BROWNFIELD CHURCHES PLAN EASTER SERVICES

Brownfield churches started activities for the Easter season several weeks ago, as visitation programs were outlined, and revivals were planned.

At the First Christian Church, Rev. Lloyd H. Thompson has been conducting evangelistic services this week.

An impressive sunrise worship service will be held at 6 a.m. Sunday, April 13, at the First Christian Church, according to announcements made by the pastor, Homer W. Haislip.

Music will be furnished by the combined Youth and Adult Choirs under the direction of Dr. W. A. Roberson. "The First Easter Morning" will be the subject for the pastor's sermon.

Members of the congregation are urged to invite their friends and neighbors to this service.

Everyone in the entire area is urged to attend the Pre-Easter revivals and those services continuing through the month of April.

Telephone Operators Help at Girl's Town

A portion from pay checks once a month received by the 42 telephone operators and other personnel in the local telephone office is indeed used for a worthy cause. According to Mrs. Delores Ramsey, chief operator, the girls enjoy sending contributions to Girls' Town each month, and this is the only office in the company who contributes to the upkeep of the "Town" that was established three years ago to help girls. They became interested after Mrs. Ramsey visited there about a year ago, and she returned with the thought that the employees might like to send money each month to Girls' Ranch. At Christmas time, the contributions are usually doubled.

Mrs. Amelia Anthony, who is in charge of the ranch, sends a personal letter each month to Mrs. Ramsey and the girls here, telling them of the progress that is being made, and invites them to visit the place, which is located west of Whiteface.

The project is not compulsory, but all of the girls are so interested, that some of them never fail to say, "Isn't it from this paycheck that we make our contributions to Girls' Ranch?"

Two Small Fires Hit Town Lately

Last Friday morning there was a fire in the colored section of the city, being a small house. The fire department responded, and reported that the bucket brigade was really on the job with all they had, when the fire truck arrived, and probably saved the building.

There was a fire alarm Monday morning about 3 o'clock. It was a burning automobile at 217 Lake street, according to the fire department. The car was pretty badly burned on the inside.

Eunice Jones, Utility Superintendent, stated this week that the Mack Fire Truck that was badly damaged in a wreck in January, was now back on the job and in good condition, after thorough repairs. Parts had to be ordered from the factory, and this took much time.

Luckily, Jones stated, there were no serious fires while the truck was undergoing repairs.

NOTICE

The Licensed Vocation Nurses district 18 will have their regular meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the courthouse at Levelland, according to Mrs. Overstreet, secretary.

and 8 p. m., will be held at First Baptist Church in the simultaneous revival starting Easter Sunday, Rev. Jones W. Weathers, pastor, announced. Dr. McKinley Norman, evangelist from Dallas, will be in charge of revival services, and Steve Heather from the Colonial Baptist Church, Dallas, will conduct song services. The revival will continue through April 27.

First Methodist Church

A Pre-Easter revival will start at the First Methodist Church on Sunday, April 6, and will continue through Easter Sunday. Rev. Dallas D. Denison, pastor, will be in charge of the services each evening through the week, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Newell Reed, choir director, will be in charge of the music. On Easter Sunday the choir will present two anthems, Mrs. Joseph Knapp's arrangement of "Open the Gates of the Temple," and Elizabeth T. Van Wort's arrangement of "Christ Is Risen—Alleluia."

Boyd, choir director at Calvary Church, will be in charge of the song services, which will start each evening at 7:30 o'clock.

West Side Baptist Church

Special services for Easter Sunday have been planned for the West Side Baptist Church, and will be conducted by the new pastor, Rev. Milton Simmons, who is attending the Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth.

Seniors to Present Play Friday Night

One of the most ghastly, ghostly, and spine-chilling plays of the year will be presented at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night, when the high school seniors present their annual play, "Demon in the Dark," at the high school auditorium.

Tickets are 75 cents and 35c and tickets will be used for the senior trip. The students will leave May 1 for a trip through Colorado and other western states.

Remember Monday Will Be Tradesday

Keep your peepers on the papers this week, for the $$ Day values that are being offered you here Monday, which is the regular First Monday Tradesday, or as some call it Dollar Day. Anyway, there will be many savings for the family offered by our merchants.

With this day of skyrocketing prices, the family with a closely figured budget must be on its toes to meet expenses, and a dime saved is a dime made. We shall be looking for you and all the folks Monday.

Crank up the old Lizzy, jitney or whatever you have and come on in. Bring the purp if you like, but come.

Highway Association Formed at Seminole

"Because the West Texas area is in for larger and more substantial growth than the coastal area, we must arrange now for adequate facilities," Wayne Smith, manager of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, told representatives of all towns between Odessa and Lubbock when they met at Seminole Monday to discuss improvement and widening of Highway 51 from Odessa to Brownfield and Highway 62 from Brownfield to Lubbock.

A new highway association was formed, which will attempt to get appropriations for the improvement project at the April meeting of the State Highway Commission in Austin.

Attending from Brownfield with Smith were County Judge L. M. Lang, and county commissioners, Horace Fox, Sam Gossett and Lee Bartlett. Fox and Bartlett were named directors.

Judge Charles W. Roberts of Andrews was named president; Horace Taylor of Seagraves, vice-president; Leon Combs of Lubbock, second vice-president; and Judge Milton Ramsey of Andrews, secretary-treasurer. All officers were elected by acclamation. Directors were appointed by county judges present, and those named with Fox and Bartlett of Brownfield, were C. C. Byars and James Belcher of Seagraves; C. V. Singleton and Marion Brown of Seminole; and Gene Irwin and Carl Bentenbough of Andrews. Directors from Lubbock and Odessa are to be appointed within the next week.

