That magic 15 minutes a day: We honestly believe that if a person had enough self discipline to concentrate on any one thing (and nothing else) for 15 minutes a day, he could accomplish almost any feat.

If you don't believe it, just look at the ads in the magazines that claim, among other things, that you can lose weight, learn a foreign language, build your muscles, make more money, and overcome nervous tension if you will just follow the plan.

A strange thing that can be noticed about almost every great personality is that they admit that they fail only when it comes time to control themselves. They can work wonders with others, but in self-control, they always are defeated.

Maybe it's because of this strange quirk of human nature, that makes it hard for us to mind ourselves, that so much money is made on these "just 15 minutes a day" plans.

We've tried some of these plans, and found them to be useful—up to the point where our enthusiasm wore off. The greatest one we ever stumbled across (and we never had trouble getting ourselves to do it) was this: Get off to yourself and spend 15 minutes doing absolutely nothing. Don't read, don't think, don't talk to anyone, don't listen to the radio. Just sit still for 15 minutes. It's a great experience.

Have you noticed how much shorter the days are becoming? Even though the mornings have not yet taken on that crispness that heralds the approach of fall, it's surprising how the day is changing.

Here the cotton isn't even blooming yet, and we're thinking about football weather!

One for the books: Mrs. W. A. Tinney swears that she saw a bobcat near the Elk Drive-In one night last week. She says the cat ran off toward the bridge over Frio Draw. Deer last fall—bobcats this summer. What next?

At last we have seen a report on trading stamps that is believable.

A woman columnist in the Brownfield paper (we've forgotten her name) says that the ladies are crazy about the stamps because with them they can "buy" something that they would otherwise have had to account to their husbands for.

She writes seriously, too, and claims this is the real heart of the matter. When the Mrs. goes out and poops off a couple of books of hard-earned stamps on something she'd never have otherwise ever dared to buy, her husband never so much as raises an eyebrow, says this is a day. How different it would be if she spent money instead!

This may rank with the great scientific discoveries of the age. Businessmen all over the country marvel at the woman shopper's appetite for the stamps, and have long puzzled over the cause of this mania. Now we know.

We admit to being a thief. Some of our best column material we snatch from others. Here's an idea we stole from a syndicated writer: Put down a list of things that for some reason have special appeal to your physical senses.

Here's our contribution to a list of memorable things we have seen. These we remember for beauty:

Thunderheads over the High Plains on a hot summer afternoon . . . ripe wheat waving in the wind . . . a highly-arched hookshot that never touches the rim . . . irrigation water trickling down grain sorghum rows at eventide . . . a deer jumping a bush or fence . . . children playing on a big lawn . . . a new car in a showroom . . . snow hanging on the evergreens . . . well-printed newspaper . . . cotton hanging from the bolls . . . a skilled hurdler . . . a hawk circling against the sky . . . a well-kept lawn . . . ducks landing on the pond . . . a new piece of machinery . . . the road stretching ahead as far as the eye can see . . . the American flag . . .

Some things we remember for their ugliness, too:

A dump yard near a well-traveled highway . . . drought-burned grain sorghum plants . . . blood on the seat of a smashed car . . . the labor camp . . . a cancer-eyed cow . . . the insolent sneer of an incorrigible criminal . . . the muzzle of a Colt .45 . . . a trench knife . . . bindweed in a cultivated field . . .

Sounds we remember:

The distant cheering of a football game when you're late and are trying to hurry . . . the thud of a .22 slug into a jackrabbit . . . the crack of a baseball bat . . . little bare feet on the kitchen floor . . . irrigation water gurgling down the ditch . . . a truck on the highway at night . . . a Model A Ford . . . a typewriter . . . the sound of glass in an auto wreck . . . a model airplane on a control wire . . . a switch

Four Firemen At Training School at A & M

James W. Cunningham, Clyde Fields, J. C. Blankenship, and Joe Mann, members of the Friona Volunteer Fire Department, are at College Station this week for the annual firemen's training school.

The four left last Saturday and are to return this weekend. While there Cunningham is studying the firemen's instructor course, Fields is studying the fire marshal's course, and Blankenship and Mann are taking the basic fire fighting course.

The school is sponsored by Texas A & M College Firemen's Training Department.

Through participation in the school, a five percent cut in the insurance rate is obtained, according to Charlie Baimum, chief. The four who are at the school this week gives the Friona Fire Department a large percentage of members who have attended the school. The four were named as delegates to the school last Thursday night at the regular Volunteer Firemen's meeting.

Problems met and methods used in controlling the recent fire at Kendrick Oil Co. were the emphasized topics. The department also heard a letter of appreciation from H. K. Kendrick, received by the department along with a $100 donation.

For their drill, operation of the fire truck pump's controls was demonstrated, using the lawn of Ruben Taylor as a target.

Grand Jury Called For Monday Session

A special session of the Parmer County Grand Jury has been called for Monday, July 29, at the courthouse in Farwell. The session has been called by District Judge E. A. Bills and a list of 16 jurors, who have been summoned to be on hand, has been released by the county clerk.

Up for investigation are approximately 10 criminal cases, says Tom Atkins, Parmer County deputy. Those indicted by the jury will be tried by Judge Bills. Possibly, some of them will be tried Monday, Atkins says.

The reason for summoning the jury at this time is due to the number of persons presently in custody at the county jail for various offenses. Some of the persons, charged with the offenses, are out on bail, but some have been in the jail for some time, says the deputy.

This will be the first session of the grand jury for the April term. Usually, the jury is called at the start of the term, but in April, there were no cases to be investigated, so it has been postponed until now.

Since there are no civil cases pending, requiring a jury, the petit jurors have not been summoned.

— MOVED —

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hollis moved from Mrs. Kinsley's rent house on Main Street to the Pete Hollis rent house. Jimmie Ramos moved three doors south from where he had been living. Mrs. J. A. Martinex moved into Charles Osborn's rent house, and the Y. B. Mayfields moved into W. L. Hand-nold's rent house.

TAKE SWIMMING LESSONS

Several ladies from Friona have enrolled in the swimming classes for women at the Herford swimming pool. They are Blanch Woody, Sue Rector, Neoma Oldham, Carol Oldham, Eva Lou Rector, Lauretta Brookfield, and Clara May. Mrs. May is living in Herford but is a former Friona resident.

