OFFICIALS MAKE FINAL INSPECTION OF NEW SCHOOL BUILDING THIS AFTERNOON

Members of the Brownfield Independent School board, the contractors, and the architects will make a final inspection of the new $550,000 high school building this afternoon, in preparation for occupancy, according to Alton Webb, president of the board. Also making the inspection will be S. P. Cowan, superintendent of the schools, and O. R. Douglas, high school principal.

It was hoped that students would be able to move into the new building the day after resuming their schedules following the holidays, but due to a delay in furniture shipment, those plans were cancelled. Work has been received, however, that the furniture is enroute to Brownfield, and Webb said that plans are now being made to move to the new building the first part of next week.

The new buildings is located at East Broadway and D streets and has been under construction since November, 1949. Architects for the new building were Wilson and Patterson of Fort Worth, and general contractors were James T. Taylor and sons of Lubbock.

A dedicatory ceremony, to be held sometime in February or March, is being planned. Although no definite date for the ceremony has been set, and invitation to make the principal address has been extended to Dr. J. W. Edgar, chairman of the state board of education. Officials also hope to bring the United States Navy band here for the ceremony.

The present high school building will be used to relieve a part of the congestion in the other Brownfield schools. Plans are under way for additions to the present schools and the construction of a new Negro school, which were approved in a $300,000 school bond election held November 7.

MEASLES RATHER PREVALENT IN TERRY

The State Health Department bulletin issued week ending Dec. 16, gave the following communicable diseases in Terry county:

Gonorrhea, 1; influenza, 10; measles, 21; pneumonia, 12; and scarlet fever, 1. Yoakum county reported no communicable diseases.

Monday Is Dollar Day In Brownfield

Monday, January 8, is Dollar Day in Brownfield. For many of the bargains to be offered Saturday and Monday in your city, consult advertisements in this issue of the Herald.

Your local merchants from time to time express their thanks to you for your patronage by offering outstanding bargains in their stores through Dollar day and clearance sales. You in turn can show your appreciation by supporting them.

In conjunction with the Dollar Day specials, the Fair Department store is starting their January clearance sale today (Friday).

County Dairymen To Meet January 9

Jim Foy, county agent, announces that a meeting will be held in the county court room, beginning at 8 p. m., Tuesday, January 9, for the purpose of setting up an artificial breeding program by dairymen in Terry county.

Coy Neely, associate professor at Texas Technological College in charge of the artificial breeding program there, will attend the meeting, Foy said. Neely will explain the program to the group and will answer any questions pertaining to it.

Some five hundred cows will be needed for the program in this county, Foy said. Only Jersey and Holstein cows can be used. All dairymen who are interested in developing this program in Terry county are urged to attend the meeting Tuesday night.

Dairy men are reminded that artificial breeding offers a wonderful opportunity to improve the quality of their cattle. Among the other advantages of artificial breeding are avoiding bringing diseases into their herds, which often occurs when they buy replacements; furnishing a complete record for artificial breeding association members; bulls can be proved at a younger age; permits the safe breeding of large bulls to young heifers; allows outstanding dairy sires which are available; and service can be obtained from outstanding dairy sires at a relatively low cost.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE SHOWS 18% GAIN

AUSTIN—Postal receipts in 71 Texas cities totaled $4,252,354 in November, an increase of 9 per cent over November, 1949, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

November receipts were 3 per cent below October's, but after adjustment for seasonal variation, the Bureau's index rose six per cent over October to 326 per cent of the 1935-39 base period.

New Braunfels had the largest monthly gain, 21 per cent. Other large percentage gains were in Corsicana, 19 per cent; Brownfield, 18 per cent; Lamesa, 15 per cent; El Campo, 13 per cent; and Temple and Longview, 7 per cent.

Canadian River Compact Signed

Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico have reached an agreement on dividing the waters of the Canadian river which rises in New Mexico and flows across the Texas Panhandle into Oklahoma.

A formal compact was signed at Santa Fe on December 6 by Col. E. V. Spence for Texas, Clarence Burch for Oklahoma, John H. Bliss for New Mexico and Berkeley Johnson for the federal government. It will become effective upon ratification by the legislatures of the respective states and by the Congress.

Colonel Spence said he believes the agreement "fair and satisfactory" and that it will "stabilize the division of water so that all states may go ahead with any planned development."

