HILGE NESS

In recent months much has been written of amazing new developments in the forestry field, through the breeding of hybrid trees, producing a fast-growing, vigorous new tree in much the same manner as scientists have produced hybrid corns and other valuable new plants. Success in this field would revolutionize forestry practices. Thirty years ago a little-known Texas scientist working on the A. and M. campus produced hybrid oak trees which are campus landmarks today. This pioneering opened up an entirely new field which is now coming to the attention of the world. Hilge Ness, who produced hybrid oaks by crossing the overcup oak and the liveoak, was chief botanist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and professor of Botany at the college for many years. He joined the staff in 1889, after graduating from Texas A. and M., and served until his death in 1928. A distinguished scientist, he had great influence as a teacher and researcher, and made valuable contributions to Texas agriculture through the production of many useful new plants, one of which was the Nessberry, a cross between the dewberry and raspberry, which still bears his name.

really love to fish, or just to get away from it all. That depends: If one is trying to avoid flies, mosquitoes, gnats and ants, better stay at home. Most of us can make our income and outgo balance. Trouble is that most of us hold a tight check rein on income and a loose line on outgo. One of the most exhausting things connected with a vacation is writing our friends a lot of silly postcards telling 'em where we are and what we're doing, as if they cared. What we should do is sleep, eat and rest, and enjoy our vacation, and not have to take two weeks to rest up after we get back home.

Lots of building going on around this old burg of late, most of it of a substantial and permanent nature. Among the larger jobs under construction is the city hall, fire and police station, a $159,000 job; the huge new plant for Piggy Wigly, etc. Then out on the Seagraves highway is the Wm. Cameron Lumber Co., the Acme Lumber Co., Johnson Implement, and a number of others to start soon. The hammer, saw and trowel are kept busy here these days.

RETURN OF KOREAN WAR DEAD

We have had several inquiries regarding the return of bodies of American service personnel killed in Korea, the following information has been obtained from the public information officer of the Texas Military District Headquarters in Austin: Return of bodies is scheduled to be an automatic procedure, with bodies being returned to the continental United States on ships with available space. Upon arrival of the body in the U. S. Port, officials will communicate with the next-of-kin, advising them that the body is enroute home.

With regard to military funerals, the district headquarters advises that firing squads can be arranged for upon the request of the next-of-kin. The headquarters further advises, however, that veterans organizations will be depended upon to actually conduct the military funeral and to provide buglers.

AMPUTEE MAY BE DELAYED IN RECEIVING AUTO

Information from the VA indicates that some amputees may have to wait to get the car they are entitled to under the law. Congress has authorized $800,000 to complete or finish the project of giving automobiles to amputees but appropriated only $375,000 for the purchase of cars. Unless the Congress at its next session loosens up and increases the appropriation, it looks like at least 125 eligible applicants will be out of luck. The VA advises that 360 applications are on hand which is 125 more than they have money to pay for and that unless and until they have more funds the VA will allot on first-come-first-served basis of applications.

Baptist Regional Meeting To Be Here

A regional elementary conference, for all workers in South Plains Baptist Sunday schools from the cradle roll up through the junior classes, will be conducted at the First Baptist church of Brownfield on Monday, November 27, it has been announced.

Among the conference leaders for the session will be Mrs. Keith Von Hagan of Nashville, Tenn., who will conduct the cradle roll conference, Miss Ann Bradford of Fort Worth, nursery; Miss Helen Young of Nashville, beginner; Miss Allene Bryan of Nashville, primary; and Mrs. Earle Dickson of Palestine, junior. Melva Cook will preside over the day-long meeting. Mrs. Wayne Hill will act as music leader, and Mrs. Earle Dickson will be pianist. The day's program will begin at 9:30 a.m., with "Singing With the Nursery children." at 9:40, Fred Stumpp, minister of the church, will lead the devotional. Following the devotional will be the statement of purpose and the introduction of the conference leaders. The message will be delivered at 11:45 by Andrew Q. Allen.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m. the group will hear lectures by the conference leader and the evening session will include a lecture, open conference, and department conference.

The development of effective hand water softeners and soaps and synthetic detergents have contributed to making the wash day job easier.

A new scroto worm smear, known as EQ 335, has many advantages over the old reliable Smear formula which has been used for the past ten years. Formula EQ335 lasts longer than Smear 62, treated wounds heal more quickly, and the lamp black and other coloring chemicals that stain wool, clothing, or hair are not found in the new remedy.

