Search For Safe Crackers Wanes

Sheriff Ocie Murry and Deputy Cliff Jones said Thursday morning that leads to persons connected with the burglary of Bowman Motor Co. some time Friday night had run to a dead end.

The two law officers made several trips this week to San Angelo and Kermit and surrounding territory checking suspects in the burglary, but were unable to uncover anything definite.

Between $750 and $800 was taken from the Bowman Motor Co. Friday night when burglars broke a washroom window and entered the building.

Welding equipment belonging to the company was dragged to the front of the building and used to back the safe. The burglars changed the welding tip on the equipment for a cutting tip which they used to cut open the safe. They missed $100 which was sealed in an envelope and placed inside a drawer in the safe.

The burglary was discovered at 5:45 a. m. Saturday when A. E. Bowman, co-owner of the business, opened up. J. T. Bowman, the other owner of the business, is in Flint, Mich., attending a General Motors school.

Murry said that no fingerprints were found, and there are virtually no clues to the identity of the burglars, but further investigation will be carried on.

Summer Band School Will Begin May 22

The annual summer band school will open May 22, according to Richard Young, Brownfield high school band director, and continue for four weeks.

Classes for beginners and advanced musicians will be held each morning, Monday through Friday, during the summer school.

Enrollment will be held the last week of the school year, the week of May 13-19. Classes in instrumental music and music theory will be taught in the school, Young said.

Due to schedule problems during the school year, beginners are started only at summer band school.

Demonstrations of band instruments will be held preparatory to the summer session, and letters will be sent by students to parents containing information about the summer school.

Most of the churches began their services on Easter Sunday and some will begin the middle of this week. These revivals are in cooperation with the great movement of southern Baptists west of the Mississippi river. The plan is to have a revival in every church this side of the Mississippi.

There will be a meeting at the First Baptist church at Tahoka on Thursday of this week at 12:30, for the purpose of making reports on the progress of the revivals being conducted in the Brownfield Baptist association this week.

Say Local Buyers Not Paying Top Prices

We had a circular letter the past week from the local Jaycees. It was just a reminder to local business men who purchase 4-H and FFA fat calves and pigs after the show here each spring, are not paying more than market price and sometimes the bids are less.

This, the letter truly remarks, is discouraging both to the boys as well as the Junior Chamber of Commerce who promote and sponsor the show. The Jaycees state emphatically if there is not an improvement on that attitude this year, they will refuse to sponsor the show in the future.

After months of hard work and close attention, plus bushels of feed, some bought and some home raised and processed, these boys and perhaps some girls expect to get better than market price for their calves and pigs. A good annual show can be ruined by carelessness, or worse, indifference.

We all realize what raising good fat stock means to this country. It is an asset that goes far toward a big fat bank account for a lot of people of this section. We know that poor beef or pork is not even a substitute for the real article. When the meat is poor and tough, there is grumbling despite all that Mom did to hammer it tender.

But back to the low buyers. We do not keep up too much with the area calf show at Lubbock, which is already history for this year, but we did see complaint from one paper outside Lubbock county, that Lubbock buyers only paid a premium for calves raised in that county.

And the same paper remarked that the Lubbock show was not what it used to be for that very reason. We cannot say what attitude the Terry county farm boys are taking toward the area show, but we do know that it is not talked or attended as much as a few years ago.

Automobile Heavily Damaged In Accident

No one was seriously injured in an automobile accident about noon last Friday north of Brownfield on the Lubbock highway. The automobile was heavily damaged.

Anna Lee Pierce, about 30, was treated and released, at Treadaway-Daniell hospital for lacerations on the face and bruised knees. She was injured when the four door sedan which she was driving went out of control, side-swiped one tree, and hit another tree, three miles north of town.

John Maricle, also an occupant of the car, escaped injury in the accident.

The pair, who both listed Lubbock as their homes, were enroute to Lubbock from New Mexico at the time of the accident.

HAGEDORNS AT HOME—Mr. and Mrs. William Hagedorn, shown in front of their farm home near Lockhart, received contributions of $4,583.76 after they lost their life savings of $2,632.20 in a default court judgment. Action was brought against Hagedorn by an Austin couple who swerved their auto off a road near Lockhart to avoid a mule. Hagedorn later proved he did not own the mule. The contributions came in after the Dallas Morning News reviewed the case in a series of articles. (AP photo)

East Yoakum, West Terry May Be Hot Spot

It is reported to us by reliable sources that three oil wells in east Yoakum county are practically ready to start drilling, and that two others will likely be ready by May 1. One or two of them are direct offsets of the Paul Cobb well, while the other two will be what may be termed wildcat territory. But most people seem to believe that this community will be the next oil hot spot.

Two of the new wells, we understand are to be on the Cobb section, another nearby on another piece of property. Still another well is to be located in the Turner community, a few miles northwest of the Cobb section, while still another will be located northeast a few miles, which should put in near the line of Terry and Yoakum counties.

Our informant about the matter was Homer Nelson, who owns a half section just north of the Cobb section. And we might add that Homer does not seem to feel downcast in the 'nth degree over the arrangements. As most know the discovery well is on the Cobb section, and is around a 300 barrel producer.

If a new field is made in the area, Brownfield will greatly benefit from it.

VFW Auxiliary Installation Held

Moore Sr., chaplain; Mrs. Allen Mitchell, guard; Mrs. Bill Webb, one year trustee; Mrs. Jiggs Tankersley, two year trustee; Mrs. H. L. King, three year trustee; Mrs. Harold Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Loyd Turner, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Cleve Darlin, flag bearer; and Mrs. Gay Price, banner bearer.

Auxiliary members from Levelland and Lubbock were visitors at the installation service.

Following the installation, auxiliary members met in the home of Mrs. Pierce for coffee and cookies. About 30 members attended.

The next meeting will be held April 25, with the place and time to be announced later. Anyone interested in belonging to the auxiliary are asked to contact Mrs. Pierce.

As we go to press some 20-100 inch of rain has fallen, the first since the middle of February. The showers began about 6 p. m., Wednesday, and continued intermittently during the night.

Those from Brownfield who made a similar trip last week were Kyle Graves, V. L. (Pat) Patterson, John Cloud and H. S. Neugent.

Mayor Primm May Be Able To Attend Canadian River Hearing At Washington

When a reporter talked with Mayor C. C. Primm at his place of business Tuesday afternoon, he informed the reporter that it was his intention to attend the Canadian River hearing before a Senate Committee, next Tuesday. This $85,000,000 dam project, supported by several cities and towns of the Panhandle and South Plains, is to come up, and the delegation hopes to get a favorable report and finally a go-ahead OK.

The only thing that will keep Mayor Primm from attending is the fact that his pharmacist is out of town, and may not return in time. But, Primm stated that he would pick up another prescription druggist if possible, as he sure wished to attend the hearing. E. K. Hufstetler, Lubbock city commissioner, and chairman of the delegation, will leave this week, to make arrangements for the delegation, and attend other preliminary matters.

