

CITY TO VOTE ON REVENUE BONDS BONDS FOR LIGHT PLANT FEB. 4

The peak of the load of the municipal light and power plant is just about all the several engines can carry at the present time. Should one of the larger ones flicker during this load time, it would be just too bad and maybe too late to do a lot of griping. But there is something that all the property taxpaying citizens can do about the matter, and the Herald believes they will act favorably.

The city council of the city, joined by the mayor have ordered an election to issue $150,000 of revenue bonds, on Tuesday, February 4th. This election will be held at the city hall, and will be held in conformity with all state election laws. The election will be next Tuesday week, so let's not forget. Call your neighbor and remind him and other qualified voters in his family to vote.

No, if this election carries, your taxes won't be upped one single penny, for the bond sale to be paid out of the proceeds of the plant earnings, and will run for ten years at 3 per cent interest. The bulk of the money derived from the bonds will be spent for a huge new engine, which the city hopes can be installed the latter part of this year. The rest will be spent for material and labor for extensions of electric service to outlying districts and new additions to the city.

The men who represent you at the city hall are all good business men. They have not gone into this without thorough investigation and thought. They know the city will grow as never before and these new homes and business houses must be supplied with lights and power. And they know that the capacity of the present plant is being reached, even if there is no accident to any of the units.

So, let's all go to the polling place at the city hall Tuesday February 4th, and by our vote guarantee that Brownfield will keep step with its growth and development. A vote for the bond issue will be a vote of confidence not only in our city government but also in the future growth of our fine little city. VOTE.

He stressed the success of the Lions International efforts, in cultivating fellowship and good will between different peoples.

The local club here presented him with a Stetson hat. Frank Jordan, District Governor, is escorting him through this large West Texas district.

March Of Dimes Pepping Up

Lee O. Allen who waged a one man campaign for sometime in the current March of Dimes, reports a quick tempo in the march. The Lions, Rotary and Jaycees have thrown their might in it and are taking turn about in street collections. Ladies, individual, and in clubs are very active.

Miss Jackie Cornett, daughter of our chief of police, Wednesday afternoon, made a one gal march of her own, and turned in a little more than fifty dollars, receiving the profuse thanks of the chairman.

With the theatres cooperating, the ladies bridge party with merchants valuable prizes next Thursday and the generous spirit of the public it is hoped the drive culminating with the annual banquet and dance at the Legion hall next Thursday night, a worthwhile fund will be raised.

Texas Has New Governor

Before one of the largest crowds ever assembled for such an occasion in Austin in recent years, Beauford H. Jester, was inaugurated Governor of Texas last Tuesday. He became the 36th governor of the State. The ceremonies attended by General Wainwright, and dignitaries of Mexico and other Latin American countries, was followed by a huge parade through downtown Austin, accompanied by several bands and army and airplane displays.

Allan Shivers, at the same time became Lieutenant Governor.

Texas, not only the largest in area, but is among the strongest in finance. It receives 285 million dollars annually, and expends about 255 million. It has over 4 billion tax property valuation. However, only a small part of its revenue, 15 million comes from ad valorem taxes.

For instance, cigarette stamp tax brings 13 million, liquor taxes ten million, gasoline and oil taxes fifty million, automobile license tags, ten million. Gross receipts and production taxes, forty six million. Many other license fees of lesser amounts, make up the balance.

G I Farm School Well Attended

Forty three students, GI farmers, are attending the vocational free school, being taught nights in the vocational agriculture room of the east school building here. Harmon Seales and Roger Lindsey are the teachers. They have two classes alternating nightly, and could have three classes if they could find another teacher.

It will run continuously. Each veterans is given free training for a time equal to his service time, plus one year more.

Both teachers attended a teachers training class at Lubbock, last week.

Future Farmers Work On Lone Star Degree

Future Farmers in the Brownfield chapter are working hard to obtain the degree of Lone Star Farmers.

This is the highest state degree awarded in Future Farmer work. The following five boys from the Brownfield chapter have a good chance to win this award.

Nelson Brigrance, Dale Newsom, Wyndell Miller, George Henson and Hershel Wooley.

Some of the things a boy must do to earn this degree are: Earn and invest $250 from his farming program, show leadership ability, high scholarship, improve agriculture in his community, rank in the 2 per cent of the Future Farmers of the state and complete three years of vocational agriculture in school.

Boys receiving this degree are given a golden key from the state office and an area banquet is held for them in Lubbock. Last year eleven boys from the Brownfield chapter received the degree to set a new record in Texas for the largest number from one chapter in one year.

In the last five years twenty-three boys from the Brownfield chapter have been awarded Lone Star Farmers degree and is the largest number from one chapter in this area. The Brownfield Future Farmers are proud of these records and all look forward to trying to gain this honor.

Mr. Gillham made the following statement:

"We have several cases still under treatment and we have no idea just what our further liabilities are, so it is necessary that we raise a large sum of money in our March of Dimes Campaign now under way. Obviously the National Association could not continue to furnish us large sums of money because this money has to come from somewhere. We hope that every citizen will realize the seriousness of the polio situation and will contribute every cent he

Saturday, when the Boy Scouts visit your place of business, or if a farmer they find you on the streets, don't try to pry around in your pocketbook looking for the least coin you can find. The large ones are always on top, so get the first one you come to. Better still, give a $1, $5, $10 or even a $20 bill if you are feeling the urge, and make some little boy or girl feel good because they will be assured of treatment if polio strikes them.

