

City's New Garbage Truck To Reduce Fire Hazards

The addition of a new automatic-fully enclosed garbage truck by the city permits a more frequent pickup of garbage and refuse throughout both the business and residential areas, thereby eliminating large accumulations, which may constitute serious fire hazards. In addition to this, the back-alley burning basket or the makeshift oil drum incinerator, an additional fire threat as well as a nuisance, will no longer be a dominating part of the Brownfield back alley scene.

In announcing the addition of the new truck, Mayor Jordan stated that garbage and refuse must no longer be burned in the alleys and that the more frequent pickups will make it unnecessary. Daily pickups will be made in the business section and pickups made in the residence section every other day. An ordinance, setting forth the steps to be taken, method of handling, etc., will be published in the very near future.

The city now owns a sizeable fleet of trucks, pick-ups and cars of various types.

Abilene Couple Celebrate 60th Wedding Anniversary

Sunday, November 24th, marks the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. W. A. Sheppard, 84, and Mrs. Sheppard, 79. The couple were born in Alabama and came to Texas in the early seventies. Parents of the couple were William Allen Sheppard and J. T. Stanford, who fought side by side during the Civil War, and lived long enough to relate to their grandchildren and great grandchildren some of the tactics of warfare employed in their struggle.

Mr. Sheppard moved his family to Terry County in June 1903, where he engaged in stock raising. For several years Mr. Sheppard served as county tax assessor. He relates that he knew most of the men in the county and could call them by name and tell where they lived. Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard moved to Abilene to make their home in 1923.

The anniversary dinner will be served at noon Sunday by Mrs. John Barcus, a daughter, and Lora Sheppard, a daughter-in-law, at the Barcus home at 1117 Meadow St. Out of town guests will be Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Sheppard and daughter, Nancy Lynne, of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sheppard and daughter, Frances, of Vernon; Miss Mary Ann Barcus, a student of Southwestern U. at Georgetown; and Mrs. H. D. Leach of Brownfield, a sister of Mrs. Sheppard.

In the afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard will hold open house at their home at 1101 Ambler Ave. for relatives and friends living in and near Abilene. Miss Mary Sheppard, a daughter, assisted by Misses Mary Ann Barcus, Nancy Lynne and Frances Sheppard will receive and register the guests.

Other immediate relatives of the couple include two sons, W. T. of Abilene and J. B., of Oklahoma City; and a daughter, Miss Carrie Sheppard, of State Teachers College, Commerce. Grandchildren not present for the day are: Mrs. L. W. Segler, of Commerce; Mrs. J. S. Johnson, Calif.; Miss Mary Ella Sheppard, Okla. City; John B. Sheppard Jr., South America; John Mac Barcus, students at a university in Houston; and one great grandson, Lewis Seyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Seyler, of Commerce.

COTTON GINNINGS STILL LAG

Official ginning report, up to Nov. 1, 1946, shows only 196 bales ginned, of this year's crop. This same time last year we had ginned 1313 bales. Consensus of many farmers and observers is that the feed crop, which is now in full harvest, will turn out much better than cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Smith, of Levelland, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Norris and his mother, of Slaton, and Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Lang spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Lang and Mr. and Mrs. Hub King.

JUDGE SAYS —

No, them Republican steering committees meeting in Washington doing so much beefing, don't mean more meat.

Truman's trip to Florida indicates he thinks the coal shortage will become acute.

Control was lifted from deer this week, and as usual lots of them will go up, and then level off.

Tip to motorists: Children should be seen and not hurt(d).

Them Republicans who lifted controls of Congress of the Democrats, are finding they have a hot potato. They are waking up with a kind of morning-after feeling, and "now what will we do" look. When the Democrats had it, they let the Republicans sit in, but the Republicans have already met two months ahead of what was thought to be the regular meeting date, and won't let the Democrats look in. The "leaders" are trying to form a program. Well they should, they had none before election. They are already legislating, over the radio. Commend them for trying to learn how to legislate, they have done none the last few years. They spent their time finding faults and criticizing. We will soon see how it works the other way round.

MEXICO DEER HUNTERS RETURN

Glenn Akers, Dube Pyeatt, Tom May, O. L. Peterman, DeArvel Lewis, A. T. Fowler, Bruce Knight, and Ches Gore returned Sunday from a weeks hunt in the mountains west of Chichauhua, Mexico.

They report a kill of four deer and five turkeys. Viewed the rugged scenery of a real wild country. They return sore but satisfied, as they rode burros over the rough terrain.

Mrs. T. R. Darden, of Plains, who has undergone treatment the past two weeks at the Treadaway-Daniell Hospital, was released Monday to return home. The Dardens were early settlers and resided here for many years, but are now with the Stanolind Oil Company, in Yoakum county.

T. B. Christmas Seal Sale Starts November 25

Letters containing Tuberculosis Christmas Seals will be mailed out on the 25th of November from the Terry County Association. As we have stated before 80% of funds derived from these seals will be kept in our County and used solely for tuberculosis control purposes.

We hope you will keep the seals and help us in this program. Use them freely on letters, Christmas cards and packages.

Records are kept of money received and spent by the Secretary and Treasurer, Jerry Pyeatt.

Mrs. Irene Griffith, County Health Nurse, will start patch testing soon. The patches are paid for out of seal returns, also X-rays when necessary.

On account of the bad crop year work in this line will not be what we had hoped for but hope to keep the program going until better times. We feel all want to make our County a more healthful place to live and will cooperate in the very best way possible by paying for the seals sent you.

Thanking all very much,
Mrs. O. L. Jones, President
Terry Co. Tuberculosis Assn.

Marine Corps League, V.F.W. Growing

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, with members limited to those with service overseas, now have near 100 members in their organization. A Marine Corps League was recently organized here, with about thirty members, there being about seventy in the county eligible.

Both participated in last Armistice Day celebrations, and are active in civic affairs, looking after interest of war veterans, and keeping alive our patriotic spirits.

W. P. FORBES MOVES TO TOWN

Just to show you never can tell what a farmer will do, or any one else for that matter, W. P. Forbes last week traded his farm in the Pleasant Valley community, for the Dr. Turner residence on South Fourth street, and has moved in.

Mr. Forbes has resided on this prosperous farm for thirty years, where he reared a large family, and accumulated sufficient funds to retire. Just how he will make out with us town dudes remains to be seen.