Most of the delegates from this area will leave Lubbock at 6:39 by airplane Sunday morning, arriving in Washington at 8 p. m. Or they may leave Lubbock at 5 p. m., and arrive Monday morning at 7 o'clock. The delegation will headquarter at the Congressional hotel.

Among the towns to be represented are Borger, Pampa, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock, Littlefield, Levelland, Brownfield, Tahoka, O'Donnell and Lamesa.

Mayor Primm stated that in event he cannot attend himself, one of the city councilmen will be sent in his stead.

Roger W. Babson Discusses Weather

NEW YORK CITY, April 14—One of the chief topics of discussion here today is whether Dr. Irving Langmuir and his Harvard friends will succeed in making it rain.

Scientific vs Legal Phases
Of course, based on statistics, nature favors their reputation. Every day New York goes without rain, the chances increase that the rainmakers will be "successful." If no rain occurs after they doctor the clouds, their experiments will be of some value; but if rain does occur, no one can tell whether or not rain would have come without this doctoring.

Perhaps the most interesting feature will be the results of the legal suits:—(1) Those brought by business concerns—department stores, amusement centers and building contractors—who do not want rain; and (2) those brought by communities other than New York City who will claim that New York "stole" rain which they greatly needed. One thing the rain makers have accomplished. They are giving the gambling element something new to bet upon! So much for this New York experiment.

Watch Weather Maps
The real thought which I have in mind is to emphasize the importance of watching the daily U. S. Weather Maps as they appear in most city newspapers. My reason, however, is not to know per se if it is to rain or be fair, if it is to be colder or warmer; but how the change is to affect the behavior, disposition, judgment and courage of you and me. Upon these things our happiness and business success largely depends.

The first step is to learn how to interpret this Weather Map. The newspaper tells you what the weather will probably be tomorrow. But when making plans for advertising, business interviews, committee meetings, etc., we should know what weather conditions to expect a few days ahead. This we can usually do by studying the Weather Map. Certainly, every child in school be taught how to forecast the weather from this daily Weather Map.

My Weather Rules
In my own life I use the Weather Forecasts as follows: RULE 1: If I want someone to take a favorable attitude or answer "Yes" on some project, I wait for a cool and clear day with a rising barometer. (I have a barometer over my desk beside my clock.) I always can get better results by so waiting. RULE 2: If someone wants to call upon me whom I do not care much about seeing, I make a date when the day probably will be cloudy or muggy with a falling barometer. I have two reasons for this: (a) Because the person then may not have the energy to call; and (b) because it will be much easier for me to say "No" when the barometer is falling and I don't feel well. Looking back on my life it seems as if 90 per cent of my mistakes were due to my not having the guts to say "No" and stick to it!

Watch Your Step
RULE 3: Last week Mrs. Babson and I celebrated our Golden Wedding. Naturally we—like every other couple who have been married 50 years—have had rows! But when—last week—discussing our experiences, it was evident that every serious "flair up" started accidentally over some very insignificant and unexpected word. With my present knowledge of weather psychology, I believe that the weather was an important factor in starting most of those unhappy days. Hence, my Rule No. 3 is to "Watch my step during such cloudy or muggy days" and keep away from other people as much as I can, remembering that the weather is making them "touchy" or a little ugly as well as it is affecting me unfavorably.

Keys Return Home Via DAV

LOS ANGELES—A key ring that travelled 12,000 miles after it was lost with a valuable ring attached alongside a Disabled American Veterans Identio-Tag is returned by Floyd L. Ming (right) DAV State Department Commander of California to Joseph V. Sedwell of Los Angeles. DAV tag, miniature license plate distributed annually to 30,000,000 motorists, which provides key loss insurance, was responsible for return of keys lost by Sedwell, found by Air Force pilot who later lost them in Germany and sent to United States by German woman. DAV national headquarters in Cincinnati returns approximately 5,000 keys in a month. Funds realized from tags make possible free service for disabled veterans and their dependents.

RULE 4: Finally, I no longer telephone the doctor when members of my family have pains or think they are sick without first looking at the barometer! If there has been a sudden weather change, I say: "Cheer up. You'll be O.K. tomorrow. Today's aches and depression are due to a changing weather condition!" This forecast is usually correct and all the family are again feeling fine in a day or so. This barometer pays for itself every month. I wish I could be as successful forecasting the stock market!

Less Deaths But More Injuries Last Year

There were fewer automobile accident deaths on streets and highways of the nation last year than in 1948, but more injuries, according to figures released by the Travelers Insurance Companies.

Fatalities in 1949 totaled 31,800, compared with 32,200 in 1948, the companies reported, but injuries last year soared to an all-time high of 1,564,000. The 1948 figure was 1,471,000 injured. These statistics are highlights of "Main Street," sixteenth in an annual series of traffic safety booklets issued by the Travelers. The Hartford insurance firm maintains an accident statistical bureau which collects and analyzes accident data from the 48 states.

Excessive speed headed the list of accident causes in 1949, as it has in most recent years. "Exceeding the speed limit" caused 10,100 deaths and 398,700 injuries in 1949, according to the booklet. "Speed was a greater factor in traffic casualties last year than at any time in history," the report states.

There were 890 fewer fatalities among pedestrians in 1949 than in 1948, but 180 more persons were killed crossing streets between intersections last year than in 1948. Last year, for the first time since the war, the percentage of 18 to 24 year old drivers involved in accidents took a downward turn. "Youthful drivers, however, are still the cause of thousands more deaths and injuries than their numbers warrant," the booklet declares.

FISHNET FRILLS—Newest in Paris beachwear fashions is this length of fishnet, converted by Jean Desses into an attractive necklace, adorned with miniature anchors, corals and shells. something like 150 million dollars in new revenue if it also decides to continue spending at the present rates.

How did Texas finances get in that shape, anyway?

How come the state faces a huge deficit in prosperous times? You could write a book answering those questions. The A-B-C of it is that the state bought more than it could pay for. It spent its savings account on current or future demands, it didn't do anything about renewing the savings, and important revenues dropped.

The whole situation has been building up since 1947. It reached a crisis when the 51st legislature's regular session lacked 17 and one-half million dollars of having enough to balance the budget. The special session made up this and then some by boosting the omnibus tax 10 per cent for 18 months, and by adding a penny sales tax to cigarettes, but it didn't tackle the bigger deficit problem.

There's that little fellow, sales tax, again.

Most Texans have been pretty smug in believing they didn't have sales tax, say, like Louisiana. They don't now, like Louisiana. But Texas of course has a sales tax on gasoline, cigarettes, cosmetics, automobiles, radios, beer, and other commodities.

There will be a big drive during the next session to extend these into a general sales tax. There will be proposals for a state income tax, for increases in the tax on natural gas and crude oil, and probably for more taxes on the growing chemical industry.

Announcement for a plan for any one of those, including the sales tax, will bring on a finish fight at Austin.

