News About The Herald Readers

I had a letter from Frank Rickles lately, who is located at Hereford. Frank was one of the pioneer Terryites, and at one time managed the M. V. Brownfield ranch. Frank and wife raised one mighty fine daughter, who is now Mrs. Arthur Reeves of Eagle Butte, S. D. Frank enclosed a check for $6.00 to keep the paper coming to them and their daughter another year.

We are very sorry that our mailing department accidentally cut our old 20-year veteran subscriber off the list by accident back in Feb. This long time reader is Mr. Adam J. Lattanner, of Montpelier, Ohio. But instead of getting all sore and wrought up, he proved a very patient man while we were trying to adjust matters. Under date of April 26th, he wrote us a short letter enclosing the $3.00 "for one more year of your FINE paper." Thanks a lot.

Speaking of having trouble with subscriptions, we have had quite a headache with that of Jack D. Johnson out at Modesto, California. We hope we now have his address correct and less pain in the neck to Jack.

Among our new readers are Clyde Wilson over at the First National bank, and Mr. A. C. Harbin.

Then there is that perennial pest, J. E. Michie up there at McAlester, Okla., who always has a bit something smart to say to us when he renews. But as long as he "encloses check herewith" we'll be glad to take his insults. By the way, like the Old He and wife, J. E. and the Mrs. seems to be almost alone. The boys off to school or getting ready. One or two of them are army commissioned officers.

T. S. Day down in the Loop section is a second generation of readers of the Herald. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Day were taking the Herald when we came to Terry 42 years ago. But it is maddening not to be able to call T. S. by name when he comes in to renew, having known him since he was a child, when he would follow his dad in to renew. We just can't help it if we are getting old and forgetful.

Jack Cravey has also recently renewed. Back to forgetfulness, we just can't help getting a bit ringy when a guy we have been taking subscription money from for the past 25 or 30 years drops in, and we have to ask his name. Nine chances to ten, we can tell him right where he lives after he grins and tells us his name.

But we do love our readers whether they are on the list just a few months or have been reading the paper 40 years. On rare occasions one drops out, and while we may not make any outcry, it hurts us.

Jill Walker spent last weekend in Tahoka with her grandmother, Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, and other relatives.

Sam Privitt and Deryl Walker were in Austin last week on business.

"ROSIE THE RIVETER" BACK ON JOB

FORT WORTH.—(AP)—Rosie the Riveter and Winnie the Welder are on their way back. Forty out of every 100 new workers being hired by the giant Convair B-36 plant here are women. There are now about 3,000 women among the 28,000 employees, and several hundred more are added each month. All start at $1.07 an hour for the training period.

The women workers are not glamour gals. All jewelry must come off because of moving machinery. Hair must be covered by nets or bandannas. No tight-fitting sweaters are allowed because they interfere with freedom of movement. Finally, the rule is "medium loose-fitting wash slacks, ankle length."

"Petroleum Peggy" Says:

Poets have complimented a woman's eyes in endearing terms through the ages so obviously we shouldn't under-rate the value of proper care and grooming of our eyes. Just by following a few simple rules, you can give your eyes a happier, healthier and more decorative look. Try these.

To look happy, keep your eyes wide open; avoid squinting and scowling. The wide-eyed look is a young look and it avoids putting little lines around the eyes. Don't be a deadpan; the uninterested look is a dull look with no sparkle. And learn to smile with your eyes as well as your mouth. Smiling eyes are face-lifters.

These beauty hints came from an unexpected source the petroleum industry. Raw materials from crude oil, it seems, are used widely in making many cosmetics—eye shadow, mascara, skin cream and pomade.

Rotary Hoe Reduces Labor Costs

Many Texas cotton growers are cutting their production costs by using rotary hoe attachments on their tractors.
 Chester Huddleston of Crosbyton says, "By using rotary hoes on 300 acres of cotton in 1949, I saved 75 percent of my chopping through May 6. Bill Eubank, evangelist, John Winters, singer, and a quartet from Wayland will conduct the meeting. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

bill." W. R. Kimbrough, county agricultural agent, reports that there were 1,000 rotary hoes owned by 700 farmers in Crosby county.
 In 97 Texas counties, there were 10,004 rotary hoe-equipped tractors in 1950, says F. C. Elliott, Texas A. & M. College extension cotton specialist.

Elliott emphasizes that the rotary hoe-equipped tractor must be operated at high speeds — at least four and one-half miles an hour. Five or six miles an hour is better. He cautions against setting the rotary hoe too deep. While the depth of setting will depend on soil and plant conditions, the spoke points should not be run more than two inches deep. Use of the rotary hoe allows earlier planting in areas where a crop of weeds is usually killed before planting. Elliott points out that the rotary hoe can also be used to cultivate peanuts and corn.

 He suggests that farmer who are not familiar with this piece of equipment ask their local farm machinery dealers for a demonstration.

CHRYSLER'S NEW AMBULANCE TO MEET OCD NEEDS

The 1951 Chrysler ambulance, designed specifically to meet Civilian Defense requirements, can be transformed in a matter of seconds from a six-passenger, four-door sedan into a two-cot ambulance. Maximum utility is provided.

Here a patient is rolled quickly into a secure and comfortable position inside the ambulance, where a nurse may be seen sitting in the attendant's position, ready for the quick run to the hospital. When not in use, the collapsible cot folds away behind the rear seat.