Sgt. Forrest LeBoyd Searcy, after 22 months in the Pacific war theatre, mostly in Japan, has arrived back in the States, and in time to be home for Thanksgiving. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Olen Kingsberry, live at Eldorado, Okla., and a sister, Mrs. Boyd Wilson, lives here on East Broadway. Another sister, the former Miss Jean Thompson, is well known here among the younger set. He won the purple heart, and is to be discharged soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jones of Throckmorton are here this week visiting their daughter, Mrs. Everett Matthews, of south Third st. Mr. Matthews is in a Lubbock hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shirley left Tuesday for Ft. Worth to be with Mrs. Ike Bailey who underwent surgery in the St. Joseph Hospital. Mr. Dick Brownfield is there too, having gone with the Baileys.

Mr. Alvin King, of Cisco, spent the weekend visiting his brother, Mr. Hub King and Mrs. King.

That intimation that the housing problem is due in part to mothers-in-law may prompt many of them to deconcent their tempers.

Maybe the China war will end about the year those Dallas station steps are removed.

Next Thursday, November the 28th is Thanksgiving Day. That is the day designated, on which the whole nation may express its thanks for the blessings of all the other days of the year. It is not a law-made day. It is a proclaimed day. The State leaves the way open for the individual heart and mind to express their thanks, as they feel. The particular day is semi-officially proclaimed by the President, that all the people of every race, creed or color may on the same day roll up such a universal roar of thanks, to be heard by the Great God from whom all blessings flow, and with such sincerity as to please Him, and justify continuance of His benevolence.

There may be individuals who, indeed, have much to be thankful for, because of earthly fortunes; and many others who may feel that Fate has not been separately kind to them, but to the Nation: Uncle Sam as the embodiment of 140 million people, surely has much to be thankful for. Not only as Victors in a great war, but our shores, cities, homes and country side were spared the ravages of war. Our people have enjoyed prosperity through and since the war. Our institutions intact. No epidemic of disease or pestilence has overtaken us. The fruits of our land is bountiful. No foolish strife or bloodshed, to mar our brotherhood.

THANKS, for the enlightenment and moral culture, that like an eternal torch, keeps us out of the dark. THANKS for our system of civil government that we can ever progress, in Peace. THANKS for our tolerance and good will, that we can live and let live, happily with each other.

THANKS, for that Great Christian Spirit, on which the whole is built. If we will only abide by it, our will ever be.

County Clerk Installs Photostatic Machine

Our genial County Clerk, "Dube" Pyeatt, has installed a photostatic machine, by which he will record all deeds, deeds of trust, and the many other instruments to be recorded in his office. The instrument is photographed, on the record page, then developed simply, and there it is. Showing either typewritten, printed, or written words, and interlineations if any, on greatly reduced size in records, not only saving time in recording but eliminating possible errors in recording.

It is estimated, the time saved, and saving of record space, will in short time pay for the cost. Such a machine has long since been in use by the State land commissioners office, and other State and commercial offices. Mr. Pyeatt estimates that one operator can record ten times as many instruments per day as the old long tedious method of copying. No proof reading is necessary.

His very efficient and smiling deputy, Miss Bond, explains, however, it does not make the picture of the operator along with it.

FURLOUGH PAY BONDS BEING MAILED NOW

Washington, Nov. 20 — After weeks of delay, the Army has started mailing out millions of terminal leave bonds to former GIs.

By Christmas, War Department officials said Wednesday, it is expected that the bulk of a current backlog of some 4,000,000 claims will have been paid. Most payments are in five-year treasury bonds, but cash is used for odd sums.

A Question The Farmers Are Asking

The Herald knows nothing about the matter of this game preserve business we hear so much talk about. In fact we were not even invited to share a settin at the meeting. But we have had not a few of our farmer friends ask us, "in whose behalf is all this talk?"

Here's how some of their talk goes: "I had quite a nice little bunch of quail started a few years ago, and one Saturday when we were in town, a party or parties invaded our premises and killed or crippled all our birds."

Can you blame the real farmers for being just a bit offside about the matter? So, our advise would be to the leaders of the movement to strenuously discourage poachers.

Cubs Drop Final Home Game 19-0

In a sluggish Saturday afternoon game, played before the smallest crowd of the season, the Pampa Harveters dumped the Cubs deeper into the cellar when they swamped the locals to the tune of 19-0.

Visitor's first score came in the second quarter when Laffoon heaved a 0-yard pass to Speer. Anderson converted. In the third quarter, Laffoon took a Cub punt on his own five yard stripe, picked out a spot where there appeared to be the most Cubs, and raced on through it for a score. Final score came in the same period when Mayes charged through center and on to pay dirt 40 yards away.

Claude Hudgins Reported Recovering

A card this week from Mrs. Claude Hudgins at Alexandria, La., reported that Claude, seriously hurt some weeks ago, is recovering, and special nurses have been dismissed.

It will be remembered that Claude fell from a truck while helping to unload it a few weeks ago, hitting the ground on his head. His skull was fractured in two places.

While the family still live at Levelland, he is building a plant at Alexandria to make his own butane tanks and bottles. For many years the Hudgins lived here, where he was engaged in the mercantile business.

REV. BRIAN GETS THREE YEAR TERM

Rev. A. A. Brian, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, was chosen by the Baptist General Convention held at Mineral Wells, last week, as a member of the Executive Board for a three year term.

We feel like this is a distinct compliment to Rev. Brian, the First Baptist Church and the town and community.

T. C. Hogue Jr. is recovering from an appendectomy in the local hospital.

Ethel M. Bain of the Ethel M. Bain Co., Lubbock, was a caller this week. She announced that J. A. Pebsworth was now associated with her in accountant and income tax service.

It would seem that the Mergenthaler Linotype Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., has been so all fired busy for the past several years getting army-navy E's, that they almost forgot that they might have to rebuild their business with newspaper and printing plants after the war. In the meantime a $2500 clerk got off with close on to a million dollars, and skipped out to Florida for a high heeled time, together with some confederates. So, thousands of newspapers over the land, including the Herald, must wait on for months perhaps, for stuff many of us have had ordered for months.

To our notion it is only wishful thinking for such a periodical as Southern Weekly of Dallas and perhaps other periodicals and newspapers to hope for two parties in Texas politics, as long as one of them is called "Republican." This also goes for the entire south. There are still some people in the south, living, who remember reconstruction days, and while the northern people as a whole cannot be held responsible for all the depredations perpetrated by the carpetbaggers of the 1865-70 era, the Republican party was in power, and as carpetbaggers were aided and abetted by negroes, it came to be known as the "black Republican party." And since the war, the Republicans no sooner get in power than the south just becomes a province and is forgotten. Even the northern Democrats, so-called, have little use for the staid old Jeffersonian-Jacksonian type of the Democrat. The GOP is now talking of investigating this and that, some needing it, no doubt, and the passage of such dampfool new deal legislation as the FEPC, is to become a laughing stock like the 18th amendment all over the nation, and obeyed nowhere. But it certainly is a bit surprising that the GOP would take up the fair employment act after enough northern Republicans joined southern Democrats to kill it in the Senate, or at least talk it to death.

