After a late start, the Friona Chiefs last week rolled over Springlake 35-6 and continued their sprint as district title contenders. Meeting the Springlake Wolverines on the losers' field at a homecoming tilt, the Chiefs turned the game into a rampage before more than 400 Friona followers.

After handily defeating the Springlake Wolverines last week, the Chiefs return to their home field for the last district game of the season Friday at 8 p. m.

Stacked up against the Chiefs will be Morton Indians, also undefeated in district play this year, and the two are digging in for the district title.

In last year's game, the two foes were fighting for the fourth place in the district, being the cellar teams. The figures from last year's game are Friona 26, Morton Indians 14.

The Indians have, in their earlier district games, easily come out winner and proved their capability of doing plenty of damage.

Playing a jumbled defense, the Indians bring to Friona a cruising offense game that trampled the Farwell Steers 25-0, and the Springlake Wolverines 46-6. They easily passed Sudan in playing this other member of the district.

The Chiefs will have the advantage of playing on their home field, if that gives a team any advantage. Then, too, Chief players have reported to practice in good physical shape for the Friday night battle.

However, a Tuesday afternoon scrimmage incident seems to have slightly injured the throwing arm of the Chiefs' engineer, Charles Hough.

Ordinarily, the throwing isn't used, considering the small number of passes that the Chiefs have used this year.

Seeing their final district football action in Friday's game will be seniors, Leon Masse, Donald Loafman, O'Neil Gree-son, Larry Moyer, Gary Brad-leughin, Larry Truax, Weldon Tatum, Larry Fairchild, and Bryant Dukes.

Coach Colie Huffman reports the Tuesday afternoon practice session went off well, getting the best practice weather the team has seen in many days.

Discounting limps and bruises, the Chiefs appear likely to have the entire squad available for action, of which there will be plenty.

ROW Suit Due

Steps were taken by the Parmer County Commissioners Court Monday to file a suit of condemnation against Clyde W. Goodwine for two property easements on Farm Road No. 2397 east of Friona.

A motion by E. G. Phipps, commissioner of Precinct 1, was voted on by the other members of the court that County Attorney Hurshel Harding begin condemnation proceedings.

The two easements on Goodwine's property are the only ones that have not been received on the seven and two-tenths miles of paved road. Recently Goodwine met with the court asking $1,000 for damages to 4.77 acres.

He offered to donate the right-of-way providing the property would be used for road purposes only. One clause in the proposition was that the property not be used for utility poles, but this was not acceptable to the court.

Geer To Judge Leader Contests

J. T. Geer, Friona vocational agriculture instructor, has been selected to serve as judge at FFA leadership contests in the area at Plainview and Amarillo.

He is to be in Plainview Saturday to judge a leadership contest, and in Amarillo Tuesday for another of the contests.

Wreck Hurts Three

Three persons were hospitalized, none in critical condition, following a car and pickup collision on a rural road about one mile east of Friona Tuesday afternoon.

Driver of the car Eugene Boggess was hospitalized with a broken rib, broken bone in hand, and facial cuts and bruises. His son, Joe, 5, also an occupant of the car, was hospitalized with bruises.

Roy D. Sisson, driver of the pickup, received a broken vertebrae in his neck. His condition is considered satisfactory by officials at Parmer County Community Hospital.

The crackup occurred at an intersection known as the Euler corner, a half mile south and a mile east of Friona. Both vehicles landed bottom side up in a ditch near the road. Both vehicles were damaged heavily.

The injured were taken to the hospital by Claborn ambulances.

Gasoline Pan Flares At Oliver House

Friona Volunteer Fire Department answered its first alarm since July 8 when a pan of gasoline burst into flames at Friona Oliver on Main Street Tuesday at 4:45 p. m.

The pan of gasoline was ignited by a spark from an acetylene cutting torch, being operated about 15 feet from the gasoline, according to Hubert Singleterry, manager.

The fire was in the service part of the building, and upon seeing the pan burst into flames, workmen dragged the pan outside the building.

New Deputy Moves In

Recently named a full-time deputy sheriff for Parmer County, Jim Roberts this week is living in Friona. This will be his permanent station, according to Sheriff Chas. Lovelace.

Roberts has been part-time deputy and city officer at Bovina.

FIFTEEN FOR CHIEF FAIRCHILD—Appearing as though he's in a web of Wolverine tacklers, Weldon Fairchild bursts through the Springlake line for a gain of 15 yards, and a first down.

(Left panel) OOPS—Looks may be deceiving but it appears here that Mr. Referee is running interference for the Springlake fullback. The bruising fullback, R. Jones, made it plenty tough for the Chiefs with his gains of three, four, or five yards per carry. (Middle panel) Larry Fairchild, agile halfback for the Chiefs, leans into it as he gains speed around left end for a touchdown against the Wolverines last week. He, for the second consecutive game, turned in top yardage. The Chiefs are banking heavily on his excellent broken field running to grab the Chief's first district win in more than four years. (Right panel) A bruising Springlake tackler pins Fairchild to the ground after a 12-yard gain last week, bullfrog style.

Bainum Adds A'monia

A new anhydrous ammonia business is in Friona this week, as an addition to the services of Bainum Butane Company, according to Mack Bainum, owner.

HEADS COMMUNITY FUND DRIVE — Andy Hurst, Friona businessman, heads the community fund drive to get underway within the next month. Hurst stresses the need for cooperation between area residents if the drive is to be a success, since this is the first year for the plan to be tried in Friona.

Tulia Trips Friona "B"

A powerful Tulia "B" football eleven beat Friona "B" team 13-0 in the season closer Thursday night.

Community Fund Drive Is Planned

Plans were completed at a meeting at the Friona State Bank Thursday evening for a Community Fund drive to be made in the near future. The tentative date has been set as December 9. Much consideration has been given this drive and it will eliminate a multiplicity of drives through the year.