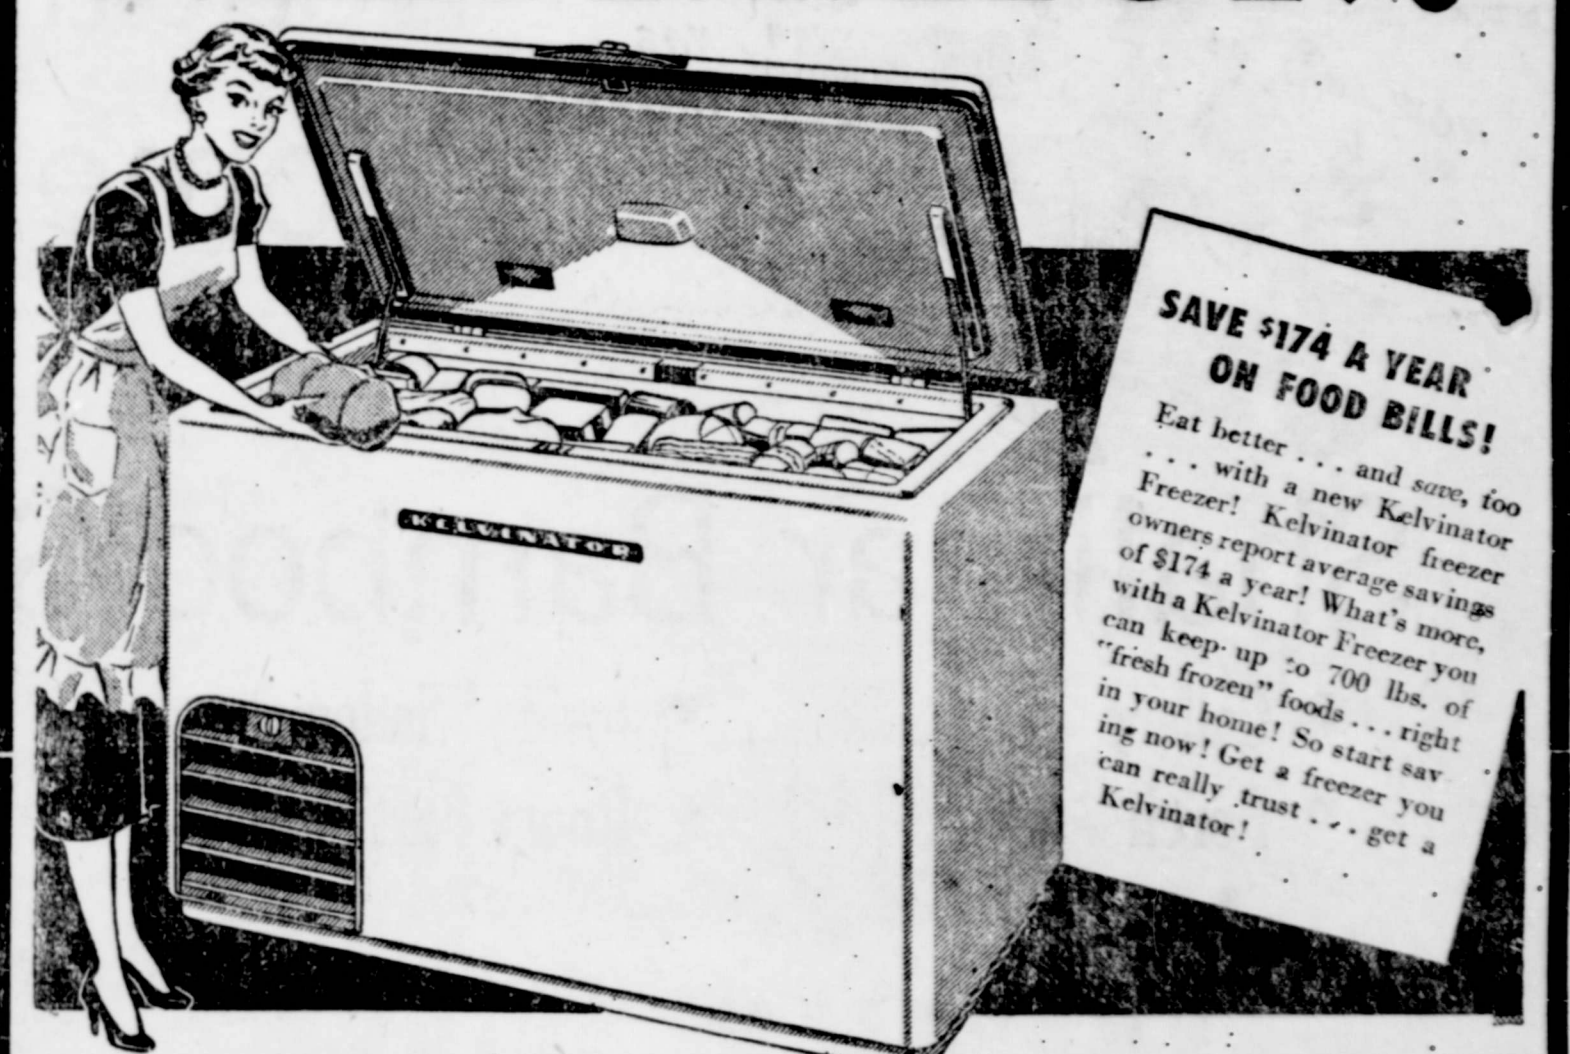

Although only one cot is in use here, two may be used, with the attendant's seat folded against the front seat at the left. The Oriflow shock absorbers, plus other Chrysler riding features, assure a safe and shock-free ride to the hospital.

Former Resident's Son Twice Honored

BILL JOHNSTON

For the second year in succession, Bill Johnston of Vamoosa, Okla., and son of a former Gomez resident, won a trip to Washington, D. C., New York City, and Philadelphia.

The Vamoosa high school senior is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Johnston. Mrs. Johnston is the former Clara Davis of Gomez, who taught in the Gomez schools for several years.

Young Johnston is an active 4-H club member and it was through that organization that he won the trips two years in succession as winner of the 4-H division of a state speaking contest sponsored by the Farmers Union of Oklahoma. He addressed the Congress in Washington last week while on his trip, speaking on "My Organization and Family Type Farming With Home Ownership as a Goal."

The 17-year-old winner is president of the Seminole county 4-H club and has been on the Vamoosa high school honor roll for four years. He is an active worker in the Baptist church at Konawa, where he leads the training union singing.