Practicing safety with firearms in the fields and woods is just a good conservation practice, and it applies to both humans and wildlife.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS. Santa Fe System carloadings for week ending November 18, 1950, were 25,652 compared with 24,996 for same week in 1949. Cars received from connections totaled 13,589 compared with 9,592 for same week in 1949. Total cars loaded were 39,241 compared with 34,590 for same week in 1949. Santa Fe handled a total of 33,771 cars in the preceding week of this year.

Stricklin Speaking

By Old He

Had a very nice and warm word of thanks from our young friend, Morgan Copeland, who is attending the U of T down at Austin. Our hopes is that when Morgan gets his law degree he will come right back to Brownfield, his birth place, to start his career.

The old one about it being impossible to accomplish a successful business or professional career in the home of your nativity or childhood has been blasted time and again right here in Brownfield. There are dozens here who are going places that are either native born, or came here in childhood.

What Christ said was, "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country." But the ones who have made a success here are not prophets. They are trades or professional men.

By the way, here is a new definition we found on the welfare state: The bureaucrat fares well. The taxpayer says the same thing to most of his dough.

Before we forget the matter, one of the little ladies who step high in front of the band, twirling an object that favors the stick that you pound the bass drum, was found in our yard, Saturday morning.

We have no idea how it got there. Maybe by some smart one who swiped it from the little high stepping gal. Or maybe the little gal decided the high stepping was all over for the season with her, and tossed the baton or whatever they are, in our yard.

Anyway, we have it, and anyone claiming it can have it by calling at our home at 106 east Broadway.

We are again reminding one and all that Christmas is approaching, and that old Santa will soon be among us. You know when Thanksgiving day has come and gone, it is just a hop, skip and a jump till Christmas.

The Herald, was further reminded of this fact of late when it received three Santa Claus letters from the small fry of the area in one mail. As we have always waited until the first issue of December to print Letters to Santa, these letters and others as received will be printed.

The Stricklin generation sorter had a family reunion, as it were, down at Snyder Sunday, when the Brownfield bunch went in on the Herman Triess without even knocking. All the Jack S. clan was represented except Jack Taylor, who imagines he's grown up, and has his own dates, etc.

Anyway, the daughter, Mrs. H. Triess, claimed to have that woman's intuition or something that maybe the Brownfield bunch would be there Sunday, and she had a good feast ready prepared. A lot was said and done in the five hours before we had to hit the pavement for home. We enjoyed the trip and the brief visit.

This paper tries to give the readers all the worthwhile oil news. We hear a lot of street talk that may or may not be worth repeating. At least that is our idea. Then there is a lot of other stuff about wells being down in certain stratas, the subject being Greek to other than geologists.

As ninety-nine out of one hundred persons don't savvy the stuff, we do not print it. Of course the large dailies do print it, as they have many readers among the oil fraternity that do understand the different underground formations. Whereas, most of us old timers just know toposil, clay and caliche.

Whenever oil is found in a well, or another is plugged and abandoned, the Herald will tell its readers in just as few understandable words as possible. This is no oil journal; never was intended as such, and we'll not try to make an ass of ourselves trying to prove it.

Now for a bit on the lighter side and we're through for the week. Some smart alex has made the statement that a couple of cigar smokers can stand off an old time fire place in stacking up ashes in an evening. Don't leave out the cigaret smokers with their ashes, ground up butts, some lip-sticked and others just plain old butts.

Texas. And we might add that this doctor formerly resided in this area as a practitioner, and his address was before a local medical society. Then there was nothing in the article that we could see that would lead one to conclude that we thought, or this doctor thought that doctors and medical colleges in general were stuck-up.

The stunt that old Duval county pulled in this last election and some prior ones over the years, is just a Kremlin mode on a miniature scale. It is not natural for a whole county to conclude that there is just one man to vote for in a county or state if left to their own thoughts.

Atty-General Price Daniell to look into the matter. The whole matter stinks, and has been going on too long as is. All loopholes for such voting should be closed and the ballots thrown out from this on when indications point out that one man is dictating the votes.

Of interest to us was a recent article appearing on the editorial page of the Dallas Morning News, entitled, "Is the Negro Missed on Civil Rights?" The reason the article was so very interesting to us, was that it was by a Negro editor, Davis Lee, who publishes the Telegram, a Washington tabloid paper.

Fletcher Hester, student at Southwestern Medical School in Dallas, arrived Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Hester.

