ANNUAL JAYCEE RODEO SETS NEW RECORDS

Setting new records in attendance, thrills, and production, the fourth annual Junior Chamber of Commerce rodeo came to an end last Saturday night, following a three-night performance.

Clyde Truly, general chairman termed this year's rodeo the "biggest and best" ever held here. Record crowds filled the stadium to capacity each night to witness top rodeo performers contesting some of the finest rodeo stock in the Southwest. Stock for this year's show was furnished by Tommy Steiner and "Wild Bill" Elliott, with Steiner acting as producer.

The Saturday night performance was highlighted by the annual beard judging contests. Prizes of $15, $10, and $5 were given in each of three classes of beards: full, novelty, and best trimmed. Takes Intelligence Course At Chaffee Richard McDuffie, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDuffie, is home from Camp Chaffee, Ark., where he has just finished an army intelligence course. Richard will be home a month or two and then will go to Chicago, where he will be located for some time.

Richard was mostly reared here when his dad was cashier of the First National Bank. After the family moved to Lubbock, Richard elected to stay in the Brownfield schools. His dad was vice-president of the Lubbock National Bank for some time.

Last year, when the R. M. Kendrick estate sold the controlling interest in the First National here to Mr. McDuffie, the family moved back to Brownfield. So, we imagine Richard feels like he is really coming home again.

By the way, the McDuffies tell us that another former Brownfield boy, Sonny Repp, is also taking a course at Camp Chaffee, but will not finish for some time.

JAYCEES APPLY FOR INCORPORATION PAPERS

Incorporators of Brownfield Jr. Chamber of Commerce, a new charitable business in Brownfield are Frank Syzloski, Alfred Gore and J. V. Gilliam, according to a news release from Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd.

A charter for the business, which has a capital stock of none was approved by Shepperd this week. Its corporate existence is 50 years.

Gas Company Asks For Slight Increase

Mr. C. I. Wall, president of West Texas Gas Company, announced today his company has filed a petition with the Texas Railroad Commission for an increase in its General Service Rate.

Mr. Wall said that for sometime he has been concerned over the fact that ever increasing costs of material, labor, taxes, gas purchased for resale, etc., might make it necessary to request an upward adjustment in our General Service Rate. He stated further that since the company began operation in the fall of 1927 that several downward adjustments in rates have been made—the last reduction being made in 1940.

This is the first General Service Rate increase to be requested by the company.

A proposed rate has been filed with the petition to the Railroad Commission—a copy of which is being presented to the mayors of the towns the company serves. The proposed rate increase would not increase the present minimum charge which is $1.25 per month for the first two thousand cubic feet used. Twenty-three per cent of the bills rendered to residential and business customers are for two thousand cubic feet or less.

To show the effect of the rate increase the company has made application of the new rate to the actual consumption of over seven hundred residences representing several from every town served. The average annual residential consumption for the calendar year 1950 was 86 MCF.

Taking the first fifty examples cited in each of several groups, arranged by annual consumption, the following average annual increases will occur. The first figures are for annual consumption, the latter is for annual increase in the bill over present rates:

41 to 60 thousand cu. ft. . . .	$2.82
61 to 80 thousand cu. ft. . . .	4.55
81 to 100 thousand cu. ft. . . .	5.99
101 to 150 thousand cu. ft. . . .	8.13

THANKS, FOLKS!

We hope that you agree that this, the 4th annual Jaycee rodeo, topped all previous performances. In acknowledging this triumph, we wish gratefully to thank the Brownfield merchants who, through their advertising, contributed to its success, and to each and every citizen who helped make this show successful. Through your continued support and cooperation, and only through you, can we attain greater successes.

Yours for a bigger and better rodeo in '52!
—The Brownfield Jr. Chamber of Commerce, by Clyde Truly, general rodeo chairman.

THIRD ANNUAL HARRIS REUNION HELD AT THE RANCH JUNE 30th

MR. AND MRS. H. H. HARRIS

Three hundred friends and relatives of the H. H. (Harve) Harris folks out at Bronco, N. M., were on hand out at the ranch last Saturday, June 30th for the 3rd annual affair. Those we talked with admit that they are getting better and better. Two of their daughters could not be present for various reasons, one living in Carlsbad, N. M., and the other at Los Angeles. Those present were: Hollis, a professional engineer of Amarillo; Charles D., Assistant Attorney General of New Mexico, located at Roswell, and Prentice, who presently lives on the ranch with his family, and has charge of it. A daughter, Mrs. R. G. Kornegay was present. Her husband has been principal of the Malaga, N. M., schools for years.

Then there were several on hand either related to Mr. or Mrs. Harve or Naomi. Among them were nephews, Major Wesley D. Harris and family from Georgia; Vernon and Henry Harris from El Paso. Also present were Arthur and Mark Fields (not related to the Fields family at Bronco) and one cousin, Ed McArthur and family from Spur; an uncle of Mrs. Harris, George Farrar and children of Floydada. There were a lot of second to fourth cousins present.

Accompanying the writer and wife was Mrs. J. L. Randal, her first time to attend, but not the last perhaps as she sure enjoyed meeting the old timers. Mrs. Randal was among the first teachers of Lynn county as well as the first teacher in Brownfield. Also the wife of one of the early day postmasters and druggists of Brownfield, Uncle Jack Blankenship was of course on hand; you couldn't tie that lad away from Harve's reunions. There were a number of others from Brownfield, Tahoka, Lubbock and Crosby county, as Crosby was Harve's boyhood stomping ground. Oodles from New Mexico.

