Fleahoppers Are Found In County Cotton Fields

County Agent Jim Foy said this week that, for the first time this year, fleahoppers have been discovered in cotton fields in Terry county.

Most of the insects, he said, are found in the northeast part of the county and that, although there is only a small amount of fleahoppers now, farmers should carefully watch their fields for a greater influx of the insects.

Foy said that so far there seems to be no great need for poisoning, but that if the insects increase, farmers must resort to poison to save their cotton.

He recommended a 20 per cent toxaphene compound for poison, if there are no lice present. If there are lice present, he recommends a liquid solution of one half pint of TEPP per acre mixed with the 20 percent toxaphene.

Foy also reports that some bollworm eggs have been discovered in the county and that they are pretty general. A few bollworm eggs have been found in cotton fields at Union, Needmore, and Pool, and Foy advises farmers to watch their fields for evidence of the bollworms. He suggests the same type poison for the bollworms as for fleahoppers.

In the event that enough insects are discovered to warrant them, Foy said that various insect control meetings will be scheduled and announced.

Farmers who desire to have more information may go by Foy's office in the basement of the courthouse and pick up free bulletins, Foy said.

Yeatts Says Static Storm Missed Him

C. E. Yeatts, who lives east of Meadow on the Lakeview F-M road, and just inside Terry county called Saturday to renew his paper. Talking about the static electric storm that burned some crops to a crisp, last week, he informed us that what damage he had was on the north side of his farm, but from there on it was rough, wiping out some farms.

He stated that the damage was especially bad in the Ropes, Slide and Wolfarth areas, and looked like a torch had been applied to the fields. He stated that his cotton would average pretty well with the samples we had from the Terry farm in the Johnson community. He is not irrigating.

Mr. Yeatts also has a section of land southwest of Brownfield, which he described as about on line between the Adair and South Brownfield oil fields. It was sandy enough that it had been giving him some trouble, so he had the whole 640 acres deep broken, and it is now under good control.

Sorter grinning, he said that when the oil boom was at its height here, he was offered a pretty attractive sum for his leases, royalty or both, but was in no hurry. So, when he finally decided to lease, there were no takers.

He agreed with us that this year had been one of the most freakish since he had known the country.

He also stated that he believed the deep breaking of our sandier soil will be the salvation of it, and make this a great farming county.

Former Resident Claimed July 12

Mrs. Mary Rhyne, 85, died July 12 in the home of her son, Ode Rhyne, in Bowie. She was the mother of L. A. Rhyne and Mrs. Leona Turner, both of Brownfield.

Mrs. Rhyne had made her home in Brownfield with Mrs. Turner for the past four years, but had gone to Bowie to spend the summer with her other children.

Survivors other than the daughter and son here are four sons and one daughter, and several grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted in the First Baptist Church at Bowie at 3 p. m. Sunday. Burial was in Elmwood cemetery in Bowie.

Dr. J. R. Haywood To Practice Here

Dr. W. A. Roberson announces this week that Dr. J. R. Haywood will be associated with him in the practice of general dentistry at his office at 602 W. Tate street.

Dr. Haywood, who practiced in Rusk for several months prior to coming to Brownfield, is a native Texan. He was born and educated at Streetman, near Corsicana. He attended the University of Texas and is a graduate of the Baylor school of Dentistry. He is a veteran of World War II, having served five and one half years in the Air Force, where he was an instrument technician. He was a member of Delta Sigma Alpha fraternity during his schooling.

A member of the Baptist church and active in the Lions Club, Dr. Haywood gave his favorite sport as football — watching and not playing.

Dr. Haywood's wife is a student in the Baylor School of Nursing. She will receive her BS degree August 23 and graduate from nursing school August 27. She plans to move to Brownfield about the middle of September.

Brownfield Golfers Play At Levelland

Red Baldwin of Brownfield Country Club was a member of the foursome which won the Pro-Am golf tournament held in Levelland Wednesday. The foursome, captained by Billy Maxwell of Denton, shot a 56, 16 strokes under par. Other members of the foursome were Al Allison and Maurice Breeshear of Levelland. Jack Shirley and J. O. Burnett of Brownfield were members of two of the four foursomes that tied for second place.

Dick Turner of Amarillo was low scoring pro of the tournament with a 66. Turner also was low pro in the tournament held in Brownfield last week.

A large group of Brownfield golfers, both men and women, participated in the tournament. Many local golfers plan to play in the invitational tournament being staged at Levelland Country Club this weekend.

Longtime Seagraves Resident Claimed

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Methodist Church at Seagraves for Mrs. Leila Hand, 84, who died at her home in Seagraves at 10 a. m. Friday. She was the aunt of Mrs. Money Price.

Mrs. Hand and her husband had been residents of Seagraves since 1920. She had been ill for some time.

Survivors other than Mrs. Price are her husband and one daughter.

Henry Chisholm Will Not Retire

Henry Chisholm came in last Sunday from Temple, following a second checkup in the past year. His physicians advised him to do little about the store, and to "take it easy." He was also advised to fish and play golf. Now Henry fishes neither, as he has not been fishing since 1928, and as for chasing the little rubber pellet over the hosiery pasture, that is out.

However, some of the news about taking it easy had spread, and perhaps in some cases enlarged upon, and he has had several buyers call on him. But he is not ready to sell, as like most of us, Henry says he has to have some income to take it easy.

A man that has always led an active life, can't just set down and fold his arms and cross his legs. It's not that easy. But he did say he would stay around the store less and rest more. And eventually, he says he will have to undergo an operation.

Paving Liens Must Be Signed!

City officials this week are stressing the importance of property owners who are to be included in the current paving program signing their paving liens.

All persons who have not signed the liens are requested to stop by the office of Joe McGowan, city attorney, and sign the papers.

The city officials said that many people have confused the paving petitions and the paving liens. The petitions had to be submitted before the property owner could be included in the program, and now, in order to go ahead with the actual paving, the liens must be signed immediately.

Kerr & Middleton, Lubbock contractors, began work Monday, laying curbing and gutters for the proposed paving project.

Square Dance Club Elected Officers

Leo Holmes was elected president of the Brownfield Country Club square dance club at a meeting held at the club Tuesday night. He succeeds L. H. Dean.

Other officers elected were: John Cadenhead, vice-president; and Mrs. Holmes, secretary-treasurer. Officers are re-elected each three months.