RUSTY PIPE FROM AN ONLY DAMP HOLE — City water department employee Clyde Fields and a pump service worker help with the "operation well doctoring," begun by the city as it looks for more water. Later the hole was bailed and chemical added to try and get water from the well that ran nearly dry about two weeks ago.

Stolen Car Flips Near Bovina-- Driver Is Fined

A 1957 Ford, stolen from front of a cafe in Clovis Saturday night, was overturned northeast of Bovina Sunday morning. The driver, Louis Williams, was arrested Sunday afternoon and was charged with speeding.

He was fined $10 and court costs in J. R. Thornton's justice of peace court Monday morning, before being turned over to Clovis authorities.

George Dawson, a passenger in the car, received a broken collar bone and bruises in the accident. He was rushed to Parmer County Community hospital and was still confined there Monday morning. Dawson and Williams are from Clovis.

Two other passengers in the car, Ira Chester and Jimmy Brady, who work near Bovina, were arrested soon after the accident and charged with drunkenness. They were tried in Thornton's JP court Monday and fined $5 and court costs.

The stolen car was overturned when it came to a dead end on a farm-to-market road, according to Parmer County deputies, Jim Roberts and Tom Atkins. The car was a total loss.

Repair and patchup work on the well that failed about two weeks ago started in Friona last Thursday as a well service rig pulled up to the pump house and hoisted the pump and housing from the hole.

This was done after the city commission decided last week to start looking for more water.

Whether or not they will find it in this hole is not known, but City Clerk Roy Wilson figures it is worth the gamble. Cost of finding out whether the well will solve the water problem on a temporary basis is the charge for pulling the pump and column, checking the impellers and stages, bailing out the hole, treating it with a chemical, and resetting the pump.

Bailing of the hole started Tuesday afternoon. After this job is finished, the chemical was to be added in hope it would open the water passages, Wilson says.

When the column was extracted from the well Thursday, it was measured to have been at about a 210-foot setting. Since the water table is calculated to be about 194 feet below the ground level, it was assumed that the screens are clogged and keeps water from entering the hole.

If the operation cures the well, this is expected to increase the city's water supply about 100 gallons per minute, Wilson says.

Other measures to be taken, at the first rain, the city commission said last week—include adding new bowls to another well and installing a larger pump motor on a third. New bowls are on order.

The city's water supply is fluctuating between adequate and low, depending on the time of day, Wilson says. Lower pressures during the day are about 15 pounds, enough to get slow running water to hydrants, Wilson points out.

"We are keeping about 50,000 gallons in reserve storage in the underground tank," Wilson says. "This would be enough to furnish the fire truck pumps water about two hours, and give us plenty of time to close valves to other parts of the city so all water could be used for a fire," he says.

Church Makes Plans

Friona Baptist Church voted in conference Wednesday night of last week to adopt a long range plan for additional buildings, and other matters of church growth.

Included in the adopted program is action to stress financial support of the church, in order that the program may be accomplished.

In explaining the program during a discussion period before the conference vote, Rev. L. A. Sartain said the main point of the program is having each member contribute according to his ability to furthering the work of the church.

Also brought out was the need for a long range plan because it will pinpoint the direction in which the church is going.

The program is to be put into effect this fall.

Mrs. Howard Mayfield returned home Sunday after spending a week with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Wilder, at Albuquerque. Mr. Wilder, who recently underwent surgery, is improving.

Three Baptist Youth Help N. M. Missions

Jacquelyn Magness, Phila Mae Buske, of Friona and Nita Newton of Canyon are in Espanola, N. M., helping with vacation Bible schools, under the direction of Missionary John Abbott.

They are to be at the Bible school work until August 2, when they will return, and three other Friona youth, Betty Agee, Ray Jene Jones, and Lila Gay Buske, will be at the mission for two weeks, at Santa Cruz, N. M.

Building Permits $16,800 For Week

The following building permits were issued by the City of Friona for the week ending July 23:

Ruben Taylor, 1211 Pierce Avenue, construct storm cellar and bedroom, $1,500.

E. H. Cummings, 421 Euclid Avenue, construct feed mill room, $300.

Raymond Fleming, 1204 West Fifth Street, construct brick veneer residence, $15,000.

Total building permits for week: $16,800.

Don't Forget To Remember

That TODAY is the day you are supposed to vote in the county-wide tax rate election. If adopted, the election provisions will mean an increase of 30 cents per $100 valuation. This money will be used to acquire right-of-way for county farm-to-market roads. Funds for this purpose are insufficient at the present time, and the county has had to borrow money to meet obligations.

NO FATALITIES — Four Negro men escaped serious injury early Sunday morning when this 1957 Ford overturned some four miles east of Bovina on a dirt road. Only one of the four was hospitalized. Driver of the car was charged with speeding.

Good Crowd At Course

Twenty-five persons are enrolled in the training course which is being sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association and Friona Chamber of Commerce. The first meeting was held in the high school study hall Monday evening. The Tuesday and Wednesday evening sessions were held at the city hall and the final session will be held tonight at the high school.

Arthur M. Brown, retail training specialist from the University of Texas, is conducting the classes. Those who are enrolled

WORKER EMPLOYED

The City of Friona has hired, on a temporary basis, Harry Taylor to fill the slot left by another city employee who ended his job about two weeks ago, according to Roy Wilson, city clerk.

D. H. Meade Dies, Funeral Today

D. Harve Meade, 81, died Monday night in Amarillo following an illness of about two years. He was a former well-known farmer near Friona.

Funeral services for Mr. Meade were to be at 3 p. m. today (Thursday) at the First Baptist Church in Friona, Rev. L. A. Sartain officiating. Burial will be in Friona Cemetery.

Mr. Meade lived about a mile and a half west of Friona where he was engaged in farming and carpenter work until 1946. He had lived in the Friona area since 1909, when he moved here from Indiana.

Mr. Meade was one of the few remaining charter members of the First Baptist Church in Friona and was the first deacon ordained by the church. He was also the first Sunday School superintendent of the church. Being well known in the county, he once served as county commissioner.

Pallbearers were to be Arthur Drake, Earl Drake, Steve Messenger, Raymond Euler, Clyde Sherrieb, and Ralph Taylor.

Mr. Meade was born in Virginia, July 25, 1875, and would have been 82 years old today. He was married to the former Miss Eva Graybill on December 29, 1898.

Survivors include his widow of Amarillo; two sons, H. M. Meade of Amarillo and W. M. Meade of Salsalito, Calif.; a daughter, Mrs. L. C. Campbell of Las Cruces, N. M.; a sister, Mrs. Emma Bailey of Logansport, Ind.; a brother, William Meade of Logansport, Ind.; two grandchildren and a great grandchild.