PEOPLE WELL PLEASED WITH NEW COUNTY JUDGE

The Terry County Commissioners, Bruce White, Sam Gossett, Lee Barlett and Horace Fox could have sit over there in their office and in session a month if they liked, trying to decide on a man to take over where death stopped County Judge Homer R. Winston, but they could not have come up with a man that is more universally liked than Herbert Chesshir.

It was somewhere in the early 1920ties that we first saw Herbert. At that time their parents lived in Meadow. One Sunday the writer and family attended a protracted meeting then going on in Meadow, and as was the habit of those days, several, including the Chesshir family, asked us to go to dinner (not lunch) with them. They had several children, but we particularly remember Herman and Herbert, as they were then just in their teens, or near 'em, but we thought they were the most polite boys we ever met.

As there were to be afternoon and evening services, we stayed on with the Chesshir family and had supper. Since that time, we have known the Chesshir family intimately, and as the boys, and that includes the other boys, have not departed from their raising. It is no put-on for them to be nice to all people. It makes no difference with them about what this or that fellow has or has not. If he has the right makeup, the Chesshir boys, like dad and mother, are their friends.

As we have it, there really was no applications for the office. The Commissioners just asked Herbert, who is the Tax Assessor-Collector of Terry county to serve, which he reluctantly decided to do. We learn that Mrs. Bill Webb, who has been the deputy Assessor-Collector, will have charge of that office for the time being, at least. And let us state here that the lady has had excellent training, and we believe can carry on with the job.

We believe that 90 per cent of the people of Terry county, perhaps more than that, will commend the Commissioners' Court for installing this popular citizen, who is well qualified in many ways, to the office of the lately lamented Homer R. Winston. We believe that if it were possible, that Homer Winston himself would be highly pleased with the choice the Commissioners have made.

LT. BOWERS ASSIGNED TO NEW DESTROYER

Lt. (jg) Marion C. Bowers, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bowers of 406 East Tate, Brownfield, Texas, is serving aboard the newly re-commissioned destroyer USS Erben.

Before being ordered to active military service in April, 1951, he graduated from the Universities of Texas and Illinois.

Significantly, the ship was re-activated and commissioned at the U. S. Naval Station, Long Beach, Calif., on Armed Forces Day. After a post-activation overhaul, the Erben will become a part of the Cruiser-Destroyer Force, U. S. Pacific Fleet.

DR. SIBLEY ASSUMED DUTIES AT LOCAL HOSPITAL JULY 2

Dr. George W. Sibley assumed his duties at the local hospital Monday, July 2, according to information received from Drs. T. L. Treadaway and A. H. Daniell.

A June, 1950, graduate of Louisiana State University Medical School, Dr. Sibley trained at Charity Hospital in New Orleans. He interned at Shreveport Charity Hospital, graduating July 1, 1951. During his schooling, he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity and Phi Chi medical fraternity. He is licensed to practice medicine in Texas, Louisiana, and New Mexico.

Dr. Sibley is a veteran of World War II, with 3½ years service in the army. He was serving with the 80th Infantry Division in Europe when he was wounded in action near Metz, France. He was awarded the Combat Badge, Bronze Star, and Purple Heart.

Born in Baton Rouge, La., in 1922, Dr. Sibley attended public schools in East Baton Rouge Parish (county), graduating from Zachary High School in 1939. He attended Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Wesson, Miss., for two years and Louisiana State University for two years.

Although Dr. Sibley's favorite hobby is fishing, he has not been able to devote much time to it for the past two years. It was pointed out to him that Brownfield is a fisherman's paradise—it's only 150 miles in any direction from an ideal fishing spot.

Dr. Sibley is a member of the Baptist Church, a Mason, and belongs to the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

His wife is the former Bette Queensberg of Las Cruces, N. M. The Sibleys have four sons, Gary, age 5, Jim, age 3, and 10-month-old twins, Kenneth and Keith. They reside at 310 E. Tate street.

Crops In Needmore-Meadow Section Good

Drove out through the Needmore-Meadow area late Sunday afternoon to see the crops in that section. This area has probably received the maximum amount of rain that has fallen in Terry county this year, being especially heavy in May. However, at the time this is written, we are fearful of what the heavy cloud did in northwest Terry Tuesday night.

In fact, Mrs. Bill Williams has already reported some hail on their place 8 miles north of town. Anyway, with the exception of a few small spots in some fields that have started to blow out, they have some mighty pretty cotton in that area, and man—you talk about acreage, they have it in that area—thousand and thousands of acres, and it was very pretty Sunday. Quite a reverse from last year when the cotton acreage was limited. It is nearly all cotton this year, with a minimum of grain sorghums.

Of course if hail hits some of the fields, it will be replanted in maize or higeria, as it is too late now for cotton. Usually at this time of year the hail storms quit, but this year, they, as well as high winds have hung on and on as never before in our history, plus a lot of small cyclones.

Many farmers of the area have also done a lot of improvements around their places, and one farmer has built a swell home just east of the Needmore gin and store about a mile. In fact, we believe that in the area covered Sunday, more farmers own their places and live on them, than any section of Terry County.

We shall try to see the crops in other parts of the area this weekend if possible. There is nothing we like to see more than growing crops.

Mr. and Mrs. Lal Copeland and children are vacationing this week in Red River.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Keep Housekeeping Fireproof Ssys TES

Fireproof housekeeping can be every homemaker's job in keeping the country safe. Mrs. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist for the Texas Extension Service, says this will aid defense efforts.