LET'S MAKE BROWNFIELD CLEANEST CITY IN TEXAS

An intensified clean up, paint up and fix up is urged for all Brownfield residents during Clean-Up Week next week, April 7 through April 12, and city officials state that "good cooperation" in these efforts in the past make them feel that Brownfield will soon be the "Cleanest Town in Texas."

Extra trucks will be available for garbage and refuse pick-ups.

Red Cross Fund Is $1,000 Over Quota

At least $1,000 over the quota of $3,017 had been turned in Tuesday night in Terry County's 1952 Red Cross fund drive, and there is still more to be turned in, Mrs. N. L. Mason, secretary, reported.

Original goal for the chapter was $2,717, but it was raised $300 by the national organization, following the tornadoes in several states.

Anyone having contributions may give them to R. J. Purcell, fund drive chairman, or contact Mrs. Mason.

51 Attend Crippled Children's Clinic

Fifty-one children registered at the Crippled Children's Clinic, held at the South Plains Health Unit last Friday, March 28, and 26 of these children were from Terry County, Dr. Frank P. Miller reported this week.

Dr. W. C. Basom, Dr. Charles B. Sadler, and Dr. E. T. Driscoll were the orthopedic physicians present. Dr. George Sibley, Brownfield, was also present in the afternoon to assist in the orthopedic observations.

Of the 26 cases from Terry County registered, fourteen were post polio cases, five were cases needing plastic surgery as these five were all small children who have been burned with scalding water when babies, three were cerebral palsy children or cases with spinal injuries, and four were bone deformities and bone infections.

Volunteer workers assisting the staff with this clinic were: Mesdames Ben Monnett, Thurman Skains, Wayne Brown, E. V. Riley, J. W. Nelson, Otto Butler, Hub King, Harold Stice, Gene Angus, Jack Short, C. L. Aven, Claude Buchanan, all of Brownfield, and Mrs. T. A. Bruner and Mrs. Gus Athanas of Levelland.

The Baptist W.M.U. and the Methodist W.C.S. furnished the sandwiches for the lunch for the crippled children and their parents who needed to stay at the Health Unit during the noon hour. The Terry County Crippled Children's Society furnished the rest of the meal for the children and their parents.

Bill Aschenbeck is commander of the Terry-Yoakum county chapter, and the group plans to sponsor another Buddy Poppys sale in May. Proceeds from the sale of the small flowers go for rehabilitation of disabled veterans. All disabled veterans of any war are urged to attend the local meetings.

A visitor this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hord, 901 East Tate, is Mrs. Hord's niece, Miss Rosaline Hess of Washington, D. C. She is also visiting in Lubbock.

Mayor C. C. Primm said this week, and he urged that, although the campaign is not mandatory, business men and residents should make a special effort during next week to clean out the debris that has accumulated and might cause fire hazards.

The campaign will precede an inspection to be made by trained inspectors from the Texas Insurance Fieldman's Association, West Texas Division, who will check on every public and mercantile building in Brownfield for potential fire hazards.

The inspection is being sponsored by the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce. Other civic groups, including the Fire Department and the Boy Scouts, will assist with the inspection.

Mayor Primm said, "Since we all know—the time is here for rats, flies and mosquitoes, and city officials urge all citizens to use every preventive to keep down diseases, as well as help prevent fires in our city. Especially do we urge people to clean up vacant lots now, and not wait until an epidemic strikes this area before we are conscious of these hazards."

He also stated that the city fogging machine is ready for use, as soon as it becomes necessary to spray the town. The new bulldozer is at work at the city dump grounds, helping to bury all garbage, which will help to eliminate flies and rats.

The fire inspection that will follow next week's clean-up campaign will be made by teams consisting of a local fireman, two trained inspectors from the Fieldman's Association and a Brownfield Boy Scout. Bright red "Fix Me" tags will be pinned by the Boy Scouts on all fire hazards discovered.

Brownfield will be the 21st town to be inspected by the Texas Insurance Fieldman's Association.

Farm Bureau Leaders Attend Meeting

Bill Tilson of Meadow, Farm Bureau state director of district 2, presided at an all-day meeting in Lubbock hotel Monday for officers and leaders of Farm Bureau organizations on the South Plains, and new problems and new developments were discussed by several members of the state organization.

Attending from Terry County, were President J. T. Fulford, Hub King, Ernest Sears, Alton Lowe, Earl T. Jones, Jim Foy, Vic Herfing and Miss Eleanor Miller, clerk in the local office.

Judge James W. McMorris of Stanton discussed the Texas water situation in general, and included on the program were discussions by C. H. DeVaney of Waco, state vice-president; Marvin Carter, Waco, organization director; Leon Lane of Waco; and Mrs. Hatcher of Dickens County who talked on "Rural Recreation." The service program and insurance was discussed by Austin Crownover of Waco.

Mrs. Hatcher advised county groups to send representatives to the recreation training program to be held at Athens next February, stressing the importance of social activities in rural communities.

R. J. Buchanan of Lubbock, field representative, who was a guest in Brownfield last fall at a membership banquet, reported that total membership in district two was about 8,000, and the goal is still 10,000 members.

It was announced that Allen Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, will be guest speaker at a mass meeting to be held at Jones Stadium in Lubbock on July 28. This will be the first time the national president has visited this area.

