TEXAS INDEPENDENCE WON IN SPITE OF SAM HOUSTON SAYS NOTED HISTORIAN

DALLAS — (Special) — Andrew Forest Muir has some things to say about Texas' Number One hero which should be said with a smile — particularly when ladies of patriotic societies are present. . . In an article in the Spring issue of "Southwest Review," published by Southern Methodist University Press, Mr. Muir reveals for the first time certain facts about the Battle of San Jacinto which no doubt will cause arguments almost as heated as the battle. . . Muir writes that when news of the fall of the Alamo reached Houston's army, it began a headlong retreat, first to the Colorado, then to the Brazos. . . Houston's army was made up largely of men who had come to Texas for a fight. . .

Thomas J. Rusk, it was the only command the surly Texans would obey. . . Later, when both Mexican and Texan armies had succeeded in bottling themselves up between Buffalo Bayou and a strip of exposed prairie, the Texas men could no longer be restrained and attacked the Mexicans during their siesta hour. . . Muir's article is bound to add more fuel to the fires which have long raged around this most controversial event in Texas history. . .

LEGISLATIVE WALLS RESOUNDED WITH "RIGHTEOUS" INDIGNATION

Had a letter from Waggoner Carr, our representative of the old 119th. It made interesting reading matter. Waggoner gave a vivid description of just what took place in the House of Representatives, on that eventful day, when redistricting was passed by the 119th District four ways: Lynn, Dawson, Gaines and Andrews will have one representative, Hockley, Cochran, Terry and Youkum counties will have one representative. Lubbock will have two representatives. Crosby, Garza, Kent, Borden and Scurry counties will have one representative. This means that our area will have four representatives instead of the one it now has. The West Texas area as a whole has picked up eleven new representatives.

"This is something that we have all waited for many years and it is with heartfelt thanks that I express my appreciation to you and the other people of the 119th District for giving me the honor of being on the 'firing line' in the long overdue solution of this problem."

instructed to lock the doors to the chamber, and the House was kept in session without lunch till the bill was passed around 4 p. m. We wish to quote the last two paragraphs from Carr's letter.

4 New Districts

Lubbock will have two representatives. Crosby, Garza, Kent, Borden and Scurry counties will have one representative. This means that our area will have four representatives instead of the one it now has. The West Texas area as a whole has picked up eleven new representatives."

Clothing For The Grade School Boy

COLLEGE STATION — When a boy reaches the period between six and 12 years of age, his clothing and appearance become mighty important to him. Mary Routh, Clothing Specialist for the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service says that boys of this age want freedom of movement in their clothing and that parents should be understanding about the selection.

Miss Routh points out that a reasonable amount of wear and tear must be expected. A simple design, sturdy materials, and good construction should be considered carefully, she says, when purchases are being made.

A cotton knitted or fabric shirt, slacks, socks and oxfords are the traditional garments for most grade school boys. Jackets of various styles are usually more popular than coats, but in extremely cold weather, overcoats are needed. In buying an overcoat, Miss Routh warns, be careful not to get it too big nor too tight.

Sweaters for six to 12-year-old boys should be of a durable fiber, such as combed cotton or wool and they should be color fast. The cotton knit shirt is a popular item with all ages. The best quality knit shirt is pre-shrunk and color fast. It is made from fine, durable, mercerized cotton yarn. Miss Routh advises mothers to get good values when they buy boys' clothing but at the same time see that it is appropriate and comfortable. Boys' shirts, pajamas and shorts can be sewn at home at a saving of about 50 percent, she says.

Baumgardner Named Assn. Committeeman

Robert Baumgardner of Brownfield was named committeeman for a field day to be held July 29 by the West Texas Aberdeen Angus Association when the association met at Lubbock last Saturday for an organizational meeting.

A. C. Chesser of Littlefield was elected president of the group, Clyde Bradford of Happy was elected vice president, and K. L. Hagg of Lubbock was elected secretary.

Speakers for the meeting were Dean Stangel of Texas Technological College, Chesser, and Mill Miller, field representative for the American Aberdeen Angus Breeders Association.

The field day will be held July 29 at the Texas Tech beef farm, and food will be served by the association. Serving with Baumgardner on the field day committee are E. L. Gantner of Silverton and E. J. Stone of Sudan.

J. Fred Bucy, also of Brownfield, was one of the 26 area men who attended the meeting Saturday. Bucy and Baumgardner will also show stock at the Panhandle and South Plains Fair at Lubbock this year.

FROZEN PEAS ARE FAVORITES

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (AP) — Green peas are by far the most important single frozen vegetable, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The 1950 frozen pea pack set a new record of more than 154,000,000 pounds, the department says.

The Bureau of Agriculture Economics notes that consumption of frozen peas in recent years has cut into the demand for fresh peas, particularly during the winter harvest season in southern truck areas.

Certified Seed Should Be Used

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers who plant poor quality seed are likely to harvest poor crops, warns L. C. Coffey, associate agronomist for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service. Careful examination of the tag on each sack will help the farmer determine the quality of the seed he is getting.

Coffey says that certified seed are usually the best seed of a particular variety available. Certified seed come from fields that have been inspected during the growing season, and have been properly handled at harvest time, cleaned, tested for purity and germination, and properly stored.

Blue tags attached to each sack of certified seed carry accurate information about the quality of the planting seed. These blue tags are issued by the State Department of Agriculture for use on seed which have met certain high standards of purity and germination. In 1950, blue tags were issued for 96 varieties of 12 different crops grown in Texas.