Plans were discussed for the club forming an association with square dance clubs in Denver City, Tahoka, Plains, Seminole, Seagraves, Levelland, Sandown, Big Spring, and Lubbock. Dean and Holmes will represent the Brownfield club at a meeting to be held in Seagraves August 3. The local club meets the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Members Attend State FFA Meet

Several members of the Brownfield chapter, Future Farmers of America, attended the state convention held in the Shamrock Hotel in Houston July 11-13, according to Ray Hensley, sponsor, who accompanied the group to Houston.

Local members who received State Farmers degrees were: Charles Bartley, Edwin Garnett, Gerald Rowden, Bryce Wagner, Glenn Paden, Chester Albert, Bobby Carter, and John Burrus. Paden, Albert, and Burrus did not attend the convention.

Also attending the convention and participating in the entertainment during the meeting were Skeet Whitley and Lanny Webb, who performed magic acts, using some of the State FFA sweetheart contest candidates as assistants.

The Brownfield chapter was awarded fourth place in the State Chapter contest at the convention.

Weldon Mason of Meadow is retiring president of the state organization. He was accompanied to Houston by his wife. Also attending from Meadow were Eddie Bingham and Truett Babbs.

TO MEET WHERE METHODISM BEGAN

Seventeen Texans are among the delegates who will attend the Ecumenical Methodist Conference to be held at Oxford, England, Aug. 28 to Sept. 7.

The 300 delegates plus 100 reserves will represent some forty Methodist denominations from all parts of the world.

The purpose is to get acquainted as a world fellowship and to study the contribution Methodism can make to the world today. The program includes addresses, group discussions and social events.

Mrs. J. J. Gunter was in this week and stated that although they had only about two inches of rain in May in the Union community, their crop is looking far better than they could expect. Still green and growing. No rain to speak of in June, or up to this time in July.

Souvenir From Far East

Frank H. King, general executive of the Associated Press, shows Mrs. King a souvenir he brought back to Dallas after his three-months survey tour of the Far East. It is a hand-carved ivory cricket cage. Cricket fighting, it seems, is a Far Eastern sport. On his trip King conferred with Associated Press correspondents to prepare them for covering a new phase in the Far East. He said the American armies in Korea are powerful enough to take any military objective there now, yet the Communists seem to think we are suing for peace. (AP Photo).

Insurance Not Required By New Drivers' Law

The Texas driver responsibility law which will go into effect Jan. 1 does not require motorists to purchase public liability and property damage insurance as opponents of the bill have stated.

As such, the law will not necessarily be a big bonanza for insurance agents that some laymen have said and some agents have hoped.

The law requires a driver involved in an accident in which there is property damage more than $100 or injury to any person other than himself to show financial ability to care for damage and injury claims if he should be held responsible.

The driver may post cash, securities, real estate (except homesteads), signatures of two other property owners, or show that he has insurance.

The law provides that drivers shall be responsible for up to $5,000 in property damage and $5,000 in personal injury, and applies to all drivers except those of federal, state, county or city governments. Reports of accidents must be made within 10 days.

Within 60 days the Department of Public Safety will investigate and suspend the license of each driver and the registration of each vehicle until drivers post the amount which the department has determined will cover all damage up to the maximum allowed. Drivers then are allowed 10 days to show proof of responsibility, and then gets his license back. If the driver fails to show proof of responsibility his license may be restored after a year if no claim has been filed against him.

In a case where a license has been suspended and judgment for damages obtained against a driver for the license stays suspended until he satisfies the judgment or judgments growing out of the accident. Bankruptcy is no bar, and a suspended car owner can not transfer his vehicle to a relative to get around the law.

New Rotary School Bus Is Purchased

When schools in Brownfield open on September 3, children who live in the west and north- and southwest sections of the city will be riding on a bigger and better school bus, compliments of the Brownfield Rotary Club.

The 32 passenger bus was acquired in a "swap" recently, and has been completely overhauled and repainted and is ready for the school season to open. The old bus, which has been in operation for the past two years, was a 28 passenger bus.

Rotarians purchased the bus two years ago with funds derived from the annual Harvest Festival to help small children who had so far to go to school. The bus is run and maintained by Rotary funds.

B. S. Morris is driver of the bus.

Plans Being Laid For 5th Rotary Harvest Festival

MAN CHARGED IN LIQUOR VIOLATION

H. W. Thorne, who lives two doors west of the Legion Hall was released Saturday after he pled guilty to a charge of illegal possession of liquor and paid a $150 fine.

Arresting officers said that they found 20 cases of beer and 8 pints of whiskey in the man's possession. This was his first offense.

Area Workers Are Injured In Wreck

Two area farm workers were hospitalized Tuesday night in an accident which occurred when a car driven by a Lubbock man plowed into the rear of their Model A Ford about five miles south of Wolfarth at 11 p. m. A third occupant of the Ford was injured but not hospitalized.

Receiving treatment at the local hospital are Mrs. A. A. Richardson, 19, who is suffering from severe leg lacerations, and Melburn Kimbel, 14, shock and head lacerations. Treated but released was Mrs. Richardson's husband. The trio was taken to the hospital in a Brownfield Funeral Home ambulance.

Driver of the other automobile was Frank Hamilton Bries of Lubbock, who was returning to Lubbock from Carlsbad, N. M. His 1951 Ford apparently struck the other automobile in the rear, knocking it from the road and onto an irrigation pump.

WOOD TO HOLD MEETS IN TEXAS-OKLAHOMA

Jimmy Wood, minister of the Crescent Hill Church of Christ, left this week for Woodson, Texas and Velma, Okla., to hold meetings. With the exception of a mission meeting in Louisiana, sponsored by the local church, so far as it is known, this will wind up his meetings away from home, this year.

During his absence from Brownfield, the pulpit will be filled by Joe Chisholm, Hugh Thomas, and perhaps others.

They Pay Preacher At Wellman

In our jaunt around the commonwealth of Terry last Sunday P.M., we took the highway to Wellman. Before we got there we began to see water standing on the roadside, and when we arrived in the city, there was water standing everywhere, and old man Tom Warren had a grin that reached from ear to ear. About an inch-of rain, not grin—they reported.

We then began to inquire about the reputation and standing of Wellman as a preacher paying village, while Mrs. Warren got us some cigars and cigarettes for us and Jr., and stick candy for the Mrs. Oh, a bystander said, "we are all preacher paying pieces of furniture in this burg." And he added, "we had two new preachers to come in today." Wonder they did not have a flood.

Well, there is considerable blowout area in the fields in that section that can now be replanted. Took the F-M road back north to the Plains highway, and soon found that the rain covered very limited territory. Don't know how far south it extended.

