May 22-27 To Be Clean-Up Week

Beginning Monday, May 22, and continuing through Saturday, May 27, Mayor C. C. Primm has proclaimed a "Clean Up Week" for Brownfield.

Primm said this week that at a city council meeting Wednesday night, the group purchased a Tifa fogging machine from George Smith fogging company in Lubbock and that the machine will be in operation beginning Monday. The machine will fog, spray and dust, Primm said, and will be used throughout the summer for the eradication of insects in the city.

City garbage and trash trucks will be busy all day Thursday and Friday of next week. Primm asks that citizens clean up their premises and stack the trash and garbage in their alleys to be picked up by the city trucks. He said that persons who begin now can have their refuse picked up on the regular city runs of the trucks.

County health officers stress the importance of having covered garbage cans in their alleys. By keeping the cans covered, flies and other insects can be controlled to a great extent.

City officials ask that owners of vacant lots on which trash and weeds have accumulated please clean them off. If the trash and weeds are piled in the alleys behind the vacant lots, they will be picked up by city trucks.

Business firms will not be asked to close this year, but are requested to see that their premises are cleaned up.

The purpose of the clean up week, Primm said, is to safeguard against outbreaks of polio and other diseases. He and the city officials request full cooperation of citizens in cleaning Brownfield up 100 per cent next week.

Union Grad Exercises Set For Fri. May 26

Seven seniors will receive their diplomas Friday night, May 26, when the commencement exercises of the Union high school will be held in the school auditorium. The Baccalaureate program will be conducted Sunday morning, May 21, at eleven o'clock.

Eslic McWhirter, of Cooper high school will deliver the main address for the commencement exercises and the baccalaureate sermon will be by Rev. B. H. Baldwin.

Darrel Lewis is valedictorian of the class and Lena Bill Bearden is salutatorian.

M. G. Gary, superintendent, stated that a highly successful school year at Union is drawing to a close. He further stated that the Union school system is in the best shape that it has been in for years, both from an academic and a financial standpoint.

Contrasting this term and the coming term with conditions three years ago, Mr. Gary pointed out that all members of the faculty for both the past and coming terms were holders of college degrees, whereas there were only three teachers on a staff of nine with degrees three years ago.

Johnny Winston, a student at Abilene Christian College, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Winston, last week.

City Officials Will Call Election For Utilities Improvements and Extensions

Although a definite date has not been set, members of the city council unanimously agreed at a meeting held Wednesday night to call an $849,000 bond election for the improvement and extension of power, water and sewer systems in the city and the construction of a new combined city hall-fire station-city police station.

City secretary J. H. Aschenback said that $182,000 of the issue will be tax bonds, with the remaining $667,000 to be revenue bonds.

Mayor C. C. Primm said Thurs-

Accident Victim Remains Critical

The condition of Emmett Roy Jenkins, 47, of Brownfield was reported as "critical" by attendants at Payne-Shotwell clinic at Littlefield Thursday. He is suffering multiple lacerations of the head and body, fractured arms and right leg, and deep shock, as well as possible internal injuries. Jenkins was critically injured in a head-on automobile accident near Littlefield late Sunday which took the lives of his wife and a Plainview man, Floyd E. Chaney, the driver of the other automobile. Chaney apparently died instantly.

The accident occurred about 7:20 p.m. Sunday, one and one half miles north of Littlefield on Highway 51. Investigating officers said that no reason for the accident had as yet been determined, as the weather was clear and the stretch of highway on which it occurred was level.

Officers said that apparently both automobiles were not traveling slowly, and that short skid marks on the highway showed that both cars had swerved to the left, ending in the head-on collision. The impact of the crash threw the engine of the 1941 Buick driven by Chaney several feet from the wreckage.

Both the 1948 Chrysler driven by Jenkins and the Chaney automobile were demolished, officers said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins were picked up by a Littlefield ambulance, but Mrs. Jenkins was dead upon arrival. Attendants said that she suffered deep head lacerations and multiple fractures.

The couple had been residents of Brownfield for 15 years. He is owner of the Jenkins Barber Shop, and she was employed at Collins Dry Goods.

Services Held For Mrs. Roy Jenkins

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist church at 4 p.m. Wednesday for Mrs. Roy Jenkins, 43, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Littlefield late Sunday.

A. J. Franks, minister of the Northside Baptist Church, officiated, assisted by H. L. Thurston, minister of the First Methodist church.