Although certified seed may cost slightly more than seed that are not certified, the added expense is offset by the assurance of purity and percentage of germination, says Coffey. Seed of questionable germination and purity may not be cheap at any price.

When farmers buy certified seed, they know what they are getting. Coffey reminds farmers that the certification tags are an excellent source of valuable information when they are buying planting seed.

SPRING FEVER CAN BE TRAFFIC HAZARD

Did you know that spring fever can be a dangerous disease?

Most people consider spring fever harmless and pleasant, but A. C. Harbin, of the City Police, Brownfield's representative for the American Automobile Association's National Pedestrian Protection Contest, tells us that spring fever can be dangerous if it distracts pedestrians from obeying safe walking rules in traffic.

"If you are watching the budding trees or chirping birds as you cross the street instead of watching for approaching traffic, you may walk into the path of an automobile whose driver isn't able to stop in time to avoid hitting you," Harbin explained. His advice to pedestrians and drivers alike is to indulge in spring fever only when in a safe place.

"So, springtime or anytime, keep clear headed and alert crossing streets and obey the old rule — stop, look and listen," Harbin concluded.

will help train county Extension agents and adult and youth leaders in recreation activities and will assist them in developing a county, community and family recreation program.

Viewing The Fine Farms Of Terry

Just had to get out late Sunday afternoon and view some of the good farm section of old Terry, after the fine showers, and the sun came out. The Mrs. and the grandson, Robert, shared the ride. First stop was Wellman, as we wanted to find out for sure if the Farm-Market road from the Wellman F-M had been built through to a juncture with the Johnson F-M, at the County Farm.

So, stopped in for a short chat with our old friend, Tom Warren, who has a nice grocery store at Wellman. Tom was all smiles, although the rain was lighter there than any place we visited, probably from a quarter to a third of an inch. The road was paved through, Tom said, and after a few jests, we hit the pike. The F-M road turns off some two miles west of Wellman, and we entered some of the better farming areas of Terry county.

We found that the snow of the past week, augmented by the rain of last week, had its effect on the wheat. It was really greening up, and if we can have a few more showers along, we may make a considerable wheat crop. However, since the November freeze and dry weather, the wheat has not been grazeable, but farmers may now get a few weeks of grazing before the wheat boots

Never Paid Over $1.00 For The Herald

Cecil O'Neal, prosperous farmer of the Pleasant Valley community seems to be a real bargain hunter. He walked in this week and asked if we had any bargain rates on the Herald. To be sure, we informed him of the three years for five buck proposition.

He said that up to now he had never paid over $1 for the Herald. Back some ten years ago, when we went to $2.00 per year in the county and trade area, Cecil plunked down a ten spot for ten years. His time is up come August on that deal, but now he's up to August, 1954.

Cecil reported a fairly good rain out on the farm. Every little bit appreciated, he said.

Seventeen New Cars Registered

For the week ending Feb. 24th, seventeen new cars were registered with Herbert Chesshir, Assessor-Collector of taxes, as follows:

James B. Harris, Plymouth; Troy D. Teague, Dodge; Jerry Starr, Ford; Mrs. William J. Spreen, Plymouth; C. T. Beals, Pontiac; David B. Mosey, Ford; Perry Bryant, Dodge; and J. A. Bass, Ford.

No Wonder It Is Cold In Amarillo . . .

Miss Fern Brannon discovers which every Texan knows is the reason for the sub-zero temperatures in Amarillo and the North Pole is down. The Texas Panhandle. This barbed break, she concludes let all the wire fence, just outside Amarillo cold weather through.

Cotton Leaders Fight Diseases

An educational program to fight diseases of cotton is being conducted in Texas and across the cotton belt by agricultural leaders. The objective of the campaign is to reduce the huge annual losses which cotton farmers suffer because of seed rot, sore-shin or damping-off, angular leaf spot and anthracnose boll rot.

Proper treatment with a seed disinfectant can reduce the effects of all these diseases and the importance of seed treatment is being emphasized by a poster and by educational releases on the subject from the Texas Extension Service. Because of the huge cotton production goal for 1951 and a below average supply of cotton seed, the treatment of seed is particularly important this year.

Texas leaders are shown above examining the poster for the campaign, which is being distributed for display in county agent offices, cotton gins, seed stores and other farm headquarters. Left to right are: Dr. G. M. Watkins, head of the Department of Plant Pathology, Texas A. & M.; Fred C. Elliott, Cotton Specialist, Texas Extension Service; and J. D. Frewitt, Chairman of the Texas Cotton Production Committee and Associate Director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

COTTON PLANNED FOR JORDAN VALLEY

AMMAN, Jordan. — (AP) — The Jordan government is encouraging cotton planting in the Jordan Valley, north of the Dead Sea, lowest body of water in the world. Ten tons of cotton seed have been purchased for distribution to farmers in the area and new irrigation wells are under construction.

and gets ready to make grain.

Crossed the Plains highway at the County Farm, and on through Johnson, Pool and Needmore, thence over Levelland highway in home. What pleased us greatly was the large amount of land that had been deep broken, turning up the clay on the sandier soils, and that means far less blowing, and better crops. Since the rain, we expect a lot more land to be deep broken, anywhere from 15 to 20 inches at least.

As stated above, the rain was lighter at Wellman than any place we saw. It was 42 in Brownfield, but there must have been places in the Johnson-Pool section that had around one to two inches. Much water in the barpits, and in low places in pastures, and in some fields, water was standing in small lakes.