Following the signing of the Compact a delegation of West Texans consisting of Mayor Gene Klein of Amarillo, Mayor Clarence Whitsett of Lubbock, A. A. Meredith, City Manager of Borger Joe Cooley, Manager of the Borger Chamber of Commerce, and Rex Baxter, vice president and executive director of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, rushed to Washington to work for the passage of H.R. 2733 authorizing the construction of the $85,000,000 Bureau of Reclamation Canadian River Project near Sanford to supply 13 West Texas cities and towns with water for municipal and industrial purposes.

The authorization measure passed the Senate Friday, December 15 and the House approved the Senate amendments without debate and the bill now awaits President Truman's approval.

The 13 cities and towns which would draw water from the project are Amarillo, Borger, Lubbock, Pampa, Tahoka, Levelland, Littlefield, O'Donnell, Brownfield, Plainview, Slaton, Lamesa and Dimmit.

BROWNFIELD CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BACKS REACTIVATION OF CAMP BOWIE

If Brownwood doesn't want Camp Bowie reactivated there, Brownfield does. Brownfield and Brownwood are often confused because of the similarity of their names.

Such was the gist of telegrams sent Thursday by Wayne (Red) Smith, manager, and A. M. Muldrow, president, of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, to Sen. Tom Connally, Sen. Lyndon Johnson, and Rep. George Mahon.

"Please do not confuse Brownfield with Brownwood. The Chamber of Commerce of Brownfield and other patriotic citizens of Brownfield will be glad to have Camp Bowie located here in Brownfield — come what may" was the content of the telegram sent to the congressmen Thursday, Smith said.

A small faction of persons living in Brownwood have signed a petition and sent it to their congressmen, protesting the reactivation of the base in Brownwood, saying they were afraid the training of the military there would subject the city to a possible atom bomb attack. The $18,000 acre tract of land on which the camp was built was declared surplus by the government in 1946 and is now mostly privately owned or leased.

Did You Note That Change In Weather?

After ransacking our closet for all the wearables that the doggone moths hadn't eaten up, and yelling at the girls at the office till hoarse to please "shot" the door, we have just about decided that perhaps you, too, gentle reader, have already discovered that the weather, which around Christmas was balmy and spring-like, has suddenly changed to a frigid onslaught from the Arctic regions.

By our count the above sentence has sixty-odd words. Not so long ago, we read in one of our exchanges, whose guide and director was a "killidge" graduate, and thoroughly versed in the King's English, stated that 18 words was enough on one sentence. Either make another paragraph or use a period, at least. But if anything suits us better, it is to make a smear of English and language in general and get the editorial houses down on our head.

Anyway, it's cold, isn't it? Chilleoncane, to you Latin speakers. But one time we were corrected on chili. A fellow told us that it means pepper, and hot pepper at that. What a language? Spanish, we mean.

We would be a bit more willing to endure the cold if there was a lot of moisture mixed with it. Some of the wheat here in Terry is going to have to have moisture in the next 12 or 14 hours, or there won't be any.

A FEW PARTING SHOTS AT THE OLD YEAR

We still say get our boys out of Korea if the United Nations will not allow McArthur to bomb the Red Chinese supply lines as well as military concentration points including Peiping.

As the Chinese Reds are pouring it on the UN forces, what is the reason for not allowing the Chinese Nationalists 600,000 well trained soldiers join our side? If the UN is going to run things over there, let them put up or shut up.

Well, here we are into a new year, and we hope it will be better on us than last year. Nineteen-fifty gave us a lot of hard work, high taxes and little money, clothes and eats.

This reminds us of an article we read in a mag. Sunday night. The writer bore down on the fact that if you compared wages of 1900 with those of today, even though things you bought then were give away compared to presently, people have more money to jingle—the thinks.

And then there was the question of longevity. With the present production of modern miracle drugs, the writer maintained that the life expectancy since 1900 had increased some 20 years. But some moron may ask, "Is it worth it?"

Anyway, Happy New Year!

Fort Worth Man To Hold Revival Here

Rev. Henry G. Sproggins, Fort Worth evangelist, will begin a revival meeting at the First Baptist Church in Brownfield Thursday, January 14, through January 21, it was announced this week by Rev. Fred Stumpp, pastor of the church.