Mrs. A. H. Daniell returned Sunday night from a visit with Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. McCracken in Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McKinney and Mrs. Grady Goodpasture attended the TU-TCU football game in Fort Worth last weekend.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

By the time you read this, you'll probably still be swigging bicarb, trying to get over that stuffed feeling you acquired at the Thanksgiving table. But let's have no weeping and moaning about it. Of the many things we are thankful for, having enough to eat, even if it was red beans instead of turkey, just about takes the cake. Me, I'm just plain thankful that I have so many things to be thankful for—now and always.

Which wraps Thanksgiving up. If you missed the football game between the Veterans and the National Guard last Monday night, shame on you. It wasn't so cold, and Pat McMillan was about the only player who lost many arms and legs. (Teeth, I can't be sure about). And speaking of teeth, a couple of times there, I thought the referee, alias Dr. Rock Robertson, might have had to make himself some "plates" come Tuesday morning. However, everything turned out swell, a jolly time was had by all, and ain't it a shame that football season is most dragging out its last sigh?

Monday morning, bright and early, guess what I hauled out of my post office box? The 1950 Christmas seals, which are sent out at this time each year by the Tuberculosis Association in Terry county—and all other counties, for that matter. This year, they are bright red, with three cherubs centered on the seals.

There are usually all sorts of contributions to be made at this time of year, but of the many worthwhile ones, I feel that money spent for Christmas seals certainly goes for a worthy cause. Tuberculosis, as you know, is one of the greatest killers of Americans each year. The money that you contribute to be used toward helping stamp out t.b. is money that may, some day, be used to save your life. Please send your contribution into the local association, and use those seals proudly. If you have not received any seals this year, contact the seal campaign chairman, S. P. Cowan, or the executive secretary, Ruth Huckabee.

My shopping around town has continued, and I have come up with several interesting items. I was peering around in the window at Fleming Typewriter Supply, which is a suburb of the Fabric Mart, and saw what looked like an oil painting. I remarked on the same to Kitty and Mahota and they enlightened me. It was an oil painting. An entirely new idea, too, and entirely inexpensive. The two girls have done some charming samples, but please don't look at Roy's yet. The dogs looked pretty rabid at the stage I saw them in.

Shelton's Ready to Wear has some genuine leather Perry hand bags and matching belts in red, brown, neutral, black, and putty, trimmed with the bronze coats of arms that should make some little or big gal happy at yuletide. And if you are looking for something a little more expensive, the Gore Fashion Shop will be showing an elegant line of fur coats next Monday, November 27, I understand.

I was messing around Hoy's Flower shop the past week and Odell and J. T. were showing me some of their new Christmas merchandise. Very chi-chi, I must say. One of the cleverest things I saw was a pottery Christmas stocking—fire engine red—that, filled with cones or holly or almost any sort of greenery, would make a striking door decoration. If, on the strength of what I've said, you go in there, be sure to look at the pair of red pottery ballet slippers, which could be put to the same use. And if you exclaim properly over these little pretties, Odell may show you her little glitter trees which may be used in a jillion different holiday decorations.

You'd best be thinking about these things—and putting in your orders now—because the Jaycees, as usual, are offering cash prizes for the best Christmas decorations of homes in Brownfield this year. At least someone has the right idea. The latest dope is this: "Tell the Guy Goodnight, Irene, So I Can Get Some Sleep." Good night.

SS CLASS GUESTS AT "TACKY" PARTY

Hostesses were Mesdames Roy Fleming, Crawford Burrow, Bruce Salmon and Walter Breedlove. The program included a talk by Herbert Chesshir, vocal selections by Bill Blake, and games.

Maids And Matrons Study Club Has Thanksgiving Luncheon November 21

The Maids and Matrons Study Club held its annual Thanksgiving luncheon Tuesday, November 21, in the Seleta Jane Brownfield clubhouse. Hostesses were Mesdames E. C. Davis, Barton Evans, A. W. Butler, Mon Telford, and Miss Olga Fitzgerald.

A Thanksgiving motif was carried out in decorations throughout the clubhouse. The luncheon tables were decorated with chrysanthemums in miniature turkey holders, and a large cornucopia was the centerpiece for the serving table.

Mrs. Telford, as program chairman, presented Kay Szydoski, who sang "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," "Lover Come Back To Me," and "There's a Song In My Heart." She was accompanied by Ruth Huckabee.