For fireproof housekeeping five steps are suggested by the National Board of Fire Underwriters to reduce common fire hazards in the home: first, clean out all rubbish from closets, attic, basement, and other places. Then put waste paper in covered metal containers and empty them frequently; keep oily rags and paint cloths in covered metal containers; get rid of gasoline, benzine or other highly inflammable liquids; keep electric wiring, extension cords, and appliances in good repair.

Have an emergency kit including a flashlight, extra batteries, portable radio, first aid kit, several days' supply of canned food and drinking water.

Have some home fire-fighting equipment handy—a five gallon hand pump, a hose and several buckets of water, sand and a shovel.

FOR YOUR FILE

Sandwiches fill the bill for picnics, lunch boxes and snack times too. Add to your list these combinations which are all moistened with mayonnaise; deviled tongue, chopped peanuts and olives, deviled ham, sliced tomato, green pepper rings; minced luncheon loaf, peanut butter and chopped pickle.

HAM AND MACARONI

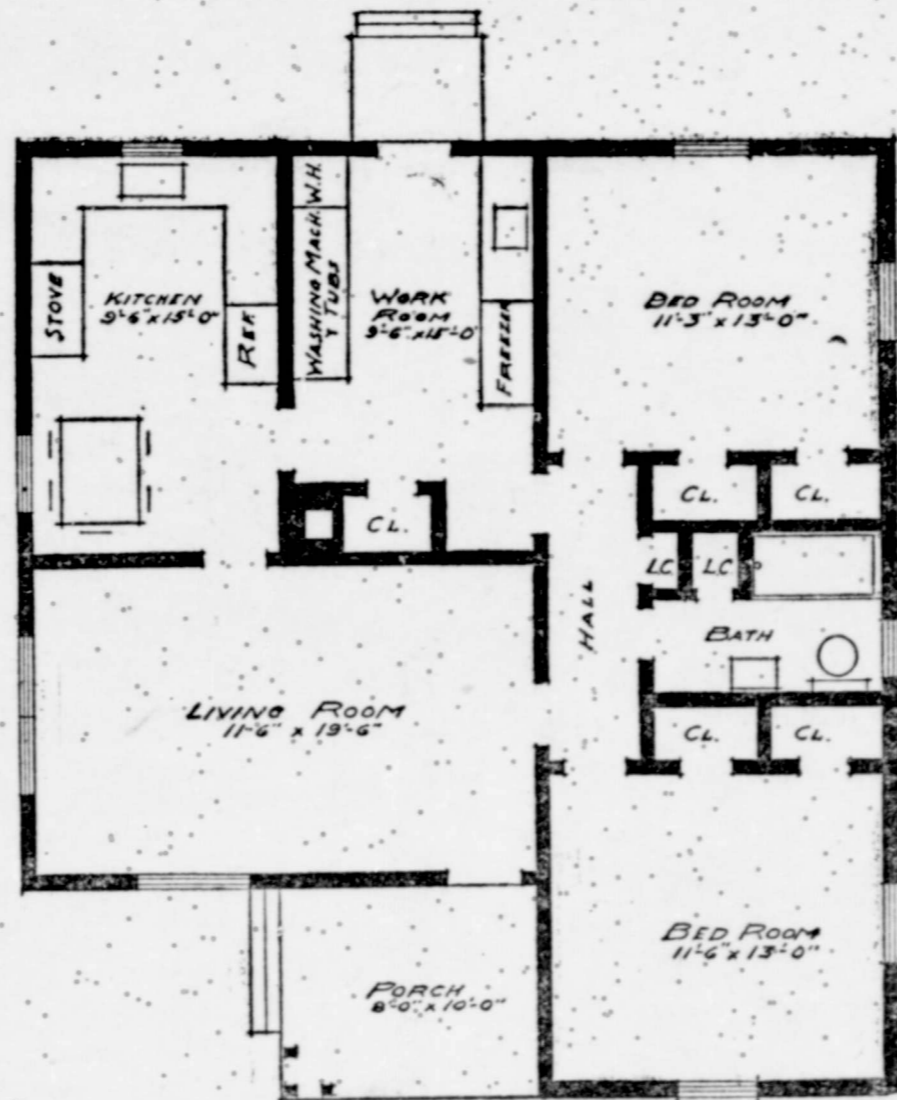

With casserole cookery days here try this ham and macaroni combination. Mix chopped cooked ham with cooked macaroni in a cream sauce. Add chopped green pepper. Bake, topped with buttered bread crumbs, in a greased baking dish in a moderate oven for one hour.

LOW COST WITH CONCRETE

Here is an easy-to-build, compact, attractive-looking farm home designed for concrete masonry or similar materials.

Concrete masonry is low in cost and far more lasting than most building materials. It makes a tight house, thus saving you a lot of heat in the winter and keeping the interior a great deal cooler in the warm months.

Of course, materials other than concrete masonry can be used, but windows and doors of the outside walls are all located in the exact places where they need to be and you won't have to break or cut the blocks to make room for any sort of opening in this house. The bedrooms are arranged so that you won't have to go through the dining and living area in order to get to the bathroom or bedrooms when coming from the kitchen or outside. Also, note the large amount of closet or storage space.

The plan shows a chimney centrally located to provide easy use from almost any section of the house. However, there is ample space for a chimney near the kitchen stove if wood is used. If you want a fireplace, it could be very easily installed where the two large windows are now located in the end of the living-dining area. Details for such a fireplace are provided in the plans.

The handy work room will serve as a food preparation and laundry center, a wash room for field hands, and an ideal place for the freezer chest. The built-in closet for rain togs and work clothes will save much cleaning of floors in the rest of the house. If you prefer, this room can be left as a screened porch.

