Beach Beauty Has Shining Topknot

"When two weeks with pay come their way, two out of three head for the sea," says Katherine Potter, Director of Procter & Gamble's Beauty and Grooming Service. She's talking about the vacation plans of the working girls who close their typewriters, shut up their files and wash the carbon off their hands for fourteen days of sand, sun and sea.

Miss Potter sends them off with her blessings — coupled with some sound advice on how to stay just as beautifully groomed as ever, so that those vacation days will pay off in new friendships and happy memories. And there won't be any hang-over from lazy beauty care to be paid for later.

For there's no doubt about it, the seashore offers problems in beauty. Your figure is something you've probably taken care of ahead of time. But hair is something else again. Salt water and swimming-pool chlorine do it no good.

Your best bet, says Miss Potter, is to tuck into your suitcase a tube of special detergent shampoo. Then, when you come back from a swim and are under the shower, use this fragrant green jelly to make your hair fresh and clean again. You'll find it lathers instantly even when your hair is full of salt water. Result: a sweet and shiny top-knot instead of something that looks like seaweed on a clam.

Don't be afraid of washing your hair too often. Miss Potter's advice is to wash it every day rather than to leave it sticky from swim water. She explains that hair is similar in composition to your finger nails. Washing hands as often as you do doesn't hurt your nails, so it stands to reason that frequent washing won't harm your hair.

If you are planning to be in the sun for long periods of time, says Miss Potter, keep your head covered. Also wear the simplest of hairdos. They're tops for vacation fun.

Cruces Have Fine Family Reunion

July the 9th, the Cruce family clan gathered from the four parts of Texas to the J. L. Cruce second home down on Possum Kingdom lake, for a family reunion, the first since the get-together at Avery some five years ago.

The local J. L. Cruces were the host this time, came home Saturday. They stated that 60 were present, and that the whole shebang had all the fish they could consume, and had to throw some cooked fish away after the company left. One family came from San Antonio, and another from Texarkana, they being the ones who came farthest.

A photo was made of the group, but Luther and Bess had not received the print when they talked with us.

Tenn. Boy Making Flying Tour of Texas

By his lone self, with his own ice box with food compartment, Francis Simpson of Middleton, Tenn., was here last Friday, really making a flying trip through Texas, and seemed to be having a great time. He had left Dallas at 11 a.m. Thursday, spent the night at Hereford which he made via Amarillo, and was in Brownfield at 3 p.m. Of course he had to see Phillip Rogers who lives on one of the Waggoner farms near the Salt works, and the writer conducted Simpson out there, and found Phillip—you guessed it—at the back of the field.

Francis comes from an old and highly respected family of west Tennesseans. His dad is president of the Bank of Middleton, and a property owner of Tennessee and east Texas. Francis himself is cashier, and informed us that he wrote fire and crop insurance on the side—as if he needed any extra money.

Although Middleton is a small town, less than 1000 people, the bank has deposits of more than a million dollars. We imagine largely augmented by the huge Tennessee Gas Co. plant 2 miles south of town. While pay checks of the employees come from Houston, Texas, they are largely deposited in the bank at Middleton.

The above bank has been hijacked twice in the past four years, the first one arrested in the high school attic room after the robbery. It took a couple of days to round up the three that robbed it the last time which was last fall. Practically all money was recovered in both instances.

San Angelo was his destination Friday, with Austin, Houston and probably San Antonio Saturday, and on to New Orleans and home.

CORNING UP FOR THREE YEARS ON THE HERALD

Among our oldest living readers, J. S. Corning was in this week and moved up his subscription three years, on our three for $5 rate. Mr. Corning has been living out on his farm 2 miles north-west of the city some 35 years.

Recently he came in and ordered the Herald for three years to go to one of his daughters.

Mrs. Eldora White spent last week visiting in San Angelo with her son, Ted and wife. They also fished at Buchanan Lake last week.

Gomez HD Club Met With Mrs. A. Webb

The Gomez Home Demonstration club met Thursday, July 13, at the home of Mrs. Alton Webb.

During the business meeting it was decided to contribute to a scholarship for a 4H girl and to cooperate in plans for the Lions club election party.

Miss Helen Dunlap gave a demonstration on canning and discussed new developments in canning methods.