Mrs. Roy Wingerd spoke briefly on "Thanksgiving," and the program closed with group singing. Guests were Mesdames J. J. McGowan, I. M. Bailey, J. R. Turner, L. M. Wingerd, F. G. White, D. D. Denison, J. M. Teague, M. G. Tarpley, A. J. Stricklin, Sr., A. R. Smith, A. A. Sawyer, J. L. Randall, Money Price, E. O. Nelson, Mary Ruth Nelson, A. G. Morarity, Gasta Spencer, W. F. ## FOUR ADVANCE TO FINALS IN TOURNEY

Four persons have advanced to the finals in a tournament being held by women golfers of the Brownfield Country Club, according to Mrs. Minnie Hazel Bowman, tournament chairman.

Mrs. Bowman and Mrs. Mary Jo Hardy will play the final championship match next week, with Mrs. Helen McClain and Mrs. Thelma Crites matched for the consolation trophy.

Other participants in the tournament were Mesdames Helen Walker, Janelle Dean, Faneta Graham and Christine Akers.

Wellman Chapter Met November 15

The Wellman Chapter of Future Homemakers of America opened the program Wednesday, Nov. 15 with the FHA ceremony.

Yearbooks for 1950-51 were presented members by the yearbook committee chairman.

The weiner roast that was to be held November 10 was postponed due to cold weather. Plans are made to have the hayride and weiner roast later on in the school year.

National FFA week was celebrated by the Wellman chapter last week. Beginning Sunday, November 12, each chapter member was encouraged to attend church. Monday, November 13, all members attended a picture show. Tuesday, November 14, was Western day. It may not be very odd to see girls dressed in western clothes, but it was all a lot of fun.

Wednesday, November 15, a Thanksgiving program was held. November 16 a pot plant was sent to Mrs. Hines, an elderly lady of the community. Friday, Nov. 17 was good Dad day.

Gifts were also brought by each chapter member to send to the World Christmas Festival. —Reporter.

One new member, Mrs. W. B. Cope, and thirteen regular members attended the meeting.

Mrs. Hill will be hostess at the next club meeting, to be held December 5.

Meek-Ratliff Vows Read November 19

Miss Novis Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meek of Brownfield, and Frank Ratliff, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ratliff, also of Brownfield, were married in the First Baptist church at Plains at 2 p.m. Sunday, November 19. W. P. Brian, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a slate blue gabardine suit with a winter pink hat and blouse and brown accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses, centered with a baby orchid.

Miss Julia Smith was maid of honor. She wore a wine suit with black accessories, and a corsage of white carnations. Dub Holliman was best man.

A reception was held in the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Florine Randolph, of Plains, following the ceremony. The bride's cake, which was topped with yellow mums, was served by Miss Carolite Randolph. Miss Doris Ratliff presided at the punch bowl.

Following a trip to points in New Mexico, the couple will be at home in Brownfield, where he is employed with a deep-breaking firm.

Christmas Prizes Offered By Jaycees

L. G. Smith, chairman of the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce Christmas activities committee, said this week that the club will again offer prizes for the three best decorated homes in Brownfield at Christmas time.

Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 will be awarded the winners after the club has received the decision of a secret judging committee. Winners will be announced December 24.

Mrs. Jack Browder and Mrs. Kenneth Threet were in Tatum, N.M., Sunday on business.

Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Prentice Walker were her mother, Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, and her brother, Jimmy Applewhite, and family, all of Tahoka.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Molgate and family of Lubbock visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hamilton on Thursday.

Mrs. S. H. Holgate returned from a visit in Kermit recently.

Brownfield Concert Season Opens With Holbrooks Appearing Nov. 30

"They reminded me of the Lunts when they were younger," is a statement heard most often about Hal and Ruby Holbrook, who will be seen here in their "Theatre of Great Personalities" November 30. What is it about these two young actors that is causing people to say such amazing things about them?

Probably the most essential quality of any successful team is the easy coordination between its members. In acting, especially, this effortless exchange must be so real as to seem—in a sense—not acting. It must spring from an inner delight in the art of playing together expressed without self-consciousness.

After one performance not long ago, the Holbrooks were met backstage by an elderly lady who expressed it this way: "You seemed to be having so much fun up there, no matter what you were doing. It made me feel young again." She couldn't understand how, after so many performances, they could still so obviously enjoy what they were doing. The Holbrooks are quite frank in saying that they can't understand it either; they just do.

One of Hal and Ruby Holbrooks' most fascinating qualities is their ability to shed one character completely in place of a new one. And they accomplish this transformation five times during the course of an evening with an almost uncanny rapidity. This effect of striking contrasts in characterization is the principal feature of their program and is the one effect which the Holbrooks try hardest to achieve. The compliment which pleases them most is to be called "versatile."