Saw some mighty pretty crops, except deep sand that had blown out during the six weeks of steady wind from the southeast we had here from the last week in May until we believe last Friday, when it swegged down a bit, and got a bit more peaceful.

Also some good crops along the Plains highway from the County Farm to town. Met a slight sandy-andy from a little cloud before we reached town, however. And of course the Mrs. had left all the windows up and the doors wide open.

Woman Charged With Forgeries

Forgery charges were filed in county attorney Vernon Townes' office Tuesday against a woman who gave her address as route 1, Seagraves.

Charged with cashing of forged instruments was Mrs. Dora Hicks, who was arrested by deputy sheriff Cliff Jones after she had attempted to cash a check at Piggly Wiggly food store.

Pat Patterson, manager of the food store, said that his store had received several of the checks during the past two years and that he knew they were written by the same person, probably a woman. When the woman attempted to cash the check Tuesday, clerk Mrs. "Tootsie" Richardson, became suspicious and called Patterson.

Officials said that the checks, always signed with a different name but giving as the address "Rout" 1, Seagraves, dated back as far as March, 1948.

Townes said that the woman admitted passing the checks and that she was released under $1000 bond.

Officials said that merchants who think they have received one of these checks are to particularly notice the word route which is misspelled "rout".

City Lights Have Been Bothing

While the customers have had to get the correct time and reset their electric clocks quite frequently of late, we imagine the city light and power force have had most of the headaches. We have no idea where the trouble is, but perhaps some of it originates at the plant where they are installing the big new engine.

We understood that some new material was recently received for the traffic lights, but seemingly it was not the right kind, as the lights worked for a short while and then went on the blink again. The biggest headache came Saturday afternoon, with a large crowd in town. There were several traffic jams at the main intersections.

Then too, the new street lights seem to have given quite a lot of trouble of late. Sometimes they glow then glowout. The old fashioned kind seems to be the most reliable after all.

We believe the traffic lights were being working all this week, so evidently the right material was finally received. No one's fault. Just one of those things that happen in the best regulated family.

Furniture For Schools Arrives

O. R. Douglas, superintendent of Brownfield schools, announced this week that furniture for the new Phyllis G. Wheatley colored school and for the Brownfield Junior High school addition has arrived.

John T. Glover, contractor for the construction work, said that he hopes that the new colored school will be completed by September 1, but due to a steel shortage, he can not give definite dates for the completion of the Junior high addition.

The Junior high school gymnasium is also being remodeled this summer, Douglas said, in order to provide better facilities for physical education classes and Junior high football. Loyd Moore is contractor for the work, and Frank Ballard contracted the plumbing for the remodeling.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hart and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Arnold, of Oklahoma City spent the weekend in Ruidoso, N. M.

Plans are being laid for the fifth annual Rotary club-sponsored Harvest Festival to be held in Brownfield on October 19, according to Paul Campbell, general chairman. L. L. Bechtel is assistant general chairman.

A meeting of the committees was held at the Esquire Restaurant Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. and plans for the festival were discussed.

The annual queen's contest this year will be open to senior girls in high school, unmarried girls, and married women. Last year's contest for the festival queen was conducted through the schools in the county. This is the first time that the contest has ever been opened to married women, Campbell said.

Prizes for the queen's contest and for other contests to be held during the festival have been set up tentatively, but will not be announced until a later date.

The committee has made tentative plans, but none are definite as yet. Members of the prize committee will begin work next week, it has been announced.

Campbell announced the following committees, committee chairman, and members: Advertising committee, Dave Worley, chairman, Jerry Stoltz, Sammy Jones, and Joe Shelton; Queen, Harmon Howze, chairman, Kenneth Purcell, Bob Bowers, Jr., Robert Craig, and Byron Rucker; Prize, Sam Privitt, chairman, Ross Black, Ike Bailey, Kyle Graves, John Hill, Clarence Rose, and Edgar Self; Program, Everett Latham, chairman, Clovis Kendrick, J. O. Gillham, Burton Hackney, and Al Muldrow; Float, L. N. Newsom, chairman, Skeet Robinson, Robert Baumgardner, D. D. Denison, Glen Akers, and Bobby Jones; Public Address System, Tommy Hicks, chairman, and Bob Bowers, Jr., Stage, C. L. Aven, Jr., chairman, and Fred Buey; Tickets, Bruce Zorns, chairman, Charles Kersh, Lal Copeland, and John Portwood; Parade, Murphy May, chairman, H. Thomas, Shorty Forbus, Harold Mulkey, Doug Jones, Tobe Howze, George Weiss, and B. Fitzgerald; Hall-louise and Kiddies, Lee Brownfield, chairman, Tom Keenan, A. W. Turber, and G. W. Smith.

Offering New School Courses

For the first time in the schools' history, several new courses will be offered in both junior and senior high schools in Brownfield this year, according to information received from O. R. Douglas, superintendent.

A driver training course for senior high school students will probably be one of the most popular courses to be offered, Douglas said. L. G. Wilson will instruct the course, and Douglas said that Wilson had taken special training this summer in the instruction.

Other courses to be offered for the first time will be a shop course for junior high school, as well as a home economics course.

Several positions in the school system have not yet been filled, Douglas said, but he feels sure that they will be by the time school opens on September 3.

Whether we like it or not, Texas as well as many other Southern States are fast changing their political outlook. They no longer regard a Republican through a jaundiced eyes that makes him look yellow, a thief and liar and a wife beater. In fact, many are reaching the conclusion after some four generations, that because pappy voted 'er straight, is no reason for me to repeat. And whether you like Jack Porter or not, this "turn-coat" Democrat is going places in organizing young people into the "Young Republican Federation." Let us say right here that Jack Porter is not radically different in his views to our governor, attorney general and in many ways Lyndon Johnson. Porter says that he has no idea of even trying to work on the older generation "that have been bribed and debauched by a profligate spending of the New and Fair Deal, but must look to the new generation for the salvation of our republic." He addressed such a gathering at Corpus Christi recently. He wants to speak to young people who will put principles and country above party. He might have added that we now have no Democratic party as we knew it 20 years ago. He warned that the Square Deal was about to close the door to progress and economic progress, and fasten socialism upon the land of the free. This of course has been brought about by the refusal of the voter "to change horses in the middle of the stream." And we have been just about up to our eyebrows in water since. Mr. Roosevelt was elected to the third term, and we helped in that vote, "to keep us out of war, as he hated war." According to Mr. Porter, FDR immediately solved the unemployment problem by taking us into war. In 1944 he was the indispensable man, and must be re-elected. Again we suckers bit. But after six months after his fourth term began, when he passed away, we found out that most any old guy can be president. In fact Mr. Porter believes that there are millions of Americans that can fill the office as well as the man now in there, many of them better. We now have that 200 billion dollar debt hanging over our heads for many generations yet unborn to pay, providing we do not keep the present gang in until we are bankrupt and have to repudiate the debt. Then after spending all those billions of dollars, we were sold down the river by FDR at Teheran and Yalta, and at Potsdam by HST. No, there is no use working on the older ones; they are "to set in their ways." We must maintain our republic and constitution by working on the younger generation.