Cokes and cookies were served to several members; two new members, Mrs. Wes Key and Mrs. Tyler Martin; and the following visitors: Mrs. Earl Brown, Mrs. Denver Kelly, Miss Dunlap and Miss Imogene Key.

The next meeting will be held July 27 in the home of Mrs. J. C. Wooley.

Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. DuBose over the week end were their daughter, Mrs. Roy Wilson and Mr. Wilson of Guymon, Okla., and their son, Raymond DuBose and family of Amarillo.

Mrs. Howard McIlroy in San Antonio over the week end.

Mary Ann Jones is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. H. Patterson, and family in Crane this week.

Guy Hubbard of San Angelo is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Ed Williams and Mr. Williams.

A LETTER OF APPRECIATION FROM C O C

Recently the Herald received a very nice letter, not a circular affair, but personal, from the Chamber of Commerce, signed by Al Muldrow, the president, commending this publication for help in putting over many things for the community by informing the public about the plans.

What we have done has been donated willingly, and with the hopes, that it will benefit the town and the people, as well as people who trade in Brownfield. We appreciate the letter just the same, and we promise, if possible to do more in the future than in the past for our fine community.

Telling You How To Vote Saturday

For the past several elections, a few of our exchanges have had a front page article telling the readers how the editor aimed to vote in the state election, leaving the reader to make his own choice in district, county and precinct candidates.

While the editors skillfully played up those in the state election they were going to support, there was also a veiled suggestion left to the reader that they would be wise in following suit.

While we are aware of the fact that a big percent of voters take no thought, nor make no study of candidates until election day, we have never made suggestions. On rare occasion we do speak up for folks like George Mahon who, as we all know, is unable to make a campaign himself.

We have always considered the fact that if a person goes to the polls and has to shut their eyes and guess who to vote for, it should shame them so much that they will from that time on take some time and trouble to qualify as an intelligent voter.

We are not telling you how to vote on any office from constable to governor. You paid your poll tax, and how to vote is your business.

City Secretary J. H. Aschenbeck said this week that the city is being completely covered with the city's new DDT fogging machine. Aschenbeck said that since the fogging is being done at night the spray is more effective in killing flies and mosquitos.

With the numerous rains that have been dumped on the city recently, Aschenbeck said that there are several pools of standing water in draws in and around the city limits. He said that oil is being poured on these pools in an effort to stamp out mosquitos breeding places, and that the results so far are encouraging.

Paul Gave America Christianity

PAUL'S journey into Europe from Asia, prompted by a vision, was the vital beginning of the organized movement of Christianity. We owe the eventual spread of Christianity to America to Paul's zealous obedience to that man of Macedonia, who appeared in Paul's dreams, saying, "Come over into Macedonia and help us."

It is a pity that Paul is not here in this country today to champion the cause he pioneered. Without a doubt, he would have weighed the Gospel against all forces of modern civilization and acknowledged it as the only hope of a world torn by fear, violence and uncertainty.

It is certain that Paul, founder of Christianity, would have hurled the question, "What are you doing to send and spread the gospel to others?" at our modern-day mid-century civilization.

There are still dark places in the world that can only be enlightened by missionaries who display the enterprise that won Paul his success and fame. Like the man of Macedonia, truth-hungry peoples abroad are uttering the cry, "Come over and help us."

Those of us who doubt that their need is pressing are surely unobservant and unacquainted with the world's realities.

Paul's crossing into Europe, which resulted in the Epistles, should remain a constant example of what can be achieved as a servant of the Master. And for those who would be truly prepared to shoulder the trying responsibilities of a missionary, the most effective training course is a thorough reading of the Acts and Paul's Epistles.

They contain some of the finest and most revealing pages in Paul's life, a story of sacrifice and loving toil, for which we are even now grateful.

Mahon Unable To Leave Duties For Campaign

Under date of July 13th, the Herald had a personal letter from Congressman George Mahon, who represents this the 19th Congressional District. In that letter he stated that as much as he wished to be home and make a personal campaign, that was impossible. The reason of course is obvious—the Korean war.

As per his statement in this paper two weeks ago, he will appreciate it very much if his friends will take care of his campaign this year, and he believes he can absolutely depend on them to see that this is done in his absence.