So while you're asking your prospective legislators or candidates for lieutenant governor embarrassing questions, you might as well include these:

1. If you favor cutting expenses where will you start, on funds for education, welfare or roads? (That's where 90 per cent of the state money goes.)

2. If you're not going to trim, where are you going to get the money? General sales tax? Increase in the tax on natural gas or oil? Chemical tax? Income tax?

Texas' 750 Hospitals To Be Inspected

A task force of 135 especially trained inspectors have undertaken the task of determining the fire safety of Texas' 750 hospitals.

Inspectors, hand picked from engineers and field men of capital stock fire insurance companies and some casualty companies, will check every hospital in the state during the year. A. Sidney Briggs of Dallas, manager of the Texas Fire Prevention and Engineering Bureau, said.

The state-wide inspection, designed to prevent loss of life by fire in Texas hospitals, has been approved by the Texas Hospital Association. Albert H. Scheidt, administrator of the City-County Hospital System in Dallas, will work with the Fire Prevention and Engineering Bureau in arranging and conducting the inspections.

Ten Texas hospitals already have been given thorough checks since the program was inaugurated recently, Mr. Briggs said. The Texas inspections are part of a nation-wide program sponsored by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and 9,000 hospitals in the United States will be checked before the year ends, he said.

Improving the safety to life is the primary objective of the inspections, according to Mr. Briggs. Inspectors will be on the lookout principally for fire and explosion hazards. They also will report on building construction; automatic fire protection equipment, such as sprinklers and alarms; good housekeeping and the training of hospital personnel for an emergency.

A detailed report will be prepared on each hospital inspected, with one copy sent to the administrator of the hospital and the other to the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Date is to be kept confidential, Mr. Briggs said.

Training engineers will inspect the 152 Texas hospitals that have 50 beds or more. Selected field representatives of the capital stock fire insurance companies will inspect the smaller hospitals. Special training schools for the field men have been held at Dallas, San Antonio, Houston and Lubbock to prepare them for the inspections.

TEXAS TODAY

By Dave Cheavens
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN, Tex., April 14—(AP)—Free advice to Texas voters:

Ask your candidates for the Legislature this summer how they stand on the question of a sales tax.

You might even put the same question to the dozen or so candidates who will be running for Lieutenant Governor, or the half dozen who maybe in the race for Governor.

Maybe you'd like to know in advance about that sales tax business because sure as shootin' it's going to be the hottest issue when the 52nd Legislature meets in regular session next January.

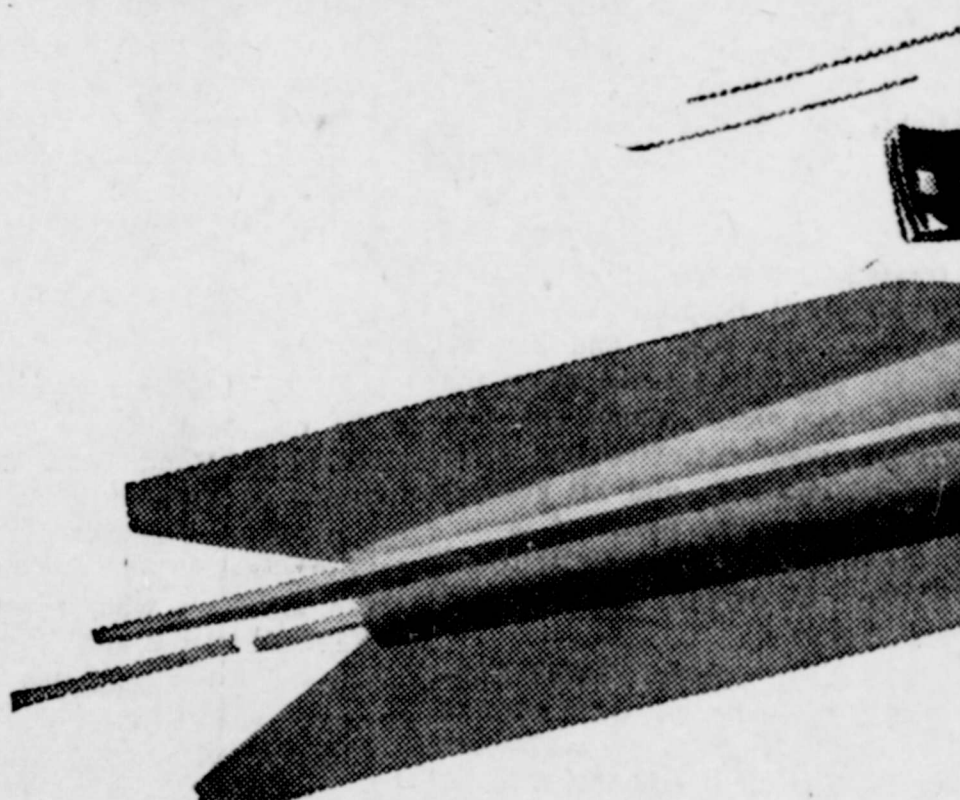

The last two sessions have been able to stall, side step or stop gap in giving an answer to the simple question: who's going to pay the bill for our greatly expanded state services?

The next session, the 52nd, faces the ugly reality of raising

Body Weight Mighty Important

The most frequently mentioned malnutrition problem among adults in the United States is overweight. In simple everyday language, Lucille Schultz, associate extension foods and nutrition specialist of Texas A & M college, says many adults just eat too much.

How much fuel foods a body needs depends on its size and activity. If the body weight stays about right for height and build, it's a good indication that calories in the diet are in balance with body needs. Overweight indicates that too much fuel food is being eaten and the body is storing it as fat.

Miss Shultz says it is safer to be plump than skinny up to 35 but after 35 excess fat becomes a greater health liability than extreme thinness. Ailments such as high blood pressure and heart and kidney troubles are more common among the overweights, but those who are too thin tend to tire more easily and may be easy prey to infections.

For those under 20 years of age and overweight, she suggests that reducing be done only under a physician's supervision. Young mothers and those with heart or organic troubles also observe this rule of safety.

To those over 35 years of age who need to reduce, she offers this advice. Don't lose weight too rapidly—a pound or so per week is plenty. Cut the calories but eat other essentials for good health; eat three meals per day but no between meal snacks and avoid high calorie foods and eat sparingly of bread or cereal.

Eat plenty of fruits and vegetables, but she says take them straight—no cream sauce or fat no cream or sugar. Be generous with the protein rich foods for good nutrition requires lots of lean meat, milk, eggs and lean fish.

'YOUNG MAN WITH HORN' SOON AT RIALTO

With the rapidly rising Kirk Douglas in the title role, Warner Bros.' long awaited film version of the recent best seller novel, "Young Man With a Horn," comes to the Rialto Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

The picture tells the story of a jazz trumpeter who rises to the peak of his profession only to topple when riches and a beautiful girl nearly prove his undoing.

