Down in Cameron county of which the city of Brownville is the county seat, the county Democratic convention went on record as "unqualifiedly endorsing the Truman administration." There fore they, those Democrats are unqualifiedly for: The steal of the Texas tidelands from our school children. A moron knows that Truman vetoed a bill returning the tidelands to the states. They stand also, for the FEPC which HST has striven strenuously to push through congress. They endorse the repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, that the great majority of Texans regardless of party affiliation are in favor of retaining. They approve the fumbling of Truman, Acheson and Johnson in making ready to repel the north Korean Reds, and sending American troops in with rifles and light motors to stop the hordes from the north with big tanks, heavy artillery and other modern equipment. The selection of Mr. Truman of his "cronies" for high positions in the government. Continuation of the Pendegast machine in Missouri, and the adoption of its policies in Washington. Lastly, they endorse the most extravagant and wasteful administration in the American history. Frankly we don't believe that the rank and file of Democrats in Cameron or any other Texas county subscribe to such beliefs. And we don't think they are doing the Democratic party any good by such declarations. It shows how far some of the so-called leaders in Texas will stoop for a sop.

Down in Dallas county, a rump convention under the persuasion of "leaders" of the CIO-PAC and other radicals walked out. They said they could not endorse Frank Wilson as congressman, although he had been re-elected by a vote of more than 2 to 1, because Wilson had voted like the Republicans, and to over-ride the Truman veto of the congressional refusal to repeal the Taft-Hartley act. Mr. Wilson merely voted like the two Texas Senators, as well as 15 of the 18 congressmen who voted. One of the three Texas congressmen who wanted to sustain the Truman veto was of course Samuel Rayburn, one of the Charlie McCarthys, and Ewing Thomason of El Paso, who was about to get a federal appointment. The other pro vote came from, we believe, the representative from the oil refining section of southeast Texas, the Beaumont district, where the CIO rules supreme. Gov. Shivers stated recently that he doesn't want the party in Texas controlled by either radicals or conservatives, but by all the Democrats of Texas. And if we can read between the lines, we don't believe that Gov. Shivers wants the State Executive Committee controlled by the National Democratic Committee, and its Chairman, Mr. Boyle. Gov. Allan Shivers has never been a "yes man" in his life, and we don't fancy he aims to start now. He made his attitude plain before the July primary, and he was the people's choice by an overwhelming majority. He was so far out ahead of all his opponents, that there was no necessity of a runoff. But Texas Collarcrats can't seem to get this through their heads.

Many good people have been led to wonder why Secretary of Defense Johnson, stated in behalf of the administration, after the attack was made on South Korea: "It came as a complete surprise to me." To admit otherwise, would doom the administration, that it had been misrepresenting the truth to the American people. Members of the Armed Service Committee wanted to know why the attack came as a surprise? Wasn't the Intelligence Committee functioning? Rear Admiral Hillekoeter, head of the Central Intelligence Committee was called before the ASC, and questioned. He showed the committee that he had information about North Korea's preparation for war as early as Feb. 28 to June 23, 1949. These reports were delivered periodically, daily, semi-weekly and weekly. In May, 1949, a full year before the attack, the State Department had information that North Korea and the Soviet Union had made an agreement wherein the latter was to furnish guns, tanks, ammunition, war planes and such things that were needed, and furnish 50 military officers to train the Red Koreans. These Soviet officers were later increased to 100. The administration was told last April that war supplies had begun to arrive in Korea from Russia, and on June 19th this year the War Department was warned that civilians were ordered evacuated from the North Korean front, and a bit later that troops were being moved in. These reports covered a period of five months before the withdrawal of American troops from South Korea. Why was it a surprise? The real reason is that at that time the administration had no idea of defending South Korea. Why will they not admit this? It would bring up a long embarrassing period of appeasing the Soviet Union. The facts prove that the administration did know that the attack was coming months in advance. The people of these United States have a right to know about these blunders, and why our boys were sent in almost unarmed to fight a well armed invader. No, the North Korean invasion did NOT "come as a complete surprise." But the memory of the American voter is woefully short.