We would therefore suggest that old friends of George Mahon tell friends who have perhaps moved here from another district, or state, and do not know Mahon, to vote for him.

We believe George Mahon is sacrificing to stay on the job when the nation is threatened, and we believe his patriotism should be rewarded by a big heavy vote for him Saturday.

MATT WAS IN WITH HIS "HOSS" PULLMAN

Matthew (Big Boy) Williams drove his car up in front of the Herald and Nelson Pharmacy one day last week, with his "hoss" pullman attached. We tried to run him out of town, but he kept yelling something—probably cursing us in Mexican.

Anyway, his pullman has two windows in front so that the poor animal can look out in front and see when Matt is fixing to leave the highway when he drops off to sleep along the road. This gives the horse or cow, whatever Matt is airing out, a chance to brace themselves.

Matt, like a lot of the other old time Yoakumites, makes himself at home here in Brownfield, and the natives like it that way, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Duncan, Richard and Martha Carol, spent the week end with his mother Mrs. Rosa Duncan, at Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Charleste DuBose returned Saturday from Amarillo, where she had been visiting her brother, Raymond DuBose and family.

Icebox Recipe Keeps Kitchen Cool

Dessert Delight Needs No Cooking

BY GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Staff Writer

WHETHER it's a canasta party on the porch or just a friendly gabfest, something to eat is in order. On hot summer days or evenings, you want something that can be made far in advance, so there's no last-minute fussing in the kitchen. Why not serve a refrigerator dessert such as this Icebox Pudding.

Made with layers of crunchy corn soya shreds and a pineapple-nut mixture, it's good eating for warm weather. There's no cooking involved, therefore the kitchen will be cool. This dessert is attractive when cut in squares and served with a topping of whipped cream and a mint-flavored cherry.

CEREAL, PINEAPPLE and nut icebox pudding for the porch party.

Weimhold Winding Up Campaign Now

Forrest Weimhold, Levelland business man, was in Brownfield this week winding up his campaign for State Representative of the 119th district.

"It has really been a pleasure renewing old acquaintances and making new friends throughout the nine-county district," Weimhold said. "My campaign is going splendidly and it is encouraging because I find that the people of the 119th district feel that we need another seasoned business man to represent this great district," he added.

Weimhold is a graduate of Tech, and overseas veteran of World War II, and has been actively engaged in the newspaper business in this area for more than 14 years. At present he is publisher of The Herald at Levelland and owner of radio station KLVT, Levelland.

LOCKETTVILLE GIN MAN VISITS THE HERALD

J. H. Robertson, manager of the Lockettville Gin on the Brownfield-Levelland highway, just over in Hockley county, was a pleasant caller at the Herald office last week. His object was selling insect poison, but gave the writer a pressing invitation to visit him during some of our rounds.

Mr. Robertson stated that he had several thousand dollars worth of insect poison in storage, and that he bought early before there might be a possibility of the manufacturer weakening his product by substitution or fillers.

His appeal is particularly to farmers in north central Terry and south Hockley, who may wish to get their poison as near home as possible.

Dr. Johnny Andrews has returned from Amarillo, where he took the place of a vacationing optometrist. Johnny says he likes Amarillo. So far he has not decided on a location of his own.

WEIMHOLD BOOSTER HERE WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Forrest Weimhold, wife of the publisher of the Herald-Sun newspapers at Levelland, accompanied by their circulation manager, C. C. Comstock, were here Wednesday in the interest of the candidacy of Mrs. Weimhold's husband for Representative of the 119th district.

They were making their final roundup before the election Saturday. While optimistic, they are making no predictions, stating Jack Stricklin Jr. returned Monday from Denison where he visited in the home of his wife's parents over the week end. The family will remain there for a week or two longer. Had pretty good fishing luck, he stated.

Miss Carol Jones of Lamesa is a guest of Miss Sue Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Acker this week.

BRIDAL ARRAY

Lovely Teri Keane, of NBC's "Life Can Be Beautiful," poses in the glamorous gown she wore for her marriage to radio actor John Larkin, of "Right To Happiness." The two radio stars were wed on a Saturday, had weekend honeymoon and then were back at the studios for their respective programs on Monday. But they still had time for one of the most memorably picturesque weddings of the season. Teri's gown is of satin and tulle, with an overdress of Chantilly lace, the full ballerina-length skirt buoyed out by a crinoline. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis, and wore a filmy tulle veil on her hair.