They tell us that we may soon be using soapless soap. The new substitute to remove grime from our rusty paws and caked ears of the boys, will be made from petroleum products. It is a shame that under OPA, the black market boys saved no fats from animals they slaughtered, or for that matter many essential medical derivatives from beeves.

We people here in Brownfield, while being used to municipally owned utilities for years, have no fight to make on privately owned plants so long as they let us alone. But not so with big ones owned by the government, such as TVA, and some in the Austin area, such as CRA (Colorado River Authority.) Recently such "authorities" branded every person that appeared in Washington representing power companies, privately owned, as lobbyists, although such men had registered in Washington, as the law directs. But the propagandists for the government owned concerns don't have to register. Furthermore, they can use hundreds of government employees to issue propaganda under franking privileges to deluge the mails to all parts of the USA.

A Wellman farmer's crack about the enlargement of a local bank was: "They are making room for my tractor."

According to the Lorenzo Tribune, the superintendent of their schools who hails from Wyoming, thinks Texans are not Democrats because they are not the Henry Wallace type. Brother, Texans were "voting 'er straight" when Henry Wallace was playing around with the GOP party. He became a new dealer about 1932.

Col. Ee Eye Hill of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, has been following this column around most of the year and prior, and now knows just about as well where our own and the wife's kin folks live, where we can stop a few days for refreshments, as the Old He himself. But he has forgotten the name of the Tennessee town where we make headquarters. It is Middleton, Editor Hill. But if you or we should ever so forget ourselves as to sing "I Measure My Love to Sohwa You," and other gay 90ty play party songs, those under 50 wouldn't know what you are driving at. Indeed the youngsters back there are all carried to town and city schools in buses, and are as modern as the rural youths of Texas. As to the "corn makings" you mention, that art belongs exclusively to the hilly county just east, Old McNary. Way back in our childhood, we remember the older folks talking about someone being sent to the pen for making kawn licker, and we wondered why, as there were open saloons in every town. Now we know they were not paying off to the revenue department.

The GOPers are now in the saddle, or will be, come January. And like all new officials, they crave to show their power. About the first thing will be the investigation of The Man Bilbo. To the great majority of southerners, such men as Bilbo, Vardeman, Hooley Long and Eugene Talmadge are not just the kind of statesmen we would want to represent us. And this goes for Mississippi. If there had been no fight on Bilbo by northern mags and newspapers, organizations for advancement of certain races, etc., there is little question but Bilbo would have been defeated. But they had to ram their long noses in where they had no business, and naturally the people of Mississippi resented the interference. No good citizen from the Magnolia state would have offered their two-bits worth of advise to New Yorkers or Californians, nor even Texans, as to whom they should elect to any office from Constable to President. To say the least they would not have slandered their officials. Southern people know that Bilbo is no saint, but as long as we believe in state rights, its hands off in other state elections.

The protest vote in this district against Congressman Eugene Worley was larger than we expected. However, we feel that Worley fell into the bureaucratic cesspool in Washington and did not realize how the people felt about public affairs. Unless Worley's eyes are opened, he may expect strong opposition in the Democratic primary of 1948. The people of this district are human, just like the people of other sections of the nation. They are tired of being bossed around by dumb fellows in Washington. Worley should read some of the orders which came out of Washington: For instance, the one which told a West Texas ranch not to sell his steers, but to keep them for breeding purposes. And another to the West Texas ranch who asked for material for cattleguards on his extensive ranch, he must reduce his demands from four cattleguards to one, as this would take care of his herd. Congress and the administration should be more careful in the future as to whom it turn over administrative authority. Being unemployed is no sign that any person will make a good government employee. Yet Washington was filled with just such persons during WPA, and they continued during the war. Dumb!!!—Canyon News.

It may not be a good idea to count your chickens before they're hatched, but it sure is a lot of fun.

THE "KEPT" PRESS

It was a rare privilege to examine the daily newspapers of this nation on the morning of November 6. On the printed page was unmistakable evidence that we are still a free people—free to vote as we please, free to think as we please, free to read what we please. A minor revolution in government had occurred the day before.

Daily newspapers had two alternatives the morning of November 6. They could chronicle the news fairly, impartially and accurately. Or by comment and distorted presentation, they could do otherwise. Almost without exception they did the former.

There was an exception. One newspaper, which constantly slurs the Big Business press and its "dishonest writers," played the election differently. It, of course, is not a member of the "kept" press.

The Daily Worker on November 6 ran as its two main headlines: "Vito Marcantonio Re-elected," and "Vets Seize Empty Chicago Flats."

You are the reader. You are the judge. Which press do you choose?—Dallas News.

EDITOR E. I. HILL CALLED ON US TUESDAY

We had not more than finished an editorial Tuesday giving Editor E. I. Hill, of the Lynn County News, Tahoka, the low down on some of the towns and customers of our old native Tennessee, when in walked that gentleman himself—in person. We just like for that guy to visit us as he simply oozes optimism.

And you like to talk shop with him. He is modest in all his statements about his business and his town. He figures the truth will suffice. He is not the kind that will lie to you on credit rather than tell you the truth for cash. Another thing, if you run out and have to have something he has, he feels hurt if you don't borrow from him.

Come again and more often, neighbor.

Civil Service: A commodity formerly obtainable in restaurants.

STARVE HIM OUT! Cotton Bait Enemy Number One is the boll weevil, and smart farmers are already at work this fall to make his legions fewer for the 1947 crop. The boll weevil is eating cotton stalk now to give him strength to last through the cold winter. Plowing up the fields just as soon as the cotton is picked will aid in starving him out this winter and will also disrupt the pupa stage of his colleague in crime, the pink boll worm. The National Cotton Council is urging cotton farmers everywhere to fight the weevil with the plow.

Rotenone Knocks Cattle Grubs

College Station — Rotenone is proving to be a sure-fire treatment for cattle grubs in West Texas.