This is the message that Lee O. Allen, leader of the drive left with the Herald when we talked with him Monday. Lee O. says a better hearted people never lived in the world than Terryites and Yoakumites. They are the kind of people who want to do the right thing at the right time. They are people who do not like to see or even hear of human suffering. So, most of them give liberally as if they expected the dread disease to strike next in their own family.

He stated that the boys would have tin containers with a hole in the top so money can be put into them. They will not try to high pressure anyone on giving any stated amount. There is no quota this year for the nation, and there is no quota for individuals. They are just asked to do their duty.

The Herald would also respectfully call your attention to the report of J. O. Gillham, treasurer, in this issue of the Herald. Note that we spent all local funds last year on polio victims in this community and had to call on the national treasury for some $2500 extra.

Let us hope that the disease will miss us this year, but let's be prepared to help some unfortunate community where the disease does strike.

February 1 Last Day For Paying Taxes

February 1 is date fixed by law when penalties will be added on all taxes unpaid by then. January 31 is last day for payment of poll taxes, without which one cannot vote during 1947.

Are Husbands Losing Their Liberties?

For the past few years we have heard much ado about bureaucracy and government interference with private affairs, but we thought it mostly pertained to Washington. But last week it was brought home to us, when County Attorney Virgil Crawford and the other officials, pulled a local man for whipping his wife. Although the man plead his constitutional privileges, his personal liberty and the age long democratic rule that a man has the right to whip his own wife, the officers hard up for business made him pay a fine. He had only resided here a few months, and will now likely, after this, move on to where personal liberty still exists. Many husbands express the fear, a precedent having been established may spread too far, while some of the smaller ones, endorse the move, if it will be made to apply to wives, under the equal suffrage theory, that husbands ought to have protection of the law, as well.

RESERVE OFFICERS NOTICE

Once upon a time, Texas was able to have two governors, but both at the price of one, when Ma Ferguson reigned supreme at the governor's mansion, with Pa Ferguson as Governor Consort. Georgia has at least called our number, but not at the price of one.

The Herald is being propagandized by small advertisers, especially of the patent medicine variety, to rally to the so-called "fair trades act." Naturally these companies want to set the price that their products can be retailed for all over the United States. As far as we can learn none of the stores in Brownfield are making any great effort to let some one in the north and east set prices, and the Herald shall not tear its hair.

Contrary to the general conception of the matter, we believe that most of the American industry, big or little, is highly competitive. Take the oil industry, which we know best in Texas, if there was no State and Federal tax on gasoline, we would be getting the very best high octane for around 14c per gallon, and we have seen people pay almost that much for water. Then take the automobile manufacturers, Ford does not ask GMC or vice versa when they get ready to cut or boost prices.

The thing that always impresses the foreign visitor to America more than anything else is our accurate and efficient system of merchandising. It makes the systems now in vogue in Europe and the rest of the world look ages behind our times. Our neighbors below the border are fast catching the trend, and they either have some branches of American chains, or their more progressive business men are themselves instituting the new systems. One thing, however, that hinders the European from adopting the system is their habit of haggling over the price. Americans have neither the time nor inclination to argue and bargain over a few pennies.

We believe there is one sure shot to make east Texas legislators get in line for redistricting. Let west Texas quit sending taxes or representatives to Austin. There is absolutely no law to keep us from forming another state in west Texas, keep all the taxes, including the millions going to the University of Texas. This would not last long until those shirttail possum and coon hunters come to their senses and did something besides trying to grab off everything. No, they would not send an army either. It is not the rank and file of east Texans that are holding up redistricting. It is the politicians, and especially those in office as state legislators, who do not want their districts bothered, even though they just have about 30 thousand people while others in south and west Texas have 150 thousand. The politicians of east Texas won't come out here to collect the taxes. They wouldn't fight a cottontail rabbit.

Much discussion has been going on in the press, not to mention several state safety councils of late, as just what the word, "fireproof" really means. It seems to have come down to the simple meaning that it only means that the interior of the building may burn out entirely, but the walls will stand. In view of that fact, a fireproof hotel or public building means absolutely nothing so far as the safety of people in them is concerned, and hundreds are being burned to death or badly maimed for life. There is going to be a demand that new buildings in the future mean what we think, and old buildings will have to comply or be closed. Tall buildings will have to have steel doors, the corridors so fixed that they may be closed by a steel wall, elevator shafts will have to be so they may be closed from flames, smoke and poison gas that always travel upward, and more fire escapes will have to be provided. To cap it all, building codes will have to be enforced by municipalities, officials of which are on the ground, rather than state officials.

Like the old miser who allegedly killed the goose that layed the golden egg, the coal miners seem to be headed in the same general direction. One does not have to be overly old to remember the time when coal miners were almost in slavery to the operators. It almost became a national scandal, and the people, the press and pulpit were loud in their denunciation of the heartless operators. Public opinion caused a great change to be made; miner unions were recognized, and bargaining was permitted, and the lowly coal miner became a free human again. Some good legislation was worked out that would protect them from oppression again, but some politicians and racketeers got in charge and carried the matter too far. The mine bosses stuck out their chests and bellowed like old Hitler and Muss. They were bigger than the US government. The point has now been reached when the miners will either get rid of blind leaders or they will head for their old condition again. Too many work stoppages might bring a competitor to coal into their section, known as natural gas, and their very jobs and livelihood would go glimmering.