Stunts & Stuff

By Bess Ritter

SERVE "bull's-eyes" to the gang when they congregate at your house for an "after the movies are over" snack. Prepare the bread by cutting a hole in the center of each slice. Melt some butter in a large skillet. Now add the slices. After dropping a carefully-broken egg in each cavity, sprinkle with pepper, salt and paprika. Now flip your "pancakes" over, fry for a few minutes, and serve hot.

For "something good," pour a small can of fruit salad in the freezing tray of the refrigerator. Let it stay until it gets mushy. Pile into tall sherbet glasses and serve topped with whipped cream.

Trick Tube Fools Audience

THE simplest trick is always the best; easiest to perform, hardest to solve. This one uses a 12-inch cardboard tube, a piece of black magic thread (that's the black magic) and a table tennis ball.

Make the tube yourself by rolling up a piece of thin cardboard into a cylinder about 1 1/4 inches in diameter. Paste the edge down carefully, and paint the tube a dazzy-crazy pattern to add more mystery to the act.

The trick is this: Hold the tube so your audience can see it is empty. Then you take the table tennis ball and say, "I will now drop this ball through the tube—thus!"

But when you drop the ball in the tube it falls to go through. Pretending to be amazed, you explain that you must have forgotten the magic words the ball requires. Then you cry: "Odz-zo-zil Hi-ah! Hi-ah!" Immediately the ball drops through.

The secret? The piece of black thread has been passed through the middle of the tube. It is held by a knot on one side of the tube, and passed through a hole in the other side. Before you drop the ball into the tube you hold the thread tightly with your finger or thumb.

Days at Home

UNLESS you have a summer job or you are going to camp, these are the weeks that you see more of your family than at any other time of the year. What are you contributing to the family fund of pleasure?

Dick does not drive the family car because he is not old enough. But he washes the car regularly and when he asks Dad for an evening spin to the lake with some of his chums along, he's asking for privileges in a pleasure he helps to maintain.

At a well-conducted camp, each camper does his share of K. P., entertaining and helping. It ought to be the same at home.

Kitty howled for a backyard playroom and no one in the family listened. Kitty grew tired of howling. One cool morning she donned jeans, a faded polo shirt and set doggedly to work. She started clearing weeds in the backyard. Her older brother, Bud, watching her, offered to roll the ground to make it level. An uncle who owned a construction company saw their efforts and said he'd bring them odd squares of black and white tile for whatever purpose they could put them to.

Kitty and Bud constructed a giant-size checker board with those tiles. By this time Dad grew interested. In his basement workshop he cut out and polished the round disks to serve as checkers and he made a couple of sticks to handle the disks. Mother put in her two cents' worth by painting one set of 12 checkers red, the other set black. The outdoor checker-board became a daily source of pleasure to the family and their friends. Kitty says she is starting another backyard project this summer for, as she discovered, family fellowship means family fun.

Courtesy, kindness, a willingness to do your part can make a home a happy place in which to live. It is decidedly worth your effort to make it that kind of a place. Now, when you are at home a little more than usual, would be a whinging time to start.

Terry Has Some Mighty Fine Crops

Saw considerable of old Terry Sunday, and sized up the crops. Had been hearing about how good they were in places, so decided to kill a bit of time and burn a bit of gas before it is rationed—if any—and see the lay of the land. Attended the Church of Christ at Wellman, as we had been invited to see some of the improvements they had made.

But none of the members were on hand that had invited us, so we just heard a mighty fine sermon by their youthful minister, and came home. Will say, however, that they have built a nice addition, which we understand will be used for class rooms. Wellman section had been hailed out one time, and we understand got it in the neck again Sunday night. They have been very unlucky in that line, but, hurray, they have an oil well—a good one—and two others to start almost immediately.

Saw Northwest, North and East Terry

Started out Sunday afternoon to really see some of the crops or as many of them as possible from highways and F-M roads. Gomez community certainly has the crops, but the north portion of the Johnson community showed lack of rain up to within the last few days, but they will come out of it fast now. Pool and Needmore also have good crops with very little blowouts.