The rain cloud Saturday night appeared to be very heavy in the west and northwest, and rained some time before the clouds reached Brownfield. No rain at Snyder or Big Spring to amount to anything.

FIRE COMES TO FIREMEN

MISSOULA, Mont. — (AP) — A fire came to a fire station here.

Unable to dump a load of garbage set ablaze by hot ashes, a garbage man raced his truck three miles from the city dump, rushing into the fire department and said he had a fire right outside.

Firement opened the station door, started the engine of a fire truck and with a booster line extinguished the blaze.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

March, the month of promise, included in events for March are the beginning of the Red Cross fund drive; the Boy Scouts South Plains Council fund drive; National 4-H Week, March 3-11; Save Your Vision Week, March 4-10; Alamo Day, March 6; Farm Day, March 8; Classified Brand Names Week, March 11-17; Campfire Girls Birthday Week, March 11-17; Ides of March (WHEEL!); March 15; St. Patrick's Day, March 17; Palm Sunday, March 18; Wild Life Conservation Week, March 18-24; FIRST DAY OF SPRING, March 21; Good Friday, March 23; Easter Sunday, March 25 (It's early this year!); and Honey for Breakfast Week, March 25-30.

And with only 16 more shopping days until Easter, you'd best be thinking about that new outfit you'll be buying, kids.

I've been milling around the shops and stores this week and don't believe I've ever seen a wider or more beautiful selection of Spring clothing. Navy blue seems to take the spotlight, which is okay with old Gee Gee... nothing looks sharper than a navy suit or dress with touches of crisp white, red or light blue or pink. I'm also crazy about navy blue jeans, which is probably what I'll be wearing Easter.

Always with an eye for a gadget, I found a dilly at Farm & Home Appliance company this week. It's the Belvedere mixing bowl, the like of which I'd never before seen. Of course, the mixing bowl itself is nothing out of the ordinary. But it has a vacuum-type "grip-tite" base, which firmly holds the mixing bowl in any position in which you put it, leaving both your hands free for other ingredients or for any adding tasks. Seems to me it would be ideal for the woman who loves to carry on long-winded telephone conversations. All you do is place the rubber base on a smooth surface with the release valve facing which ever hand you stir with. Press the bowl down very firmly into the base, in any position you like. When your mixing is completed, or if you want to change the position of the bowl, just pull out the little instant release valve and the powerful grip on the base will be broken. If you are interested in a real time and temper saver, go into the Farm & Home Appliance Company and get Harmon or one of the other boys there to demonstrate this amazing gadget. P. S. Wouldn't this make a terrific party prize or gift to a new bride?

A really charming display window is the north window of J. B. Knight Hardware. Centered with a lovely yellow and green "Lazy Susan", the window looks like a big bed of flowers. Very nice.

The gals over at the Fabric Mart (Mahota Winston and Kitty Fleming) have been busy with some spring sewing on their new materials. That is, Mahota has been holding down the fort alone the past two weeks while Kitty has been lousing around in bed with pneumonia in Big Spring. Just to show that you can't keep a good gal down, though, Kitty will be coming home this week end and it will be wonderful to see that bright and shining face back behind the counter over there. Roy isn't nearly as cute as Kitty.

With the coming of spring and sand storms and all that goes with it comes the beginning of the softball and baseball activity in Brownfield. As you know, the Lions Club here has set up a fine project on South Sixth street, with a swimming pool, miniature golf course, and softball diamond. Herb Chesshir is the Lion in charge of the project, and Clyde Bond, Jr., does all the dirty work. Clyde tells me he's looking for sponsors for some 300 junior softball players, and would be happy to have any one interested in sponsoring one of the teams in the league to contact him or Herb. The entrance fee to the sponsor is $15.00, to cover costs of balls and bats, and there will be 20 boys between the ages 7-16 years to sponsor. This is a fine project, not only offering wonderful recreation for the kids, but building characters, as well, and I hope you business men here will cooperate.

Be sure to consult your theatre calendars in this issue of the Herald, and read the ads which are running on the same page. By a careful perusal of the page, you may win a pass to any of the Jones Theatres. Here's the way it works: In each of the advertisements running on the page with the theatre calendar is the name of one of the Herald's subscribers. The name may be upside down, cross ways, in the middle of a sentence, and so on. But somewhere in each of the ads is a person's name. That person will be mailed a pass to any one of the Jones Theatres, as a courtesy of the Herald, this week. So read those ads carefully, not only this week, but every week from now on, because your name may be in one of the ads.

And while I'm reminding you to LOOK for things, you might try looking at some of the new, and changed, stop signs that have been put up in Brownfield. You know the difference in stopping at a stop sign and oozing by a stop sign is just about $15.00.

And with this little bon mot, I fondly take my leave of you.

Mrs. Leonard Chesshir and Mrs. Willard Adams spent Sunday in Pecos with Mrs. Adams' husband, who is working there.

Mrs. Anna Bell Barrow, Mrs. Homer Winston, and Misses Judy Barrow and Glenna Winston, attended church services at Meadow Church of Christ Sunday. Otis Gatewood, missionary to Frankfurt, German, was speaker at the services.

Mrs. Roy Fleming is recuperating from pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kitty Jo Chapman, in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Browder spent Sunday in Midland with their son, Norwood, and family.