The new and most serious threat to American labor unions, seems not to be the employers, but among rival unions that cannot agree on jurisdiction. That fact was especially noticeable in the recent strikes at the movie production center at Hollywood. The fellows who turned the lights up or down were not allowed to move the flower pots, or what have you. As a consequence, they began picketing each other, and no work was done. This bullheadedness will cause some law to be passed giving some hard boiled persons the right to stop such childishness or dissolve the unions involved.

According to the Gallup Poll there has been a decided change in sentiment of Americans in favor of the advancement which has been made toward world peace. Regardless of the slow progress which has been made toward world unity under the United Nations, most any kind of peace is preferable to the destructive war which we have passed. With world minded political leadership in this nation working for peace, let us hope that real progress may be reported one year hence on the work of the United Nations organization. Settling international differences is no work for a boy or for immature political leaders who do not have the capacity for international problems.—Canyon News.

The Pope of Rome, who maintains a little government of his own in Vatican City, and who aspires to influence every other government in the world, including our own, has been having troubles of his own recently. Certain individuals in Rome have gotten tired of the Pope's dictatorial methods. Two or three of them own newspapers in the "Eternal City" and have been printing what they think. Even a lot of people in Vatican City seem to have been imbued with the spirit of rebellion. So, in order to intimidate the embryonic rebels, the Pope called a great meeting of his subjects a couple of days before Christmas and proceeded to lay down the law to them, so to speak. He threatened and cajoled them in a manner, it is said, that would have done credit to a Mussolini. A report from Rome about that time stated that one Ruggio Mac-cari, 27, editor of two anti-clerical weeklies, had been sentenced to two years imprisonment by an Italian court. The decision, it was stated, was viewed as a warning to anti-clericals that offenses against the Roman Catholic clergy would not go unpunished. So, it is plain that they do not have freedom of the press, nor religious freedom in Rome when the Pope or his Clerics are involved. No. If this issue of the Lynn County News were published in Rome, the editor would probably be landed in jail pretty pronto. And yet the Pope of Rome and Roman dignitaries in this country are posing as the chief advocates of religious broad-mindedness and tolerance at this time. And they are fooling some smart people.—Lynn County News.

WEST TEXAS HOSPITALITY EXTENDED TOMMY TUCKER AND ORCHESTRA

The Men's Fellowship Class, which meets in the City Hall, sponsored a barbecue supper Wednesday evening of last week in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist church. Tommy Tucker and members of his orchestra were special guests.

Mr. Ray Nichols, of Vernon, lay leader of the entire Methodist Church, was guest speaker. Mr. Nichols is editor of the Vernon Record and active in several civic organizations. As lay leader of the church he is touring parts of the United States on a speaking tour.

He talked on stewardship and the following is an excerpt from his speech: "We became Stewards when we were born. The heritage of American health and freedom makes us of necessity trustees, with obligation to share with the pagan and needy world. Never in the history of the world have the non-Christian and anti-Christian forces had so much power with which they might destroy the Christian minorities of the world, and never have they been so willing to us: these forces for our destruction. This should unify and strengthen our desire to fight for our preservation. We fight, not with weapons of ordinary warfare to kill, but we fight with weapons of the spirit and brotherhood and human relief and ideas and ideals. Christians must hasten to share their heritage with the non-Christians before they destroy us."

Mr. Joe W. Johnson acted as toastmaster, Messrs Lee Allen, Leo Holmes, M. J. Craig and Clovis Kendrick prepared and served the food. They were assisted in serving by several member of the class.

One hundred and fifty men enjoyed the affair. Guests from other churches were: Rev. Joe P. Murphy, Al Muldrow and W. H. Dallas from the Presbyterian church, and W. E. Latham, R. M. Moorhead and C. E. Ross from the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jones were hosts with a turkey dinner Sunday noon for the employes of Jones Dry Goods store.

BAND NEWS

The first half of the school year is nearly over and it is time to start a new beginner's class. Some will want help in finding instruments and Mr. Horn can do that. New instruments are a little more plentiful and a few used ones may be had. One clarinet and one saxophone have been listed with Mr. Horn. The new class of beginners will start with the new semester, Jan. 20. That just gives time for getting that horn and enrolling the student with Mr. Horn.

Several boys and girls are working overtime to get a bid to the State Band Clinic, to be held at Galveston February 5 to the 8th.

This is about the highest tribute to be given a high school player—to be selected to play in one of the "two" piece bands to be used for the Texas Music Educator's Convention.

Mr. Horn is trying to improve the instrumentation of the band by adding some scarce, but much needed horn such as a Bass, Clarinet, French Horn, and maybe an Oboe. These are strictly for band use and are rather expensive, so they will be added slowly. We hope to show as much improvement this coming year as we did in the one just past.