Just why it is that several thousand morotic dupes in the United States think communism is great, remains a deep deep mystery to us. The only reason we can figure out, is that they just want to be different, thinking that idea might sound great. They sure know that all free newspapers behind the iron curtain have been suppressed. And that is always the first step of the dictator in making slaves of the people. That is, of course, if the dupes ever read anything except what some Marxan writes. The latest instance of suppression of freedom that comes to us is that of William K. Oatis, an AP correspondent, over in Czechoslovakia, who was accused by that government of "spying out state secrets" and reporting "slander and lies." He was sentenced to 10 years in prison. Over here in our free land, we understand spying to mean that some guy is working for some foreign country to get our latest inventions, particularly war material, in order to give or sell it to enemies, real or potential. But over there behind the iron curtain, spying can mean anything that displeases the heads of the state. Over here, those arrested for spying are allowed counsel and in most instances, bail. Their trials are long drawn out affairs, and they may use any amount of witnesses they may wish. But Oatis was held incommunicado for 70 days. Not even the American officials in that pusillanimous God-forsaken nation were allowed to visit him, much less retain a counsel. But we have heard enough from those who have slipped out from behind the iron curtain to know what happened to Oatis. He was given little food in his cell, alternately threatened and cajoled. The State Department has charged that the "confession" was prepared by the secret police, and that he was forced to rehearse it under their direction. We know that the Czech hate liberty and know no justice. And that it was only at the end of torment and exhaustion that Oatis "confessed." Why does America and other free nations have to put up with such a mess? We don't believe they do. Our idea is to get every national we have out from behind the iron curtain, and those who elect to stay may do so at their own risk. Bring our Counsels and other representatives home in a hurry. Withdraw all trade and communications. We should know enough by now to convince us that you can't do business with dirty commies.

The Texas A. & M. College stands to be signally honored, when the Cotton Research Congress meets there July 28-29th inclusive. This will be the 55th anniversary of A. & M., which is now recognized as the greatest of all state Ag. colleges. It is even training more officers for the army than West Point itself. Then too, the Research Congress recognizes Texas as being the largest producer of cotton in the world, which has the largest income of any other product in America. And as in the case of Texas, a large proportion of this product is exported to nearly every nation on earth. It is a crop that runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars annually in Texas, and is the main crop of a large portion of the South. The Congress is inviting among others, newspapers all over the state to be on hand at the sessions to be conducted in the beautiful and new, fully air-conditioned Memorial Student Center. Another thing that will take place during the session, will be the honoring of Chancellor Gib Gilchrist, as well as President M. T. Harrington of the college. Few men in the South have done more for agriculture than these two men, and we believe that Gib Gilchrist is outstanding. While a representative of the Herald will not be present, we are in hopes that some of the leaders in the better farm movement, such as County Agent Jim Foy and some of our best farmers can attend.

We have before us an article written by a 16 year old school girl, Niles Rumley, presently married. The title is, "What American Democracy Means to Me." Here are just a few of the things this fine girl enjoys about our country. "There is not a day in my life in which I have not enjoyed the benefits of our Constitution. American democracy infuses my thought, my actions, my plans for the future, and even my daydreams. I can think for myself with unhampered access to truth. No "Hitler" can tell me that all Jews are devoid of all virtue and ability, or can stop me from hearing Mendelssohn, or reading Heine or Marin, so that I will not doubt his word. On the other hand, I am allowed to read Mein Kampf or the Communist Manifesto. I may hear all points discussed, for my country does not believe that any group of men are supermen. I can attend any church I like as the Bill of Rights separates church and state and protects religion against possible misuse of State powers. No labor conscription can force me to labor unwillingly in time of peace. My life is free to do with it as I wish. The government will not interfere as long as I do no hurt to my fellowmen, nor act seriously against the good of the whole. I fear no bullying majority. If I dislike being the offspring of a farmer or laborer, there is nothing to hinder me from changing to some other profession or calling. I cannot be imprisoned unless an impartial judge say that I have committed a crime. I can vote for whom I will, without molestation from some dictator, and the government can never take away from me without recompense that little shack in the woods which I hope to have some day. My future depends on my own efforts, and not the influence of some one high in the government." All of us can take to heart the paper this school girl composed. But let us be very careful in electing and electing, that we do not in such a course elect some dictator that will ban the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

Few of us people far removed from steel mills really know just what they require in making new steel. Most of us have read where the government and private demand for steel is greater than since War II. But few of us know that a large portion of new steel has to be composed of scrap steel. Why, we do not know, but it is necessary that we know. But it is a fact that it takes some 98,000 tons of scrap iron every day to keep our steel mills moving at capacity. For that reason, the newspapers of the nation have been asked to stress to farmers and others who may have junk iron on the place, to gather it up immediately, and sell it to some dealer, who will ship it where it is most needed. We read recently where Korea had offered thousands of tons of scrap iron and steel to the government, but we have to remember this scrap must be shipped thousands of miles, and ship bottoms have about all they can do to carry war material, food and medicine to our own soldiers and our allies, and bring the wounded and those who have served their time on the front home. If the scrap material on the farm is too bulky and heavy for the farmer and his employees to load, he should contact his dealer or the county agent about the best way to get the material loaded and brought to town. Remember, the more scrap from the farms means more steel for America, at a time when every possible ton of this all-important metal is needed.