Ladies Book Sale

Parmer County Community Hospital Auxiliary had its regular monthly meeting at the educational building of the First Baptist Church Friday afternoon. During the business meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. Claude Osborn, president, plans were made for a rummage sale.

County Officers Investigating Thefts In County

Parmer County law enforcers during the past week have been investigating various thefts which have recently occurred in the eastern part of the county, reports Sheriff Chas. Lovelace.

Numerous items have been stolen in the Friona-Hub area but none of the missing articles have yet been recovered, he says.

Some of the stolen items include four tires and wheels from a trailer belonging to John Agee. The theft occurred about 17 miles south of Friona on the Friona-Muleshoe highway Sunday night, November 10.

Also taken during the same week was a generator from an irrigation motor, belonging to H. H. Briggs, and last Thursday night a truck tire and tools were stolen from Marion Fite, southwest of Friona.

While investigating the various thefts, the lawmen did recover three batteries and a battery charger which had been taken from a Muleshoe wrecking yard recently. They were found in a bar ditch by a county farmer two miles east of Fleming Gin at Hub.

They were returned to the Muleshoe firm.

Report From Frio Draw

Dear Editor, I've noticed that the car manufacturers are starting another circle, going back to the spillover everything is new and more exciting.

But 'bout the onlyst thing I can figure out that is so excitin' is the price. Yours truly, Don Karattall Viddian Weis of Perryton was a weekend guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bender.

County, State Tax Collections Steady

County and state property tax collections can be termed as "holding their own," according to figures released by the assessor and collector's office this week.

Total collections on November 1 were $56,182.62 or 42 percent of the total assessment of $133,317.50. On the same date last year 43 percent of an assessment of $127,563.57 had been paid. Valuations increased from $9,392,508 to $9,814,168.

Somebody asked us the other day what our opinion was of the "thing" pictured on the front page of the Amarillo paper. It was supposedly photographed somewhere in California.

Actually, anybody who has ever fooled with cameras knows how easy it is to produce something completely unidentifiable on film. In fact, it's a lot easier to turn up with a "UFO" than a good picture of the fireboys' annual feed, or something like that.

Lately, we are referring to all of our poorer photographic efforts as "UFO's." Matter of fact, we even print one in the paper once in a while. There's a dandy in the farm and home section this week.

It's a bona-fide picture of the afternoon sun shining over Friona at about 1:30 Monday. We thought that sunshine after what we've been through lately was really news, so we whipped out the old Speed Graphic.

Our first shot was plainly over-exposed. Shooting the sun is no mean feat, we discovered. There was a terrific white blob in the middle and only the clouds had any shape.

That wasn't the idea. We wanted to show the sun, not the clouds. So we revved the shutter up to the top—one one-thousandth of a second, and closed the lens opening down to its smallest stop—F. 32.

Then we snapped and got just what we expected: a UFO! The clouds appear black only because we had to tremendously underexpose them in order to get a decent shot of Old Sol.

Thus, another rare and treasured UFO is added to our priceless collection.

F. W. Reeve has a novel idea, and on the face of it, there seems to be some real practical value to his notion. His suggestion is to create a walkway beneath Highway 60 at its intersection with Euclid.

That is the corner next to the school, where we now have many children crossing the highway's four lanes five days a week, and several times a day. City police and junior patrolmen help control traffic now, but it's an ever-present hazard to life and limb.

Especially since the development of the north and northwestern parts of town, where new residences are springing up every week, this problem needs attention. Conditions can be expected to worsen, not get better.

Mr. Reeve calls his idea an "underpass" although he does not mean that in the usual sense of automobiles—just a subsurface passageway for pedestrians.

We'd guess that right-of-way wouldn't be much of a problem. The highways in the area are tunneled under for all kinds of things nowadays. It's a fairly common sight to see a crew at work digging under the highway for a new gas line, sewer extension, or something like that.

Naturally, an open corridor would have to be strongly reinforced with steel beams, and lined with concrete. Drainage should also be provided. That puts the project out of the kid's "tunnel" class that used to be so popular years ago when there weren't any TV sets and the boys spent a lot of time digging caves on the Plains to play in.

It would cost several thousand dollars, undoubtedly. Who would pay for it—the school or the city? Since it would be used primarily by children of the city, it probably should be paid for out of municipal funds.

Anybody think it's a good idea? The flags on Main Street and elsewhere in town Monday were a heart-warming sight. The prominent display of Old Glory is a part of our patriotism that seems to have slipped a few notches during the past generation or two.

We are proud to say that Friona is one of the more flag-conscious small cities on the High Plains. We would even offer to put Friona up against any other community of the same size on a count-'em basis.

Treblaire Treat In Store for Lions

Friona Lions Club meets Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Friona Club House, for a special program presented by the Treblaires, all-girl singing group of local talent.

The meeting is the first regular meeting of the month, and is to be the only meeting for November, according to President Andy Hurst. Thanksgiving Day is November 28, and the club's second regular meeting will be dismissed.

THE STAR'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Industrial Water Rate Boon to Town and User

In the earlier part of 1957 a petition bearing the names of a significant number of Friona businessmen was presented to the city commission, requesting consideration of the water rate in effect, and recommending that the rate be decreased for industrial purposes.

Specifically, the petition was signed in consideration of the Friona Growers and Shippers vegetable shed, the heaviest user of water during the vegetable packing and shipping season in the city. The cheapest rate possible before the commission granted the decrease was 15 cents per thousand gallons. As requested, the rate was decreased, in staggered amounts for 1,000 gallon units as usage by one customer increased. The adopted rate set the charge for any amount used after the first 30,000 gallons at nine cents per thousand. This rate is equivalent to the industrial rate charged in a nearby town, where there is a heavy concentration of vegetable packing and shipping establishments.