LATE BULLETIN

A trophy will be given to the Brownfield club that accomplishes the most toward the clean-up campaign, which starts next Monday. A mass meeting of all civic club and women's club representatives was held last night at the City Hall, when the campaign was outlined. The trophy will be given by the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce, Red Smith, manager, reported late yesterday. Mayor C. C. Primm will preside at the meeting.

General Ike Leads In City-Wide Straw Vote

During the city election Tuesday, a ballot was taken, being a straw poll on the residential prospects. Of the some 500 votes cast, General Ike Eisenhower got more than a majority of them, while President Truman held the low place in the voting. City Secretary Jake Geron gave us the following totals:

Eisenhower	260

Trustees To Be Elected Saturday

Voters of Terry County will go to the polls Saturday to elect trustees for the Brownfield Independent School District and the Wellman School District, and to elect two county trustees.

Names on the ballots for the local school will include Cecil O'Neal, W. J. Carter and I. M. Bailey, who are asking for re-election, according to Raymond Sims, school tax assessor and collector. Since the Brownfield Independent School district is composed of more than half of the county, there are between 1,600 and 1,800 eligible voters. Place for the election will be in the county superintendent's office in the courthouse.

Citizens in the Wellman district will vote on Robert Hamm for re-election and G. M. Bradley. Voting will be at the school.

For county trustees, the names of H. H. Harred in precinct 1, and B. F. Finley in precinct 2, will be on the ballots.

LATVIAN FAMILY NOW BROWNFIELD RESIDENTS

"The Latvians are today entreating God only for one thing: liberty and work—and we feel that we have both—in this great country—America," Ilya A. Mamantov, a displaced person from Latvia who recently moved his family to Brownfield, told a Herald reporter Monday night.

Mamantov, who is employed as geophysicist for the Donnelly Geophysical Company at Post. Then he was transferred to Brownfield in January. "C. J. Donnelly, owner of the company, loaned me his personal automobile to move my family from New York here," he added, then "Set us up with house-keeping needs. This could only happen in America!"

He has an M. S. degree in geology from the University of Riga, Latvia, where he studied from 1932 to 1941. He was appointed a member of the University's faculty in 1941. In 1944 he was forced to leave Latvia and go to Germany, where he was a geologist with the University of Munich. For several years he worked with the Latvian relief bureau in Munich, then as a displaced person, he was with the labor service in the U. S. air force, and helped build airways for the airlift to Berlin and overseas, near Frankfurt, Germany.

"We plan to learn to speak English intensively as soon as possible," Mr. Mamantov said. He attended the City College of New York one semester to learn more about geology and—English! He and his wife speak and read Russian, German and Latvian fluently.

About the boys—Igor and Alexander were born in Latvia, while Michael was born in Germany. They are fast learning to play marbles and "cowboys and Indians"—and they have home work to do after school, which pleases their grandmother—who taught school many years! She told her family they did not learn a thing while in school in New York—no home work!

The family attends the First Methodist Church, where they find "true western hospitality." Mrs. Mamantov works in the office of the geophysical company as a computer, and the family resides at 302 East Hill.

We do not always go along with the testimony of the high brass before a Senate or House investigating committee. But the testimony of Gen. Omar Bradley struck us pretty sound one day last week, when he was being grilled. His statement was to the effect that the US could come nearer avoiding war with Russia with the iron curtain up, than with it down. His reasoning was like this: Suppose the curtain was pulled down, and people from the USA and other free countries had access to all parts of Russia, to travel unmolested, and allowed to converse with any and all the people of Russia. If these travelers could then distribute literature and periodicals from the free countries at will, how long would it be until there would be a revolution or at least a demand for a free election and real democracy? As it is, travel and conversation is very restricted, and as long as we are unable to dabble in the interior affair of the USSR, they feel little uneasiness of a revolt. But if the movements of people from free countries was unrestricted, the square heads might find out too much about how people live on the other side of the pasture fence, and moneylike, want to imitate. Presently, however, there is no chance of doing business with the Kremlin, and like Bradley, perhaps the less business with them the better for all concerned. They could, with free movements, pick up any little excuse to declare we were interfering with their government, and start a racket. So far as a small city editor can see, we cannot see any reason why we have an ambassador over there, or let them have one over here. To say the least, they are our enemies. While the UN, to which Russia is supposed to subscribe, is battling with the Red Koreans and Chinese, joined by other democratic nations in a token way, Russia is doing everything to encourage the enemies of UN and the USA in particular. Civilized nations can't do business with Stalin and his gang.

From what we gather from returns of preferential primaries, our president is becoming just about as popular with people in general as a suckegg hound around a poultry farm. And we are not trying to compare looks or habits, but the aspect of what people in general are now thinking of our president, who should stand high and mighty in the council of the nation, whether he runs for re-election, or doesn't run. When a man little known outside his own ballick three years ago, can beat the loll out of Mr. Truman in a primary where all classes of people can express themselves, we think it high time for him to stand high and mighty in the council of the nation, whether he runs for re-election, or doesn't run. When a man little known outside his own ballick three years ago, can beat the loll out of Mr. Truman in a primary where all classes of people can express themselves, we think it high time for him to stand high and mighty in the council of the nation, whether he runs for re-election, or doesn't run. and their close friends whom they can influence. With this start of some 10 million votes already in their vest pockets, it is a hard matter to get enough independent voters to the polls to overcome this lead, and then overcome other votes of the brass collar variety.

