grass making wonderful progress between Brownfield and Roswell, but cattle seems to be scarce. We imagine many of them were shipped out prior to the rains in August, but what we saw along the road, including sheep seem to be doing fine. Most of the young stuff is fat.

The old Chevy with the new motor sang a nice song and carried us along at a rapid rate, and we were at Hollywood Junction of Ruidoso before we hardly realized it. And here we had our first experience of the kind. We presented our courtesy card, and the lady in charge stated that they took them but she could not make out the triple receipt. We had to do it, as the daughter was away. We also had to make one out for a man at Tuscon. So you ladies need not feel hurt, and think you are the molen sex.

Got into Deming, N. M., about good dark, and found the last vacancy awaiting us at a real new and ultra modern court, the Coronado, and run by a fine Texas young man and wife from Del Rio. Folks, if you have to stop in Deming, don't fail to get a bunk at the Coronado if at all possible. At this time of year, nice cabins are easy to get, and contrary to expectations, winter is the hardest time, according to operators, we suppose on account of weather getting a bit unfavorable to sleep outside. New Mexico and Arizona certainly are blessed with a variety and a lot of tourists courts, ranging from the cheapest to many that compare favorably with hotel rooms, and are much more desirable due to the fact that there is no riot with a bunch of flunkies expecting a dollar tip to carry your razor strop, when checking out.

Had lunch in a nice drive-in cafe at Tucson, well served and well cooked, and so on to Coolidge. Yep, Coolidge was named for Pres. Silent Calvin Coolidge. So is the dam across Gila river. Many of the more elderly will remember the official opening of the dam while Cal was president, and what the late Will Rogers had to say about the affair. What other correspondents had to say has long been forgotten, but Will's description still persists. It seems that it was a hot day, typical of Arizona weather, and Cal had to don Indian regalia, bonnet and all, and smoke the peace pipe with the chief. The pipe had long needed a cleaning and the "bacca" was strong. Will relates that Cal took a few puffs, frowned and said nothing but probably thought a lot.

Arrived in Coolidge early afternoon, at the home of the wife's brother, Cleve Holden. Cleve had a 50 feet front store of furniture, new and used, and seems to be doing well as cotton picking is opening up, and we think he sold some 25 or 30 mattresses Saturday, as well as a lot of other stuff. Cleve says the white population is made up of about one-third Texans and two-thirds Okies. Then there is a big Mexican population, very congenial, a few negroes from Texas mostly who give no trouble. But the headache, according to Cleve is the bus loads of Indians that come in Saturdays from a nearby reservation.

The late Saturday night show is loading in drunken Indians, some being helpless. Cleve says the saloons are not allowed to sell them liquor, but bootleggers slip it to them, and they have to drink it so fast before a "law" sees them, that two to four in a huddle will consume a quart in minutes, and they go out like kittens in the sunshine. Cleve has always been rather noted for his liberalism about liquor.

Sewerage Extensions Planned For City

Municipalities have headaches as well as individuals. The City has been as hard put in getting materials for improvements as others, perhaps more so, because they require such a large quantity.

They have heard the clamour, and know the dire need, for extending the sewerage system to the extreme southwest, north and northeast parts of town, and now new and rapidly settling additions in the east and south portions are demanding it. They have recently had engineers to make preliminary surveys, and expect a report on the needs, quantity and cost soon. It is believed however, that it will take practically a new main from the disposal plant, for these extensions, as the present one is hardly adequate, and too, the grade is a big item.

It is contemplated to run the new main along the draw, to accommodate the south side, and extreme west side, thence through the north side and reach all those in the Cordill addition in the vicinity of the football field. To run a main direct across would require a ditch over twenty feet deep through the east part of town. The southeast additions can easily be attached onto the old mains.

While the cost has not been estimated by the engineers, it is expected to reach near one hundred thousand dollars. But the residents of these districts insist, and rightly too, on this service. City authorities are working hard on the project; it is a big job and takes time, but they assure us they will accomplish it just as soon as materials can be obtained.