You can obtain blueprints for this TERRY COUNTY HERALD FARM & RANCH House Plan No. 4804 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, FARM & RANCH, Dept. L-193, Nashville 1, Tenn. Order by number—Plan No. 4804. Blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or for any farmer, handy with tools.

Poage Farm Bill May Get By Congress

GEORGE MAHON

Representative George Mahon reports from Washington that the so-called Poage Farm Labor Bill has now passed the House and is in conference between the House and Senate. The House rejected the so-called Douglas Amendment to the bill which would make it a felony for a cotton farmer to knowingly employ a Mexican citizen who was in the United States illegally.

The object of the Poage Bill is to simplify the process of bringing Mexican labor from the Republic of Mexico to help in the harvesting of cotton and other crops—labor that will be greatly needed if the 1951 Texas cotton crop is to be harvested.

Mahon participated in seeking passage of an amendment by Congressman Rogers of Pampa which would have repealed existing federal law prohibiting the employment in agriculture of children under 16 years of age when school is in session. The amendment was held out of order and was not adopted. Both Rogers and Mahon have separate bills pending which would accomplish the same purpose but to date favorable action has not been taken. Mahon expressed elation over the passage of the Poage Bill. He

Big Spring Cotton Variety Test

Hi-Bred and Deltapine (TPSA) produced the highest average yields in the cotton variety tests conducted at the Big Spring experiment station for the last three years, announced F. E. Keating, Big Spring station superintendent.

"Average per acre yields of 214 and 211 pounds of lint were obtained from Hi-Bred and Deltapine (TPSA)," said Keating. Other high yielding varieties were Stormproof 1; Paymaster 54; Stoneville (TPSA); CA 89A Stormproof; Texcala, Rogers; and Northern 1ar. These varieties varied in average acre yields from 206 and 191 pounds, in the order named, Keating reported.

In the 1950 test, Stoneville (TPSA) produced the highest yield, with 354 pounds of lint per acre. Deltapine (TPSA), Stormproof 1, Paymaster 54 and Hi-Bred were the four next highest yielding varieties for the single year. All produced more than 300 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

Keating reported these results in Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Progress Report 1972. This report, which is available from the Publications Office, College Station, Texas, also gives the percentage of lint, staple length and number of bolls per pound for each of the varieties tested. In addition to the regional test, results are reported on a supplemental cotton variety test—conducted on varieties and strains which may possibly be adapted to West Texas conditions.

Cotton farmers are urged to make regular inspections of their fields of growing cotton for harmful insects. Get them early.

It is noted that there had been a rumor that the President might veto the bill when it arrived at the White House for his signature. However, he felt that the President would be compelled to approve the bill in view of the tremendous importance to the national defense effort of procuring additional labor for the harvesting of the 1951 cotton crop.

WORLD PEACE PLAN

NEW DELHI. — (AP) — If you think that the United Nations has failed in its purpose, here is a remedy offered by a Sikh Sadhu (holy man). Nirmal Singh Pantall, 48, urges the immediate formation of a world government with the Irish premier, Eamon De Valera as the president and Lord Strangate of England, as the prime minister, investing them with full powers to work out the details.

To invoke divine blessings for his plan, Pantall has gone on a fast in Mussoorie, a sub-Himalyan summer resort, 200 miles from Delhi. This is his 15th fast for furtherance of world peace.

Buffalo Grass Good For Your Lawn

Buffalo grass will make a good covering for your lawn. It is a time-saver because it is drought resistant and low growing. This grass is recommended for West Texas by Sadie Hatfield, Home-stead Improvement Specialist, for the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College.

The specialist says the grass is sometimes called "mesquite" or "vine mesquite grass" or "curly mesquite grass," and even "short grass." It grows from South Texas to the Dakotas. It is a favorite of cattlemen for their stock. This is the grass used by early settlers on the plains for making sod houses.

To get a start, the specialist recommends planting seed or sod. Planting sod is preferred. If you sow seed, you may get a poor stand. Select sod or seed bearing plants and you will have less mowing to do. Get sod two or three inches square and three to five inches deep. Place twelve to eighteen inches apart to cover your lawn immediately. Water well and keep out the weeds.

The specialist says early fall and spring are best for sodding Buffalo grass, but many people are successfully starting lawns, any time of the year, if they have plenty of water.

Pack the soil firmly about the roots and water immediately. Don't keep the sod out too long before planting because it will become too dry.

Buffalo grass does best on tight soil, but does not grow in the shade. Nitrogen fertilizer and barnyard fertilizer with plenty of water force the growth much taller than the usual three to five inches. So be careful not to over fertilize and make extra mowing necessary.

See your county extension agents for further information. They will teach you to recognize Buffalo grass.

It seems that more and more of our leading citizens and politicians of the south are coming out against the waste and extravagance, as well as the poor display of morality in government high places at Washington. One of the leading dailies of America, the New York Times, has recently designated Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, as the real boss man of his department. He represents any dictatorship from the White House or State Department, and he generally says what he thinks is right and just. Then there is our governor and attorney general, Allan Shivers and Price Daniel, who have both been very critical of the Washington bunch of late, and make no bones about the matter, even if some of the "liberals" might be tempted to call them "Dixiecrats." Many of our best minds can now see what many of us have suspected for the past several years, that we as a nation, and with the present leadership, are fast drifting into Socialism. And that must be stopped if we are to continue to enjoy the American way of life which the nation has enjoyed at its thrived upon for the past 175 years. Of course no one is in favor of the south and central American style of changing matters via revolution. The move must be a peaceful one, the ballot box. And in this a lot of us Southern people must change our way of thinking, and recognize the blunt fact that not everyone is a Democrat that might bear that name. They even call themselves Democrats in Russia today. What Texas and the south in general knew as Democracy 20 years ago has passed out so far as Washington is concerned. The big boys in charge of the National Democratic party would no more recognize a Jeffersonian or Jacksonian Democrat than an Eskimo would a banana tree. But the people of the South must come out of their turtle shell, and speak out in meeting, or we as well call ourselves Orphan Anne and make the best of a very bad bargain. In the first place every Southern delegate to the National Convention should demand restoration of the two-thirds rule, and failing in this, should leave the convention. And if the GOP have sense enough to come in out of the rain, and nominate some statesman that the South has confidence in, then they should meet at some central point in the south and endorse such a man as a fusion candidate. Otherwise nominate a man from the south, such as Byrd or Byrnes or many others we could mention, who would take up the crugel and fight for the preservation of the American way of life. True, Mr. Truman was elected without four Southern states by a scratch, but he cannot cut the mustard without all 13 of them, and he knows it as well as anyone.