It appears to this humble scribe that the Hon. Price Daniel sorter caught Senator Tom Connally where the wool is short recently. Tom made the usual blast without proper thinking that Daniel had messed up the tidelands deal by throwing in with California and Louisiana. But Daniel came back and proved that when he made his argument before the US Supreme Court, that he made it solely on the well known annexation that Texas owned its tidelands when a Republic, and that in agreement with the US at the time of annexation in 1846, it was agreed that Texas retain its tidelands. In this connection, what hit Tom so hard was that Daniel went on to say that the four supreme court members who agree with the president and the interior department on the steal, were confirmed by Connally's vote for the Supreme Court job. In other words, the men who stood for the hijacking of Texas property, were Tom's babies. Daniel also stated that he had in his files warm letters of congratulations from Connally to the young attorney general for his efforts before the Supreme Court. But that was before the Hon. Tom knew that Daniel was to be his opponent. As to the joining with California and Louisiana, that came later at a State Attorney Generals' convention. In fact, it is no secret that Daniel has been trying to line up all the help from every source possible in the fight for the retention of our tidelands which belong to our school children. Has the Senator worked as hard toward lining up support in the US Senate to quit claim the tidelands and other public state property to the states to which they belong? In this connection, we noted recently that old Senator Lister Hill, another Socialist-Democrat from Alabama, believes the government should take over these rich oil lands for the "education of the children in all the states." We just wonder what the old Alabama Senator would say if, the government stepped in and grabbed off Alabama's rich iron and steel industry? That bunch at Washington must be eliminated, or no property anywhere will be safe from their greed and covetousness.

Sometimes we get a bit amused and at the same time "aggrerfretted" at some of the newspapers we read. Maybe we will finish an editorial that blasts the socks off the government for the huge taxes it extracts, and then for political reasons hands certain sums back to cities, counties and states. Then maybe in the same issue, there will appear a feature article, maybe on the front page, in which the same paper will be wanting some housing project, improvement of their airport, or perhaps a dam on some stream, and suggesting that a committee be appointed to go to Washington to get "government aid." It is for that very reason that Daniel has never been very enthusiastic about the Canadian river project. Instead of running to Washington for $85,000,000 of their own money, why not raise it otherwise, by bond issues, etc? In this connection we wish to quote just a bit from John T. Flynn's newest book, "Behind the Headlines." Here it is: "Millions of our citizens have been deprived of their birthright though Federal handouts or grants in aid...and to accomplish this, the Government squeezes the lifeblood out of the people left to produce and pay taxes." "Shall we arm against Russia...and remain defenseless against the enemies within our walls?" In the last 20 years, this country has become a laboratory for the dark and insidious science of modern revolutionary propaganda."

The Texas Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association in meeting assembled, 2000 strong at Fort Worth recently, made no bones about where they stand on men and measures. They never do stutter when they speak. If there is a calling or profession that makes their ideas understood in language that he that run may read, it is the soft spoken, but plain cattleman. He never leaves a doubt about his position on any measure. And they minced no words about the so-called price controls, terming them a nuisance, calculated not only to hurt the producer but the processors and consumers as well.

Strong resolutions were also expressed that the sanitary division take measure at once to guard against the recent outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Canada, as well as the control of anthrax generally thought to be spread by the shipment of bone meal and other livestock products. One speaker, a congressman from North Carolina, stated that the government cannot rule, run or regulate the cattle business, nor the lives of the cattlemen. An executive vice-president of a large packing concern stated that "the old cow war or peace, she never quits—never strikes—believes in free enterprise. Whether the owner is close or generous, she does her job." The cattleman is just about as far from the modern trend to socialism or communism as it is

VISIT IN AUSTIN

Mrs. Frank Weir and Mrs. Jessie G. Randal visited in Austin recently, and on their return home, they "ran into" a sandstorm that caused such low visibility, just south of Big Spring, that they spent the night there.

In Austin, Mrs. Weir visited her daughter, Nancy, and Mrs. Randal visited her great-granddaughter, Ann Lingle, both students in the University of Texas. Mrs. Randal went to San Antonio for an overnight visit with Ann's mother, Mrs. Martha Coffey, who is her granddaughter. She also visited in the home of a nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Farrar, former residents of Brownfield.

And we nevertheless brag of our know-how industrially.

American production lines lose 97 million work-days annually through workers disabled by arthritis and rheumatism. These insidious destroyers of our manpower form the nation's most common chronic disease, numbering 7 1/2 million victims. The cause of arthritis is unknown and there is no specific cure. For lack of adequate medical and hospital facilities, the majority of arthritis victims never find proper treatment and become permanently crippled. The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation is appealing for funds for more clinics, hospital beds, medical training, service to bedridden sufferers. Send your gift to ARTHRITIS, c/o Postmaster.

Lubbock Garden Club Members Lecture On Flower Arrangement at Altruist Meeting

"Flower arrangement is an expression of art, just as music is for the concert performer, or painting is for the artist," Mrs. John V. Powers, a member of the Lubbock Garden Club, told members and guests of the Altruist Study Club at their meeting Tuesday night of last week.

Mrs. H. G. Weatherford was hostess to the club at her home, 1212 Center street. Mrs. Powers was assisted by Mrs. Ralph C. DeWoody, also of the Lubbock Garden Club. She gave an interesting two-hour discussion on flower arrangements, and her clever remarks "spiced" her lecture and demonstrations as she told of primitive people who used flowers for warmth.