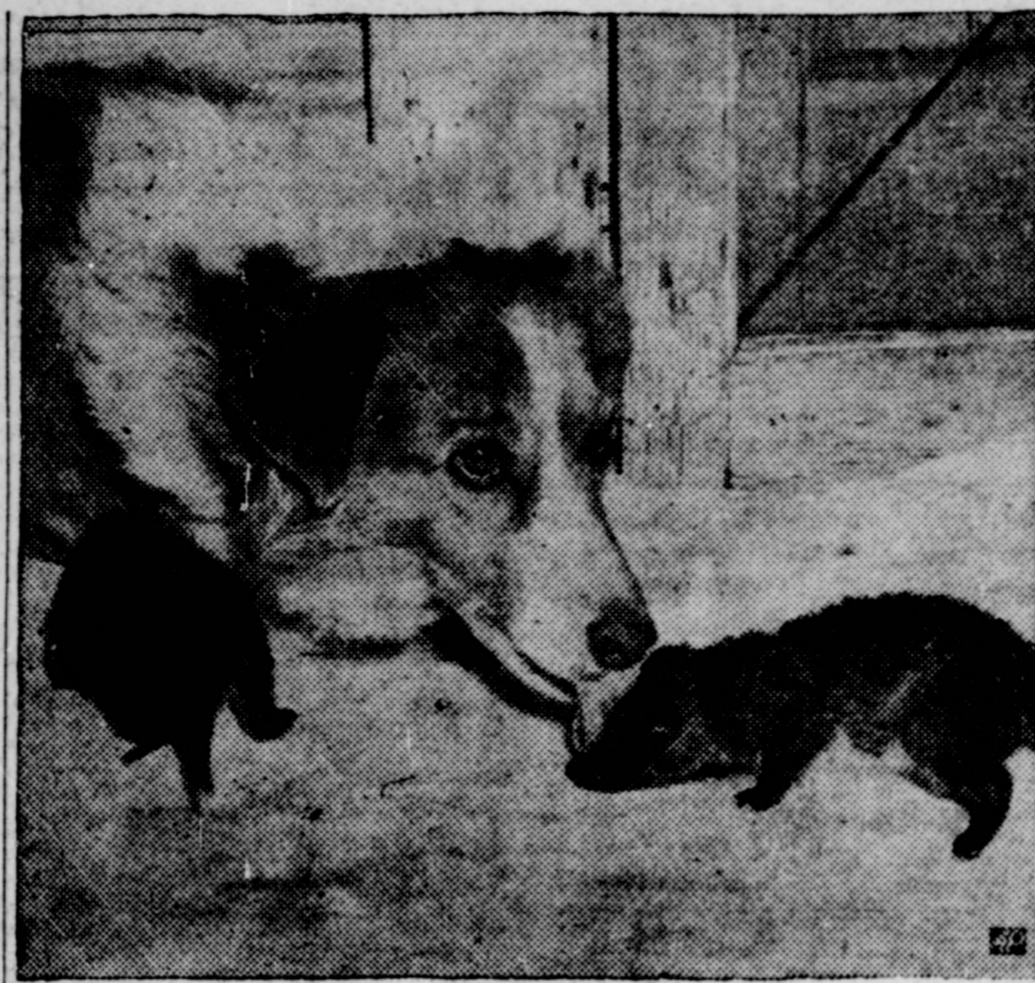

Born Beulah Fay Carter on February 6, 1907, in Erath county, Texas, Mrs. Jenkins and her husband had been residents of Brownfield for 15 years. For the past several years she had been employed at Collins Dry Goods. She was a member of the North Side Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband, Roy; one sister, Mrs. John Bradley of Friona; and five brothers, Cliff and Clint Carter of Rotan, Jack Carter of Hobbs, N. M., Clyde Carter of Anson and Cleo Carter of Pampa.

Interment was in Terry County Memorial Cemetery under the direction of Brownfield Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Bascom Morris, Lee O. Lewis, Lanis Vick, V. A. Bynum, R. E. Self, sr., and J. R. Kirksey.

Meanwhile, work on the Lions' recreation project is continuing. Bob Tobey, chairman, said that the miniature golf course will be completed within two weeks. Lights over the course were strung this week.

The softball park, located directly south of the pool, has been equipped with lights, and Jack Griggs, president of the club, said that several matched games have already been played, and that the park is in constant use.

Due to some controversy over one of the fund-raising projects for the recreation park, Dick Kendrick, chairman of the Finance committee, said this week that donations will be accepted to help defray costs of the park.

Anyone wishing to send a donation may send it to YOUTH RECREATION, care of the First National Bank, Brownfield, Texas.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

It goes without saying that since last week's rain, there are more smiling faces and smoother tempers in Terry county. I told you it would rain some time, kids.

One thing the rain does, though, is to create more flies and mosquitos, which is hardly what one could call an advantage. It should remind us all that "polio" time is now on us and that we should all do something about it. For instance, let's get busy with rake and hoe and insecticides and clean up our premises. Mayor Primm has proclaimed the period between May 22-27 as Clean Up Week in Brownfield, and special efforts will be made to get rid of all polio traps. Officials at the South Plains Health unit and city officials advise that one of the most important things to remember in cleaning up our city is to provide covers for all garbage and trash cans in the alleys. Another thing of great importance in the clean up, is stamping out all breeding places of flies and mosquitos, such as pools of stagnant water. I find that spraying my air conditioner with insecticide at least once each week cuts down on both flies and mosquitos. Anyway, please, let's all cooperate in the clean up drive and make an effort to prevent polio in Brownfield this summer.