Preceding the revival, beginning Monday, January 8, will be a series of Cottage Prayer meetings, which also will be conducted in conjunction with International Prayer Week, January 8-17.

The cottage prayer meetings will be held in the homes of various members of the congregation and will be led by laymen of the church. Meetings being at 7:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

S. P. Cowan Resigns As Superintendent

S. P. Cowan, superintendent of the Brownfield schools for the past four years, announced this week that he has resigned his present position to accept presidency of the Temple Junior College, and to be superintendent of the Temple public schools.

Cowan, who came to Brownfield from Ingleside following serving with the armed forces during World War II, submitted his resignation to the Brownfield school board last week. Members of the board voted to accept his resignation, which is effective February 1.

In a meeting of the school board Wednesday night, members voted to give O. R. Douglas, now principal of Brownfield high school, a contract to fill out the superintendent's position for the remainder of the school year. The board is now considering applications for the principal's position.

Too Many People Hurt Or Killed

Aside from the war jitters, the carnage caused by our own reckless and intoxicated drivers is enough to disgust those not directly involved, and sadden the hearts of tens of thousands, whose folks were directly involved in death dealing cars on the highways.

There are still too many people who think their time is worth a million a minute, and the loss of a little time will mean a disaster—and often does. If the truth were known, perhaps those who insist on making the next 100 miles on the dot to a second, are not really so important. Some of them, perhaps would be overpaid if their time were computed at one dollar per hour.

Then there is another brand who are just smart kids, and wish to show off the maneuverability of their new car on the highway. They weave in and weave out, and take huge chances on hills to pass another car that is perhaps traveling too fast. Perhaps they'll have to cut in right in front of another car, if they see a big truck coming over the hill.

In traveling over the Texas and other highways, the writer has watched a lot of folks that apparently should be in an insane asylum, if their action behind an auto steering wheel is any indication of their general makeup.

But perhaps at home, these drivers are just Mr. Milktoasts. Very modest folks, and would not kill a flea. But behind a wheel, their nature seems to change. They become maniacs, not only to themselves and their families, but to other innocent travelers.

Talk about women being the reckless one, and taking chances. They are not in it with the male persuasion.

In the early days of the industry, public telephones were contained within a box which was opened by the insertion of a coin.

P. T. Barnum was once mayor of Bridgeport, Conn.

State Rep. Carr Here Tuesday

Representative Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, was down Tuesday to make a final call among the people here before taking off to Austin Thursday of this week, he will be sworn in. He is the representative of this the 106th district, elected in July primary and November general election. Regular session of the legislature starts Monday.

Calling at the Herald office for a few minutes chat, he stated that he was strictly against the so-called "fair rates act" of kind, and that he would do anything in his power to help west Texas and south Texas get equal representation in the legislature of the state.

He will join forces with Rep. Harley Sadler of the Abilene district and other west Texas house and senate men to try to get just representation. This district now has between 200,000 and 300,000 people. Some east Texas districts have less than 20,000.

Some of the east Texas crowd have thought to have another stall coming this year due to the fact, as they state, the final census figures will not be turned in until next year, thus delaying until 1952 any redistricting legislation. But it just so happens that Attorney General Price Daniell has held that the preliminary figures are official, in another case to come before his office.

Carr suggested that in case they could not get a square deal, it would be left to the committee as provided by the new constitutional amendment, composed of the Governor, Lt. - Governor, Speaker of the House and two other state officials to redistrict the state.

If it gets too hot Carr promised to call for the Old He to come down there with his Tennessee fast walking hickory stick, and see if it is not at least as hard as some of the heads of east Texas lawmakers.

Girl Injured In Accident Succumbs

Miss Martha Norman, 21 year old student at West Texas State Teachers College, died in the local hospital at 4:05 p. m., Wednesday as a result of head injuries received in an automobile accident near of Plains Friday night.

Miss Norman was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Norman of Rule. She would have received her degree from college January 21 and had accepted a position to teach in the Amarillo public schools, following her graduation.

She received a brain concussion and other injuries Friday night when the automobile in which she was a passenger overturned. Five other persons in the automobile were not seriously hurt.

The injured persons were taken to Plains and then brought to Brownfield to the local hospital by a Brownfield Funeral Home ambulance and highway patrolmen. Treated for minor injuries and released from the hospital were Leonard Emory, driver of the car; and Robert Pace, B. C. Sheehan, and Kay and Emery McInturff.