Just a bit more about that ceiling stuff we hear so much about, but frankly see no results. An officer of a large mid-west department store recently made the whole thing as clear as glass, according to Wall Street Journal. "Most of the goods we sell are below ceiling. When you try to unload high inventories, you worry about prices that will bring in customers, not about ceilings you know you can't reach." And this is the general opinion whether the merchants is dealer in automobiles or hardware. So, here is the whole idea in a nutshell; it is not the big boss in Washington, or spread out in some of the principal cities of the land that are holding down prices. Rather it is the lofty stack of goods in the warehouses and on the store shelves that need to move. All of which goes right back to the very foundation of business here in the good old USA, that maximum production and aggressive competition do more to control prices than any political controls ever invented by man. As a matter of fact, sometimes controls aid and abet inflation. If all merchants should come to the conclusion that they sell their goods at the same price, what incentive would any merchant have to give better service, or more for the dollar? But they do burden each merchant with a lot of time consuming red tape, and make it harder for the small dealer to grow. And anything that puts the brakes on the old law of supply and demand system of producing and selling goods, must in the long run hurt not only the dealer, but his customers as well.

Well, well, well. So it took all the sheriffs, their deputies, highway patrolmen, plus national guardsmen from five towns in Illinois to stop a race riot at Cicero, Ill. It all came about when a negro family undertook to move to an apartment in a white settlement. Their household effects were tossed out and burned. The fight between officers and rioters went on for hours, and several people were hurt, and finally wound up when some 50 supposed leaders were arrested. To add a few Texas brags, that all reminds us of the place that got out of control in east Texas, and the sheriff and mayor wired the governor for rangers. Finally one lone ranger got off the train, and was asked, "where are the other rangers?" His reply: "You don't have but one riot, do you?" But returning to the Illinois riot, not only were officers and rioters hurt, but firemen who were trying to put out the fire in the apartment. Not too much was said in the dailies or over the radio about the matter. But just fancy how it would have been played up if it had happened below the Mason and Dixon line? As it is, perhaps many of the big slick mags will say, just as they did at Detroit several years ago, that the riot was led by Southerners. One man here suggested to us that if Life Magazine said anything about the matter, it would be that it all happened in "the southern part of Cicero." Which all reminds us that our skirts are not exactly clean. Those bombings of negro houses in south Dallas keep going. And to be perfectly frank, we think it a disgrace not only to Dallas, but the entire state, and they should be stopped and the guilty punished. But nothing like the Illinois affair has ever happened in the South, and we hope and trust never does.

ENGLISHMAN REQUESTS DATA FROM THE TEXAS G. F. & O. COMMISSION

A recent request by an Englishman for conservation education material indicates the range of data prepared and distributed by the Texas Game, Fish & Oyster Commission.

The man, writing from London, said he had seen a Commission pamphlet, complimented the author and asked for more such information.

The Director of Publications for the Commission, who has built up the resource-education program, said the international phase was further pointed up recently when Ira Gabrielson, former chief of the Federal Wildlife Service, got 20 packets for distribution abroad. The emphasis at home, on this revival of interest in basic subjects is dealing with the soil and wildlife, is centered this summer on some 30 workshops being conducted on the college level. These projects prepare teachers to carry back to their school rooms the urgent message of conservation.

In addition, churches, clubs and assorted groups are joining the Texas conservation movement, according to the Publications Director. The Methodist Church in Texas was first to use the educational data in its summer camps.

4-H'ers Keep Tractor Wheels Turning

Facing a shortage of farm labor, curtailed supply of equipment and need for greater production of food and fiber, 4-H members in Texas and 46 other states are stressing efficient operation of farm tractors, according to G. L. Noble, director of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work.

In Arkansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, 10,000 members are receiving training in the 1951 4-H Tractor Maintenance program, in which they learn to service their tractors and operate them safely, Noble said. The program is being conducted in these states by the Cooperative Extension Service for the seventh consecutive year.

Medals, trips and scholarships are provided in the four states by the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company which also allocates funds for expenses of volunteer local 4-H Club leaders who attend training clinics.

Seven other oil companies provide similar awards in their respective territories throughout the U. S. Total value of awards and leader training funds offered by the eight donors for 1951 will exceed $100,000.

Winners will be selected on the basis of a complete record and a story by each state finalist on "My 4-H Achievements and Experiences in the Tractor Maintenance Project."

Other denominations now are using these materials. The Director of Publications said the material is not being restricted to science classes but is being used in studies of art and English and the like. It also is part of the curriculum in veterans schools. Scouts are using it and so are groups such as Future Farmers.

Teachers of speech classes find the nature phases stimulate children to talk. The same quality has impressed University of Texas Extension staffers striving to aid Latin-Americans to learn the language of their adopted country.

Does Childhood Amuse You?

To our notion one of the most fascinating studies pertaining to nature, is that of the small fry, say from six months to a few years of age. Some adults seem to take their actions and sayings as a matter of course, and seemingly get no amusement out of the matter. But we love to watch their antics, and it leaves us wondering sometimes why the child is endowed with unlimited energy. They walk no place after 1 1/2 years of age—they must run. Anything that is strange, or has not been seen by them before, must have the closest investigation. Not because it may be amusing, but rather curious. Any object they find on the floor or the yard is first viewed briefly, and then tried out for taste. The fact that a small child slobbers profusely may save them from agony of the oft mouth test. Poison or unpleasing taste, causes slobbering or vomiting.

Another thing that sometimes amuses all but those who have to do the laundry, is how much the kiddo can get on the wearing apparel, and how little in the stomach. But if the dress or little shirt lined with jam bothers little Jr. or sister in the least, it is not noticeable. And if you think their curiosity is not aroused to the danger point sometimes, where just to see, or because the other child is the opposite sex, puzzles us. One of our own progeny came home in the car recently to find a little girl about his age, already there in his yard. He made such an effort to get out that he missed the landing, falling heavily. Of course he gave up a squawk, but that was just an incident in the life of both the little man and lady. Crying was not extraordinary to either. They are so curious about something they may find on the premises, that might cause them injury or sickness.

For that reason the mother or dad has to be alert minutely as to where the offspring are, and what they are into. But they are something of beauty and a joy forever.

Just A Bit Of Pickle Talk

There's nothing like an attractive dish of pickles and relishes to give a meal that "extra touch." And what's more important than that, they furnish some minerals and vitamins.

According to foods and nutrition specialists with the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, pickles and relishes are classed according to their flavor. For example, sour pickles have the flavor of vinegar. Sweet pickles have varying degrees of sweetness and sour. Dill pickles have the flavor of the herb used during fermentation. Kosher dill pickles have garlic added as a seasoning.

The specialists urge home canners to use fresh, sound, clean vegetables and fruits for pickling. They recommend sorting and grading for size and age. Immature cucumbers make the best pickles, they say and fruits should be firm and slightly under-ripe.