"We have benefitted from the early arrangements of the Orientals during the fourth century, as well as the Victorian age, when Queen Victoria of England had as her hobby, placing flowers in containers," Mrs. Powers said. As a judge for many flower shows, she said the main idea in arranging flowers for a show is to strive for perfection, but "if you arrange flowers as they please you, as you stand back and admire your work of art—that is really the main idea, for your arrangement will reflect your personality."

She listed six rules to remember when starting to arrange a bouquet: first, design and pattern—every good flower arranger must combine proportion and balance; make an arrangement that means stability and looks happy, with the smaller and light-colored flowers at the top. "The artist's yardstick is one and one-half the length or width of a flat container, or two times the depth of a tall container," she said.

Rhythm is second on the list, Mrs. Powers continued. "Make an unbroken line, with a graduation of colors in size and a variety of shapes."

Third is emphasis. "Decide where you want the emphasis to be, but in modern and contemporary arrangements, the center of interest must be at the bottom of the bouquet. "We can cover up a lot of sin with color," Mrs. Powers said, in discussing the fourth "rule"—color harmony. "One will forget most everything if we have beautiful colors in the arrangement, with the lighter colors at the top, and the darker at the bottom."

"The fifth rule is harmony in the container, as heavy material in containers means heavier flowers are used."

"The container, as well as the flowers, must be clean and in good condition," she added for the sixth rule. In demonstrating arrangements, Mrs. Powers told the club to consider the light of the room, select the container, and visualize where to place the flowers. If garden flowers are used, place them in warm water, not "ice," just after the flowers are cut. "After using violets, wrap them in a wet newspaper, and they can be used at intervals for a week. Flowers have no headache—do not use aspirin in water, just give them clean water."

She demonstrated the use of plasticine, a clay used by florists to hold stems to "frogs" in containers, then used "bird sand."

The first arrangement she made for the group was called "vertical," made with daffodils and tulips, and suggested it be used on tables on each side of a fireplace. The "mass arrangement" was in a colonial sugar bowl, made with narcissus or branching jonquils, with deep purple violets at the bottom of the arrangement to make it "heavy." "We call this 'Spring Symphony,'" Mrs. Powers said.

An arrangement to last all winter was made of photinia and artificial grapes and lemons, with mahonia leaves. "Use water in the container, but wrap the stem of the grapes with a stick and wire, to keep out of the water," she added.

"Something startling" for modernistic home was arranged with several yucca leaves, a red carnation and photinia leaves. In a line arrangement she used evergreen honeysuckle and flowering almond, following a lower line with daffodils, and the center of interest was yellow. For a nosegay she arranged a single red carnation in an ash tray with photinia leaf. Pussy willows and two tulips were used for a naturalistic arrangement, with shells or rocks placed in the bowl with water to keep the flowers moist.

Mrs. Powers also told her audience the method used for drying flowers pick them before they start to shatter, take off the leaves, hang upside down in a dark closet for about four weeks, then have fresh-looking flowers indefinitely!

Mrs. Powers is a delegate to the state convention of garden clubs that will meet in Waco in May, and will represent the Lubbock Garden Club.

Mrs. Weatherford served fruit salad, mincemeat cake and coffee after Mrs. Powers' lecture and demonstration. The club presented the Lubbock visitors one dozen red carnations.

Other guests were Mrs. Weatherford's mother, Mrs. Lurline Roberts of Dallas and Mrs. Laverne Jackson. Members attending were Mesdames Hub King, Bill Liles, Men Monnet, Thurman Skains, Harold Stice, Louise Watson, Gene Coward, David Flatt, Bill Glick, Norman Grine and Alvin King.

Turning Back the Time

By A. J. S.

Speaking of the old times, way back when—Mrs. Jessie Randal has just returned from a visit to Austin with relatives, and among them was Gus Farrar, who is presently chief clerk in the Comptroller's Office. When the late Mr. Shepherd of Sweetwater was elected to that office many years ago, he picked as two of his personnel the present Comptroller, Robert S. Calvert, and Gus whom he knew personally. Upon the death of Shepherd, Calvert was appointed in his place, and Gus became the chief clerk, succeeding Calvert.

Anyway, Gus wanted Aunt Jessie to bring us the money for the Herald a year, but she insisted on making a gift of it to him. If our memory does not play tricks on us, Gus was one of the members of the FIRST graduating class in the Brownfield High school of 1909. The other three were Faye Bynum, now Mrs. L. L. Cobb of Lubbock; Mrs. J. B. Eckert, then Clara Randal, niece of Mrs. Jessie, and Pearl Stewart, a sister of Mrs. Dr. J. W. Ellis, and Gus. Gus was the valetudinarian. The exercises were heard at the Methodist Church, the only church building in town.

Anyway, Gus informed Mrs. Randal that he would be up sometime this summer, and wanted the Old He to reserve the whole day with him to go over the old times in Terry. And we hope he brings the Mrs. We had a habit back in the twenties before Gus went to Austin of making the Farrar home headquarters between trains—Santa Fe and T. & P. at Sweetwater. Gus was at that time the County Clerk of Nolan county. He had to feed our face several times back in the 20ties, and we always got a good meal, and we in turn unloaded all the gossip about the folks in Brownfield, Terry and Yeakum counties.

And we had some curios among the gentry at that time, or about 1909-10. One particular character we'll just call "Windy" and he really went by that name, not to his face, however. So far as we remember Joe Lane was the only fellow that would call him "Windy" to his face. And Windy always cursed Joe for calling him by that name.