He competed in the Oklahoma A. & M.-sponsored song contest last September and was extended an invitation for a special audition. He sang his way to top credit by copping an excellent rating in a preliminary district singing meet. (Note: Friends of Mrs. Johnston attribute his musical talents to her, as she is an accomplished musician, holding a degree in music.)

The youthful two-time winner is the grandson of the late Mrs. E. L. Davis of Gomez, and nephew of Mrs. Henry Williams of Plains.

LAMBING TIME

LIVINGSTON, Mont.—(AP)—Six carloads of Texas sheep headed for Kennewick, Washington paused here recently. A few days later 12 cars moved out. The sheep are lambing, railroad officials explained.

Silage Is A Basic Feed

Silage—"fodder, either green or mature, converted into succulent winter feed for livestock through processes of fermentation." This is Webster's definition. Silage means much more than this to R. E. Burleson, associate dairy husbandman for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service. To Burleson, silage is a basic feed. It is insurance against pasture failure.

He believes a dairyman should plan to put up from three to six tons of silage for each cow in his herd—six tons if possible. For a dairyman with a 30-cow herd, 180 tons may seem like a lot of silage, but Burleson points out that this feed can be produced at a very low cost.

Atlas sargo, one of the recommended silage crops for Texas, produces 15 tons of silage to the acre. From this crop, 180 tons of "canned pasture" can be produced on approximately 12 acres of land. Any crop that is used for forage can be made into silage, says Burleson.

If a dairyman does not own the equipment for making silage, or have a neighbor who can do his custom harvesting, Burleson believes he should make arrangements for obtaining the needed equipment. In his opinion, providing silage is just as much a part of a dairy program as milking or providing any other equipment needed by the herd. He says a dairyman cannot afford to be without silage.

G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Is it possible to enroll in two schools at once under the GI Bill?

A—Yes, but only under three conditions: (1) the one complete course you are taking is not available at a single institution; (2) your principal school prescribes a course and approves enrollment in a second school, and (3) the training furnished by the second school is part of your one elected course and can be scheduled satisfactorily.

Q—May I claim my grandmother as a dependent parent for GI Bill subsistence allowance purposes? She raised me ever since I was a small child.

A—Yes, but only if you can establish that she is your foster mother and actually takes the place of a parent. Under these conditions, you may be granted increased benefits for a dependent parent.

Q—I submitted a claim for increased disability compensation and failed to show up for my physical examination, since it simply slipped my mind. What should I do now?

A—Your claim for the increase has been considered abandoned. You should file a new application and make arrangements for a new physical examination.

Q—My daughter is receiving death pension payments from VA, based on the facts that she is a child of a deceased World War I veteran and that she is attending an approved school and is not yet 21. Will the payments continue through the summer vacation, even though she temporarily will not be in school?

A—Yes, so long as evidence is submitted to VA showing that she was in school and intends to go back at the end of the summer vacation.

Extension of Time For POW Claim Filing

When the deadline of March 1 was reached some 30,000 eligible persons—prisoners of war, civilian internees and survivors—had failed to file claims under the War Claims Act. Many of the "missing" claimants are widows, children or parents of deceased prisoners of war who are not aware of their rights. To cure the situation Senator Chavez, (N.M.) introduced a joint resolution granting extension of time to file. Senate passed the resolution fixing October 1, 1951, as the deadline date. House amended, inserting March 31, 1952. Resolution has passed both houses of congress, but because of difference in deadline dates it must go to a committee of conferees to reach an agreed date.

WWA Vets Now in Service May Resurge GI Training

WW2 vets now in active military service, attending school under the GI Bill during their spare time, will be able to resume their courses after the July 25, 1951, cut-off date if forced to interrupt studies because of military duties or transfers. VA says they will be allowed to resume training within a reasonable period after their release from active duty. In fact, when they do re-enter GI Bill training, they may step up the part-time training taken while in uniform to full-time courses.

However, under present rulings a vet taking a GI Bill correspondence course may not switch to classroom training. Similar post-deadline procedures apply to vets who started GI Bill studies as civilians, then interrupted to return to military or naval service. They also may resume training within a reasonable period following release from service should they return to civil life after July 25, 1951, and before July 25, 1956, the wind-up of the program. Vets whose training is interrupted by military service must meet three requirements if they expect to return to training after the cut-off date: (1) Conduct and progress in GI Bill course must have been satisfactory. (2) Period of training which may be obtained after they get out of uniform will be limited to remaining GI Bill entitlement. (3) And their course may not extend beyond the final deadline on July 25, 1956. Under the law, the July 25, 1951, cut-off date (when new courses may not be initiated) applies to WW2 vets discharged before July 25, 1947. For those few discharges afterwards the cut-off date is four years from date of discharge.

Q—My daughter is receiving death pension payments from VA, based on the facts that she is a child of a deceased World War I veteran and that she is attending an approved school and is not yet 21. Will the payments continue through the summer vacation, even though she temporarily will not be in school?

A—Yes, so long as evidence is submitted to VA showing that she was in school and intends to go back at the end of the summer vacation.

Q—I submitted a claim for increased disability compensation and failed to show up for my physical examination, since it simply slipped my mind. What should I do now?

A—Your claim for the increase has been considered abandoned. You should file a new application and make arrangements for a new physical examination.

Dividends on USGLI and NSLI

Both WW1 and WW2 vets who have held on to their insurance age due for a dividend in 1951. No applications are necessary, in either case. The dividend checks will be sent out in regular course of operational procedure, coming near the anniversary date of the policy. "We've had a favorable mortality experience," said H. W. Preining, VA insurance chief—a death rate considerably lower than anticipated.