Lions Carnival Here Well Attended

The Annual Carnival, sponsored by the Lions Club, opened last night on the usual grounds, east side of square. C. Rainey, who lives here, owns and operates the Ferris wheel, Kiddie auto, and other rides, has been on a successful circuit elsewhere all summer. Many other games and attractions are run by the Lions. Boxing matches will be nightly features, and a free-for-all boxing match, among colored boys, will be staged Saturday evening and night.

The funds derived from this project will be used by the Lions in benevolent purposes in this town and county.

The City Council meets today, and will fix the tax rate for the ensuing year. This is of some interest to property owners, as the recent Board of Equalization tended to raise valuations, as well as adding much new property.

He never did drink much, none now, but we believe if he could get enough guys out at Coolidge from the south Plains, he would put on a prohibition election. Three saloons and any number of beer dispensaries in the little city of some 3,000. They even serve beer over the fountain in the drug stores. We didn't wait for the Indians to get to town before leaving for Glendale, but we saw no one the least intoxicated.

Speaking of saloons, Cleve (short for Grover Cleveland) Holden, pointed out to us a half block away, Mr. Craig that opened and ran the only saloon that ever existed in Brownfield, back about 1904-06. We aim to have a chat with Mr. Craig when we come back through. Many of the oldsters will remember him, fellow like Dick Brownfield, Brit Claire, etc., whether they drank any of his liquor or not. He is now in his 80ties, very white headed, and so far as we know has nothing to do with liquor dispensations. But what Mr. Craig tells us, and Cleve says he's talkative enough when started, will probably be interesting to old timers at least. Saloons had been voted out of Brownfield about two years before we came there in 1909.

We visited another very interesting place while at Coolidge, the Casa Grande. That place, now a national park, was built by an extinct tribe of Indians some 600 years ago, and this too, will require an article of itself. It is well worth stopping to see if you are passing that way.

Area To Receive $415,000 REA Extensions

Word was received here Friday that the Washington REA office had approved of $415,000 to be used by the Lyntegar REA Cooperative for the construction of lines, etc., in its territory. Lyntegar's territory embraces the counties of Lynn, Terry, Garza, Martin, Hockley, Dawson, Borden and Yoakum. It has not as yet been determined what part of this sum will be used in this county.

Plans call for the construction of a power sub-station near Brownfield, possibly southwest of town.

Mayor And Group Return From North

Mayor Frank Jordan, with Councilman C. J. Smith and Fire Commissioner Eunice Jones, returned Wednesday from Buffalo, N. Y., where they inspected engines for the power plant here. They reported some that operate by natural gas. They did not buy any, as it takes from one to three years after ordering to get delivery. They found the sewer and water piping, transformers, meters, etc., situation easing up, and expect ample supply in the next few months.

They observed that everyone was at work there, and production climbing, but understood they are exporting so much machinery to Europe, for better prices, greatly retarding home supplies.

We have never pretended being anything other than just a simple country boy. Even the thoughts of leaving our little city and making a trip to Lubbock scares us up a bit. So, perhaps we are expecting too much of ourself when we try to fathom the reasoning, judgement and opinions of some of our so-called mental giants. Seldom a day passes that one or the other does not nab a microphone or corner a helpless reporter and proceed to tell the whole world that the atomic bomb must be outlawed in order to secure permanent peace. Now they don't even have to tell us how they propose to outlaw the thing. Ours is a much simpler question than that. All we want to know is: WHY will outlawing the atomic bomb secure or insure permanent and lasting peace? Those fellows have of late all too frequently fallen into the habit of issuing a statement without bothering to back it up with a little proof or even some reasons. Perhaps they forget we are not all mental giants and the truth is not as readily apparent to us as it is to them. Fact of the matter is, all the time, we thought the atomic bomb ended the only war it was ever used in instead of starting it—and we suppose quite a few erst-while citizens of the former cities of Nagasaki and Hiroshima were duped in to thinking the same thing. We also thought that all wars prior to the last one were fought without the aid of the atomic bomb, but perhaps we were wrong. Something caused them. Another thing that has been bothering us for a long time—ever since the use of poison gas in war was abolished, to be exact—is this: If poison gas can be abolished, if poison bullets can be abolished, and now, if the atomic bomb can be outlawed, then why can't we do the simple thing and outlaw war? Or is that too simple?

