Not Neutral—Not On The Fence—A Paper With An Opinion And A Purpose

VOLUME 44 BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1948 NUMBER 9

The Herald has grown with this section from strictly a ranch country. This area now consists of thriving towns and cities, supported by scientific farming and stock farming, augmented by huge oil fields, with the nation's largest known oil reserves.

Cubs In First AA Game Of The Season With Lamesa

Crede Gore Buys Elevator Division

Called at the Western Stockyards this week, as it was not entirely clear to us whether Crede Gore bought just the elevator division of the Coy Maroney plant, or it and the feeding and packing plant as well.

Found Crede's wife, formerly Miss Lela Duke, who greeted customers so long at the Brownfield State bank as cashier.

Democracy To Be Practiced At Tech

Americanism and Democracy in theory and practice will prevail over the campus during the coming year, Pres. D. M. Wiggins informed his faculty of 250 members at their first general assembly this year.

O'Donnell Defeats Meadow 6-0

The Meadow Bronchos showed up very favorably with a strong forward wall against the strong O'Donnell eleven last Friday night in a 6-0 defeat.

Jurymen To Report 29th Listed

Below is a list of Jurymen to report Wednesday September 29 to the County Court at Brownfield.

Murphy Luna Over For Shave-Badger Fights

While around at Matt Smith's Barbery last week to get our whiskers punctured, we struck up with Murphy Luna, one of the old time ranchers of old Yoakum county.

He stated that his section really had on Sunday clothes just now, as they have had some good rains.

Then we drifted into the sublime past with its many "dog and badger fights" that used to take place in Plains and Brownfield.

We remember quite a few that took place at the old Uncle Jack Coble Livery Stable, where the Higginbotham-Bartlett yard now stands.

After that performance, the visitor was usually ready and willing to buy the cigars for the crowd.

The Yandells Have A Nice Grocery

For the past two weekends we have been out of town, and hardly had time to be pleasant much less visit any.

S. Yandell, who has been in Brownfield several years, likes to joke, and would do so even if he thought the Dogpatch Shmoos took his food sale next week or today.

That section of town east of the Lubbock road is growing fast, and the old Santa Fe addition has for a long time been pretty densely populated.

Messrs. Sam Privitt, Sawyer Graham, J. B. Hucklebee, Jack Shirley, Jerry Kirschner, Arlie Lowmire, and Coleman Williams played golf in Denver City, Sunday.

Quite a number of local fans are expected to journey to Lamesa tonight to see the 1948 edition of the Cubs battle it out with the Golden Tornadoes.

Due to the fact that Lamesa has already played three games to one for Brownfield, the odds seem to be in favor of the Tornadoes, even if only from the standpoint of experience in number of games played.

No matter which side of the program you look at, the name "Tankersley" will figure rather prominently, as standout performers for both teams bear that name.

Hansbergers Here Looking After Property

Dr. and Mrs. H. Hansberger of Columbus, Ohio, were down this week looking after their fine body of land in Terry county.

You know we can hardly help referring to Dr. Hansberger and his late lamented father, as old timers. They have been on the subscription list of the Herald as long as we have owned it.

Messrs. W. T. Howze, Glen Harris, Erwin Rambo, Tom May, Leo Holmes, Virgil Crawford and Hugh Holmes spent the weekend fishing at Mr. Howze cabin in Abilene.

Big Rain Here Spotted Elsewhere

When it is cloudy all over and pouring down in the middle, which was the old Indian sign for rain, one can hardly tell just how far it extended.

Contacted County Agent Jack Cleveland, who stated that Tokio, Hunter and some sections southwest of town got good showers Monday evening.

In fact, the bulk of the rain was confined to Brownfield and a few miles out each way. We are still hoping for a general rain

Men Volunteering Here Everyday For Service

A large number of men eligible for the draft are volunteering here every day to take advantage of the many more opportunities available in the Army or Air Forces through being a volunteer.

A three, four, five or six year enlistment entitles the volunteer to select the theater and the branch of service he desires to serve in.

It was also stated by Sgt. Rogers that many young men of draft age that he has spoken to personally, are under the impression that when they receive their notice to report for induction, they can go down to the recruiting station and enlist.

They were hardly out of Will Rogers Memorial coliseum until the rump Truman delegates from Tarrant, Dallas and Harris counties, consisting of among others some 300 negro delegates walked in.