Of course, polio is not the greatest danger to citizens of Brownfield, in particular. Many other diseases can hit you and me and anyone else here. I'm beginning to think, however, that some of the wild drivers in Brownfield will get me before any disease has a chance to. I thought perhaps that someone had a grudge against me and was just trying to run over me. After casually mentioning around, though, that I have almost been run over or up the nearest telephone pole, at least, I found that there are people too numerous to mention who have almost been run down by reckless drivers in Brownfield. I fail to understand why it is such a lark for some people to run red lights and stop signs, to scream around corners at a rate of 70 miles per hour, and to generally try to get their names in the obituary column of the local papers. The fact that most of them are quite youthful has no bearing on the subject, actually, because if they are old enough to know the first thing about driving an automobile, they are certainly old enough to know that they are flirting with trouble. The thing that they do not realize, evidently, is that they probably will not be lucky enough to kill themselves. It will be some perfectly innocent person—a child, more than likely—and they, as the drivers of the automobiles, will have to take the consequences. And if they are not punished enough by law, then, when they are older, their consciences will not let them rest. Right now, if any one of you of whom I'm speaking reads this, they will take the flippant attitude, I'm sure. But wait until the old manslaughter charge is hanging around your neck, and then laugh. I think you'll find it not quite so funny. And some of you parents who think that your child can do no wrong and think that he or she is a safe driver might do well to do some looking into the matter. One of the cars being held in suspect by local authorities just might be your family car.

Well, I guess that takes care of the "raking" for this week. Now to the other side of the picture. Dr. Gordon A. Richardson and Clovis Kendrick, who are chapter advisors to the Brownfield De Molays are certainly doing an admirable job of building the characters of the young men of Brownfield. Their membership now stands at around 35 members, and they are doing a great work. What we need is more men and women who are interested in what happens to kids in Brownfield.

While strolling down the street last week, I was quite taken with some lamps in Akers Appliance. I popped inside to get a closer look, and they have some beauties. The one that took my eye, however, was one that had a china chicken base and a striking red shade. If you are planning to add a little life to some of your rooms, you might inquire of Jewell and Jot.

This year, as last year, the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post is planning a Memorial Day ceremony. Although the program was very good last year and well attended, request of post members for flower donations was not well received. With all the beautiful flowers I've seen around town, I'm sure that you can afford to be generous with them. Please, if you do have any flowers, take them to either the Brownfield Floral or Hoy's Flowers by 3 p.m. Saturday, May 27, to be made into wreaths for the decorations of veterans' graves the next day.

Beards are still growing by leaps and bounds in preparation for the third annual Jaycee Rodeo to be held here June 22-24. All the Jaycees are as busy as hunting dogs and it promises to be a dilly this year. Don't you think it would be nice to invite any of your friends or relatives who plan to visit you some time this summer to make it about Rodeo time? That way, they can get in on the big to-do, also. Let's not be stingy about this—even if they are your in-laws, they probably like a rodeo, too.

If you haven't bought your ticket from one of the Brownfield Lions for their recreation project, go down to the swimming pool and see if you don't think they have a good idea there. I understand that, in case you don't like their ticket deal, they won't hit

 By Old He

Here we come from across Old Man River. The Old He and the Mrs. bounced out of bed last Monday some two hours ahead of regular schedule and hit the ball—the Old No. 40—1940 Chevrolet that is still rolling along like a 1950 Cadillac. Reached Crosbyton for breakfast before those birds hardly got the slumber out of their eyes. Stopped at Benjamin and saw a guy washing mud off a car. Told him he should be dog-gone glad he had mud to wash off.

We are just going to give you a few high bumps this week and fill in the crevices next week. But will say we had a delightful trip. The weather was mild, mostly cloudy and not too many cars on the road. Stopped at a roadside park ten miles east of Henrietta for lunch, through Sherman at 2 p.m., and Paris at 3:00. Ran into Hope, Ark., and in our tourist cabin before sunset.

We noticed a peculiar odor about the place, but after the proprietor explained that a Lubbock couple was his guests the night before, we were satisfied.

Another thing that we found that was satisfactorily explained was water—mostly muddy water. After seeing rivers and creeks brim full in east Texas and Arkansas, the muddy pools and sloughs running over, the Mrs. cracked: "Now I see what has become of all our rainfall. It all fell down in this country."

Drove to within a few miles east of Arkadelphia before we found any Arkansawyers that were up making coffee. This place happened to be a combination tourist court and cafe, and perhaps some of the "towerists" had awaked the natives in getting ready to hit the road.

Began to see signs—"Stop at Jim's Place"—and some gave the distance ahead. As we had observed the signs on former trips, and as Jim claimed to be a fish cooker par excellent, we determined to make the place by noon. We heard some knocks on Jim's place before reaching there, stating that he did not really serve catfish, but polliwogs, whatever they are.

But we arrived at Blackfish Lake and Jim's place a few minutes after noon. Among other things, the bill of fare called for White River Catfish. And they were just that. You received three large pieces plus french fried potatoes and pancakes. Those two negro cooks really know how to cook fish.

In most cafes in Brownfield, they put a quarter to half inch of corn meal on fish, and by the time you gouge all the meal off, you have no fish. The price was 95c plus drinks (coffee, tea or milk) and a tax they have in Arkansas. Being full and fit, we forged ahead. We were 10 miles from West Memphis, Ark., and

Our Turn to Salute

20 to the Tennessee city of Memphis.