Miss Norman's body was prepared for burial and taken overland to Rule by the Brownfield Funeral Home for burial services.

Survivors include her parents and two sisters, Mrs. Jack Davis and Mrs. Roger Davis, all of Rule.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Greenfield Sr., had as their guests for the Christmas holidays their children.

Home for Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. Keller Greenfield of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McAdoo, Leon, Joan and Wayne, all of Panwell Texas, L. O. Greenfield Jr., and family, and Juanelle Greenfield.

The nests of the Australian riflebird are decorated with discarded snake skins.

DO YOU SAVVY WHAT'S A BOATER

The past week we had a letter, pictures—actual—and other advertising matter from a New York firm that sold the new waterpump Boaters. At course the Old He doesn't need any Boaters anymore, as all the kids are grown and married off.

But the new mamas and papas are getting some practice, and if you happen to have on your best 'duds you don't want to look like you've been in a rainstorm while holding Junior or Mary Jane as the case may be.

These waterpump Boaters are handled by the Tot-Teen Shop, and they are welcome to this little plug.

Receives Calf In Return Program

Billy Gill last week received a registered Jersey heifer from Teague Bailey Chevrolet company under the Terry county registered Jersey heifer program. The calf Gill received was a "return" from Van Perry, who received the last calf from Teague-Bailey.

The purpose of this program is to encourage diversification and to stimulate interest in better livestock in Terry county and the Brownfield trade territory. The program is open to all 4-H and Vocational Agriculture boys whose fathers own land in the county, or who are well-established tenants. There are some 40 calves in the program at the present time.

Club boys receive the calves from local business men and feed and care for the calves under the supervision of the county agent or the vocational agriculture teacher. At not less than 16 months of age, the calves are bred, and the resulting calf is returned to the business man to be given to another club boy.

WATCH SERVICE HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A Watch Night service was held for the congregation of the First Baptist church on December 31, beginning at 8:30 p. m.

A departmental fellowship ship started the service, followed at 9 p. m. with reassembly of the departments and a song service and a film. At 9:30 p. m. heads of the Sunday school Training Union, Womens Missionary Union, Deacons, and Brotherhood, gave short talks on "Backward and Forward Looks."

Refreshments and a recreational period were held at 10:15 p. m. followed at 10:45 p. m. with a musical program, with a musical selection from each department. At 11:40 p. m. the group held a devotional and prayer service, and at 12:05 p. m. HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The program was under the sponsorship of the Training Union. Special guests were members who have joined the church within the last quarter.

This Week With The Oil Business

Not a lot has happened since the Christmas holiday started in. As the old saying goes most of the wells being drilled in Terry county fields are betwixt and between production. The McGowan well has been finished in the South Brownfield Field, and one of the Scales wells in the Wellman field.

A few of the others has missed connection with the reef, and are going on down deeper to see if there is anything in some other formation lower in the bowels of the earth. The well north of Gomez should be getting in the neighborhood of the reef—if any in that area.

One guy gave it as his opinion that leases were getting too high, $1,000 to $2,000 per acre, and the majors know how to cure that attitude. Find a few "dry" holes.

Maybe a little fresh news next week.

OLD HARRISON HAS MONOPOLY ON STILL

The Texas Liquor Control Board inspectors in November reported the seizure of five illicit stills.

With the stills, which had a cubic capacity of 275 gallons, inspectors captured 650 gallons of mash and made one arrest. Seven gallons of moonshine liquor were destroyed.

Four stills were taken in Harrison county, and one was taken in Red River county.

WEATHER REPORT—VERY VARIABLE

Along just before a lot of our late risers opened their peepers enough to get out of bed Tuesday morning, there was a shower or two of rain. Sounded natural. Then in the afternoon the snow—a wet one—came down through the old peach orchard, about an inch, if that too not melted.

But it quit too soon. We were all set for an all night affair. Then come Wednesday—you guessed it—a full grown sandstorm. But maybe we got enough moisture to keep the roots of the struggling wheat alive till it does get more moisture.

Thursday open, clear, still and warming up.

Citrus Junior College is in Azusa, Calif.