Lauren Bacall plays the sultry woman in his life while Doris Day, as a band vocalist, is the other woman. Hoagy Carmichael, famed most perhaps as tuesmith for the now classic "Stardust," plays a featured role as does Juano Hernandez, Puerto Rican star from Broadway, who recently scored an impressive acting triumph as the negro in "Intruder in the Dust."

Jazz and movie fans alike are in for both a musical and dramatic experience, for the film contains a number of hit tunes sung by Doris Day and interpreted by famed musicians representing the bands of Harry James, the Dorseys, Duke Ellington, Charlie Barnett, Stan Kenton, Vaughn Monroe, Phil Harris and Spade Cooley.

The film, which depicts the graphic behind-the-scenes lives of the popular music world, was directed by Michael Curtiz, one of the leading megaphones in Hollywood today.

Carl Foreman wrote the dialogue for "Young Man With a Horn."

State Health Official Praises Newspapers

A highly placed state official has given Texas newspapers a pat on the back.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, veteran of more than 13 years as head of the State Department of Health, called the Texas press a "more potent force in mass public education," and said his department invariably turns in that direction as the first means of reaching the people with information on health subjects.

"Texas newspaper editors and reporters have consistently shown an awareness of public health problems and have given unstintingly of much valuable space to stories relating to public health," Cox said.

"I can define public health in three words—mass public education," the health official said. "Without newspaper cooperation, such education is literally an unobtainable ideal."

Pointing out the custom of rural people to read their local weekly or semi-weekly thoroughly, Cox said he was especially happy that these papers used state and local health department releases.

"It's one of the most valuable services a paper can render its readership, but then maybe I'm a bit prejudiced," he observed.

'TELL IT TO THE JUDGE' AT RIALTO NEXT WEEK

"Tell It To The Judge," the Rosalind Russell-Robert Cummings' starrer is coming to the Rialto Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday. The new Columbia comedy features Gig Young, Marie McDonald, Harry Davenport, Fay Baker and Katherine Warren in important supporting roles.

The story, set in Washington, Florida and the Adirondack mountains, concerns the amusing complications that beset a bride when she finds herself on a three-cornered honeymoon. Rosalind Russell is the bride, Cummings and Young portray the "husband" and Miss McDonald is a blonde who complicates the complications.

Nat Perrin's screen play was piloted by Norman Foster for producer Buddy Adler.

VIOLIN WORTH FORTUNE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—(P)—It would take a fortune to buy the ancient violin owned by Vladimir Lenski. He values it at $100,000. The music teacher and former concert violinist says his fiddle was carved in 1510 by Gaspar Duiffoprugger, instrument maker to King Francis I of France. It is reputedly one of the earliest modern type violins.

Lenski acquired the prize, he says, more than 50 years ago from a member of the Russian royal family who admired his playing.

CATTLE FATTENING PROJECT CONCLUDED, TECH DEAN REPORTS

A cattle fattening experiment at Texas Tech has demonstrated the wisdom of buying calves in the fall and having them ready when grazing is available.

The research project began in November 1948, and has been concluded following three separate phases of feeding, Dean of Agriculture W. L. Stangel reported.

For 172 days the winter stocking phase was in progress, and at the end of the estimated gross profit was $31.26 per head. The grazing of yearlings took 185 days, and an estimated gross profit of $57.91 per head was recorded. Dry lot fattening took 152 days, finishing with an estimated $91.60 gross profit.

Dean Stengel said final results of the project would not be available until the marketing report is obtained. He said the experiment was carried on longer than necessary to show the cattle at the two South Plains Junior Fat Stock shows in Lubbock during March of 1949 and 1950.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

With one scrawny snapdragon bravely wagging its little yellow head in the breeze, old Gee Gee has finally gotten the urge to get out and grovel around in the dirt. First thing I did was start unraveling the mystery of one little sprig of mint that I foolishly planted last year. So far, the longest string of it I've unearthed was only four feet long, but I'm sure I can break that record. Any day now I expect it to pop up in the middle of the living room floor. You think rabbits multiply fast—you should try a little mint, kids.

Next thing I did was get bitten by some sort of a varmint. I would probably have been going around with a stub instead of my left arm if Homer (next door) hadn't come to the rescue with some benadryl cream. Incidentally, if you are the sort of person who is always inviting anything that crawls to take a bite out of you, you might try this stuff that Homer Nelson sells. It's pretty good, and it doesn't stink like ammonia does.

It's getting time to salt away all the woollens and pull out the cottons. And if you want to see something really cute, hustle over to Shelton's Ready To Wear and look at the little nylon suits (with built-in seat covers) for the little jacks and jills. They come in three colors—pink, blue and yellow—with the little boys' tailored enough to suit any dotting father, and the little girls' feminine enough to suit any dotting grandmother.

Speaking of sun clothes, I may look like a flying saucer in them, but I like to wear shorts in the summer time. And there are really some cute ones out this year. The Bargain Center and the Duchess Style Shop really have some snazzy corduroy ones. For those good old shoes that you can toss into the washing machine, hop down to Collins' before they're all gone.

It's also time to rake all the old tin cans, bones, etc., out of the barbecue pit and get set for some good old outside parties, flies and all. I understand there's a new ingredient on the market that is really something for barbecue-fiends. It is a charcoal salt—comes in a shaker and you sprinkle it on your steaks for that can't-be-topped charcoal flavor. It's advertised in most of the leading magazines.

Time, too, for all the rodeo booster trips to begin—and Brownfield's probably won't be long off. The Jaycees are busy making their plans for this year's rodeo to be the best ever. And those of you who saw it last year know that it's a pretty high aim.

First, though, they are winding up plans for the big annual calf show to be held at the Jaycee show barn on April 22. Even if you don't know much about calves (except that they are pretty good to eat, some of them), you'll probably enjoy going out and looking around. It's amazing that these boys, with as many other things as they have to do, also have time to raise prize calves. No wonder the business men and the Jaycees in town support these boys in their projects—they deserve the support of us all.

Speaking of shows, another one will hit town Sunday and Monday at the Rio Theatre. In this issue of the Herald is an advertisement that curls my hair, just thinking about it. I'm talking about Kara Kum's magic mystery show, and it sounds like the granddaddy of them all. How do you like that one about "head of a volunteer will be cut off and thrown to the audience"? This really sounds like a thriller, and so, if you don't suffer from a weak heart, you might try it for size.

Straw hat day in Brownfield is only a little way off, so you might start shopping around. What ever happened to the "katy" that used to be so popular? I used to think that my pop was the most handsome man in the world when he donned his seersucker suit, complete with white shirt, katy, and white shoes. This was before he started wearing strictly golf clothes. Even at that, he's not so repulsive. I'll be glad when I can see him in those golf togs again.

Also only a matter of a few weeks off is the closing of school. I would say that sentiment is mixed concerning this deal. About 50-50, I'd say. Comes then vacation. Why is it that people eager-look forward for weeks to a vacation, go on it finally, and then come home to rest up from the vacation?