We hope Terry county and the entire area had sufficient rains to plant some turnips and other greens for winter consumption. Maybe most of us can get hold of enough sow bussom or jowls to season the greens and turnips. And while we are hoping, we as well expand these hopes to cover a multitude of headaches, one of them being winter pastures. It certainly would be delicious if we get enough rain to sow wheat and get it up and growing, and that more rains and snows fall during the winter so like 1947, we can take the old cows off the wheat come spring, and leave it to make an abundant wheat harvest. We hope! We hope! We hope! But have a talk with your county agent.

In a recent issue of Texas Agriculture, official publication of Texas Farm Bureau, they criticized rather sharply an editorial in the Dallas Morning News on the price of sheets and pillow cases, and concluded that "cotton was mechanizing itself out of business." The Herald read that editorial, and at first we, like Texas Agriculture, thought the News was hitting at the price the farmers get for cotton. On second thought, we knew that the News was referring to the big boost in a pound of cotton after it leaves the farmer and reaches the processors, jobbers, wholesalers and retailers, each getting his bit if he stays in business. All of us know, however, that most of the cost is paid out in the form of wages, to laborers, either union or non-union. Too, all of us must admit that it takes two horses to make a team, employer and employee. So it won't do to shoot either one of them. Returning to the News editorial, it was simply giving one reason for old high cost of living. The writer for instance took sheets and pillow cases, the former at $2.98 while the latter was priced at $1.50 per pair, with little work on them other than hemming. The old farmer received 61c for the cotton that went into the sheet, and 30c for that in the pillow slips. Most anyone would, we allow, figure that the News had no such thing in mind as that the dirt farmer was fixing to become a stuffed shirt plutocrat. The News was aiming its artillery at those who handled the deal after it left the farm, if at anyone. Let's not be too quick to jump at conclusions.

After reading a brief summary of both major party platforms, one cannot reach any conclusion than that both are brazenly making a bid for bloc votes, such as negro, Italian and other minority races in certain areas. And the more we realize that such a condition exists and is encouraged by the majority parties, the more we become convinced that we should have a talk with our representatives in congress to encourage them to vote to have the Ed Gossett amendment submitted to the voters of the 48 states for approval or rejection. We believe that would discourage if not end the power blocs hold in our national affairs. For instance, just for a sample, let's take New York and Texas. Say Dewey and Truman poll 90 per cent of the New York popular vote, while Wallace gets 10 per cent. The Gossett amendment would give each of the major party candidate 45 per cent of the electoral votes, and Wallace 10 per cent. In Texas, let's say that Truman gets 50 per cent of the votes, Dewey 25, Thurmond 23 and Wallace 2 per cent of the popular vote. Then the electoral vote would be divided on that proportion. We confess that we cannot see why anyone that wants to see our presidents fairly elected can object to the Gossett amendment.

Both major parties it appears, want some kind of a "civil rights" program, as well as the FEPC. President Truman wants the drastic one he recommended to congress at the called session, to be talked to death. The GOP does not commit itself to any special legislation in regards to "civil rights," and certainly does not commit itself to a coercive fair employment act. To the contrary, Truman and Northern branch of the Democratic party wants the whole series of anti-Southern legislation, and not dominated, want a rigid centralized government, police controls and all. And their national chairman, Harold McGrath at least hints that free speech and a free press are repugnant to him. So there you are, Mr. Brass Collar man; take it or leave it.

Did you get a notice from the secretary of the school board that your taxable valuations had been raised? If not, you are a lucky guy. However, those we saw were not drastic raises. With the increase in price of everything you eat, wear or use, this was to be expected. And if we are to get first class teachers, we must stand the gaff. It takes money to make the mare go.

Another comparison between the Democratic and Republican platforms will be interesting to the voters. The latter is for the retention of the Taft-Hartley labor law, with needed amendments. The Democratic platform is pledged to its repeal, although Truman has used the law three times himself to settle paralyzing strikes. He wants the labor vote—at any price. The GOP platform is for the retention by the states of their submerged tidelands. The Demos want them taken over by the Federal government. Our governor sashayed all over the US last year speaking and pulling for the States retention of these lands. He has suddenly become silent on that question, and is pulling for Truman and Barkley. Let's try to be entirely frank about the matter. Which platform sounds to you more like it was written for Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson to run on, the Republican or the so-called Democratic platform?

Brown county has almost forgotten the US Senatorial battle with a hot contest all its own. From what we could learn about the matter, a young man beat the old county judge of Brown county by some 18 votes. The old Judge and his cohorts went to work to contest some of the ballots. It was found that one of the election judges either ignorantly or maliciously failed to sign the ballots in his box and some 1100 were thrown out, letting the old judge retain his office. Now these 1100 disfranchised voters are asking that their $1.75 poll tax money be returned. Hell may be to pay down there yet.