Wind Erosion Remedy Is Deep Breaking

Demonstration in Terry county indicate that breaking land deeply is a worthwhile practice in preventing wind erosion and getting larger crop yields in West Texas.

Former County Agricultural Agent R. N. McClain reports that the demonstrations carried out show that land broken deep enough to bring clay to the top of the ground suffers "scarcely any" from wind erosion, and "in practically every instance" deeply broken plots show crop yield increases over unbroken land.

On the J. J. Jones farm in the Johnson Community, a plot was broken 12 inches deep and planted in milo, McClain says. This plot yielded 400 pounds more grain than a plot of equal size that was not broken deeply. And on the Beavers farm near Wellman, 160 acres were broken to a depth of 28 inches and yielded double the amount of grain raised in shallow-broken land.

The clay brought to the top by the deep breaking offered definite resistance to erosion by wind, McClain says.

Last Week A Jonah For The Herald

Of all the dadgummed, dadratred Luck we ever had, it hit this great religious weekly right 'twixt the eyes last week, and some news and ads had to be left out, one of the ads being a half page. That is enough to gripe any publisher.

First off, one of the hands that had been working here since June 1945 failed to show up Monday. He lives in a nearby town, and we have reason to believe we know why he didn't show up. Yep, he quit owing us too.

Then our linotype operator took sick Tuesday noon and went home to Ralls to "doctor" up, getting back on the job Thursday noon. So, the Old He had to take a swing at the old Merg., and all the rest of the hands had several "night sessions."

Such things, however, will happen in the best regulated families. All the rest of the force was back on the job this week and seemed to be feeling alright, except of course the printer first mentioned.

Plains Items Takes Off For Midland

Along last week after the Herald had been bedded down for the week, the Plains Items of news turned up, marked "missent to Midland." That was the reason no Plains news appeared in these columns last week.

Just why the letter was sent to Midland is hard to figure. The address was in good, clear penmanship, "Terry County Herald, Brownfield, Texas," that even the half blind ought to read easily.

Jack Browder, of Hobbs spent the week-end here with his parents Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Browder.

H. P. French and family who lived near Tokio for several years have become citizens of Brownfield.

Johnson News

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Fore returned home Saturday from a 2 months visit with their children in Calif. Mrs. Fore was bitten by a bug, spider or something while there and the bite is giving her much pain.

Most farmers think we had 7 inches of snow which makes all of us think we shall get a crop this year.

Mrs. Roy Taylor, an old Terryite from Muleshoe, visited friends and old neighbors at Tokio the first part of the week, then spent the remainder with the Claude Merritt family.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Jones and Mrs. Crane visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jones and family over the week end. Also the R. D. Jones family.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Merritt and children, Mrs. Roy Taylor of Muleshoe, John, Annie and Jane McCrow and D. J. Yowell attended the wedding shower for the Lloyd Chennaults at Tokio Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Eubanks of Calif., are visiting Mrs. J. W. Lasiter.

J. E. Thurman Brings In A Real Treat

J. E. Thurman asked last week if we would like a good hog backbone in trade for the Herald Sure, says we, bring it in, as that is one of our favorites cuts of the swine. In a few days he brought it in, and what a piece of meat.

Now Mr. Thurman either does not try, or just don't wish to do so, but he is no competitor to your local butcher in getting all the meat off the bone. There was plenty tenderloin that the cooks with a sharp knife shaved off and we had it fried. Then the bones had plenty meat on them.

Says Mr. Truman, if you are satisfied, I am. He meant to give him credit for one year, of $2 for the large backbone. Says the Mrs. later, there is five or six dollars worth of meat on that bone, so we upped Mr. Thurman's paper to 1949, $4 worth. And we also hope he is satisfied.

Babson Stresses Home Discipline To Help Curb Juvenile Delinquency Problems

By ROGER W. BABSON

It is hard to grasp the full import of the tidal wave of juvenile delinquency as today reported by police and courts, by social workers, and by the grim lips of school and church. No testimony of public authorities, however, should be needed to warn readers of its sweep. You only have to scan the grim faces of the "teen-agers" detained right in your own community or neighborhood. The "teen-age" situation at present is frankly bad and scientists fear that the future outlook is even worse.

Has It Come To: "Babies Will Be Babies?"

Two highlights stand out in studying the—what can it be—"infant insanity" epidemic of this postwar era:—First: The sheer gravity and depravity of the widespread offenses. Literally they do not stop short of robbery, arson, torture, rape or other nameable kinds of crime. Second: The astounding all but unbelievable, youthfulness of the perpetrators. There was a time when an arrested and accused "offender made news" because he was still in his "teens." Today, however such youthfulness is a routine story, old stuff. In fact, the news-worn reader hardly bats an eye to learn that the "teenhood man" has not reached "concocted. Not a crime on the list is missing from the current blotters—and overwhelming numbers of the guilty are in short pants or bobby-sox. The crimes are major; the criminals are minors.

Spoiled Parents One Cause

Any hunt for the taproot of today's zoom in juvenile delinquency will start with the reconstruction of parenthood and its untransferable duties. This responsibility of rearing decent children is so big a project it calls for all available aid from specialists and outside forces. But it's too personal a job to be sub-let entirely. A wayward youngster and a derelict "pop or mom" usually are but the two faces of the same bad coin. Childhoodlumism will ebb only when legal and financial responsibilities are placed where they belong.