When your flowers and vegetables first poke their heads out of the ground, if you can resist looking at them at least 30 times a day to see how much they've grown, you deserve a gold medal for your extreme patience—or just ain't human.

Jim Nichols Trainer Of Bloodhounds

By Martha Cole
Associated Press Staff
GATESVILLE, Texas, April 14—(AP)—Jim Nichols is a slim Texan in skin-tight blue jeans who'll tell you he's "jest a dog man, ma'am."

He's the fellow who trains the bloodhounds at the Gatesville School for Boys.

"We have to get the hounds out maybe twice a week," he said. "A boy'll be missing and we'll go give them a scent from something of the boy's, and they set out."

"If they hike out across the pasture, we know the boy's hid in the brush. But if they just keep circling the buildings, we know he's in one of those buildings hidin'. And we find him."

"We jest keep that up, sending the boys a little farther away and a little farther away. And that's all there is to it."

Nichols takes his bloodhounds to surrounding counties, too, when the sheriffs ask help in tracking down a criminal.

He took "Tex" and "Slouch" to Belton the night someone fired two shots at district attorney James K. Everts during the Smithwick trial Jan. 23.

"Steady there, boy. Steady, Slouch," he murmured all the time the dogs were sniffing around for the trail.

The silver bells—about an inch long—on their collars tinkled but the dogs themselves made no noise.

"If they find the trail, they'll set up a noise like you never heard, barking and baying," Nichols said. "And as long as they're on the trail, they'll keep baying."

SEES ALTITUDE HAS EXAGGERATED

DENVER—(AP)—He probably is in for some arguments, but Dr. Robert B. Patterson of Loveland, Colo., thinks the harmful physical effects of high altitudes are greatly exaggerated—at least for the kind of altitudes Colorado has.

Writing in the Rocky Mountain Medical Journal, Dr. Patterson listed mineral oil, sunburn lotion and hard candy as the only medicines a normal flatlander needs to offset symptoms of the altitude here.

The mineral oil should be used to lubricate dried nasal passages, lotion to guard against sunburn which comes with deceptive softness in the rarified air, and the hard candy to prevent throat dryness. But he had a word of warning for those not in the best of health. They should beware of reacting to the bracing mountain air by indulging in excessive exercise.

MULE AND CAMEL STEAKS ON ISRAEL'S BLACK MARKET

TEL AVIV, Israel—(AP)—The Israeli diet is skimpy and monotonously features frozen fish as the main entree—but even that's better than horse, mule or camel steaks. Zvi Lehman, an official of the inspection department of the ministry of supply and rationing, says that's what Israelis often get when they buy "meat" in the black market.

BIBLE COMMENT FOR APRIL 2

Church Overcoming The World as Christ Foretold

ALMOST on the verge of His death, when the cross was looming darkly over Him, Jesus had said to His disciples, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world" (John 16:33).

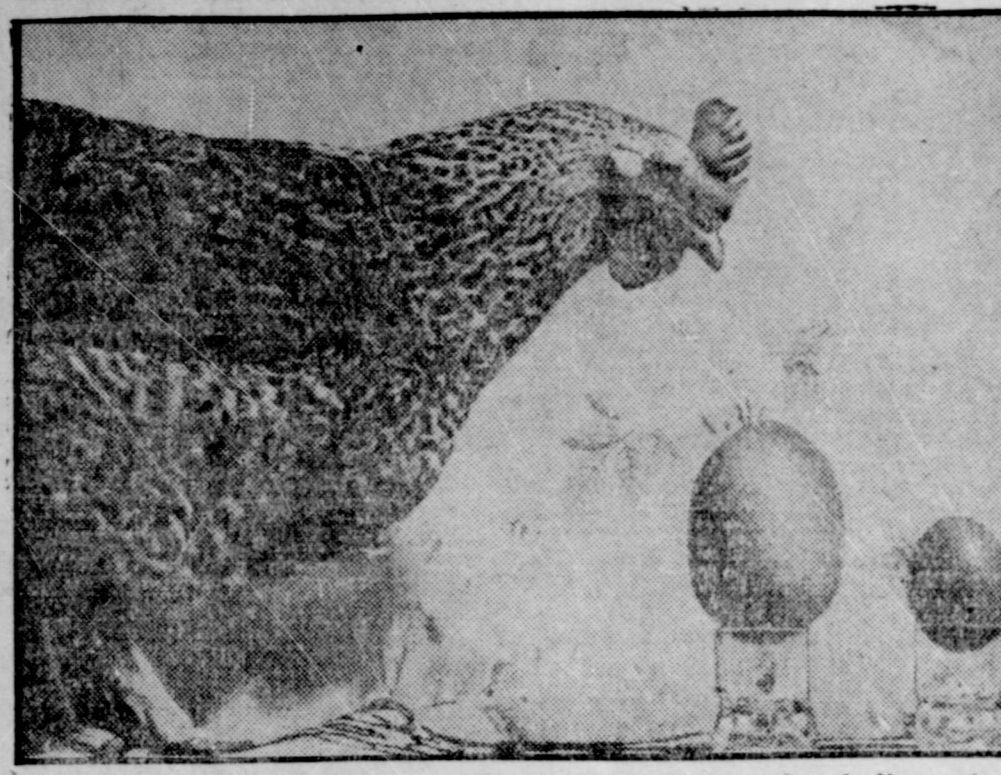

But even as He assured them of that victory, He told them that "in the world ye shall have tribulation," and much of that 16th chapter of St. John's Gospel predicts in detail the persecutions that would befall them. They would be put out of synagogues. They would be scattered, the time would come when anyone who killed them would think that he did God service.

Jesus had said, "My kingdom is not of this world." Only the vision of that kingdom, so different in its deep essentials from the kingdoms of the world, and a profound faith in its overcoming, could have inspired the disciples. Only this could have held them firm and unwavering in their mission of making the Gospel known to the ends of the earth.

That mission for the time being became largely a matter of the maintenance of faith and fellowship, as the Christian communities took root in the larger pagan communities. "See how these Christians love one another," became a byword descriptive of that fellowship of believers.

But as the church grew and expanded, so persecution increased. The course of Paul and other missionaries was shaped by the violence of the persecutions that drove them from place to place. They fulfilled with exactness the admonition that Jesus had given earlier to those whom He had sent forth two by two, "When they persecute you in this city, flee ye to another" (Matthew 10:23).

The war between Christ and anti-Christ is upon us as never before since the days of early Christianity. Can we attain the faith in Christ that assures our overcoming, even through tribulation?

Cancer Takes High Toll In Texas

Deaths from cancer in Texas reached a total of 7271 during the past year, indicating that a warning against cancer quacks and so-called cancer cures is justified by the State Health Department. Early diagnosis and competent treatment could have prevented many of these deaths, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"There are but two ways of treating cancer. First, by surgery and second, by the use of radium or x-ray. Treatment must be started early and in the hands of a competent surgeon. Surgery is relied on to remove cancerous tumors and is used in nearly two-thirds of the cases. X-ray or radium is used to advantage for the remaining group. Frequently the two methods are combined. Self-medication, serums, colored lights, pastes, salves and diets are valueless.