Went on from Needmore to Meadow, and found most of the crops well along and cotton doing fine. Some feed late, but will likely make before a freeze or frost. In all the rounds we found most fields in a high state of cultivation. However, some are quite weedy, but the farmers seem to be after them with all available machinery and tools.

At Meadow, turned southwest on highway to Brownfield until the juncture of it and Challis road was reached, turned south on dirt road to Jess Smith place. Somebody is working Jess' place, by the way. Turned east toward the Pleasant Valley section, as we had not been in that area in some time. Had a chat with the A. A. Olivers and found they had a good crop. Mr. Oliver stated that he had found no insect damage as yet, but had not examined too close.

Following this short call, we followed the neighborhood roads back through the Pleasant Valley section to the Tahoka highway. Lots of fine growing crops that have received plenty moisture. In some places that had blown out, the land had been replanted in early maturing maize, and in a few more weeks, the whole face of the earth will be green in old Terry.

There are also some mighty good crops out in the vicinity of the Pioneer Salt Works, although up to Friday their rain had been shy. They have had some showers since then.

Something ought to be DONE . . .

DOES YOUR BUSINESS suffer from too much parking in too little space? Do you believe something should be done?

You can kick about it to the right people and in the right place if you have your kicker's license. A membership in your chamber of commerce assures you of an audience. You can kick and the chances are that something will be done because that's what a chamber of commerce is for. And you don't have to be a big fellow, either. Yours may be the smallest business in town but you can speak your piece with the biggest of them.

The do-something men have found results come with teamwork. You kick about parking and your fellow members help you straighten it. A fellow member kicks about housing, playgrounds, fire prevention or something else and you help him.

To the Voters Of Terry County

I would like to say that having been in the county for 30 years, and spending 27 of that time on the farm, naturally I am looking for a lighter job. Was Daughter of Late Editor Gilliland

An interesting couple visited the Herald Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Carter, of Route 1, out of Seagraves. However, the Carters live over in Terry county, near the Carbon Black plant. They had let their Herald expire and were in to renew. Both remarked that they liked our no holds barred style of writing.

We learned that Mrs. Carter was the daughter of the late Editor Gilliland, one of the oldest as well as the most able writers west Texas ever had. Mr. Gilliland started the Baird Star, established about 1880, when the T. & P. reached Baird. She remembers that she began to help around the office of the Star as a child, as soon as she could maneuver a broom.

In such a case, people like Mrs. Carter that got the odor of printers ink in their system in childhood, just have to call at a printing plant now and then for old time memory's sake. Call again, folks.

UNION PASTOR TO TEACH AT WELLMAN

Rev. B. H. Baldwin, Baptist minister at Wellman, in company with Earl Cornett of Union, were callers Saturday. Rev. Baldwin wished to become a regular reader of the Herald. He will continue as pastor of the Union Baptist church, and at the same time teach social science in the Wellman school.

Last year, Rev. Baldwin taught in the Cooper, Lubbock county school, and pastored the Union church. He will be much nearer his church and school work this year.

The Herald not only welcomes Rev. Baldwin to Terry county, but also as a new reader.

Miss Nancy Stricklin, of Cleburne, who intended to visit her uncle, A. J. and other relatives here for a few weeks, had to cut her visit to less than a week. Her dad and mother had to take their vacation sooner than they expected, down on the Texas coast.

Fishing at Port Aransas last week were Harmon Howze, Everett Latham and Clovis Kendrick.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Corcoran and children of Alpine spent the week end with her brother, Joe Shelton and family.

D. A. BANDEEN RESIGNS AS WTCC HEAD

D. A. Bandedeen, for 20 years general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, resigned Friday. He gave his health as the reason. The WTCC executive board accepted the resignation and voted to offer Bandedeen an advisory post with WTCC at a minimum salary of $300 a month. His present salary, which Bandedeen says is "about $10,000" a year, will continue through September. WTCC President J. M. Willson of Floydada said the executive board had no successor to Bandedeen in mind, and it would be some time before one was named.