But the funny part about Windy was that like an old darkey we used to know back in Tennessee, he would insist on using big words, many of which he did not know the meaning, or would mispronounce them. About that time some northern people were supposed to be promoting a railroad from Midland or Stanton to Hereford, and it was to pass through Brownfield. But Uncle John Santa Fe killed all prospects with an extension of their road from Plainview to Lubbock.

Anyway, Windy would have much to say about the "remoters" of the railroad. At another time, he tickled the garage men when he called for "expression" grease, meaning compression grease. But the garage man knew better than laugh or correct Windy.

Another right funny incident occurred along about that time. A good lady's husband ran a small store, and the family lived in the rear of the store, where she made dresses for sale, or to order of customers. The family had a small son and a huge shaggy dog known as Old Bruce.

One day as the lady was sewing, and she and company were talking, the little son dropped in and handed his mother a piece of candy, which she promptly ate. "Did you like that candy?" the lad asked. "Yes, son, it was very good." "Well, old Bruce didn't like it, he spit it out three times."

Then there was the case of the prospector, who had been here some three days from back east, with the wind and sand just about as fierce as Monday and Friday of the last week, hanging in the west, southwest, day and night. Says the prospector, "does the wind blow this way all the time?" "No, it is likely to turn from the north tomorrow, and blow like this—", from that direction for two or three days." J. R. Hill, the hotel man informed him.

There were no shows except an occasional dog and pony show, and now and then a magic lantern affair with perhaps a few reels

"Tell Mamma I'm A Man Now!"

Over night little Michael Waller, three and a half years old, lost his babyhood and became the protector of his mother, Mrs. Merle Waller, widowed in the screaming wind which destroyed Judsonia, Ark.

Mrs. Waller, 31, lies helpless in a east at the Rodgers Hospital in Searcy, Ark., a small town not far from her own community, where she and Michael were taken after they had been pulled from the wreckage of the Waller Grocery in which her husband, Bill, and her six-year-old daughter, Jeanette, were crushed to death.

The mother and her small son are being watched by the Red Cross for they will need help to recover from the tragedy. Little Michael was responsible for their rescue from under the debris. His mother, her chest crushed by falling beams whispered to him "Call them Michael, tell them we're here;" and the baby grew up and shouted: "Help us, please, mother and I are here."

From his hospital bed the little boy sent word: "Tell Mamma, I'm a man."

Mrs. Tom May and daughter, Jo Pete, left Tuesday of last week, via plane from Lubbock for San Francisco, where they boarded the USS Lurline for a trip to Hawaii. They plan to stay two weeks in Honolulu, and will return to the states on a three-decker plane. They will stay in San Francisco a few days before returning home.

of films, one of which was nearly always the charge of the Rough Riders up San Juan Hill during the Spanish-American war, and perhaps one reel of comedy, usually a pie throwing contest. Among the favorites however, was the Irish Wake, in which after the drinking got well under way, the deceased Irishman, raised from his casket and pulling the bottle off the table, took a swig.

Whereupon the corpse had the whole room and bottle to himself. The Wake sitters, bemossed. And we think we'd better wind up our little ball of yarn for this week.

"You're undecided now, so what are you gonna do?" This is a lyrical line from the current popular song, "Undecided," written by Sid Robin and Charles Shavers. The song in itself has a romantic love theme, but as I listened to it last night, several lyrics of the song made me think of something far beyond the love theme.

"You're undecided now." Time and time again a person encounters the emotional status of being undecided. In the case of the song, the composers portrayed a romantic indecision of a lover but unknowingly contributed lyrics which could apply to all people in general. When you're undecided, what are you gonna do? You don't know what to do, do you? When in this confused emotional state, the weakness of susceptibility to suggestion seems to dominate your better thinking half. Your mind is in a state of equilibrium. While in this condition, anyone can do your thinking. All that is necessary is to tell the confused individual what to do and a concession of the mind will result. Just as a stack of blocks can be made to topple over, so can one's mind be made to topple over while in the confused state.

After the mind is "toppled over" an inward satisfaction or complacency envelops the person. He feels as though a tremendous pressure has been relieved of his burdened mind. Whether the decision induced into his mind was right or wrong at that particular moment does not worry him. But later as his once confused mind regains its normal line of thought, he gradually begins to see the effects of his decision, or should we say, someone else's decision. The decision made may be wrong or it may be right, whichever the case may be, the whole thing is a gamble.

An illustrative example of what I am referring to in the preceding paragraphs is the Jr.-Ser. Banquet affair. No reflection upon you seniors, of course. The seniors were in a confused state of mind and a few well-balanced individuals began toppling minds. The result, a scandal upon which I briefed upon several weeks ago. You seniors, what a shame.

This weakness, which all of us probably possess, is one which we should attempt to overcome. Defy the acceptance of someone else's decisions. Stand on your own two feet and above all, do not be undecided!

Honor Study Hall Is Improving

Hey, kids! How do you like the "honor study hall" now? The new and highly popular addition is a ping-pong table, so if you hear any loud shrieks down the halls don't be alarmed. The school has had the table for some time, but could not find a place for it until recently. Well, now that we have it, another problem has arisen—lack of space. Plans have been made to move the extra desks out. Mr. Rucker also stated that outdoor activities are being considered for honor students. This will be a big step toward improvement. All sophomores will be happy to learn that they, too, will be eligible for "honor study hall" next six weeks, if they have no grade lower than a B.

