National Guard To Continue Enlisting

"The National Guard will continue to enlist men of all ages in each unit which needs men," Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the Adjutant General stated today. "I am anxious to clarify a situation which has been clouded by conflicting reports to newspapers and radio stations from Washington and other sources," he said.

"Each unit has been given a strength ceiling of 100 per cent officers and 60 per cent enlisted men. Units which reached or exceeded that ceiling by midnight 24 June can retain the extra men until absorbed by attrition.
"Units which have not yet reached that strength ceiling are authorized to continue recruiting until they do reach it. At that time recruiting must cease for that unit.

"Several classes of men are eligible for the Guard. Men 17 to 18 1/2 will be exempt from the draft if they remain in the Guard until they are past draft age.
"Veterans who have had more than 90 days, but less than 12 months active Federal service may join the Guard and be exempt.
"Men of draft age may join the Guard and remain until and if their name is called. They will get paid at the regular Army pay scale. They will fit themselves for higher ratings and higher pay if they are called to the Army."
"It is doubtful that members of the National Guard ever will be called into active Federal service," Gen. Berry said, "except in time of national emergency. Everything else being equal, a member of the National Guard will be given preference of deferment. It is likely that, depending on the demand for manpower and the quotas of Selective Service Boards, the Board will defer a Guardsman if any other men are available."

A Report On The FFA Camping Out

Sixteen chapter members of the Brownfield FFA Chapter attended the annual summer encampment this past week at Possum Kingdom. The members voted to change the place of encampment from Christoval to Possum Kingdom for this year in order to see new country and do more prospective fishing.
After arriving at the lake, and a cooling off swim in the deep water, many of the group including Mr. Buford decided it best to move below the dam on the Brazos river. The camp was located under large liveoak trees, facing high rock cliffs on the opposite of the river. This was an ideal place for camping except for the bull nettles, cactus, cows, underbrush, and weeds.
Dale Newsom, Jarvis Roach, and Kerby Sexton rushed to the river to refresh their sunburn after the long open ride. This happened before the vehicles were completely stalled in the deep river sand. All three rushed into the water and rushed out within a few seconds. They came into camp and gave a chattering teeth report that invisible ice bergs were floating down the river. Billy Ray Oliver thought it best to swim the ice cold stiff stream before his first breakfast. He did, by the help of about fourteen others. Tommy Riggs and Jerry Bond finally rescued him on the opposite bank. Billy Ray drank more water than a camel while crossing the river. Daniel Boone, Jr., Gorman took his exploring party to the top of Rattle Snake Mountain without a casualty. Only three rattlers were observed and left unharmed on the round trip. Troy Curlington said one of the reptiles was as large around as a big snuff bottle. Jr. was the better fisherman of the group by pulling in five channel catfish. They were really tasty at the evening meal except for the KPs who had to cook for sixteen hungry wolves. Wyndall Miller and Alton McKee made twin statements, both said the trip would be more fun if KP was left out. Doyle Newsom and Tommy Kennedy were the only injured individuals on the trip. A boulder rolled over Doyle from the mountain top and Tommy had a round with a large bull nettle.

One of the more interesting phases of the trip were sessions of Kangaroo Court. Carrol Johnson acted as jungle judge, with Joe Covington and Allen Orr as jurors. One apple thief and two cookie thieves were tried and convicted to fifteen lashes of a belt line. One of the belt lines ended at the river bank edge. The criminal swam out.
On Friday afternoon the entire group went to Mineral Wells. Some went to the farmers market and tried trading horses, and others visited the Crazy Hotel for hair cuts and shoe shines and not hot baths.
All the boys had a very good time during the five day stay. Many wished to extend the trip even longer and others made the statement that they would like to go again the first day after their return.

Polio Count Reaching Alarming Figures

Reported cases of polio in sixty-five Texas counties reached the alarming total of 580 during the first six months of the year, according to Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer. For the same period in 1946, the total number of cases reported in sixty-six counties of the state was only 292.
"This staggering increase in polio in a brief two year period evidences a need for drastic measures in all communities to combat the disease," Dr. Cox asserted. "It is the responsibility of the people of the State to report themselves to their doctors whenever they recognize symptoms of polio. It is also their duty to give wholehearted co-operation to clean-up drives in their communities."

Dr. Cox urged immediate medical attention, especially at this time of year, for such things as headaches, fever, stiff neck, pain in the legs, irritability and drowsiness. These, the health officer stated, are symptoms of polio.
"It is well to guard against panic in polio cases," he said, "for complete recovery is not impossible. Even in the more severe cases, when the germ has penetrated the nervous system causing paralysis or one or more groups of muscles, some remarkable recoveries have been made."
Dr. Cox indicated his belief that the first line of defense against polio is a carefully conceived and thoroughly executed clean-up campaign in all communities.

"Local police power should make such clean-ups mandatory," he said.

Colored Woman Kills Mexican Man Here

Ida May Montgomery, a 30-year-old colored woman was charged last week in the Justice Court, with murder with malice, in the slaying of an unidentified Mexican man, about 40, Thursday night of last week. County officials investigating the case stated she had tentatively confessed to stabbing the victim, but claims self defense. A colored man about 18 years of age is being held in custody, pending further investigation. Both reside in the colored section in north part of this city.
While witnesses questioned gave conflicting views, it appears, that both the Mexican and accused, with others, were in a cafe in that section, when the two left to go to her room, about 100 yards away, and were later heard quarreling near her apartment, and were seen fighting. The victim's body was found a few minutes later half way between her apartment and the cafe. He had been stabbed several times about the face and head, and a fatal one under the shoulder.
The Sheriff's office was called a few hours later and took the woman and two colored men into custody. One has been released. The next day, Friday, a distinguished colored man, came in demanding release of the woman, or charges filed. He was supposed to represent a well known Order for colored folks, but officers retained custody. She was allowed bond in the sum of $2500.00 to await action of the Grand Jury. But had not made it up, to Tuesday.
After diligent inquiry among the Spanish settlement near by, officers failed to procure identification of the victim. He is small of stature with tattoo of letters on arm, thought his first name may be "Lorendo" or something similar.

Elsewhere in this paper the Crescent Hill Church of Christ announces their coming meeting. Bro. W. S. Boyett is to conduct this meeting.
Bro. Boyett worked with this congregation for about two years, 1939, and 1940. Naturally all of the people who were here then are anxiously looking forward to his return, and the meeting. Bro. Boyett has had a great deal of experience in this type of work, and is an able proclaimer of God's Word. After leaving the congregation here he went to the mission fields of the Northwest, where he labored for nearly three years. From there he went to Oklahoma City and worked with one of the larger congregations there. Last fall he moved to Houston, and began working with the 23rd and Shepherd congregation of that city.

The meeting begins Sunday, July 18th and continues through the 26th. We will have services twice daily, 10:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Each and every one of you are invited to attend this meeting.