Just before we rip our neighbors and friends apart for hoarding, let's just take a look about us and see if they have not had some kind of an example set before them to follow. In the first place, has our government any right to call the kettle black? Mr. Truman warned the American people of the consequences of hoarding. And then the press pro or anti administration took up the hue and cry, pointing to the fact that there is plenty for all if the hoarders will just content themselves to just normal buying. We might also add that seemingly, the hoarding rush is over for the present, and normal buying by all has returned. We might also mention that the government was talking out of the other corner of its mouth—"you must not hoard—even though your government is doing that very thing." As Al Smith would say, let's have the record: The federal government now has in storage 192,000,000 pounds of butter; 332,000,000 pounds of dried milk; 80,000,000 pounds of cheese and 107,000,000 pounds of dried eggs. Some of this huge storage of farm products are growing stale and unusable with age; some of the cartons and wrapping are deteriorating. So, Secretary Brannan has asked the congress for $42 million dollars to get rid of this hoard; 26 million dollars for repacking and reprocessing and 18 million to be used in shipping this produce to potential users here at home and abroad. If you think for a moment that such a huge hoard taken off the market won't boost prices for the consumer, you have another think coming. Or have the American people lost the art of thinking?

Since most all the dailies and a goodly portion of the weeklies were for Ramsey for Lieutenant Governor, and that individual also cornered the majority of votes, perhaps these same papers, especially in west Texas are pinning great hopes in the man from the pineywoods to help in the reruling the state which should have been done in 1930 and 1940. Nothing has been done toward that matter for the past 30 years. Presently, Mr. Ramsey represents a Senatorial District down in the pines and sloughs with less population than the 119th Representative district, and their representative district, which Ramsey served before becoming a senator now has less than 17,000 people, compared to the 119th with some 200,000. On that basis alone, Lubbock should have five or six, and Terry and Yoakum one, Gaines and Dawson one, Lynn and Cochran one, Hockley one, and with an overplus of Crosby county added. For the past several years, we just have not been able to see our way clear to vote for any guy east of Dallas, no matter how much the politicians and big dailies recommend them. The Herald-Post at El Paso was the only daily paper that we know of not for Ramsey. We shall see what we shall see.

To our notion the "Scratch Dallas" movement was a big flop, as it should have been. For instance, most people thought a lawyer and a man who understands law and had some legislative experience, like Ben Ramsey, would make a better Lt.-Gov. than Pierce Brooks, a business man. On the other hand most people thought Will Wilson of Dallas would make a better official than Fagan Dickson of Austin and San Antonio. This was also true of the race between Lattimore of Dallas and Morrison of Milam county and Griffin of Plainview instead of Harwood of Dallas. Of course the Collarcrats and Republican haters doomed old man McDonald to start with, but he made a mighty good race with all the odds against him and for young White. Neither were from Dallas. So it mattered little where the home of the candidate was located.

Pre-School Checkup Urged By Dr. Cox

Parents, has your child had a physical examination this summer? He will soon be starting school, and if he is in good health he will have a happier, more profitable year. It's up to you to give him a healthful sendoff, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Afer he his his check up by the family doctor, be sure to take him to the family dentist. Teeth are mighty important, and decayed ones often cause a heap of trouble. They may start infection in other parts of the body. Strong, healthy teeth add attractiveness to appearance and personality. Help your child to grow up with good teeth . . . see that he has a dental examination twice a year.

Sometimes children need glasses and their parents don't realize it. An examination by an eye specialist is important. A child who needs glasses, if taken to an eye physician now, will have time to get used to them before school starts.

When children are grouped together in a classroom, they expose each other to communicable diseases. Has your child been immunized against diphtheria and smallpox? Does he know he should use only his own drinking glass? Does he know he should avoid boys and girls who are victims of colds? Do you keep your child at home when he shows signs of a cold?

Plenty of exercise and recreation, the right kinds of foods daily and 12 hours of sleep a night are necessary for a child of elementary school age.

Get your child an appointment for a check up today—the first day of school is not far away!

Also saw Lee Lyon on the street Monday. Lee and wife have just returned from a visit to Oklahoma, and he informed us that he stopped by McAlester a few minutes while away and chatted with the J. E. Mitchies, one Sunday. J. E. is still selling prunes, Lee says.

Mrs. George Steele and children are in Plainview visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Thompson.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

The prodigal son when he ambles home—completely strapped—finds his mama and his papa discouraged and disappointed, sick at heart, but they take him in. We are doing likewise with Uncle Harry and his spendthrift Bureaus—we are over a barrel, but must make the best of it. We've a serious operation ahead of us—the hospital expenses loom—but the exchequer is bare, almost. And on top of this dilemma, we must now slap a new plaster on the old premises—and hope for the best. We ooze with socialist experiments—dams on cricks and more cricks—but we are short on tanks, must raise more do re mi for same.