"LIFE WITH MY FATHER," by Carol Young, so reads the title of an article in the February issue of Radio Mirror, and no one scans those words with more delight than does Robert Young, star of NBC's "Father Knows Best." The latest of the Young family to see his name in print, Bob's talented seventeen-year-old, Carol Ann, has several lively observations to make on the plight of a man with four daughters. It's a pretty nice plaudit, too, since, although Bob keeps a close eye on such things as the progress of studies and social activities in the lives of his quartet of attractive misses, he does it so tactfully and wittily, according to Carol's report, that they really do feel that "Father Knows Best!"

wards, ace CBS news correspondent, Wendy Warren herself, and Allan Chellis, editor of "People Today." The contest is open to all women commentators on the CBS network, who are asked to send in news stories of outstanding events in their own locales. Each week contributors of the best stories will receive a handsome wristwatch, and at the end of the contest the winner will be taken on a tour of the Gay White Way with all expenses paid — and her prize-winning story will appear in "People Today."

Four-year-old Laura Mangels of MBS's "Juvenile Jury" has been very fascinated by the baseball lore unfolded by diamond fan Charlie Hankinson, who is nine, and also a member of the "Jury." How much of this she had absorbed came to light the other day at the studio after Laura had been listening to a discussion of a problem with a very doubtful outcome. "Oh, easy breezy," said Laura airily, "He'll slide a mile!"

AIR-DENDA: Jerry Lawrence and Bob Lee, scriptors of "The Railroad Hour," made an original adaptation of Tchikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite" for the show's Christmas program last December which was so successful that a record company has bought it, with Carmen Dragon's musical adaptation, for the holiday trade next Yuletide. "Life Begins at 80" guested, 83-year-old toy executive, I. H. Bernard, was asked by Jack Barry, m.c. of the ABC-TV show, how he was able to stay so young looking. Mr. Bernard figured it was possibly the encouragement of having outlived four personal physicians. . . . The Coon Creek Girls, of CBS's "Renfro Valley Country Store" program, not only are radio's first hillbilly girl band, but the first band in their category to play for the King and Queen of England. Their repertoire includes many old English ballads handed down from the early settlers in the Kentucky hill country around the Renfro Valley.

TONS OF ENVELOPES, yellow, pink and green, are being prepared for mailing by handicapped people at the Texas Society for Crippled Children in Dallas. Approximately one million of these envelopes—one of the largest mailings of the year—will be turned over to Uncle Sam the last of the month, according to Martin M. Ricker, Executive Director of the Texas Society. They will contain Easter Seals, and a request to use them and return a donation for the benefit of Texas crippled children. This picture was made in the Sheltered Workshop where the Texas Society employs handicapped people who would not otherwise be able to earn wages.

Scented Soap Can Serve as a Sachet

Perfumed Cotton Pads Are Practical and Also Economical

BY EDNA MILES

IN THESE days of rising costs, it's a wise woman who uses a few tricks for extracting double-duty from the small luxuries that add to the graciousness of living.

If your pet extravagance is soap perfumed with your favorite scent, try this tip for prolonging your enjoyment of the fragrance. Instead of stowing it away on your household supplies shelf, put it in with your lingerie or linens—just as you would a fine sachet. You'll find the effect is similar—a delightful whiff when you open your drawer or closet-door.

A similar plan may be carried out with cotton pads, which many women tuck, after perfuming them, into pockets or cuffs in preference to scenting their skin. Instead of simply tossing these pads out after use, try tucking them in with your undies. Or else tie a cluster of them on ribbons and hang them on the hanger with your favorite dress.

This idea may be extended to your kitchen, too. Instead of allowing your fruits to lie until used in brown paper bags in your kitchen cabinet, try arranging them in your most attractive bowl and using them as a centerpiece for your table.

Vegetables, too, can be used for colorful decorative effects—particularly such vividly-hued ones as eggplants.

Hollywood star Ruth Roman tucks a cake of perfumed soap in with her lingerie in order to enjoy its fragrance each time she opens the drawer.

USE OF ALCOHOL IS LOWERING AGE LIMIT OF CONSTANT USERS As compared with non-abstainers, eight distinct classes of insured users of alcoholic beverages reflect mortality more than three times the expected rates, according to the conclusion reached in the most extensive study of insured drinkers since the repeal of prohibition, reports the American Business Men's Research Foundation. In a personal communication to the Foundation, a life insurance executive says that the overall average, 310 percent ratio of actual expected mortality, was based upon a study of Alcoholic Habits Cases—an analysis which includes 72,658 policy years, 758 death claims. The discussion showed: "The number of deaths incurred during the period of this investigation among a group of excessive drinkers was over three times the mortality that would have been expected from a group of standard lives similarly distributed with respect to age and amount of insurance." Moreover, the executive points out that even the reported number of deaths recorded as due to alcoholism is an understatement, much lower than the actual number, the reason for this being that physicians are inclined to record deaths as due to other causes out of consideration for the families and friends of deceased alcoholics. Commenting upon the findings of this study, the report says: "This sharp increase in violent deaths is not surprising since alcohol in its action on the brain has the effect of 'throwing off the governor.'" Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He
Here we go with our tirade again, and with a slightly better humor since the showers Saturday night and Sunday morning. And we hope not to become too bored about the kin, but a few weeks ago, we mentioned the fact that our son-in-law, Herman Trigg, had reached 40, and he remarked that according to one book, at least, "Life Begins at Forty."