If those scientists are as innocent of not exposing the secrets of the atomic bombs as some of them indicate, why are they so set on stopping a probe into their activities? And why is President Truman always hollering "red herring?" If they are as innocent as they claim, or as they should be, they have no fear of any investigation. Let the probe go on and the chips fall where they may.

One Yearling For Each Still Says Bell

Herbert Bell of Marshall, a material buyer for Texas and Pacific railroad, is here visiting his son, Milton, and family and his sick brother, W. A. As he hadn't had time to call around to see us he called us up on the phone Tuesday night.

Says he: "I see you have a lot of fun about Old Harrison and its many captured liquor stills. Well, Jack, the people of Harrison county donate a registered yearling to a pool every time a still is captured, to be donated to 4-H and FFA clubs. Up to now there has been some over 2,000 donated."

Mon Telford Reports New Deep Test

Mon Telford and the writer were among those caught by the Tuesday afternoon deluge at Shag's barber shop, and as the Weatherman poured it on like nobody's business for about half an hour, we had to create some chin music.

News to us was that pits are being dug for another 12,000 feet test just east of the Country Club, which Mon disclosed. By the way, Mon agrees that the rains we have had will help all young maize just booting, or soon to boot. He got .75 inch of rain Monday.

Treasure Hunting Pays Off

Greenville, Sept 20 (AP)—Treasure hunting paid off for the Jack Clarks of Floyd near here Sept. 10.

Mrs. Clark lost her purse, containing $2,600, while helping her husband plow several acres land. She had pinned her saving in her overalls and was certain the purse lay buried somewhere in the field.

He suggests they try a spring tooth harrow. He offered the Clarks the use of the tool.

The Clarks called on a tractor dealer for aid.

The Clarks hurried back to their farm. Mrs. Clark piloted the tractor. Clark walked behind, inspecting the debris picked up by the harrow. After two hours of painstaking search, Clark let out a cry of joy. The missing purse, containing their saving, was recovered.

The Herald suggests the Clark's try using a bank for their funds.

"SIX YEARS WITHOUT A WRENCH - aint Luck!"

If you are the kind of car or truck or tractor owner who would rather "ask the man who owns one," then, below, read another report from one. He is C. F. Newberry, Texola, Oklahoma. He has five tractors, 1940 to 1945 models: three Allis-Chalmers and two International Farmalls. Also a 1937 International 1 1/2-ton truck. He has used AMALIE—nothing but AMALIE—the past eight years. He says: "I am using some of these tractors the 6th year. None of them have ever had a tap turned on the motors, are still running good and are not using any oil. During the summer I pull six-foot A-C combines with them, and this is hard on a tractor. I overhauled the 1937 truck two years ago and, putting it back together, I put the same inserts back in the bearings, as they were not worn any. That truck is on a gravel-haul job, hauling as much as any new truck.

Isn't YOUR motor just as precious to YOU? Change to AMALIE—and change TODAY!

Strayed Off Down Below The Cap

As it had been sometime since the Old He and wife had visited her sister, Mrs. Rosetta Roberts and family down at Coahoma in old Howard county, we got started about 5 p. m. Saturday and got in before sundown, a bit less than 2 hours, and in no hurry on the 86 mile drive.

And that reminds us of a drive we made down there in a model T. Sedan about 1920. We left Brownfield before it was good light, and arrived there about 4 p. m. after opening and closing 19 gates, experiencing a lot of some bumpy and some very sandy stretches in the road—such as it was. Hit paving those days about two miles this side of Big Spring. Had to start home Sunday morning in order to get back before nightfall.

Walter, Holden, a brother of Mrs. Roberts and Stricklin was down there, and he and others had made a trip to Bronte that day to see friends of 41 years ago. So we had to cool our feet outside until they returned, as doors were locked.

After a good night's rest, following a lot of chin music before that time, we were up betimes (8:30) next morning to a typical egg, bacon and coffee breakfast. As we have stated on other occasions, so we state again, Rosetta is a good cook, and she certainly taught the art to all her daughters, including Mrs. Fred Smith, a newcomer to Brownfield, and Mrs. B. R. Lay, three miles southwest of the city.