For some tasty recipes and useful tips on pickles and relishes see a copy of B-188, "Pickles and Relishes," which is just off the press. This publication can be obtained at the local county Extension agents' office.

The Low Down From Hickory Grove

To my nice—but sleepy—readers, I am going to make one more effort to get you out of the notion that it is none of your affairs as to what is going on in places like far away Tennessee's TVA. Here I am 2000 miles away myself, but I know that this TVA super-socialist growth is costing me plenty, and menacing my future. I have been around power-houses a lot — made a living switching kilowatts around hither and yon, so I am not talking thru my fedora when I write down here this warning.

Congress could apply some brakes to further socialist expansion but Congress has been a sucker. Hopes that Congress can be made to see the light are dependent upon you. You have got to lay down the law to the guy or Big Govt. will get bigger and bigger and come closer and closer to you and your own business. It is the electric business that is first on the program — you are next, sure as tomorrow's sun will brighten the horizon.

Socialism is not around the corner, it is here, in broad daylight to look at. It looks depressing but it is not hopeless. Have an auction, let the highest bidders get all these Govt. electric ventures—or we are sunk as a Republic.

Yours with the low down,
JO SERRA

Small Grain Variety Tests Released

Recommended varieties of wheat, oats and barley for planting by farmers in several areas of the state have been released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

These recommendations are based on the results of Experiment station tests conducted at Chillicothe, Iowa Park, Spur, Denton, Greenville, Stephenville, Temple and Comfort for periods of two to ten years. Dr. I. M. Atkins, agronomist in charge of small grain investigations for the Texas Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, supervised the testing program.

Comparable yields at each experimental location and recommended seeding dates and rates are given in two reports released by Atkins. Progress Report 1373 covers the Rolling Plains area and Progress Report 1374 covers the Blackland and Grand Prairies and the Edwards Plateau.

Information is also given in both reports on Mustang, the new winter-hardy oat variety, and Quantah, the new disease resistant wheat variety. Both of these small grains were developed especially for Texas conditions.

Interested persons may obtain copies of both reports from the Publications Office, College Station, Texas.

Let The Rollers Save Energy

If you are the type housewife who runs with her tongue hanging out while serving a number of guests at the family table, it's time you became wise to the use of rollers and casters. Florence Low, Extension home management specialist, says that many a vigorous job can be made easier by putting household equipment on wheels, rollers, or casters.

For example, she suggested a rolling tray-table to carry meals from the kitchen to the dining table. It may also be used in laundry work, house cleaning, food preservation, and even for outdoor work such as gardening or painting.

Mrs. Low says that a rolling table in the laundry is more convenient than a wall counter because it can be located wherever needed. It may be by the washer for sorting clothes, near the sink for sprinkling, or beside the ironing board to hold the clothes before and after ironing. The specialist suggests that the clothes basket be put on wheels or casters, too, so that it can roll to and from the clothes line.

Rural Fire Protection To Hike Taxes

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is trying to determine whether adequate rural fire protection can be secured on a voluntary basis without resorting to creation of a new taxing agency.

James F. Melton, manager of the taxation and legislation department of the WTCC, has asked managers of local chambers of commerce of the 132-county region to report creation of any voluntary protective association, how they were created, and their ability to solve rural fire problems.

One of five constitutional amendments to be submitted to Texans in November, 1951, would open the way for creation of rural fire prevention districts and authorize maximum tax levy of 50 cents per $100 valuation to finance them.

Counties Infested With Pink Bollworms

During the past week the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture made two changes in the pink bollworm regulations for Texas. One of the changes widely expands the designated heavily infested pink bollworm area of the state. The other change greatly eases the movement of cotton seed originating in the heavily infested area.

Formerly, only the counties of Willacy, Cameron, Hidalgo, and part of Starr in the Lower Rio Grande Valley were declared to be heavily infested with pink bollworm. Under the new regulation the heavily infested counties are thirty-nine in number, running from the Coastal Bend area westward along the border to El Paso.

The other change which allows cotton seed to move more freely and still be under appropriate safeguards, provides that such seed may move freely among counties in the heavily infested area with only one gin sterilization treatment instead of having to have two such treatments. Also, if they are not going out of the heavily infested area to be used for planting seed, and are going to a sterilization treatment, only one such treatment is required before they leave the heavily infested area.

The Commissioner accredits the cotton industry and the federal agencies as being very helpful in assisting with the above revisions which may be obtained from the local gins and the inspectors.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

In this space, you'll find "The House of the Week" with full descriptions. This series is made possible by area firms listed here... See them to help you with your Home Furnishing Problems.

FOUR ROOMS - BUT LARGE

Here is a house designed with an eye to the future. If your income doesn't permit the kind of home you want now, plan on the basis of making this attractive home bigger later.

A third bedroom can be added easily. Use the closet space of the front bedroom for a hall—and add another room with closet space for both bedrooms.

If you prefer more space for preparation and preservation of foods or any other household task, add a workroom by the kitchen where the back porch is located. It is an ideal spot because it's close to the water and waste disposal lines in the kitchen. Consequently, its addition would add very little to plumbing costs.

This house is planned for a large amount of space in the living-dining room and yet ample space for the family meals to be served in the kitchen, which permits this living-dining room to be used as a combination bedroom and living room without overcrowding.

Another good feature is the adjoining bathroom and kitchen which allows all the basic piping and plumbing to be on one wall. Thus, utilities can be installed at less cost.

You can obtain blueprints for this TERRY COUNTY HERALD FARM & RANCH House Plan No. 4801 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Adopt Safe Practices On The Farm

Members of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee believe Texans can do something about the terrific losses, not only in lives and time lost from the job, but the economic waste that go with every farm and home accident.

In a meeting held at Waco on June 23, the committee outlined plans for conducting a statewide farm and home safety program that has as its chief objective, the elimination of accident hazards from the farmstead and making every rural citizen, young and old, safety conscious. This will be done through an educational program to be coordinated by the committee and made a part of the program of each agency and group that is now working with rural people.

J. Walter Hammond, president, Texas Farm Bureau Federation, is chairman of the state committee and E. C. Martin, state agricultural leader, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, is secretary. At the Waco meeting Chairman Hammond announced the following committees and committee chairmen: Publicity, C. G. Scruggs, associate editor, of Progressive Farmer, Dallas; Youth Training, Dr. F. C. Bolton, former president of Texas A. & M. College (retired), College Station; Statistics, John C. White, Commissioner of Agriculture, Austin; Women's Activities, Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, president, Texas Home Demonstration Association, Munday; Awards, C. T. Johnson, Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Dallas; and Finance, Marvin Carter, organization director, Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Waco. The committee chairmen were directed by Hammond to select the personnel for their respective committees.