So, to head this a bit, our nephew, Alton Stricklin, of Cleburne, says he now tells the people he is three years old. He passed the 40 mark three years ago. Just a kid, you know.

Well, the Federal Reserve Bank seems just about ready to crack down on the black marketers as well as those who violate Regulation W. They have been furnishing the press with some warnings in some cases convictions of violators. And this also included warning about the sale of "new-used" cars above the ceiling price.

One of our personnel related this week that she had a friend, mother of a 7 year old youngster who has already become a professional "jiner" and on some occasions has been no little embarrassment to his mother. According to the youngster's mother, he has already joined seven churches.

But recently, he not only deviated, but acted the part of a church member of years of experience, and a sermon critic as well. Recently, after the services at a church was over, the mother related, Jr. went forward, shook the parson's hand, and told him how much he had enjoyed his message. If Jr. never does anything worse than this his mother's headaches will be infrequent. Too many youngsters are a problem in that it is hard for their parents to get them within a mile of the church house.

For diversion, we are going to give the readers a short true-fable this week. Once upon a time a progressive merchant decided that maybe newspaper advertising was outdated. His was a fine little burg, and a new kind of advertising media became available. So, this merchant decided to drop the newspaper and take on the new, sensational advertising at 6 bucks per day, much more than he usually used in newspaper advertising.

Time and Tide went on, and about the only thing this merchant did was pay the bills and leave the advertising up to others. But one day, he had a bit of leisure, and read his ad—or did he listen to it? Anyway, he remarked that it sounded "silly as h—!" to him, and he canceled straightway and went back to his newspaper advertising.

He further remarked "that as it sounded silly to him, that no doubt it sounded the same way to his customers and if they were mad at him, he did not in the least blame them."

Continuing this true-fable, the larger city merchants long ago discovered what this merchant recently found out. Actual statistics show newspaper advertising still the most popular form. Television sputtered the first year or two, but it is fading. Even the big chain programs at night are hard to follow for the yells, catcalls and screams of the audience make trying to listen to one of them difficult.

Even Fober and Molly are not so popular as a few years ago, and few that we know even listen to Amos and Andy now days, and some popular ones a few years ago are off the air, Lum and Abner, to mention one.

Speaking of television, we got a big kick out of the reaction of Maggie and Jiggs listening and looking recently. First a guy holding forth on the subject of dieting. His passionate plea was for less food and better feeling. M. and J. both being a bit too large around the waist line, decided to go on a diet. Eat less and live longer was the theme.

Closely following was another in which a fat chef did the palaver, and he poured it on, displaying all the fine appetizing dishes in an array that would appeal to a dispeptic. Before the program was over, M. and J. both bolted for the ice box, and you can guess which got there first—and held the fort.

While no television fan as yet we'd advise that conflicting programs be as widely separated as possible. In the Herald, we try not to run two ads featuring the same kind of goods, on the same page or facing each other.

While we do not claim a very large population of the disgruntled, nor on the other hand, too many of the slap happy variety candidly, we've not met a man woman or child that is sour-pussing about the showers.

However, Saturday night just after the heavy deluge started, we did carry our little two year old granddaughter to the front door, turned on the light so she could see the big drops bouncing out on the sidewalks and street. Even held her just outside the door, so a few drops hit her face. Looked a bit astonished, but not a squawk.

The "Seesyetel" editor handed us a copy of the huge 188 page special oil edition of the Midland Reporter. Frankly, we were a bit disappointed in the issue, thinking it covered the north as well as the south part of the Permian Basin. But it chopped off at Andrews county.

There was nothing about the bank deposits, building permits increase in utility meters, etc., north of Andrews county. And Midland claims to be the oil center of West Texas, Tish! Tish!

One of the Smart Alex of the burg called a lady recently and asked is Arthur Itis was there. No, snapped the lady, but if he comes in I'll tell him he Hadaoal.

Scout bees are believed to tell others in the hive where to find food supplies by means of a dance.

The Oil News Is Anyone's Guess

As we have stated heretofore at sundry times and in divers manners that we know just about as much about the oil business as a South Sea Islander knows about an Eskimo igloo. But we have had a lot of help of late. At least three of the major companies are now sending us a lot of their monthly publications and as soon as we read them a few more years, we'll probably understand all about "christmas trees" and "electric surveys".

Anyway, we are very sorry to be an absolute disappointment to our vast army of readers, ourself, the linotype man and the proof reader. Well, James H. Dallas does claim that he is an occasional reader. Evidently a few of our "furrin" readers peruse this column a bit, as they write us once in awhile and ask for a bit more dope.

Sorry, folks, but up to this time no new wells are reported to have been finished. For some two weeks in February we had some weather in these parts that was calculated to chill drilling to the minimum. And we have an idea that little progress was made during that near zero period, as a fire in a house by the side of the road would have been more comfortable than drilling. All the drilling rigs we have noted have just about as much about them to turn a cold, icy wind as a 3-wire fence, and that's not much in any language.

Evidently the boys with the dough and the knowhow to put down wells, while having no few disappointments, have not given up, and they are still plugging away to find the trend of that Canyon Reef, as we still keep seeing new rigs go up in new sections of the county. And if the reef is there, they will find it. This oil business has been made great by men who put out sweat, maybe a few tears, not to mention dollars. We admire their spunk.

Some of the newer locations northeast of town, have hit sulphur water in the Permian or the Sprayberry zones. This is expected, as few believe that there is any shallow oil in central or east Terry. Of course these wells are all deep zone projects.