Being at an hour when traffic was at a lull, we got through the city with little effort and rolled into Middleton about 3:30, 70 miles east of the city. Found the folks all well but hoping and praying for dry weather. Now, doesn't that sound strange to ye Terryites?

But our hopes were boosted some 100 percent by a wire from home saying it was raining out there. Rained here almost all last night and stopped planting that had just got underway. We had to get out and see if rain still looked natural. Farmers in general don't seem to be complaining about too much rain any more than not any out in west Texas. One cannot control the weather.

We are sure getting a lot of good old country cured ham. And, incidentally, some good channel catfish up to 6½ pounds. The folks here seem to think ham is an enticement to get us to visit them. Day before yesterday, a cousin mentioned that he'd cut a ham, and yesterday a man who married a grand-niece told us that he still had four or five hams—some out and eat 'em.

What with hams, fresh garden truck, fish, home-made jams and jellies, hot biscuits, etc., we are putting on weight.

See you next week.

Retail Credit Course To Be Conducted For Local Merchants

A ten-hour course in retail credit procedures for merchants and employees of Brownfield will be conducted here beginning June 5, according to an announcement by A. W. Turner. Brownfield is one of the fortunate Texas cities to be included this year in the Distributive Education training program offered by the University of Texas, Division of Extension, in cooperation with the State Board of Vocational Education. The course is being taught by Sterling S. Speake of the University extension division. The course has been acclaimed by merchants throughout the state as a very practical and interesting study of current and future retail credit problems. It deals with successful methods used by many Texas business firms in handling their charge accounts. There will be no text book used, but materials and ideas presented will be those which are in successful operation.

Mr. Turner pointed out that this course is being conducted just at the right time because of the big increase in open account and installment consumer credit. Fast changing economic and business conditions will create a tendency for merchants to sell on lower down payments and longer credit terms because of increased competition and aggressive credit sales promotion, Mr. Turner believes. He continued by saying that merchants should waste no time in getting their credit departments up to date by training employees in the correct methods of handling charge accounts.

The topics to be included in this course are as follows: current and future problems in credit; credit applications; credit interviews; investigating and evaluating the applicant; rejecting the applicant; accepting the applicant; store credit policies; credit sales promotion; credit letters; collection procedures.

The course will be conducted at the Brownfield high school each evening from 7:30 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock on June 5, 6, 7,

Mealtime MARVELS

CODDLED APPLES

There is nothing like a colorful, cool salad to spark appetites in any season. Add this new apple salad to your file of choice recipes.

Coddled Apple
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 1 1/2 cups water
 red food coloring
 1 small stick cinnamon
 6-8 small to medium apples, nuts, to garnish
 1 1/2 ounces cream cheese
 2-4 tablespoons fortified margarine curly endive or other greens

Mix the sugar, water, coloring, and cinnamon and boil about 5 minutes. The instructions on the package of coloring should be followed. Some colors are more concentrated than others. If a liquid is used, about one teaspoonful will give a deep rosy color. Peel and core apples and cook in syrup until tender and red in color. Drain and cool. When ready to serve, cream the cheese and margarine together and fill the center of the apple. Top with a blanched almond, pecan, or other nut. Garnish with endive or other greens. Serve with hot muffins and margarine.

For other tempting, nutritious food ideas, send today for your free copy of "Mealtime Marvels with Margarine," a helpful, 32-page recipe booklet in two colors. Write National Cotton Council, Box 16, Memphis, Tenn.

Loan Grains Return Growers Full Value

Unredeemed commodities covered by farmers' warehouse-storage loans which mature on April 30 may return growers more than the loan value. H. H. Harred, chairman of Terry County Production and Marketing committee, said today. Such commodities will be purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation at the higher of (1) the loan value plus interest and charges, or (2) the market value as of the close of the market on May 1.

Warehouse-storage loans which matured on April 30 included wheat, oats, barley, rye flaxseed, rice, dry edible beans, dry edible peas and lespedeza seed. As of April 25, about 250 million bushels of 1949 crop wheat were under warehouse-storage loans.

TO CHECK PRESSURE GAUGES TUESDAY A.M.

Those women who wish to have their pressure cooker gauges tested for accuracy, may bring them to the county home demonstration agent's office at 9 a.m. Tuesday, May 23. This testing will be done in the morning only. Those wishing to have this test made, bring their pressure cookers in by 9 a.m.

Members of the home demonstration clubs will test gauges in their communities later. This is the last chance to have the work done in Brownfield, since the gas in the courthouse will soon be cut off, eliminating fuel for testing.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Short and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Short visited Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moser in Colorado City Sunday.

Jordan Enters Race For County Judge

To the citizens of Terry county: Please allow me to take this means of announcing as a candidate for the office of County Judge of Terry county, subject to the Democratic primaries July 22.

Frank Jordan

I have served you in numerous capacities in the past and feel that most of you know me. Due to the fact that I am engaged in dry-land farming, I will be unable to see each one of you personally and ask for your support, but will see as many as possible between now and the date of the election.