WW1 vets will split a 16-million-dollar dividend on USGLI, which will bring the total insurance dividends paid on this type of insurance to $225,000,000. But that is only a drop in the bucket compared to the astronomical figures of NSLI of WW2 with some 20 million policies involved, a potentially higher rate at the start, and an even more favorable death rate. Last year VA distributed a special $2,800,000,000 dividend to all policyholders, lapsed one and five ones, to the anniversary date of the policy in 1948. The operation wiped the slate clean for those who did not carry their NSLI policies after discharges or who have failed to renew or re-instate. New NSLI dividend declared this year—amounting to $685,000,000—is to be paid on all policies in effect since anniversary date in 1948 to extend to the corresponding date in 1951. It applies to all policies, whether kept alive, terminated, or permitted to lapse during that period. Also, it applies to all forms of policies, term or permanent plan. Don't write VA about your dividend; check with your agent as soon after the anniversary date as the working system permits. Checks for the dividends on policies with anniversary dates in January, February and March started to flow out in April.

INDIANS RUN OWN REVOLVING LOANS

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz.—(AP) The Navajo Indians are handling the tribal money with a loan committee just like Uncle Sam. The money comes from oil and other resources. This year the tribal council appropriated $724,000 to the revolving fund. The loans go to stock men and farmers among the 60,000 Indians and to co-op projects like tribal trading posts, sawmills and small industries.

I'll match my Dodge with any car on the road for Value and Dependability

—says MICHAEL OPPENHEIM

"Sure, I've owned and driven other make cars," says Michael Oppenheim, Bellerose, N.Y. "But since 1941 my cars have all been Dodges. I know how dependable Dodge cars are, how little they cost to run. In fact, my new 1951 car is another dependable Dodge!"

You could pay up to $1,000 more and not get all the extra room, comfort and rugged dependability of Dodge Compare what Dodge gives you... with what other cars offer. You'll understand why Dodge owners say they'll match Dodge with any car on the road.

Take riding comfort for example. You could pay far more for a car and still not get the almost unbelievable smoothness of the new Oriflow ride. Even on roughest roads there's no wheel "hop" or bounce... wheels stay on ground providing a smooth, level ride for all passengers. You get the relaxing comfort of extra head room, leg room and shoulder room. You never feel cramped or crowded. And Dodge gives you the priceless safety of "Watchtower" visibility... of big Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes with larger braking surface for smooth, sure stops.

Dodge Gyro-Matic is the lowest priced automatic transmission on the market. It lets you drive without shifting... yet it is simpler, safer—gives you full control of your car under all driving conditions. Come in—see and drive today's big Dodge.

Had a news release this week from San Antonio, where the South Texas Press Association held their meeting April 21. The burden of the article was some resolutions passed by the visiting publishers named the "Big Grab" of Texas tidelands by the Federal government. No attention was paid by the federal government to these lands until oil was discovered under them. The same is true of those of Louisiana. So far as the "whereases" as directed to Gov. Shivers and Attorney General Price Daniel is concerned, those boys are fighting for their return with their sleeves rolled up and collars upbuttoned. Like most Texans, they cannot understand why the USA suddenly went back on and scrapped a treaty that had stood for more than 100 years when Texas entered the Union. At that time, the US agreed for Texas to retain all its public domain—if it did not seek a loan from the US. Texas went along without the loan and finally made the grade without it. But to our notion, the South Texas editors were wasting their breaths on Senator Tom Connally and Sam Rayburn. We believe that Senator Johnson is for the return of the tidelands to their true owners. But Connally and Rayburn are "yes men" to HST, and so far as we have ever heard, refuse to open their heads. Indeed, the Dallas Morning News has directed three letters to Rayburn about the matter. And at one time, when he had a speaking engagement in Texas, he refused to be interviewed about the matter. Just between us and the gatepost, we think these two aging Texans in the Senate and House are ready to be retired. When Texas statesmen become cronies to the administration, and sell their constituency short, they should be replaced by younger, and more energetic and loyal Texans. Many believe Rayburn is pigeonholing the bill to reforest the tidelands to the States now before congress. Yes, we know he stands high, being speaker of the House. But we'd rather have a freshman up there that is loyal to Texas first and last.

One of the great words, or two words rather, that the so-called statesman loves to use as he rears back on his pastures and echoes and re-echoes his demands upon the public, are "Political Economy." If ever two words failed to go together in harmony, they are the two. And as a prominent writer once stated, "the twain should never meet." Politics and economy are just as far apart as the polls. They have nothing whatever in common. They no more mix than sheep and goats. Politics, as practiced at this day and time, has no more conception of economy than a dodoo bird. In fact when economy is really practiced, politics go out the window. Most of us are strict believers in economy. In fact if we did not practice economy, many of us would land in salt river without boat or oars. Our business from day to day demand that we practice it, but the taxpayers' money is something else yet again. Most of us remember that some bureau up at Washington sent out after a copy of Esquire magazine that any magazine dealer will sell you for 50c. But by the time that bill had gone through all the bureaus and red tape up at Washington, it cost the taxpayers more than $13. This is no hearsay. The evidence was actually dug up by one of the investigating committees. So, when we speak of economy, let's please leave off the word, political.

There is little wonder that Texans have as good officials as they do, considering the apathetic condition that obtains among people as a whole about casting a vote. Many of us are too lazy or indifferent to cast a vote in a school or municipal election unless there is a hot fight for some office. Indeed many of us will put out the excuse that we have no children in school as the reason for a non-vote. We forget that we might have grandchildren or that we are still interested in the education of children of friends and neighbors. With this attitude of the majority—big majority—any old loud mouthed grafter can corral enough votes to get into office, occasionally. Let's take a peek at some statistics in a recent issue of the Texas Tax Journal. Note that the first figures is the year, the next is the percentage of the vote in the USA and the third is the Texas percentage of the qualified voters. Also note the light vote on off year presidential elections in Texas: 1940, 59.1, 27.5; 1942, 34.4, 7.2; 1944, 63.5, 26.5; 1946, 39.9, 8.4; 1948, 51.8, 24.5. The above is the national and Texas votes in congressional election in November general elections, and not the Democratic primary.