One outstanding characteristic of the New Deal is that once it gains control of anything under the guise of an emergency measure it is very reluctant about relinquishing that control even after the emergency has passed. At a recent press conference, President Truman gave the following reason for retaining meat control, hopefully expecting the people to accept it as the law and gospel: "In July and August when there was no price control on meat, meat was abundant. Now there is price control and meat is short. It is natural, therefore, for the people to blame the shortage on price control. This line of reasoning is wholly wrong." The President went on to explain that the reason for the current shortage was the tremendous slaughter in July and August, when OPA was temporarily suspended and cattlemen sold their stock in order to take advantage of soaring prices. "Many of these cattle would normally have been fed to heavier weights," the President declared, "and come to market during September and October instead of August. Whether price control had been restored or not the glut of meat in summer was bound to mean a shortage in the fall." The President failed to speculate on whether or not the so-called "glut" might also have been caused by the knowledge that OPA was going to clamp down again in September and the "glut" might not have developed to so great an extent if this had not been the case. Thousands of Americans, who had little less difficulty in finding meat during the months of July and August than in any other month under OPA, would no doubt like to have the President's definition of the word "glut."

THIS STRIKE MET WITH FAVOR . . . No need for these students to wish that the school house would burn down. The teachers at Norwalk, Conn., went on strike. No teachers, no school. Vacation days can begin again. Here Rudy Baxa, custodian Norwalk Center Junior high school, tells the students to go home. Bone of contention for the teachers is that $90,112 be added to the $813,000 school budget for pay raises for the 236 teachers. This is one strike where those who are concerned are willing that it be continued for some time.

This week, a representative from one of our neighboring schools came in to our shop and asked for the price on a number of report cards. We gave him what we considered a fair price on them. In fact, since we try to go out of our way to accommodate the schools of our county, we shaved about three dollars off the price set down in the Franklin Printing Catalogue which is compiled by experts in estimating printing costs. It turned out that our price was still higher than what the cards had previously been printed for by a Lubbock firm, and he decided to let them print it again. We assume the sample handed us had been printed by the Lubbock concern. It was on very shoddy card stock and was of such poor quality that it would have made Gutenberg ashamed that he ever invented the art of printing. Why he did not take these things into consideration is no concern of ours, but we are sure that he would consider us very unfair and narrow minded if we recommended that he submit his regularly requested free publicity to the same firm that does his printing.

A big government plant in the Panhandle has been put back into operation after several months' layoff during which time many hundred men were discharged and left for other fields. Many parts of the plant were dismantled and the stuff given away, or sold for a small part of the original cost. Now the government is at the expense of getting the plant back into operation—why? To make fertilizer which will be given to foreign nations. We shall never receive a dime for all of the fertilizer. And these nations will be back into production in a few years producing food and goods at prices far below the cost of production in the United States. That is the reason you had better hang onto some of this "soft" money and put it where you can use it to carry you through the next depression. Since Wallace promised continued prosperity to everyone—and got fired for blabbing—no one in Washington will be able to stave off the coming depression for long. Judging the rate at which we are rushing toward national bankruptcy we will wake up one of these days with a terrible headache. And this is no joke either.—Canyon News.

Strike—At Whom?

Financial reports make interesting reading to people who know even a little bit about what they mean. To some, they look drab because they are printed mainly in figures; many students never have learned to enjoy studying figures. Just the same, dull old numerals tell the truth in a romantic way to those who love cold facts of struggle and adventure.

Late in May it was my good fortune to have with me an annual report of one of America's largest corporations when I had to spend three hours on a day train. In the back of my mind as I rode along, was a lurking fear that I might reach home a day (maybe a week) late because of labor troubles, just then coiling to strike. My dread threw a bright light on the figures in hand.