Hope In Decentralization

The case of the spoiled parent can be tracked back partly to the synthetic home. I refer to the many homes which have no spiritual background and where a Bible is never read. What of enduring worth do such habitations offer to eager childhood? Now do not mistake my meaning, for I hasten to add that such a synthetic home may be streamlined with all the gadgetry which the wife can crave and the husband can buy. It may be among the swellest houses in town; for police blotters will show that some of the worst horrors of delinquent juveniles involve the so-called elite. It is the home's behavior to which I refer and this has little to do with the cost of the house.

Today's congestion is floating many families from the overgrown big cities and into the smaller towns, suburbs, and countryside. Let us hope that this outbound trek will lead to revival of true home-making and real child-bearing. If blessed with such results, this nation will be far along toward solving its tragic youth problem. Pulled out of congestion's deadly orbit and influences, the normal home can redevelop a family life that will absorb and improve youngsters. Parents will then be less prone to pass the buck to hired baby-sitters, under-privileged teachers, and the contagion of gang corruption.

Cures Must Be Spiritualized

I ere is hope, too, in the benefits of Scouting, Boystown's fine work, Youth Achievement and the bold experiments with youth hostleries, juvenile enterprises, and other modern quests of like aim. We must also veer away from the radical extremes of some forms of the "progressive" education and restore basic truths of wise discipline with rewards and penalties. "Self-expression" has a place no doubt, but it should not become a "fast-express" to perdition. It needs to be balanced by self-discipline. Potential allies, instead of foes, could be enlisted from better movies, comics, radios, videos, tip-ins and facsimilies. So the outlook is conditionally hopeful. Child crime can be curbed, if not wholly cured, but with proviso: Namely, all the good efforts on earth will prove but poultices unless imbued and endowed with spiritual values. In the end, juvenile delinquency—like other tribulations—is healable only through help from On High.

Veterans News

Nearly 200,000 veterans of World War II are going to school of training under federal veterans benefits in the Dallas Branch Area of the Veterans Administration, a year-end report has revealed.

As of January 1, 1947, veterans in training by states in the Branch Area numbered 131,306 in Texas, 31,310 in Louisiana and 33,444 in Mississippi.

VA reported the status of other major veterans benefits in the tri-state area as follows:

1. Disability compensations being paid to veterans of all wars—Texas, 112,088; Louisiana 28,072; Mississippi, 31,433.
2. Number and value of GI guaranteed loans—Texas, 28,271 for $147,557,537; Louisiana, 5,224 for $29,731,875; Mississippi 2,234 for $10,896,787.
3. Veterans in VA hospitals in the three states—6,432.

4. Out-patient treatments—monthly average of 41,000 examinations and 25,000 treatments. (No state figures available).

5. Insurance—more than one million GI policies representing accounts of 986,000 veterans in the three states. (No state figures).

6. Death compensation and pension awards—33,000 awards in the three states. (no state figures).

The cost of all veterans benefits (including administrative expenses) in the three states for 1946 was: Texas $180,775,264; Louisiana, $37,411,561; Mississippi $45,084,790.

Veterans with service-connected dental conditions may apply to the VA regional office in their area for out-patient treatment by private dentists participating in the VA's "home own" medical program.

For one year after a veteran's discharge, VA will accept prima facie evidence of a service-connected or aggravated dental ailment and authorize out-patient treatment.

After the veteran has been out of a service a year, his application must be adjudicated by a rating board as service-connected before out-patient treatment can be authorized.