Hope we have something interesting to report in this episode before too long. Thank you.

PRAGUE YOUTH GETS WARNING

PRAGUE—(AP)—Official policy in the Czechoslovak Union of Youth is that "the old undignified bourgeois attitude toward girls must be ruthlessly suppressed."

Youth union groups, a Union edict also declared, "must also combat eccentric American dances such as the samba which expresses the general degeneration of the culture and morals of the capitalist states."

The samba is still popular in Czechoslovakia despite the efforts of the union and other cultural reformers.

of dollars, and Uncle Samuel now present in Texas against stalls around, and even the administration or his stand-ins howl to high heavens that the Honorable Hobbie Highbinder, or the great General Gettit Quick, are being persecuted. Even those low life curs that have sold the secrets of our country to a known enemy, like Judith Coplan, Remington and Hiss, when they are caught, their trials are put off from time to time, and other stalls used to prolong their trials, and even then they are generally out on bond. Those high in the administration maintain they are innocent, and in the case of Hiss, when an honest jury convicted him, the Secretary of State intimates Hiss is still innocent, and he is his friend. Can the people have much confidence in their government after such stunts? But just let some GI or some fellow with one to three years service in the army take a dozen postage stamps, and Leavenworth stares him in the face, with no detours or by-passes.

We sincerely hope that the heat is strong talk that at least four constitutional amendments will be voted on this summer, and maybe others. Those now advancing toward submission are, (1) Changing the tenure of county offices from a 2 to a 4 year term. (2) An amendment authorizing the trial of insane persons without a jury. This amendment was turned down a few years ago by Texas voters by a slim majority. It has already passed the Senate. (3) An amendment to set up a loan fund for veterans. (4) An amendment to create more fire districts. People who thought there would be no elections, and they'd save $1.75, may wish they'd paid $5 rather than missed out on a vote. But they won't have a Chinaman's chance should these and other amendments be submitted.

If your memory is that clear, you will recall that old Mississippi along with three other southern states, cast their electoral votes for Hon. Strom Thurman of South Carolina, for president, two years ago. They did not choose to support Mr. Truman. So, HST has ignored the two US Senators from that state, and named men who kowtow to the administration's whims, or as one Miss newspaper termed it, "Scalawag Patronage." It was also pointed out that recommendations for these positions were being made by Clarence Hood, chairman of the Trumanite committee, while Senators Eastland and Stennis of that state are being ignored. Here in Texas, however, if Truman and his crowd grabbed off every oil and gas field in Texas, old brothers Connally and Rayburn would likely think it was a dinctum of an idea. And this might include the gentleman from Texarkana, the Hon Mr. Patman, the stand-patter. We have an idea, however, that Lyndon Johnson and most of the Congressmen would rear up on their hind legs. We didn't support Johnson, but the more we hear of that man, the better we like him.

This is an off year so far as primary and general elections are concerned, but there may be some important elections in which the fellows that failed to pay their poll taxes may wish a hundred times they had. And right here we want to say that we are always told we must pay our poll taxes first, or before the property taxes. Anyway, remember the legislature is in session, and there country weekly couldn't get away with it. Another thing; we often wonder why the United Nations up there at Lake Success doesn't tell Russia and her Satellites to get the hell out of there and go home. Russia is not "united" with anything except those who will bow to her will. We have never had any confidence in Russia. Germany and Italy were saints compared to those blokes.

Forecast For A Home With A Future

The brawn and brains of the Lions Club, Highland Park, Ill., built this house. Materials and labor contributed by the members cut expenses so the house could be sold at profit for scholarship and civic project fund. The plan snowballed when a national home magazine offered the services of a famous decorator to add the feminine touches.

Closeted in back of this elegant fireplace is some valuable storage space. The clear white pine walls, treated with a dark stain, blend with chintz furnishings in brown, gold, rust, lime and yellow. Blueprints for this ranch-type house are offered in the February issue of the American Home Magazine.

Despite all the talk in the Senate and House, the old style around the Pentagon and other huge offices in Washington goes on just the same. Too many with nothing in particular to do. We were told in confidence by two ladies who have been our friends since they were children and both of whom worked in Washington during the other war, that there were so many people in their offices that they were really in the way of those who were sure enough working. Further, these "feather bedders" were told to "get busy" if any inspectors came snooping around the office; get into some files, and make like they were working. Another man told us of the case of an Ellis county farmer, who rented his fine black land farm near Midlothian, and went to Grand Prairie to work in a plane factory during War II. This man told our informant that he came through the plants, mornings, punched a clock, and went on out another way. He worked for a private concern during the day, but came back through late afternoon and punched the clock again. He drew a good salary from the government, and another from a private concern, although his work for the government consisted only of punching a clock twice a day. Another who helped erect two huge munitions factories during the war informed us that after the one at McGregor was finished, they had several cars of good lumber left, some of it short, to be sure, with a foot or two sawed off one end. As we understand it, this was one of those cost plus jobs, and instead of letting the farmers in the area have the lumber at greatly reduced prices to build barns, chicken houses, etc., the stuff was piled up and burned, and the government charged first class lumber prices. We note that Mr. Wilson, borrowed from GE, says that nothing like that is going to happen this time. We'll hold our comment until further notice. Just last week the Herald got a huge 9x12 craft envelope containing a short notice about not a local boy, but an Alabama service boy, written on union skin paper. Of course this letter was franked. Yet, Postmaster General Donaldson is calling for higher postage rates. If the postal authorities would start in on the government first, especially such waste as this would stop. A lot of people have the silly idea that as long as the government is paying, there is no waste. Supreme logic.