Division of Wealth
The company about which I was reading plays an important part in the lives of more than a quarter of a million people: 100,000 employees and 150,000 stockholders. Two out of every five of these people drew wages while three out of five received dividends. The average share owner got less than $500 a year. The average employee took home more than $2,500 a year.

Daily newspapers for days had reported threats of strikes in the plants of the firm I was studying, also on the lines of the railroad I was riding, and in many other industries. Question: If all the employees of all the companies strike for what they want and get it, who will pay the difference? How will they pay it? These questions have answers and they're not secrets.

Enter Apple Conductor
The train stopped for a few minutes under the sheds of a big town station and a railway newsboy came through with fresh afternoon papers. On page one, under Washington date-line, a wire story told how OPA would grant higher prices on automobiles. Nearby was another item about a 10% boost in shoe prices. Then I remembered that bread and milk and meat all had gone up recently.

Whether you ride or walk or only eat, the price gains catch you. Wages are inside the cost of every manufactured thing, and the consumer pays. It is too obvious to deserve proof. Not long ago officialdom was sounding off freely about how wages in Detroit could be boosted without charging higher prices for automobiles but it didn't work out that way. Why?

Strikes Are Weapons
It is because strikes are not tools. The official theory was right: Wages can go up without boosting prices but production has to be increased if it happens, and strikes don't increase production. Sudden wage increases of 18% to 30% have to come from somewhere, but where? A stockholder drawing $500 a year can't offer much of a boon to a $2,300 wage earner.

Strikes can't take something from the owners of a company that the owners don't get. That leaves nobody to pay the higher wages but Mr. Consumer whose family drives the car, wears the shoes and eats the food. A large majority of consumers are themselves workers. In the absence of increased production, a strike is a boomerang. It hits the consumer who is the worker himself.

The Texas Safety Association reminds you during this Fire Prevention Week: Don't be haphazard with fire hazards! Break those matches to be sure they are out, and stomp out those glowing cigarette ashes. Remember, a little burning is a dangerous thing. Be fire-sighted!

This week is the anniversary of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. Probably you don't have Mrs. O'Leary's cow in the garage but are you sure you don't have any fire hazards in the house? Have you had your heating apparatus cleaned and checked recently? Are your electrical appliances in good repair? Do you always keep cigarette trays handy? The Texas Safety Association says good housekeeping is one of the first steps in fire prevention.

Local Vets Purchase Vehicles

Fort Worth (Special) — Three Brownfield veterans, Fred C. Coston, 310 E. Broadway, John H. Haynes, 315 E. Hill St., and T. O. Miller, Route 3, were listed among the successful purchasers at a two day sale of surplus used motor vehicles conducted by War Assets Administration at Camp Hood.

Coston was successful in his quest for a jeep, being awarded a 1942 Ford jeep for $443.00, while Haynes, holder of a certificate for a truck was awarded a 1941 1 1/2 ton Ford cargo Truck for $401 and Miller purchased a 1941 1 1/2 ton truck for $505.

The sale, which was exclusively for ex-servicemen who held certificates from WAA for motor vehicles, resulted in the disposal of 369 vehicles recently declared surplus to the needs of the army at Camp Hood. All vehicles were sold at fixed prices in accordance with their used condition and the sale was the largest and most successful from the veteran's standpoint of any held by WAA since early Spring when there were far more surplus vehicles available for veterans to buy.

Prof. Gene Anderson, whose home is at Big Spring, but recently out of McMurry College of Abilene, has taken the place in the school here, of Prof. Martin, resigned.

General Sanitation

Three important sanitation problems are in need of special attention at this time, according to Walter Breedlove, Public Health Engineer, South Plains Health Unit. These special problems are milk, water and fly control, any one of which may prevent the spread of disease if proper correction work is done now.

The story of the person who drank milk from untested cows or without consideration to disease has become well known as told by many people when they realized they were victims of undulant fever. It is now known that many people are drinking milk from individually owned cows known to be infected with Bangs and without regard to their personal safety. Special attention has been given this problem in the dairy herds whose owners sell milk in the cities of our area.