In asking you to elect me to this office, I am not unmindful of the responsibilities that go with it.

If elected, I shall try to serve you fairly and impartially. I believe I am qualified and that with your help and cooperation I can give you a good sane, sound business administration, conducted in the same economical manner that any sound business would have to be conducted in to survive.

I guess I'm perhaps old-fashioned enough to believe that an official is the servant of the people and in asking your support for this office I shall not endeavor to mislead you by saying that I am without fault or that I never have nor ever will make mistakes. Being only human, I am endowed with the shortcomings of the average man. But I will promise to do my dead-level best to administer the duties of this office in a sincere manner and conduct it in such a way that the credit will be reflected on you who elected me.

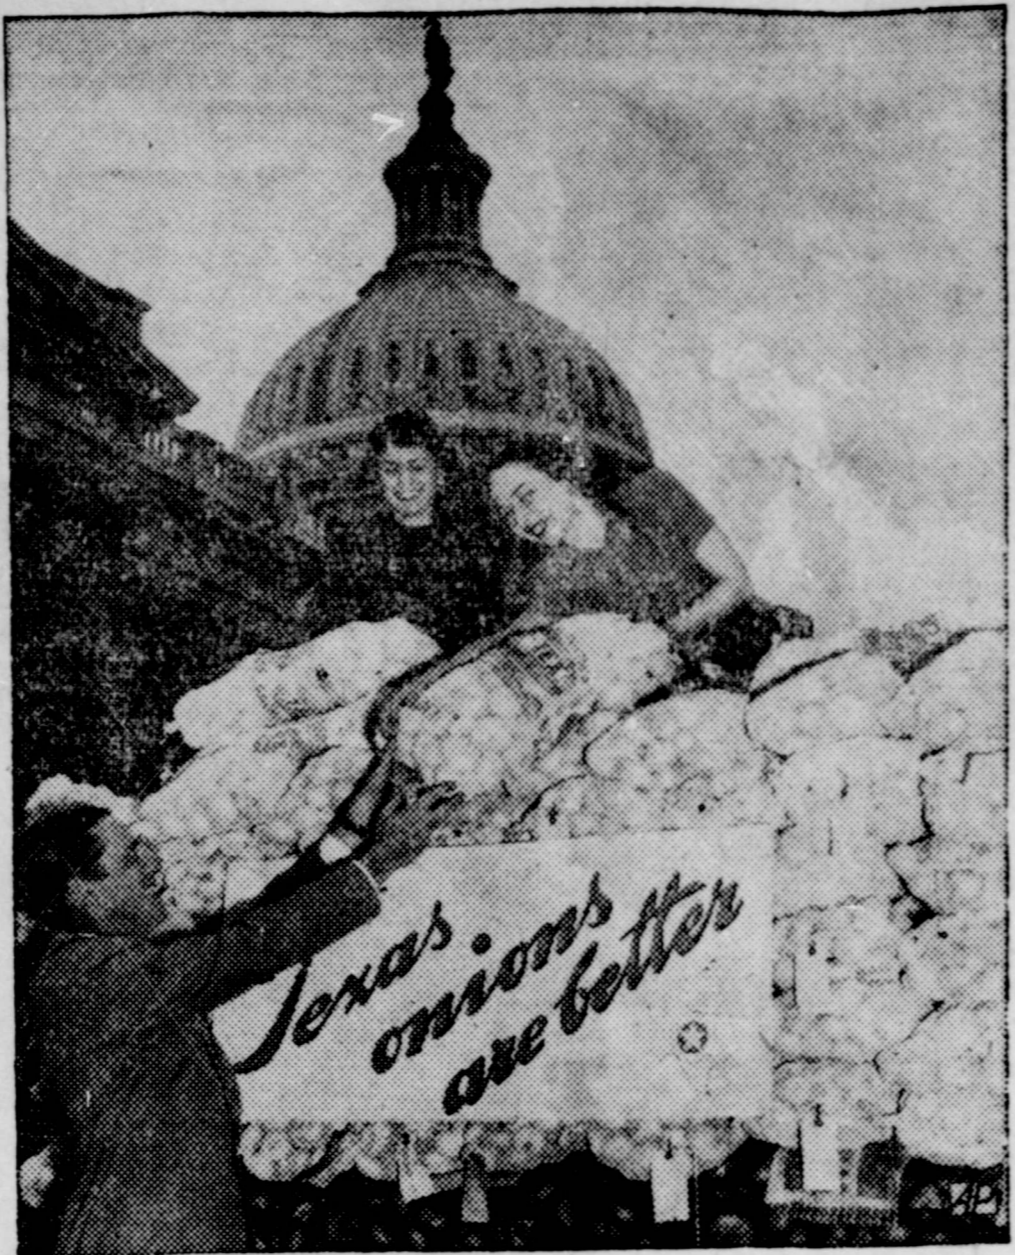

I enjoy serving humanity. I like people, regardless of their position or rating or faults.

If you see fit to elect me, I will do my duty as I see it and according to the dictates of the office. In the meantime, I earnestly solicit your vote and influence.