Collins Getting Used To The East

Roy (Toots) Collins was in to see us one day late last week. He is the youngest son of Mrs. Fred Smith, and was reared in Coahoma, Howard county. Roy is also a grand-nephew of Mrs. Stricklin. He was here primarily to visit his mother here and his sister, Mrs. John Andrews of Plainview. He works for the engineering department of a big cotton mill in South Carolina.
 He was accompanied home by another young man, whose people live in Hale Center. Both are graduates of the textile engineering department of Tech College at Lubbock. Being reared in the west, of course we were anxious to get his reaction to the east, and the old South part of it at that. Of course he has a good, well paying job, and that goes a long way. And mill towns are made up of people out of most sections of the nation.

However, he declared he liked fine. The conversation then drifted to the fast expansion of some of the older states the Carolinas, Georgia, and Alabama in particular, to industry. A few years ago, we made a trip through part of these states, and we spoke of the prevalence of smokestacks and factories in those we passed through. Roy stated that in one South Carolina town not far from him, there were 30 odd smokestacks.
 This reminded us of a story that came out in some Boston daily about a year ago. The New England people had become jittery about so many factories, especially cotton and woolen mills moving south. It was generally believed up there that the working conditions were very bad and the pay was almost non-existent. So a reporter was sent to the South by a leading Boston daily.
 His report briefly, was that living conditions were equal to those in factory towns in the north. The housing adequate, as climate is warmer. Instead of six or seven months of snowbound winter, there was little cold weather in the south. In fact, fruit trees were blooming down there when they were still snowbound in New England. And the pay checks were even better than in the Boston area, when cost of living was considered.

 Last, but not least, the factory owners said that production costs were lowered in the South as the climate was so much better, and they could sell cheaper.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to members of the Brownfield Country Club for their generosity in the Christmas gift which they gave us,
 MR. AND MRS. H. T. BOYD and Family.
 Mrs. Glynden Stockton and Mrs. W. J. Hix spent Sunday in Lamesa visiting Mr. and Mrs. Willis Edmondson and Mrs. W. P. Nolan and family.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Well after all, recognizing Franco's Spain is no worse nor better, perhaps, than trying to do business with Stalin. It is a well known fact that Franco does stick by his friends. He was for German nazism and Italian facism, and he stuck with these powers as long as they survived. That he hates Russian and Communism is doubted in no quarter.

One of the most appreciated gifts we received during the holidays or to be exact, just after, was a crate of mixed grapefruit and oranges, right off of their own trees, in their back yard. Like everything else, before Christmas, they moved at a snail's pace. But they were tree ripened and worth the wait.

Just before we forget the matter, we'd better tell who sent them. They were from our in-laws, Mumford and Jimmie Smith out at Glendale, Ariz. They also threaten never to come to our house again unless the ol' "dum-merh" is at home. They had to put up with our batching the last time they were here last August. So did some of the California kin, while the Mrs. was down at Brownwood looking after the new grand-daughter.

Anyway, thanks for the breakfast appetizers.

By the way, did you keep an accurate record of all your Christmas cards? We believe the Mrs. has all our cards received from relatives, friends and well wishers in general. Of course we have a number that came from firms in other cities we deal with. Don't know whether she has ev-ermade a count of them or not.

And we still say get our boys out of Korea unless the UN lets McArthur bomb the supply lines of the Chinese Reds in Manchuria. On top of that, why not let a half million well trained Republic of China soldiers in on the fight?

Red China is not a member of the UN, but the Republic has a seat in the Council. Yet, the UN as a whole, backed by the administration at Washington, will not agree to let these enemies of the Reds fight on our side, while thousands of our young men die.

And other members of the UN, and this includes England and France, have only taken combat troops to help. Uncle Sam is putting up practically all the men, money, warships and ammunition, yet the other UN members dictate what will or will not be done. If we are in a war with Red China, and we are, why not allow the air force to bomb hedges out of them behind the lines. They come and go across the time when they like. Yet we must respect their boundary.

We'll bet they are laughing about the foolish UN right now. Sorter like instructing son not to dare hit the little bully-boy until he hits you. Well, after he hits you, you may not be able to hit back. Ever thought of that?

Gen. Washington was a pretty wise old boy when he advised us against foreign entanglements. We started out doing just that in 1917, and have had a world of trouble ever since.

Now we are supposed to feed and clothe the world, pay their taxes and do their fighting. But the big boys say we must do just that, no matter if it takes every American boy between the ages of 18 and 35. When will we learn to attend to our own knitting?