On a recent television show, the Holbrooks did two scenes from their repertoire: the scene from Moliere's "The School For Wives," and the one from the life of Mark Twain. Because time was short, their customary introductions to each number had to be cut out, so they did the two scenes without ever appearing before the cameras as themselves. After the program many enthusiastic calls were received indicating a highly successful show, but the fact that the same two people had done both scenes apparently escaped everyone. This same reaction was duplicated at another program where a little girl came backstage with her mother following the performance and, having searched everywhere, finally demanded to know where "the rest of the people" were.

SANTA FE CARLOADINGS

Santa Fe system carloadings for week ending November 11, 1950, were 25,567 compared with 26,368 for same week in 1949. Cars received from connections totaled 14,204 compared with 10,420 for same week in 1949. Total cars moved were 39,771 compared with 36,788 for same week in 1949.

Santa Fe handled a total of 40,572 cars in preceding week of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Bynum attended a memorial program at the Khiva Temple in Amarillo Sunday night.

It's Usually The Same

Most all of us have some remedies and comments on highway accidents these days, some bad, some good and some indifferent. And they came from those of all walks of life, from the country editor at the forks of the creek to the governor of the state—maybe President Truman—but he travels mostly by air. While most of us are giving our dime's worth in advice, perhaps there are some that think we, too, are nasty drivers.

It seems to us that the main thing these days is that cars run too fast, and that too many depend on their hydraulic brakes to stop them in a very short distance, not realizing just how fast they are traveling. The drivers just forget that and start to stop their cars too late. One of the Jonahs is the guy that approaches the side road.

There you are going down the highway at a fair clip of say 50 or 60 miles per hour if the roads are straight. There comes a long, slick job off a side road, neighborhood or farm-market. He don't appear to see the highway, and comes in with a booming 70. You slow, and move to the other side of the highway to avoid the impact. The other guy slams on his brakes amid much squeaking and squaking, and settles on a dime. He looks at you disdainfully—gives you the once over through his dark glasses, and appears to ask—"did I scare you, Bud?"

Then there is the moron that has to be at some place 100 miles or more down the road at exactly 6 P. M., to the second. Perhaps there are millions—or more up-to-date billions, involved, mostly hot air. Perhaps the driver is a Mr. Milktoast at home, but behind a steering wheel he is a Barney Oldfield. He will try to pass another car in front when the lane on the other side is only clear for 100 feet or so. Some one has to take the shoulder or get bumped off.

Highway Dept. Not Immune

Last but not least, the highway department pulls some boners itself. There are numerous places we know on highways, where one highway comes into a straight one with something like a 45 degree angle. There is one where the Snyder and Big Spring highways separate in east Lamesa. There is also one in north Brownfield, where the Levelland highway leads off the Lubbock road.

We have no idea whose bright idea it was, in these two places, but there are many others. These are just near home and well known to our readers. In the little plot of three corner land where the "Stop Sign" is located, the department planted trees and shrubs. They are now some six feet tall, and in summer when there is a lot of foliage on the bushes, one has to pull almost into the other road before he can see if another car is coming from toward Lubbock.

If our suggestion is worth a copper to the department, it would be that if the highways are to be beautified, why not put the shrubbery some place that will not exclude the view at a dangerous intersection? Or else put out something that will not get over three feet high, or keep it trimmed to that height.

Let the highway department take the lead in "Safety."

Are Our Texas Highways Being Destroyed by 1% of Highway Users?

This question is presented squarely for the first time by the Texas Tax Journal in its booklet, "The Case of the One Per Centers."

Every Texan who wants good highways, adequate for 99 of every 100 users, should write for a free copy of this revealing booklet.

Approximately 99% of all Texas motor vehicles are registered for a gross weight of 20,000 pounds or less.**

All Texas taxpayers, including your Texas Railroads, have reason to be concerned about the high cost of constructing and repairing our highways and the prospect of building more costly roads made necessary by the operation of highway "box cars."

No one has any desire to bar vehicles of reasonable size from our highways, so long as each pays its fair share of construction and repair costs.

Other Texas taxpayers should not be required to shoulder the burden of a roadway system for highway "box cars", representing only 1% of highway users.

Every Texan interested in good highways without increasing the growing tax burden should fill out the coupon below and get a copy of this valuable booklet.