What is the moral, if any, says Henry. Well, I says, we have now cut our eye teeth—should savvy clear as day why we are in our predicament. And to enlighten you, first hand, old boy, I say we have put up too long with our Govt. doing the "unneeded things. That is what is in the cocoanut—unneeded things. And yet, and now, with the war flaming high, the unneeded things are still being promoted.

This week, here at Hickory, the Reclamation Chief man told us—and with a flourish—how he had 400 million in cash money to spend on new projects. Wee is us, I say, if we don't—and now—put a quietus on these prodigal splurgers. We are way past the ho-hum stage.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Mr. and Mrs. Keller Greenfield are in Ruidoso, and Santa Fe, N. M. on their vacation this week. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard McAadoo in Penwell, Tex.

SEN. JOHNSON SAYS NEWSPAPERS EXEMPT

A letter received this week from Washington, addressed to the Herald, and from U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson, states that newspapers will likely be exempted from control of prices under the new legislation.

In other words, Senator Johnson says the bill allows the newspapers the same setup they had during World War II. There is, however, he stated, some differences in the bills by the House from the Senate bill, which must be worked out in joint conference.

Sen. Johnson stated that several Texas newspapers had communicated with him about the matter.

Met Dr. Johnny Andrews on the streets recently. He stated that he was now working for an optometric firm in Plainview, and that he had passed state examination OK, and has his license to practice. He has not definitely decided on a location for his own office.

This Oil Business A Many Sided Affair

While there are some serious sides to the oil business, there are some that are a bit on the humorous side, particularly if two or three guys meet up that had rather laugh than cry over the matter. And some of us loud-mouthed souls almost get caught now and then and have to pinch in on our silly remarks.

For instance the writer was headed south on the west side of the square one day last week, and met the inevitable "man with a map," along about in front of the Joe McGowan law office. About the time we reached the Bargain Center, some other guy hailed us. Sorter looking over our shoulder, we noted that it was Roy Moreman, with no map. We stopped and explained we thought the "Map Man" was chasing us.

About that time another "map man" lighted from his car at the curb, and the Old He and Roy had to draw the curtain on our bull. We beat it on down the street, and Roy ducked into the BC. The Map Man was a big guy.

Got to quizzing some of the other birds, among them old Grady Goodpasture. Gray says he wore out his map and can't find another. What puzzles a lot of us natives is how readily these strange Map Men can distinguish between us poor but proud saps, and a guy with some land in the general vicinity of some oil well. They don't bother us.

Well, it doesn't seem so long since 1936 when the first Bennett well was drilled over in old Yoakum, and a lot of us land-lubbers thought there was nothing under the ground except caliche, sand, clay and water. Since that date this area has seen a big change.

The Bennett field, the Denver field, Wasson, the Slaughter, the Welch Cedar Lake, Seminole, Adair have all been developed during the late thirties and the forties, and now we are in for something entirely different—the Pennsylvania reef structure.

What will the next 15 years bring?

The Herald for best results!

BRUSH RUSH—Setting a new record for house-painting, 100 union painters swarmed over St. Joseph's Villa, an orphanage in Miami, Fla., to complete the outside job in two minutes and 42 seconds. The painters used 50 gallons of paint to cover the building's 6,000 square feet and brushed their way around no less than 64 windows.

Trigger Happy Hunters Please Note

The executive secretary of the Game, Fish & Oyster Commission reports that an increasing number of sportsmen have expressed interest in curbing promiscuous shooting when the fall hunting season in Texas opens today, September 1.

He said letters to his office indicated particular concern over possible harm to the immature quail crop. The general state quail season opens December 1. Meanwhile, the first major phase of the scattergun season will open Sept. 1, when mourning doves in the north zone become legal game. The south zone season does not open until Oct. 20.

The executive secretary suggested that the trigger happy few who "shoot at everything that moves" cause law-abiding sportsmen to worry about the welfare of species which are not legal game. He qualified this comment by pointing out that Texans are well known for their good sportsmanship in the field and said that, as always, the overwhelming superiority of the genuine sportsmen will have a strong bearing

NORMAN THANKS THE VOTERS

Although defeated for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 2, I have no hard feelings towards anyone, and have really enjoyed meeting so many nice folks in my rounds. I take this means of expressing my sincere thanks to all those who considered my candidacy, and cast their votes for me. Sincerely, on restraining the irresponsible element.