But you talk about eating, Rosetta and Miss Letha Nell threw in with another daughter, Mrs. Arch Thompson to one of the swiftest dinners (noon) that we have popped our upper and lower plates on in a coon's age. There was fried chicken, chicken and dumplings, roast pork, and brown gravy, and just about all the vegetables one can name in season. This was topped off with our favorite, egg custard, all washed down with good old iced tea. Had to have a nap after that affair.

Paid a visit to Joe Roberts, Jr., at one of the Big Spring hospitals. He is the youngest son of Rosetta, and recently underwent a serious operation, then on home, accompanied by Walter Holden.

Crops are very spotted between here and Big Spring; some passable, some indifferent and some

How To Cross At Intersections

If you insist upon learning traffic laws by accidents, the best place is an intersection.

The most frequent law violation in business and residential area traffic accidents is failure to yield the right of way at an intersection, according to W. J. Elliott, Chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

The Texas Highway Patrol is cooperating with a nation-wide "Learn and Obey Traffic Laws" program in an effort to familiarize the public with traffic regulations and how they save lives.

Of the traffic accidents which involve two vehicles occurring at intersections, Captain E. L. Posey of the Lubbock District emphasized the law concerning right of way at stop streets. The points to remember are:

1. The octagonal sign that says "Stop" means just that.
2. After stopping at the sign, you must yield the right of way to vehicles on the through street, unless they are far enough away that you can safely cross.
3. When you are on the through street, you must yield the right of way to a car which has stopped at the stop sign and then started to cross in the gap in traffic ahead of you.

THEY WERE THE HERALD'S ERRORS

Two recent boners were pulled in this paper. First Glen Paden says that his wife told a young lady twice that their party was not a bridge party, it went in the paper that way. The lady was a new comer and worked for the Herald a couple of weeks.

The rub came when the church of his affiliation had an officer's meeting. They didn't work him over much, he stated, because he had a bridge party, but wanted him to divvy up on the intake. Then there was the case of Ralph Butcher. He advertised some "canning tomatoes." But we got it "canned tomatoes" in the ad.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis McClain and daughter, Donna Gayle from Plainview spent the past weekend with Mrs. L. O. Turner.

poor. And maybe the streaks of good, bad and indifferent will be in a half mile of each other. Owing to where the heavy showers or none fell.

Mrs. Marshall Loyd of San Angelo visited relatives and friends here over the weekend.

Mrs. Ellen Jacobson, mother of Dr. Jacobson of Amarillo was a weekend visitor in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Fallis.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Bishop and family spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jones in Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wood of Midland spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howell in this city.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

By TEX Esley
Washington, Sept. 20 (AP)—Texas shares with Michigan the top spot in amount of federal funds allotted to states for projects aimed to increase wild animal and bird population.

For the year which began July 1, these two states each were allocated $539,030 out of the total of $10,780,619 (M) now being disbursed under the Pittman-Robertson Act.

The act provides that the 11 percent federal excise tax levied on the manufacturers level on arms and ammunition shall be allocated to the states through the Fish and Wildlife service of the interior Department. The money is to be spent for such things as establishment of game refuges, transplanting of animals from one area to another, seeding of grasses and plants on which wildlife feed, purchase of land and erection of fences.

Although the allocation are made annually, each state has two years in which to qualify for the money. Before the Government actually makes the grant the state must submit projects for approval by the Fish and Wildlife service. The state must put up 2 percent of the cost of each project, the balance is paid out of the federal allocation.

Second place position in amount of federal money is held by Calif.

Fat Salvage Benefits All

By KATE SMITH

Singing Star and Radio Commentator

The other day, someone asked me why I should still save used cooking fat. Well, I must confess I didn't know all the reasons offhand, but fat salvage involves millions of homemakers, so I decided to find some answers. I talked to meat dealers, to home economists and to Department of Agriculture officials. I asked why should women save their used cooking fat?

Here are their answers and three excellent reasons to continue and accelerate salvage of kitchen grease. It is almost sinful, in a world pitifully short of fats and oils to waste any fat. Used kitchen fat reprocessed for industrial use relieves pressure on edible fats and makes more food fats available for hungry people all over the world. Then the practical benefit. A food editor pointed out to me that saving used cooking fat and selling it to your meat dealer, while it does take time, is actually the simplest way of disposal. Your kitchen greases down the sink and what happens? You have to pay a plumber to excavate your drains.

Toss fat into the garbage can, and first thing you know, it has leaked through and left smelly stains in the lining of your pail. Storing grease in a used fat container and selling it to your meat dealer is by far the easiest and most efficient way to dispose of an otherwise odorous and worthless mess.