Lazbuddie Tax Election This Saturday

By W. H. GRAHAM Jr.

Qualified voters of the Lazbuddie School District will say "yes" or "no" to a request by the school board this Saturday that they adopt the provisions of Public Law 116 which will make possible an increase in school taxes by 10 percent.

The law, if adopted by the Parmer County school, would board the flexibility to alter the tax rate, within stated limitations, and increase the money now earmarked for "maintenance" purposes if says must be derived to meet increasing expenses in running the school.

Several reasons are responsible for the precarious financial situation of Lazbuddie and other area schools in this respect. For one thing, the county "economic index" was increased by the state this year, which means that it now costs Parmer County school districts more money to participate in the state aid to education program.

(All four districts in Parmer County, however, still get much more money from the state than they pay into the program.)

Increasing enrollment and rising costs of just "running" a school are other factors which have created hardships on local districts. The election Saturday has nothing to do with voting tax bonds. It will simply give the board the authority it needs to increase the tax rate to meet these higher local expenses. The board says a 10 percent increase will be required.

The board has also said that valuations will be left as they are, and that the same amount of money will be used to retire bonded indebtedness. The additional money is needed for the day-to-day expenses of the district—not for retiring debts.

The board has also gone on record as favoring a state-wide two percent sales tax for educational purposes, the money being returned to districts on a scholastics basis.

However, this is only a recommendation to the state legislature, and has nothing to do with the election Saturday.

Voting will take place at the school. George Crain will be presiding judge; Roy Daniel and Wesley Barnes will be clerks. Resident qualified property taxpayers voters of the district who own taxable property and who have rendered it for taxation are eligible to vote. Many area school districts have adopted PL 116 to help them meet a financial crisis. In fact, most of the schools that have growing problems are coming to find it impossible for them to maintain satisfactory educational standards without it.

Mulshoe operates under the law, and Friona this year adopted the law in connection with a bond issue to add new buildings.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

A Friend Who Has No Friends

Let he who would have friends be a friend. This advice is offered by orators, preachers, and practically every person who speaks about how to win friends.

It sounds like pretty good advice for the most of us.

But after observing one class of people, especially in Friona, it seems that this advice cannot be applied to them. The people in mind are the local peace officers.

For it appears that no matter how considerate they try to be they are condemned. Accusations of partiality are quick to come from those who are corrected. "You are just picking on me, and turning your head when somebody else does the same thing," is something that is heard too often by a peace officer.

That Friona needs local peace officers who are conscious of their duty to uphold the law is evident. That Friona needs more cooperation with the local peace officers may not be too evident, but this is true.

For every time a person breaks the law and must be corrected, there is a chance that he will need the protection of the law enforcement officers just as many times. And when a person needs this protection, there is not a sight more welcome than the friendly peace officer.

Reports of effectiveness by the present officers in doing their job are heard from those who have seen the conditions much more unlawful in Friona. Reports of instances in which poor cooperation was given to the officers is discouraging.

Why is it that some people resent having peace officers? Is it because some people let their nature say, "Laws are to be followed by others, but I should be immune from correction?"

It is this type of person who asks for partiality, while in the same breath accusing an officer of showing partiality if he happens to correct them. Such attitudes show lack of civility.

Not many men among ten would accept the responsibility which a peace officer does, at any salary. Yet this job must be done, and a community is lucky to find conscientious men to do it, and most of the time at salaries in the lower bracket.

Could not this be compensated a little bit by more cooperation and consideration? They are friends to citizens; why cannot citizens be more respectful and cooperative?

The BIBLE Says THE BIBLE IS COMPLETE

"All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works (1 Timothy 3:16-17).

Many people consider the Scriptures incomplete. This is readily seen by the fact that creeds, manuals, and disciplines are formed and followed by various religious organizations. These only tend to becloud the minds of honest and sincere people and lead them astray from the path of divine truth. If a creed teaches any more than the Bible it teaches too much. If it teaches less than the Bible it does not teach enough. If it teaches only the Bible we do not need it because we have the Bible.

The church of Christ is seeking to call people back to the pure, divine plan set forth in the Bible. We urge all to follow the Bible in name, worship, organization, doctrine and practice. To do this is to be pleasing to God in all things.

Cotton Bug Meets Booked Next Week

Cotton bugs in Parmer County will get a searching look next week by farmers and agricultural leaders. Insect meetings have been called by County Agent Joe Jones for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, July 30, 31 and August 1.

"Cotton throughout Parmer County has made very good progress the last few weeks," says Agent Jones. "The crop as a whole is still 10 days to two weeks behind last year's crop. This is due to the cool, wet weather that caused seedling diseases and held the crop back."

"If cotton continues to make progress, there is good reason to believe we should make another good crop this year. Blooms began to show up in early cotton a few days ago, and all cotton should be blooming within a few days."

On the subject of insects, the agent reports that they are "pretty well under control" except for some fields which have a "moderately heavy" infestation of young bollworms. Fleahoppers and lygus bugs are scarce.

"Bollworms, lygus and fleahoppers are the insects most likely to get the young squares and small bolls," warns Jones. During the meetings, which will be held at seven places in the county, farmers, ginners, and others will go into the fields for on-the-spot checks, identify insects found and discuss control measures.

Here is the meeting schedule: TUESDAY—Lariat Store, 8:30 a. m.; Clay's Corner, 10:30 a. m.; Lazbuddie Store, 2 p. m. WEDNESDAY—Bovina Farm Chemical, 8:30 a. m.; Hub Store, 10:30 a. m.; Tri-County Gin, 2:30 p. m. THURSDAY—Rhea Parish Hall, 8:30 a. m.

4-H Club Members Plan Annual Trip
The hot summer days will soon be left behind by scores of Parmer County 4-H Club boys, who will strike out soon for their annual New Mexico mountain camp-out.

Deadline for making arrangements to attend is August 1, emphasizes County Agent Joe Jones. The boys will be gone August 5-8 this year, and as is the custom, will camp out near Cowles. Only members who have completed a project during the year will be allowed to participate. Cost per member is $7. Jones is searching for more adult leaders. There's no deadline on them, he says. They'll be accepted up until the trucks begin to roll out at 7 Monday morning, August 5.