You, the students of BHS, seem to have no interest in this project; you must show some enthusiasm if you expect this to succeed. The "honor study hall" is for the students, therefore, it should be planned and built by students. If you have any ideas or suggestions, please send them to the journalism class. Let's start a campaign and really put this thing over. Remember, it's for you. You can't expect to get anything out of it if you don't put something in.

D. E. Student of the Week

The D. E. Student of the week is Jerrel Rowden. Jerrel works at J. B. Knight Furniture Store, and likes it very much. Jerrel says he likes D. E. because it provides opportunity for later life. In D. E. he learns how to deal with different types of customers. Some of Jerrel's favorites include: Mr. Hanley, favorite teacher; favorite food, roast; his favorite pastime is photography, and his favorite song is "Because of You," by Bing Crosby. Jerrel's favorite girl is Juanita Anderson.

Couple of the Week

For couple of the week we have chosen Royda Dumas and E. V. Murphy. This cute freshman couple has been going together for one and a half years. Royda being 5'7" and E. V. 5'8 1/2" and both having blonde hair and blue eyes, adds to these date mates.

Royda has a life full of activity. She plays the French horn in the band, takes piano lessons, is the leader of the Sunbeams at the First Baptist Church, and spends her spare time twirling. She plans to twirl at contest in May. Royda is a member of the Spanish Club and has recently been elected secretary for next year.

E. V. is also very active. A great deal of his time during this season is spent working out for track. He has been a track man for two years. E. V. is also a football boy. He plays right half back position. Another sport he enjoys is hunting. In spite of these facts, Royda says she spends most of his time running around.

Their favorite color is blue and E. V.'s song to Royda is "Slow Pokes" (implying that she is always late). Their favorite food seems to be pie, Royda's being pecan and E. V.'s lemon.

This couple appears to be very happy together and always greets everyone with a smile.

Carnett, Brownfield, Texas, recently complete a cooking school at Camp Rucker, Ala. and is presently participating in Exercise Long Horn with the 47th "Viking" Infantry Division. Private First Class Carnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carnett, Route 5, Brownfield, is regularly assigned to Company C of the 135th Infantry regiment as a cook.

FORT HOOD, Texas.—Cpl. Jimmy R. Jennings of Brownfield, Texas, is participating in Exercise Long Horn in central Texas with the aggressor 82nd Airborne Division.

The latest in atomic warfare strategy is being used in the maneuver, the largest to be held in the United States since World War II. More than 115,000 men and 1,200 planes are involved in the 17-day test of armor and airborne tactics.

Corporal Jennings is serving as a rigger in the 82nd Airborne Quartermaster Parachute Maintenance Company. He has been awarded the Parachute Badge for completing parachute school.

In civilian life he was a student.

Two Lubbock Old Timers Pass On

Many local people were shocked last Friday to hear of the death of A. D. (Dudley) Repp at his home in Lubbock. Dudley and his wife and son, Jr. Repp, were located here in the thirties, he as manager of the Texas Compress and Warehouse Co. Mrs. Repp served as society editor of the Herald for quite some time.

Also, many of the old timers regret to hear of the death of Mrs. Geo. C. Wolfarth, wife of the first county clerk of Lubbock county, and later a ranchman and banker. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfarth used to visit in Brownfield quite often in their younger days. He and the late Geo. E. Tierman, early day sheriff of Terry county, were boyhood as well as manhood friends.

News From Our Overseas Service Men

WITH THE FAR EAST COMMAND.—Two Brownfield, Texas, soldiers in the Far East are in the news.

Pfc. Harry W. Yost has left the 32nd Infantry Regiments, 7th Division, in Korea for rotation to the U. S. Yost, who entered the Army in January, 1950, served as a communications man, and won the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Korean Service Ribbon with one campaign star.

Cpl. Walter Tomlinson Jr. recently graduated from the Far East Command Clerical school, Camp Gifu, Japan. He was formerly stationed at Camp Polk, La. His parents live at 115 N. Second street.

Three Wells Finished, Three New Locations

Reports are that three wells were finished in the Adair-Wolf camp field in south Terry, some 12 miles south of Brownfield, last week. All were fairly good wells, ranging from about 400 to 1000 barrels per day of high grade oil. At the same time, three other locations were made in that field for new wells. There is now more activity in this field than any in Terry County. The vast majority of wells in the county have been in that location for the past year.

Wellman Soldier Gets Rotation Orders

With the 25th Infantry Div. in Korea.—Cpl. Robert L. Fleming, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Fleming, Route 1, Seagraves, Texas, recently left the 25th Infantry Division on the Korean front for rotation to the United States.

A veteran unit of the Korean war, the 25th was one of the first to see combat. It recently has been engaged in patrol action near the 88th parallel.

Corporal Fleming who was an assistant gunner in Battery C, 8th Field Artillery Battalion, has been in the Korean fighting since last June.

He attended Wellman (Texas) High school before entering the Army in January, 1951.

What to look for if you want a better 1½- or 2-ton truck

"Our Dodge 2-ton models have done a remarkable job for us."

... says S. W. TANNER
Veteran's Gas and Service Co., Pueblo, Colorado

"In all-round satisfactory performance, dependability and economy, our Dodge 'Job-Rated' 2-ton trucks have done a remarkable job for us.

"In fact, one truck has 80,000 miles on it, and the only replacement has been a new jet in the carburetor. That's economical maintenance you just can't beat!"

"My partner, Eric Samuelson, swears by Dodge, too ... says our 2-ton trucks handle just like a passenger car."