A city official has recently maintained that this rate is less than the actual cost of pumping and supplying, which, if this be correct, means that revenue for the city water department is decreased, and is, in a sense of the word, subsidizing users of water who qualify for this industrial water rate.

Furthermore, a user of this amount of water is draining the seemingly deficient city water system from small amount water consumers, and adding extra load to the pumping chore of the city. If one were to stop at this angle of perception, the lowering of the water rate would seem to have been a foolish action.

Just as every rectangle has four sides, so does the case for a favorable rate for industrial users of municipality water have more than the two previously cited unfavorable aspects of the industrial water rate.

For one, consider this in the case of Friona Growers and Shippers: A payroll contributing heavily to the circulation of money in the purchase of goods and services is traced directly to the existence of this establishment in Friona. It is the only firm in the city that provides jobs for as many as 110 persons during its operating season, which extends as long as six months during a year. For the months of its operation, depending on the activity of vegetable packing, it is a close contender with the Friona School in amount of payroll for each week, which has in the past been recognized as the biggest contributor in payroll disbursements.

A second consideration is the revenue made available to the city from taxes such an establishment would be assessed. Though the capital investment is exceeded by some firms of a different nature, the machinery for packing and the outlay for buildings alone entail an investment of considerable evaluation.

Considering the amount of the payroll, which accordingly is beneficial to merchants of the city, this industrial water rate could be maintained even if the slack expense were to be charged to the merchants' tax bills.

With the existence of the industrial water rate, expansion can be expected of this firm, as was reported in the news columns last week. This in turn will further increase the benefit received by the town from the existence of such a firm.

However, a result of the expanded demand for water is that arrangements for more water, and considerable more, will be necessary in the very near future. The city operated during the summer of this year on a near deficit of water during the peak of the potato packing season, during which the shed was using approximately five million gallons of water during a month's time.

The city definitely has a problem in furnishing ample water for operation of the vegetable shed. But the only reason for the existence of a water shortage problem is the evident lack of planning for an expanding population and an expanded demand for water. Blame cannot, and should not, be affixed to a mentionable source. But for the city of Friona, in the midst of a bountiful underground water irrigation area, to remain in a position of water shortage is unthinkable.

That the Friona Growers and Shippers is a boon to the city's economy is proven by its payroll, its demonstrated capacity of marketing locally-grown products, and the available jobs created for workers.

The industrial water rate favorable for the operation of such a firm is a gesture which the city should not begrudge.

in & around FRIONA WITH JUNE

We spend much time and thought advocating the importance of keeping on the right track. It is important, of course, to get on the right track and stay. However, we should not stop there. Even though we are on the right track, we should always remember that unless we keep moving we will get run over.

Don't know for sure how to direct this apology. Maybe it should go to Audrey Skinner, since she is a subscriber to our paper. Last week we reported that she was attending a short course at Jessie Lee's Beauty School at Lubbock. She had really gone to Lubbock, but to Isbell's University and not to Jessie Lee's. Don't suppose anyone connected with the schools reads the Star, so we will just say, "Audrey, we are sorry."

Let's all get behind the Friona Chiefs and cheer them on to a district title on the Chieftain field this Friday night. There has been some comment about the lack of support from local fans. This will be the last home game and the last opportunity we will have to see some of the squad play. Let's make the most of it.

Friday must have been our lucky day. Our editor, W. H. Graham Jr., likes to go hunting and either doesn't like roast duck or doesn't like to dress game he kills. At any rate, he presented us with his Friday morning kill. Since baking wild duck isn't one of our talents, we gave them to Mrs. Charles Holmgren.

She had stated to us earlier that she liked to cook wild rabbits so we presumed she would like to cook ducks, too. Sure enough she does. It was our intention to present them to her with no strings attached. However, when she got them cooked, she brought us one that was stuffed with dressing and was delicious. Of course, it was no accident that she arrived at the office just before time for us to go home to lunch.

Guess our thanks should be two-fold. Thanks, Mr. Graham, for the ducks, and thanks, Mrs. Holmgren, for cooking them for us. We surely did enjoy doing the eating.

What do you think of the "united fund" drive being planned for Friona? We have heard a lot of discussion pro and con and have decided that it is the only wise thing to do. It has been tried in several towns that are no larger than ours and has worked satisfactorily.

One angle that we hadn't even thought of was discussed in the office this morning. Transients who pass through the city very often call on every preacher in town, the Red Cross, the American Legion, and any other organization from which they think they can secure assistance.

By having a central clearing house for such emergencies, those people would get the assistance they needed, but no more. In this way the needs of more people could be taken care of.

After careful consideration of the manner in which the drive will be made and the purpose it will serve, there could hardly be any doubt about it being the wisest thing to do. The quota, which has been set for $4,000, should be easily met.

According to a check made with school officials, it has been learned that about 2,000 families are represented in the school. This would make an average of only $2 per family. Of course, some families will not be able to contribute this amount, but then there would be others who will contribute more.

Billy Ross Procter, son of the James Procters, who isn't old enough to go to school yet, has always been a wide-awake boy and doesn't let many things pass without noticing them.

Since fortune telling isn't in our line, we can't see into the future, but if we were guessing what Billy Ross will be when he grows up, we would guess he will be an enterprising merchant.

One morning he sat right behind the Floyds at church and we overheard a whispered conversation that went like this, "Mother, that little girl over there was a new customer in our class this morning."

Borrowed a notice from one of the town's most progressive merchants. He is seriously considering having several copies of the following notice printed to hang at strategic places in his store. We rather hate to see it get around. It is just possible that our editor, W. H. Graham Jr., might have some copies made for our office.

TO ALL EMPLOYEES
Due to increased competition and keen desire to remain in business, we find it necessary to institute a new policy—EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY. We are asking that somewhere between starting and quitting time and without infringing too much on the time usually devoted to lunch period, coffee breaks, rest period, story telling, ticket selling, vacation planning, and the rhashing of yesterday's TV programs, that each employee endeavor to find some time that can be set aside and known as the "WORK BREAK."