The serious minded hunter, according to the executive secretary, is not interested in mixing up his targets. For example, when he flushes the inevitable covey of quail while hunting doves, he just watches and doesn't shoot. By the same token he won't shoot doves while hunting quail and neither will he bang away at squirrels and rabbits while stalking deer and turkey. It is not only bad hunting discipline, but often illegal as well.

One sportsman wrote the Game Department that he had an outlet for the uncontrolled shooting enthusiasm of the trigger happy types, as well as for responsible sportsmen for that matter. He suggested they "take up the slack" by cracking down on the thousands of house cats that have reverted to the primitive in Texas outdoors and prey on many species of bird life, as well as on small game generally.

Not Much Being Said About Our Fair

In view of the fact that we've heard very little of late about the Terry County Fair, we decided that this is a good week, the last of August and the first of September to start asking questions. If we are not mistaken, the Jaycees last year decided that it would be best for a fair association to sponsor the fair.

Since that time, we have heard so little about the matter that we decided to do a bit of quizzing. We dislike to admit it, but we can't seem to recall whether or not any permanent organization was perfected last fall preceding the last sponsored by the Jaycees. We learned later, however, that another organization is now in process of formation. Maybe a report soon.

Anyway, ever with the coming of oil play in Terry county, we should not neglect our county fair. It is an encouragement to the several rural communities to display the farm products that it produced, and to the farm boys and girls it meant a time when they could show their yearlings and pigs.

We are going to have a farming community here long after all the oil has been drained out from beneath the surface of this old earth. If care is taken of the surface of the soil here in Terry county, as well as adjoining counties, we're going to have a rich agricultural section many, many years. Indeed, some of the oldest farms of the community are still going strong on production.

Rain Saved Us From Watering Grass

Last week we viewed the results of some two weeks of hot dry weather on our yard grass with alarm. Some had watered and kept their grass green and lush. But us-lazy natives put it off from day to day, gazing longingly into a brazen sky for the hoped for moisture.

By the last of last week, things were getting serious. Not only the grass, the Mrs.'s flowers in the back yard looked like they were ready to turn up their toes and call it quits. The grass was seared.

But sometime between the time we dropped off into the land of nod between eleven and twelve Saturday night, the rain came. The first we knew of it was when daylight came and we woke up, and saw puddles of water in the driveway.

We had .77 inch of rain, and in a few days our grass looked like it had changed color over night. We believe one heavy shower is worth a half dozen hose waterings when the weather is dry.

On the other hand, crops had held up magnificently, considering the heat in daylight hours. But the rain may make some of the farmers have to dose the worms again. Some are doing just that, we hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce left this week to attend the seminary in Fort Worth.

They Come To See the Ceramics

After about an eight hour tussle with our old typewriter and dodging bill collectors each day, after the five o'clock period we like to stretch out across our bed and rest—sometimes take a short snooze. Always when we doze off, we wake to find it much later than we think.

But the other afternoon, just about the time we hit the hay, our door bell rang, and we went to admit the laundryman or cleaner, or as in some cases someone wanting to know where someone else lives. This time it was Mrs. W. A. Bell, family and company.

Three of the children, Margaret of Lubbock, Vernon, Mary Ann, now Mrs. W. F. Quinlan and her son, about eight years of age of Robstown. Also Mrs. Lela Toone of Dallas, whose late husband was once Supt. of our schools. Mrs. Toone served as postmaster here under the Hoover administration, Mrs. Toone is an aunt of Mrs. Bell.

The ladies very graciously excused us and stated they would view what the Mrs. still has on display, as we wouldn't be much help to them anyway.

NEW AMERICAN LINER NEARS COMPLETION—This is a drawing of the 1000-passenger, 25-knot S.S. Independence, one of two luxury liners under construction for American Export Lines. Being built for the New York-Mediterranean route, the 30,000-ton vessel is claimed to be the nation's largest and fastest postwar liner. Scheduled for launching June 2 at Quincy, Mass., the sea queen will make the New York-Italy crossing in eight days.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

Well, ma, it won't be long, now. Back to school with the kids, that is, and you can let the teachers baby sit for you most of the day. You'll have to jump up early and get the kids off, and then you can sit down and relax over another cup of coffee, and you'll probably need it. Since I haven't a chick or a child, it won't mean much to me except that football season is just around the corner, oboy!

Speaking of football, for the first time in the school's history, Wellman high school has a football team this year, with about a 30 man squad. Coach W. B. Smith and assistant coach B. H. Baldwin have great hopes for their boys, and we'll just wait now until Sept. 22, when Wellman meets Tatum, N. M., at Wellman.