Look first for the truck that best fits your job! Look for strong, rugged load-carrying units—frame, springs, axles, wheels, and others—engineered to provide the strength and capacity you need. Look for load-moving units—engine, clutch, transmission, and others—engineered to meet the most severe operating conditions.

Look, too, for a powerful engine, easy steering, short turning ability, and extra payload capacity.

You'll get all these advantages when you choose a Dodge "Job-Rated" 1½- or 2-ton truck.

Yes, look for the best in a 1½- or 2-ton truck, and you'll find it in a Dodge. Come in today.

Big Power at a Saving. Dodge "Job-Rated" 1½- and 2-ton trucks feature a high-compression 109-h.p. engine. For outstanding economy, you get 4-ring pistons, chrome-plated top rings, and other advantages.

Exceptional Handling Ease. Champion Truck Rodeo contestants choose Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks because you can cut sharper, maneuver easier, park faster—thanks to wide front tread and short wheelbase.

Fast Delivery Work. There's a 5-speed transmission available on most models for higher road speeds—greater pulling power. And low loading height simplifies the job of loading and unloading.

YOUR UNITED STATES

BY FLOYD CRAMER

MEMBER, NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE PRESERVATION OF FREE ENTERPRISE, INC.

For the first small groups of men and women who came to America over three hundred years ago, as well as for the millions who have come here since, America stood—and stands today—as their chance for freedom.

Laborers, farmers and merchants, scholars, artisans and professional men, they all came AWAY from a world in which government was the master of mankind, and TO a world in which mankind was the master of the government.

For some the main attraction was religious freedom; for others, the goal was social and political equality. But for all who came one great and glowing star was equality in economic opportunity—the system of free enterprise under which every man and woman an able and willing to work is profit, to save and to invest.

The early Americans built well. From the form of government which they erected upon the foundation of our Constitution comes our freedom to dream, to plan and to act.

From their enterprising spirit, came our inventors, our industry, our scientists, our modern agriculture; in short, our standard of American life, our continued independence and our greatness.

We have inherited much from these early American immigrants, and we are proud of the nation they built.

But what have we contributed, ourselves?

Have we measured up to the faith of our Founding Fathers, or have we stood idly by while our Constitutional government has been riddled by bureaucracy and mocked by unbelievers?

Are we preserving the America we have known for our children? Or do we intend to leave them a government which in time may enslave them, own them, destroy them?

Man will always search for freedom. But freedom does not mean facing the world's problems day in and day out in a spirit of hope and courage.

If facing the world squarely has become too much for an American citizen to do, then surely our heritage is in grave danger.

It is up to us to see that America remains a country people want to come TO, and not a country they want to get away FROM.

We have everything to gain by renewing our faith and spirit.

We have everything to gain by resisting the constant increase of centralized power—the spawning of agency and sub-agency to a degree that eats into the American love for independence.

Let us remember the thousands upon thousands of sad, oppressed, victimized people who have come here to begin a new life, and to breathe the air of freedom.

Are we less courageous than they?

If they could break the chains which bound them to a throne, are we so weak and so fearful that we cannot cut through the sticky web which a well-paid bureaucracy seeks to weave around us?

Or are we to succumb to all-embracing socialism?

Birthplace of Gen. Ike at Denison, Texas

The above dwelling, now maintained as a state shrine by Denison people, is the birthplace of General Ike Eisenhower. He was born October 14, 1890, but the family moved to Abilene, Kansas, where he was reared, when he was a child. Many Denison folks, along with other Texans, hope this native son will be elected and occupy the White House, being the first native Texan to be elected President of the USA.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

SAND LOVEGRASS
Description—A tall, leafy, extremely palatable perennial bunchgrass.
Uses—Chiefly grazing, seed production profitable.
Adaptation—Best adapted to light sandy soils. Spreads rapidly by vegetating. In pure stands, where grazing can be controlled, it produces a large amount of palatable herbage early in the spring before other grasses furnish much grazing.

Planting Time—Spring and early summer.
Planting Rate—2 to 3 pounds per acre of good quality seed.
Covering Depth—Approximately 1/4 to 1/2 inch in broadcast or drilled seedings.
Planting Method—Drilled, preferably in a close drilled sorghum stubble from the previous crop year. Use special five-seed drill for planting.
Cultivation—Mow as necessary to control weeds.
Harvesting—For seed, best results obtained by cutting with binder as soon as seed mature. Thresh with combine after seed material is cured in shock. Grazing should be withheld the first growing season; grazing should be controlled in such manner that the plants are not eaten below a height of 3 or 4 inches.
Acre Yields—Hay, 1 to 3 tons; seed, 100 to 300 pounds under dryland farming conditions. Grazing, management, type soil, and climatic conditions will determine amount of grazing that can be obtained on sand lovegrass pasture.

Where Are All the Connally Men?

While the ballots are still arriving on the Daniel-Connally contest, it is nearing press time deadline, we will have to count up. Frankly we are a bit disappointed that more did not respond, and for that reason we are repeating the ballot this week. Anyway, up to Wednesday morning, we had received seven marked ballots, three initialed names on one of them, and two on another, a man and his wife. The others indicated only one in the family, but usually the man and his wife vote alike. But adding up the totals as actually appeared, we find: Daniel 11 Connally 0

Two of the ballots came from Lubbock, however, and one of them wrote: "Should have been retired 20 years ago." A local retired man blacked Connally, and wrote, "and there are two of us." However, most of the voters were local farmers. Let us have your sentiment folks. Cut out a ballot this week and either hand it to us or mail it in.