To some, this may seem a radical innovation, but we honestly believe the idea has great possibilities. It can conceivably be an aid to steady employment and it might also be a means of assuring regular pay checks.

While the adoption of the WORK BREAK PLAN is not compulsory, it is hoped that each employee will find enough time to give the plan a fair trial. Signed "THE MANAGEMENT"

Midland—A Midland Community Theatre play rehearsal became a little too realistic.

The cast was rehearsing the forthcoming production of "Detective Story." Hugh Broyles, a Midland school teacher, was playing the part of a prisoner handcuffed to a chair.

Time came to free him. The key was missing. The wrong handcuffs had been used.

Broyles was taken, chair and all, to Midland police headquarters where Officer Vernon Conn succeeded in picking the lock.

Number two, increasing the limit on the maximum monthly payment to needy and aged persons from state funds from $20 to $25 per month, and providing other benefits to needy, went over 164 to 44.

IS IT SCRIPTURAL?

A thing is not scriptural unless it is taught in the scripture. If it is not taught or authorized in God's word it has no authority from God. It could only be a commandment of men and such is forbidden in spiritual things, Col. 2:20-22. The above question will be for discussion in coming weeks.

Is Voting On Candidates Before Baptism Scriptural?

Though people wonder about this many times, they do not take the time to search God's word to find out. Should a person make this special study they will learn there is no such taught in God's word. In Bible conversions, God who searches the heart, knows whether or not the sinner has truly repented and is fit to be called a child of God. God adds the ones who should be saved to his church, Acts 2:47, and the sinner is made free from sin when he obeys from the heart the form of doctrine or plan of salvation. Rom. 6:17-18. God, not man, knows whether or not his obedience is sincere and from the heart. No human being can so judge. VOTING IS NO PART OF GOD'S PLAN OF SALVATION OR OF ENTERING THE FELLOWSHIP OF HIS CHURCH.

«The High Plains Farm and Home»

Still Bogged Down On Fall Harvest

This story is being compiled Tuesday afternoon. The sun is shining down on Parmer County area farms, and clouds show every indication of dispersing, ending another soggy and cold spell that has plagued farmers all fall long.

However, the weather has had such an unsettled disposition lately that by tomorrow morning, it may well be raining again, and farmers may be in for another two or three days of nervous checker games while they sit the spill out.

In looking through back files, the High Plains Farm and Home staff has discovered that six weeks ago the lead story on these pages had a headline that read, "Area on Brink of Giant Harvest." That was true then. It is true right now.

We are still on the brink, and no one seems to know just when the combines, the stripping machines, and everything that goes with a mechanized Plains harvest, will step off that brink into the job at hand.

Sunshine has punched through the heavy overcast several times in recent days, but never long enough to effect any real drying out of the excess moisture in the fields and the grain and cotton.

Nearly every night has brought heavy deposits of dew, and fog and drizzle has been hanging close to the ground on most mornings. It is the kind of weather that is tantalizing, and hard on farmers' nerves. Just as they expect to be able to get started, the clouds close in again, the moisture jumps up, and they are stalled.

Practically no grain sorghum has been cut within the past three weeks, and the only cotton that has gone to the gins has been an occasional load hand-pulled between drizzles.

Estimates of the harvest completed place the grain at about 20 percent out. Since acreage ranges around 300,000 in the county, it is easy to see that when the weather finally does clear, there will be a tremendous rush to the elevators.

Cotton harvest has progressed even slower, which is customary. Probably less than 10 percent of the cotton has been ginned, and 90 percent of the 43,000 acres are still waiting to be gathed.

Cotton Doesn't Look Good

County Agent Joe Jones, who this week made a check of conditions over the county, says, "Cotton doesn't look very good to me." He reports that unopened bolls are spongy and not filled out, and that the cotton inside has an unhealthy yellow cast.

Just how such late maturing bolls will turn out when and if they ever get the required sunshine is open to speculation, but the agent says that conditions at the moment don't look encouraging.

At any rate, cotton needs today what it needed three weeks ago but didn't get—sunshine and plenty of it to speed the drying and curing process. Otherwise, grades are likely to be further depressed.

Grain sorghum is standing surprisingly well, according to most farmers interviewed by High Plains Farm & Home this week. Heavy yields have produced full, large size heads that are taxing the stalks, but so far, the crop is standing up well, farmers report.

Fears of a freezing drizzle are still in farmers' minds, but luckily, such conditions have been avoided until now.

The rain has discolored the grain to some extent, but not to the point that it will fail to grade No. 2 and thus qualify for the loan without discount, feels the county agent. He says, "I know the grain has lost its color, but if there is any that has deteriorated so it won't go number two, I don't know of it." He also feels that the prevailng cool weather has prevented much sprouting in the head that has also been one of the farmers' fears.

Farmers everywhere are talking about the pinch on operating capital, and their worries are echoed by retail businessmen in communities that serve the trade area.

The standard joke is that the notes at the banks are maturing before the crops are, and farmers still show their ability to smile through all the strain.

At this time last year, the grain harvest would have been about over, and the cotton crop would be about one-half gathered in. Early harvest money begins circulating about the middle of September, and by now, spending has usually picked up a brisk pace.

However, it's different this year, and housewives, who control the family purse strings, are reluctant to buy until the crop rolls up to the elevator or gin. There still is much to be accounted for in the financial end of the big harvest that is yet to come.

PERFECT ALIBI

Bay City—He wouldn't think of an alibi, but a speeder who failed to appear in Bay City traffic court explained in a letter that the Angleton sheriff wouldn't let him.