With 10 pounds of rotenone-sulphur dust, F. J. Jenkins, Edwards County ranchman, got rid of practically all the grubs on 55 head of beef cattle that were badly infested last fall. Edwards County Agricultural Agent A. A. Storey, Jr., reports that Jenkins' grub treatment was done at a cost of only $7.50. Running the cattle through a chute, he brushed the rotenone-sulphur dust into the loins and backs of the animals with a wire brush. Prior to the treatment, which was given last fall, every animal in the herd of 55 had from forty to fifty grubs.

C. M. Minnix feels that he is back home. For many years O. M. lived in the Forrester community on Rt. 3, but some six years ago moved to the Needmore community, and for the past year has been a resident of Lubbock. Now the Minnix family, or what is left of them since marriages, are back on Rt. 3, Brownfield, Texas.

Mrs. T. J. Upton, of Clovis, N. M., spent last week here with her daughter, Mrs. Steve Boruk and Mr. Boruk.

A recent check-up by Jenkins and the county agent showed only nine of the animals carrying grubs, and these were only slightly infested. Jenkins is convinced, says Storey, that Texas ranchmen can eventually rid their cattle of grubs and heel flies by giving regular rotenone treatments each fall.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

— By Reynolds Knight —

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—Although most Americans know that labor disputes have interrupted production with annoying consistency during the current year, the extent of time and money lost in strikes is still something of an unknown quantity to most of us. The Bureau of Labor Statistics gives a clearer picture. Their figures indicate that some 97 million man days were lost because of strikes from January 1, through September 20 of this year. That is equivalent to 97 million men being idle for one day. If one man were to make up that lost time by working the regulation week and taking two weeks off during the summer, it would take him something like 388,000 years. The money loss is greater than last time indicates. With a highly interwoven economy, this country loses more than the paycheck of the idle worker. Oftentimes, strikes among a small group cause extensive losses to others. For instance, the strike of a handful of tug boat pilots in New York harbor earlier this year almost stopped all New York business which runs into many millions of dollars a day. Perhaps the most discouraging aspect of the strike figures is that after falling off during July and August, they are now on the increase. Days lost in September amounted to five million against 3,300,000 in August.

THINGS TO COME—A hammer with a nylon handle and removable faces for various headweights. The handle will not chip and is said to last longer than the wood handle . . . A packaged runway lighting system for airports and landing strips. It can be plugged into any electrical outlet and put in place quickly . . . A home planners' kit for constructing miniatures of most types of buildings . . . Fluorescent lacquers which come in many hues and may be applied to the wall as murals . . . Goggles with wider lenses, developed during the war for military use, are now available for civilians . . . A new utility light with a 12-foot extension cord. It can be plugged into the cigar lighter socket on the family automobile and used to provide a light for changing tires on the road at night . . . Real estate purchases by plane. A Washington firm uses small planes to show larger estates to prospective buyers.

Just because we have free speech in this country some people think they can give out a lot of cheap talk.

Columbia, Mo., Nov. 16—Miss Lois Marion Wingerd of Brownfield, Texas, was pledged to Delta Chi Delta sorority during informal pledging November 10 at Stephens College, climaxing a month of rushing activity on the campus.

A member of the Junior class at Stephens, she was one of 500 girls pledging 16 social sororities, at the college who will be formally pledged to their respective sororities on November 17.

Highlighting the fall social program will be the formal Pan-Hellenic Ball to be held in Lela Raney Wood ballroom at the college on November 30.

Interesting Places To Visit In California

If you are like the Old He, try your doggondest to miss as much headachy traffic as possible in leaving Compton or Long Beach, if you wish to visit the Pacific Express exhibit and museum, you will bear just as far east as possible from the Los Angeles area, and reach the vicinity of the Santa Anita race tracks without too much trouble, although you may be thrown off your course with dozens of questionable high-ways. Once there you will enjoy a few hours of seeing how Californians of 100 years ago lived.

Upon entering the grounds, for which a small fee is charged, one comes face to face with a little narrow guage train, on a track, that used to run from some place in Nevada to another in California. There is the little dinky engine and tender, a baggage coach and two day coaches. In the tiny baggage coach were old trunks, the old leather covered ones that grandma finally stored in the attic. For the lady travelers there was a crude compartment of what we would know as a ladies rest room, and a sign which informed male travelers "that they might use the back platform as usual."

Speaking of rest rooms, in the building, was a whole room, as large as the average living room, was the largest collection of "pot-ties" perhaps in existence. Some high, some low, some with hand holds, and in all colors, even to square topped ones, evidently designed for the square shooters. There were some so valuable that they were in glass cases for protection. They were said to have been used long ago by royal people in Europe.

We could go on enumerating the many and varied exhibits, which some old rich guy has collected from all countries and climes. Of course there is the replica of the old time bar tender behind the bar with the handle-bar mustache, asking all and sundry to step up, but the bottles are all filled with make-believe, as no alcoholic drinks are sold. Here is the best collection of old time firearms we have ever seen any place. One piece so large that it was rested on the shoulder of one man, while the other operated the semi-cannon, which carried a bullet the size of a hen egg. Then there was what was said to have been the first jail or calaboose built in southern California, but folks, it had no talking dummy. Instead it had inside the largest stuffed grisley bear we ever laid our eyes on. But he was dumb. Make this place a must if you visit southern California. No, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is not paying us for this tripe. A good article about this place appeared in the October issue of Holiday magazine.

One day was spent on the high coast line northwest of Long Beach and San Pedro. Way round that bend one gets several hundred feet above the Pacific, and really have an enchanting view. We stopped at one of the playground beach towns—Huntington Beach, we believe. But they tell us that many of the stars of movieland have their abodes high in the cliffs, and sometimes cavort on the beach. We saw none that we knew, as we are not too well acquainted with the divorce court marathon gang. But we had a good breezy meal, and not too high, considering.

One day we took lunch at Loma Linda, or is it the other way, Linda Loma. This is an Adventist settlement, and they have a nice little village, a school and large hospital. The public is served after the hospital attendance are served, cafeteria style. Six of us ate all we wished, and the cost was $1.92; not bad. No tea, coffee or such, nor any meats, although we swore we were eating a meat loaf until we were informed that it was synthetic. Loma Linda is about ten miles from Redlands, and means beautiful mountain, we are told. We agree.

GLAMOROUS FORMAL.—Lust red cotton velveteen is fashioned into this lovely formal evening gown favored by college girls. It worn on or off the shoulder has a tiny waistline, and a wire-kirt for plenty of whirl.

And you Texans who think that negroes are served just any place in California or Arizona, get the idea out of your head for all time. They just don't at the best cafes, nor for that matter the bars. On the outside is the inevitable sign, "we do not serve colored folks." So, all that talk is just about nil except in some rather questionable looking places in some sections of Los Angeles. All for this week.