Prospects Still Good For Most Crops
Most crops in the Parmer County area continue to look good this week, especially cotton that was up early and feed that has had adequate water. There are some "mean spots" in the agricultural picture, however, and these appear wherever there is dryland or irrigated crops that haven't been able to get enough water. Scattered showers over the weekend were beneficial to some parts of the Farwell-Oklahoma Lane area, but the moisture has not been general enough to allow most farmers to catch up on their watering. The first blooms on early cotton appeared last weekend, and considerable feed is beginning to head.

Some farmers have been asking about planting vetch between sorghum middles. The seeding rate per acre should be from 10 to 14 pounds of good seed. The planting dates range from July 15 to October 15. The District has special adapted seeders for this job. You may rent one by contacting one of the District supervisors. This is National Farm Safety Week. Here are a few figures to impress on our minds the importance of SAFETY on the farm: In 1955 farming had a grand total of 1,100,000 injured. Deaths for the same period were 13,000 from all causes. This year we are told that we can expect 1,100 farmers to be killed on the farm by tractor accidents alone. Although the tractor is a farm machine and should not be operated on the highway, one third of these tractor fatalities will occur on the highway. Sixteen per cent of the people killed by tractors will be children under 10 years of age. The monetary loss according to the National Safety Council is $1.5 billion each year. Let's practice farm safety every day in the year. The life you save may be your own.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The Parmer County SCD supervisors held their regular monthly meeting in the Black community last week. During the meeting some of the problems of water control were aired as a means of effective mosquito control.

Also during the meeting, the first week in September was selected as Soil Conservation District Week in Parmer County. The climax of the week will be an annual banquet to which all will be invited. The location of the banquet has not been decided as yet.

We have reached the time of year when it is easy to tell what kind of a job of irrigation a farmer is doing. The kind of weather we have been having sure makes it show up.

In a large number of fields the crop is suffering to some degree from lack of moisture. In many cases this is caused by not having enough water to irrigate as often as it should be watered. On the other hand, much of the cause is poor use of water that is available.

It certainly looks bad to pass a field and see the crop suffering from lack of moisture and at the same time see water being run off the field. One is made to wonder why farmers continue to let this happen. A simple way to stop this would be to decrease the rate of application or change the size of the tube.

Miss Norton Is Queen Of FB

After long deliberation by the judges, Wilma Norton, Farwell, was named queen of Parmer County Farm Bureau Saturday night in Bovina School Auditorium.

Jonnie Hand, Friona, was runner-up in the annual contest. A total of 12 girls from over the county participated. Odie Echols, Clovis radio personality, was master of ceremonies of the show. He asked the girls various questions about themselves and about the farms on which they live. The girls each made talks on the advantages of being a member of Farm Bureau.

Doris Wilson, Bovina, and her music students provided entertainment for the program.

Miss Norton was sponsored by Farwell Hardware and Worley Grain Company. Miss Hand's sponsor was Galloway Implement Co.

If you're fond of high quality beef, and if you have a freezer locker or home freezer, now is a good time to put beef in the freezer. The Department of Agriculture says this is usually the time of year when grain-fed beef, which produces the most steaks and roasts, is most abundant.

Carrots Expected 'Within 30 Days'

"We'll have some carrots within another 30 days," predicted Kenneth Neill of Friona Growers and Shippers this week.

This is the first year that carrots have been grown on a concentrated scale in the Parmer County area, and growers in the Friona deal have planted 300 acres to the "rabbit food."

Neill says market prospects are pretty good this year. Carrots are selling for around $3.25 per crate this week—more than at a comparable time last year, and last year was considered a good one.

Friona Growers and Shippers was shooting for 400 acres of carrots this year, but didn't get quite enough growers to hit that acreage. "We had some inquiries from some farmers who wanted to put carrots in wheat stubble, but we recom-

Phosphorus And Nitrogen Team For Better Wheat

Extensive tests conducted at the Walter Kaltwasser farm between Lariat and Oklahoma Lane this year indicate that nitrogen and phosphorus make an ideal "team" for increasing wheat yields in sandier soils.

The tests, conducted by Al Pope of the Great Plains Experiment Station at Bushland, were completed three weeks ago, and figures on the results have been released.

Here are the statistics:

Treatment	Yield
N P K
0-0-0	27.5
40-40-0	35.9
0-80-0	28.4
40-80-0	36.9
80-80-0	48.4
120-80-0	58.5
160-80-0	51.4
200-80-0	53.7
80-0-0	41.2
80-40-0	48.8
80-80-0	48.4
80-120-0	51.8
80-160-0	49.0
80-200-0	50.4

Note that the unfertilized wheat yielded 27.5 bushels per acre. Wheat fertilized with 120 pounds of nitrogen per acre, plus 80 pounds of phosphate per acre yielded 58.5 bushels. Variations of other formulas can easily be seen.

Notice that phosphorus alone increased yields very little, but when teamed with nitrogen, the difference was very evident.

The wheat was also irrigated, and the figures shown with this story are the result of an average of four replications. The results are especially significant to farmers in the Lariat-Farwell area, plus some parts of Oklahoma Lane and some parts of the Lazbuddie community. In general, the southern part of Parmer County is overlain with sandy-natured soil of the type involved in the tests.

The fertilizer used in the test was of the dry type, and was put in with a dry fertilizer rig (in bands) just prior to seeding. The figures used in reporting the tests are all "net." That is, it would take 600 pounds of ammonium sulphate or 400 pounds of ammonium nitrate to get 120 pounds of nitrogen per acre. Anhydrous ammonia yields 82 percent nitrogen.

For farmers considering making practical use of the tests, County Agent Joe Jones suggests that they apply the phosphorus into their soil with chisels. Don't put it on the surface, he says, because it won't "water in." (He said, however, it might be possible to apply to the surface and then break the land.)

It is possible to split the nitrogen applications by applying 60 to 80 pounds in the fall before seeding, and 60 to 80 pounds in February as a top dressing.

As for the phosphate, it must go on in the fall and be either chiseled in or turned under by breaking.

4-H Dress Revue This Saturday

Parmer County's annual girls 4-H Club dress revue is scheduled to be at the Bovina School auditorium on Saturday afternoon, July 27, at 3 o'clock.

4-H girls from Rhea, Black, Farwell, Friona, Lazbuddie and Bovina will model dresses, blouses and skirts which they have made in summer clothing workshops. The garments will be judged on construction at 9:30 a.m. and the appearance judging will take place at 1:30 p.m. The revue itself will be at 3 p.m.