We still think Brownfield and area the best part of the USA, and that's saying something if you ask us. But of late we have had some worries other than atomic bombs. Those little old cyclones are getting just a bit too numerous and frequent to suit us. Fact is, as we figure the matter, Brownfield is just too small and with no essential war material made here, except out in the oil fields for an enemy to drop a bomb on us. They would seek out a concentrated manufacturing area. So, that winks us out on the A-bomb.

ly he was sent home at the request of Gen. MacArthur, who had charge of operations. In the past few years most of the publicity that Vaughan gets is connected with something shady like the 5 percenters and deep freezers. But as our administration is developing into a government by cronies, maybe Vaughan was the only man available to meet the hero of our Asiatic armies.

Serve poached eggs atop creamed spinach that has been flavored with grated Parmesan cheese. This makes an excellent luncheon dish.

We believe that it was about the time we left on our trip that Ex-Gov. M. E. Thompson of Georgia quit a job as consultant with the Office of Price Stabilization up at Washington, and returned to his native state. Thompson was not displeased about his salary. While that was not mentioned, he had an expense account of $53.48 per day, and that is not in itself chicken feed. But after staying in Washington some 12 weeks without any assignment or anything to do except sit behind a desk and look wise, he resigned. He stated that he did not want to be a parasite and draw money from an already tax burdened public, and nothing to do. He appealed to the president, and he promised to do something about the matter, but that was the last the Georgia heard of the matter. It is a well known matter that the Ex-Gov. was very instrumental in helping to carry Georgia for Truman two years ago, when it was about to slide into the Thurmond column. So, this job was very likely the payoff. And the percenters up there probably expected this honest man to go to and return from his office daily without a visible task, and be content, like thousands of other para-

ART IN TEXAS

I have known all kinds of art and artists, and the recently completed portrait of Colonel Royal A. Ferris Jr. of Dallas, Texas, is one of the finest likenesses I have ever seen painted. Such perfection of detail, attention to color effects, and insight into the character of the man, could only be portrayed by a painter of broad experience, which brings us up to the artist who executed this piece of work, Dmitri Vail.

Instead of an artist, he reminds one of a down to earth business man, and we discovered that he paints with vigilant observation of his subject, in a most businesslike fashion, without pretense or assumed eccentricities. Which probably accounts for his doing the portraits of so many executives of large corporations, banks etc. Also, business men find that this artist keeps his appointments, and wastes no time in bringing a portrait to completion.

Vail is an AMERICAN artist. He started to art school when he was five, studied under Jules Golz, a pupil of Robert Henri. At seven, instead of college, he chose a career in art. Commercial art, designing stained glass windows, scenic painting, cartooning, all played their part in the early building of an understanding of things and people, while in between there were always portraits to paint. Vail was born in Ohio, but he says that was long ago.

His portraits hang in nearly every one of the forty eight states. He says: "It seems the necessary lot of the artist to travel." However, he has lived in Texas now for fifteen years, married a Tyler, Texas girl, and has become as Texas as Bluebonnets. That he is successful is attested to by his home which is one of the best show places of exclusive Highland Park in Dallas, Texas.

Dmitri Vail is a contained artist. While his portraits remind you of a combination of the old masters—Rembrandt, Frans Hals, John Singer Sargent,—yet his style of painting is completely his own; his rightness in proportions is microscopically unerring; he paints what he sees, and his uncanny ability to capture a true, living likeness is amazing.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

As Red Skelton sometimes says when he comes on the stage, "well, here we is." For the past two issues, we have kinder trotted off on the readers, whether they missed it or not is all the same. To us however, we were seeing, eating, sleeping and resting. In fact, as we announced in the issue of the 13th, we were off to Tennessee.

There was a question whether or not we'd get east of the Mississippi this year — a very doubtful question. But after Phillip Rogers offered us a ride in his new bus, although a bit earlier than we intended to go back, we thought it safer to go along than risk the old 407, as faithful as it has been. Indeed, we felt a bit sorry for the lad in making the long trek back there all alone. So we went to keep the boogers off him.

Being a new car with a good driver, there was no mishaps going on coming. The first night out was spent in Paris, he with his sister, the Old He and wife lodging in one of the fine tourist courts. It was our aim to make it to "Jim's Place," some 20 miles west of Memphis, where the best fish diners you ever smacked your lips over are on tap. But we lacked more than 100 miles making it, and lunched in Benton, Ark., 24 miles southwest of Little Rock. We breakfasted at DeKalb, and thought of Mon Telford, his boyhood home, and of course Avery, the old home of the Cruces. And we never pass through Prescott, Ark., that we do not think of Homer and Lynn Nelson, as that was their old home, and we even imagine we can pick out some of the big old oaks that they "clumb" when small lads.

In this first tirade of the trip, we wish to tell the reader something of just how far behind the usual time those people are in farming operations. Usually in May at least, rice through the rice section between Little Rock and Memphis is way up knee high. That was not the case this year, much of the land has not even been broken, and water is standing everywhere, but had subsided some on our return.

In one place after the cotton section is reached this side of West Memphis, Ark., a negro man was running a middle buster with two horses or mules, wearing hip boots. There was from 4 to 6 inches of water in each middle, and water and mud splattered as the soil was turned. This was in the famous delta section of the Mississippi valley, where land is as rich as the Nile valley. Spoke about this after reaching Middleton, Tenn., to some of the farmer relatives. One stated that such a procedure would absolutely ruin their land, as it had no lime content. It would be cloddy and a headache the rest of the year.

Speaking of lime in west Tennessee soil, we remarked to a cousin one time while back there that we could not understand, that being an older farming section than any of Texas, there was no Johnson grass. He stated that the Tennessee A. & M. soil experts had stated the reason was no lime in the soil. Says we: "then for heaven's sake don't put any lime in it." But some of the relatives informed us this year that there were spots of the stuff now appearing in some of the fields. So, like we heard one farmer advise another in Johnson county, when the owner stated he was "watching" a patch in his field. The other farmer "lowed as how watching would not kill the stuff.