LOOKING AHEAD

Hold the Line

The Office of Price Administration died officially on June 30, 1946. Before it had been inoperative ten days, everybody whose life and work were affected by it knew the nation had sustained no serious loss. Calamities that were supposed to fall upon the consumers of America did not happen. Some prices rose a little; others fell. The law of supply and demand was still working. It had not been on vacation.

In the building industries, among real estate and lumber people, timid home seekers had predicted the wildest of run-away prices because of the unprecedented housing demand. Everything necessary to make prices sky-rocket was present, but the crepe-hangers were disappointed. Industrial leaders went into huddles and resolved for moderation, regardless of pressure from eager buyers.

Returned to Life

The dead bureau was resurrected on July 25 by political pressure. One powerful factor was the influence of thousands of bureaucrats whose easy jobs were all but lost. Lame and weakened by legislative modifications, the OPA lives and has certain functions. But those 25 inactive days proved something: The longer we lived without the OPA the more useless it appeared.

Individuals who want to stay in government, whether they serve any useful purpose there or not, may be expected to keep on trying, during the next few months, to justify a supposed necessity for governmental price-fixing. In reality, increasing production may be dependent upon to hold most prices down. Prices of some things will advance in spite of anything the OPA can do.

Look for Advances

In subsidized industries, where sharp advances were expected at first, operators are using moderation in making upward revisions. While industrial leaders "hold the price line," channels of trade are filling up steadily with new production and growing stocks hold prices down. Meat is only an example. Livestock hurries to market. Steaks and chops are on the menu again.

There will be exceptions! It is likely that the human race will never be free from opportunists ready to profiteer when there are no restraints and crafty enough to run black-markets when restrictions are in force. Maybe there actually was an unhappy couple in California on July 2, whose sandwiches advanced in price from 15c to 40c while they were being toasted. Anyway it was a good story.

Good Citizenship

We, the American people, are heirs of a dearly bought liberty. We have an opportunity to prove that we are worthy to inherit it. We can do this by a fair approach to every price problem. Whether we are manufacturers, marketers, or consumers, we have a part to play. We do not need anyone to play the role of dictator. Truly no price was ever fixed successfully by statutory law.

Consumers can keep prices right by shunning racketeers who play their customers for suckers, by patronizing merchants who appreciate their confidence and by refusing to buy unnecessary things. We should be slow to retaliate against price rises that are needful. If workers, especially, will let growing production adjust prices before calling for higher wages, it will go far toward hastening recovery for everybody.

Harmony

During the recent months of industrial strife and popular confusion, current events have been almost as common a topic of conversation as the weather. Wherever people congregate, somebody opens the subject of "What's the world coming to, anyhow?" It's a wholesome condition. The common sense of Tom, Dick and Harry has saved this nation from many a bad spill.

Recently an old man (slightly deaf) sat near me on the train. With him was a teen-age girl, a grand-daughter perhaps. They had divided a newspaper between them. Granddad spoke first. "There's nothing wrong with this country if everybody would get together and do the right thing," he observed. The girl looked at him, shifted her gum and replied, "Many an honest heart beats beneath a wooden head."

Not a Dreamer.

Maybe she lacked respect for her elders but the young woman was practical. People in a country this large don't get together. Moreover they don't do the right thing unless they know what it is, and their education in economic matters has been sadly neglected. Unless that very situation is corrected before long, our people will trail the British into the wilderness of Collectivism.

I believe in specialization but I think no specialty should be so narrow as to exclude good citizenship. I believe in versatility, but how can any collection of miscellaneous knowledge be complete without some facts about how men became free to pursue knowledge and get understanding? No people can remain free long after their youth cease to appreciate their sacred liberties.

Young Ideas.

Within the last 12 months, I have been privileged to talk with the students of a great many high schools and colleges in widely scattered states. I have discussed private enterprise and state socialism with them, and I can testify that most of them seem to consider private enterprise a failure. Some of them have been extremely well coached to debate against it.

Questioning their sympathetically, I find that very few of the students I meet have a clear idea about what private enterprise is. They consider it a system that gives special advantages to rich men and big corporations. They point out that our system has not maintained full employment, has not prevented alternate depressions and booms, and has never equalized living standards.

Look to Politics.

It is no surprise that studious youngsters are able to pick the obvious flaws in any system, but here is a surprise: Almost without exception these young people seem to think all the imperfections of America's present system can be corrected by government management. With the scandalous exhibitions of incompetence from WPA to the OPA, how can anybody expect politics to help?

Harmony is really needed in American industry, and American government, but it will be found only on a plane of better knowledge. Text books must be prepared and instructors trained to teach Americanism if human freedom, individual opportunity and intellectual liberty are to continue. When enough of us know "the truth we can do the right thing whether we can actually get together or not."

Stretch The Clothing Dollar

College Station — Stretching the dollar that goes for clothing depends on the buyer's knowledge of fabric quality, clothing construction, design, and line and color suited to the individual.

Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, clothing specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, offers the above comment on purchasing clothes. Regardless of whether the article is home-made or ready-made, it should have the same features that go to make up a good garment, says Mrs. Barnes. The buyer should get the best garment that can be afforded whether it is a house-dress or a dress for street wear. Many find that fewer but better clothes are more economical, since dresses of poor quality are short-lived.

The time and strength of the woman who does the sewing should decide whether she buys clothing ready-made or makes it at home. Sometimes it is better to sacrifice a bit on quality and construction rather than endanger health by tedious sewing tasks. However, if a woman sews well, she can have attractive, stylish garments of good quality for less money than ready-mades of the same quality. Her clothes will have more individuality when made at home and also she will have more clothes for the same amount of money.

A woman who does not sew well, will probably get the most from her money by buying ready-made clothes, for she may not get good construction and style by sewing at home.

Only trouble with today's Rose of Sharon is that she may have a bomb in her pocket. These dashboard telephones may make it possible for backseat drivers to stay at home and still enjoy giving directions.

Fruit Tree Planting

Fruit tree planting time is almost here, and nursery stock for new orchards or tree replacements should be ordered now.

Good nursery stock is scarce, say horticulturists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, and if fruit growers want to get early December delivery on the varieties of stock they want, they should place their orders this month.

In replacing old orchard trees with new ones, not only the old tree but the old soil that supported it should be removed and replaced with new, rich, sandy leaf mold, say the horticulturists. New trees planted in old soil can result in disease attacks that may have caused the old tree to "pass out."