During this season of heavy rains our people in the rural areas are warned to be sure that their wells are correctly sealed at the ground surface so that insects and the flood waters cannot enter. It has been found by survey that more than 90 percent of individual wells where the clamp block is used on the drop pipe the opening permits the entrance of insects and drip water which may carry contamination into the well. Unless the well top is water tight it is unsafe.

Another application of D. D. T. to houses inside and out, to all stock lots, out houses, barns and garbage areas together with a thorough cleaning will greatly reduce the number of flies which may be expected if these precautions are not taken, and since polio and other communicable diseases may be prevalent for at least two

RURAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN

The Fiftieth Legislature will be asked by the Texas Centennial of Statehood Commission to provide an appropriation to make the proposed "Texas Rural Development Commission" an actuality.

Under the able guidance of Dr. Ide P. Trotter of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, and other gentlemen who are either technicians or specialists in some phase of agriculture, the long time program and the plan for its implementation have been documented and approved by the board of directors of the Statehood Commission of which Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas is chairman. Suggestions are constantly sought from the dirt farmers and ranchers of Texas who live by their toil and the fruits of the soil in order that the legislative program may be as near perfection as can be conceived by the brain of man.

Plains Cotton Growers Handicapped

College Station — High Plains cotton growers each year lose money because they can't have their cotton harvested before the first frost.

Superintendent D. L. Jones and Agronomist H. D. Lynn of the Texas A. and M. Agricultural Experiment Substation No. 8 at Lubbock say that this condition may be remedied if cotton farmers will accept three recent developments —power driven cotton strippers, stormproof cotton and chemical defoliation.

The experiment station men point out that only half of the Plains cotton is harvested when the frost comes around November 4, the 35-year average frost date. Since Plains farm units are large, the grower must depend largely on migratory labor to pick his cotton, and when frost and colder weather set in, the labor moves South, leaving the cotton farmer "holding the sack." Obviously, the answer lies in harvesting the cotton faster, and that's where the three recent developments figure in.

Power-driven strippers will allow the grower to harvest his cotton just as soon as it is sufficiently mature, Jones and Lynn predict. In connection with mechanical stripping, chemical defoliation would kill the leaves of the plant in late October, and allow harvesting without having to wait for frost to defoliate the plants. The third development, storm-proof cotton, will prevent losses that growers usually suffer by late-harvesting cotton with normal bolls. The normal bolls flare open at maturity and many of the locks either fall to the ground or string out and collect trash. Stormproof cotton locks are pinched at the base of the boll and stick firmly to the hulls, preventing losses incurred by growers when fiber falls to the ground and strings out.

Colene Johnston and Patsy Faye Anderson were in the Brownfield hospital last week recovering from pneumonia.

Campaign For Good Roads Amendment Opens October 14

Austin — Approximately 500 Texas roads enthusiasts will meet here Monday evening, October 14, to open the active campaign for adoption of the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment at the November General Election. The proposal will appear as Amendment Number three on the November 5th ballot.

Speakers will include Governor-Nominee Beauford H. Jester, Lieut. Governor-Nominee Allan Shivers, Congressman O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, John S. Redditt, Chairman of the State Highway Commission, and State Representative Neveille Colson.

Congressman Fisher is the only Texas member of the House Roads Committee. Mrs. Colson is the author of the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment and has the distinction of being the only woman member of the House of Representatives in Texas Legislature history to obtain submission of a Constitutional Amendment and also has the honor of being the only woman legislator in the United States to sponsor such a proposal. A similar amendment has been approved by the voters of 18 states and has been initiated in three states in addition to Texas.

Col. Ike Ashburn, Houston, will serve as master of ceremonies for the rally. Col. Ashburn, long associated with good roads movements in Texas, was the first manager of The Texas Good Roads Association after its organization by the late Judge W. O. Huggins, editor of the Houston Chronicle.