But Tuesday the old town assumed the normal condition of a week day business. No more or less than commonly seen on Tuesdays. Perhaps most of those who did shop were looking for something to eat as the larders were emptied over the long holiday weekend.

Something New Here In Brownfield

Saturday night something new for Brownfield at least, opened at the corner of Broadway and First Street. The corner was cleared of all bushes leveled with a bulldozer bright lights were strung, and a sign erected, "The Melon Patch."
Looked like he had a pretty good patronage, and he promised nearby residents to keep a clean place and no fly breeding places. A few gripes from some who had to put in fireproof buildings, were heard. However, the man has little more than a screened in office to catch fire.
The meeting begins Sunday, July 18th and continues through the 26th. We will have services twice daily, 10:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. Each and every one of you are invited to attend this meeting.

3 Polio Cases Reported In S. P. H. U. Area

Polio cases reported in South Plains Health Unit area by Dr. Frank P. Miller, director. The total of three cases reported for the week ending July 3 first case occurred in Brownfield last week in June, second case in Lamesa, and the third case in Seminole.
Strenuous clean up campaigns is urged by all cities and individuals in the destruction of flies and other insects, and the elimination of surface privies as precautions against the spread of polio.
If these precautions are not taken polio cases may be expected to increase in the area until the peak of the summer months.

"Your Neighbor" Contest Enters Fourth Month

Clues for the fourth consecutive "Your Neighbor for the Month" contest, sponsored by the Haynes Bakery, are scheduled to start being distributed tomorrow—Monday at the very latest. There will be seven clues in the July contest.
Selections must be in by Saturday, July 31, and the winner will be chosen that day. The "Neighbor for the Month" contest is a hidden identity contest, currently in vogue on the radio and through other media. Johnny Haynes, owner of the Haynes Bakery, states that his contest is unique in that there are no essays to write nor any contributions to make.
The winner of last month's contest was Mrs. Clyde Lewis, who correctly identified James Harley Dallas as "Your Neighbor" for the month of June.

Local Park Crowded Last Sunay

While the Old He stuck pretty close around the house Sunday, an informant told us there was a good crowd at Coleman Park most of the day and more than 100 cars there some of the time.
Anyway, Coleman Park is becoming a real nice place to take a lunch and just relax on the grass for awhile. The trees are growing fast, and the shade and grass grows better from year to year.
The only thing the matter with Coleman Park is that it was built for a town of some 3500 and now we have around 9000. But the city does own additional land and adjoining and perhaps when conditions become more settled, and labor a bit more plentiful, improvements will start on the additional land, we hope.

The only ant in the ointment of the present pretty little park is that the driveways are not paved, and those who were in there Sunday say that picnickers had a hard time keeping their lunch from dust and dirt as cars whirled by kicking it up, and with a pretty stiff wind blowing. Wonder if the city council could not find enough funds in an old hollow log behind some "haunted" cemetery to pave the driveways while the paving operations are going on? Some believe that almost 150 cars were in the park at one time Sunday.

Town Back to Normal Tuesday

A lot of the local folks left late Saturday or early Sunday for a weekend holiday. Not many could be seen around town at least, and for once a parking place in front of the post office was not at a premium while you ran in after your mail. This obtained both Sunday and Monday. The biggest noise was the small boys and their fire crackers. We heard of no casualties.

At the time we made the estimate of 60 per cent blown out and 40 per cent left, we took the figures of Mr. Clapp, representing Anderson-Clayton Co., Lubbock, for our basis. He gave the acreage to cotton in Terry county before the four days of hard hot winds in late June as 140,000. Sixty per cent left only 54,000 acres.

First National Adds New Directors

In their condensed statement elsewhere in this issue will be a list of the officers and directors. Very little shifting has been done in the official family, but there are two new directors. They are O. L. Peterman, manager of local West Texas Cottonoil Co., and Lee O. Allen, who owns a gin and store at Tokio.

Child Bitten By Rattlesnake

David, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Bishop living 12 miles northeast of town, was bitten by a rattlesnake late Wednesday afternoon, while playing in the yard of their farm home. Quick action of the father in extracting much blood and poison from the wound, which was on the foot, possibly saved the child's life.
He was immediately rushed to the local hospital where his condition was reported favorable yesterday. The boy is a grandson of Mrs. O. L. Jones, County Treasurer.

Well, the glorious Fourth is over again, and so far as we have been able to figure or hear, most of our own came back home on the 6th, sound in body and mind. That alone is some consolation. Very few people remained in town. If they were, they were indoors. The town looked deserted, but not entirely noiseless. In certain areas there was a constant pop of firecrackers. We are too hard of hearing for the things to greatly bother us, but a thought comes to mind that like some of the other city laws, should be enforced or repealed. We saw a few who had too much to eat or something, and complained of feeling badly Tuesday. As for the writer, he put in the full day keeping two sprinklers going on the lawn and trees, and was almost stringhalted Tuesday from dragging 75 or 100 feet of hose. And we imagine we used up a heck of a lot of Mayor May's water.

From the wail let out by some of our exchanges, they were really disappointed that the GOP platform had so much "civil rights" and other anti-Southern stuff in it. Or were they? For the last four years both parties have been putting something like that in their platforms. It's a doggone good vote catcher if it really doesn't mean anything. Wasn't it Lincoln, the first Republican president that advocated freedom of negro slaves as a party platform? And up to a few years ago, that party got most of the qualified negro votes, until the new deal came along with a vast lot more promises. However, we saw printed in a recent issue of the Scottish Rite New Age magazine, a quote from Honest Abe to the effect that he never did advocate social equality of the two races, and admitted that was hardly possible for a long time at least. Fortunately he did not pay too much attention to party platforms. A lot of stuff in them don't mean a thing. And as long as Robert Taft remains the leader of things on the GOP senate end of the capitol, not much is going to be done about the matter. Taft recently expressed himself that the poll tax matter was something for the states involved to thrash out, and he believed they were moving in that direction. As for the FEPC, he thought that would damage the black man more than it would benefit him. As to intermingling of the races, especially in the South, Taft stated that was a matter for education and future generations to work out, and he didn't think any law would solve the matter. As to lynching, he admitted that was already disappearing, and that the South was solving that matter, also.

The more the writer sees and hears of this US Senate race, the worse we become confused. For awhile we thought we'd just stay with "Calculating Coke," as he made us a swell governor without laws again' this and again' that every time the legislature met. Also, he left quite a sizeable jackpot for Beautiful Beauford, when Coke found a deficit almost as large when he went in. Then, on account of his age and aggressiveness, we thought we would settle for Lyndon. But the more we see of his campaign the more we are reminded of the campaign "Pappy the Biscuit Passer" used to stage. But that seems to attract Texans. Some of the things that have come to light about Coke of late, such as the endorsement of a pressure group, we admit does not set well with us, and until that is entirely clear, we'll just taxi along. We may finally settle on Paddy. Who knows?