Behind The Scenes

BY REYNOLDS KNIGHT

NEW YORK—Is the end of farm subsidies in sight? This stronghold of pressure-economics is beginning to crack a little but it cannot be concluded that the whole system of price supports will collapse.

It may be a little inconsistent for the government to be sponsoring price supports on one economic front while cracking down on prices elsewhere, but consistency has little to do with it. Support for farm prices has long been fundamental in the credos of both parties.

True, price support for eggs will be discontinued after December 31, and the potato program, which resulted in the Commodity Credit Corp. buying $100 million of the 1949 crop, and $500 million over a seven year period, practically collapsed of its own weight. These may be straws in the wind. The proponents of price supports are embarrassed but are not yet ready to abandon farm subsidies altogether. Some prices are sufficiently above the support levels

Miss Donnah Jones Wed To Don Cates

Before an improvised altar banked with white gladioli, Miss Donnah Rae Jones became the bride of Don Edsel Cates, Thursday evening, December 28, in the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Jones, Rev. Fred Stumpp, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Jones of Seagraves, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Cates of this city.

The altar was flanked with tall candelabra holding white burning tapers. Huckleberry leaves and baskets of white gladioli provided a background for the candle-light service. Arrangements of flowers were used throughout the house.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original Maurice Rentner ensemble of soft lighted the candles, and wore a dress of teal blue velveteen, and a headpiece of gardenias.

Pat McMillan of Brownfield served as best man.

Traditional wedding marches were played by Mrs. Don Cade, who also offered "Oh! Promise Me" and "Wonderful One" as the vows were exchanged. She also accompanied Miss Webb who sang "Always", and read Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "How Do I Love Thee?"

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts to a reception for the couple. A large wedding cake topped with a smaller heart-shaped cake, white bells and yellow roses centered the linen covered bridal table. Mrs. B. H. Jones cut the cake which was served by Mrs. Curtis Bingham, and Miss Nash presided at the punch bowl.

The mother of the bride wore a beige suit with old gold accents, and her accessories were of brown suede with a corsage of brown orchids.

Mrs. Cates, mother of the groom, wore a silver gray suit with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. H. O. Jones, aunt of the bride, wore a navy suit with winter white accessories.

After an extended wedding trip through the southwest, including points in Arizona and Nevada, the couple will be at home in Brownfield at 501 North Fifth.

Mrs. Cates is a 1948 graduate of the Seagraves high school, and attended Texas Tech in Lubbock where she was a pledge to Las Vivarachas social club.

The groom is a graduate of the Brownfield high school, and attended Texas A. & M. College. He received his bachelor of science degree in accounting from Walton's School of Accounting in Chicago. He is now employed at the Primm Drug Store.

Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Bynum included: Mrs. J. E. Garland; Mrs. Ola Tinkler, Mrs. Mary Schmid and sons, all of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bynum, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Brown and son, Joe, Ralph Bynum, J. H. Stinson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Bynum, all of Brownfield.

Mrs. B. L. Thompson and Maurice had as their guests during the holidays, Dr. S. B. Thompson of Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Thompson and son, David Lee, of Fort Worth; Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Laird and son, Lee, of San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Brown of Route 3, Brownfield, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Glynita La Ann, to Buster Steen, son of Mrs. Johnnie Steen, 904 Tahoka Road.

The vows will be read some time in January.

Our good friend are still asking us if we had a good Christmas. The answer is yes and no. If the day was simply as intended for us at this late date and time, it could be easily eliminated, and we'd never miss it. Oh, yes, we are aware of the fact that Jesus was supposed to have been born on that day. But that date was as indefinite perhaps purposely, but it is all guess work. Bible scholars are divided on the matter. Some say it happened in March and some April. Not many contend for December. So, we have reached the conclusion that the facts of the date of His birth was not half so essential as the date of his death, in which he shed his blood for the sins of the world, which He came to save, but most people, no matter their belief, Jew and Gentile, go along with the Christmas holiday, so far as that is concerned. Here is the only angle we now enjoy. That of watching the small fry of both sexes receive their presents; their reaction; their look of pleasure and astonishment, and their childlike faith that there is such a person as Santa Claus. One would have to be a very pessimistic old wart not to get a big kick out of that part of Christmas. But so far as Christmas day, December 25th, being the birthday of Jesus the Christ, we are all in the dark. Had the fact been very important, God would have provided the exact date for man, so there would be no doubt. Man set the date. The Bible does not mention it one way or the other.