Judge Sid Caillavet, president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association, and Bun Raley, chairman of the Roads Committee, Rural Letters Carriers' Association, along with representatives of farm organizations and users of farm roads, strongly backing the amendment, will participate in the program.

In addition to members from the more than 30 state organizations which have adopted resolutions pledging support of the Good Roads Amendment, enthusiasts from practically every county in the state will be in attendance.

The Good Roads Amendment guarantees the continued allocation of one-fourth of the gasoline tax to the Available Free School

The contents of the magazine will be made up of regional agricultural news, pictures, features and advertising matter directed to the Southwestern farmer and stockman.

Close cooperation is planned with the Extension Service, 4-H Clubs, Women's Home Demonstration Clubs, Future Farmer organizations and grain, livestock and agricultural organizations for the promotion of West Texas agriculture, according to Johns.

Johns, at present, is the secretary of Plainview Chamber of Commerce and is a 1937 graduate of Texas Technological College school of journalism. Johns was recently discharged from the U. S. Army after 41 months service. Arlee Gowen, editor of the magazine, is also a graduate of Texas Technological College school of journalism. Gowen is a former resident of Lamesa, recently discharged from the U. S. Navy with 44 months service.

rapher; James Bragg, Jr., Lubbock, Photographer; Morris G. Beavers, Hereford, Business Manager; A. G. Stalnaker, Lubbock, Advertising Manager; J. W. Hendrix, Hereford Circulation Manager; and Kenneth Bozeman, Lubbock, Field Representative.

Hackney Reports On Legion Convention

Burton G. Hackney, local attorney who returned last last week from attending the National Convention of American Legion, gave the Herald the following summary:

Although the 28th Annual Convention of the American Legion held at San Francisco, beginning September 30, outstripped all others in attendance, it did not come to expectations for size. It was expected that there would be 150,000 Veterans in attendance but the best estimates were that only about one-half of that number actually attended.

All of the business meetings were held in the beautiful and spacious Exposition Auditorium at San Francisco's famed Civic Center where the United Nations was born. The first meeting was called to order by the National Commander, John Stelle of Illinois. Addresses of Welcome were made by Earl Warren, Governor of California and Roger D. Lapham, Mayor of San Francisco. The Convention then settled back to hear a long series of addresses by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, John Stelle, National Commander; General Carl A. Spaatz, Commanding General of the U. S. Air Forces; Field Marshal Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Senior British Representative on Combined Chiefs of Staff; Governor Hoover of Illinois; J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the F. B. I.; and Bob Hope, both of whom were presented the American Legion's Distinguished Service Medal.

The second day of the convention was given over to the colorful Annual National Convention Parade. The parade formed near the piers at the foot of Market street, then to Seals Stadium. The writer watched and took moving pictures from the sidelines and then took a taxi to the stadium. There were approximately 50,000 in the parade and it took about 5 hours for them to pass in review.

The real fireworks of the convention came on Wednesday when General Omar N. Bradley appeared before the convention to answer the National Commander on charges, that he, Bradley, had broken faith with the Veteran, and in my humble opinion he did a very satisfactory job. Also heard on this day were the Honorable John L. Sullivan, Undersecretary of Navy, Honorable Robert P. Patterson, Secretary of War, General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, Fleet Admiral William F. (Bull) Halsey, General Jonathan (Skinny) Wainwright, the hero of Bataan, Senator Owen Brewster of Maine and Major General Carlos Romulo of the Philippine islands.

Most of Thursday morning was taken up by some of the Brass trying to answer charges of General Bradley. After this the convention heard addresses by Tom Clark, U. S. Attorney General and Wilson W. Wyatt, Administrator, National Housing Agency.

Many resolutions were offered and adopted by the convention. We went on record for full support of the foreign policies of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, stoppage of all relief and supply shipments to Yugoslavia, income tax exemption for World War II veterans for three years following their discharge, at least on the first $5000 annual income, just to mention a few.