We recently received a very nicely printed brochure from the Association of American Railroads that was really interesting. It gave the names of famous crack trains that are now operating in America. This included those operated by steam, diesel or diesel-electric. There were many pages devoted to these trains, some being named for birds, famous men, authors, historical figures, statesmen, horses, flowers, etc. We have seen several of these trains, but have ridden on very few of them.

The Herald recently had a call from a judge who is making the race for associate justice of one of the Texas courts. He was a nice gentleman and had a pleasing personality. But after we talked for sometime, it suddenly leaked out that the territory was too large for him to do advertising, but we gathered from further conversation that he would use the radio not a little. In other words, he wished the FREE help of the small newspapers of the area in order that he might spend his money with the radio people. Tish! Tish!

Well, as we did not start to get out this issue of the Herald until Tuesday, we know that our 2.5 readers are going to be sorely disappointed in our editorial efforts. If our calves, and we mean those on the bottom of our legs get over that Glorious Fifth grass watering spree by next week, we promise to do better. But today, Tuesday, we feel like a bulldozer had hit us.

The Herald will likely support Jim Griffin of Mission, Texas, as State Agricultural Commissioner. His opponent, Mr. McDonald, who has held the job for many years, has always run on the Democratic ticket to get his job, then turned against the Democratic party in the fall elections. The Herald believes that any private citizen has this right, but hardly thinks it proper for an office holder to ride in on the bandwagon of that party and then desert as soon as the shouting is over. Griffin was reelected on a farm near Kemp, and is now a successful farmer at Mission. Mr. McDonald stands indicted by a federal grand jury at Washington for lobbying without a license, and for manipulating food prices for his own gains. Of course these indictments may not stand up in the trial courts, but we do not choose to elect a man who is under indictment until he proves himself innocent. Fact of the matter is, the writer has not voted for McDonald in years, whenever he had an opponent. We just don't like the way he manipulates politics any more than we like his manipulating the markets.

Reports say that a lot of work remains to be done concerning the popular belief that retail profits run to as high as 20 per cent and a lot of folks think that the figure is nearer 60 per cent. The trouble has been that most retailers have just said that their profits were very small and let it go at that. They have used no figures. There is still another popular belief that the owners and managers take some 87 per cent of the profits while the employees get but 13 per cent. The reverse is nearer correct. And some few think government management would solve all that. But those of us who lived through the other world war and saw the government take over the railroads know better. During that time we had the rottenest service and the highest freight rates ever known on this continent. We want no government management of nothing. Yes, we know that the post office is efficient, and is run by the government. We also know that the post office always has a deficit. Private business could not last long that way.

Some wonder where all the oil that is being produced goes. Well, aside from some 30 odd million cars owned by town people, bus and truck companies, statistics reveal that there are now some three million tractors on American farms, operating 15 million farm implements. In addition there are 1,880,000 farm trucks and 4,680,000 cars on farms. They just don't run on their reputations, no matter what the manufacturers say.

Weigh well any extra hard knock you get. It might be opportunity.

Wellman Girl Marries French Naval Man

There was quite a story recently in the Odessa American about a Capt. Gady, who was born and reared in France, but in the late war sailed on American warships, and saw service both in the Atlantic and Pacific sides of the conflict. At the close of the war, he was a captain, and became a citizen of the USA.

He is now a builder in the boom oil town of Odessa, and says that coming to Texas was not altogether his idea, but more that of his wife, the former Miss Alameda Griggs, who was practically reared in the Wellman section of Terry county. She also taught school at Wellman awhile, but is believed to have gone to California during the war, where she met her husband.

From the account in the American and reproduced in the Seminole Sentinel, which also carried the captain's picture, he is highly pleased with Odessa and his American citizenship. And of course, getting a Terry county girl for his wife makes his happiness one hundred per cent complete.

If You Have Cancer Don't Fool With Quack Doctors

An increase of more than 18 per cent in Texas cancer deaths during the five years between 1943 and 1947 has been announced by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Texas mortality tables compiled by the Texas State Department of Health show 1943 cancer deaths at 5,557, as compared to 6,770 for 1947.

"The greater part of this tremendous increase in cancer deaths is attributable to needless delay in seeking treatment, once a person has reason to suspect he has a cancerous growth," Dr. Cox said. He added his belief that advertising of patent medicines and so-called cancer quacks puts dangerous and misleading information before the public, thereby adding to the cancer mortality rate. This is because people are lulled by such propaganda and do not receive proper diagnosis and treatment until too late.

Dr. Cox said that almost two-thirds of all cancer cases rely on surgery to remove the cancerous tissue, while the other third may respond to X-ray or radium treatment.

"These three methods are the only means by which the disease can be treated," he said. "Self medications, serums, colored lights, pastes, and diets are absolutely useless."

4-H Canning Program Saves Money And Balances Diet

In line with the saying, "A penny saved is a penny earned," Terry county 4-H Club Girls are earning dollars by canning fruits, vegetables and meats produced on their home farms.

Many of the girls are taking part in the 1948 National 4-H Canning Achievement program. This activity encourages club girls to produce a more varied, well-balanced diet and reduce cash expenditures for food by the use of a family food preservation plan. They also learn to recognize the importance of fruits and vegetables in the diet and to increase their use during the winter months.

County Extension Agent, Miss Dunlap will furnish more complete information on the program for which Kerr Glass is again providing awards.

Awards this year are gold-filled medals of honor for county, National 4-H Club Congress trips for the state, and $200.00 college scholarships for six national winners.

Norris Phillips was injured Monday when he fell while working on the new courthouse building at Plains. He received a broken arm and severe bruises.

The Health Officer pointed out that the greatest defense against cancer is an early diagnosis and competent treatment by a reputable physician. He urged special attention to any unnatural bleeding from any body opening, lumps in the breast, and skin sores which fail to heal normally.

Roger Evans Counts On Rural Vote

By TOM STONE

Associated Press Staff
Roger Q. Evans, who lives in a small town, is counting heavily on the support of rural folks to elect him governor of Texas.

The Veteran Legislator, who comes from Denison where he owns a farm, says "if I don't get 60 per cent of the votes of the small cities and rural sections I'll be disappointed."

Evans, perhaps best known for his bonus-for-veterans proposals in the state legislature, says he's banking on the votes of the country people and veterans.

"Ever since I became a state legislator eight years ago," he said, "I've favored legislation that would benefit them."

His program for governor bears out those interests. It includes:

An expanded state health program, maximum old-age pension payments, top salaries for school teachers, farm road program expansion, a public sanitation and water supply program and conservation of soil and water.

His program also includes protection by law of Texas labor gains. Preservation of states rights promotion of the tourist industry and higher state salaries.