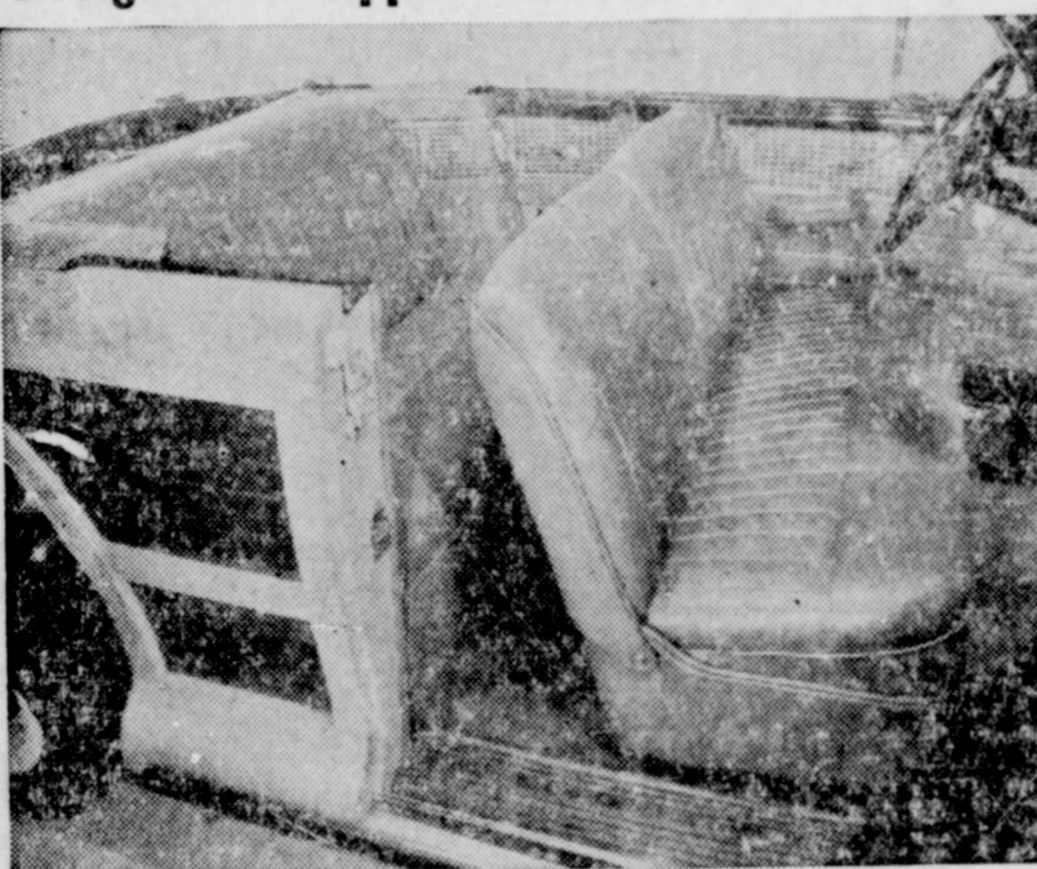

Treatment authorized must be in a VA clinic if it is feasibly available. If not, treatment on a fee basis by a participating dentist of the veteran's own choice will be authorized.

The number of weekly allowances to which you may be entitled is strictly limited. Each time you receive payment of a weekly allowance, regardless of the dollar amount, you use up one of the limited number to which you may be entitled.

Am I entitled to additional weeks of readjustment?

A. The number of weekly allowances to which you may be entitled is strictly limited. Each time you receive payment of a weekly allowance, regardless of the dollar amount, you use up one of the limited number to which you may be entitled.

Designed to Appeal to the Individualistic

This interior view of the Chrysler Town and Country Six-passenger Convertible shows an artistic combination of pleated leather and rayon in the upholstery and trimmings. This combination may be had in several colors, to match the exterior color scheme of the car. The massive size of the body members, which are of white ash, indicates the stability of the car. Panels are of mahogany, on plymetal. The body is mounted on a Chrysler "New Yorker" chassis, powered by an eight-cylinder engine. From front bumper to windshield, the design is the same as that of the steel-bodied models of the 1946 Chrysler line. From the windshield back, the Convertible has a style all its own.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

BY Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Stimulated by a larger supply of consumer goods in many lines, Americans avidly spent an estimated $127 billion for goods and services during 1946, establishing a new high record for spending, $21 billion more than had gone across retail counters in 1945.

Even this melodic tinkling of cash registers, however, failed to drown out a note of caution in the retail field. Advertisements of sales appeared haltingly in the early fall months and in a flood after the Christmas buying had ended.

Industry in general looks for good business this year, but is convinced that more effort must be put on selling, that service will again become an emphasized part of the salesman's stock in trade. Perhaps the most pleasing aspect of the 1947 outlook is the fact that there is still an unfulfilled demand for refrigerators, radios, toasters and that rather large category I own as durable goods.

Following is an indication of what the business outlook is in four businesses:

FOOD: Consumers can look forward to adequate stocks of almost all foods, including those in short supply during the war. They can also expect new shopping conveniences in finer food stores. Farmers and processors, he predicts will see their output approaching the 1946 record production. The entire food industry, he adds, is embarked on "an era designed to contribute substantially to the improvement of production and distribution methods." "Ten years ago, the advent of the super market introduced true mass distribution to the food field. The next few years will see a refinement of all techniques involved in this development," he says.

Supporting this contention the Department of Agriculture predicts that although 1947 food production may not reach the record 1946 level, the amount available for domestic consumption will be approximately the same because of the likelihood of reduced exports and the availability of improved farm and processing machinery.

Barring serious work stoppages, expect many prewar canned items to return to retail shelves in large volume during 1947.

LIFE IN THE SLAVE STATE

Those who believe that super-government may have its virtues would do well to memorize this paragraph from W. L. White's recently published "Report on the Poles": "In the slave state a man is told where and how to live and work, when and for whom to vote, when to cheer and when to boo, and when to scream loudly that his land is the freest and most democratic on all the globe."

The "slave states" did not disappear with the defeat of Germany, Italy and Japan. They survive throughout the world, and some of them are powerful nations. They talk of "security"—which simply means a license to push other people around. They prate of their own brand of "democracy"—which in all essentials is no different from nazism. They shout for the rights of workers—and they treat the worker as a tool, to be used and discarded as the whims and exigencies of the moment may determine.

Super-states inevitably become slave states. All powerful government inevitably turns into oppressive government. If the American people have learned nothing else, modern history should have taught them that grim fact. The threat to liberty from within is greater, more ominous, than the threat from without. The greatest truth of this age is that those who temporize with freedom by sanctioning centralized, socialistic government, lose freedom.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

Up to recent-like to make the front page, you sounded off against "Business." Business is a horse thief, you would say—and the votes were a cinch. But lately, lotsa folks have been finding that when they get down to brass tacks, they are in business, too. You can have a one-chair barber shop—and be in business. You don't have to be big to be in business. If you have 2 cows you are in business—if you sell a quart now and then to a neighbor.