Leaping around from one subject to another, I've noticed that all the local stores, including the dry goods stores, the variety stores, and the drug stores, have laid in an ample stock of needs for this year's crop of school-goers. I've noticed that in the clothing line, corduroy is very good for both girls and boys. If manufacturers could only reinforce the shoes and clothing with a good shot of steel in the more "wearing" parts, mamas and papas could sure avoid a lot of headaches.

As far as clothes are concerned, C. L. (Abe) Lincoln Terry county service officer, told me this week that our Red Cross-county service office clothing store room is looking mighty bare. So, when you begin gleaning out your winter clothes and putting away your summer things, if you have any items of clothing, including shoes, would you please remember us? Since I rarely have a car to pick them up in, any time you are by the courthouse, if you will drop them by Abe's office, I can assure you that they will be most gratefully received.

Also while talking with Abe, he said that a Get Well Fund for Walter Martin is being set up, and any persons wishing to send this deserving young man a donation may send or take it to Lincoln's office in the courthouse. As you may or may not know, Walter has suffered from rheumatic fever for many years and is now under treatment in a Galveston hospital.

I have been sorry to hear that some of our newcomers in Brownfield have not received the courtesy that they, as new residents, deserve. Whether this information is true or not, I would remind each of you that at one time or another, you, too, were newcomers either here or somewhere. It is extremely difficult to move to a new town and not know a soul there. I have done it many, many times, and it looks like I may have a chance to do it again. As a general rule, persons who move to a new town do not expect to take the city by storm, and within five minutes after hitting the city limits, become members of every club, every church, and every organization. They'd be fools to think that. However, they do expect the people to meet them with a certain amount of courtesy. I have never expected a total stranger to greet me like a long-lost sister, and immediately turn over the keys to their house and their safety deposit box to me. But, as long as I treat them like human beings, I expect the same treatment.

When I first moved to Brownfield, I knew several people. The other people I met were, on the whole, newcomers like me, and therefore on their best behavior. However, I was very much impressed with the cordiality of the residents who had lived here for sometime. I very often boast that the people in Brownfield and Terry county are the friendliest, nicest people in the world.

I sincerely hope that a bunch of you thugs aren't going to make a liar of me. Of all the desirable traits and the cheapest commodities in the world, friendliness and courtesy rank very high with most people, including me. Let's try to cultivate those things, kids.

The county wide x-ray survey, being sponsored by the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce and the Terry County Tuberculosis Association in an effort to locate unsuspected cases of TB in persons over 15 years of age, is being met with good response. It is simply amazing how effortless it really is to get into Tudor Sales, register, and have your chest x-rayed. It all happens within a matter of minutes—actually no more than five, including your walk down there—and there you are. If you haven't taken advantage this free chest x-ray, do so at once. It is at Tudor Sales Co. today and tomorrow, any time between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Let's stamp TB out of Terry county.

And let's all be little rays of sunshine this week.

Fulton Pleased With His Love Grass

About two years ago at this time, there was a Crop Field Day, and some of the crops inspected by a large caravan of cars, which covered mostly west and central southwest Terry. At that time we got an inspection of a field of Love grass on the W. A. Fulton farm, southwest of Gomez. At that time it was near waist high.

We have not seen the farm since, but being curious, asked Bill this week how he was liking the grass as pasture, and if the stock liked it as well as the old native gramma and curly mesquite. "I like it better," he stated.

"I don't believe stock like it quite as well as the old native grasses, and they might not eat the Love grass if the others were available. But will say this much. When cattle are turned in on it they eat it and seem to like it. And they will get fat much faster on the Love grass, as it has more flesh building qualities than the old grasses.

"You can tell your readers that I am a Love grass booster."

Relatives of people living back in the Paris area, have received letters stating that boll weevils are playing heck with the cotton crops back there. The same comes from Tennessee and other old states. And they are much harder to poison than leaf or boll worms, although the latter generally is a headache to poison, as he takes refuge in the boll.

TO THE VOTERS OF TERRY COUNTY:

I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to those who supported me in last Saturday's election and throughout the campaign. I hold no ill will toward those who did not support me.

I want to thank Mr. Murry for his sportsmanship and wish him the best of luck during his coming term of office. Again, I thank you all.

Sincerely,
Bob Burnett.

Janelle Greenfield returned home this week from a two week vacation in Penwell.