Judges for the annual event are to be Mrs. Dortha Powell, assistant county home demonstration agent from Hereford, and Harriette Brummett, county home demonstration agent of Bailey County.

Girls from the Bovina clubs will decorate the stage for the presentation and Lexie Stevenson of Bovina will be mistress of ceremonies. Barbara Rea, also of Bovina, will present a demonstration on "Milk For All."

Each entrant will receive a ribbon according to her score plus an entry prize to be awarded by the County Home Demonstration Council and the County 4-H Council.

Four Parmer Women To State HD Meet

Four women of the Parmer County Home Demonstration Clubs will be in Houston July 30-August 2, to attend the annual state THDA convention at the Rice Hotel.

Those planning to attend from the county include Mrs. Joe Brummett of the Hi-Point HD Club who is the county THDA chairman; Mrs. A. S. THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

A new product will soon be available that all homemakers who refinish walls or furniture will be interested in. It will produce a marbled effect when sprayed onto any flat surface and makes a washable finish. The colors are varied and long lasting and any color scheme may be carried out by using it.

Beautiful, multicolor effects may be obtained from one simple spray application. The spray attachment on vacuum cleaners can be used for making the application. As soon as it is available locally, at least one article in the Floyd home will get an application.

If you are one of the homemakers who has difficulty keeping all the little rips and tears mended, you might like to try this timesaver: Cut several sizes and shapes of mending tape, place in a box, and set near the ironing board.

Then when you iron a garment that needs any small repair, you can just pick out the correct size patch and iron it on. It will not be necessary for you to take time out to hunt scissors, tape, or other supplies.

The next time you start on an apron making spree, try this idea for variation as well as for speeding up the job. Select two colors and materials that will be pretty together. Place your pattern over the two layers of material and cut. Then mix the parts and make two attractive aprons.

Another recipe which Lady Armstrong at Bovina sent us is wonderful for this time of year. It is for ice cream and is very simple if you have a mixer. Mixing by hand would get rather tiresome.

Ingredients:
7 eggs
1½ cups sugar
1 package Frosteer vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
1 pint whipping cream
Milk to finish filling freezer.
Beat eggs at high speed at least five minutes or until really frothy. Gradually beat in sugar and Frosteer. Beat at high speed until it is as thick as cake batter. Add salt, whipping cream and 1 tablespoon vanilla. Then add enough milk to finish filling freezer. If you prefer chocolate or strawberry ice cream, use Frosteer in the flavor you desire.

To obtain the best service from your burners or units on your range, don't form the habit of using the front burner just because it is handy. By doing this there is more wear on this particular burner. The use of all of them should be rotated.

If you are using a recipe that calls for 1 clove of garlic, and you are using powdered garlic, it is well to remember that 1½ teaspoon powdered garlic is equal to one clove.

It is generally agreed that there just isn't any way to make jelly and jam that tastes like it was made with fresh fruit without really using fresh fruit to make it. At least two families in our area will be enjoying jelly, preserves, and jam that was made from fresh fruit for a long time.

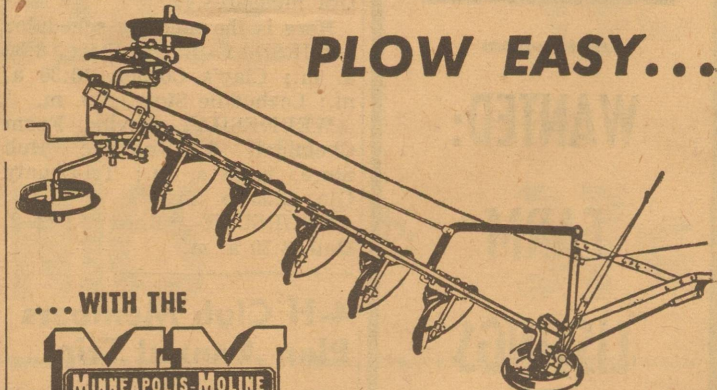

Mrs. Floyd Dutton, who lives east of the Hub, has spent a number of hours working up home grown apricots into good eating for her family in the future. Then Mrs. W. A. Foster and Pat spent one day visiting friends at Dimmitt. While there they mixed jelly making with conversation and the Foster pantry is well stocked with plum preserves and jelly.

Haven't heard anyone complaining about the postage increase which went into effect July first. Don't really know how many post office patrons are affected by it, but there was a rate increase on some services.

The only one that has affected us noticeably has been that now we pay a nickel for letters on which we guarantee the postage if they are returned to us. This service formerly cost four cents.

Kansas produces one-fifth of the nation's winter wheat.

TRA DISC PLOW

When your soil is so hard and sun-baked a moldboard plow won't penetrate it, or so wet and sticky a moldboard plow won't scour, try an MM TRA disc plow. You'll be amazed at the plowing job you'll do. The TRA holds a fixed depth from 3- to 14-inches in any firm soil without wheel weights. U-bolt mounting of the disc standards lets you vary width of cut to fit tractor power and field conditions while leaving discs at best penetrating angle.

The TRA turns easily and has excellent trash clearance. Mechanical power lift raises discs for turning at the pull of a rope. Also available with hydraulic Uni-Matic Power. Heat-treated 26-inch discs are highly polished for efficient scouring and mounted on heavy-duty roller bearings for long life. 28-inch discs available. Simple crank and jack screw give quick, easy depth adjustment from 3- to 14-inches. TRA plows are available with 3 to 6 discs and in extra-heavy models.

Be Informed On Garden Bugs

Each year gardeners have the same problem of insect control in the home garden. County Agent Joe Jones has a leaflet on controlling insects, and if you haven't gotten one, you're reminded they are available. Here are a few things worth remembering:

Insecticides are poison and the Pure Food and Drug Administration has set the amounts of organic residue that is safe to have on edible crops.

The guide gives you the time in days that should elapse between using an insecticide and eating or freezing the vegetables.

On crops such as cantaloupes, cucumbers, watermelons, or other cucurbits, do not use dusting sulphur, DDT, Toxaphene, BHC, or Chlordane.

"All this, plus a lot more, is included in the leaflet," points out the agent.

Did you see the story in "Nation's Agriculture" about Supima cotton?

The Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico growers of the long staple cotton got together two years ago and formed the Supima Association of America. They actually twisted the government's arm to lower support prices and let them compete!

In less than two years, consumption of their specialty increased 600 percent. If there's any comparable record for promotion of any other product, we haven't learned of it.