"The great protection against cancer is early diagnosis. Every case is an emergency and it is unfortunate that the majority of those with cancer do not seek medical advice early in the first stages of the disease. No hope should be placed in fake cancer cures or treatments. Rather, the annual physical examination and an immediate reporting to your physician of any symptoms which may be suspected to be the beginning of cancer should be relied upon. These symptoms are: any unusual bleeding from any body opening, any lump in the breast or other part of the body, any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth, and chronic indigestion. These conditions may not be cancer, but sometimes they are forerunners of the more common types of this disease. Where cancer is suspected, do not delay, but consult your physician at once."

CHRYSLER OFFERS PLAN TO SETTLE STRIKE

How each individual Chrysler Corporation employee will benefit from Chrysler's pension and insurance offer was outlined in detail in a circular letter from Herman L. Weckler, vice president and general manager of the company, and was received by all the corporation's employees this morning.

This is the first detailed description of Chrysler Corporation's offer to settle the strike which has been prepared and released.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I am at present receiving compensation for partial loss of my eyesight. Will my compensation be reduced if I go to school under the GI Bill?

A—The fact that you are attending school under the GI Bill will have no effect on the amount of compensation you receive.

Q—Does the fact that a person is receiving insurance as the beneficiary of a National Service Life Insurance policy entitle him or her to compensation?

A—No. Insurance has no direct relation to compensation. Death compensation is payable to a widow, minor children and dependent parents of a veteran who died of a service-connected disability.

Q—My ten year old granddaughter of a World War I veteran whose widowed mother remarried. Is the child entitled to a pension?

A—She may be entitled to a pension if the requirements of the laws are met. Application should be made at the nearest VA office.

Q—As the widow of a World War I veteran, I received a pension until five years ago when I married a non-veteran. Now I am divorced. Am I eligible for my old pension?

A—The law specifically provides that compensation or pension shall cease upon the remarriage of a widow of a World War I or World War II veteran.

Any erroneous reflection upon the standing of any individual, business or corporation will be gladly corrected if brought to the attention of the publishers.

We note with considerable pleasure that an Army Officer's Club valued at one million dollars has burned down at Denison, taking with it a brand new $50,000 bar recently installed for the express purpose of making "officers and gentlemen" of self-styled "officers and gentlemen." From some of the parties pitched in these official bawdy house during the war, we are surprised that more and more of them do not ignite. We recall 1944, an Air Force base in Wilmington, N. C., where C-47 transport planes were dispatched monthly to Havana to bring back cargoes of fine liquors upon which the Officer Club crowd could boost its morale. It didn't take a man with the brains of a Second Lt. to divine that such a trip cost struggling taxpayers about one dollar each time the twin propellers turned over. Maybe the trip served a purpose. It gave officers that cast iron belly they are always nagging enlisted men about, and it might have dulled their moral senses to the point where they no longer fled to their quarters and cried after having caught some hapless GI sneaking a can of warm beer into his barracks, for which the culprit spent the usual time in the brig. This discrimination, an officer explained to the editor, is based upon the theory that liquor is an asset for the officer and a drug for the enlisted man. Like most GIs who spent the better part of World War II in sweeping up whiskey bottles out of BOQs and running to town for superiors roughing it in the club foxholes, we heartily wish every damned club of this kind in the country would burst into flame—at incredible expense to the government—Ralls Banner.

The above was, of course, written by Ernest Joiner, Banner Editor, who was a GI during the war, and now a part of the Herald personnel. The latter related that at Guam, thousands of wounded sailors, soldiers and airmen lay wounded in tents and some of them very poor shelter. But the first thing of a substantial nature that was built was a costly officers club house at government expense. Like Editor Joiner, he hopes every officers' club house in the land will burn to the ground and no more be allowed to be built.

If for no other reason than one, and we have several, we would be for G. H. Nelson of Lubbock as a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals, and against his aged opponent, F. L. Hawkins. We have not talked with Mr. Nelson, who is a well known area lawyer, but we aim to have one before this campaign is over, as to whether or not he stands for such things as Judge Hawkins has stood for the past few years. Judge Hawkins is one of the Judges that has reversed a case because the grand jury failed to state that a young criminal stomped to death an old lady who had befriended him "with his feet." An still another, in which the indicting grand jury failed to state that a man drowned his wife "in water." Then there are some on the Supreme court that need be retired, those that held that old man Hagedorn should pay the Austin couple all the money he had, over $2600, because a flea bitten mule on the highway caused them to have a car wreck. It later developed that the mule did not belong to Hagedorn. But the majority of the Supreme Court held that Hagedorn "should have hired a lawyer."

The Herald aims to print a list of both the Court of Criminal Appeals as well as the Supreme Court that think more of technicalities than they do justice, for use of voters.

A rather interesting article appeared in the current issue of Southwest Quarterly, a magazine issued by Southern Methodist University, Dallas. The article in question gave a rather new approach to the present "cold war" between the USA and USSR. And let us state that the conclusions reached by the writer are rather new, to us at least, but are very reasonable. The writer, of course, uses fictitious names, but not places in his dealing with the person under study. Both were supposedly graduates of the University of Texas, and were we believe, classmates. They separated and for some years during the early part of the war, they lost trace of each other. But one day they met in St. Louis. The writer found to his dismay that his friend had turned Communist. The usual argument was that the worker was not getting the fair proportion of his production—the old, old stall. The friend at that time had not decided which side to fight on in case of war. At a later meeting quite recently in New York, the old classmate acknowledged he was a Stalinite first and last. No, he did not want to go to Russia; he would have the same conditions here in a few years. There would be no war between Russia and the United States. No necessity for one. The USA would be taken over by fifth columnists, working through labor unions and some churches. The commie friend pointed out that they almost took over both Italy and France by the same methods, and that Americans are so complacent that it would be a lot easier over here. At this time the former friend had to depart from the place where they were lunching together, and the writer hoped they would never meet again.

We received a little brochure recently entitled, the "Bigness" and "Badness" of American Business. The first sentence read like this: "Monopoly is like sin—everybody is against it." Also, the booklet added that monopoly is a favorite of the politician. From it he can flail the air with his arms and denounce it freely and furiously. It is a good subject to use to arouse the "peepul." One of the favorites right now seems to be the case against the A & P company. But the politician does not stop to explain what monopoly really means. Do you know? Literally it just means "one seller" and that is about what your dictionary says it means. But has the A & P got to the point that it is a "one seller"? Not only are there hundreds of other chains with two or more stores in the same or other towns, but tens of thousands of prosperous one store groceries. And to plague the administration, many of these small grocers wrote in to say lay off prosecutions. Right here in our own community, we have one popular grocer who is beginning to spread out. Does anyone condemn him because he has two stores instead of one? Not on your life. On the other hand many have taken the trouble to congratulate him on his idea of spreading out and serving more people efficiently. If you ask us, we are prepared to tell you that had America been a nation of small concerns, small mills and factories, it would have taken us ten years to get ready to begin to fight Germany and Japan. But we had a lot of huge plants, and in a bit over four years had both nations suing for peace.