Like Arkansas, the Tennessee farmers are woefully behind. We believe that we could safely say that not ten percent of the farms had been broken. But while there, it dried out enough between rains so that discing could start, and before we left middle busters had begun operation although in spots the ground was still soggy. Were they discouraged? Not that we could tell. And if some one griped, he was told that there was nothing anyone could do about the weather.

Last year was considered a failure so far as cotton goes. The richer bottom soils, always heavily fertilized, that usually makes 1 1/2 bales or better per acre made from 3/4 to 1 1/2 bales. The boll weevils got it. But they made a bumper corn crop, some going better than 100 bushels per acre. We brought home two ears now in the Herald office, grown by a nephew, Vernon Stricklin in Porter's Creek bottom that had from two to three big ears to the stalk, and maybe a nubbin or two.

The old native corn is all out there now. It is strictly the hybrid varieties. As most farmers understand, the stuff will not come up very good the second year, new seed must be obtained from breeders at around 10 bucks per bushel. But they say it certainly pays off. Of course the farms are small there — would be considered patches out here. Therefore it is very essential that the yield be high.

Found the folks generally speaking very well. Of course some like ourself are now on the shady side of life and the infirmity of age is creeping up on them. But all that we saw are able to draw up a chair to fried ham or chicken, streaked gravy, hot biscuits and coffee or milk, 3 times per diem.

Bible Comment:

Spring Is a Revelation of God's Majesty

ONCE a year a miracle happens called spring.

It bursts upon earth like a hymn and all of creation seems to stand and move its lips. But, like all miracles, spring is not easily explained.

The earth's awakening is at once mysterious and symbolic. Conquering death in a glorious struggle, spring brings the resurrection to mind.

At the same time, it recalls the book of Genesis, "And the earth brought forth grass, and herb..."

It is the earth singing a song so new it inspires wonderment in everyone of us, yet a song that overwhelmed the senses of the ancients centuries ago in Canaan, Palestine and the other Biblical countries.

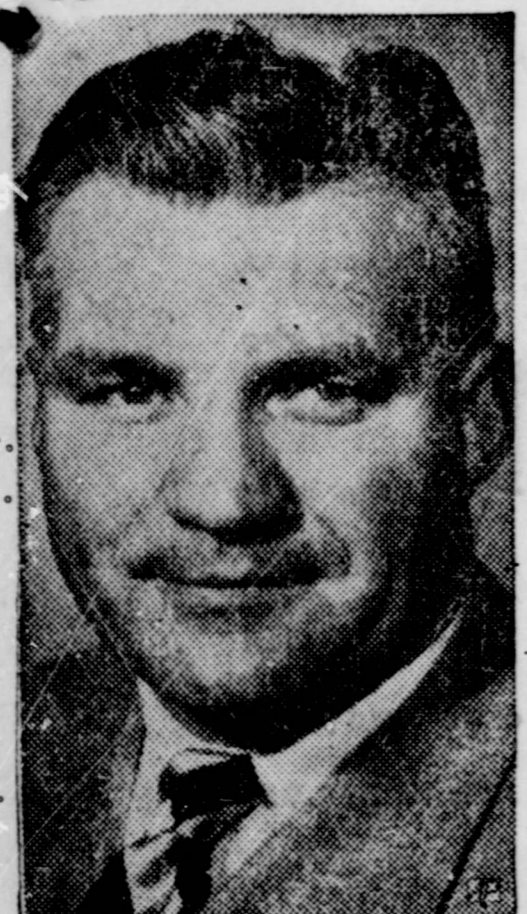

All that is spring, from the smallest bud to a sky-sized sunset, declares the glorious mystery of God and His divine creations.

Wild flowers transform stony crags into muted masses of color and the blossoming dogwood's petals of white mirror the innocence of the Christ child born in Bethlehem.

Filled with wonderment at the beauty with which earth sheds her winter chrysalis, man might well find the secret of spring explained in the opening words of Psalm 97, "The Lord reigneth; let the earth rejoice."

And man might offer up a prayer that the lightning of spring serve to enlighten a war-torn world and restore to it the fragile blooms that grace the crown of peace.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

Well, as you may or may not know, May is Restaurant Hospitality month. Also, in May, are the following events: May 4, high school senior trip begins; May 6-13, music week; May 6-12, be kind to animals week; May 6 is humane Sunday; May 6-12, hearing week; also cutlery display week, Jewish history week, and family week; May 8 is VE day; May 10 is Confederate memorial day in North and South Carolina; May 12-19, national defense week and frozen foods week; May 13 is, as we all know, Mother's day; May 13-19 is first aid week; May 14-19 is Irish linen week; May 14, honor assembly at Brownfield high school; May 17-26 is pickle week; May 1 to June 17 is father-child month; May 19 is armed forces day, with the theme being defenders of freedom; May 19-26 is 'let's go fishing' week (well, let's go, by all means!) and foot health week (trim them corns, kids); May 20 is the Brownfield high school baccalaureate sermon, also citizenship day; May 20-26 is world trade week; May 21-26 is luggage week; May 22 is national maritime day; May 24 to June 9, diamond exhibit, also empire day in Canada; May 24 is also graduation day at Brownfield West Ward school; May 25 is high school graduation day; May 27 to June 2 is park and recreation week; May 30, of course, is memorial day all over the nation and is Confederate memorial day in Virginia.

At last, Old He has returned from his haunts in Tennessee and has taken over the mail-reading department again. And that, little friends, is music to my ears. I was getting ready to hire a "reader" for no other purpose than to read the tons and tons of mail (almost) that this office receives each day.

In case you haven't noticed, great changes have been made at the Y of Seagraves road and South 8th street. The new service station being built by R. J. Purteill at the Y started the whole thing, and it has really developed. In order to make easy entrance into the station, the street was "pared" down and re-topped. Well, one thing led to another, and the American Legion, not to be outdone, had all the parking area in front of and at the sides of Veterans Hall topped. It certainly makes a nice looking corner now, and the boys should be commended for putting a new face on their premises.