One of the best expressions of what the real Democrats of the South are thinking, was gathered from an address by the honorable, Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia to those who gathered at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Atlanta, recently. It so happened that none of the big bosses from Washington were on hand, and if so, they failed to bring their muzzles with them. After a brief review of his happy work with the two senators from Georgia—Russell and George, Senator Byrd really hit the line as he saw it, with the subject, "The truth at Washington as I see it." In the first place, the Senator said the Democratic party's ancestry was of no questionable ancestry, but was born out of sharp conflict. In other words, the Democratic party of the USA did not have a dad born of Fascism of Southern Europe, and a mammy from the Curtain countries of eastern Europe. And according to Byrd, the Democratic party has withstood mailed fists before, and it can do so again. And still quoting, The Democratic party of J. and J. will survive because in the hearts of millions of Americans there is faith in the traditional principals laid down by Jefferson and implemented by Jackson. He then quoted from a speech of James F. Byrnes delivered two years ago in which Byrnes is quoted as saying that "we are going down the road to Statelism. Where we will wind up no one can tell, but if some of the programs are adopted there is danger to the individual—whether farmer, worker, manufacturer, lawyer or doctor—all will be economic slaves, pulling on the oars of the galley of the State.

Beware of the Greek bearing gifts, who can promise you something that does not belong to them, and given at your own expense or the expense of others, who may not produce to make the promise good." Continuing the Senator stated that he was a Southerner and was proud of it, but what he had to say was without sectional bias. He asserted that he did not believe that there was any part of our country today more free of sectionalism than the South. Of course, we have our peculiar problems some unknown to other sections; but we are trying to adjust them as fast as we can, but we wish to do it within the States, and not at the behest of the Federal government. He also said he yielded to no section for greater patriotism than that found in the South. No section of the nation has responded with such unanimity as the South since the Civil War, in a crisis of the nation. And the South will always respond to the orderly, sincere, responsible government. But by the same token, we of the Jefferson-Jackson Democratic States will always fight hypocrisy and irresponsibility.

We seldom bring personal matters into our editorials, but we have with our own eyes and ears seen and heard things of late that we of free America too often take for granted. So, if we can hear the other fellow talk that has been reared in some foreign land, and under a different kind of government, we can then begin to realize what a blessing we have in the land of the free and the home of the brave. For that reason we should not become indifferent and allow a bunch of leftists to change our nation over to the very kind of government we abhor; but the kind this the young man we aim to tell you about, has learned to so love in a short time. The young man in question is Sam Shami, an Arabian by birth and nationality, although reared in Palestine. Religiously, he was reared a Moslem, Sam's folks are well fixed for that country, owning a store, and his dad is an official of some kind, as a photo Sam has, shows him in uniform. Sam came to the USA last year, and lived in Lamesa awhile, when Mr. Kayal sent him to Brownfield to work in the Fair Department store. He is now assistant manager, and is mastering English fast. But Sam wants to remain in America, become a citizen, and one of the greatest helps would be marriage to some American girl. That was consummated last Sunday, but that part will be found under society items. Sam has had a room upstairs at our home since he came. A cleaner, more congenial roomer one could hardly find. Sam always has a cheerful word and a smile for those he knows, and we learn he is popular both with the clerks and customers at the store. Knowing us perhaps longer than most people in Brownfield, Sam is free in expressing himself with us. But it seems that he just does not have the words at his command to express his admiration of the good old USA. But here is a few: "The United States is a greatest country on earth, and I think the best that ever has been. You natives don't seem to realize what a great blessing you have in living in the United States of America—you just seem to take it for granted. You have so much freedom of movement from place to place without restraint, and you can express your opinion about the good or bad in officials without fear of being molested." The part of Palestine in which Sam grew up has a British protectorate. His father can import a total of $10,000 from foreign countries, but the British must get $8,000 of the imports. The other $2,000 is spent for American goods, and Sam intimates that it would be much more if the British would allow it. This article is not being written to boost the store particularly where Sam works. It is mainly written as an object lesson to Americans on our 175th birthday week.

Like an old gentleman in Tennessee, somewhat given to stretching the blanket, remarked one time about another citizen of a nearby community who had to pass the old gentleman's place to get to the old water mill: "So and so or some of the boys go to mill every day, every day." Almost that often, either President Truman or Secretary Snyder calls for more and more money in the form of taxes. But it seems that Congress has about its fill of so many calls for more and more money, and the White House bunch has run up against a stone wall, seemingly. Many of the congressmen have begun to inquire why some cuts in unnecessary expenditures cannot be practiced, especially since employment in the USA is at a top level of almost all time. Few people other than the old and disabled need help. And many jobs are being filled at good salaries that are no more needed than a nice field of growing cotton needs a hail-storm. But if any bureau is ever opened, there is no closing it. And the trouble is that new ones are being opened every day, every day, as the old man stated. We have talked with people who worked in Washington during War II, who stated that they could have gotten along better with half the force they had. There were so many doing nothing except to draw a salary, that they were really in the way of those trying to work. Just some double half

Hurrah, We Are Living High Again

The Herald family was "sotten" around one P. M. last week, not thinking about anything in particular, unless it was the hot, dry weather, when in walked Phillip Rogers from out in east Terry and his whole shebang, wife and kiddoes.