We read some good news last week as long as it lasted. The good news was that supposedly, the worst of the sandstorms were over for the season. And it appeared at the middle of the week that for one time the weathermen were right in their conclusions. But Sunday afternoon, it was on again Flanagan, and Monday morning it turned to the north with considerable velocity. And that leads up to the damage by wind erosion that had already happened. It seems that the Soil Conservation Service at Fort Worth had made a survey, and while at that time it was not believed that we are likely on the verge of another dust bowl, such could happen if everything works out just right. Admittedly, conditions were approaching a critical stage, and would already have been almost disastrous had not so much work been done the past several years in hedging

Newspapers and their reporters can easily make a mistake at times that while the harm is insignificant, proves rather embarrassing to not only the paper but also to the person or persons it concerns. Once in awhile an article will appear about some one attending a party, when as a matter of fact that person never attends functions, especially bridge parties. But what some folks can't ever understand is why one game, whether played with cards or dominoes is sinful, to use one, and not sinful if the other method is used. Personally the writer can see no difference. If four people elect to use cards in playing a few games for fun, we can see no harm in

OLD TIMER GETS HUNGRY FOR NEWS

Had a letter this week from an old time Terryite, N. D. Rentfro, up there at Tulla. Dennis has been away many years, but evidently still has a hankering for news from Terry.

Dennis is a brother of Ross Rentfro, an early day cattleman of this section, and N. D. as well as Ross were likable fellows.

Mrs. Earl Day of Lubbock visited her sisters, Mrs. Joe Shelton, and Mrs. John L. Cruce and families last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Henson of Seymour visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Halley over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dixon spent the week end with her parents in Hamlin.

the matter, while if four others, wish to use dominoes, we can see no harm in that. Personally, we do not play either with cards or dominoes. There may be a fine point of distinction, but the writer has never been able to see it.

WHY WASN'T THAT ARTICLE IN HOME PAPER?

You know some folks have a funny idea about some matters that are hard for the average to understand. Readers will ask the Herald why a certain article failed to appear in the home paper, when it was printed in just about every daily in Texas that has any circulation in this section. And readers have a reason to wonder. Just a few brief weeks ago, a bit of choice news that would be of interest to a lot of Herald readers, broke, and a representative was sent to the institution concerned. They would rather we would not mention the matter as they were not quite ready to give out anything, officially. The next day the whole matter was in the dailies. And sometimes, when something breaks in the way of crime apprehension, a Herald reporter hastens to the officers only to be told that it is a bit early to make an announcement of the matter; that they have a bit more work they wish to do before it becomes generally known.

Next morning the dailies have a detailed account of the matter. Leads the local paper to suspect there is a black man hid under the woodpile somewhere. Yes, people are funny—sometimes near ridiculous. But if they do not wish the Herald to have anything about the matter, that is their business. But after a story appears in everything else including the 1949 Ladies' Birthday Almanac, it is no longer news.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter of Hobbs, N. M., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Jenkins.

Mr. and Mrs. DuBols Huckabee and Linda visited their parents, Mrs. Ruth Huckabee and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wallace Sunday.

Mrs. J. T. Bowman left Thursday morning for Flint, Mich., to join her husband who has been attending school there for the past two months.

Mrs. A. C. Crowe of Seagraves, Ceton Crowe of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stricklin Jr., and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips in Tahoka Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dalton of Gruver spent the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Dalton.

Mr. and Mrs. Mon Telford recently returned from a six week visit with their son, Mon Jr., and family in California, and a tour of the western states.

Mr. and Mrs. Lal Copeland and family spent last week end in Galveston.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cleveland visited her sister, Mrs. Lou Calvary, and Mr. Calvary in Tahoka Sunday.

Lewis Simmonds, who is associated with the Brownfield Funeral Home, attended an embalmers school at Fort Worth this week.

Book Made In Texas One of Fifty Best

Recognition of bookmaking away from Eastern publishing centers is shown by the fact that a book manufactured in Texas has just been announced as one of the "Fifty Books of the Year" by the American Institute of Graphic Arts. Inclusion in the "Fifty Books" is an accolade much prized by publishers and book manufacturers.

The book, published by Southern Methodist University's Press, is "The Journey of Fray Marcos de Niza," by Cleve Hallenbeck.

The American Institute of Graphic Arts, a group of leading book designers, printers and editors, annually selects fifty books which in their opinion best exemplify physical excellence. Around 500 books are submitted each year by ninety to a hundred publishers and printers. The books chosen are assembled in collections and exhibited throughout the country. The AIGA 1950 exhibit, for the first time in history, opens this week simultane-

TEXAS DOCTORS TO GET TRAINING FOR ATOMIC INJURY MEDICATION

AUSTIN, April 14 (AP)—Training in what to do for atomic injuries will soon be provided for Texas doctors.

The State Health department announced today that its director of cancer control, Dr. William S. Brumage, has been named to the Atomic Energy Commission as a participant in teacher-training in medical aspects of atomic warfare.

Dr. Brumage is scheduled to attend a week-long course in atomic medicine at the University of California in mid-April. He will return to Texas to hold indoctrination courses for Texas practitioners, Dr. Cox said.

Training Leads Way To Opportunity

Ninety-three per cent of the 347,000 GI Bill farm trainees, as of the end of 1949, either owned farms or operated farms which they in some way controlled.

The remaining seven per cent were training on farms owned by others.

Nearly all the veteran farm owners, says a VA report, had small "family-type" farms, where all the work of keeping things running is done by the veteran himself, with members of his family performing chores they can handle.

Yet the farms are not too small. VA regulations require them to be properly equipped; productive enough to insure a satisfactory income at least by the end of the training program; large enough to keep a veteran busy full time, and of a character which permits instruction in all aspects of farm management for the type of farmings in which the veteran is being trained.

The farm training program also enable an eligible veteran to go to school part time to learn up-to-date methods of farming and farm management, and then to put his classroom knowledge into practice on the farm.

His classroom instructor pays frequent visits to the farm to see whether he is getting the greatest possible benefit out of this program, and to give him any instruction he might need.

Ex-POWs Will Get Paid For Each Day Held

In a sweeping decision, clearing the way for quicker action, the War Claims Commission has held that at no time did the Germans or Japanese at any of their prisoner-of-war camps provide sufficient food for Americans. That ruling means that automatically US military personnel held as prisoners by the enemy countries will get $1 subsistence for each day they were prisoners. War Claims Commission, with more than 75,000 claims on hand, is processing about 50 a day on a first come, first served basis. First batch of checks went out in mid-February to 250 ex-POWs. Biggest check in the batch was to Peter B. Marshall Jr., Phoenix, Ariz., for $1,368. Smallest for $87 went to Charles C. Mercer, Sunflower, Kans. Money to pay the claims must come out of enemy assets taken over by the Office of Alien Property.