Farm Cash Income Shows Increase

May farm cash income in Texas totaled $106,629,000, a 9-per-cent gain over a year earlier, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Although most farm products brought Texas farmers more money than in May 1947, corn, mohair, wool, sheep, eggs, milk products and fruits and vegetables, and peanuts were on the downtrend.

Cattle, bringing $41,223,000, was the greatest source of farm cash income in May. Fruits and vegetables registered $12,471,000. Third, milk products totaled $10,449,000.

VETERAN'S QUIZ ON OUT-PATIENT CARE

Q. Can a veteran receiving out-patient treatment enter a VA hospital?

A. If a physical examination discloses the need for hospitalization, such care may be arranged for by the staff of a VA clinic or through any VA office.

Q. May a veteran be treated by his own physician at government expense?

A. Yes, if he has a service-connected disability and receives prior approval for such care from the Veterans Administration.

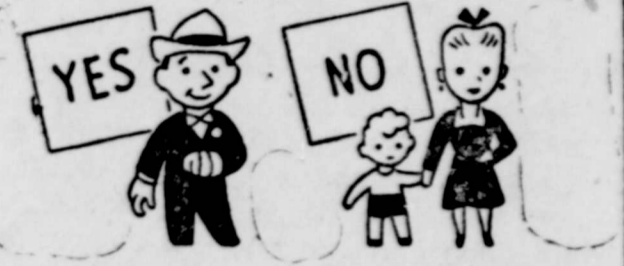

Q. Which veterans are entitled to treatment other than in a VA hospital?

A. Known as out-patient treatment, this care is provided to veterans with disabilities which originated while in service.

Q. How long does a veteran have to wait before he is hospitalized?

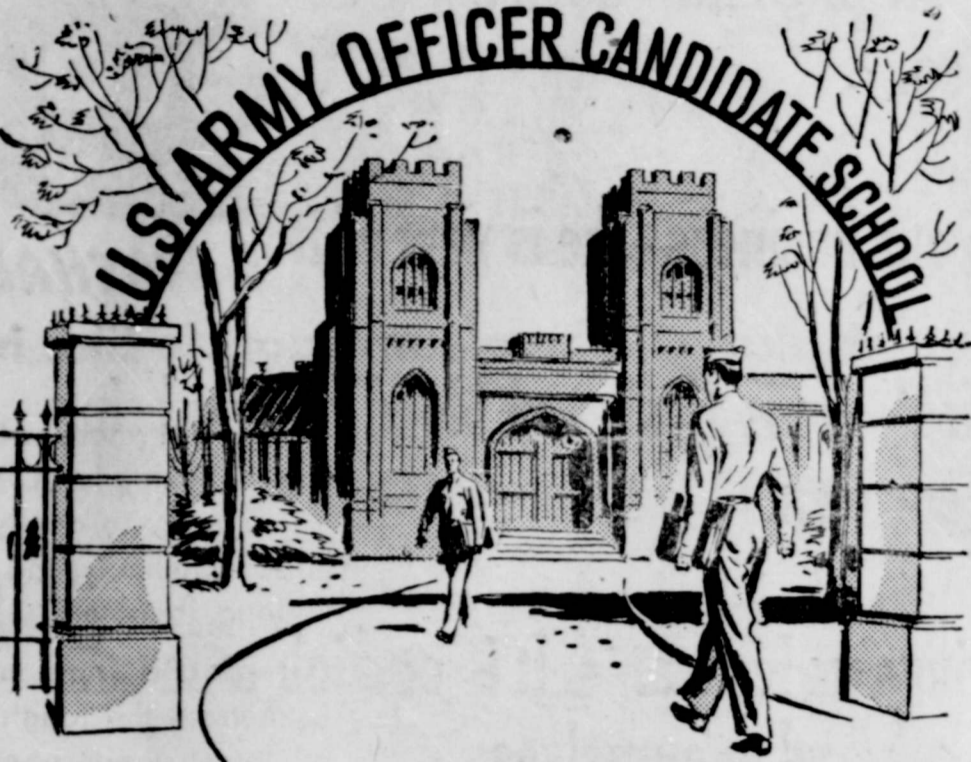

A. If a service-connected or emergency case, admission is immediate. There is still a shortage of beds in VA hospitals, however, and veterans with post-war disabilities must wait several weeks in some areas.

Q. Does VA provide care to veterans' dependents in their out-patient clinics?

A. No. Only veterans are eligible.

For complete information contact your nearest Veterans Administration office.

WHY "Stepping Down" IS SO IMPORTANT TO YOU

Hudson amazes motor-car world by using vital "step-down" zone—not available in any other car—to bring you riding qualities and safety beyond anything known before!

Word's going 'round—and fast, too—that Hudson gives you a "sweet," smooth, safe ride that is a new high in motor-car performance!

Perhaps you've heard pleased and proud Hudson owners talking about this exciting new experience, but here's something you may have missed hearing:

The key to this amazing new ride lies in that area just under the floor of the average car, which in the New Hudson becomes the "step-down" zone—as illustrated in the sketches at the right.

This "step-down" zone is all-important, because experience has shown that the lower to the ground a car can be built, the better it will handle, the more stability it will have, the safer it will be, and thus the more enjoyable and comfortable will be your ride.

Hudson, and Hudson alone, has accomplished a near miracle of low-built streamlining and smooth, safe, comfortable riding with a new type of base frame which surrounds the passenger compartment, and thus permits the floor to be lowered down within it. Recessing the floor creates the "step-down" zone and a center of gravity that is the lowest in any American stock car—yet road clearance is ample!

That's why Hudson has a hug-the-road way of going, even in cross-winds, and on every conceivable kind of highway. When you see how this car takes even the sharpest curves, it will spoil you for any other type of automobile! You sense this delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin your ride; and this stability, plus the protection of riding encircled by a sturdy box-section steel frame, gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being.

Sitting in this car is as downright satisfying as stretching out in your favorite easy chair. You ride on seats that are lowered and cradled ahead of the rear wheels and, even with its low silhouette, this breathtakingly beautiful motor car gives you more head room than any other mass-produced car built today! Hudson's use of the vital "step-down" zone in its exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is a development that required years of engineering work, the perfection of new production techniques, and millions of dollars in highly specialized new plant investment. Perhaps this explains why Hudson alone offers this new design principle today.

The nearest Hudson dealer has a booklet—yours for the asking—which explains how "stepping down" brings you advantages beyond anything known before! Hudson Motor Car Co., Detroit 14.

*Trade-mark and patents pending.