The 35 members of the state committee represent farm organizations, agricultural agencies and business and service organizations and concerns related to agriculture. The number present for the Waco meeting, 22, may be taken as an indication of the great amount of interest that the committee has in getting their activities underway.

Harold Heldreth, farm division, National Safety Council, Chicago, spoke briefly on the work done by his organization and challenged the Texas group to do something about reducing the number of farm and home accidents in the state. "Some 17,000 rural people," he said, "will be killed in the United States this year as a result of accidents. Twenty-four per cent of the fatalities will result from falls—most of them in the home." "There will be at least one funeral every day this year in Texas," he continued, "for some farmer or rancher or family member. It's up to every individual and every organization and agency to practice and teach farm safety. Programs in other states have shown that the number of farm and home accidents can be greatly reduced and educational programs for youth and adults alike have been the answer."

The Texas committee does plan

STALIN EULOGY ROBBED FROM THE BIBLE

BERLIN.—(AP)—Johannes Becher, poet laureate of East Germany, has written a new poem to eulogize the Soviet Union, and it seems to have been inspired by the Bible.

Becher's latest work is a 300-page-long tome dedicated to Stalin and entitled "Star of Never-Ending Glow."

It amounts to a parallel with the Star of Bethlehem. In an explanatory preface, Becher draws the comparison himself by suggesting that the Soviet Union has only one message for the world, and that is "peace on earth." He doesn't add the traditional "to all men good will."

to do something about the situation and will start their campaign to make rural Texans conscious of their own safety by joining with the nation in observing National Farm Safety Week, July 22 to 28. The committee recommendation to every Texan is, "Practice safety and live safely so that you can continue to make your contribution to a greater Texas and America."

Value Of Gardens Are Rated High

How much is your garden worth? Although home gardens are generally considered important money savers, few people stop to consider just how much a home garden is worth in dollars and cents.

J. E. Hutchison, Extension horticulturist, says some very impressive figures have recently appeared on the Congressional Record of the 82nd Congress and in some of the national magazines.

One government publication from Washington carried a report of 24 families living near Houston who had 24 acres in gardens in 1948. Food valued at $10,712 was produced on the 24 one-acre gardens. Total expenses amounted to $850, leaving a net value of $9,862.

The same publication reported that, of the eight winners in the national 4-H garden program for 1950, one girl is attending college on the profits from her garden demonstration, and another plans to make gardening a career in partnership with her father.

One boy made a gross income of $11,670 in five years, and another made a $506.50 profit from two and three-fourths acres of corn produced on stony ground.

A study made by one of the national magazines showed that $5.25 invested in seeds, insecticides and plant food this spring paid off with $91.02 worth of vegetables. That is, because the gardener did a good job. The size of the garden in this study was 20 by 25 feet.

Farmer's Home Administration Records show that the average value of home gardens in Texas is $380 per acre. The national average is $340.

Hutchison figures the only losers in gardening are the persons who did not plant one.

Answers Question: What Is A Boy?

Between the innocence of babyhood and the dignity of manhood there is a delightful creature called a boy. Boys come in assorted sizes, weights and colors; but all have the same creed: To enjoy every second of every day and to protest with noise...

When you are busy a boy is an inconsiderate, bothersome intruding jangle of noise. When you want him to make a good impression his brain turns to jelly...

A boy is a composite—he has the appetite of a horse, digestion of a pocket-sized atomic bomb, the curiosity of a cat...

He likes ice cream, knives, saws, Christmas, comic books, the boy across the street, woods, water (in its natural habitat), large animals, Dad, trains, Saturday mornings and fire engines...

A boy is a magical creature—you can lock him out of your work shop but you can't lock him out of your heart. You can get him out of your study but you can't get him out of your mind...

The Low Down From Hickory Grove I calculate, folks, it is time to get our bristles up—time to put a quietus on our drift to a type of Govt. that nobody wants, but which rolls along nearer and nearer, to the European style where the average type citizen wakes up at the little end of the horn. Too many nice people figure that socialism is not their baby—what has a Govt. powerhouse in Carolina got to do with them, they say, if they live in Utah, or New Hampshire or Peoria. I'll tell 'em. When Uncle Samuel taps the Govt. till for 100 million for a powerhouse and dam in Carolina, he don't perform like a private concern. The private concern, if it built the plant, would pay County, State and Federal taxes. Sambo ducks all this tax nonsense. And the folks in Carolina make up the deficiency in County and State taxes. And the folks in Utah, and New Hampshire, and Peoria along with the Carolinians make up the deficit in Federal taxes, down at the income tax place. Now folks, bristle up, only you can put out the fire for you furnish the fuel (taxes) to keep it going. Yours with the low down, JO SERRA Mr. and Mrs. Red Tudor and Mrs. Ches Gore spent a few days this week visiting in Ruidoso, New Mexico. Bernadine Grabber visited her mother, Mrs. Rose Grabber, and other relatives in Slaton, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGowan are vacationing in Colorado this week.

Stricklinly Speaking

By Old He

Some of the pioneers who have made the State what it is, as well as the schools, churches and other necessary institutions, are being belatedly honored for their work of laying the foundations of our state, and now this section of west Texas. We remember that Texas pioneers right at the outset had to fight a pretty strop nation at that time, for 't. And no section of this vast state has been settled without some hardships on the part of the pioneers.

Most people just take the winning of our state for granted. But being himself a pioneer, minister and educator, Editor G. H. P. Snowalter of the Firm Foundation at Austin, has asked Minister Norvel M. Young of Lubbock, to write the story of the early day ministers of the Church of Christ. He begins with Sam Ribble, who as looked at many empty seats in the little pioneer school houses. This article will be of great interest to us, and we feel sure that perhaps other churches have already so honored their ministers. In fact, we have seen articles on the hardships and in many cases privations of both Baptist and Methodist ministers.

We remember one such story that went the rounds some forty years ago when many counties in west Texas were being settled and organized when sufficient population came in. A new place had opened, and the Baptists and Methodists were racing to see which one would get on the ground first and establish a church. One of them took a day coach, but when he got off the train, there stood his rival. "How did you get here?" as this was the first train. "I was on the cow-patcher," replied the other.