When you sell kitchen grease, your meat dealer gives you pennies for every pound. Not enough to buy a sirloin steak, but cash in the hand, which is more than you get for potato peelings, orange skins, egg shells or any other kitchen waste product.

Our government asks us to keep up the good work of scooping, scraping and skimming every drop of used cooking fat we don't need. And I think we all should, because it's one conservation measure that has tangible and immediate benefits for all.

which gets $496,627, and New York is third with $456,754.

The allocations are based one-half on the land area of the state, and the half on the number of paid hunting licenses. In at least 1 state, Indiana, there is a strong support to have the word "paid" eliminated from the hunting license qualification. That is because war veterans get hunting licenses free. None of this particular fund can be spent on development of fish life.

Texas is taking a leading role in wildlife preservation activity says Director Albert M. Day of the federal agency.

"We feel that Texas is running a good program down there," He says.

"They have taken steps to increase the wild turkey population and engaged in other such projects as the transplanting of antelopes."

Around The Capital:

Farmers in Georgia and other southeastern states enjoy a $215 per ton Government support price on the same kind of peanuts for which Texas growers can obtain only a 210 guarantee. Rep. Lindley Beckworth of Gladewater wanted an explanation for what appeared at first glance to be a discrimination against Texas growers.

The agriculture department came back with this reply: The dry invigorating air of Texas causes a higher percentage of split nuts in the shelling process. A ton of peanuts from the more humid sections of the country yields more whole nuts and consequently brings higher price.

Texas has done better for itself than any other state in getting federal funds for rural electrification.

Take the number of customers now served by power lines built with funds loaned by the rural Electrification. The total is 195,182. The second state is Minnesota with 114,949.

There are 71,000 miles of Texas lines Minnesota has 46,000.

There has been a sharp upsurge in public school building in Texas figures issued by the Federal Works agency show that contracts awarded for school building in the January-May period in Texas totaled $16,095,000 (M), ranking it third among all states. New York and Calif. were in

Fires May Occur In Refrigerators

There may be food for fire in your refrigerator, says Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

"The fire hazard in refrigerators, is related to the electrical feature and mainly to the motor," he stated.

"Though losses from these fires are usually small and are generally due to smoke damage and the need of replacing the motor, this year in Texas there have been an exceptionally large number of refrigerator fires and resultant loss."

Through May there have been 74 refrigerator fires which caused over a $107,000 loss. One death resulted when a refrigerator caught fire and a house burned.

Danger signals on a refrigerator are an odor or smoke from the motor and blowing of the fuse, Hall cautioned. Other than a few mechanical failures, the causes of fires in refrigerator motors are mainly due to overheating and poor maintenance. For proper maintenance, he advocated oiling the motor at proper intervals and not permitting combustible dust and dirt to accumulate on or around the motor.

The popular belief that the refrigerant starts fires is untrue, the Commissioner stated. In fact, the refrigerant most extensively used, actually has fire extinguishing properties, and when it escapes the danger is not one of fire but of an irritant gas.

Hall recommended the following procedure if a gas leak in the refrigerator should develop: get everyone out of the house, raise windows and open doors to the outside, disconnect the refrigerator line from the house circuit, call the fire department or the company which installed the refrigerator.

He advised that "stuck" trays not be jiggled and shoved as that causes gas leaks in the evaporator coils. Another place leaks generally occur is at joints which become weakened by vibration.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballard and Mary Ballard were business visitors in Lubbock Sunday.

Johnnie Teague from Midland is visiting relatives and friends here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammy Jones of Lubbock spent the past weekend with their parents.

first and second places.

The contracts in Texas in the first half of 1947 totaled, $7,201,000.

KITCHEN MEMO

Any new way of cooking meat loaf is always a welcome addition to the recipe file. Broiled Meat Loaf uses only six ingredients and can be popped under the broiler flame for quick cooking. Mix together 1 lb. hamburger, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, 1 egg, 1 tsp. grated onion, 1/4 cup tomato soup, 1 tsp. salt, pepper. Shape into two firm loaves and place on broiler grid. If you broil with the thermostat wide open, the loaves should be at least 3" from the flame and broiled about 12 mins. on the first side, 10 mins. on the second side. If you set the thermostat at 350°, place meat 2" from flame and broil 15 mins. on each side, which cooks it to well done.

If there's not quite enough batter to fill all the cups in muffin tins, pour water into the empties before placing in the oven to prevent burning of empty cups.