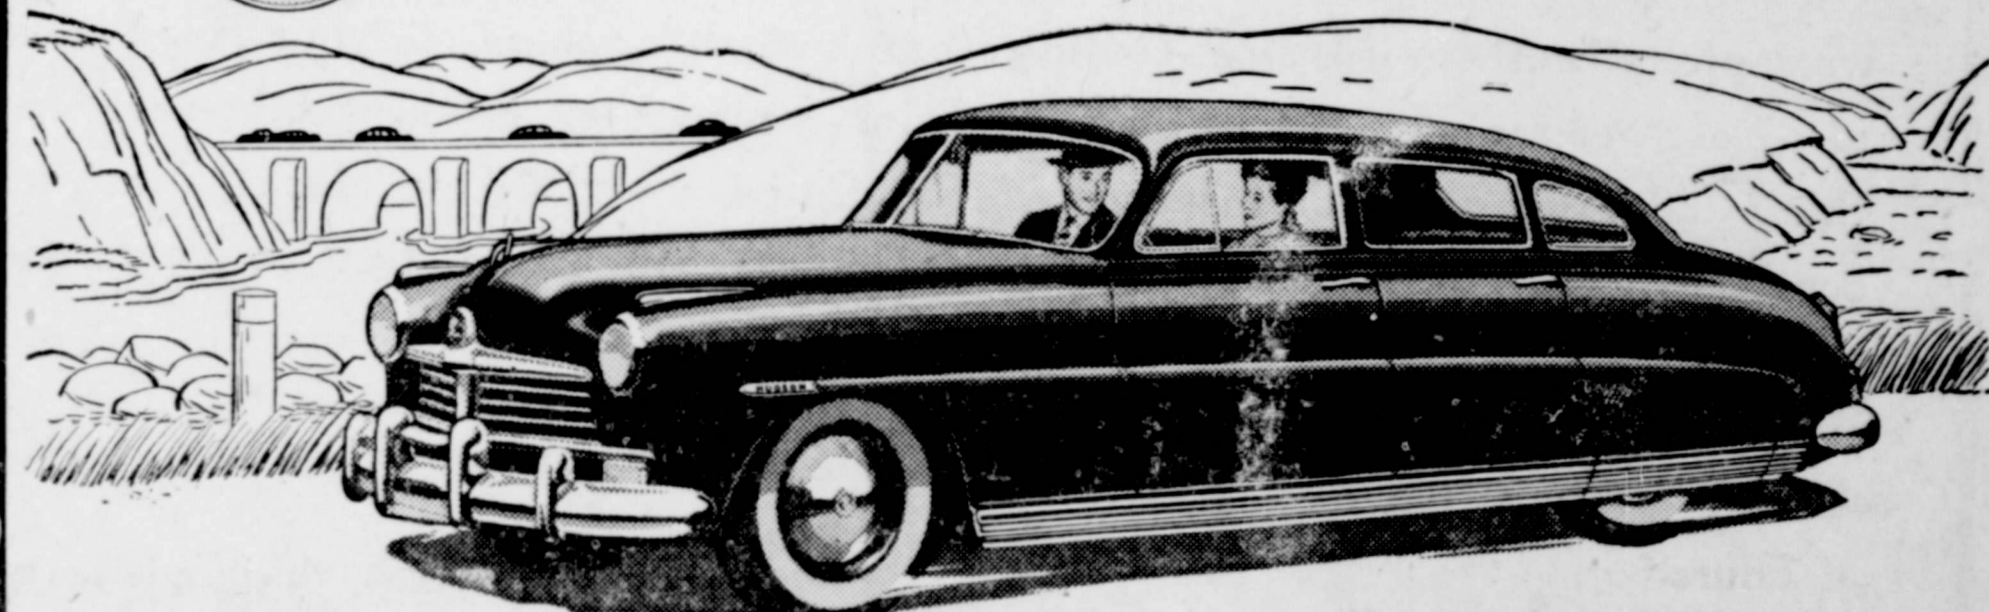

OTHER CARS—Here you can see that any car with floor on top of the frame, as shown above, fails to utilize that all-important space between frame members heretofore wasted by placing floor on top of the frame. This results in a high center of gravity, which in turn permits greater safety, improved roadability and ride, a low, streamlined silhouette.

NEW HUDSON—Here the important space between frame members, shown above, becomes the "step-down" zone—a highly useful addition to interior passenger roominess that creates a new, lower center of gravity, which in turn permits greater safety, improved roadability and ride, a low, streamlined silhouette.

This time it's Hudson

Judge Reed Tries To Raise A Racket

Judge Louis B. Reed of this the 106th Judicial district, was over last week winding up a bit of court work, and finding time hanging heavy on his hands, and feeling a bit frisky, perhaps, he invaded the Herald office, with Judge Neill as a rear guard action. He intimated that he felt just like whipping the editor. Whereupon we put forward two or three of our ex-GI's.

His honor then lowed as how that he was a GI of both wars, and we would be unable to get one of his buddies to jump on him. At that time, possible hostilities ceased and a truce patched up, and soon we were going right down the road telling jokes. Not smutty ones—Judge Reed doesn't indulge in them.

We are always glad to have Judge Reed call. He is an optimistic sort of a man, and when he leaves, we always feel that we are near the point of the rainbow.

The dining table was laid with an ecru imported cut-work cloth belonging to Mrs. Sam Kirschner and centered with red dahlias and sweet peas with lime green candles on either side. The buffet was covered in white satin on which stood a miniature bride and groom. Candles completed the arrangement. Roses were used throughout the house. Lime sherbet and cake squares were served by Mrs. Dale George and Mrs. Jerry Kirschner.

Texas Today May Bode Bitter Battle In 51st Legislature

By Mac Roy Rasor
AUSTIN, July 8.—(AP) Sales tax talk is rumbling through the state capitol conversations again. No one you talk to seems to favor such a tax. It's just that some dislike it less than a tax on natural resources the latter being the tax that some 50th legislators pushed hard and long last session and which some of 51st legislators may push even harder. The sales tax talk appears to be sort of a "fight-fire-with-fire" policy among those opposing any additional levy on natural resources. Whether a sales tax drive develops probably depends entirely on how serious a threat is made on new taxes in general. Tax revenue is coming in at record breaking highs and there's an unprecedented 65-million-dollar spendable balance in the general revenue fund. Present indications favor a continuance of the up-trend. But along with the revenue, government costs too are climbing skyward. Voters may kill off 30 cents of the state's ad valorem taxes by adopting a constitutional amendment at the polls next November. If the veterans bonus demands are recognized, new taxes will be inevitable. It's enough to scare the natural resource interests, despite their previous policy (accompanied by frequent denials) that such taxes are passed on the consumers the inevitable course of practically all taxes. Thus the sales tax talk—the first of any magnitude since the 46th legislature where the last attempt finally died after a four-legislature seige of sales tax bills and resultant opposition. Opinions of last year's legislators who backed or opposed the gas-gathering tax proposal of the 50th session and who will be back this year indicate one thing for sure—no matter what the tax proposals in the 51st session, they're due to face a battle royal all the way.