Folks showed how they leaned back there on November 5th. So to campaigners who still crave publicity and how to get same I am dedicating this essay. Do something new and novel. You don't have to bite a dog—just say something nice about how it is pretty slick to buy good gas to 20 cents versus around 50 in Europe, etc. Talk about how in this land of the free, everybody can have an education and free Give a pat 'on the back and 3 cheers to the folks who pulled in their belts so as to have some cash to finance outfits who drill oil wells and build the refineries, etc. Stockholders are people—thrifty people. They have helped make America, America.

Next to the greatest sight that could be imagined by a private in the rear rank, which he said would be a boat-load of Sergeants gettin' sunk, it would be a boat-load of folks who make a nice living via abusing business.

Every day, more and more folks are coming up with an idea for a new law. I am not trying to say there is no good reason for such, but I don't know where we are gonna put 'em. From attic to basement, we are crowded now, with laws. Our first job is to find space and room for any new ones. We must clean out the present misfits that we have been acquiring for the past dozen years. Too much law versus too little is the thing that has been upsetting our tranquility, progress and confidence. If there was an instrument of some kind that would measure "confidence," a reading from same would show we been passing through on all-time low era—or next door to same.

What would be your first law to go out the window, says Henry. As a starter, I says (it would be the Wagner one—the champion

March of Dimes Begins

Governor-Elect Beauford Jester pledged every co-operation in the annual March of Dimes sponsored by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. He is pictured with George D. Wilson, Texas chairman for the fund-raising campaign, which is now under way throughout Texas and will continue through January 30. George Waverly Briggs of Dallas and W. L. Clayton of Houston and Washington also are serving as Texas chairmen.

and grandpa of the misfits. And then on down the line, we could do as the "little woman" does when she moves into a new house—cleans out the sawdust and shavings, washes the windows—and then decides on what kind of new furniture is needed—and where to put it.

You know, in this age of hurry up—and middle-of-the-road driving—and ill manners generally, I been researchin' around to see how it all got started. And you know, a lot of signs point to high places. For years our Govt. has said, "brother you do this or you do that or you don't eat." And the brother I am referrin' to is you and your Uncle Josephus. So if the Govt. can become bossy and sassy and take a push-around attitude, how come other folks can't cater on and also go uncouth and sassy. They can—and do.

That is how I deduct it, and if I am jake on my theory, then there is a cure for our bad manners. Let the folks headin' our Govt. and the ones making the laws, sweep out the MUST—and the YOU GOTTA—and the all high OR ELSE orders, and the rest of us will catch on.

And going further into my research, it is the North more than the South that is needing an example. I have lived South and I have lived North. The North keeps harpin', superior like, about making laws to help the South—and uplift them down there. But if the South had the same bump of conceit and cared to stoop to interfering where it was none of their dratted business, it could do some vice versa uplift talk.

Manners is what the U. S. A needs more of.

Yours with the low down

Local Conservation District News

Mr. E. P. Stanford, Route 1, Plains, Texas called at the Brownfield District Conservation office Tuesday, January 7 to further develop plans for irrigation. The improved methods he plans to use this year should increase his production on the acreage now being irrigated on Section 792.

C. L. Johnson of the Poole community has acquired his brother, Thomas' farm and plans to have the District Engineer to design a terrace system. There are two other farms in Section 132, Block D-12, Terry County that have terrace lines laid out.

Mr. R. L. Freeman recently moved to the Sligo community from Catron County, New Mexico, to farm with his brother, C. C. Freeman.

The fate of American farm lands are revealed by these requirements. For every adult working man in the United States today these is required 31-2 acres to produce his food and clothes every year. The figures are listed as follows:

Meat-leather, 1.86 acres; Dairy products, .78; grain-cereals, .37; poultry-eggs, .25; vegetables, .08; cotton, .07; fruits, .05; sugar-syrups, .04.

To further amplify the above statement, it becomes necessary for all of our farmers everywhere to conserve the fertility of his soil. Seemingly, with the right to use goes the duty to conserve.

J. W. Savell, Route 2, Slaton Texas, who farms Section 1, Block Y, Terry County, was in January 3 to further develop his conservation plans to reseed 10 acres of Weeping Love Grass next spring. He has selected 10 acres of land with a high sudan stubble. The stubble is to remain on the ground until about the last of March or April. The seed will be drilled in by 42 inch rows between stubble rows, and the seed drilled at the rate of about one pound to the acre. Weeping Love or African Love grass has proved in the South Plains to be one of the better imported bunch grasses. Mr. Savell has increased density on his two sections of land near Rich Lake by deferred grazing during the growing seasons.

Any farmer within the District who is planning on starting grass reseeding this year is urged to see his seed dealer early in order to secure necessary grass seeds. Many varieties are scarce due to droughty conditions in 1945 and 1946. Also, the C.Y.T. District technicians are in a position to assist cooperators with planning of grass conservation measures for 1947.