Our dear old Uncle Samuel usually shows his indignation right off in some poor hunk of humanity happens to make a mistake in his income tax returns. He is reminded that his property is in jeopardy of being confiscated, and in some instance, the dark, dank cell of the jail is pointed out as a possibility. Perhaps there is a slight discrepancy in the withholding of the Social Security tax returns. If so, the poor employer, who works and worries over this FREE job he is doing for our great nation, is scolded and threatened. But just let some Senator or General relieve the government of some few thousands

Home Destroyed By Fire Monday

A two room frame residence, located about one mile northwest of Brownfield on the Levelland highway, was totally destroyed by fire at about 4 p. m., Monday. The house, which belonged to Webb Wiseman, was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Webb and family.

Mrs. Webb had finished the family wash and was hanging up the clothes when her five year old son called to her from the doorway of the house. She noticed smoke pouring from the house and attempted to extinguish the flames. She then notified the city volunteer fire department, but the flames had made too much headway, and the home was a total loss. Only the clothing hanging on the line and one chair was saved. Neither Mrs. Webb nor her son were injured.

The fire evidently was started, Mrs. Webb said, by her small son playing with matches while she was outside. The Webbs also have two school age daughters. Webb is a truck driver for the Western Cottonoil Mill here, and was out of town at the time of the fire.

The house and furnishings were not covered by insurance.

Air Force Grabbing Cream Of The Crop.

U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson sent us this week a 23 page pamphlet report of the conclusion of the investigating committee, sent to inquire into conditions at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, in particular. Senator Johnson, of Texas, is chairman of the Preparedness Committee, and we found the report rather along the lines we had suspected.

In the first place, there was no undue suffering as was reported all over the USA. And there were no disease epidemics, with a lot of deaths. In fact, the investigating committee reported that health conditions were excellent and no deaths from flu or pneumonia as had been rumored. In fact there had been but two deaths in the past 18 months among trainees one from cancer and the other accidental. There were no suicides as reported, nor was the reports started by "subversives."

But the Air Force Recruiting Section did get a severe paddling, according to Chairman Johnson, in that this part of the defense movement had tried to grab off

Get "Information" To Report A Fire?

Homer Nelson was talking to his wife over the phone Friday, when she happened to glance out of a window and saw a neighboring house apparently on fire. She told Homer, who asked her to hang up her receiver, and he'd report the fire to the Fire Department.

But after several times trying to get central, he ran into the Herald office, and after some trouble, the girl answered, and told him, "you'll have to get information." We just wonder if that is really the rule?