It came at such a nice time, too. I mean at Clean up, Paint up, Fix up week. Did you do your part? Well, if you're slow about the whole thing, we may forgive you if you are still working on the situation.

Right in line with the Clean up, Paint up, Fix up campaign held here is the Stinnett Blind company ad in this issue of the Herald. Patsy Stinnett, chief bottle washer around the office at 108 Seagraves road, can fix you up with almost any kind and color of blind you need or want. In fact, some of her new venetian blinds come in a variety of colors PLUS matching cornices. Also available at the blind place are traverse rods. I believe that, prior to the opening of the new shop, no other merchant in Brownfield has handled traverse rods for drapery. So if you're in the market for anything in the way of rods and blinds for your windows, go down and talk turkey with Patsy.

Attended a very nice opening of the new Griggs & Goble furniture store in Levelland last Thursday night. Roy Dunn, a former Brownfieldite, is manager of the store. A no other Brownfieldite, Ralph "Bud" Harding, is a new employee of G & G, and will work at the stores here, in Levelland, and Lubbock.

The Terry County Sheriff's posse will be riding in the annual Texas Tech rodeo parade this afternoon. The busy season is just now beginning for these boys, but perhaps they'll come up with some trophies for their time spent in participating in various parades in surrounding towns.

I have had very little, if any, time for shopping this week. As you know, the Brownfield Country club is presenting their annual show, Follies of '51, tonight, and tomorrow night, and Gee Gee and her Corn Huskers have been busy working up a few "out of this world" numbers to present.

Included in this follies show will be 12 big acts, such as chorus lines of the 20s and 30s, impersonations, skits, a magic act, a Charleston line, etc. We have only a few tickets left, but if you would

County 4-H Girls Win Dairy Contest

The Terry county dairy team, composed of Runez Patton and Laverne Joplin, both Pool 4-H club members; placed first in the district demonstration team contest held in Lubbock Monday. This is the announcement made by Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent. The Lubbock county team, composed of Shirley Watkins and Carolyn Powell, placed second. Donna Weldon of Wellman, placed second in the demonstration she gave alone. Joy Roberson of Lubbock county placed first in this contest composed of one member.

Both blue ribbon teams will enter the state dairy demonstration team contest to be held during the state 4-H Round-Up at College Station in June.

Runez Patton and Laverne Joplin, by their demonstration, showed how to make a cottage cheese loaf. They found it useful in making use of left over dishes. Donna Weldon showed the making of a substantial sandwich, as well as some used for parties and teas. She used neufchatel cheese for making the spread.

like to attend the show, contact Mrs. Prentice Walker, Mrs. Roy Wingerd, or me. This will probably prove to be one of the most hilarious shows you've ever seen.

With the weather acting so stinky lately, I'm about to get me a new theme song: "I'm Gonna Leave This Darned Ole Town." Please don't trample the women and children in your rush to join me.

Annual Party Held By Delphian Group

The Delphian study club held its annual party for husbands and guests on Thursday, April 26, at 7:30 p. m. at the Seleta Jane Brownfield club house.

A chicken spaghetti supper was served to approximately 75 persons.

Dinner was followed by bridge, canasta, and "42" games. High scorers were Wayne Brown and James Underwood and Mrs. K. B. Sadlier and Mrs. Fred Vandell.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lang and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cornelius attended the Ice Capades in Fort Worth last weekend. They also saw a baseball game between the Fort Worth Cats and the Oklahoma City Indians.

Mrs. Walter S. King of Cisco spent last week with her brother-in-law, H. L. (Hub) King and family.

Plant Supplemental Pastures

Although Texas farmers have just brought their livestock thru a hard winter, they should not forget that farm animals suffer from a lack of feed in the summer time also.

Green, lush grazing during the hot summer months is an important part of a livestock pasture program, says A. W. Crain, extension pasture specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