They like to have taken our breath when they announced they had brought six fryers—already dressed and in boxes, ready for the freezer. Guess you have heard about the old guy they were taking off to the poor farm because he was too lazy to work.

In order to save the old rascal a term at the poor farm, some of the neighbors offered to donate food or its equivalent. One neighbor offered five bushels of corn. The old lazy stink raised up in the wagon bed, and wanted to know if the corn was shelled.

When the answer was no, the indolent one lay back down and told the wagoner to drive on. We are sure glad Faybelle picked and cleaned those fryers.

If the private businesses in America tried to do business in the style of the Washington crowd, the sheriff would be around with a padlock in a week. But where other people's money is used, there are no regrets. Come easy, go easy. In the meantime, if some setup is not found, all of us will be headed for the poor-house.

PARDON US if we play switchman with a familiar railroad phrase, but we aim to flag down some certain people... Those folks who've always had a great big yen for a new Buick, but a big worry that Buick prices ran too high for their budgets. Now we'll have to grant you that—on style and beauty and size and impressive appearance—a 1951 Buick looks like a pretty high price tag. And we'll have to grant, too, that the zooming power and the luxurious ride and the heavyweight steadiness you get in a Buick would also indicate prices beyond the reach of most people. But honestly, you'll find nothing farther from the truth when you take a look at the price tags these 1951 Buicks are wearing. You'll find that beauty with the big-power, big-mileage, valve-in-head Fireball Engine is really within your budget picture—with prices starting below those of many of today's sixes. And you'll have to admit then and there that you can have Buick room and comfort, can have Buick ride and handling, can have Buick style and size—for little, if any, more than you've been paying for lesser cars. That leaves the next step up to you—stopping in to see us. Come in soon, look over the SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER you've always wanted—and let that happy glow go surging all through you as you sign up for your smart-buy Buick.

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

At the risk of repeating myself, I just have to say once more what a terrific rodeo the Jaycees put on this year. And, with a great deal of modesty, each Jaycee that you tell that to says, "I didn't do anything." Which may be true, but some Jaycees put out a heck of a lot of effort and they came up with a ring tailed honey of a show this year.

They have asked me to express my thanks each and every one of you people for making their show this year a success, for they realize that, no matter how much effort they put out, they couldn't have such a wonderful rodeo without little old you and you and you. And they are truly sincere in their thanks, so take it as such, will ya?

I declare that the Sheriff's posse certainly did a swell job in holding up their end of the bargain as far as the rodeo is concerned. Not only did they take charge of all the horses in the parade, but they threw a tremendous barbecue for the visiting bosses, which, incidentally, included Hockley county, who walked off with the trophy given by the local chamber of commerce, Lea County, N. M., Lynn, Post, Lubbock, Odessa, Crosbyton, and Emmones counties. More than 100 persons were fed at the barbecue, which was chairmanned by Men Dale Simmons and a fine crew of posse members.

And while we're still on the subject of the rodeo, the Herald would like to thank Frentice Walzer and his boys at Farmers Implement, for trailer and truck, and the Terry County Lumber Company, who loaned hammers, nails, lumber, and Donald Price for putting our float in the parade. G. I. QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—I was separated, but not divorced, from my husband—a World War I veteran—at the time of his death. His service-connected disability, incidentally, did not cause his death. If I meet eligibility requirements, would I be entitled to pension, even though we were separated?
A—Yes, if you can establish that the separation was due to the misconduct of, or procured by, your husband, with no fault on your part. Also, you would have to meet the income requirements and have not remarried.

Q—I recently received my NSLI dividend from VA, and I'm pretty sure the amount is wrong. Where do I write to get things straightened out?
A—Write to the VA district office handling your account. Be sure to include all necessary information so that office can readily locate your file—such as full name and address, insurance number and service serial number.

Q—In 1943, I received an honorable discharge as an enlisted man to accept a commission, and I have been on active duty ever since. Am I eligible while still on active duty for GI Bill schooling benefits on the strength of that discharge?
A—No. A discharge granted merely for the purpose of changing military status is not sufficient under the law to qualify you for GI Bill benefits.

Q—I got in military service in 1948, after World War II, and was discharged recently. Would I be entitled to GI Bill benefits?
A—No. One of the qualifications for GI Bill benefits is World War II service.

Economic Highlights

Has agriculture been profiting unduly at the expense of the consumer? A great many people think that is the case, and it is a theory which has been effectively argued by distinguished economists and others. But there is another side to the coin, and it is well presented by Herschel D. Newsom, Master of the National Grange, in the June issue of the Country Gentleman. Mr. Newsom's article is descriptively entitled, "The Farmer's Side of It."

He says frankly, "All of us who live by agriculture must face the brutal fact that if a popularity poll were taken throughout the nation today, the farmer perhaps would get the lowest rating in history. More than that, he would be accused by many town and city families as a Government-supported gouger who has caused the cost of living to spiral." He admits that some farm prices are out of line and that there are flaws in the government's farm program. Then he says, "I want to say that the farmer and his programs are NOT to blame for the high cost of living which worries all of us. . . . There is no villain except inflation."