Late last year Dr. John R. Turner bought 400 acres out of the West one-half of Section 27, Block T, and plans to farm this acreage for the first time this year. Dr. Turner requested the District program to assist in planning a complete conservation program for 1947. Terraces will be planned with necessary supporting practices and these terraces will be built this year if machinery is available. Mrs. M. M. Durham and her sons, will farm Dr. Turner's land this year.

Regrassing Eroded Land

Some of the best Agronomists have this to say about Weeping Love Grass (Eragrostis Curvula):

Weeping love grass is an excellent plant for controlling erosion on wind damaged and abandoned land. It is one of the easiest grass plants established under a wide range of soil and moisture conditions. It makes a vigorous growth the first season and by fall an excellent cover is usually established. This plant seems especially well adapted to seeding on deep sand and sand dunes where it is sometimes difficult to get a stand of native grass. It may be planted in mixtures with native grasses or in pure stands. The extensive root system will often penetrate the soil to a depth of 4 or 5 feet the first growing season.

Weeping love grass becomes green in the spring approximately two weeks earlier than blue grama and buffalo grass, and remains green in the late fall from four to six weeks after other grasses. During mild winters, it has remained green at the base most of the winter. Its earliness for green pasture is especially re-lished in early spring by cattle when it is in a succulent stage. If grazed fairly close, it is grazed well throughout the summer, but if lightly utilized and allowed to become mature, it is tough and fibrous compared to native grasses and the pastures are moderately grazed throughout the season, it is utilized as closely as blue grama and buffalo grass.

Weeping love grass is a summer perennial and should not be seeded in the fall. Planting made in July and August are more likely to winter kill as the plants may not become too well established before frost. Under average conditions, April and May are the best months for seeding. The seed of weeping love grass is very small and care must be taken on the seeding rate will be high. Covering of this small seeded grass must be shallow. Row plantings are made with garden planters and with special plates in corn planter boxes on regular listers. To equip a lister, blank sorghum plates are necessary. The blank plates are bored with 1-8 inch or slightly larger holes. Usually 4 to 6 holes to the plate are sufficient. Small cracks in seed boxes may be patched with paste and paper or flour dough, or per haps lead.

Facts Behind The Blackeyed Pea

The common blackeyed pea originated in India some 3000 years ago. It came to America from England in 1734, when it was first planted in Georgia in the Oglethorpe Colonies.

No one knows for certain when the pea first came to Texas, but it had been grown for food throughout the southern states for the past 50 years and it is probable that the first settlers brought the seed with them.

Peas belong to the family of Vigna Catjang and are closely related to both english peas and the various beans. The popular name for the blackeyed pea is "cowpea" but now that the canners have shown an interest in the crop and it is being introduced on a large scale to the nation's consumers, an effort is being made to disown the "cowpea" name as lacking in consumer appeal. In the same way "mutton" has replaced "sheep meat," although producers and handlers have been less successful in substituting "chevon" for "goat."

Blackeyed, cream and purple hull varieties have become increasingly popular as a food during the past five years. Texas canners have contracts with Eastern jobbers for as many cases of canned peas as can be produced and it appears to be an outstanding cash crop in the sandy areas of Texas.

Carelessness And Ignorance Spread Tuberculosis

AUSTIN, Jan 23 — "Carelessness and ignorance represent two of the most powerful factors in spreading communicable diseases from man to man. No more emphatic example of this fact exists than the continued ravages of tuberculosis. In spite of the knowledge of its cause and spread, and of curative methods, tuberculosis is still a very serious problem not only in Texas, but throughout the United States," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health officer.

"It is true that tuberculosis no longer is first on the list of killing diseases, as it was formerly," Dr. Cox said, "but despite having been reduced to fifth place in Texas, it still is responsible for more deaths between the ages of fifteen and forty-five than any other disease. And this fact exists even though the majority of tuberculosis patients could have their condition arrested if they were recognized early and proper treatment applied.

"Treatment of the early recognized case is essential. It is of equal importance, from a public health viewpoint, that the spread of this devastating infection be prevented. A more intelligent appreciation of this fact would result in the saving of thousands of lives.

"When a diagnosis of active tuberculosis has been made, examination of all of the other members of the immediately family should follow as a matter of course. Tuberculosis runs in families, not because of any special susceptibility to the disease, but because it is communicable, being usually transmitted through close and prolonged contact with the active case."

To reduce the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis, Dr. Cox suggests periodic examination of all adults, a check-up by physicians of the known active cases and contacts, regular examinations of high school children, isolation or hospitalization of the active tuberculosis case, and a more intelligent application of hygienic living principles.

Genius, Capital, Hard Luck and Brains

We take this piece of wit and ingenuity from the Monahans News:

Irvin Berlin takes a worthless piece of paper and writes a song hit. He sells the copy for $40 thousand. That's genius.

John D. Rockefeller can sign his name to a piece of worthless paper and make it worth half a million. That's capital.

Ollie Bruton can buy $4 of steel and make $1000 worth of watch springs. That's skill.

A cop can take a worthless piece of paper and write your number on it and make you out ten bucks. That's your hard luck

But—when a man looks for an apartment, finds just what he wants, and when the manager asks, "have you any children?" puts on a long face and answers, "yes, but they're in the cemetery," pays six months rent in advance; gets a receipt, then goes out to the cemetery, picks up his children and brings them to the apartment. That's brains.