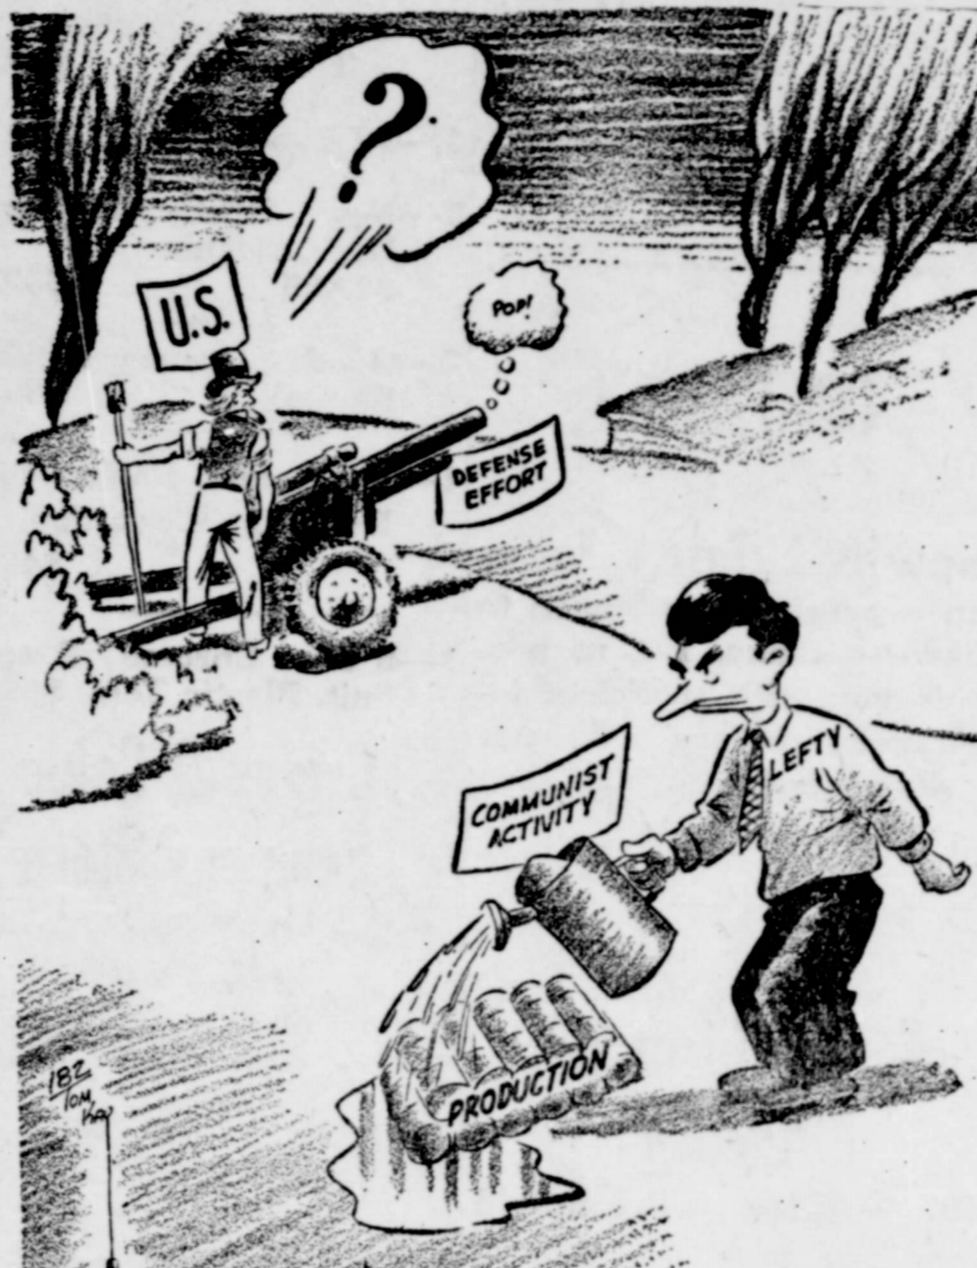

To our notion each of the operators should keep in mind the Fire Department number, and when someone wants to report a fire, disregard all such preliminaries as asking for information, and get the fire trucks rolling.

If not, what good is a telephone system in an emergency? Luckily, the fire was under control when the fire truck arrived. It was the Henry Cargill house right across the street from Homer's residence.

So many numbers have been changed of late that perhaps that fact has become confusing to the girls, and the habit of referring callers to "information," may have grown on them. So, let's not "cuss the hello girls too much."

The telephone directory, received last week, gives this procedure in reporting a fire: Ring or dial the operator, and say: "I want to report a fire." Simple, isn't it? And nothing said about asking "information."

THE AMERICAN WAY

Keeping The Powder Wet

Produce Good Turkey Eggs

COLLEGE STATION — Texas turkey hatching egg producers must sell eggs that meet the demands of the market, if they hope to continue exporting eggs to other states.

This word of caution comes from D. R. Barrett, assistant extension poultry marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College. In 1950, over one million Texas turkey hatching eggs were shipped to 34 states, Canada and Mexico.

Market demands which producers should try to meet are high fertility, high hatchability, and clean, uniform eggs that are in good condition at time of delivery.

Poulters hatched should have the inherited ability to grow into the kind of turkeys the consumers want. Barrett points out that the volume of eggs from one source must be ample to meet the needs of the buyer.

In order to get high fertility, Barrett advises the producer to feed a complete feed and to use vigorous males and females that have inherited high fertility. He also recommends keeping the flocks comfortably housed and alternating toms in the breeding pens.

To increase and maintain high hatchability of fertile eggs, the producer should keep the eggs clean, gather them often, and cool them as soon as possible to remove body heat. Case eggs with the small end down, and sell them before they are seven days old.

WRONG TURN IN RIGHT DIRECTION

BUTTE, Mont.—(AP)—A local resident was freed in police court on a charge of drunkenness, but got mixed up on the doors and walked into the cell block instead of the exit to the street.

County officials then phoned to have him held on a charge of failing to provide for minor children. Police reported he had been released. While a constable searched for him, the city jailer, making routine rounds in the cell block, found the man still wandering around looking for the way out.

It's Musical Comedy Time!

The hilarious Broadway musical, Irving Berlin's "Louisiana Purchase" gets its first telecast production over NBC-TV's "Musical Comedy Time," with Victor Moore in his original role, and Sandra Deel as the pretty ingenue. Every other Monday night, the hour-long show produces a famous operetta or musical comedy on television.

Luncheon Scoops

by Wendy Warren

Jimmy Lydon, red-headed star of films, stage, radio and television, admits that his weakness is — argyle socks, handmade! The young star of CBS-TV's domestic comedy, "The First Hundred Years," was wearing a very handsome pair at our interview and I finally got him to admit that "a girl had knitted them for him."

"In fact," Jimmy said, with an engaging grin, "next to the girls themselves, I guess argyles are the thing I like best."

When I pointed out that the two usually went together — as girls generally knit socks for boys they like, Jimmy nodded energetically, his eyes twinkling. "That's it exactly!" he agreed. A bachelor now, Jimmy would like to marry — and live mostly in California which, although he is an Easterner by birth, he considers his spiritual home.

Born in Harrington, N. J., one of nine children, Jimmy is twenty-seven, has been in show business for seventeen years, and made over sixty-five movies. A buoyant, quick-moving young man, with a down-to-earth way of regarding himself and the world around him, Jimmy served in both the Army and Navy during the last war, holds a private pilot's license and likes to spend his holidays on hunting trips with his pals. I asked him how he felt about "The First Hundred Years" — and television.

In "PHY" Jimmy plays a young insurance salesman who has just married and who is struggling with the problems of domesticity — and in-laws. He likes this role especially because the character of "Chris Thayer" lends itself to real development and because the cast of "PHY" have so much fun together. They rehearse mornings for that day's telecast — and in the afternoon memorize lines for the next day's show. It is on five days a week. The time they spend together, Jimmy feels, is the very newness of their venture — as the first sponsored daytime serial on television — creates a spirit of adventure.