The man wrote: "I can't come over and appeal my case because I am locked up on a charge of assault to murder and the sheriff won't let me out to plead guilty and pay you when I get out of jail."

This is a what-nik? Well, not quite. In fact, it's the most welcome sight a farmer could want. This is a picture of the sun peeping through an overcast sky Monday afternoon. The clouds appear so dark because the picture had to be greatly under-exposed in order to show the brilliant sun.

Is Rainy Weather Unusual Now?

By W. H. GRAHAM JR.

Everybody, especially the farmers, are talking about "what unusual weather we have been having this fall!" Well, just how unusual is it?

Since 1949, about all everybody has been able to talk about is the drought, and "isn't this unusually dry weather" has been the most frequently heard comment.

Which might lead one to wonder, just what is "normal" weather for this part of the Southwest? Is it the usual thing for us to have a deficiency of moisture, or, rather, should we expect rain as regularly as those folks in most of Oklahoma, Kansas, or elsewhere?

Looking at the weather record for 50 years or more, one thing appears evident; the most normal thing about High Plains weather is that it is abnormal. It can get very cold, and also very hot. It can be very calm, or can be the windiest place in the world. When it rains, it really rains, but when it is dry—well, there's nothing quite comparable to a drought on the Plains.

Moreover, these vagaries in weather conditions seem able to follow one another with startling rapidity, and changes in temperature or moisture conditions are often rapid and great.

The Western High Plains have some natural conditions which are largely responsible for our climate to often behave in such freakish ways. First, the Plains is a place of transition. It's a broad "sandwich" between the rain-blessed parts of the East and the sun-baked areas of the Southwest.

The High Plains are torn between the desires of the desert on the west and the humid, populous country to the east. From year to year, these forces seem to wage tug-of-war, with the Plains being the battleground subject to capture from time to time.

While it is true that the average rainfall of Parmer County is around 18 inches a year, and that the temperature averages 57 degrees, it should be remembered averages don't always mean what they seem to. Remember the fellow with one foot in a bucket of ice and another in a bucket of hot coals, who, though admitting that the average was swell, declared he was mighty uncomfortable.

That's why those spells when the tendency in moisture and temperature goes up or down for extended periods have more to do with how people react to a certain area than all the statistical averages that have ever been, or ever will be, published.

Not only does the desert on the west and the humid areas on the east have their effect, but the cold lands on the north, and the influence from the gulf on the south is often felt.

Add one more factor, this one being wholly physical, and you've set the stage for paradoxes in weather. The High Plains is just what the name implies, ranging from 3,000 to 5,000 feet in altitude. Altitude often makes more difference in a given locality's weather than its latitude, although the latter factor is the most often mentioned one.

In the Peruvian and Ecuadorian ranges of the Andes, people live at extremely high levels in relative comfort, even though they are near the equator. Height has been a more important climatic factor than latitude.

The same thing works on a smaller scale here, and our altitude is responsible for the cool nights in even a hot summer. Also, the fact that the Plains are so unbroken by trees, land undulations, or any other natural barrier to wind makes our area especially susceptible to invasions of weather from all directions, and largely accounts for the ability of this country to drop in temperature 20 degrees in an hour during a sudden cold snap.

So, if this weather seems unusual, perhaps things are really quite normal.

Actually, if anything could be considered extremely out of the norm with present weather conditions, it's the prolonged absence of sunshine. It doesn't take much moisture to stop harvests, as farmers have sadly discovered.

Just a few drizzly days and a quarter of an inch of rain can really bog things down for weeks, and that is just what has happened this year. It's rough, no doubt about it.

But, who can say it's unusual?

SCD Equipment Due this Week

The army surplus bulldozer and caterpillar for the Parmer County Soil Conservation District, made available by a heavy equipment grant, is due to be in the county this week, according to A. L. Black of Hub, chairman of the SCD board of supervisors.

Black says a truck is to go for the equipment the latter part of the week, and bring it from Mineral Wells.

The equipment is part of a grant which Black estimates to amount to $50,000. Included in the grant besides the cat and dozer are a carry-all, a maintenance truck, and a low-boy trailer.

It is the intention of the district, Black says, to arrange for an operator to handle the equipment on a percentage basis, since the equipment requires a skilled operator.

The equipment is expected to be used in construction work on farms for better handling of surplus or "tail water" from irrigation wells, and land leveling for better irrigation.

Irrigation Meeting Of National Scope Called For Lubbock

The first statewide conference of its kind will bring to Texas the nation's top authorities on irrigation. The November 14-15 Irrigation Conference scheduled for Hotel Lubbock is being sponsored by the newly-formed Texas Inter-Industry Irrigation Council, and will feature speakers recognized for their knowledge of irrigation and related problems.

Farmers, agricultural and business leaders and personnel from every segment of the ever-expanding irrigation equipment industry will find the information to be presented of much value to them, says R. V. Thurmond, Extension irrigation specialist.

The council, says Thurmond, has arranged for speakers to cover such subjects on the first day as "The Significance of Irrigation on a Changing Texas Agriculture"; "Texas Water Supplies for Irrigation"; "Soil Water and Plant Relationships Under Irrigation"; "Movement of Irrigation Water Through the Soil Profile"; "Pumps for Irrigation"; and "Power Units for Irrigation."

A highlight of the two-day conference will come on Thursday evening when Jack Z. Anderson, administrative assistant to President Eisenhower, will be banquet speaker. His subject: "Irrigation Farming—A Key to Better Living."

Thurmond points out that the speakers will come from California, Colorado, Oklahoma, the District of Columbia, and Utah, as well as from Texas. "It is an opportunity of a lifetime," he says, "for those interested in all phases of irrigation farming to get information from a group of the nation's most outstanding men in the irrigation field."

UNMERRY-GO-ROUND

Houston—Susy Power, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Power promises to be a fine housekeeper one day. She doesn't like dirt of any kind.