G I QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I have been drawing $57.50 each month from my $10,000 War Risk Insurance since my discharge from the Army after World War I. Are such payments discontinued after the $10,000 is exhausted?
A. No. Payments may be continued for the remainder of your life, provided your total disability remains unchanged.
Q. I would like to appear before the Rating Board to explain my own claim. May I do this?
A. Yes, but a definite appointment should be made and you should be there at the time for which the hearing is designated. Expenses incidental to going to or from the Rating Board hearing must be borne by you.
Q. Why do I have to pay the two monthly premiums instead of one when I reinstate my lapsed National Service Life Insurance policy?
A. One premium is for the 31-day grace period following the date of lapse, during which the insurance was continued in force without payment of premium; the other is for the current month of

Politeness Rules On Highway's, Too

There are Emily Post rules of etiquette for the highway, just as there are for the drawing-room, according to W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol. "And traffic rules not only make for gracious living, they make for living—period!" he said. "No driver is a good driver unless he knows and obeys the traffic laws, to insure his own safety as well as the safety of other drivers and pedestrians." Chief Elliott pointed out that nearly half of all accidents in business and residential areas involve two vehicles at an intersection, and half of these are the result of two vehicles entering at right angles intent on going straight through. He said that statistics of the National Safety Council show 15 per cent of all drivers in fatal city accidents failed to yield the right-of-way, the most frequent violation. The Texas Highway Patrol is cooperating in a nationwide "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" your insurance policy's reinstatement.
Q. My son, a World War II veteran, is in a VA hospital in a distant city. Will I be permitted to visit him every day if I go to live in the city where the hospital is located?
A. Yes, if his condition permits such visits. All Veterans Administration hospitals have special hours set aside each day for visitors, the same as civilian hospitals.

and Captain E. L. Posey of the Lubbock District listed the following facts to remember about right-of-way at intersections:
1. A car already in the intersection has the right-of-way over cars approaching. You must give way to any car already there as you come up to the intersection.
2. If two cars arrive at an intersection at about the same time the one on the right has the right of way, and the other driver must give way to him.
3. Slow down before you reach the intersection in order to be ready for a car on the cross street. Won't wait to slow down after you reach the corner—it may be too late.
4. Despite the rule, don't insist on your right-of-way at the risk of an accident. Humility is a small price to pay for safety.
5. If there are stop signs at the intersection, or if one vehicle is turning left, special rules are applicable.

The Great Game

PHILADELPHIA—If sheer noise and enthusiasm are any criterion, if size of delegations and visitors is a yardstick, if bands and speeches and parades and demonstrations are a measuring rod—then this 24th quadrennial Republican national convention in historic Philadelphia convention hall tops them all. For this is the great game of American politics as it is played and played for keeps. Back of all the noise and fun, however there is serious business, for there are many who will swear that the man who emerges as the nominee of this convention will be the next President of the United States. Monday morning at the opening session, as Carroll Reece of Kentucky, national chairman of the Republican party, called the convention to order for its temporary organization, there was a huge shout from the galleries and the delegates on the floor, and as the chairman presented the keynote, Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois, the temporary chairman, another tumultuous outburst greeted this favorite son of the Sucker state. Tuesday morning was spent in organization of the convention, the seating of the various delegations on report of the credentials committee and the report of the platform committee. Tuesday evening the permanent chairman of the convention, Speaker Joe Martin, took over and made his address. On Wednesday the roll call of states for the nomination for the presidency started. For more than a week prior to official convening of the convention the huge resolutions committee composed of two delegates from each state has been busy writing the platform upon which the nominees will base their plea before the American people. Senator Taft made a pre-convention statement declaring that every plank should be specific so that the Democratic convention, when it comes along next month, must also be specific, particularly with relation to civil rights.

WALLFLOWER!
Believe it or not, the girl wearing this glamorous cotton chambray dress is starring in a picture named "Wallflower." She is lovely Janis Paige, popular Warner Brothers star. The National Cotton Council says the strapless cotton formal has a bodice of silver, changeable maroon with the full, floor-length skirt of maroon and white in wide stripes.

Plenty of Issues

Southern delegates to this convention were just as vociferous against making these civil rights planks an issue as their counterparts in the Democratic convention likely will be. There also was a battle royal on the foreign relations and the tariff plank as between the backers of Senator Taft and Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. Senator Vandenberg regards the reciprocal trade agreements as a part of our foreign relations program and believes that the entire Marshall plan or European recovery program is based upon the elimination of trade barriers such as the reciprocal trade agreements. Senator Taft, while he did not go so far as to hamstring entirely the reciprocal trade law, wants it curtailed to a one-year extension with some congressional strings tied to it. Prior to the vice-presidential nomination there was considerable talk throughout the convention hall about Governor Warren of California and even Governor Green of Illinois. Both Senators Lodge and Saltonstall of Massachusetts; Democratic Sen. A. T. Byrd of Virginia, who voted more Republican than Democratic in the senate; Senator Baldwin of Connecticut; Congressman Halleck of Indiana and others were put forth as likely candidates for the vice-presidency.

Coke Stevenson Runs For Senate Minus Hullabaloo

Ex-Gov. Coke Stevenson, candidate for the United States Senate, is conducting the sort of campaign that most political experts consider out-of-date. Stevenson's light campaign car bears no painted signs or placards—not even a windshield sticker. It is not equipped with a loud speaker, and it is not part of a motor caravan. His only traveling companions are Bob Murphey of Nacogdoches, a young veteran who does the driving and Byron Utecht, longtime Texas political writer. When Stevenson hits a town—and he has campaigned in more than 200 Texas counties since he started last January—he sets off on a walking tour of the main street. He goes into business buildings, professional offices, county courthouses, and talks to the people. "I figure it would be out of character for me to try to conduct a high-pressure, loud-talking campaign," the former Governor says. "I never have done that. I'm just running for the Senate on my past public record and on the principles I've always held." His methods seem destined to confound the experts. In three successive Statewide polls on the Senate race, Stevenson has been comfortably on top. CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank all those who sent flowers and food, and who were so kind and considerate in other ways during our recent bereavement. May God bless each of you.

PAUL YOUNG BRINGS IN THE PEACHES

Still not undone or unsung, Paul Young, one of the champions among the cotton producing folks of old Terry, was in one day last week with a sack of his fine peaches, and the Herald families had the best peach cobbler pies you ever tasted. A few of them were soft enough for peaches and cream.

However, Paul says that for some reason, dry weather perhaps, they begin to fall off before becoming dead ripe, and he has to keep them gathered before they are very ripe. Didn't say how many trees were ripe, but we noted while passing his farm recently that he had quite a lot of trees in the orchard. Indeed there were enough to make one of us remark that Mrs. Paul Blackstock tipped us off to where we could get some peaches last year, just for the going in the orchard and helping ourselves.