Sincerely,

AFTER LUNCH . . . FISH

CHICAGO—(AP)—Rudy Siefert ate his lunch in Humboldt Park and then decided to use the lagoon as a finger bowl. He dipped his hands in the water, saw something swimming close to him, grabbed it and pulled it out. It was a 31 pound carp.

Texans In Washington

By Tex Esley
AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP)—The bill vesting ownership of tidelands in the states, drafted and pushed through the House Judiciary Committee by Rep. Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls, now falls in the lap of another Texan in its rough congressional course.

It primarily will be up to Rep. E. Lyle of Corpus Christi to see that it gets through the House Rules Committee, the group which says when measures already approved by other committees can have their turn on the House floor.

Although the Rules Committee doesn't have the power it once had—power by which it, in effect, could kill a measure—it still can cause prolonged delays as well as put limitations on debate on legislation which it sends to the floor. These limitations may or may not be to a bill's advantage.

Lyle is the only Texan on the Rules Committee. Noting that the administration is opposed to the tidelands measure and that it came out of the Judiciary Committee by a 16 to 10 vote, Lyle says it can expect to run into some sharp opposition in the Rules Committee.

In spite of the fact that Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) and two or three other influential members of the Rules Committee probably will raise objections to the legislation, Lyle expresses confidence it will be reported out with a rule which will permit two or three days consideration on the House floor before a final vote is taken.

At least two or three weeks probably will elapse before it can get consideration in the House. Meanwhile, all congressmen not on the Judiciary Committee will have had an opportunity to study further the controversy between some states and the federal government over ownership of the submerged coastal lands, some of which are rich with oil.

The majority view of the Judiciary Committee was prepared by Gossett; a minority report also was prepared on the views of the ten opposition members.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kendrick and Dickie left Thursday for Houston where they will attend the state Reserve Officers Association convention and visit her mother.

Paul Bish of Colorado Springs, Colo., visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bish, last Friday.

Review Committees Move Into Action

Review committees over the state are moving into action on handling applications for review filed by producers under the provisions of Public Law 471. This is the law which provided for minimum cotton allotments of 65 per cent of the average three year planting or 45 per cent of the highest acreage planted during the past three years but not to exceed 40 per cent of the crop land on the farm.

Reports by counties on the number of appeals filed indicate a smaller volume of work for review committees than had been anticipated. Review committees will give the same careful consideration to applications for review filed under the amended law, as they have given to similar applications filed when the allotment notices were originally issued. Producers who are basing their appeal on additional cotton acreage history are required to present substantial and conclusive proof in order to secure credit for a larger cotton acreage during the base period.

Around the Studios

with Charlie Brooks

Bob Young, who stars in the NBC domestic comedy, "Father Knows Best", is currently displaying an auto-graph he collected on his recent visit to New York. It is signed, "Robert Young". Seems that Bob and his wife Betty, who were in Manhattan during Bob's campaign for the Inter-Highway Safety Committee, stepped into a cab and asked to be taken to Penn Station. They'd barely pulled away from the curb when the film and radio star suddenly caught sight of the name on the cab driver's license. Yes, it was another Robert Young!

Gorgeous Candy Jones, the famous beauty and career scout who is Director of the Conover Career Girl School, has discovered a completely new trend in career ambitions—"Movies and modeling." Candy said the other day, when she dropped over to the CBS-TV "Lucky Pup" show to view Conover alumnus Dora Brown, who has a part on the show, "used to be the two careers most of our students were absolutely set on, but now television is beginning to be rated as the top glamour job."

In "Portia Faces Life" at the moment, Walter Manning, Portia's husband is faced with a number of "snotty problems", not the least of which is that he has reason to believe his brother is in love with Portia. Accordingly, the other day Bart Robinson, who plays Walter in the CBS daytime serial, received a letter from a thoughtful fan who had a solution to his problem. Said the fan, "I have a nice cottage on Long Island Sound which you and Portia could use for a second honeymoon. I'm sure she'll forget all about Christopher (Walter's brother) by the time you go home."

On "Juvenile Jury," the MBS Sunday junior quiz show, a young guest was confronted with the problem of what to do when one's baby sister or brother proved too hard to handle. Said the guest, aged seven, "We just tell my baby sister we'll give her back to the stork and let him drop her down another chimney."

'Prince of Foxes' Showing Next Week

When director Henry King assembled his cast in Italy for Twentieth Century-Fox's historical drama, "Prince of Foxes," which comes to the Rialto next week, the roster of stars, important supporting actors, featured players and extras formed a miniature United Nations.

The first American picture to be filmed in its entirety in Italy since the end of the war became a venture into international co-operation, with virtually every country in Western Europe represented.

Even San Marino, world's tiniest republic and site for the picture's battle scenes, supplied eleven players.

The stars of this historical drama, Tyrone Power, Orson Welles and Wanda Hendrix, supported by Everett Sloane, headed the American contingent, which numbered nineteen, including several ex-GIs who had been studying in Italy.

Italy itself placed second, with a group of six actors and actresses, headed by Italian screen star Marina Berti, whose major role marks her American film debut.