The other day Susy remarked proudly to her mother that "those dirty kitties are going round and round and round." Mrs. Power let the remark soak in, then gasped and headed for the washing machine. Peering forlornly through the glass port were four wet and frightened kittens, who had indeed been "round and round"—through the full soap cycle!

Mrs. Power hauled the animals out. "Fortunately, the machine was set for lukewarm," she said, "the kittens weren't hurt, but they were certainly clean!"

Farmers Get After Good Corn Crop

Farmers have been making hay with their corn—even when the sun wasn't shining. Pickers have been rushed into the fields in advance of ideal conditions which usually prevail at this time of the year.

The corn crop, figured to be about 20,000 acres irrigated in the county this year, is good. But it is also highly susceptible to falling, because of its great height and because the freeze and damp weather have weakened the strength of the stalks.

Yields are expected to be running all the way from 50 to 110 bushels per acre on the crop, with many hovering around the 75-bushel mark. For an average, that is regarded as a pretty good irrigated yield.

Prices are expected to be up this year for locally-produced corn, with the jump in government loan values, and corn looks like a good money-maker this year.

However, some of the profits are already on the ground and farmers are anxious not to lose any more money with the falling stalks, so they are pushing the picking at top speed. Some farmers announce they will send bracero labor in to pick up fallen corn, but this practice is a "borderline" method of adding to the family farm income.

When the amount on the ground goes over 10 bushels per acre, it is usually considered a loss worth investigating with hand labor, provided the labor is in sufficient supply and not busy with other tasks of the season.

Corn can get in ahead of other crops at this time and with excess moisture because it can be pulled in the ear and stacked in the field to dry. After the moisture drops to a safe level, shelling can then be done to complete the harvest.

Combination units that pick and shell in one operation have not been in use so far this year, of course.

There have been many estimates (usually from $1 to $2) as to the worth of a human body, from the viewpoint of usable mineral content. As one writer puts it: "The chemical composition of a man weighing 140 pounds should be sufficient in fat content to make seven cakes of soap, carbon to make 9,000 pencils, phosphorus for one dose of salts, iron to manufacture one medium-sized nail, sufficient lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough sulphur to rid one dog of fleas, and water to fill a 10-gallon barrel."

THE HAPPY HOMEMAKER

BY JUNE FLOYD

It has been said that pie is man's favorite dish and apple is the favorite kind. Maybe one reason apple pie is popular with homemakers is that it may be served hot or cold, with whipped cream or ice cream, or just plain.

Another way that it can be dressed up is by using a flaked coconut and butter topping. This recipe is simply super and is called:

Coconut Dutch Apple Pie

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 5 cups tart apple slices, 1/4 inch thick
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/4 cup melted butter
- 3/4 cup angel flake coconut

Line a 9-inch pan with pastry rolled 1/8 inch thick, allowing pastry to extend 1 inch beyond edge. Fold edge back to form standing rim; flute with fingers. Combine 2 tablespoons flour, 1/2 cup sugar, salt, and cinnamon.

Place a layer of apple slices in pie shell and sprinkle part of flour-sugar mixture over apples. Add remaining apples in layers alternately with flour-sugar mixture. Sprinkle lemon juice over top of pie and dot with butter. Bake in hot oven 45 minutes or until apples are tender.

Combine 1/4 cup sugar and 1/2 cup flour. Add melted butter and mix well until of crumbly consistency. Add coconut. Sprinkle coconut-crumb mixture over top of baked pie. Return to oven and bake seven minutes longer, or until topping is browned.

For a new and different vegetable dish, try Carrot Loaf.

Ingredients

- 10 medium sized carrots, cooked until tender
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 cups cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons finely minced onion
- 2 cups rich milk
- 2 beaten eggs
- Mash cooked carrots fine and

Farmers with corn are really going after the tall crop, just as soon as they can, because they fear losses because of falling. This scene in the Summerfield area is typical of the area picture. A two-row puller jerks the ears off the stalks and disgorges the ears into a trailer being pulled behind.

The sight that bothers corn growers this year is something like this—tall corn stalks toppled by the wind, the freeze, and the wet weather. Conditions such as these prevail only on the western side of most fields, but they remind farmers of how the entire field could look if the weather gets rough at this point.

add butter, cracker crumbs, onion, milk, and eggs. Mix thoroughly. Place in baking dish and bake at 350 degrees for thirty minutes.

Since this is duck hunting season, maybe some of you homemakers whose husbands bring in ducks, might like to try this recipe for roasting wild ducks. Season ducks with salt and red pepper, inside and out. Put a sweet potato inside each duck (The potato removes some of the wild taste. Throw potato away when duck is cooked.)

In hot fat, brown ducks all around. Add water a little at a time and steam until tender in Dutch oven or pot with lid. Use drippings for dressing the same as you do with any other fowl.

The fancy questionnaire a household appliance company used to survey Iowa housewives brought equally fancy replies. To the question, "What make of garbage disposal unit do you use?" one woman wrote, "Four hogs."

There is some doubt as to whether it would be practicable without drying facilities at the warehouse anyway.

Due to weather-harvest circumstances, a dryland farmer, Ralph Smith, has been assigned to sit on the Texas Farm Bureau resolutions committee which meets in Dallas Wednesday morning. President Kaltwasser made the appointment with the hopes that he might get to spend part of the four days of committee work period in harvesting his crops. He is, of course, joined in his hopes by all farmers in this part of the country.

THE PARMER FARMER

BY LELAND BOYD AND
W. H. GRAHAM JR.

We understand that quite a few of the dryland farmers in the county area, especially in the northern portion of Parmer County, are included among farmers who are harvesting a crop this year. And harvesting a crop for the first time in six or seven years.

A custom combine operator was telling us the other day that he had cut several fields of maize that produced about 1,800 pounds per acre. In recent past years, most of the dryland farms in that area barely produced enough to warrant pulling a combine over the field.