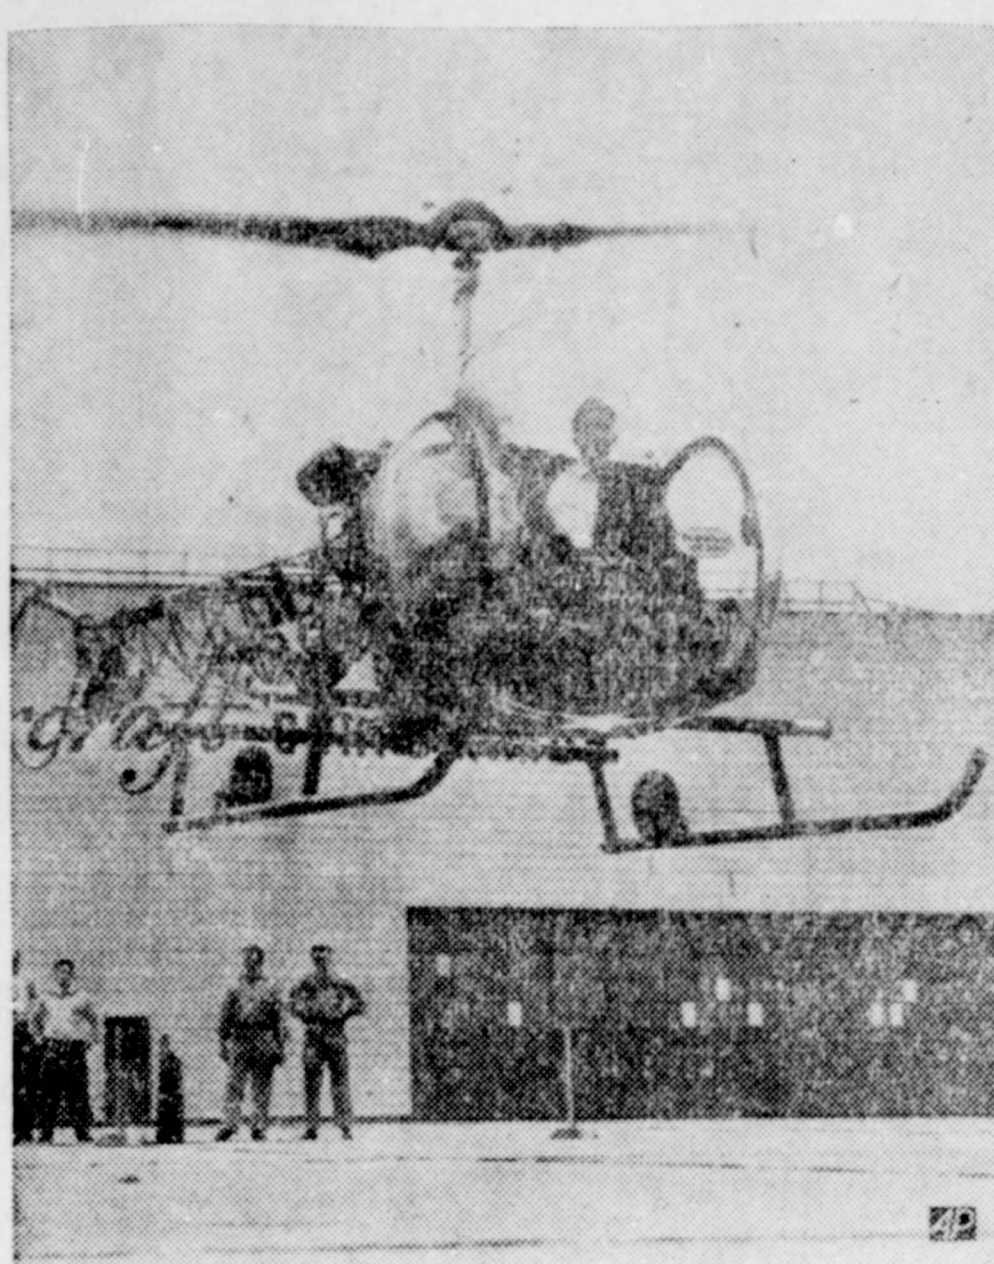

He recommends a mixture of sudan grass and cowpeas as the best forage plants for supplemental warm season pastures.

At least an acre of supplemental pasture to the cow is ideal. If more forage is produced than is needed for grazing, it can be cut for hay.

Crain strongly advises fertilizing supplemental pastures. He recommends using at least 400 pounds of 8-8-8 and 100 to 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate to the acre in East Texas. In the Blacklands and in South Texas, at least 300 pounds of superphosphate and 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate are recommended.

The superphosphate and mixed fertilizer should be disked into the soil, and the ammonium nitrate can be applied as a top dressing.

Texas Helicopter

Plum Curculios Are Bad On Fruit

Farmers who have a good crop of peaches this year are urged to take the best possible care of it. The peach crop for the nation is estimated to be only 25 percent of normal because of the damage from cold weather early last November and subsequent extremely cold weather.

This care includes controlling of insects that attack peaches. The plum curculio is one of the most important of these. This insect, which causes wormy peaches, is appearing in large numbers now.

J. E. Hutchison, extension horticulturist of Texas A. & M. College, recommends that spray be applied for plum curculio immediately — if it has not already been applied. The first spray should be applied when most of the petals have fallen. The second, and probably the most important spray should be applied at the split-shuck stage. At the first spraying, a mixture of two pounds of lead arsenate and 8 pounds of hydrated lime to 100 gallons of water may be used. If stink bugs are present, add 50 percent wettable DDT to the mixture to prevent cat-facing. Four pounds of wettable 40 percent toxaphene or chlordane powder to 100 gallons of water are also recommended.

Who said You can't Afford a Fine Car?

WHEN you look at everything a ROADMASTER has to offer, it's natural to conclude that it's priced with the rest of the fine-car field. Sweeping proudly past you, it has a distinction that few cars can equal. Stepping nimbly away from a stop light, it has the willing surge of power that the very exclusive combination of a 152-horsepower Fireball engine and Dynaflo Drive* delivers.

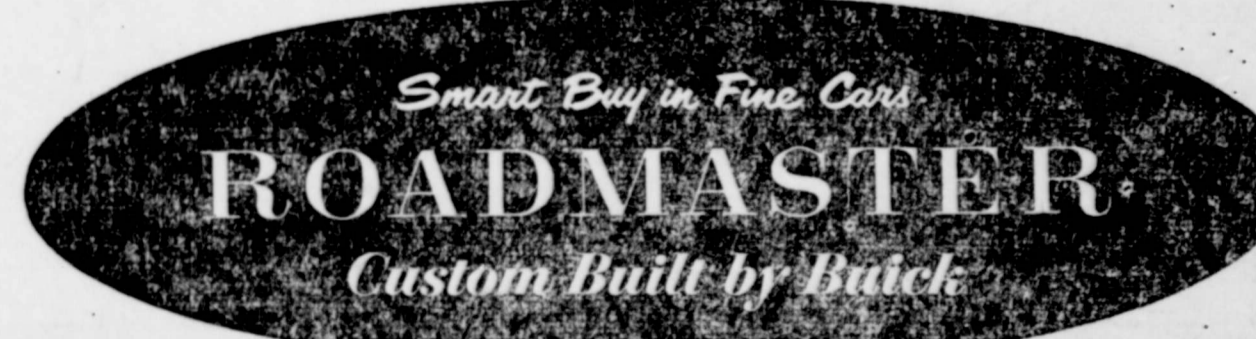

It rides the road with majestic smoothness, and comes to a smooth and gentle halt, in response to the finest brakes that Buick engineers ever developed. Inside, it has spacious room, from side to side and front to back and seat to roof—plus a softness of cushions and a richness of fabrics which bespeak the custom standards to which it is built. All you could want in a fine car is here in abundance. But don't let that mislead you into deciding "it's too rich for me." If you've looked into 1951 car prices generally, you'll discover this:

You can own a ROADMASTER for just a shade more than an ordinary car will cost—and for several hundred dollars less than the price tags usually found in "the fine-car field."

Why not look into this today?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.