"The Champagne of Cotton" they have called their product, and to get a badly needed selling job done, they hired top advertising men in the country to stage a big promotion for Supima. High-art ads were run in trade publications that went onto desks of the top dress designers in the country. The results have been astounding.

Something else: By increasing their market so successfully, the growers earned for themselves a delicious 98.6 percent increase in acreage.

This proves again that the market place holds the only real solution to the problems of agriculture.

Is it really cooler around alfalfa fields, or is it just one's imagination?

So far as we know, alfalfa doesn't have any magic properties that lower the temperature of the air, except that it transpires more moisture into the atmosphere than most plants.

Anyway, we notice that quite a few people plant alfalfa near their homes with the idea that it makes things more comfortable in the summertime. There may be something more to this idea than we know about.

The "new" crops of the Plains continue to draw all the headlines, but the truth is that this year again, this area is growing enough grain sorghum to make the world look level.

Corn, sesame, potatoes, sudan, alfalfa—none of these crops can hold a candle in acreage occupied to mighty milo. With anything like decent weather between now and harvest, look out for another big grain sorghum glut.

We've really got it.

Is it the writer's imagination, or are there more ground squirrels than there used to be?

It seems that the cute but pesky little varmints fairly abound by the roadside bar ditches and along irrigation runs. Maybe the soft dirt created by so much irrigation, and the abundance of food created by the same circumstance has increased the ground squirrel population.

After making an exit several years ago due to the growth of irrigation farming, seems like livestock and interest in livestock is returning to the Parmer County area.

A gauge, if it may be taken as such, is an announcement that a feed grinding service is being developed at Cummings Farm Store in Friona. E. H. and Doyle Cummings, father and son team that own and operate the firm, say they will offer a mixing-grinding service to livestock and poultry raisers, specializing in grain and concentrates and excluding roughage.

They say the reason they expect the service to be well taken is that farmers will have a chance to save money through using their own grain, mix it with concentrates, and market it for a higher price when sold through livestock.

Surely more profit would be realized from grain if grain prices remain about the same level, or lower, and hog prices remain the same. Noticed in a Ted Gouldy report of Fort Worth markets that the squealers topped at more than $22 this week.

A swineherd nowadays is a money-maker, perhaps, but one can never foretell how many feeder pigs will be farrowed and fed from one year to the next.

More about livestock—C. W. Dixon now stocks about 37 head of slick Angus cattle, plus their offspring.

Has some reputable animals among the herd, as a couple of cows he owns were in the pen of champion Aberdeen Angus cows at the Texas State Fair last year.

Dixon says he hopes to develop some of the calves and sell them for herd bulls to ranchers around the High Plains and in New Mexico.

Several of the calves he has show that he has good material to work with.

From 1930 to 1950 California's population increased four times as fast as that of the whole country.

Nine Clubs Present For Council Meet

Nine of the home demonstration clubs of Parmer County were represented at the regular HD council meeting at the Bovina home economics building on Monday afternoon, July 22. Eighteen members were present.

Special guest for the occasion was Mrs. Edith Wilson, district agent of District 1, who gave a talk on what home demonstration and extension work can mean to HD club members and agents. She encouraged those present to perform their duties as council officers or club officers to the best of their ability and explained how they would profit from so doing.

Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, home demonstration agent, announced the 4-H girls dress revue which is to be Saturday at 3 p. m. in Bovina and the Braceros become quite proficient in such fine personal arts as trimming hair while they are away from home. Here a laborer does the barber chores for his friend. The men are employed by Buck Gregory.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

All twelve of the young ladies who entered the Farm Bureau Queen Contest and appeared Saturday night were very charming. As always, we wish they could all win first place, but that is impossible.

According to the judges, who knew none of the contestants, Miss Wilma Norton, of Farwell, was tops in appearance, poise and personality. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norton of Farwell. She will appear on Cotton John's KGNC-TV program, Weekend Farm and Home, next Sunday at 12:30 (noon), as PCFB's nomination for Miss Farm and Home of the Week. We hope she wins.

Second place winner is Miss Jonnie Hand, of Friona, who is also an outstandingly charming young lady. She will be alternate entry for the district contest in the event of illness, or other cause preventing Miss Norton's appearing. Our congratulations to both of these fine girls.

Chairman of Farm Bureau's resolution committee, Harry Hamilton, is preparing for committee studies necessary to the formulation of resolutions embodying the suggestions of members. These resolutions will be prepared and presented for membership vote at the convention which will be held in early October.

There apparently aren't so many controversial subjects as there have been in the past, but there are still many things that warrant study and action to improve the agricultural and general economic situation in America. Your suggestions will receive careful consideration if you will make them known to any director, or leave them at the office.

Remember to file for your three-cent per gallon tax refund on farm-used gasoline before October 1st. Now is the best time to do it. If you don't have a card, we have them, or the post offices have them.

CONSIDER THIS: "Where there is no vision, the people perish; but he that keepeth the law, happy is he." Proverbs 29:18.

Alaska is the largest peninsula on the North American Continent.

Academics was the name given to a series of philosophers who taught at the Athenian Academy.

Watering down the row—instead of in the furrows between the rows—is sometimes practiced by area irrigators, especially where the land is steeply sloped. This is grain sorghum on the Conrad Nelson place, Lazbuddie. The plants retard the flow of the water, they have more moisture available, and tail water loss is reduced. There are some disadvantages, too, depending on individual circumstances. Sometimes weed troubles are increased, plant food is leached away and plants yellow because of "drowning."

in & around FRIONA WITH JUNE

Being up at "the best part of a Golden Spread day," as Cotton John says, really paid off Saturday morning. Just before the sun came up a gentle shower fell and left the air very clean and fresh. Then a few minutes following the sun's rise, a beautiful rainbow appeared. One end of it looked as if it were standing in Louis and Mayme Lou Welch's yard.

The bow was visible in a complete half circle that was very brilliantly colored. There was also a dim rainbow just east of the brightly colored one. A more beautiful sight we rarely have the opportunity to see.

Being up and around before sunrise always seems to give the day a good send off and that morning was no exception. As it happened we were in town earlier than usual and enjoyed watching the town come alive.

Another pleasantry which we enjoyed very much was a short visit with Sally Coannouer, who is a newcomer to Friona. We had met her and visited briefly with her before, but surely did enjoy chatting with her.

Then after coming to the office, it was necessary to make a trip to the bank. On the return trip we unexpectedly ran into some relatives of ours. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woolley Sr., of Erick, Oklahoma, who were visiting their son, Bill, and his family in the Hub community, came by for a brief chat.