TO THE CITIZENS OF TERRY COUNTY:

Folks, I do not have word to express to you how much I appreciate you. I wish I could see each and everyone of you, to shake hands with you and thank you, as I know I was elected as your Sheriff for the next 2 years.

First I want to say I run a clean race, that is the only kind of politics I know and the only kind I want, and my office as your Sheriff will be run in the same manner.

I want you people of Terry county to feel free to call on me and visit me any time you can. I want you all to know I appreciate you and to those that did not vote for me, I hold no ill will toward you. I will be your Sheriff the same as the one that voted for me. I earnestly and sincerely ask each and every one of you, for your full cooperation and if it is at all possible, I will do my best to make you a better Sheriff. Again I want to say thanks a million.

Ocie H. Murry.

FLYING NEWS AND VIEWS
By EDWIN E. DUNCAN

The mystery of the abandoned L2 Taylorcraft, found west of town several weeks ago, has at last been solved. Its youthful owner, one Gene "Sleepy" Nelson, of Lubbock, made a forced landing in a mesquite patch when darkness caught him and his newly acquired plane in strange territory. Tuesday afternoon, after the plane had rested on the roadside for nearly three weeks, Nelson returned to the scene, replaced the broken propeller with a new one, and took off bound for the local airport.

Texans In Washington

By Tex Easley
AP Special Washington Service
Texas members of Congress are in general agreement that if global war comes, this nation's high command should scatter from the sprawling Pentagon building.

The Pentagon, on the Virginia side of the Potomac river, has been the nerve center of the nation's defenses since early in World War II.

The legislators also feel that in the event of a full scale war Congress and the President should move to a less vulnerable spot.

Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said:

"I would think that the military has plans for dispersing. I wouldn't think there is any call to move out now, but I do believe there should be careful planning so as to avoid confusion in the event of an emergency."

Rep. Olin E. (Tiger) Teague of College Station, a Purple Heart World War II veteran, says the high command definitely should get out of Washington if the nation becomes involved in a general war.

Although not on the Armed Services Committee, Teague keeps in close touch with the military situation and has just seen some of the latest tanks, ammunition and other equipment which he says will pull some "surprises" shortly in Korea.

Incidentally, the congressman's sister, Madge Teague, is a captain in the army nurse corps. She served overseas in World War II and is now en route to Korea. Teague himself has discussed with Pentagon authorities the possibility of flying to Korea as soon as Congress adjoins to get first hand knowledge of the situation and needs of the combat troops.

Rep. Wingate Lucas of Fort Worth and Grapevine, also a World War II veteran with service in the European theatre, says plans should be ready now for establishment of an alternate capital. There's always the possibility of a sneak atomic attack he says, that would catch Washington off guard.

"Our national defense establishment still wouldn't be pulverized," he says. "At least that's my opinion."

"Our various armies are virtually autonomous. And, take the 8th Air Force command out of Omaha, Carswell B-36 base at Fort Worth, in that strategic air command, doesn't need Washington to operate."

233 NEW OIL WELLS COMPLETED IN TEXAS

Texas oil production was boosted strongly by completion of 233 wells this week, and the year's total of new wells soared to 6,908 compared with 5,718 a year ago.

The Railroad commission also reported completion of 10 gas wells, keeping the 1950 total abreast of last year's at 497.

Sixty four dry holes were drilled.

Wildcat drilling led to 10 oil wells, no gas wells and 32 dry holes.

Sixty five dry wells, five gassers and 43 oil wells were plugged.

The total average calendar day allowable today was 2,646,130 barrels, an increase of 10,307 barrels last Saturday.

plane's liberation doesn't end there. Nelson, a student pilot with a very few hours, circled high above Brownfield and vicinity for more than fifteen minutes before he finally started his approach to the field. Then with a strong wind to his back, he made three futile attempts to bring the little craft in downwind, a dangerous feat for even a seasoned flier.

Several of the local boys ran out onto the runway to signal him off, while a large group stood by breathlessly awaiting disaster. On the second downwind attempt the plane quickly used up the allotted runway, hit the dump at the far end, bounced into the air, careening onto one wheel, nearly dragging a wing, and then after straightening out, flew under two sets of highline wires. On his third approach the signals from the ground finally made an impression, and Nelson turned the plane about and made a proper, into the wind landing. He made the trip back to Lubbock by automobile.

Jack Hamilton flew Nelson Jay to Hobbs, N. M., last Saturday in the Cruiser. At Hobbs, Jay, a crew chief for Continental Oil Co., picked up his five-place Howard, and after a quick trip to Santa Fe, N. M., brought the large plane back to Brownfield where it is now based.