Nursery stock should be examined closely on arrival. If there are knots or "bead-like" growths on the roots, the order should be rejected. If it is necessary to hold the young trees a few days before planting, they should be "heeled in" and watered. The roots need moisture and protection from heat.

A well-drained sandy loam site is desirable for the new orchard plot, the horticulturists say. The soil should be prepared well by breaking, disking and rowing before setting the trees. For instructions in laying out and handling the young orchard, a copy of Extension publication B-73, "Orchard Management," can be obtained by writing to the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, College Station.

Army To Enlist Partially Disabled Veterans

The War Department has announced that Army Recruiting Stations will accept partially disabled veterans who were combat wounded for enlistment in the Regular Army, according to Lieutenant Colonel S. A. Imell, the commanding officer of the local Army recruiting district.

The new policy of the war department is to enlist those partially disabled combat wounded veterans in positions which they are capable of doing normal duties. The new regulation lists more than a hundred military occupational specialties in which partially disabled men can be enlisted.

These highly trained, but partially disabled veterans can be enlisted in the rank they held at discharge provided they complete their enlistments before the first of the year.

Colonel Imell pointed out that during their periods of military service, these partially disabled men who enlist will be paid the same base pay and allowances of men on full duty status, according to their rank. However, Colonel Imell said, while a disabled veteran is drawing military pay and allowances, any pensions or other compensations now being paid for their disability will be suspended.

Complete information can be obtained from U. S. Army Recruiting stations, 605 West Main Street, Brownfield, Texas.

Subscription List Slowly Growing

No, they are not exactly running over one another down here at the Herald office to either renew or become a new reader, but considering two crop failures in a row, and on special effort on our part, the business is entirely satisfactory.

Recent renewals among home folks are, and we consider everyone in the Brownfield trade area as home folks, are: J. R. Thomas, Wellman; G. B. Jones, Meadow; Virgil Burnett, John Burnett; Al-lie Ridgeway, Gay Price, Frank Ballard (2 years) and W. T. Briscoe, all of city and routes.

The new ones are, Mrs. Phil Gaasch, V. T. Black, Mrs. P. F. Forness, L. G. Smith and the Rev. Perryman.

By the way, W. T. Briscoe, after reading our account of the boy in jail, out at the Berry Farm in California, is not entirely satisfied which was the man on the outside looking in, or the one on the inside looking out. Well, we got back to Texas, didn't we?

Miss Wanda Peggy Dillon, of Lubbock spent the weekend here as a guest of Miss Lois June Stevens.

Miss Jete Johnston and her brother Bill, of Midland, were weekend guests in the home of Mrs. E. A. Graham.

MILK SHORTAGE TO LAST TWO YEARS

Lubbock — The milk shortage will continue in West Texas for at least two years, it was predicted by Prof. K. M. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufactures at Texas Technological College.

Because of the scarcity and high cost of feed, many dairy farmers have either sold outright or reduced their herds, and it will be at least two years before production can again be built up in the area, he said.

Furr Stores Putting Out Monthly Mag.

The Herald received Volume 1, No. 2 of the Furr Magazine for November, this week, for the Lubbock-El Paso area, which now has 16 stores. The magazine was well gotten up and edited on book paper, containing eight well illustrated pages. The front cover is a Thanksgiving suggestion.

The inside front cover is devoted to the late C. W. Furr, founder of the original store, who was born in 1878, passing on just a few weeks ago. The correspondent for the Brownfield store is Lora Mae Burney, and she had some interesting items in her column.

In one item she suggested giving poisoned store cats castor oil. It had, she stated saved one of their's three times.

THANKSGIVING

In Our Hearts

"COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS...
...NAME THEM ONE BY ONE"

If each one of us will only take time to stop and take stock of all the blessings heaped upon us day by day, we will have cause for much rejoicing and thanksgiving. In this great America of ours we take too much for granted. Our comfortable homes, our bountiful meals and our warm clothing are so common to us that we are apt to forget that in many other countries they are counted great luxuries. And another thing to be truly thankful for this year is that we are at peace. Instead of fearing or bemoaning the fact that war may be thrust upon us in the future, we should give thanks for the Present Peace.

Wellman Has Achievement Day

Friday, November 15, was Achievement Day for the Home Demonstration Club. We had a nice tour despite the wind and sand. We first went to the home of Mrs. Sewell Dean. She had repapered her kitchen and re-painted her woodwork, re-enameled her refrigerator, made a candle wick bed spread, canned quite a lot of food, for their locker. She had re-seated a chair.

Then to the home of Mrs. Giggs Phillips. She has a newly built home. She had made a candle wick bed spread, a seersucker bed spread with curtains and a ruffle around the mirror over her dresser to match. She had made a cotton mattress, fluffed the cotton by running it through the feed grinder, and it was very nice. A sheffrobe was made out of a chest of drawers and also a floor mat to go on the floor beside the bed.

Mrs. Phillips is our Yard demonstrator. She had a good start of flowers and shrubbery, considering the dry weather. Her grass that she put out in the yard has done very good.

Next to the home of Mrs. Stanley Emerson. She has also made a candle wick bed spread. Re-seated a chair, canned quite a lot of food. She has a very pretty yard of flowers. Roses are in bloom now, also chrysanthemums are in bloom. She has a framed garden which now has vegetables in it ready to eat, then she will later use that for a hot bed.

To the home of Mrs. Leo Hawkins. They have repainted the house on the outside. Sheet-rocked, papered and painted the inside. Put down new rugs, built clothes closets, a nice rake made from pieces of apple boxes and scraps of strips. They do not have their house completed, they are to put a built in cabinet and other improvements. Mrs. Hawkins was our clothing demonstrator for this year. She has a very nice record. We think she has done good work.

Next to the home of Mrs. Clyde Heafner. They have built an addition to their home and stuccoed all the building. Sheet-rocked, papered and painted all the inside. Put down some new rugs, made new draperies, and upholstered. They have enlarged their yard, planted grass which has done good. Grass is everywhere. She has a rose garden, and all her plants seem to be living. She has a bed of tulips, and scilla bulbs. A framed bed, 24x4 feet set in strawberries. She has a very large space already for a garden for another year. Mrs. Heafner had planned to serve ice cream when we got through looking over her place, but it was getting late, and one lady suggested she invite the group again sometime.

Reporter what have you done? We are making a bed spread, re-varnished several pieces of furniture, canned quite a lot, raised some garden, still have some greens. We all hope to do better next year.—Reporter.

California's New Textbooks Called Subversive By S. A. R.