We always read and enjoy Wes Izzard's column, but the mocking bird information he has carried the past week has been especially interesting to us. For the past several weeks we had noticed that one mocking bird sang nightly but we had not noticed what time he began.

After reading Mr. Izzard's account of the one that sang for him beginning about midnight, we resolved to find out the time our serenader began. Funny thing about it, though, since that day he has either stopped singing or we have been too sleepy headed to hear the songs.

At the hospital Thursday morning we became engaged in a conversation with the Amarillo woman who had the misfortune of having three fingers severed from her left hand. The story she told us makes us wonder how many persons would have had the forethought she displayed.

According to the story she gave us, she had started to crawl under the freight car, on a Friona track siding thinking the train was on a siding waiting for another freight to pass. After going under one side, she put her hand up on the rail to get out from under the other side. Before she realized the train was moving, the wheel hit her hand.

She said, "When I realized what was happening, I just made myself as small as possible and stayed there until 27 cars passed over." Considering the pain she must have been enduring, and the fright which surely came over her, it is amazing to think of anyone having that much forethought.

Some changes have been made in our office. For one thing, the office supply display shelves which did stand in the corner, have been moved out front, so it isn't so difficult for us to find the articles you want. We surely do appreciate the calls we have had and invite everyone to come in and look over our stock at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder of Muleshoe spent Sunday visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Chitwood and Mrs. Lucy Jones, who live at the Hub.

Sisters Have Double Wedding

Rev. W. C. Wade of Seagraves officiated at a double wedding ceremony which united Arlene Stowers and Ernest Beavers and Darlene Stowers and Robert Dickey Sunday afternoon at the Assembly of God Church at 3.

The brides are the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stowers. Dickey's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dickey and Beavers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Beavers.

The ceremony was read before an archway of greenery covered with blue, yellow, white and pink daisies and baby breath. The wedding march was played by Nancy Outland and the Trebelaires sang "Always" and "Because" accompanied by Eva Miller at the piano.

The brides were dressed identically. Their dresses, which were fashioned of French Chantilly lace, nylon tulle, nylon net, and bridal satin, were designed and made by their mother. The bodices were French Chantilly lace and the full waist length skirts were nylon tulle and lace over nylon net and bridal satin. The matching headpieces were also designed and made by Mrs. Stowers. They carried nosegays of daisies and mums.

Lavern Beavers, sister of one of the grooms, was the bridesmaid. She wore a pale blue dress of crystalline with matching headpiece. Irene and Shirley Young of Littlefield, cousins of the brides, were maids of honor. They wore crystalline dresses and headpieces similar to the one worn by the bridesmaid.

H. G. Houston, brother-in-law of the brides, was best man for Ernest Beavers, and Gerald Dickey was best man for his brother, Robert. Other attendants of the grooms were Monroe Young and Martin Young, cousins of the bride, and Owen Houston. Bobby Wade and Royce Lynn Dickey served as ring bearers. The rings were carried atop large white mums with satin streamers.

Mrs. Stowers, mother of the brides, wore a blue dress of silk and cotton and white accessories. Her corsage was of white daisies. Mrs. Beavers wore a blue crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of daisies. Mrs. Dickey was dressed in a black and white printed silk dress and wore white accessories. Her corsage was also white daisies.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the Friona Club House. The wedding cake was white, tiered, and decorated with wedding bells and love birds around a miniature bride and groom. It was served with punch from a lace covered cloth by Peggy Taylor, Melba Bracken, and Frieda Downs. Guests were registered by Joy Carter, cousin of the brides, and Charlotte Bails.

Hawaii Is Happy, Says Deann Buske

(Editor's note: The following article was written by Deann Buske, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Buske of Friona, who is doing missionary work in Hawaii this summer with a Texas Baptist Student Union program. Miss Buske will be home in the near future.)

From the land of orchids, pineapples, sugar cane, palm trees, and beautiful scenery, I extend my aloha. Truly, this is one of the most outstanding places I have ever been.

Since landing in Honolulu, a little more than a month ago and being received royally with many leis, there has been much to see and do. I stayed in or near Honolulu for a week. While there, we swam at Waikiki and admired the gigantic Diamond Head Mountain from the white sands of the famous beach. The town of Honolulu is as modern as any comparable is Haleakala Crater. This is the world's largest dormant volcano and towers 10,032 feet above sea level. Haleakala's volcanic soil produces the rare silversword blossoms unknown in other parts of the world.

Iao Valley is another place of wonderful beauty! It is a heavily foliaged gorge in the West Maui Mountains just out a mile from where I live. Within Central Maui lies an agricultural empire with many modern and scientific methods. Radio-telephones in field autos maintain contact with sugar headquarters. Pineapples are picked mechanically—and they are delicious! And—deep wells, hundreds of feet below sea level furnish water for irrigation. Flowers of all sizes, colors, and shapes grow everywhere. It is not uncommon to see bouquets of eight to ten huge orchids sitting around or vandas growing on a trellis in back yards. Now, I could go on all day in relating the splendor of the islands, but let me give you a little contrast in food—it is different, to say the least.

First of all we learned to eat with chopsticks. In all Japanese homes we visit, this is the only means (besides the fingers) to get food to the mouth. Then, I have sampled strange dishes from raw fish, chop suey, guava, mango, papaya, sushi, sukiaki, to teraki steak—and that's not the end of that story. These are just the Japanese and Chinese foods. I have my first Hawaiian Luau still to go.

But where I live, we have good 'ole American food. It is just when we are invited out for dinner that we get those returns and that is at least once a week!

The people are of every nationality and mixture. Yet, everyone lives side by side and there is no noticeable race prejudice. The people have been wonderful to me.

You see, I'm the only girl Summer Missionary who came to this particular island and there are very few Hali (white) people on this island. There are no service men. Just a few missionaries, doctors, and people who want to retire. This is a quiet, slow, peaceful island.

My work is a tremendous challenge. However, I enjoy it very much, and am having some wonderful experiences. Some of the religions are so very pagan and they do not know who the real God is. It has been wonderful getting to work with these little children in Vacation Bible Schools and camps. I would like to bring a bunch of them home with me, but they charge too much for over weight baggage!

Let me end this by saying that I wish each of you were here to observe God's wonderful handiwork with me.