Any cooking food creates smoke and vapor of varying degrees. Many modern gas ranges take care of this problem with "smokeless" broilers which means, literally, that smoke rising from cooking food is consumed by the broiler flame.

Crackers spread with peanut butter and broiled until bubbly make excellent appetizers.

In 1859, reported The American Gazette, one hundred families used gas for cooking. Today two out of three of the 28,000,000 families in this country cook with gas.

Letoyer bread crusts cut into small bits, browned with butter or margarine in oven or frying pan, make economical croutons for soups.

Sausages at their Best

A FOOD TIP BY FOOD EDITORS OF McCall's MAGAZINE

Here at McCall's Kitchen we're fussy about the way our sausages are cooked. We steam them first in a little water; drain and brown them tenderly, jiggle the skillet as they turn over all by themselves. The big sausage manufacturers like this way too as the piercing of a fork before they're done permits the juices to escape.

Top favorite car with America's youngsters

The new Studebaker is their idea of something "super" in an automobile!

"LOOK! THEY'VE GOT A NEW STUDEBAKER!" What sheer delight a youngster's voice can put into those words! Yes, the dreamed Studebaker is the magic car of all the cars to most of the nation's school children. When you hear them say, "It looks a little like a new Studebaker" they're giving a lot of praise to any car. Take a tip from keen-eyed young America! Look and compare! There's nothing like Studebaker's light-streamed new sedans, coupes, convertibles—style stars of all cars.

The American Way

INFLATION

By George Peck

Last month the President in talking to the joint special session of Congress, declared inflation, if permitted to continue and expand, will drive this nation on to the economic rocks. To prevent this catastrophe he proposed the re-imposition of price controls.

But the President overlooked one very important fact—the American people in peace time will purchase goods and services as long as money is available. Past experience definitely proves that.

The OPA with its price controls began to break down even before the shooting of World War II stopped. The black market began to flourish. People will buy goods if they have the money. When President Truman announced in the Fall of 1946 that OPA was a "dead duck" and should be buried, he was admitting that enforcement of the act had already collapsed. It had failed because it defied economic laws.

Price controls reimposed at this time would deal with the effects rather than with the fundamental causes of inflation. The old law of supply and demand cannot be lightly brushed aside, even by the Chief Executive. People will buy goods if they have the money. To fix prices at a given level is tantamount to trying to regulate the temperature by blocking the thermometer at a given level.

The huge Federal spending program is the greatest contributing factor to rising prices. Federal Government is now spending at the annual rate of about 40 billion dollars. Yet government bureaucrats blithely tell us that not one penny of this can be pared down. Further, the Administration has launched an ambitious program that over the years commits this country to expenditures far beyond our capacity to meet.

Since the advent of the New Deal the idea has become all too prevalent with too many people that money grows on trees—great promises have been made and are being made with absolutely no thought as to where the money is to come to carry out the promises. The fallacious theory that Government should be the directing force of our economic and social activities must be abandoned if we are to save what little is left of the American Way.

To be absolutely fair it must be said that while Government itself is the real culprit in this upward spiraling of prices, it is getting considerable assistance in that direction from labor unions, businessmen and bankers. These groups must share in the responsibility and it is up to them to put on the brakes.

Labor unions can help by weighing carefully any further demands for increased wages. Business can help by keeping inventories low, by curtailing plant expansion except when it results in an early increase in output, by more conservative extension of credit, by resisting unreasonable demands for increased wages and by making every effort to lower prices to consumers. Bankers already have started to help, having conducted, under the leadership of the American Bankers Association, a nation-wide credit control program.

But getting back to the President plan of re-imposing price controls. That definitely is not the way to halt inflation—it is the way to create the biggest black market this or any other nation has ever known, because the American people will buy goods just as long as they have cash in pocket—price controls or no price controls.

New Use For Texas Petroleum

Houston, Sept. 20 (AP)—Texas petroleum is finding a new use at shell chemical corporation's new deer park plant near here. The $8,000,000 (M) plant is the first to use petroleum for the commercial production of glycerin.

The manufacture of glycerin from petroleum presents a new development. The new process has been acclaimed by the organic chemists as one of the outstanding research discoveries of recent years.

Glycerin has heretofore been obtained only from fats and oils, much of which have to be imported.

The shell process, according to Costermeyer, president of the Chemical Corporation, requires only petroleum salt and water. The Houston plant has made tests runs and is now making glycerin from petroleum.