Agriculture, Mr. Newsom feels, has been made a scapegoat for sins of omission and commission over which it has little or no control. It is true that there has been a very fast rise in the prices of many farm products since the Korean war began. But, he observes, "In the two years before June 1950 the average of farm prices declined 26 per cent—and this decline, which led almost to the verge of another farm-fed depression, went virtually unnoticed in the city press. Most farm prices have not yet caught up with either wages or prices of industrial goods."

Mr. Newsom implements this statement with some impressive statistics. The average of farm prices still is almost 15 per cent below 1947—by contrast, both corporate profits and hourly wages of factory workers are 10 per cent above that level. In 1947, he says, net farm income was $18,000,000,000. In 1949 it was $14,000,000,000, and in 1950 it was down still more to $13,000,000,000. He writes, "Last year the 20 per cent of the U. S. population that lives on the farms received only 12 per cent of the national income."

Mr. Newsom is the first to admit that serious mistakes have been made in the price-support program—such as the potato support fiasco which stirred up so much bitter criticism some time ago. But, as a general rule, he writes, "those supports have helped to hold food prices down. Here his reasoning runs like this: government purchases have taken surplus products from the market at times of unreasonably low prices. These surpluses have been held in reserve, and have been brought back into the market when prices threatened to go unreasonably high. As a consequence, he says, "Consumers have benefited much more than farmers from most of these programs."

Finally, Mr. Newsom feels that inflation must be fought hard on all fronts. He advocates financing rearmament on a pay-as-you-go basis, strictly limiting all government functions which do not directly further the defense effort and sharply restricting credit luxuries and non-essential purchases. If these measures fail to do the job, he continues, wage and rationing controls must be applied equally to the whole economy. In advocating this program, Mr. Newsom is largely in agreement with our leading economists.

SOUTH SIDE OF SQUARE BROWNFIELD, TEXAS

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

In "Wading Around in the News" with the Jayton Chronicle this week, we find that apparently the editor of the above column seems to be on the peck just a bit. He starts off by telling all and sundry that after listening to the Office of Price Stabilization cussed and discussed, he had up to then kept silence. But an editor can be provoked. And it came about last week when one of the OPS officials, who designates himself as the "Information Officer," wrote one of the merchants in Jayton that an OPS man was to be in his town, and "since you have no newspaper in Jayton, please inform the other merchants."

That was the last straw with Bro. Wade. He blew up and we don't blame him. What in heck does the I. O. of OPS think the Chronicle is, anyway? Well, invariably the same bunch at Lubbock has never learned that the Chamber of Commerce offices in Brownfield is west and not south of the square. Smart information officer.

Jimmy Hatlo got off a very laughable cartoon this week in his "They'll do it every time" in the Star-Telegram. Like in most big offices, towns and communities there is always one guy that must have his ugly mug in every picture whether it is supposed to be there or not.

The walls were covered with pictures in which prominent people were displayed, but the mugomanic always got his map in the view, either poked around in from one of the other, or over some one's shoulder. What made it so funny to many here was that we have a fair sample in Brownfield.

Speaking of mugs, we imagine those "tough hillbilly musicians" from California, who seriously wounded one and murdered another Dallas policeman, are rather tired of being "mugged." In fact, they are now as tame as white rats, with all their braggadocio gone with the wind.

Of the four traveling musicians, one was given the "hot seat" quick at Dallas, and the other three sent to Brownwood for trial. One of them got the electric chair and the others 99 years after a short deliberation of three juries. The two that got death will have a long time to ask themselves why they ran red lights and otherwise violated traffic regulations in Dallas, and the two that got 99 years will have still longer time to think on these things.

While it won't do much good for us to flay the weatherman, everyone else is giving their dime's worth: why not us? The writer has been sojourning in this land for just better than 42 years. We have talked with others that have been here longer, and some almost as long. All agree that we have never had another year since they have been here like 1951.

While most of Terry county had plenty rain to bring up their crops, and other parts really had an abundance of rain, especially in May, there has been more windy days in May and June and up to now in July than ever seen here in the some fifty years people have been living in this area.

Then there has been more little midget cyclones, some of them powerful enough to do considerable damage, than has perhaps been known here in all that time previously. And while Terry has so far escaped any really destructive hail—better woodup folks—from Littlefield north the country has been ripped and slashed with hail not once, but many times. And in the Lamesa area, they seem to get more hail, especially east Dawson, than rain.

This is something to worry about if you ask us. There are more cloud watchers than we have ever known in this section.

No one so far as we have been able to contact was able to detect the earthquake that rattled dishes and shook houses from Lubbock to Amarillo last week. Maybe these two burgs are getting so large and heavy they are mashing in the ground they stand on.

Another thing on the quiz side, is that the millers or moth's left last week for parts unknown as suddenly as they came. But this much all agree to. While they lasted, they were the worst ever seen here. Better watch the plants pretty close from this on. Doubtless they laid some eggs, and the eggs will hatch worms and the worms in turn, if not killed, will produce millers' again.

This month, an old west Texas county, Comanche, joins the parade of those that had an illegal distillery captured within its borders. Once in a great while they get one in Somervell (Glenrose) county, and about a year ago, the Liquor Control Board men swooped down on one right here on the South Plains, in Lamb county.

But the captured distilleries are mostly in deep east Texas, and where there is spring water and woods to hide in. They tell us they sure know how to make their corn squeezings.