DIAL TALK

Amos 'n' Andy in their 23 years on the air have compiled 4820 scripts which are bound in 43 volumes of "Gone With The Wind" size. In their hundreds of hours on the radio they and their characters have spoken 7,773,891 words.

Johnny Mercer, who shares the spotlight with Dinah Shore and Harry James on "Call for Music" over NBC Tuesday nights, has written hundreds of lyrics and songs but he still can't read a note of music.

Sixteen-year-olders Barbara Whiting and Beverly Willis who star in the CBS Saturday program "Junior Miss" have a lot to live up to. Barbara's sister is record-radio singer Margaret Whiting and Beverly's mom is movie-radio comedienne Joan Davis.

Bob Hope never stops helping others. Nearly every Tuesday he packs his entire cast (some 50 in all) into an airplane or a bus and scoots off to present his radio show and an additional hour and half "after show" in fund raising affairs for a new YMCA, a Boys' club, veterans' center, a teenage club or the like. Sales of tickets are controlled by the local sponsoring charity group and not even Hope's travel expenses are deducted.

A lot of folks will tell you New York is the world's noisiest city. But not Harold Parr, the blind singing star of the Horace Heidt talent contests over NBC Sunday nights. Parr, whose hearing is much sharper than most folks, claims that New York isn't a bit noisier than Cleveland, Omaha, Los Angeles, Chicago, Washington or Boston—at least not to his very sensitive ears.

There's plenty of opportunities for the listener to win cash on the new Phil Baker quiz show "Everybody Wins" over CBS Friday nights. The only thing the listener has to do is to submit a list of five questions on any topic.

BOYS RANCH GETS TO BIG FOR ITS BRITCHES

Amarillo, Texas (AP)—Boys ranch is getting to big for its britches. Cal Farley, the man who founded it a half decade ago, is doing a tailoring job. He's making it in name what it has become in fact a national institution.

Today there's a railroad station in the mesquite studded foothills northwest of this Panhandle city with the sign "Boys Ranch". Soon there will be a post office with the same name.

Boys Ranch, where youngsters get another change, is only a few miles east of this lonely stop on the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad. You reach it on a winding rocky road cut through the sagebrush.

Boothill Cemetery, one of two reminders of old Tascosa, cowboy capital of the Texas Panhandle in the 1880's, greets you as you approach the ranch. Men who died their boots on lie buried there. The second monument to the ghost town that knew Billy the Kid and others of his breed is a building that once was the court house of Tascosa. It is the main building today of Boys Ranch.

In 1938 Julian Bivins, a rich cattleman deeded 12 acres of land to a group including Farley, Chanslor Weymouth, a rancher, and Tom Wingate, owner of a bottling concern. Farley then was rising business man of Amarillo. He had come here in 1923 to play baseball but quit to operate a garage that became a big general store. He always had worked with boys and in Amarillo soon was in it up to his neck.

In the spring of 1938 six boys were taken to the ranch with its one building. Today there are 22 buildings and 103 boys. These youngsters come from 13 states. And there's a long waiting list.

Cal Farley sold his business last year and does nothing now except work with boys ranch. The Maverick Club and other enterprises in Amarillo having to do with helping underprivileged kids also help. The project has properties worth $750,000 all as the result of contributions from the people of the Panhandle country and from over the nation. Farley himself puts about $5,000 a year into it.

There are 1,500 acres at the ranch. South of Dimmitt, Texas is a 1,480 acre irrigated farm to Boys Ranch by Mr. and Mrs. Dwight G. Axtell. Some of the boys are the "hired hands" at the farm. At the ranch the others take care of 57 head of beef cattle, 27 horses, 35 hogs, 16 head of dairy cattle and 250 chickens. So far as food is concerned the ranch and farm are self-supporting.

The 52 year old Farley, once a professional wrestler and still a hearty physical specimen has no fears that Boys Ranch will ever run itself out, even when he has passed on and his dynamic leadership is lost. "It is firmly grounded and will never fall because its results are too valuable," he says.

Boys Ranch really is a town. The youngsters go to church and school, ride horses in rodeos and do everything other boys do or would like to do. They also must work. Boys Ranch takes only boys no one else can do anything with except send to reform school. "We are not concerned with a record," said Farley, who is president of the enterprise. "We could make one by choosing the boys. If we took only those who needed food and financial help, we could click 100 per cent. You know, most organizations won't take bad boys to begin with."

The record of Boys Ranch, however, is pretty good anyway. Out of 388 boys who have gone there, only 11 of them have been counted as "lost." "We could have handled half of those if we'd had the manpower," Farley declares with a firm jut of his square jaw.

Farley is pushing Boys Ranch forward nationally because he very frankly wants more contributions so that the scope of the project may be enlarged. He knows it is impossible but if he had his way about it, Boys Ranch would take every boy in the nation that needs rehabilitating.

If you don't think he's sincere about it all just consider this fact: He sold a business that was paying him more than $60,000 a year so he would have nothing to interfere with the work with the boys. Today he has no income; he's just living on what he has accumulated in a quarter of a century of business in Amarillo. "I'm not a rich man but I have enough," he says.

Here's an example of the type boy the ranch is giving a chance in life.

Dortha Kelley, Farley's secretary, was helping one day at the ranch while a physician removed the tonsils of one of the new-comers. He was a skinny kid who showed evidence of having been beaten around frequently before the ranch got him. "When the boy came out from under the influence of the anesthetic I put my hand on his shoulder, just to let him know he had a friend," pretty, brunet Mrs. Kelly said. "He yelled, 'Don't hit me, I haven't done anything.' The youngster has changed a lot in the short time he has been at Boys Ranch.

Farley had a broad grin when he visited the ranch the day after the arrival of Ronnie Peterson, the boy who with a companion, "borrowed" an airplane at Oklahoma City. Ronnie had come to Boys Ranch instead of making a trip to the reform school. The 12-year-old was the latest addition to the Ranch family.

"I like it here," he told Cal. "I'm going to get to ride a calf in the rodeo this afternoon."

Ronnie rode the calf as well as he rode that airplane that got him into so much trouble.

When a boy first arrives at the Ranch he is placed in one of the smaller, more crowded barracks where he naturally enters into cooperation and companionship with the other boys in a short time. If he does his work right and gets along with the other boys he is moved into a larger barracks. At this time he is delegated more responsibility. The last step of advancement for a boy is to be given a room in the home of one of the members of the staff. He is taken in as one of the family and given even more responsible jobs to supervise and do himself, or he may be chosen as one of the few to go to the farm near Dimmitt. The boys usually pass through the stages of training in about five years. No boy yet has been kept at the ranch beyond the age of 18. They either are ready to face the world on their own or have been "lost." The latter, of course, are very few.