England added four veteran thespians to the cast in Felix Aylmer, Leslie Bradley, Eugene Decker and James Carney. Aylmer, a prominent British Shakespearean actor, was seen by U. S. filmgoers in this country as the Archbishop of Canterbury in Laurence Olivier's film, "Henry V," and as Polonius in "Hamlet." Rounding out the international atmosphere were noted supporting actress Katina Paxinou, of Greek descent, Austrian Eva Breuer and two Russians, as well as representatives of Holland, Luxembourg, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, France, Switzerland, Tunisia, Morocco and Algeria.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. McKinney attended an insurance meeting in Dallas last week end.

High Penalty Rate On Excess Cotton

The penalty rate for cotton produced in excess of farm marketing quotas in 1950 will be 50 per cent of the parity price as of June 15, 1950, Hugh H. Harred, chairman of the Terry county PMA committee, said today. The parity price on March 15 was 30.01 cents per pound. "We would like to bring to the attention of all cotton growers that the penalty may be around 15 cents a pound," the chairman said. "This compares with a penalty of 7 to 8 cents a pound under previous quota programs. The 15 cent penalty is based on the assumption that the parity price on June 15 will not be far different from the 30.01 cents per pound which it was on March 15, 1950."

Cotton subject to penalty is designated as the "farm marketing excess" of cotton. It will be determined by multiplying the farm normal cotton yield by the acreage planted to cotton in excess of the allotment. In cases where the farmer establishes that the actual cotton yield per acre is less than the normal yield, the farm marketing excess will be reduced to the amount by which the total production exceeds the normal yield times the farm cotton acreage allotment.

Until the penalty on the farm marketing excess is paid, all cotton produced on a farm and marketed is subject to penalty, and a lien on the entire crop of cotton produced on the farm will be in effect in favor of the United States, the chairman explains. The penalty must be paid before a marketing card can be issued to a farm. In addition, the farmer who knowingly overplants the farm cotton allotment will be ineligible for cotton price support and also for any agricultural conservation payment on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cruce spent the week end at Possum Kingdom fishing.

Open House Held At Minister's New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wood held open house at the new Crescent Hill Church of Christ minister's home for members of their congregations and their other friends in Brownfield from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. Thursday, May 18.

The seven room parsonage was completed about three weeks ago, and is located on three lots owned by the Crescent Hill Church in the 200 block of East Oak St. It is directly east of the church building.

Containing more than 1600 square feet of floor space, the new home has three bedrooms, two baths, a living-dining room combination, kitchen, storage room and garage. It is constructed of brick veneer, and is a credit to the town. The total cost of the home, including the property and improvements, will be near $15,000. Of this amount, over one half has been contributed by church members within the past year.

Charlie Moore was contractor for the home. The material was furnished by the Terry County Lumber Co. The painting contract went to "Red" Brown, and the plumbing contractor was Ballard Plumbing Co.

Completion of the minister's home is but another of the many other improvements that the church has made in the past three years. It has been just three years since they moved from their crowded quarters on Main street to the beautiful new building that is located on the Lubbock road. This building, with improvements, has cost between $115,000 and $120,000. Of this amount, all but $15,000 has been retired.

Million Bushel Wheat Crop Is Indicated

Barring growing conditions from now on which are below average, the wheat crop this year will again be larger than domestic disappearance and exports, according to the latest report by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The report takes into consideration a 121-million-bushel drop in the expected winter wheat crop below last December's estimates. Continued dryness, insect infestation and acreage abandonment in the southern Great Plains are chiefly responsible for the drop to the current figure of 764 million bushels. While production of spring wheat has not been estimated, yields per seeded acre equal to the 1944-48 average should produce about 300 million bushels on the acreage farmers have reported they intended planting. Total wheat production in 1950 therefore would amount to 1,064 million bushels. With a domestic use of near 700 million bushels and a prospective 1950 carry over of about 450 million bushels, a crop of the indicated size would provide about 814 million bushels for export during the coming season and for carry over July 1, 1951. Exports of about 300 million bushels in 1950-51 would leave about 500 million in 1942 and the pre-war 1932-41 average of 235 million. Wheat prices usually start to adjust to new crop conditions after the middle of May, but the adjustment this year may be delayed because of the short crops in Texas and Oklahoma.

If the crop turns out as now indicated, however, prices for the 1950 crop will fall below the loan following harvest but should average close to it for the marketing year as a whole. Price supporting loans on the 1950 wheat crop are provided at 90 per cent of parity as of mid-June. If the parity price is the same on June 15 as on March 15, the national farm loan rate on the new crop would be about $1.93 per bushel, compared with $1.95 for the 1949 crop. The rate for No. 2 Hard Winter at Kansas City would be about $2.19 per bushel, compared with $2.20 for the 1949 crop. While loans were an important factor in domestic wheat prices before the war, beginning in early 1945 export demand, including the various foreign aid programs, became the most important price factor. New exports of wheat from the U. S. have exceeded 300 million bushels only in 1914-15, 1920-21, and each of the past four years beginning in 1945-46, when they averaged almost 450 million bushels.

Since 1948, when a near-record U. S. wheat crop was produced crops improved in importing countries, loans have a gain become an important price factor.