Neill Makes A Final Statement

Filing from one to three and four criminal cases per day, and discussing and investigating that many more, that do not develop into a case, requires my constant presence in the office, hence unable to make usual person to person canvass, so use his method as final expression. It isn't hard nor heavy work, I can do it, but it is continuous. All the duties of the County Attorney, is in the office.

I have now served as County Attorney a little over 18 months, 567 days. Have lost only seven days, those because of personal illness and death in my family. I'm on the job six days per week, including Saturday afternoons. During this time we have handled some 1100 criminal cases in Justice Court, over 100 in County Court, paying into the county treasury over $23,000.00 in fines and cost. Of the county court cases, there were 24 liquor law violations; 40 driving while drunk; 25 bad check convictions, others miscellaneous. Report of state liquor control board shows Terry county above the average in convictions of liquor cases, with other counties of same population.

I filed initial charges of thirty felony cases, turned over to the grand jury, resulting in indictments of all but two. Later in the District Court, one conviction and two acquittals by jury, the rest were pleas of guilty. We have adopted the federal plan of not filing cases until we get positive proof, which is required by law and the jury, before a conviction will be had, or stand. When we obtain such proof the defendant knows it, sees the futility of contesting it, and pleads guilty, pays off, the county gets the money with minimum expense, hence our income is up and expenses down. Through it all the taxpayer should be considered.

Bootlegging and bad checks have existed ever since those laws were passed. They are no worse in Terry county now than in any previous year, term or administration, nor in any other counties on the great Plains. We have changed governors, legislatures district and county officials every two and four years, yet crime goes on. There is near 1000 people per year killed by automobiles, still we "step on the gas." In spite of the death of Jesus, the efforts of millions of Christian workers spending millions of dollars in church work, sin goes on. There is no crime wave prevalent in Terry county. Nothing is out of hand or amiss. There is no necessity for a change in the County Attorney's office or its policies. Why make one? "Let George do it" another term. I will indeed be very grateful and appreciate any and all votes I may receive.

Very respectfully,
GEO. W. NEILL

Several Miles Farm To Market Roads To Be Built

AUSTIN July 21 (AP)—The State Highway Department called for bids July 18 and 19 on construction projects expected to cost approximately $6,000,000.

Included are 333 miles of farm-to-market roads, expected to account for half of the total cost.

Federal aid primary roads and other projects included in the letting would improve about 65 miles of main trunk highways in the state system.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said the department has placed 9,000 miles of rural or farm roads under the wheels of traffic since the close of World War II. Funds are set aside for another 7,000 miles, he said.

Over 2,200 miles of new farm roads have been put under construction in the first six months of this year, he said.

Roads to be built in Terry county are all Farm-Market. Included is the cut-off from the Seagraves highway, southwest of town, northward some three miles to a

Also a farm-market road, beginning on highway 137 seven miles southeast of Brownfield, going east via the Union school plant, 10.5 miles, and one mile south to New Moore, just over in Lynn county.

This will open up a lot of additional trade for Brownfield, as the new paved road will make it convenient for a lot of farm people in extreme southeast Terry and southwest Lynn county, to get to Brownfield.

'Our Responsibility In the Matter'

"The prediction that the Supreme Court decision in the Sweatt case would have far reaching repercussions is already beginning to be borne out. An action against the Euleess (Tex.) Independent School District brought by Negro parents in behalf of their children has been decided in their favor by the U. S. District Court in Fort Worth. The court held that the Euleess district must provide equal facilities for its Negro residents (no matter how few in number), or (inferentially) admit them to its white schools. This is a blow for the system of segregation of greater magnitude than the Sweatt case. It means that, district by district, Negroes must be offered equal educational facilities and opportunities. Segregation in education in 17 southern states can hardly survive this blow if Negroes push their full advantage to the full equalization facilities and opportunities from the first grade up, from the college level down, in every school district in the south immediately would bankrupt the region if the equalization was attempted within the segregated pattern."

The above editorial was taken from "The Informer," a Negro newspaper published at Houston. So, you admirers of the little man from Missouri just as well prepare to have the Negroes enter your school, churches and society.

Weston Cites Trend Against Game Hogs

The Hill country of Texas, through increased conservation sentiment and better cooperation by the courts, is pointing the way to better wildlife protection, according to an article in the current "Texas Game and Fish" magazine.