The beneficial effects of the recent rains are showing up most strikingly in fields of dryland wheat, and in most cases, irrigated wheat displays very little, if any, edge on the dryland wheat.

A supply of lush pastures is showing up from the fall-seeded wheat, both dryland and irrigated, and this is most unusual for the dryland.

With wet grain being so plentiful, elevator managers, who for the past few years have gotten the reputation of being obliging over taking grain even if it contained an excess amount of moisture, are refusing damp grain. They are on the spot.

If you have recently entered any discussion concerning modern inventions, you have no doubt heard the statement, "Modern science can today invent anything the human mind can conceive."

Perhaps this is correct, but we still have membership in the "Believe-nothing-you-hear, and - only - half - what - you - see club."

We say this, because we've heard several farmers inquiring about why there are no attachments for combines that allow grain to be cut when as high in moisture as 20-25 percent. The requirement for a machine to do this job would be heated air, to drive the moisture from grain at a rapid rate. The one argument against the success of such a machine is that farmers would then try cutting their grain when it has as high as 30 percent moisture content.

Maybe a farmer in this locale, idle due to the damp weather, the bait will suffer in the long run."

Then, by the time it is almost completed, we hope the weather will have dried the grain, and the gadget will not be needed.

Three weeks ago we ran a picture in High Plains Farm and Home that raised a question in our minds. The picture was of a tank-type car rolling along the Santa Fe through Parmer County. On the car was emblazoned, "American Maize Products Company."

We were puzzled. Where did this car come from? Where was it going? What company did it belong to? What do they do with the maize they process?

Scott Levins of Bovina has called our attention to an article in The Nation's Agriculture, monthly publication of the Farm Bureau, that is titled "Sorghum and Science."

The story is about Grain Products Incorporated, of Dodge City, Kansas. While the two names don't jive and this probably doesn't answer the puzzle, the story is worth studying. It certainly has interest for this area.

Here are the first few paragraphs of the article. We dare say others are like ourselves in that they didn't know such a company existed.

Farmers and businessmen at Dodge City, Kansas, are working together in private enterprise finding new uses for one of our farm crops, grain sorghums.

Grain Products Incorporated has the distinction of being the only mill in the world that processes grain milo sorghum for commercial use.

"Back in 1947 a group of businessmen and farmers stuck their necks out a long way and formed a corporation for the purpose of developing the use of milo grain," explains Ed Sticklely, technical director of Grain Products Incorporated.

From this beginning the corporation has grown into larger new facilities which were finished in 1953. At that time a one million bushel storage facility was built in connection with the mill so that a sufficient stock of good variety milo could be guaranteed.

"From the beginning we were interested in developing something for industrial use so that we could get large volume production," Sticklely continued. This developed into a processed milo flour which is used commercially for adhesive applications such as in the manufacturing of wall boards and similar products.

The biggest bulk of the mill's output today goes into this commercial use. The adhesive material which is produced does not use all of the seed, but leaves the bran and the germ as by-products. These two are balanced feed for livestock. Tests have proven the by-product is especially good in dairy and hog rations although much is used by beef feeders in the area too.

"Since we are a private organization, we have to carry on our own research in developing new products and uses for milo with emphasis always on increasing total milling volume," claims the mill's technical director.

As the unfavorable damp weather drags on through its fifth week, farmers in the Parmer County area are casting about for ways and means to get a small portion of the 1957

Carrots Are Good In Friona Area

Carrots are still looking good this year, and have shown stability all through the season. There are about 300 acres of the "rabbit food" in the Friona area that are being processed at Friona Growers & Shippers. Kenneth Neill, shed manager, reported this week that recent rainy weather has hindered operations, but they have continued anyway. The moist soil that sticks to the carrots makes hauling, washing, and handling a problem.

Yields are still climbing, as more and more of the crop makes the jumbo grade. No. 1 carrots are selling for about $50 a ton, which is still a good price and demand has been steady all season long. Growers & Shippers have plans for expanding facilities to handle two and one-half times the present carrot acreage next year, and Neill feels that they will have no trouble getting growers to produce the acreage required for such a volume.

Carrots are so far the most stable vegetable crop that has been introduced to this part of the Plains. The demand and price has been steady, and producers see no immediate problem to glutting the market even with substantially increased Plains acreage.

Furthermore, a carrot crop is one that can be "salvaged" in event of collapse of markets. Carrots make excellent cattle feed, and the tonnage usually produced by them enables a grower often to get his money back even at cattle feeding prices.

However, all carrots produced lately have been going to the fresh vegetable brokers—not the stock yard operators.

Also, carrots can usually be produced considerably cheaper than many other vegetable crops.

Another harvest going along in spite of poor harvesting weather is carrot digging. Here, carrots are being removed from a big washing machine at the Friona Growers and Shippers plant. They are carried inside on a conveyor belt for grading and packaging.

Cotton Producers Advised To Save Planting Seed

Good cotton planting seed with high germination may be scarce next spring. Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist, says the situation which has developed is due to late plantings last spring and the wet weather which has hit all sections of the cotton belt during the harvest season. The situation, he adds is even worse in the eastern part of the cotton belt and seed of certain varieties are almost certain to be in short supply.

Elliott advises cotton growers to save and carefully store any good quality seed of known varieties. This, he said, is one of those seasons when planting seed even with a low moisture content can't be placed in storage and forgotten about until next spring. A continuous check on stored seed is suggested.

Here are Elliott's suggestions for handling seed:

Check seed closely for damage before storing and store those with high germination (80 percent is very good) and low free fatty acid content. Seed saved for bulk storage, he says, should contain less than 12 percent moisture unless good drying and cooling facilities are available. Small quantities of seed should be turned and sacked.