Service Office News

C. L. Lincoln
Terry County Service Officer

Stop! That NSLI Dividend Check OK

"My dividend check did not amount to as much as I figured it would, what will I do about it?" This is a question that service officers are faced with many times right now, and very often too. We advise the veteran to write to the VA District Office, 1114 Commerce St., Dallas 2, Texas, as the records are kept there. It's the office corresponding with the code symbol on the face of the dividend check.

We also advise the veteran when writing to the District Office to list his serial number, insurance policy number or numbers and the number of his NSLI acknowledgement card (if he still has it), enclose a letter explaining the facts, but don't send back the check itself—go ahead and cash it, but the VA says it will be a good idea however, to note the symbol on the back of the check before cashing it so that the vet will know where to write explaining his underpayment gripe.

The VA has continually stated that when a veteran has two or more NSLI policies on which dividends are due, that they would send one check covering all policies and if for some reason they failed to send it that way, to just be patient, that the other check would be coming later.

Well, it's not working that way. If the veteran has dividends due on two or more policies and receives a check for only one, it's almost a sure bet that he will not receive the other unless he writes in to the District Office and calls attention to the error. The bet is the VA central office has made the error and if they have, the account is closed as far as they are concerned and unless he lets the District Office know about it, he just won't get it. So advise the veteran to write to the VA District Office immediately, if they pay him that way. Still again, an incorrect check may be issued to the veteran and no complaint is made by him. He may

RIBS AND BARBECUE SAUCE

Succulent barbecue cooked to a brown, crisp deliciousness in hot, spicy sauce is especially good for a supper party main course, for it is a pungent delicacy, yet economical.

Ribs and Barbecue Sauce

2-3 pounds ribs
1/2 cup margarine
1 teaspoon dry mustard
dash cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon tabasco sauce
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 small clove garlic
1 tablespoon tomato sauce
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons water

Steam the ribs in a small amount of salted water for about 15 minutes. Mix all the sauce ingredients together and simmer gently. Arrange the ribs in a flat baking pan. Cover with the sauce and cook in a slow oven 300-325° F. for about one hour. Baste while cooking.

'Great Dan Patch' Now At Rialto

Millions of people too young to have known or heard of him, and millions of people who knew and revered him, will see the romantic "turn of the century" story of America's wonder horse, Dan Patch, captured in all its movement and excitement in the motion picture, "The Great Dan Patch," which was recently made in Hollywood by W. R. Frank.

The film, a United Artists release, due soon at the Rialto Theatre, co-stars Dennis O'Keefe, Gail Russell, Ruth Warwick and Charlotte Greenwood, with Henry Hull, John Hoyt, Arthur Hunnicutt and the Negro singer, Clarence Muse, in supporting roles. They all play parts based on people actually involved in the thrilling Dan Patch saga.

John Taintor Foote, famous author of horse stories, wrote and produced the film for Mr. Frank. Foote spent more than three years in research to develop his script from first hand knowledge gained by viewing old films showing races and exhibition miles paced by the wonder horse, Dan Patch. He also had access to material filed by the M. W. Savage estate, which owned the horse.

The executive producer of the picture, W. R. Frank, comes from Minnesota, and is a longtime friend of the Savage family who are also Minnesotans. Frank's first love for Dan Patch began in 1905 when he saw the horse pace the mile at the Minnesota State Fair in 1:55. In the intervening years, Frank grew up to become a prominent motion picture exhibitor and distributor, and when he came to Hollywood seven years ago in his major project was to produce a picture based on the career of the famed pacer.

Impersonating the great Dan Patch on the screen is another wonder horse called Visalia Abbe, which was discovered on the Craig Cimarron Ranch near Phoenix, Ariz. With the exception of the crooked hind legs, identification mark of Patch, Visalia Abbe resembles his famous predecessor almost minutely.

The John Taintor Foote script covers the life and times of Dan Patch from the time he was foaled by Zelia, and carries Patch through his career until his last exhibition mile in Los Angeles in 1910.

Thomas Believes Lighter Deep-break Rigs Will Be Success

Duggan Thomas, of the Wellman community, was a caller at the Herald Tuesday morning, Thomas being in the deep-breaking business and the Herald being firm believers in deep-breaking being about the most beneficial thing that has happened since its change from a ranching to an agricultural area, all of the conversation was about deep-plowing, various types of equipment and the article appearing in the Herald of last week.

Thomas uses a heavy-duty John Deere diesel tractor to power his plow, which was built according to his own ideas and specifications. The article last week left the impression with several that Grady Goodpasture was the inventor of the plow and the front extension to the tractor. Such was not the case and both Goodpasture and the Herald regrets that such an impression was created.

Thomas is fully as enthusiastic as Murphy May, whose plow was described in last week's article about this type of plowing equipment. He states that while he cannot plow as many acres per day as the bigger rigs, the difference in production is more than made up by the much smaller initial cost and subsequent economy of operation.

Thomas had his equipment in town this week for inspection of the tractor by John Deere engineers. It was parked at the rear of Johnson Implement Co., and attracted considerable attention from passers.