The author, Fred Weston of San Antonio, vice-president of the Texas Wildlife Federation, writes that universal adoption of the Hill country movement "will mark the beginning of a downward trend in game law violations in Texas."

Weston emphasizes that "conviction for game law violations must not be considered the ultimate goal of game and fish conservation." "Rather," he goes on, "it is the prevention of violations with which we should be primarily concerned. Sincerity of conservation beliefs is one, and sure punishment is another."

Polio Precautions Given By Officer

The South Plains Health unit reports that there have been six cases of poliomyelitis during the year in its five-county area. Two of these cases are from Terry county, and one case from Gaines county within the last two weeks.

Despite the lack of definite preventive for this tragic disease, there are a few simple rules of hygiene which may help parents in guarding their children against polio, according to Dr. Frank P. Miller, director of the unit. These are the general practice of cleanliness, avoidance of new contacts, avoid getting overtired, avoid being chilled, do not go swimming in polluted water, call your doctor at the first sign of anything suspicious. These signs may be outwardly innocent, such as slight nausea, moderate increase in temperature, general fatigue, sore throat or irritability.

"The most important of all the six points listed above," Dr. Miller asserted, "is that the family doctor be called in at once. The value of early medical attention and treatment of even slight attacks of infantile paralysis cannot be over-emphasized. There is a good deal of hope in the fact that the disease is not always crippling. Only a few children under the age of 15 years are susceptible to polio, and in this age-group, only one child in 300 contacts clinical polio. With these points in mind, there is little reason for parents to become panic-stricken at an impending epidemic."

Carr Supports Local Control Of Our Underground Water

Waggoner Carr, who has represented the people of Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley and Cochran counties in the state courts as prosecuting attorney was in Brownfield this week in the interest of his campaign for State Representative.

Carr, 31, has led vigorous prosecution against the post war crime wave in this district. When he was elected County Attorney of Lubbock county in 1948, plans had already been made for open gun warfare between rival criminal gangs. His relentless prosecution of members of these gangs has prevented these plans from being carried out, thus resulting in a savings of lives and thousands of dollars to the people of this area.

In his campaign for State Representative, Waggoner Carr has emphasized the importance of the legislature to this 119th District.

"The 52nd session of the Texas Legislature will be one of tremendous importance," Carr stated. "The matter of redistricting the state will be one of concern to all the people of Texas and the job should and must be done equitably for both rural and urban areas."

Carr strongly supports local control of our underground water, elimination of government waste and duplication, better and more farm to market roads, the veterans land program, soil conservation and conservation of our natural resources, and submission for a vote of the people on the question of removal of the constitutional limitation on welfare payments.

"It cannot be over-emphasized that the people of this area must work together in solving their state problems. Every person must be, and will be, fairly represented regardless of where he lives," Carr stated.

Carr has been a long time resident of this district and is a graduate of Texas Tech.

Texans In Washington

 Re. J. M. Combs of the Sabine-Neches district will tell you that the new tax bill represents five months of hard work by the 25 members of the powerful house Ways and Means committee. He is the only Texan on the committee.

"It isn't a perfect bill," says the friendly gray haired former judge and educator, "but we think it is the fairest legislation that could be worked out and still not substantially change the amount of revenue to the government."

The bill provides the first major revision in general taxes since the wartime excise levies were imposed. The measure cuts excise taxes by about one billion dollars a year, reducing the rates on such service and items as transportation, picture shows and cosmetics. In come taxes are raised on large corporations to make up some of this loss.

One loophole plugging provision would impose levies on unrelated business incomes of educational, charitable and labor organizations. An example was the case of a large eastern university which had been bequeathed a soft drink bottling company in the south.

"It's hard to imagine how many angles must be considered before you make any change in a tax statute," Combs added. "Therefore, we held hearings so every affected individual or company could present views."

The Texan was one of the leaders in the committee's action in turning down the Truman administration's request for reduction of the oil depletion allowance rate from 27 1/2 to 15 percent.

Every taxpayer in Texas would have been adversely affected by the proposal, Combs said, adding that it would have slowed oil and

New Flight Training Application Forms

The Veterans Administration has issued a set of affidavit forms for GI Bill flight training which should simplify training procedures for applying for the training and at the same time speed up the handling of applications.