Editor Hale of the Yoakum County Review says he is a bit jealous of us for the reason Southern Weekly is copying so many of our editorials. For quite some time we saw a quotation in the Southern Weekly from the pen of Editor Hale and others. At that time we were not sending them the Herald, but decided to do so. To our surprise they copied many of our efforts, one almost each week.

And one week, when we had done particularly well, we guess, they had copied two of our editorials on the two back pages, usually reserved for such, and had featured another up nearer the front. We strutted around worse than a peacock for the next two weeks. But they copy many of Mr. Hale's editorials, too.

If it were not so serious, many of us old Texans would have gotten a real ha, ha, when we read that President Truman was sending his man Friday over to Iran to try to settle the oil dispute between them and England. Of course England developed the fields, but when Iran saw what they had, they wanted it back, and like Mexico, did some of our oil companies, expropriated it.

But Mr. Truman had no such feelings for Texas, when he and his S-o-o-preme Court expropriated Texas' oilfields. What a laugh!

Some of our exchanges cautioned us by word and picture about the black cat and Friday 13th last week. Probably if some of the black and white cats could talk, not to mention a tabby or two, they would tell us to fear only the "Red" cat. The Washington bunch seem to get shaky knees every time the "Reds" are mentioned, and get ready to appease.

Fred H. Husband, the President of WTCC, says there is entirely too much turnover each year in the local town employment of Chamber of Commerce managers. Mr. Husband did not elaborate, but evidently he has seen one manager leave the smaller towns and another arrive before the first hardly had time to get acquainted with the membership.

However, we do not feel that Brownfield can be so classed. While Red Smith has been here only a bit more than a year, both he and the chamber have been satisfied, including membership and officials.

And his immediate predecessor, David Nicholson is still here. After serving for some two or three years, he elected to go into private business. In fact, we have not had too many managers over the years.

We are always glad to have State Senator Kilmer B. Corbin call on us. He was down from Lubbock last Friday to address the Rotary Club, and called. Our minds seem to run in the same channel on State affairs. The Senator stated that we had gained some 11 representatives in this section of west Texas, three of them in this area.

And his Senatorial district has been cut from 24 counties to eleven, and the district now is composed of Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Martin and Andrews.

And the Representative district will have four instead of one as now restricted, with a few of the eastern counties going to under the cap districts. For instance, Lubbock county will have two representatives, and one will be composed of Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum, and Terry. Another will be Lynn, Dawson, Gaines and Andrews. Crosby and Garza were the counties shifting to eastern districts.

And that, folks, shows how we have been taxed without representation for the past 30 years. That constitutional amendment adopted two years ago, that called for a committee of State officials to redistrict if the legislature failed to do its duty after each census, turned the trick.

A story is related that two ministers in earnest conversation, in which one complained that the work was OK, but he didn't get Sundays off. As far as that goes, a lot of us are supposed to have Sunday off, but many of us find work about the place or office.

Yes, we know that the Bible says "six days shall thou labor and do all thy work, but rest on the 7th or Sabbath. Of course in so-called Christian countries the 7th has been changed around to the 1st day of the week.

We occasionally see some prices of groceries or dry goods back in the "dirty thirties." But we were looking through an old day book "tother day of that time, and found we sold letterheads at $3.50 per 500, now around $8. And 6x8 circulars were $3 per 500. Bill heads about the same, etc.

Back in those days we bought paper for 1-3 of the present price. You got printers from $25 to $27.50 a week, and a linotype operator at $35; now each costs 2 1/2 times that amount. Also we printed a Year Book back then for $17.50 and have to get from $75 to $90 now.

With this true story we close this tirade. Spoke to Homer Nelson about finding two pennies at different times and places last week, and asked if that bore any special significance about our future financial standing. "Yes, 2c worth," he casually remarked.

Reminds us of a certain widow here in this burg, and what befell her. Now she lives fairly close to one of these drive-in eateries, and let it be understood here and now we do not accuse the drive-in folks of selling booze. In fact we feel pretty doggone sure they do not.

But it seems that some of the young folks go there rather late at night and buy hamburgers and sandwiches to eat as they drink their beer and booze, obtained elsewhere. So, they come to the grassy front lawn of this widow after she has retired for the night and eat and drink.

One morning recently, she related, in cleaning up my lawn of beer and whiskey bottles, I found a $20 bill, and a $1 bill a few mornings later. As long as I do that well, I'll feel well paid for cleaning up after the picnickers."

Then Homer told this one. It

Gee Gee's Chit Chat

Been feeling any T. B. pangs lately? Well, come September you'll have a chance to get your chest X-rayed, free of charge, and find out whether your diagnosis is correct or not. This is one of the many services offered to you, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Palazzio, who this year spent three months in her native Italy, simply reeks with ideas and energy, and can make the skirt and blouse in the twinkling of an eye. Her wide selection of materials and braids affords her a wide field in making up original and striking ensembles. If you would like to talk to her about one of these skirts and blouses, which are ideal for all casual wear right now and on into the early fall and which will make perfect square dancing dresses, call her at 651 R or go by her home at 1006 Tahoka Road. (No extra charge for the commercial, Mrs. P.)

Recently Mr. and Mrs. John Luckie and daughter, Joy and Mrs. Luckie's mother, Mrs. Adele Falazzo, vacationed in Albuquerque, N. M. for a few days. While shopping there, Mrs. Palazzio was greatly taken by some of the fiesta costumes on display in the windows. She promptly bought herself some material and braid and came home and ran up a skirt and blouse for her daughter and granddaughter. The skirts are of bright red, with two flounces around the bottom. The flounces are colorfully decorated with braid and the white off-shoulder blouses are trimmed in similar braid. After seeing the ensembles, some of the neighbors and friends of the two women asked Mrs. Palazzio to make like dresses for them. And so, Mrs. Palazzio is more or less in business.

These skirts and blouses, of course, be worn together or separately, and there are two styles of blouses to choose from. The puffed sleeve, off shoulder type (which can also be worn on shoulder, match), and a strapless type. They are both very versatile, clever, and practical.

may depend somewhat on what is found at a lower depth. Another test of the Charles Cowan well north of Meadow was made this week by the drillers, the Texas Company at 10,966-11,110 with no show. A fairly good producer was made of the Scales, northernmost offset of the Wellman pool. It ran some over 600 barrels per day, according to reports.

Tidewater Associated, lone drillers in the Corrigan-Fusselman pool in southeast Terry, was drilling this week below 7,000 feet on a 11,600 feet test. There are some five wells in this pool, all producers. So far as we know not a dry hole in the pool.