There is a staff of nine people operating the ranch. Hank Decker, former basketball star at West Texas State College, is superintendent. His wife serves as teacher in the school. Lewis (Bullet) Gray, former football player at the University of Texas, is the

Federal Internal Revenue Collections

More than $85,000,000 in Federal revenue collections were paid by Texans in May, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

This amount is 37 per cent greater than May 1947 collections. Collections from July through May stepped up 18 per cent above a like period in 1946-47.

Withholding collections rose 59 per cent over May 1947 and income taxes from corporations and persons not on withholding status climbed 20 per cent over last year's collections. Employment taxes increased 4 per cent.

Weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bradley were Mrs. Bradley's sister, Mrs. W. J. Pearson and four daughters, and a niece, Mrs. Ray Love and two daughters, all of Amarillo.

athletic coach and his wife also is a teacher. Other members of the staff are Mrs. Beatrice King, teacher; Bud Dearborn, leathercraft instructor; Mrs. Maude Thompson, in charge of clothing; Morgan Bagley, supervisor of farming, and Harold Faucher, cook.

THIRST-QUENCHER

A cool drink of water is always close at hand in a new cooling drinking water bag which keeps the liquid cool by an evaporation process. The bag is handy for a working man, for it's designed with a handle that attaches it securely to a tree or a truck door, the National Cotton Council reports. The bag is made of lightweight cotton canvas.

IT PAYS FARMERS
...TO MAKE EVERY BIT OF WORK COUNT
AND TO GET FULL SERVICE FROM OIL

Farmers are learning to arrange things so chores can be done without unnecessary work. It's sheer waste to take 150 minutes for a job that could be done in 60 or 70 minutes with better planning. Just as it's wasteful to accept only 60 or 70 hours of use from tractor oil when Veedol Tractor Oil stands up for 150 hours in gasoline-burning tractors. 150-Hour Veedol is made by advanced methods and equipment from 100% Pennsylvania, the world's toughest crude.

150-HOUR VEEDOL

SAVES FUEL by reducing power blow-by.
SAVES TIME by avoiding breakdown delays.
SAVES REPAIRS through greater heat and wear resistance.
SAVES OIL — stands up 150 hours in gasoline-burning tractors, cuts oil consumption in all tractors.
SAVES TRACTORS — assures long, economical service.

Freedom IS EVERYBODY'S JOB!

Here is an alarming fact; the freedom we now enjoy is threatened. Subversive influences are at work in our land; perhaps closer to home than we realize. They are working hard to destroy our cherished heritage. But it is not too late. We still have time to clean house... to stop the undermining forces of un-Americanisms.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

- Remind your friends that we must be as wide-awake as our enemies.
- Vote and urge your neighbors to vote.

SHEER TRAVEL MAGIC

Here you sit in blissful ease while the power plant itself meets and masters the thousand and one situations that come up in travel.

Gentle grades, steep hills, long straightaways, stop streets—once your lever's set, you simply step on the gas—and take them all in liquid-smooth luxury!

Does all this sound fabulous? It is. So fabulous that folks are signing up in droves for the '48 fashion plate with this new-wonder drive.

So to take command of this traveler-touched-with-magic, come see us quickly and get your order in.

We'll take it in sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

Here you let your left foot idle comfortably wherever you wish — there's no clutch pedal to push, ever.

Here your mind's free completely of remembering when to shift—no gears ever shift anywhere in the car.

Here, you glide over ground and grades in swift and utter smoothness as constant and unbroken as Niagara's flow.

For here you have the only passenger car in America where liquid replaces both the usual clutch and the low-second-high gear sequence of conventional transmissions.

What's Different About DYNAFLOW DRIVE*?

To an efficient new pump (left above), Buick engineers have added a true turbine (right) and an ingenious new supercharging assembly (in hand) which produce a torque-boasting action in starting and accelerating. The result is the first device on any American passenger car which employs liquid to fill the function of both the clutch and the usual low, second and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and high gears. The clutch pedal is eliminated and a simple control gives you manual selection of power ranges and direction.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models only.

Visit To Chickasaw Park In Tennessee

The last Wednesday we spent in Tennessee this year, was a trip to Chickasaw State Park, along with a bevy of nieces, nephews and cousins, two full cars. We never heard of this park until a year or two ago. In fact the folks back there don't go in for parks as heavily as West Texans, especially.
 For one thing, huge trees and lots of grass and a running stream or lake is no rarity. The park has not been under development too long, and some of these days is going to be a thing of beauty.
 Crews of men are kept busy improving the grounds and lake-shore.

The place is reached by good paved highways via Bolivar, but before reaching the half way mark to Jackson you turn east some 15 miles. It is situated in the extreme northeast corner of Har-deman county. It is already a beautiful place in its setting down in a vale with a crystal lake, fairly large, and surrounded by giant oaks. On the level areas out from the lake, there are tables and rock ovens for the free use of campers.
 A large building on the lake shore is used for banquets and dances.

We beat the fishing date as it was not officially open until Sunday following, but we could see a great many of the rascals swimming about in the clear water of the lake. Of course we had to sit down on the grass and gaze awhile, and of all the places on that mile or more of shoreline, we had to pick one with a second hand chew of gum that stuck to us like a long lost brother. Some of the more sympathetic scraped and pulled off most of the gum, but you know how it is, we just kept feeling back there, and we have a sneaking idea that some though more than just gum was our trouble.
 Anyway, by this time we found tables among those primeval oaks the lunch, ice water and iced tea were brought out, and all of us had an appetite to satisfy. Those girls sure had the grub, believe you us, and among it our old favorite, fried home cured ham. Oh, we may have tasted of the chicken and a lot of other stuff, but we started on that ham. If the day had closed right then, we would have had a fine day.

After some fat chewing, smoking and stretching to keep from going to sleep after that heavy meal, we decided to go on over to Henderson, capitol of Chester county, where the Freed-Hardeman college is located. This college is really a continuation of the old college we spoke of last week. It is a junior college, and has nice but not very large buildings. Omer Stice, formerly of Brownfield is attending school there, but as we were in a hurry and school in session, we did not look him up. A cousin called our attention to the nicer and more modern homes after we went into Chester county, and while a small city, Henderson is a nice, clean town. They seem to pack a lot of fruit there, as large packing plants could be seen.

From Henderson, we headed south to Selmar, county site of McNary county, long famous back there as the best corn liker producing county in west Tennessee and equal to the mountain districts of East Tennessee. And we were informed that the art of the makings has not been lost to date.
 Also, there are places that apparently even the experienced revenger could not easily penetrate.

 But the McNary folks are fine people as a whole, and many fine citizens have helped to make the old Volunteer State great.

One of the cars for business reasons had to return via Boliver, and took the Dixie highway, Memphis to Chattanooga, etc., back to Bolivar. The car we were in headed south to a few miles north of Corinth, Miss., where that highway crossed 57, thence west through Pocahontas and on to Middleton.