The California Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, in August charged that the textbook series called "Building America," recommended for history classes of the 7th and 8th grades in California and sponsored by the National Education Association, are subversive and slanted toward national and international socialism, if not communism. The S. A. R. resolution says the books "contain important misrepresentations destructive of our American form of government" and stated they are compiled "in a form calculated to constitute partisan political propaganda." In the last chapter of the last book of the three, the U. S. Constitution is recommended for discussion among the children, who probably in those grades would be under 14 years of age, and they are asked to debate whether this Constitution meets our needs today or is due to be scrapped! —Scottish Rite News Bulletin.

War Department Wants Officers For Regular Army

The War Department is seeking applications from its war time officers for appointment in the Regular Army as permanent Regular Army officers.

Congress has authorized the army to appoint a total of 50,000 officers in the Regular Army. These officers are to be chosen from men who were war time officers, and who meet the rigid specifications of the officers examining boards, and the requirements of the War Department.

Veterans who were commissioned officers during the war, and officers now on active duty are eligible to apply for appointment. Applications can be obtained from Army Recruiting Offices, Army Reserve District Offices or from the Adjutant of any Army Post or Army Air Base.

Appointments will be made during the calendar year of 1947 in four separate groups. The War Department desires to encourage the many outstanding officers it had during the war to return to the Army as a profession, as the officers with war time experience and training are invaluable.

This will be the second group of war time officers to be appointed in the Regular Army.

Band To Fight For Religious Freedom

Six thousand ministers in nineteen church denominations, nationwide, have banded together in a crusade known as Spiritual Mobilization to combat the peril to spiritual freedom because of communist infiltrations and due to a rising pagan level toward a mortal God state, according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. James W. Fifield, Jr., founder and director of the organization. The movement is locally represented by Rev. C. A. Duncan.

This crusade for freedom, which recognizes man as a child of God and as such master (not slave) of the state, sponsors the return to the American way of life with its democratic process and constitutional government. Its advisory committee is headed by such notables as Dr. Donald J. Cowling, former president of Carlton College; Roger W. Babson, the statistician; Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed, Bible scholar and author; Dr. Rufus B. von Kleinsmid, chancellor University of Southern California; Alfred Noyes, poet; Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president University of California; Dr. Robert A. Millikan, president California Institute of Technology; Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, clergyman; Hon. Albert W. Hawkes, United States senator; and others.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration will provide the most modern facilities to aid deafened and hard of hearing veterans, according to an announcement this week by VA's medical director.

The program is designed to aid these veterans in rehabilitation, economic independence and adjustment to society and their own communities.

Dr. Norton Canfield, Associate Professor at Yale University, will be in direct supervision of the program of the Army in the Surgeon General's Office during World War II.

There are already 36,000 veterans of World War II who are ear casualties. About 12,000 veterans of World War I are still receiving compensation because of deafness. VA anticipates that there will be about 300,000 veterans in need of attention due to impaired hearing, within the next 20 years.

Special rehabilitation centers for the deaf and hard of hearing will be set up throughout the country at strategic locations. Here, veterans will be trained and provided with the latest in hearing devices.

Veterans who wish to assign their terminal leave bonds to the Veterans Administration as payment on their GI insurance should get the necessary assignment forms from the nearest VA office.

Although VA does not issue the terminal leave bonds, under the Armed Forces Leave Act of 1946, the law authorized VA to accept the bonds as insurance payments.

When a bond is used for insurance premium payments, it must be assigned in its entirety, VA said. Any balance above the amount necessary to make the desired payment will be credited to the veteran's account and will be used to pay future premiums unless otherwise requested.

Tilling with a Hundred Teams of Steel

MORE power on the farm means more food . . . more jobs.

If a farmer had three teams of horses twenty-five years ago he was well equipped. Now, with over two million tractors and thousands of other power producers, most farmers command the equivalent of . . . a HUNDRED TEAMS.

Wide use of their power, which can be packed into a few tons of steel, is enabling U.S. farmers to keep abreast of unprecedented food requirements. It is one of the secrets of national progress.

Steel horsepower does more than produce bigger crops with less labor. It has released, for production of human food, millions of acres once needed to feed horses and mules, and has created thousands of new jobs for town and city people who process and sell the increased harvests.

The benefits of farming with steel are the result of teamwork between farmers and industry. The farmer knows what he needs; industry knows how to supply it at a price he can afford. This teamwork must continue if America is to remain a land of abundance.

Farmers need still more power. The country needs still more food. Uninterrupted industrial production will permit industry to catch up with the pent-up need for more farm power.

The Institute has printed a booklet STEEL SERVES THE FARMER. Write for a copy and it will be sent gladly.

Editor E. T. Leech of the Pittsburgh Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, says the public "has been kicked around, fought over, punished and persecuted. It has been deprived of essential services and goods. It has been inconvenienced by sudden stoppages of vital facilities. It has lost wages and profits and savings through disputes in which it had no part and against which it had no safeguards.

"The constitutional guarantees of justice, domestic tranquility and general welfare have been made a mockery. Government has surrendered and groveled, trying to appease reckless men who put themselves above laws and elected officials.

"We have had strikes against the public and the government, strikes against employers and strikes against rival unions, strikes against contracts, strikes against official awards, and untold thousands of strikes so obscure and trivial in origin that nobody ever quite knew what they were about.

"And what can we, the people, do about it?

"Something, surely, for under our government all strength lies in the people . . .

How To Use Less Tender Cuts Of Deer

College Station — Opening of deer season in Texas in the immediate future is certain to bring to wives of successful hunters the problem of using less tender cuts of venison. Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, offers venison sausage with its variety of uses as a solution.

The shoulders, neck and lower portion of the ribs when boned make good sausage, says Miss Lawrence. Here are the directions. Grind the meat, using three parts deer meat to one part of fresh pork fat. If a drier sausage is preferred, use four parts deer meat and one part of pork fat. Season with one and one-third cups of salt and three-fourths of a cup of black pepper to 50 pounds of meat. About three-eighths of a cup of sage may be added to the seasoning mixture, according to taste. (Three-eighths of a cup equals one-fourth of a cup plus two tablespoons.)

If the sausage is to be kept for some time, stuff it in a casing or muslin bag, Miss Lawrence suggests. She adds that the sausage may be smoked, depending on family preferences.

Ground venison may be used as any other ground meat . . . in meat loaf, with spaghetti or in chili, for instance. Sometimes even the choice cuts from an old animal prove difficult to cook tender, and in this event they should be ground. In addition to adding seasoning, add some fat, too, the specialist advises, for venison usually contains insufficient fat. That is sometimes a reason it

Sudan Seed Crop Short

College Station — Texas farmers who wait until spring to start hunting seed for a sudan crop are likely to find themselves out of luck.