The local county veterans service office has the necessary form for POW vets and their dependents. We will be happy to assist you in preparing these forms.

No-Bias Housing Rule Effective

Racial or religious restrictions on sale or rental of home financed by Government-insured mortgages are barred by new rules which became effective in mid-February. Both Federal Housing Administration and home loans under the GI Bill administered by VA are covered by the regulations which forbid mortgage insurance on property governed by written covenants restricting ownership or occupancy on the basis of race, color, or creed. The regulations are not retroactive and will not apply to any mortgages insured by FHA or VA before the effective date. If written covenants are made part of the record of a property deed after the effective date, the government will lift its insurance on the mortgage and the mortgage holder will be privileged to demand the unpaid balance immediately.

HOPPE'S CHOICE—Billiard master Willie Hoppe, left, watches a shot being made in Detroit by Harold Worst of Grand Rapids, Mich. Now 21, Worst began playing when he was 15.

Notice To Bidders

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Terry County, Texas, will, on the 24th day of April, 1950, at 10 o'clock a.m. in its usual meeting place in the court house at Brownfield, Texas, proceed to receive and consider competitive bid for the purchase of the following described road machinery: Crawler type tractor with front end loading attachment. One AC W-Speed patrol with front end loader will be offered in trade, and will at such time let a contract therefor if any bid be accepted; all such bids to be made as required by law; and if any bid be accepted it is the intention of the Court to issue time warrants on said County in payment of all or part of such proposed contract, in the maximum amount of $8,000.00, to bear 3 per cent interest per annum, the last maturity date of such warrants to be not later than the year of 1954.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

You folks know this Mr. Samuel Rayburn—speaker of the USA House—if that old boy does not watch his step he is liable to wind up in the White House as the first Longhorn Pres. of this noble USA. Texas has always been out in the cold, as presidents go, but with the nation in a mood and watering at the mouth for a chance to vote for some guy with vertebrae, that grand and wide country of the Lone Star may not have too long to wait.

How come, says Henry. Well, I says, the paper tells about a "hen party" that called on Speaker Rayburn, clamoring for Federal dinero for education—were beating the drum for bigger and bigger salaries for the teachers and more swimming pools, etc. Well, Speaker Sam, old boy, stood his ground—that was the Texas in him. Says he, look here gals, I have taught school, I did not lobby for more money, I was not down in the mouth—sorry for myself, I was not held back. And on top of that, he says, once you start heading out USA coin of the realm, helter skelter, as aid to education, you get federal control sure as shootin' and same is bad medicine.

Brethren and sisters, vertebrae is what Speaker Sam has—vertebrae is not yet completely ex-

Look how you save with Dynaflo

FIRST thing you notice, of course, is the bother and effort Dynaflo Drive® saves.

Next, that Dynaflo saves you physically—after long trips you're less tense and tired, more relaxed.

But then, as the miles pile up—and this comes from cold, recorded fact after Dynaflo's two years of public operation—you spot savings you hadn't expected . . .

You save on tires—because power application is steady, even. On clutch expense—the usual friction clutch is gone.

You save on transmission maintenance, and the rear-axle expenses likely to go with it. And the way your engine is oil-cushioned against normal shocks and strains shows up in less engine upkeep.

You may well discover another pleasant surprise, too.

We are getting a steadily mounting number of well-satisfied letters about gasoline mileage with Dynaflo cars.

The SPECIAL has shown some records little short of phenomenal. The SUPER is delivering mileage that compares most favorably with gear-shift cars. And the ROADMASTER more than holds its own with cars of its size and bulk.

In short, there's a lot more to please your budget in the 1950 Dynaflo than its new lower price. Refinements over the past two years result in savings that are sizable over the life of the car.

Knowing that, don't you want us to demonstrate the big size of Dynaflo—the utter smoothness of America's first oil-does-it-all drive?

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He Well, yes, kids can be quite inquisitive. But they must learn somehow...

Speaking of family life, Claude Callan a feature writer and a native Texan, says that when Mrs. Callan and he were "sparkling,"...

But now, continues Claude, daughter is very different. She wants a thrill, and nothing less than a pint of whiskey and a car wreck will entertain her.

Jumping form the ridiculous to the sublime, Austin Williams of WOAI of San Antonio related quite a touching story of "displaced" persons on his ten PM news broadcast Monday night.

They had a modest but modernly equipped little home for the parents and four children. They were hard working folks, always had been, and even had to be told to come in out of the rain by sign language...

Now Bro. Truman is advocating giving the unemployed $30 instead of $20 per week. In the meantime, those who work have a tax to meet this expense...

Mr. and Mrs. Stafford who recently moved to Oklahoma, gave the Old He and wife the high sign to really stop off with them some time and fish...

It takes real energy to bait a hook. And to hold a pole while the cork rides the waves makes us real sleepy.

Saw a fellow over at Nelson's Pharmacy last week, who without a bat of an eyelash announced that we would have mud Monday this week.

Speaking of wind, perhaps Mrs. A. Kochensparger of Columbus, Ohio may have thought we were trying to be funny last week when we related our wind was not "high" here but rather "low,"...

They seem to be right on the ground and trying to dig in. Back some 40 years ago, a sandy was blowing from the west, but a tattered flag on a pole over at Gomez was noticed to be flying toward the west.

However, we are not speaking of such dusters as we had in the thirties and a few this year. Airplanes have encountered dust this year up to 15,000 feet.

Some one remarked that a couple of cigar smokers during an evening could create more ashes than a furnace.

Underworld and Overworld Get A Panning

This paper does not always agree with Catholic ministers or some of their adherents, but we certainly will go with that priest 100 percent up at Kansas City that gave both the underworld and overworld the thrashing of their lives.

It is said that some of the shadowy figures of the underworld were there to pay last homage to the stricken leaders, both bearing Italian sounding names.

The priest had finished low mass, whatever that is, and then launched into his tirade over a loud speaker.

The minister stated that he did not approve of crime in any shape, or form. And that he wanted all present to get it that way.

This is part of the old Pendergast machine that helped to put HST on his high pedestal.

ed on 'em—with apology to the lady smokers.

Speaking of cigars, we see by the papers that at least two of the manufacturing companies will have to quit telling people about the wonderful curative powers of their particular brand in newspapers, mags and raydeeyoo.

Went out to the Ed Thompsons Sunday and had one of those fine old fashioned rib sticking farm meals. Them there Thompson women are good feeders when Ed brings home the bacon.

But they are so used to our peculiarities that they suggest a bed in one of the bedrooms. But we always have to rub our eyes when we wake up, and guess whether it is morning or afternoon, and try for a minute to figure what we are doing in a strange room.

Took the grandson, Robert with us, and he and the Thompson grandsons had one great and glorious time, climaxed with an Easter egg hunt.

This is a great life if you are able to stick it out.