This great country of ours has come a long way from that famous meeting held in Philadelphia 134 centuries ago, at which a brave bunch of pioneers, met in defiance of a nation then having the most resources and the largest navy in the world, Britain. These rugged individualists declared themselves independent of England, and set up a Republic in a new nation, dedicated to equal opportunities to all and special privileges to none.

Not only has the USA grown as no other nation has ever grown but its wealth and population is now many times greater than the country from which it sprang. The production from its shops, factories, foundries, farms and ranches is the greatest the world has ever known.

Sure regretted not being able to attend the Old Pioneer's reunion over at Tahoma the 23rd; Bob Noble asked us to go with him as usual, but we had a previous engagement at Brownwood. The late Judge Homer Winston delivered his last public address there that day.

We would liked to have seen those two old timers dressed up at "Worry Willies" poking fun at some of the old timers, especially Matt Williams. Also the disguised lady who was making the rounds inquiring for some of the Tahomaites they had met at the Fat Stock Show and Stamford

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

I will now discuss Einstein. My word, says Henry, you and Einstein. Hold your horses, I says, it is not REALITY that I will tell you about, it is what Einstein said when he laid down his slide rule and talked Main Street talk. He said, "I live in that solitude that is painful to youth but is delicious to maturity."

I been pondering, and you know with more and more people being retired at 64 and then not knowing what to do with themselves, I figure they must have missed something along the road or they would have 100 things to catch up on. They would not need ask a psychologist what to do next.

But the moral, it is for the ones of 40 and 50 or thereabouts—it is to prepare 'em for 64 and peace like Einstein's versus being perplexed and lost. Folks at 40 and 50 could stay home an evening now and then and do some preliminary pondering—also get acquainted with their off-shoots. And furthermore they are longer the pictures on the dance floor that they were at 22. You know pop don't knock the ladies for a loop quite so easy after he reaches the 40-50 bracket—and that goes too for the plump and 40 mamas, if she only knew it. I kinda deduct it is time to rejuvenate our thinking. Time to relax at 40 to 50 and thereby avoid being a psychological problem or forlorn guy or dame at 64.

Yours with the low down,
 JOE SERRA.

STREAMLINED POSTAL MONEY ORDER SYSTEM TO BE IN EFFECT ON JULY 2

Patrons of more than 42,000 post offices will find the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2, 1951. Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson announced today. Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check. The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past. The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific workhorse of the 1950 census tabulation. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged. The new system makes available to the Post Office Department the most advanced electronic business machines. One machine, the IBM type 808 proof machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the modern proof machine in widespread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the electronic statistical machine, which will be used to tabulate the new money order system. The Postmaster General described the inauguration of the new money order system as the largest single accounting change ever made in postal history and said that the development comes after exhaustive study by the Post Office Department, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board. The Department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery. Last year more than 300,000,000 money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and paid by the Post Office Department. The new money order system will be under the management and supervision of Assistant Postmaster General Osborne A. Pearson, who directs the Department's Bureau of Finance. All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional post offices. The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and the better to serve the general public.

A NEPHEW VISITS WITH US BRIEFLY

Glenn Stricklin of Fort Worth, was a visitor in the home of the editor and family Tuesday night and long enough to look over the town some Wednesday morning. The last time Glenn was in Brownfield was 1920, and he could hardly realize the growth of the old burg in that 31 years.

Glenn learned to be an electrician soon after moving to Ft. Worth in 1921, and has been on the job since. He worked for several years in the 1930's and early 1940's for the government on their projects in the Canal Zone of Panama.

Presently, Glenn has a long job at Snyder. His brothers-in-law, Jack and Bob Burton, who have electrical appliance stores at Fort Worth, Midland and Snyder, have the job of electrical wiring on the new million dollar high school building at Snyder, and Glenn will be their foreman on that job.

He left around 11 o'clock Wednesday for Lubbock, where he once lived, and to visit some of his wife's people out east of Lubbock, before returning to Snyder to be on the job the morning of the 5th.

Harris Reunion—

Texas-New Mexico line in the state now for almost 50 years. But honestly you wouldn't take the couple to be much older than that. They are just good, moral, and honest folks, who love the Lord and their friends. They have done quite well, thank you, as there are not many folks these days who can butcher a fat steer each year to feed their neighbors and friends.

Folks, we have eaten a lot of barbecue, a lot of it being tough, some blood-raw in the middle, some nearly burned up on the outside. We failed to get the name of the barbecue and son-of-a-gun and red beans cook, but that guy knows his onions when he gets around a barbecue pit or a pot of beans, or s. o. g., as the case may be. Everything else may be topnotch, but if the main piece de resistance happens to be tough, burned or bloody within, the whole dinner takes a flop. But everything, including the cakes and pies brought in by friends and neighbors were tops.

Now if you think those old timers don't have a good time, you are off law, Bud. Many of them embrace each other as they meet from year to year. And you get to see people that maybe you have not seen for years. You find that many of their loved ones have departed this life or are too ill to attend, since you saw them, which gives the only sad note of the meetings. But you hear from many not able to attend, through others that live reasonably close.

For instance we got to talk a bit with Tom James and wife of Tatum, N. M., as well as Gus Foreman, former postmaster at Tatum, and wife. Plenty tables for cutting meats, and seats for the visitors. Only things that caused a rearrangement was that ley wind off a hail storm north and east several miles. The seats were moved to the south side of the ranch house instead of the east backyard.

One of the many things the visitors appreciated was a large button picture of Mr. and Mrs. Harris, which was used to pin on your name, so others that did not know you might see your name. Right about this time of year is also the wedding anniversary of the honored couple.

All of us hope that Harve and Naomi have many happy wedding anniversaries and reunions with their loved ones and friends in the years to come.