According to a report received by the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service from the USDA Bureau of Agricultural Economics, production of sudan grass seed in Texas this year is estimated to be only 5,200,000 pounds—the smallest since 1929. Indicating just how low that figure is, the report showed the average seed production of this state over the past 10 years to be 27,490,000 pounds. Last year's crop was only 9,000,000 pounds, which was still nearly twice as large as the current crop.

Although Texas farmers aren't ordinarily on the lookout for sudan seed this far ahead of the spring planting season, the short crop, as indicated by the BAE report should move them to buy sudan seed now instead of waiting until spring when a mad rush to find seed usually occurs.

Present supplies of the sudan seed for the entire nation, including production this year plus the carryover, stand at 45,859,000 pounds. This is 34 per cent smaller than the 1945 supplies.

General Agricultural Outlook For 1947

College Station — Total demand for farm products is due to drop in 1947 and prices received by farmers during the coming year are likely to be below the 1946 average.

This is the situation reported by specialists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service who attended the Annual Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington D. C. recently to get the picture on what to expect in agriculture for 1947. As summed up by the specialists, the following is a general outlook for farmers next year:

Although cash receipts from farm marketings and government payments may give per cent less than in 1946, farmers are still likely to receive more money for their products than they did in 1945, a near-record year. With increased production costs and reduced sales, it is possible that the net income of farm operators will be reduced as much as 10 to 15 per cent from 1946. Even with such reduction, the net farm income will still be near the high wartime levels of 1943-45, and about two and a half times the 1935-39 average.

The increased consumer income due for next year is likely to go more for satisfying cumulated demand for many manufactured goods, as these become available, and not for the purchasing of more farm products.

Also, foreign demand for farm products is likely to be somewhat smaller in 1947. Index of prices received by farmers during 1946 is estimated to be about 225, and that figure is slated to drop the early part of 1947.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe System carloadings for the week ending November 16, 1946, were 25,443 compared with 23,680 for the same week in 1945. Cars received from connections totaled 13,000 compared with 10,592 for the same week in 1945. Total cars moved were 38,443 compared with 34,272 for the same week in 1945. Santa Fe handled a total of 37,794 cars in preceding week of this year.

SANITONE CLEANERS

Ever since we've been in business, our purpose has been to give you the best cleaning we know how to do.

Whenever we could we've made improvements in our technique and service. Now we've taken a major step which we think you'll like very much.

We've adopted the nationally known SANITONE METHOD which cleans clothes cleaner than ever before.

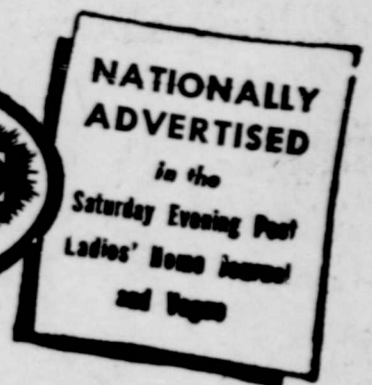

After testing Sanitone and studying it, we've adopted it because we're convinced that it produces the finest cleaning that can be done.

It wasn't all one-sided, either. We were pretty thoroughly investigated and inspected ourselves, to satisfy the Sanitone people that our workmanship and equipment meet their standards.

Sanitone is licensed only to carefully selected cleaners. Frankly, we're proud to be one of them.

Now we'd like you to try our Sanitone Cleaning Service. It's so much better that you'll be able to see and feel the difference.

Just A Bit About Airports

From talking with this, that and tother of late, some seem to think that the town or community that does not spend thousands of dollars in taxpayers money to build airport facilities, are just plain backwoodsmen and nonprogressives. Some of them are prone to have the city and county dads go on with airport work regardless of cost.

Let us remind ourselves just at this time that hardly one in ten thousand use air transportation except for letters or parcels. Most people are not unlike the writer, still of the opinion that air travel is entirely unsafe, and possibly will be for years, maybe always. There is entirely too many deaths from air travel according to the total number of passengers carried. Hardly a day passes through the winter months that you fail to read of an air liner or a navy-plane bumping into a mountain with its whole cargo burned alive, or horribly mangled.

Oh, you say, but look at 'em killed on highways. Y-e-a-h, and just look at the number that travel the highways compared to the few that travel the airways. And look those driving a lot of the cars? An air pilot is supposed to undergo intensive training. So, we are not cussing the local authorities for being in no hurry to spend the people's money on airports.

And here is another reason: Railroads, bus and truck lines furnish their own terminals and depots. The public is neither asked to build or maintain them. But, says the air enthusiast, the trucks and buses use the highways the public built with taxes. Sure, sister, but look what a heavy tax they pay into the highway department for the privilege, in the way of gas and license tax, not to mention tax in many cities, counties and the state on their rolling stock. Does the big air transport lines pay any taxes? Where? Possibly some in the larger cities that will never help the rural areas.

So, after studying the matter over, we have just about reached the conclusion that if the big airway lines want to land in Brownfield, and very likely they never will, let 'em build their own landing fields. If local flyers want hangers, let the owners of the planes build 'em, just like us common run of the mine car owners build our own garages.

Vet Vocational Students To Meet Saturday

All Veterans contemplating taking agriculture under the program set up by the government are urged to be present at the District Courtroom at 4 P. M., Saturday, when the program will be more fully explained and officials may be enabled to secure necessary information whereby they may determine the extent of the program in this county.

The classes are to be under the supervision of a qualified vocational agriculture instructor. Classes will meet twice weekly for a total of 10 1/2 hours classroom instruction. In addition, each student will receive 2 hours individual instruction each week. Various students will be called upon for demonstrations.

Under this program, married veterans are to receive $90 per month. Disabled veterans who qualify will receive $115 per month and single veterans, $65.

All interested veterans should have their Certificate of Eligibility with them at the Saturday meeting. If the veteran does not as yet have this certificate or has not applied for one, he should have with him a photostatic copy of his discharge papers in order that steps may be taken toward his procuring one. In addition to the above, the married veteran should have a copy of his Marriage Certificate.

County Superintendent Lee Fulton, who has been appointed to get the program started in this county, estimates that there will probably be 45 veterans enrolled in the first classes.

Mr. Fulton also emphasized the fact that he would strive to the utmost of his ability to present and maintain a beneficial and interesting program for the Veterans.