One of the forms is for use of the veteran who desires flight training. It allows ample space for his reasons why the training would be useful to him in connection with earning a living.

The other forms are to be filled out by the "competent disinterested persons" required to submit affidavits supporting the veteran's claims. Both sets of forms are to be notarized before being submitted.

Public Law 266, effective Aug. 24, 1949, established the affidavit system for GI Bill flight training. Under that law, the VA will accept the veteran's affidavit showing need for the training if supported by corroborating affidavits of two competent disinterested persons in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

Veterans, however, still may apply by submitting complete justification that learning to fly will be in connection with their present or future business or occupation.

Before the flight training affidavit forms were issued, the VA said, a number of veterans had submitted papers which actually were not affidavits and therefore could not be accepted. This necessitated corresponding with the veterans to get things straightened out—a time consuming process.

The new forms, available at all VA offices, should eliminate delays of this nature.

Home Loans For World War II Veterans
 Unremarried widows of veteran and who died as the result of service in World War II are made eligible for GI home, farm and business loans under instructions issued by the Veterans Administration to its field offices.

Such unremarried widows became eligible for VA guaranteed loans as the result of one of several amendments to the GI loan provisions contained in the recently-enacted Housing Act of 1950.

Eligibility requirements for such widows to receive GI loan guarantees in general parallel those governing death compensation payable to widows of World War II veterans.

The veteran must have served in the armed forces at some period between Sept. 16, 1940, and July 25, 1947, and his death must have been a result of service while on duty or service-connected causes following discharge under conditions other than dishonorable.

GI home, farm or business loans are made by private lending institutions, with VA guaranteeing the lender against loss on a portion of the loan.

One of the recent amendments authorizes VA to make direct loans to eligibles for home purchases after July 19, 1950 in localities where mortgage financing at 4 per cent interest is not available.

Polio Is No Occasion for Panic

Austin — State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox has turned the bright light of optimism on the heretofore dark picture of polio in Texas.

Observing that the state's 1000 cases of polio since the year's beginning has occurred among a population of 7 1/2 million people, the health official Thursday deplored "the attitude of hysteria that polio creates in a community."

That didn't mean people should not be concerned, the doctor commented, for a case of illness in any form is good reason for great concern.

"I'm talking about the fear that keeps a person or a whole community from thinking straight. Of course each case of polio is an individual tragedy for the family; panic simply is not justified."

He doesn't want to encourage complacency either, the state health officer said, adding:

"Every clear-thinking effort must be made to keep every home, every community, every vacation camp consistently clean and sanitary. Briefly, elimination of fly and insect breeding places, personal cleanliness, and getting milk, water and food from safe, approved sources will aid in preventing a number of communicable diseases."

National statistics, Dr. Cox asserted, show good reason for optimism in most cases of polio. According to the figures, from 40 to 60 per cent of all victims recover completely and can do anything they choose.

From 25 to 40 per cent recover with only minor disability, and can, within very wide limits, lead perfectly normal lives. From 15 to 20 per cent are more severely handicapped, and 5 to 10 per cent terminate fatally.

"It all goes to show that polio is actually a minor cause of illness, and an even less significant cause of death," when compared to certain other communicable diseases," the health officer concluded.

Dr. W. A. Roberson, Dr. Gordon Richardson and Lee Allen returned last week from a fishing trip to Port Aransas.

gas operations with a resulting loss of general income as well as revenue to the state.

MARBLE MARVEL — After winning local and state elimination trials, 13-year-old Matthew LaMere picked up his marbles and left his home in Great Falls, Mont., to compete in the national tournament at Asbury, N. Texan Develops New Epilepsy Treatment

New hope has been offered to America's half million sufferers of epilepsy by a new drug discovered by James J. Spurlock, professor of chemistry at North Texas State College, Denton.

The new drug, a complex chemical compound, has shown considerable promise in the control of epileptic convulsions since its introduction to the medical which was named Thianon Sodium.

Dr. Spurlock's compound differs from diphenylhydantoin, which has been widely used in the control of convulsions, because it is derived from thiophene, a relatively new synthetic which has gained importance in recent years because of its use in the manufacture of certain antihistamine drugs.