Large quantities of bulk stored seed, he says, should be cured by aeration to maintain quality. A portable fan and duct system can be used to draw air into and through the seed pile. He warns a moisture content of 13.6 percent is the critical point beyond which storage may become disastrous quickly. Every effort, he says, should be made to bring the moisture content down to 10 or 11 percent on seed in storage. Drawing air through the seed must be done during daylight hours and only in fair weather and preferably between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., he says.

A germination test should be run on the seed before planting as an aid in determining how much seed to plant, he says. No germination test should be made until the seed have been in storage at least 30 days which is the normal rest period of freshly ginned seed.

Parmer Farmer—

Parmer farmer—

milo crop harvested. Understand there are a couple of grain dryers operating in the county.

Lloyd Thompson has his dryer operating in Friona, and reports he is doing a booming business. He says he is about a week behind with milo drying.

He originally installed the dryer, he says, to lower the moisture in corn, but the demand for a milo dryer insisted that he use it for milo drying, too.

The dryer takes care of about 400 bushels an hour, Thompson says, depending on the moisture percentage of the grain. Most of the grain he gets has about 17 percent moisture.

Clarence and Lawrence Martin, brothers farming three miles west and one mile north of Friona, are reported to have on their farm a dryer of the same caliber that Thompson is operating. This is reportedly provided for drying milo from their farms only.

If the grain harvest were finished, and if cotton pulling and stripping were completed for the year's crop, the moist weather which the Parmer County area has been experiencing would be welcomed. However, during the last four weeks that dampness has prevailed, the ground moisture has been supplemented to a fair amount, from reports over the county area.

Taken from our weekly "moisture map" feature since October 1:

- Hub—4.20
- Rhea—4.53
- Friona—3.46
- Bovina—3.80
- Lazbuddie—3.50
- Texico-Farwell—2.95
- West Camp—3.65
- Pleasant Hill—4.05
- Lariat—4.35
- Black—3.60
- West of Texico—4.30

We certainly agree that the above moisture is enough for the duration of the milo harvest.

Farmers in Texas will have 7,474,661 acres available on which to grow their 1958 upland cotton crop and producers of extra long staple cotton 27,829 acres.

These state allotments, according to the state ASC committee, will be apportioned among the counties and the county allotments, to be announced later, among the farms according to the provisions of the law and regulations issued by the secretary of agriculture. The state committee adds that individual farm allotments will be mailed to cotton producers prior to the December 10 referendum on marketing quotas for the 1958 crops.

The state committee point out that the December 10 referendums, for upland and extra long staple cotton growers, will determine whether or not mar-ketting quotas will be operative for the 1958 crops. At least two-thirds of those voting in the two referendums must approve the quotas if they are to remain in effect. Acreage allotments, however, say the committeemen, will be in effect regardless of how the votes go. Acreage allotments and national acreage allotment for upland cotton must be proclaimed for the following year if the secretary finds that the total supply of upland cotton for the current marketing year exceeds the normal supply. For extra long staple cotton, quotas and allotments must be proclaimed whenever the total exceeds the normal supply more than eight percent.

The state committeemen point out that growers of both types of cotton have approved quotas for the last four crops.

H. D. AGENT'S CORNER

Jimmie Lou Wainscott

Here are some good casseroles that I thought you would enjoy. There's always a need for another no-meat casserole. Try this skillful combination of salmon, pimiento, celery soup and spaghetti. Crusty French bread or rolls, and a tossed salad are no-fuss accompaniments. What could be better for a Friday night supper?

Salmon Easy-Do Casserole
4 ounces elbow spaghetti

1 1/4 cups condensed cream of celery soup (10 1/2-ounce can)

3/4 cup hot water

1/4 cup chopped onion

2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

2 cups drained, flaked salmon (15 1/2-ounce can)

Buttered bread crumbs

Add 2 teaspoons salt and spaghetti to 3 cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, heat soup in water in saucepan. Stir in onion, pimiento and salmon. Rinse spaghetti with warm water and drain well. Add to salmon mixture and mix thoroughly. Turn into buttered 1 1/2 quart casserole and top with buttered crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.)

about 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Pork Chops Spaghetti Bake

2 tablespoons fat

4 loin pork chops

Salt

Pepper

1 cup tomato sauce (8-ounce can)

1 1/4 cups condensed tomato soup (10 1/2-ounce can)

1/2 cup water

1/2 cup finely chopped onion

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon paprika

1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Dash cayenne pepper

6 ounces long spaghetti

Heat fat in large, heavy skillet. Add pork chops and brown well on both sides. Season meat with salt and pepper. While meat is browning, combine tomato sauce, soup, water, onion, salt, paprika, Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Then cook rapidly, stirring constantly, for two minutes. Rinse spaghetti with hot water and drain well. Add to tomato mixture and mix well. Turn into greased 2-quart casserole. Remove pork chops from skillet and drain off excess fat. Arrange over top of spaghetti mixture. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Care of Leather Accessories

Leather accessories are expensive items in the clothing budget these days. Fall and winter costumes call for more leather belts, bags, gloves and shoes.

Preserve the beauty and lengthen the life of leather articles by proper care, suggest extension clothing specialists.

Shoes especially receive hard wear. An economical plan is to have two pairs for alternate daily wear, permitting each pair to rest or dry out between wearings. Perspiration weakens leather, and causes shoes to crack and rip. Use a good shoe cream frequently to protect the leather. Preserve the shape of your shoes by using shoe trees or paper pads in toe and heel.

On belts, bags and gloves, use cream or wax polishes to protect the leather and keep it pliable and soft.

To remove spots from leather articles clean with benzene or gasoline, air well and re-polish. Saddle soap can also be used to remove dirt and grease from leather between polishings.

Prevent cracking and preserve the finish on patent leather articles with vaseline. Use a cheese cloth pad to apply a light, even coating once or twice a month.