One of the most significant steps taken by the Legion was to institute a nation wide program of "positive" Americanism. Instead of only stressing the dangers of subversive activities, the new program will emphasize the value and privileges of the American way of life. The new program also will aim to drive home to every citizen of the United States the difference between living conditions here and in Russia under the Communist party rule. It will endeavor to acquaint Americans with lack of liberty and the perils of living in a police state and at the same time pointing out the freedom and individual liberty enjoyed in America.

Mr. Hackney further stated, there was lots of "Brass" in attendance.

Commerced and is a 1937 graduate of Texas Technological College school of journalism. Johns was recently discharged from the U. S. Army after 41 months service.

Arlee Gowen, editor of the magazine, is also a graduate of Texas Technological College school of journalism. Gowen is a former resident of Lamesa, recently discharged from the U. S. Navy with 44 months service.

Most of Thursday morning was taken up by some of the Brass trying to answer charges of General Bradley. After this the convention heard addresses by Tom Clark, U. S. Attorney General and Wilson W. Wyatt, Administrator, National Housing Agency.

Many resolutions were offered and adopted by the convention. We went on record for full support of the foreign policies of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, stoppage of all relief and supply shipments to Yugoslavia, income tax exemption for World War II veterans for three years following their discharge, at least on the first $5000 annual income, just to mention a few.

One of the most significant steps taken by the Legion was to institute a nation wide program of "positive" Americanism. Instead of only stressing the dangers of subversive activities, the new program will emphasize the value and privileges of the American way of life. The new program also will aim to drive home to every citizen of the United States the difference between living conditions here and in Russia under the Communist party rule. It will endeavor to acquaint Americans with lack of liberty and the perils of living in a police state and at the same time pointing out the freedom and individual liberty enjoyed in America.

Mr. Hackney further stated, there was lots of "Brass" in attendance.

Veterans' News

Leaders in education, religion, labor, industry and government joined efforts this week to develop and employ the abilities of those who are physically handicapped.

By official proclamation, President Truman set the week of October 6 as "National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week." The nation-wide drive is sponsored by a special committee of which the Veterans Administration is a member.

The committee pointed out that upwards of 300,000 physically handicapped are registered with the United States Employment Service. They are looking for suitable jobs.

Of these, about a quarter of a million are disabled war veterans according to VA, well over 100,000 veterans are now in training under Public Law 16. Many of them will be looking for jobs when their training is over.

Besides the disabled veterans, there are many other Americans with physical handicaps who are not holding jobs fully suited to their abilities. They number about 2,500,000 the Committee said.

A survey by the Department of Labor shows these important points: Handicapped workers make quick job adjustments; they are equal and often superior to the able-bodied in productivity; their safety records are as good or better than those of fellow workers; they tend to have better records of attendance; they change jobs less frequently.

Hoping to set an example, VA has set up, special interviewing units to place physically-handicapped people in VA jobs. VA is now employing well over 10,000 disabled veterans.

All beneficiaries drawing checks from the Veterans Administration were warned this week they will encounter delays in receiving their

Beauty and the Best

A Veterans' Day party at the Honolulu Army Navy USO Club brings together Hawaii's most attractive ex-service woman, Mrs. Esther Neptune, and Hawaii's most decorated veteran, Captain Alexander N. Kahapea.

Besides acting as a "bridge" for veterans returning to normal community activity, USO serves the veteran by bringing USO-Camp Shows units into veterans' and military hospitals on a regular basis, and by scheduling parties, entertainment, and other social functions in these hospitals.

allotments if they do not notify VA of changes of address. New addresses must be reported to VA over the beneficiary's own signature, or checks will be undeliverable, VA said.

GI Question And Answer Department

Q. I am a disabled veteran taking "on-the-job" training under Public Law No. 16. I am receiving pension and also subsistence allowance. My wife recently had a child. May I get an increase for this child while I am in training?

A. Yes. Send a certified copy of the certificate of birth to the VA. The subsistence allowance will be increased $10 for your first child and $7 for each additional child.

Q. I am a disabled veteran and was injured while taking VA rehabilitation training in a machine shop. The doctor says my left arm will be permanently crippled. Can I get a pension from the Veterans Administration?