Ramie Chapman successfully completed his test for his private license last Tuesday morning. This license permits Ramie to carry passengers.

Vernon Townes flew to Ranger Saturday in the Cruiser belonging to Grady Goodpasture.

Fred McNabb of Busterville, and Joe Snell of Lubbock, landed at the field Wednesday of last week in McNabb's Piper Pacer.

Representatives of the Murray Drilling Co., of Houston, were here Wednesday and Thursday of last week in a Navion.

C. G. Glascock Jr., of Corpus Christi, was here last week in a Beech Bonanza.

Everett Winston, of Littlefield, was down to Brownfield last Saturday in his Family Cruiser.

Willard Stell flew to Big Spring Monday in the Piper Cruiser.

Carl Oberholzer of Midland stopped in Wednesday in a Beech Bonanza.

Advices American To Return To God

A Fort Worth minister told Baylor University summer graduates that American people must return, to God if the nation is to escape a fate like that of Greece and Rome.

Rev. James N. Morgan, addressing 388 members of the graduating class, declared that "the only miracle that can save America from a severe and painful economic explosion during the next few years is an awakening to the fact that in a democracy everything finally rests upon the moral responsibility of the people."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "such responsibility is at a very low ebb today. Empty heads, empty hearts and empty churches reveal that democracy is decaying at its roots. If we are to save our democracy and restore its strength, we must fill our churches with people, our hearts with courage and our heads with the unchanging, relentless truths of God."

Pres. W. R. White conferred baccalaureate degrees on 294 students and advanced degrees from Baylor's expanding Graduate School of 94. It was the largest summer class in Baylor history.

Mr. and Mrs. Clovis Kendrick Kenneth and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick are in Ashdown, Ark., visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Nelson, Peggy and Donna Sue visited Mrs. Nelson's brother, Sherman Inman and family in Muleshoe Sunday.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Now let's see where we're going to start this week? Oh, yes, have we told you about having the rheumatism in both knees? Well, we told everyone on the streets that would listen. Of course all the ladies and most of the men pretend to listen sympathetically. But some of the male persuasion stinkers remark that we're just getting old.

Never having had an operation—and we're knocking on wood—we have to tell about our ailments one way or another. And our age has little to do with the matter. We passed 70 last Wednesday, and bedgedged if we don't believe our rheumatism is better. Been trying the lemon juice idea.

Maybe this typewriter key puncher is not right bright, but we fall to see why the government taking over the railroads will help the unions. There are absolutely no wage boosts in sight now, and they have their same bosses with some brass hats over them, with their pay to come out of the railroads.

All the results of a prospective war. And while on war, was you listening in one night last week when the NBC carried you right up to the front lines in Korea which made it possible to hear the rat, rat, tat, tat, of the machine guns and the ka-bloody of the big artillery. Once or twice we started to crawl under the bed.

So Lubbock had to send off to Mears and Monkey (Fort Worth) to get a man to act as their police chief. Maybe they wanted someone that would try to stop so many burglaries instead of standing around watching for parking meter violations.

Not trying to forget Lubbock's parking meters, we do pause to ask: Could it be possible that the dagnabbed worms are becoming immune to poison, and really thrive on it? Remember your county agent has warned that you buy no poison that does not have the manufacturer's name on the bag.

After one of the trips our friend Wiley Bridges and his late wife made up to Alaska to visit their daughter and family, he once told us that in early spring, one could kick a hole in the melting ice crust, and a whole swarm of mosquitoes would come buzzing out. Had we not known Wiley as long as we have, we'd be tempted to doubt his word, knowing the pests usually are associated with hot, damp climate. Wiley says they'll hop on you like a duck onto a Junebug, as hungry as a female wolf.

But now the health department up in the far north seems determined to do something about these huge gallinippers. They are going to dope the ground with a strong solution of DDT just as the first snow begin to fall. Come spring and a thaw, and there's your dead skeeters—they hope.

SUBMARINES BEWARE—The Navy's latest answer to the threat of submarine warfare is the Grumman "Guardian," now in production. These heavily-armed attack planes will join the seven newly-designated VS (Anti-Submarine) squadrons. Shown above are the prototypes for the AF-2W (twin) and AF-2S (single) believed to be the largest single-engine aircraft in the world.