Scout Report Gives View of Jamboree

BY TED SANDERS

(Editor's note: Our thanks to Ted Sanders for allowing us to learn of his and Robby Osborn's recent experiences at the National Boy Scout Jamboree. We're sure you'll enjoy this article, too.)

Valley Forge—the shrine of American Freedom!

What new meaning that name holds for us Boy Scouts who were fortunate enough to attend the Fourth National Boy Scout Jamboree.

History became alive to us as we toured the places where historical events took place and various institutions of science and history are located.

As we pulled out from the Amarillo depot on Saturday, July 6, everyone was anxious to reach Washington, D. C., our first stop. As we arrived there, every Scout rushed about to see as much as possible in the few hours we were there.

We saw the White House, Washington Memorial, and then swam at the Hotel Alexander. That night, we slept on the train and began a tour about 5 the next morning. During that day we saw the Grave of the Unknown Soldier, Arlington Cemetery, all of the government buildings, Mount Vernon, Lincoln Statue, the Capitol Building, and the Smithsonian Institute.

Our next stop—Valley Forge. We arrived there Sunday night and pitched our tents. Monday, we went to New York City.

As we neared the metropolis, we saw the famous New York skyline. We entered New York by Lincoln Tunnel, and our first stop in New York was the United Nations Building. While we were there the General Assembly of the UN was in session. From there we went to Radio City, and toured Manhattan Island. Later we visited the Rockefeller Center. Our next stop was Chinatown. After Chinatown, we left New York by the Holland Tunnel.

While touring New York Harbor, we saw the Statue of Liberty, the liners Queen Elizabeth and the United States, and the Twentieth Century Mayflower.

Tuesday the Jamboree opened, but we were in Philadelphia, Pa. There we saw Betsy Ross' home, Benjamin Franklin's grave, Independence Hall, where the Liberty Bell is housed, Congress Hall, Carpenter's Hall, and the Old Christ Church. Tuesday afternoon, when we returned to Valley Forge, we observed what had been a barren valley just two days before had grown into a tent city of more than 50,000.

At Valley Forge, boys who had never seen each other became friends and started working together as a team. One of the highlights of the camp was the eternal swapping and trading that went on between the Scouts.

We participated in the official opening ceremony. At 9 p. m. when an aerial bomb exploded, thousands of flags and banners shot to the top of flag poles. We raised the Texas flag as high as it would go.

Thursday night we were a part of 5,000 Scouts who attended the National League baseball game at Philadelphia, Pa., between the Chicago Cubs and the Phillies.

Friday night we joined with more than 50,000 Scouts for the opening arena show, where Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was guest speaker. The next day we attended Big Top and began a foot tour of Valley Forge. The camp site covered 1,500 acres and it took lots of walking to see even part of it.

Church services were held in the amphitheater on Sunday, led by the minister from the church President Eisenhower attends. The rest of the week was spent touring, attending skill areas, swapping, and making friends.

On the way home, we visited Niagara Falls, Canada, Detroit and Chicago.

We averaged more than 30,000 camp visitors each day. We named these people monkey watchers, for they would wander through the camp at all times of the day.

The highlight of the whole camp was the candlelight ceremony on the last night. There were about 60,000 candles lighted, one tiny candle in the hand of each of us, against the blackness of the night. Yet what a blaze of light the combined candles made. This will not be easy to forget, nor will be the pledge of personal dedication to the high ideals of Scouting each of us made that night.

Of course there was the housekeeping side of the Jamboree—policing our campsite, washing clothes, getting supplies from the section commissary, and tent cooking. There was little dish washing, thanks to paper plates.

The biggest thrill was not what we saw, but what we felt—the thought of camping on the same ground where Washington and his courageous men held forth during the bitter winter of 1777-78. Every Scout found much to inspire him at Valley Forge, symbol of America's immortal spirit.

The journey and visit to Valley Forge is an adventure we will remember the rest of our lives. There we realized what a big thing Scouting really is, and made us prouder than ever to be Boy Scouts!

Spend Evening In Clovis

A group of Frionans spent Thursday evening in Clovis. After supper, they went to the skating rink for a two hour skating session.

Those going were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill Wooley, F. W. Holcomb, E. A. Freeman, Eugene Bandy, and Leonard Nettles; and Dolores Elmore, Genya Floyd, Paula Neel, Phyllis Hinds, Luellen McLean, Judy Barnett, Elaine Holcomb, Lavon Fleming, Wayland Hinds, J. C. Wheeler, Bryant Dukes, Donald Loanman, Gerald Neel, and Keith Taylor, all of Friona; and Carolyn Crump and Janice Richards of Bovina.

Carltons Have Weekend Guests

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Carlton and daughter, Norma Jean, of Hedley, were weekend guests in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Carlton and Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Carlton. Sunday dinner guests in the A. L. Carlton home were the Wilburn Carltons, the John Robert Carltons, Larry Crow, and Charles Jones. Norma Jean remained for a visit here. Her parents returned home Sunday. A. L., John Robert, and Wilburn are brothers.

HOSPITALIZED HERE

Mrs. Nancy "Grandma" Messenger was brought to the Parmer County Community Hospital Thursday morning from her home in Clovis by ambulance. Grandma, who is 87, had been ill for several days before being hospitalized. According to her daughter, Mrs. Eva Houlette, with whom she makes her home, "Grandma's condition shows improvement."

Mekka Circle Has Tuesday Meeting

The Mekka Circle of the WSCS met in Fellowship Hall Tuesday at 9 a. m. After a short business session, the program "Whom Shall I Send?" was given with Lucy Faye Cocanougher, Mary Durstine, Addie Moyer, Evelyn Anthony, and Valoris Osborn participating. Refreshments were served by the hostess, Lucy Faye Cocanougher, to the following members: Mary Lee Cass, Eula Akens, Fern White, Hazel Kendrick, Evelyn Anthony, Addie Moyer, Mary Durstine, and Valoris Osborn.

Diane Lovelace of Farwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Lovelace, is spending this week with her cousin, Jill Blackburn, daughter of the Keith Blackburns.

To Amarillo

Mrs. Arma Coffman, Mrs. Dean Blackburn, and Mrs. Frankie Allen spent the weekend visiting in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Coffman and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coffman and children in Amarillo.

Weekend Guests

J. W. Harding and Mrs. Rose Babcock of Plainview were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Houser several days last week. Harding is Mrs. Houser's father and Mrs. Babcock is her aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelms, also of Plainview, visited in the Houser home Sunday. The entire group returned home Sunday afternoon.