The unusually long drought in Texas and adjoining states. The drought has not only hit west Texas but all parts of it. A nephew at Cleburne wrote recently that he could not remember a drought as long as the one they have had down there in north central Texas. And even down in east Texas, extra fire guards are watching for possible forest fires, as the woods are like tinder. And around Brownwood in the central part of the state, the creeks are drying up, water has to be hauled to livestock, and dairy herds are failing fast. In production. About the only thing the Weather Bureau can do is predict rain when it is about ready to pour. But long distance forecasts are mere guesswork at best. Sometimes rain, sleet or snow is produced by a cold front from up Alaska way, meeting the warm front somewhere in the USA. But sometimes these fronts after entering USA will turn east or southeast, and the west and south-west remains dry. This front meet front, stuff is explained in this way: Most of us have noted that when a glass of ice cold liquid is brought into a warm room, drops of water will quickly form on the outside of the glass, although apparently the outside of the glass was perfectly dry when it was brought into the room. But even with all this information, the Weatherman is not prepared to tell us when this prolonged drought will end, and we will get that much needed moisture that perhaps will revive our almost gone wheat crop. Some of the old timers are still betting on the thick husks on corn this fall, and the thick coat of hair on their dog and other domestic animal's backs. Personally, we feel that the hair on our old crown is a bit thinner, if anything. Wish it would rain. Or we could use a real nice, soft falling wet snow, some 8 to 12 inches deep. No blizzard and blowing dry snow, please.

Recently John T. Flynn, author of the best seller, "The Road Ahead—America's Creeping Revolution," addressed the American Association of Physicians and Surgeons. This book was not only a best seller, but caused the administration quite some worry, and an effort was made to investigate the circulation of the book, and especially wealthy men who bought a number of copies to send their friends or employees. Flynn frankly told the doctors that they were not the only ones concerned with this creeping socialism. "Yours is just one of the battle fronts," he told them. It runs into the power industry and agriculture, under the incredible terms of the administration backed Brannan Plan. He told them that the recently introduced Spence Bill was the first step in the government owned and planned industrial plants. And the government is planning to get their hooks into the public school system by means of tax grants in trade for the privilege of telling the school what they can or cannot teach. Every man and woman, whether they be a financier or day laborer, a farmer or a professional man, must be brought to realize where they are being led. The battle is on, and unless socialism is stopped short, we are going to find ourselves in the same pew with old England. A good start in the battle was made November 6th, but the work must be kept up: The powers that be at the nation's capital, are not going to let the November elections be a lesson to them. To eradicate this, the battle lines must be kept active. The whole idea is to regiment not only the people, but all industry as well. Socialism is just the brainstorm of those who have never made or accomplished anything themselves. They fancy it would be nice to share in the products of those who have been diligent in business, and have accumulated some of this world's goods.

We get a kick out of nearly every issue of the Texas Forest News. Most anyone would love trees, and few despise them. A few trees around places in this area of the state from looking extremely lonesome and forbidding. In nearly every issue of the Forest News, a huge oak or some other tree is shown on the last page. Not only are they large, but in some way maybe famous, as the meeting place of Texas patriots and statesmen back 100 years ago or more. Some of these trees are estimated in age from 1,000 to 3,000 years old. In the last issue is shown the famous Goose Island Oak, sometimes called Bishop's Oak. It measures 32 ft. and one inch in girth 4 ft. above the ground; has a crown spread of 140 feet and is 80 feet tall. But there is another naturalness about the huge old tree. It leans toward the north at an angle of more than 45 degrees. In fact, it looks like it is about ready to tumble down. Those who have visited our Gulf coast will catch our meaning. All trees down there lean way north, and look rather odd to the Texas inlander, who is familiar with trees that generally grow straight heavenward, especially slash pine and oak as well as most gum and cypress. Of course the way trees grow on the Gulf coast is determined to a large extent by the many hurricanes that visit our coast annually and sometimes of tenebr. These heavy winds begin to influence the growth of trees when they are saplings. But while they have a case of "leaning" too far backward, they are still pretty, and their shade is a welcome spot to those who are tired and hot in the hot, humid air of south Texas.