Sunday's Star-Telegram gave Brownfield and its new oil field a decided boost with text and pictures of the newly oil rich. The story was decidedly accurate despite some of the kiddings the interviewees gave the reporter.

Anyway, the old burg appreciates the big plug in the paper with the biggest circulation in Texas—perhaps in the south. The article will certainly do us no harm and a lot of good. All we hope for is that the plug will not bring in the wrong kind of people who usually hit a new oil field town.

One of our readers and a gentleman that we've always taken as our good friend, seemed to be a bit irate over the published price of an oil lease or rather sale near town last week. At that time we had not checked on the matter, and could not be positive, although the information came pretty straight. He did not believe it, he stated.

This week, or rather late last week, we did check, and found not only that but some other sales were made as high or higher. If that information hurt a sale that was being negotiated at a smaller amount, we are sorry.

Our own Warren Austin, while generally the gentleman, when filed can say just as mean things about "heavenly" Russia, as old Jake Malik can about the USA. Austin says that any can labeled "peaches" must be believed by the squareheads in Kremlinland. Also that plenty guns, shells, etc., labeled "made in Russia," can be found among the dead Red Koreans. "Misquidid missiles" Austin terms them.

Frank Phillips, who organized the huge Phillips Petroleum Co., died in New York last week at quite an advanced age. He came to Oklahoma when it was a territory with nothing much but ambition, honesty and energy. Phillips was one of the few white men who dealt fairly with the Indians, and they were his best friends. He made money for them, and himself a multi-millionaire. His many philanthropies were many and well known.

While we are opposed to war, as long as the whole world is in its present unsettled condition, we believe that Universal Military Training is the best answer. We have but recently had a demonstration of raw, half trained and equipped South Koreans, as well as US troops, trying to stop a well trained and equipped Korean Red army. If we must fight, let's give our young men at least a fair show against their foes.

In this connection, there are some religious sects, some of them good people, who believe in non-resistance—turn the other cheek, etc. If all other people in these USA had taken such an attitude, all of us would have already been slaves. We just don't believe the New Testament teaches such an idea.

On the other hand it does teach obedience to the government in which they dwell, and they must be law-abiding. Paul was not a non-resister. He was a Roman citizen, although a Jew, and finding he would not have a fair trial at Jerusalem, he appealed to Caesar, and was carried a prisoner to Rome.

We note that the Lubbock papers let us have a quarter inch rain Saturday night, although the rain registered .77 here. Well, that was about all we can expect of them. A man from beyond Morton here Sunday, reported the rain about the same from there to Brownfield.

A local business man recently made a talk before the Rotary club, it is reported to us, and among other things stated that unless there was a change, the banks of the nation would just be government bureaus in the next few years.

We are glad that business men are waking up finally that we are drifting fast into socialism.

So this is HOUSEKEEPING

For some unknown reason, brides are generally looked upon by the rest of the sisterhood as being a trifle on the stupid side. The fact of the matter is that a bride has to be smartly alert for all kinds of facts for future reference in eventually running a successful home.

Take the other evening when my favorite spouse and I were invited to dinner at the home of friends. I was anxious to see how Marie managed a home, a husband, and a three months old baby.

Digging in after dinner to help with the dishes, the first thing I spied was several Evenflo nursing bottles. Acting very professional, I rinsed the bottles, then asked for a bottle brush to scrub off the milk film. Then I learned some facts on time, money, and drug-savings.

It seems Marie had been having too many sessions with broken nursing bottles and finally took her woe to a clerk at a baby counter. When the clerk discovered she had been using a bottle brush he explained that the brush was responsible for much of the trouble. Apparently among hardware men an established trick for breaking glass smoothly is to first score or scratch the surface with a hard instrument. When force is applied the glass breaks cleanly along the score mark. The same principle, the clerk pointed out, applies in using a wire-handled brush when cleaning baby nursing bottles. The metal end of the brush weakens the glass with tiny, almost unnoticeable scratches which are sufficient to break the bottle when it is subjected to a slight jar or to quick heating or cooling.

The clerk gave my friend some Evenflo brushless baby bottle cleanser which solved the whole problem. A tablespoonful in warm water quickly dissolves and removes the milk film in baby bottles and leaves them sparkling clean.

Now there's a bit of information that might come in handy some day!

Met up with an old, time friend, Mrs. J. D. McCollough at the Piggly Wiggly store last week. She listened patiently as we told her about our rheumatism in both knees. She said she had recently had a visit from her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Marshall, Mr. Marshall and their son, of Odessa.