A. Yes. You must apply for it within two years of the date of your injury.

Q. I have been advised that my pension is to be reduced in 60 days. What can I do to prevent this reduction?

A. You may submit evidence to show that the reduction is not warranted and your case will be reviewed. The best evidence would be an affidavit from your doctor describing in detail your disability.

Q. Is it permissible for a veteran who is receiving a high rate of disability compensation to seek and obtain employment?

A. Yes. There is no VA objection to such action on his part.

Q. May a pension be paid because of a service-connected disability if the veteran did not serve during war time?

A. Yes. Certain rates of pensions are provided for disability contracted in line of duty during military or naval service in peace time.

Q. Is the parent of a World War I or II veteran eligible to receive a pension when the cause of death was not related to service?

A. No.

Craig Receives Discharge From Navy

Chicago — Robert Lee Craig, hospital apprentice, first class, USNR, son of Mrs. Ina Lee Craig, of 110 East Tate, Brownfield, Texas, has been honorably discharged from the Naval Service, after hospitalization at the Naval Hospital, Corona, Calif., where he was under treatment for rheumatic fever.

Mrs. G. W. Sturges, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, spent the week here as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sturges.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson had as their guests Sunday, Mrs. Anderson's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wassom, of Los Angeles, California.

Mrs. C. T. Acker, of Roswell, spent the first of the week in Brownfield looking for a furnished house for rent. They plan to move back here as soon as living accommodations can be found.

Mass Funeral For Air Crash Victims

The 39 victims of the huge army plane that crashed against a small mountain in Newfoundland while enroute to Europe last week, were buried enmasse on the scene. The plane had exploded and caught fire. Three hundred pounds of dynamite was exploded on the mountain side, avalanching their burial.

A Protestant minister, Catholic priest, and a Jewish Rabbi conducted the rites from a plane, circling above the scene. Most of the passengers were wives of army personnel, with several babies, enroute to their husbands in Germany.

Still Time To Enroll At McMurry

Abilene, Texas — In spite of an enrollment figure that doubles any previous year in the history of McMurry College, present facilities are still available for late enrollees, according to Dean W. B. McDaniel.

"It is probable that many who want to enroll this semester are under the impression that no more students are being accepted at this time," continued McDaniel, "and actually enrollment is still going on. If a would-be student has a place to stay, there is nothing to prevent his enrollment at McMurry this late hour. As a matter of fact, there are still a number of housing facilities in Abilene available in the immediate vicinity of the campus, both for single and married students," concluded Dean McDaniel.

As of Oct. 1 the enrollment figure totaled 582. To care for this large increase over previous years, 15 additional faculty members have been added to the staff.

Tech Raiders Go To Town Saturday

The Texas Tech Red Raiders football team went to town last Saturday; the big town, Dallas, on the opening day of the State Fair. After defeating 6 to 0 the A and M College team the Saturday before, they scored over Southern Methodist University, Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl, 7 to 0.

I been reading about meat priorities. Hospitals and penitentiaries get top rating. So 'anybody wanting meat, it is easy if you know the ropes. I was gassin' about it with our R. F. D. carrier. Stick out your noggin', I says, so I can pop you one with this hoe handle. I am hungry for a pork chop—I gotta get myself in jail. Not so fast, he says, but if you was to do it kinda easy—just enough to get me into the hospital corridor—it might be okay. Then we could both eat meat—I will think it over.

But all funny business to the side—priorities, ceilings, ukases, etc.—somebody has gotta think up a way to get some publicity on how big and costly the Govt. is getting. I been harpin' on an idea for years but getting no where. I propose a sign a foot high on all political cars—where gas is free—so we can see and judge our pay-rollers, and how smart they look, etc., or handsome.
Well, says Henry, how about the million or so extra who do not rate a free car. Quite simple, I says—let 'em wear a fez, and maybe the fez could be pink, or white, or red, etc. depending on their leanings. Are there any more questions, I says—or answers.
